THE BOOK OF THE PROPHET ISAIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Iſaiah propheſied above ſixty years, viz. from the death of Uzziah, when he was ſolemnly called to the prophetical office, vi. 1. to the end of Hezekiah's reign, when, according to a Jewiſh tradition, he was ſawn aſunder by the order of Manaſſes, to which cruel death the apoſtle is thought to allude, Heb. xi. 37. St. Jerome tells us he was of noble birth, and he is ſaid to have lived at court, and that his daughter was married to king Manaſſes. His ſtile anſwers his birth and education, and is lofty and elegant: His metaphors and illuſtrations are noble, and ſuitable to the dignity of the ſubjects he treats of. Grotius calls him the Demoſthenes of the Hebrews. He has this pre-eminence above all the prophets, that he foretells the coming and times of the Meſſias more clearly and frequently than any of them; accordingly he is often cited in the writings of the New Teſtament, and has obtained the character of the Evangelical Prophet.

CHAP. I.

1 Iſaiah's complaint of Judah. 10 He upbraideth their ſervice. 16 He exhorteth to repentance, with promiſes and threatnings.

THE viſion of Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz, which he ſaw concerning Judah and Jeruſalem in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

2 Hear, O heavens; and give ear, O earth: for the LORD hath ſpoken: I have nouriſhed and brought up children, and they have rebelled againſt me.

3 The ox knoweth his owner, and the aſs his maſter's crib; but Iſrael doth not know, my people doth not conſider.

4 Ah ſinful nation, a people laden with iniquity, a ſeed of evil doers, children that are corrupters: they have forſaken the LORD, they have provoked the Holy One of Iſrael unto anger, they are gone away backward!

5 Why ſhould ye be ſtricken any more? ye will revolt more and more: the whole head is ſick, and the whole heart faint.

6 From the ſole of the foot even unto the head there is no ſoundneſs in it; but wounds, and bruiſes, and putrifying ſores: they have

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 The viſion of Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz.] God made uſe of two general methods of communicating his will to his ſervants the prophets, namely, by dreams and viſions. In the latter the perſon was awake, but his external ſenſes were locked up, and as it were laid in a trance. It is called a viſion from the clearneſs and evidence of the things revealed, and the conformity this kind of inſpiration bears to the intelligence the mind receives from corporeal ſenſations.

In all probability this was not the firſt viſion which Iſaiah was favoured with; but is placed at the beginning of the book, becauſe this, and the four following chapters, contain a general deſcription of the ſtate and condition of the Jews under the ſeveral judgments which the Almighty had brought upon them. Lowth.

2 Hear, O heavens.] An expreſſion beſpeaking men's attention.

3 Iſrael doth not know.] Septuagint, Iſrael doth not know me.

6 From the ſole of the foot, &c.] The whole frame of the Jewiſh church and ſtate is corrupted.

9 Except

not been closed, neither bound up, neither mollified with ointment.

7 Your country is desolate, your cities are burned with fire: your land, strangers devour it in your presence, and it is desolate as overthrown by strangers.

8 And the daughter of Zion is left as a cottage in a vineyard, as a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, as a besieged city.

9 Except the LORD of hosts had left unto us a very small remnant, we should have been as Sodom, and we should have been like unto Gomorrah:

10 ¶ Hear the word of the LORD, ye rulers of Sodom; give ear unto the law of our God, ye people of Gomorrah:

11 To what purpose is the multitude of your sacrifices unto me? saith the LORD: I am full of the burnt-offerings of rams, and the fat of fed-beasts; and I delight not in the blood of bullocks, or of lambs, or of he-goats.

12 When ye come to appear before me, who hath required this at your hand to tread my courts?

13 Bring no more vain oblations; incense is an abomination unto me; the new-moons and sabbaths, the calling of assemblies I cannot away with; it is iniquity, even the solemn meeting.

14 Your new-moons, and your appointed feasts my soul hateth: they are a trouble unto me; I am weary to bear them.

15 And when ye spread forth your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you; yea, when ye make many prayers, I will not hear: your hands are full of blood.

16 ¶ Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil;

17 Learn to do well; seek judgement, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow.

18 Come now, and let us reason together, saith the LORD; though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool.

19 If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land:

20 But if ye refuse and rebel, ye shall be devoured with the sword: for the mouth of the LORD hath spoken it.

21 How is the faithful city become an harlot! it was full of judgement: righteousness lodged in it; but now murderers.

22 Thy silver is become dross, thy wine mixed with water.

23 Thy princes are rebellious, and companions of thieves: every one loveth gifts, and followeth after rewards: they judge not the fatherless, neither doth the cause of the widow come unto them.

24 Therefore saith the LORD, the LORD of hosts, the Mighty one of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of mine adversaries, and avenge me of mine enemies:

25 And I willl turn my hand upon thee, and purely purge away thy dross, and take away all thy tin:

26 And I will restore thy judges as at the first, and thy counsellors as at the beginning: afterward thou shalt be called, The city of righteousness, The faithful city.

27 Zion shall be redeemed with judgement, and her converts with righteousness.

28 And the destruction of the transgressors and of the sinners shall be together, and they that forsake the LORD shall be consumed.

29 For they shall be ashamed of the oaks which ye have desired, and ye shall be confounded for the gardens that ye have chosen.

9 Except the Lord of hosts had left unto us a very small remnant, we should have been as Sodom.] God always, in the midst of his wrath remembers mercy, and preserves a remnant in the heaviest judgements which he brings upon his people; who, embracing the gospel, should escape the temporal and eternal judgments which fell upon the rest of that nation for rejecting the Messiah and his messengers. Lowth.

10 Hear the word of the Lord, ye rulers of Sodom.] The prophet here calls the rulers of Jerusalem the rulers of Sodom; because of their abominable crimes, in which they resembled the inhabitants of that city.

11 To what purpose is the multitude of sacrifices? &c.] How could God reject the sacrifices which he himself commanded? we must remember that they were established only, that they might typify that sacrifice which Christ was to offer up: and that as soon as they ceased to be animated by this spirit, they became unsupportable to him. Lamy.

26 I will restore thy judges as at the first.] i. e. Such as Moses and Aaron, Joshua and Eleazar.

Thou shalt be called the city of righteousness, the faithful city.] This prophecy has not yet been fulfilled in its full extent; and doubtless relates to more flourishing times of the church than the world hath yet seen. Lowth.

29 They shall be ashamed of the oaks.] Sacrificing in groves was an antient rite of idolatry.

30 For ye shall be as an oak whose leaf fadeth, and as a garden that hath no water.

31 And the strong shall be as tow, and the maker of it as a spark, and they shall both burn together, and none shall quench them.

CHAP. II.

1 Isaiah propheſieth the coming of Chriſt's kingdom. 6 Wickedneſs is the cauſe of God's forſaking. 10 He exhorteth to fear, becauſe of the powerful effects of God's majeſty.

THE word that Isaiah the ſon of Amoz ſaw concerning Judah and Jeruſalem.

2 And it ſhall come to paſs in the laſt days, that the mountain of the LORD's houſe ſhall be eſtabliſhed in the top of the mountains, and ſhall be exalted above the hills; and all nations ſhall flow unto it.

3 And many people ſhall go and ſay, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the houſe of the God of Jacob: and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for out of Zion ſhall go forth the law, and the word of the LORD from Jeruſalem.

4 And he ſhall judge among the nations, and ſhall rebuke many people: and they ſhall beat their ſwords into plow-ſhares, and their ſpears into pruning-hooks: nation ſhall not lift up ſword againſt nation, neither ſhall they learn war any more.

5 O houſe of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the LORD.

6 ¶ Therefore thou haſt forſaken thy people the houſe of Jacob, becauſe they be repleniſhed from the eaſt, and are ſoothſayers like the Philiſtines, and they pleaſe themſelves in the children of ſtrangers.

7 Their land alſo is full of ſilver and gold, neither is there any end of their treaſures; their land is alſo full of horſes, neither is there any end of their chariots:

8 Their land alſo is full of idols; they worſhip the work of their own hands, that which their own fingers have made:

9 And the mean man boweth down, and the great man humbleth himſelf: therefore forgive them not.

10 ¶ Enter into the rock, and hide thee in the duſt, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majeſty.

11 The lofty looks of man ſhall be humbled, and the haughtineſs of men ſhall be bowed down, and the LORD alone ſhall be exalted in that day.

12 For the day of the LORD of hoſts ſhall be upon every one that is proud and lofty, and upon every one that is lifted up; and he ſhall be brought low:

13 And upon all the cedars of Lebanon that are high and lifted up, and upon all the oaks of Baſhan,

---

31 The maker thereof as a ſpark.] As a blaze: ſurely the notion of a ſpark is too low and feeble for the prophet's ſenſe. A ſpark flying among flax, may, or may not ſet the flax on fire: but a blaze comes up fully to the purpoſe; thus, the ſtrong man, who thinks himſelf firmly eſtabliſhed, and proof againſt all events, ſhall in the day of God's vengeance be for, or become flax, and his idolatrous work, the very means by which he intended to ſecure himſelf, ſhall be for, ſhall become (i. e. ſhall break out into) a blaze, and they ſhall both burn together. Taylor's Heb. Concord.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 2 It ſhall come to paſs in the laſt days.] By the laſt days are here meant the times of the Meſſiah; for the Jews commonly divided the times or ſucceſſions of the world into three ages, or periods: the firſt before the law; the ſecond under the law; and the third under the Meſſiah. This being the laſt diſpenſation, God deſigning it to continue till the conſummation of all things, till that awful period when time ſhall give place to eternity. This prophecy predicts the converſion of all nations to the Chriſtian faith.

4 They ſhall beat their ſwords into plow-ſhares, &c.] Peace is mentioned as the diſtinguiſhing character of the Meſſiah's kingdom; he is himſelf called the prince of peace, chap. ix. 6. Mr. Pope having ſelected ſome of the moſt remarkable paſſages of Iſaiah which foretel the coming of Chriſt and the felicities attending it, and woven them into a moſt beautiful poem, The Meſſiah, I ſhall occaſionally lay them before the reader as they appear in his elegant dreſs.

No more ſhall nation againſt nation riſe,
Nor ardent warriors meet with hateful eyes,
Nor fields with gleaming ſteel be cover'd o'er,
The brazen trumpet kindle rage no more;
But uſeleſs lances into ſcythes ſhall bend,
And the broad falchion in a plow-ſhare end.

5 O houſe of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord.] The prophet addreſſes himſelf to thoſe Jews of later times, who ſhould live when the glad tidings of the goſpel were publiſhed; and exhorts them to make uſe of thoſe means of grace which God would ſo plentifully afford them, and not, like their forefathers, continue ſtubborn and refractory, to their own deſtruction. Lowth.

10 Enter into the rock, and hide thee in the duſt, for fear of the Lord.] This paſſage expreſſes the great conſternation of wicked men under any ſevere correction of the Almighty; but eſpecially that aſtoniſhing terror that ſhall ſeize thoſe unhappy mortals, at the tremendous day of judgment, when they ſhall call to mountains to fall on them, and the rocks to cover them from the preſence of the great judge of all the earth. Lowth.

14 And upon all the high mountains, and upon all the hills that are lifted up,

15 And upon every high tower, and upon every fenced wall,

16 And upon all the ships of Tarshish, and upon all pleasant pictures.

17 And the loftiness of man shall be bowed down, and the haughtiness of men shall be made low: and the LORD alone shall be exalted in that day.

18 And the idols he shall utterly abolish.

19 And they shall go into the holes of the rocks, and into the caves of the earth, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty, when he ariseth to shake terribly the earth.

20 In that day a man shall cast his idols of silver, and his idols of gold, which they made each one for himself to worship, to the moles, and to the bats;

21 To go into the clefts of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rocks, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty, when he ariseth to shake terribly the earth.

22 Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?

CHAP. III.

1 The great confusion which cometh by sin. 9 The impudence of the people. 12 The oppression and covetousness of the rulers. 16 The judgements which shall be for the pride of the women.

FOR behold, the Lord, the LORD of hosts, doth take away from Jerusalem and from Judah the stay and the staff, the whole stay of bread, and the whole stay of water,

2 The mighty man, and the man of war, the judge, and the prophet, and the prudent, and the ancient,

3 The captain of fifty, and the honourable man, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent orator.

4 And I will give children to be their princes; and babes shall rule over them.

5 And the people shall be oppressed, every one by another, and every one by his neighbour: the child shall behave himself proudly against the ancient, and the base against the honourable.

6 When a man shall take hold of his brother of the house of his father, saying, Thou hast clothing, be thou our ruler, and let this ruin be under thy hand:

7 In that day shall he swear, saying, I will not be an healer: for in my house is neither bread nor clothing: make me not a ruler of the people.

8 For Jerusalem is ruined, and Judah is fallen: because their tongue and their doings are against the LORD, to provoke the eyes of his glory.

9 ¶ The shew of their countenance doth witness against them; and they declare their sin as Sodom, they hide it not. Wo unto their soul: for they have rewarded evil unto themselves!

10 Say ye to the righteous that it shall be well with him: for they shall eat the fruit of their doings.

11 Wo unto the wicked; it shall be ill with him: for the reward of his hands shall be given him!

12 ¶ As for my people, children are their oppressors, and women rule over them. O my people, they which lead thee cause thee to err, and destroy the way of thy paths.

13 The LORD standeth up to plead, and standeth to judge the people.

14 The LORD will enter into judgement with the ancients of his people, and the princes thereof: for ye have eaten up the vineyard; the spoil of the poor is in your houses.

16 Upon all pleasant pictures.] All fine and elegant furniture, and those rarities which are brought by sea from foreign parts.

20 To the moles and to the bats.] Into caves, such as bats sleep in all winter.

22 Cease ye from man.] i. e. From valuing man, whose life depends on so small a thing as a breath.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 6 When a man shall take hold, &c.] i. e. Shall entreat his friendly assistance, saying, Thou hast all manner of necessaries, fit to support the dignity of a ruler. Lowth.

10, 11 Say ye to the righteous, it shall be well with him, &c.] The prophet here gives us to understand, that God hath appointed a time when he will put a difference between the righteous and the wicked. Lowth.

12 They which lead thee cause thee to err.] Thy false prophets, by soothing thy sins, and foretelling nothing but peace and prosperity, encourage thee to continue thy abominations.

16 Making

15 What mean ye that ye beat my people to pieces, and grind the faces of the poor? ſaith the Lord GOD of hoſts.

16 ¶ Moreover, the LORD ſaith, Becauſe the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with ſtreched-forth necks, and wanton eyes, walking, and mincing as they go, and making a tinkling with their feet:

17 Therefore the LORD will ſmite with a ſcab the crown of the head of the daughters of Zion, and the LORD will diſcover their ſecret parts.

18 In that day the LORD will take away the bravery of their tinkling ornaments about their feet, and their cauls, and their round tires like the moon,

19 The chains, and the bracelets, and the mufflers,

20 The bonnets, and the ornaments of the legs, and the head-bands, and the tablets, and the ear-rings,

21 The rings, and noſe-jewels,

22 The changeable ſuits of apparel, and the mantles, and the wimples, and the criſping-pins,

23 The glaſſes, and the fine linen, and the hoods, and the vails.

24 And it ſhall come to paſs, that inſtead of ſweet ſmell, there ſhall be ſtink; and inſtead of a girdle, a rent; and inſtead of well ſet hair, baldneſs; and inſtead of a ſtomacher, a girding of ſackcloth; and burning, inſtead of beauty.

25 Thy men ſhall fall by the ſword, and thy mighty in the war.

26 And her gates ſhall lament and mourn; and ſhe being deſolate, ſhall ſit upon the ground.

CHAP. IV.

In the extremity of evils Chriſt's kingdom ſhall be a ſanctuary.

AND in that day ſeven women ſhall take hold of one man, ſaying, We will eat our own bread, and wear our own apparel: only let us be called by thy name, to take away our reproach.

2 In that day ſhall the branch of the LORD be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the earth ſhall be excellent and comely for them that are eſcaped of Iſrael.

3 And it ſhall come to paſs, that he that is left in Zion, and he that remaineth in Jeruſalem, ſhall be called holy, even every one that is written among the living in Jeruſalem:

4 When the Lord ſhall have waſhed away the filth of the daughters of Zion, and ſhall have purged the blood of Jeruſalem from the midſt thereof, by the ſpirit of judgement and by the ſpirit of burning.

5 And the LORD will create upon every dwelling-place of mount Zion, and upon her aſſemblies, a cloud and ſmoke by day, and the ſhining of a flaming fire by night: for upon all the glory ſhall be a defence.

6 And there ſhall be a tabernacle for a ſha-

16 Making a tinkling with their feet.] The Arabian ladies have large hollow rings, or rather circles with little rings hanging round them. Theſe hollows they fill with ſmall flints, that ſound like bells when they go along: thoſe large rings open like a half-moon, where they put the ſmall of the leg through. The words which deſcribe the women's ornaments in this and the following verſes are of a very doubtful ſignification.

24 Inſtead of a girdle, a rent.] Septuagint and Vulgate, A rope.

Burning inſtead of beauty.] Old Engliſh Tranſlation, Sunburning, i. e. their faces ſhall be expoſed to the heat of the ſun, being made ſlaves and forced to work.

26 Her gates ſhall lament and mourn, and ſhe being deſolate ſhall ſit upon the ground.] The gates are ſaid to mourn, when no man paſſes through them, and the courts of juſtice that uſed to be kept there are ſhut up. And ſitting upon the ground is a token of the deepeſt ſorrow; ſo that Jeruſalem is here decribed as a woman bereaved of her children, and lamenting over them in this melancholy poſture. This prediction was not uttered in vain; for, on a medal ſtruck by order of Veſpaſian after the deſtruction of this city by the Romans, ſhe is repreſented in this very poſture. Lowth.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Seven women ſhall take hold of one man.] i. e. Shall uſe importunity to be married, contrary to the natural modeſty of their ſex, for their young men ſhall be ſlain with the ſword.

To take away our reproach.] Barrenneſs was thought a great reproach by the Jewiſh women.

2 The branch of the Lord be beautiful and glorious.] The Meſſiah is often called the branch by the prophets, and the church the branch of God's planting.

3 He that is left in Zion, and he that remaineth in Jeruſalem, ſhall be called holy.] This paſſage relates to the converſion of the Jews in the later times, and that great degree of grace that ſhall be conferred on them, when they have abandoned the error of their ways, and embraced the doctrines of the goſpel. Lowth.

5 A cloud and ſmoke by day, and the ſhining of a flaming fire by night.] The prophet here plainly alludes to the cloud by day, and the pillar of fire by night, that conducted and protected the Iſraelites in the wilderneſs, and afterwards reſted on the tabernacle. In like manner God here promiſes to give viſible tokens of his preſence in his church, and to protect it in all dangers and diſtreſs. Lowth.

Notes

dow in the day-time from the heat, and for a place of refuge, and for a covert from ſtorm and from rain.

CHAP. V.

1 Under the type of a vineyard God excuſeth his ſevere judgement. 8 His judgements upon covetouſneſs, 11 upon laſciviouſneſs, 13 upon impiety, 20 and upon injuſtice. 26 The executioners of God's judgements.

NOW will I ſing to my well-beloved a ſong of my beloved touching his vineyard. My well-beloved hath a vineyard in a very fruitful hill:

2 And he fenced it, and gathered out the ſtones thereof, and planted it with the choiceſt vine, and built a tower in the midſt of it, and alſo made a wine-preſs therein: and he looked that it ſhould bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes.

3 And now, O inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and men of Judah, judge, I pray you, betwixt me and my vineyard.

4 What could have been done more to my vineyard than I have not done in it? wherefore, when I looked that it ſhould bring forth grapes, brought it forth wild grapes?

5 And now go to; I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it ſhall be eaten up; and break down the wall thereof, and it ſhall be troden down:

6 And I will lay it waſte: it ſhall not be pruned, nor digged; but there ſhall come up briers and thorns: I will alſo command the clouds that they rain no rain upon it.

7 For the vineyard of the LORD of hoſts is the houſe of Iſrael, and the men of Judah his pleaſant plant: and he looked for judgement, but behold, oppreſſion; for righteouſneſs, but behold, a cry.

8 ¶ Wo unto them that join houſe to houſe, that lay field to field, till there be no place, that they may be placed alone in the midſt of the earth!

9 In mine ears ſaid the LORD of hoſts, Of a truth many houſes ſhall be deſolate, even great and fair, without inhabitant.

10 Yea, ten acres of vineyard ſhall yield one bath, and the ſeed of an homer ſhall yield an ephah.

11 ¶ Wo unto them that riſe up early in the morning that they may follow ſtrong drink, that continue until night, till wine inflame them:

12 And the harp and the viol, the tabret and pipe, and wine are in their feaſts: but they regard not the work of the LORD, neither conſider the operation of his hands!

13 ¶ Therefore my people are gone into captivity, becauſe they have no knowledge: and their honourable men are famiſhed, and their multitude dried up with thirſt.

14 Therefore hell hath enlarged her ſelf, and opened her mouth without meaſure: and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth ſhall deſcend into it.

15 And the mean man ſhall be brought down, and the mighty man ſhall be humbled, and the eyes of the lofty ſhall be humbled:

16 But the LORD of hoſts ſhall be exalted in judgement, and God that is holy ſhall be ſanctified in righteouſneſs.

17 Then ſhall the lambs feed after their manner, and the waſte places of the fat ones ſhall ſtrangers eat.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now will I ſing to my well-beloved, a ſong of my beloved, &c.] The Hebrew words which we render beloved and well-beloved, are here ſpoken of the ſame perſon, the Meſſiah, who is called well-beloved in reſpect of his Father, and beloved in reſpect to his ſpouſe the church, and known by that title in the Canticles, to which book the prophet here in all probability alludes. Lowth.

8 Wo unto them that join houſe to houſe, that lay field to field, till there be no place, &c.] Wo unto them that have ſo inſatiable a deſire after increaſing their poſſeſſions, that they ſtick at no injuſtice whereby they may defraud others of their right; but join one purchaſe to another, till there be no place for their brethren to dwell near their habitation. Lowth.

10 One bath, and the ſeed, &c.] A bath and an ephah are the ſame meaſure. By this computation, the harveſt ſhould produce but the tenth part of the ſeed. We muſt diſtinguiſh between an omer and an homer: an omer is the tenth part of an ephah, whereas an ephah is but the tenth part of an homer. Lowth. See Exod. xvi. 16.

14 Hell hath enlarged herſelf.] i. e. The grave.

17 Then ſhall the lambs feed after their manner.] Good men ſhall be under the peculiar care of Providence, and want nothing that is neceſſary for their ſupport. It is common for the the prophets to repreſent God as a ſhepherd, and his care of the righteous by their feeding ſecurely in rich paſtures.

18 Wo unto them that draw iniquity with cords of vanity, and ſin as it were with a cart-rope:

19 That ſay, Let him make ſpeed, and haſten his work, that we may ſee it: and let the counſel of the Holy One of Iſrael draw nigh and come, that we may know it!

20 ¶ Wo unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkneſs for light, and light for darkneſs; that put bitter for ſweet, and ſweet for bitter!

21 Wo unto them that are wiſe in their own eyes, and prudent in their own ſight!

22 Wo unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of ſtrength to mingle ſtrong drink:

23 Which juſtify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteouſneſs of the righteous from him!

24 Therefore as the fire devoureth the ſtubble, and the flame conſumeth the chaff, ſo their root ſhall be as rottenneſs, and their bloſſom ſhall go up as duſt: becauſe they have caſt away the law of the LORD of hoſts, and deſpiſed the word of the Holy One of Iſrael.

25 Therefore is the anger of the LORD kindled againſt his people, and he hath ſtretched forth his hand againſt them, and hath ſmitten them: and the hills did tremble, and their carcaſes were torn in the midſt of the ſtreets. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

26 ¶ And he will lift up an enſign to the nations from far, and will hiſs unto them from the end of the earth: and behold, they ſhall come with ſpeed ſwiftly:

27 None ſhall be weary nor ſtumble amongſt them; none ſhall ſlumber nor ſleep: neither ſhall the girdle of their loins be looſed, nor the latchet of their ſhoes be broken:

28 Whoſe arrows are ſharp, and all their bows bent, their horſes hoofs ſhall be counted like flint, and their wheels like a whirlwind:

29 Their roaring ſhall be like a lion, they ſhall roar like young lions: yea, they ſhall roar, and lay hold of the prey, and ſhall carry it away ſafe, and none ſhall deliver it.

30 And in that day they ſhall roar againſt them like the roaring of the ſea: and if one look unto the land, behold, darkneſs and ſorrow, and the light is darkened in the heavens thereof.

CHAP. VI.

1 Iſaiah's viſion. 9 The obſtinacy of the people, unto their deſolation. 13 A remnant ſhall be ſaved.

IN the year that king Uzziah died, I ſaw alſo the Lord ſitting upon a throne high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple.

2 Above it ſtood the ſeraphims: each one had ſix wings; with twain he covered his face, and with twain he covered his feet, and with twain he did fly.

3 And one cried unto another, and ſaid, Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hoſts: the whole earth is full of his glory.

4 And the poſts of the door moved at the voice of him that cried, and the houſe was filled with ſmoke.

5 Then ſaid I, Wo is me! for I am un-

18 Wo unto them that draw iniquity with cords of vanity.] By drawing iniquity along like a plough, which the original word imports, is meant keeping it at work, promoting and encouraging the practice of it, with cords of vanity, idle pretexts, arguments, and allegations. Taylor's Heb. Concord.

19 That ſay, Let him make ſpeed, and haſten his work, that we may ſee it, &c.] This objection is often in the mouths of libertines, namely, that God does not haſten the fulfilling of his promiſes or threatenings, ſo as to give them ocular demonſtration of their certainty.

20 Wo unto them that call evil good, &c.] Who preſumptuouſly deny, either in their words or actions, the moſt evident moral differences of right and wrong. Clark.

26 He will lift up an enſign to the nations from far, &c.] Setting up a ſtandard was a ſign for armies to aſſemble. In this, the prophet foretels that God would gather the nations that live afar off to fight againſt Jeruſalem: a threatening that was fulfilled by the armies of Nebuchadnezzar, who not only laid Judah waſte, and burnt Jeruſalem with fire, but carried away the inhabitants into captivity.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 I ſaw alſo the Lord ſitting upon a throne, &c.] i. e. I ſaw the Divine Shechinah, or glory of the Lord. It was the unanimous ſenſe of the antient church, that all the divine appearances in the Old Teſtament were made by the Son of God, who ordered all the affairs of the church from the beginning; and the antient Jews were alſo of the ſame opinion. Lowth.

His train filled the temple.] God is always repreſented as attended with a numerous train of angels, Pſal. lxviii. 17.

2 Seraphims.] The word ſeraphim ſignifies a thing that is on fire: the prophet here uſes it to expreſs thoſe angels by, who laid a coal of fire upon his lips; or perhaps they might be called ſeraphim from their appearance, which was bright and like fire. Lamy.

5 Wo is me---for I am a man of unclean lips, &c.] The pro-done; becauſe I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midſt of a people of unclean lips; for mine eyes have ſeen the King, the LORD of hoſts.

6 Then flew one of the ſeraphims unto me, having a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar:

7 And he laid it upon my mouth, and ſaid, Lo, this hath touched thy lips; and thine iniquity is taken away, and thy ſin purged.

8 Alſo I heard the voice of the Lord, ſaying, Whom ſhall I ſend, and who will go for us? Then ſaid I, Here am I; ſend me.

9 ¶ And he ſaid, Go, and tell this people, Hear ye indeed, but underſtand not; and ſee ye indeed, but perceive not.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, and make their ears heavy, and ſhut their eyes; leſt they ſee with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and underſtand with their heart, and convert, and be healed.

11 Then ſaid I, Lord, how long? And he anſwered, Until the cities be waſted without inhabitant, and the houſes without man, and the land be utterly deſolate, 12 And the LORD have removed men far away, and there be a great forſaking in the midſt of the land.

13 ¶ But yet in it ſhall be a tenth, and it ſhall return, and ſhall be eaten; as a teil-tree, and as an oak, whoſe ſubſtance is in them, when they caſt their leaves: ſo the holy ſeed ſhall be the ſubſtance thereof.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ahaz is comforted by Iſaiah. 14 Chriſt promiſed. 17 Ahaz's judgement is propheſied to come by Aſſyria.

AND it came to paſs in the days of Ahaz the ſon of Jotham, the ſon of Uzziah, king of Judah, that Rezin king of Syria, and Pekah the ſon of Remaliah king of Iſrael, went up towards Jeruſalem to war againſt it, but could not prevail againſt it.

2 And it was told the houſe of David, ſaying, Syria is confederate with Ephraim. And his heart was moved, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the wood are moved with the wind.

3 Then ſaid the LORD unto Iſaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz, thou, and Shear-jaſhub thy ſon, at the end of the conduit of the upper pool in the highway of the fuller's field:

4 And ſay unto him, Take heed, and be quiet: fear not, neither be faint-hearted for the two tails of theſe ſmoking firebrands, for the fierce anger of Rezin with Syria, and of the ſon of Remaliah:

5 Becauſe Syria, Ephraim, and the ſon of Remaliah have taken evil counſel againſt thee, ſaying,

6 Let us go up againſt Judah, and vex it, and let us make a breach therein for us, and ſet a king in the midſt of it, even the ſon of Tabeal;

7 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD, It ſhall not ſtand, neither ſhall it come to paſs.

8 For the head of Syria is Damaſcus, and the head of Damaſcus is Rezin: and within threeſcore and five years ſhall Ephraim be broken, that it be not a people.

phet was ſenſible, that God appeared to him in order to ſend him upon ſome meſſage to the people, as he had formerly appeared for the ſame purpoſe to Moſes. What Iſaiah here calls unclean, Moſes calls uncircumciſed lips; where he excuſes himſelf from the like employment, both from his own incapacity, and the cold reception he was like to meet with among the Iſraelites. Lowth.

6 Having a live coal.] Signifying the gift of utterance, repreſented by fiery tongues, Acts, ii. 3.

9, 10 Hear ye indeed, but underſtand not, &c.] This ſentence is cited by our Saviour (Matt. xiii. 14, and by St. Paul, Acts, xxviii. 26.) in the very words of the Septuagint, the ſenſe of which is very different from the Hebrew:----the ſenſe of the Hebrew might be ſo miſtook, as if the obdurations were ordered by God. Witchcote ſays, this place is referred to ſix times in the New Teſtament, and means that man, by a groſs abuſe of himſelf, may choak the principles of his nature.

13 Yet in it ſhall be a tenth, &c.] The Hebrew may be rendered plainer thus, Yet in it ſhall be left a tenth, after it is again eaten, or devoured. Lowth.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 8 The head of Syria is Damaſcus, and the head of Damaſcus, is Rezin.] i. e. The kingdom of Syria ſhall not extend itſelf beyond its antient bounds. Damaſcus only ſhall be the metropolis of Syria; and Rezin ſhall have no other royal city under his government.

Within threeſcore and five years ſhall Ephraim be broken, &c.] The prophet does not here mean the firſt captivity of the ten tribes by Salmaneſer, but their final deportation by Eſarhaddon, who totally diſpeopled the land, and brought new inhabitants from Babylon, Cuthah, and other cities of the Aſſyrians, to inhabit the cities of Iſrael. Then Ephraim or Iſrael wholly ceaſed from being a people. This captivity, according to the computation

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliah's ſon. If ye will not believe, ſurely ye ſhall not be eſtabliſhed.

10 Moreover, the LORD ſpake again unto Ahaz, ſaying,

11 Aſk thee a ſign of the LORD thy God, aſk it either in the depth, or in the height above.

12 But Ahaz ſaid, I will not aſk, neither will I tempt the LORD.

13 And he ſaid, Hear ye now, O houſe of David; Is it a ſmall thing for you to weary men, but will ye weary my God alſo?

14 ¶ Therefore the Lord himſelf ſhall give you a ſign; Behold, a Virgin ſhall conceive, and bear a ſon, and ſhall call his name Immanuel.

15 Butter and honey ſhall he eat, that he may know to refuſe the evil, and chooſe the good:

16 For before the child ſhall know to refuſe the evil, and chooſe the good, the land that thou abhorreſt ſhall be forſaken of both her kings.

17 ¶ The LORD ſhall bring upon thee and upon thy people, and upon thy father's houſe, days that have not come, from the day that Ephraim departed from Judah; even the king of Aſſyria.

18 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the LORD ſhall hiſs for the fly that is in the uttermoſt part of the rivers of Egypt, and for the bee that is in the land of Aſſyria.

19 And they ſhall come, and ſhall reſt all of them in the deſolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and upon all thorns, and upon all buſhes.

20 In the ſame day ſhall the LORD ſhave with a razor that is hired, namely, by them beyond the river, by the king of Aſſyria, the head, and the hair of the feet: and it ſhall alſo conſume the beard.

21 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that a man ſhall nouriſh a young cow and two ſheep;

22 And it ſhall come to paſs, for the abundance of milk that they ſhall give, that he ſhall eat butter: for butter and honey ſhall every one eat that is left in the land.

23 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that every place ſhall be, where there were a thouſand vines at a thouſand ſilverlings, it ſhall even be for briers and thorns.

24 With arrows and with bows ſhall men come thither; becauſe all the land ſhall become briers and thorns.

25 And on all hills that ſhall be digged with the mattock, there ſhall not come thither the putation of the learned Uſher, happened in the twenty-ſecond year of Manaſſeh's reign, juſt ſixty-five years from the beginning of that of Ahaz. Lowth.

14 Behold, a virgin ſhall conceive, and bear a ſon, &c.] Ahaz, under pretence of piety, but really from a diſtruſt in Jehovah, having refuſed to aſk a ſign to confirm Iſaiah's prophecy of his deliverance from his enemies, the prophet rebukes him in theſe words, ver. 13. Hear ye, O houſe of David, &c. 14 Therefore, ſince through unbelief ye refuſe to aſk a ſign, the Lord himſelf will give you a ſign. Behold, the virgin (as the Septuagint reads) ſhall conceive, and bear a ſon, and ſhall call his name Immanuel, i. e. God with us, or in our nature. Since then the Meſſiah, the great Deliverer, ſhall come into the world in a miraculous manner, much more can God deliver you now without foreign aid.

Rapt into future times, the bard begun;
A virgin ſhall conceive, a virgin bear a ſon! Pope.

15 Butter and honey ſhall he eat.] i. e. Chriſt ſhall take upon him the infirmities of childhood, and be fed with the common nouriſhment given to children in theſe countries, which was milk, or butter and honey. Lowth.

That he may know.] Till he know to refuſe, &c.

16 Before the child ſhall know to refuſe the evil, &c.] The prophet here turns his diſcourſe from the Meſſiah to his own ſon, telling the king of Judah, that before that child (pointing to his ſon) was able to diſtinguiſh evil from good, the land of Iſrael and its two confederate kings ſhould be deſtroyed by the Aſſyrian monarch.

18 For the fly and for the bee, &c.] The ſacred writers often compare armies to flies, bees, and other inſects, both on account of their numbers, and the deſtruction they make.

19 They ſhall come, and reſt in the deſolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks.] The ſame metaphor is ſtill purſued, and implies, that no place ſhould be free from them, nor the ſtrongeſt fortifications able to reſiſt their efforts. Lowth.

20 The Lord ſhave with a razor that is hired, &c.] It was a cuſtom among the inhabitants of the Eaſt to ſhave their heads on any mournful occaſion, and is thence uſed metaphorically to ſignify any great calamity. The Aſſyrian monarch is called the hired razor, becauſe God often rewards thoſe whom he makes the inſtruments of his vengeance upon wicked men. Lowth.

21 A man ſhall nouriſh a cow and two ſheep.] There ſhall be ſuch deſtruction both of man and beaſt, that there will want hands and cattle to till the ground: the utmoſt ſtock any perſon ſhould have, ſhould be a cow and two ſheep, which would give abundance of milk, by reaſon of the plenty of graſs, and want of cattle to eat it. Lowth.

23 Every place where there were a thouſand vines, &c.] The choiceſt vineyards, which in time of peace would let for a thouſand ſhekels a year, ſhall be over-run with briers and thorns. Lowth.

25 On all hills, that ſhall be digged with the mattock, &c.] All

theſe

ſear of briers and thorns: but it ſhall be for the ſending forth of oxen, and for the treading of leſſer cattle.

CHAP. VIII.

1 A prophecy againſt Syria, and Iſrael, 5 and Judah. 9 God's judgements irreſiſtible. 11 Comfort to them that fear God. 19 Great afflictions to idolaters.

MOreover, the LORD ſaid unto me, Take thee a great roll, and write in it with a man's pen concerning Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz.

2 And I took unto me faithful witneſſes to record, Uriah the prieſt, and Zechariah the ſon of Jeberechiah.

3 And I went unto the propheteſs; and ſhe conceived, and bare a ſon. Then ſaid the LORD to me, Call his name Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz.

4 For before the child ſhall have knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother, the riches of Damaſcus and the ſpoil of Samaria ſhall be taken away before the king of Aſſyria.

5 ¶ The LORD ſpake alſo unto me again, ſaying,

6 Foraſmuch as this people refuſeth the waters of Shiloah that go ſoftly, and rejoice in Rezin, and Remaliah's ſon;

7 Now therefore, behold, the Lord bringeth up upon them the waters of the river, ſtrong and many, even the king of Aſſyria, and all his glory: and he ſhall come up over all his chanels, and go over all his banks:

8 And he ſhall paſs through Judah; he ſhall overflow and go over, he ſhall reach even to the neck: and the ſtretching out of his wings ſhall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanuel.

9 ¶ Aſſociate your ſelves, O ye people, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces: and give ear, all ye of far countries; gird your ſelves, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces; gird your ſelves, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counſel together, and it ſhall come to nought: ſpeak the word, and it ſhall not ſtand: for God is with us.

11 ¶ For the LORD ſpake thus to me with a ſtrong hand, and inſtructed me that I ſhould not walk in the way of this people, ſaying, 12 Say ye not, A confederacy, to all them to whom this people ſhall ſay, A confederacy; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid.

13 Sanctify the LORD of hoſts himſelf; and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread.

14 And he ſhall be for a ſanctuary; but for a ſtone of ſtumbling, and for a rock of offence to both the houſes of Iſrael, for a gin and for a ſnare to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem.

15 And many among them ſhall ſtumble and fall, and be broken, and be ſnared, and be taken.

thoſe hills that uſed to be carefully manured and planted with the choiceſt vines, ſhall now lie waſte, and produce only paſture for cattle. It is natural for ground untilled to produce paſture, and therefore all expreſſions of this kind ſignify great deſolation. Lowth.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz.] This compound word ſignifies to run ſwiftly to the ſpoil, and make haſte to the prey.

3 I went unto the propheteſs.] He contracted himſelf to a woman that had the gift of prophecy, or perhaps was the widow of a prophet.

6 Foraſmuch as this people refuſe the waters of Shiloah, &c.] It ſeems from hence that many of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem were ſecret friends to the confederate kings, thinking them too powerful to be oppoſed by the ſmall army of Judah, and thence were determined to join with the ſtrongeſt ſide. Shiloah was a ſmall ſtream running through Jeruſalem; and uſed by the prophet to denote the ſmall ſtregnth and forces of Judah, which did not bear a greater proportion to the numerous hoſts of Aſſyria, than the brook Shiloah does to the mighty river Euphrates. Lowth.

8 The ſtretching out of his wings ſhall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanuel.] i. e. His army or his camp ſhall fill thy land. It ſhould be obſerved that the prophet here diſtinguiſhes Immanuel from his ſon. Indeed this great perſonage is here diſtinguiſhed in ſuch an eminent manner, that the paſſage can be applied only to the ſon of David, and king of Iſrael. Lowth.

13 Sanctify the Lord of hoſts himſelf, and let him be your fear.] God is alone the proper object of your fear, ſanctify therefore, as St. Peter elegantly expreſſes the ſenſe of the paſſage, the Lord God in your hearts. Men ſhould be always careful to impreſs their minds with an awful ſenſe of the power, juſtice, and faithfulneſs of the Almighty; for this will preſerve them ſteady in their truſt and dependence upon him under the worſt circumſtances. A leſſon of the laſt importance, and neceſſary for our conduct at all times and on all occaſions.

14 He ſhall be a ſanctuar.] A refuge and protection.

For a ſtone of ſtumbling, and a rock of offence, to both the houſes of Iſrael.] The moſt gracious promiſes of God, and his kind invitations to the ſons of men, prove the ſource of the greateſt miſery to thoſe who diſregard or diſbelieve them. This paſſage wholly relates to the Meſſiah, the Immanuel already mentioned, in whom all the promiſes of God are fulfilled: though the prophets have foretold that this benevolent Son of the Moſt High ſhould be a cauſe of offence to the Jews, and that their ſhocking incredulity ſhould in the end prove the occaſion of their ruin, and the taking away both their place and nation. The prophet expreſsly mentions both the houſes of Iſrael, to ſhew the rejection of the Jews under the goſpel. Lowth.

16 Bind up the teſtimony, ſeal the law among my diſciples.

17 And I will wait upon the LORD that hideth his face from the houſe of Jacob, and I will look for him.

18 Behold, I and the children whom the LORD hath given me are for ſigns and for wonders in Iſrael; from the LORD of hoſts, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 ¶ And when they ſhall ſay unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar ſpirits, and unto wizards, that peep and that mutter: ſhould not a people ſeek unto their God? for the living to the dead?

20 To the law and to the teſtimony: if they ſpeak not according to this word, it is becauſe there is no light in them.

21 And they ſhall paſs through it hardly beſtead and hungry: and it ſhall come to paſs, that when they ſhall be hungry, they ſhall fret themſelves, and curſe their king and their God, and look upward.

22 And they ſhall look unto the earth; and behold, trouble and darkneſs, dimneſs of anguiſh; and they ſhall be driven to darkneſs.

CHAP. IX.

1 What joy ſhall be in the midſt of afflictions by the birth and kingdom of Chriſt. 8 Judgements upon Iſrael for their pride, 13 hypocriſy, 18 and impenitency.

NEvertheleſs, the dimneſs ſhall not be ſuch as was in her vexation, when at the firſt he lightly afflicted the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, and afterward did more grievouſly afflict her by the way of the ſea, beyond Jordan, in Galilee of the nations.

2 The people that walked in darkneſs have ſeen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the ſhadow of death, upon them hath the light ſhined.

3 Thou haſt multiplied the nation, and not increaſed the joy: they joy before thee according to the joy in harveſt, and as men rejoice when they divide the ſpoil.

4 For thou haſt broken the yoke of his burden, and the ſtaff of his ſhoulder, the rod of his oppreſſor, as in the day of Midian.

5 For every battle of the warrior is with confuſed noiſe, and garments rolled in blood; but this ſhall be with burning and fuel of fire.

6 For unto us a child is born, unto us a Son is given: and the government ſhall be upon his ſhoulder: and his name ſhall be called, Wonderful, Counſellor, The mighty God, The everlaſting Father, The Prince of peace.

18 Behold, I and the children, whom the Lord hath given me, are for ſigns, and for wonders in Iſrael.] Theſe words are ſpoken by the prophet in the perſon of Chriſt, whom he here repreſents; and ſignify, that he and his children were remarkable for being viſible pledges of God's promiſes, and remembrancers of his veracity and the people's duty. Lowth.

19 That peep.] To peep ſignifies the ſame as the Latin pipire, chap. x. 14. i. e. to chirp, or to whiſper, and ſo it is tranſlated, chap. xxix. 4.

21, 22 They ſhall look upward, And they ſhall look unto the earth.] Theſe two ſentences ſhould be ſeparated only by a comma, as in the Septuagint and our Old Engliſh tranſlation.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1, 2 Nevertheleſs the dimneſs ſhall not be ſuch, &c.] The beginning of this verſe ſhould be joined to the laſt of the former chapter, and then the whole paſſage may be tranſlated in this manner. As the firſt time debaſed the land of Zebulun, and the land of Naphtali, ſo the latter ſhall make them glorious, the way of the ſea by Jordan, Galilee of the nations, The people that walked in darkneſs, &c. This method of tranſlating the Hebrew text is conformable to the Chaldee paraphraſt, the vulgar Latin, and the application made of it by St. Matthew, relating to our bleſſed Saviour's preaching in Galilee, by the borders of Zebulun and Naphtali, Mat. iv. 13, 14.

By the way of the ſea, beyond Jordan in Galilee of the nations.] By the ſea is meant the ſea of Galilee, or Tiberias, great lakes being called ſeas in the Hebrew. This country of Galilee bordered on the river Jordan, and the words might have been better rendered by the ſide of Jordan. Galilee was divided into two parts, upper and lower; and the latter, by way of diſtinction, was called Galilee of the nations, becauſe it was peopled by a mixed multitude that came from ſeveral countries or nations. Lowth.

3 Thou haſt multiplied the nation, and not increaſed the joy.] In the margin of the Hebrew text, the beginning of this verſe is rendered as follows, Thou haſt increaſed the joy thereof, which ſeems more agreeable to the context; and to him in the margin of the Engliſh Bible.

5 Every battle of the warrior is with confuſed noiſe, and garments rolled in blood, &c.] This defeat of the enemies of the Almighty ſhall not be effected by the tumult of fighting and ſlaughter, but by a ſudden deſtruction, like that of fire from heaven, which conſumes in a moment.

6 Unto us a child is born.] This prophecy is, by the beſt interpreters, applied to Chriſt; and, indeed, it cannot, with any ſhew of propriety, be aſcribed to any other, the titles given to this child being proper only for the Great Son of David, who was to ſave his people from their ſins. Some learned men read, by way of diſtinction, Unto us the child is born, unto us the ſon is given. The unbounded mercy of God in ſending his Son into the world to die for our ſins, is juſtly conſidered as the greateſt gift that God could beſtow upon mankind.

The government ſhall be upon his ſhoulder.] Surely this never 7 Of the increaſe of his government and peace there ſhall be no end, upon the throne of David and upon his kingdom, to order it and to eſtabliſh it with judgement and with juſtice, from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the LORD of hoſts will perform this.

8 ¶ The Lord ſent a word into Jacob, and it hath lighted upon Iſrael.

9 And all the people ſhall know, even Ephraim and the inhabitant of Samaria, that ſay in pride and in ſtoutneſs of heart,

10 The bricks are fallen down, but we will build with hewn ſtones: the ſycamores are cut down, but we will change them into cedars.

11 Therefore the LORD ſhall ſet up the adverſaries of Rezin againſt him, and join his enemies together;

12 The Syrians before, and the Philiſtines behind: and they ſhall devour Iſrael with open mouth. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

13 ¶ For the people turneth not unto him that ſmiteth them, neither do they ſeek the LORD of hoſts.

14 Therefore the LORD will cut off from Iſrael head and tail, branch and ruſh in one day.

15 The ancient and honourable, he is the head; and the prophet that teacheth lyes, he is the tail.

16 For the leaders of this people cauſe them to err; and they that are led of them are deſtroyed.

17 Therefore the Lord ſhall have no joy in their young men, neither ſhall have mercy on their fatherleſs and widows: for every one is an hypocrite and an evil-doer, and every mouth ſpeaketh folly. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

18 ¶ For wickedneſs burneth as the fire: it ſhall devour the briers and thorns, and ſhall kindle in the thickets of the foreſt, and they ſhall mount up like the lifting-up of ſmoke.

19 Through the wrath of the LORD of hoſts is the land darkened, and the people ſhall be as the fuel of the fire: no man ſhall ſpare his brother.

20 And he ſhall ſnatch on the right hand, and be hungry; and he ſhall eat on the left hand, and they ſhall not be ſatisfied: they ſhall eat every man the fleſh of his own arm:

21 Manaſſeh, Ephraim; and Ephraim, Manaſſeh: and they together ſhall be againſt Judah. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

CHAP. X.

1 The wo of tyrants. 5 Aſſyria, the rod of hypocrites, for his pride ſhall be broken. 20 A remnant of Iſrael ſhall be ſaved.

WO unto them that decree unrighteous decrees, and that write grievouſneſs which they have preſcribed; was more properly applied than to Chriſt, who is the head of the church, and to whom all power is given both in heaven and in earth.

Wonderful.] This was the name of the angel, or rather the ſecond Perſon in the Bleſſed Trinity, who appeared unto Manoah and his wife. See note on Judges xiii. 18.

Counſellor.] i. e. Acquainted with all the decrees of God, thoſe eternal purpoſes which he purpoſed in Chriſt our Lord, Eph. iii. 11.

The mighty God.] The very ſame expreſſion is uſed of the God of Iſrael, chap. x. 21. Chriſt is alſo ſtiled the Almighty, Rev. i. 8.

The everlaſting Father.] i. e. The father of the future everlaſting age. The Septuagint renders it, The father of the world to come; and from hence the ſtate of the goſpel, or the kingdom of the Meſſiah, is ſtiled in the New Teſtament, The age of the world to come: and Pope, The promiſed father of a future age.

The prince of peace.] This title in a peculiar manner belongs to Chriſt, who laid down his life to procure that peace for the ſons of Adam, which they had forfeited.

7 Of the increaſe of his government and peace there ſhall be no end.] This has always been conſidered, even by the Jews themſelves, to relate to the kingdom of the Meſſiah, whoſe throne will continue to all eternity.

All crimes ſhall ceaſe, and antient fraud ſhall fail,
Returning juſtice liſt aloft her ſcale;
Peace o'er the world her olive wand extend,
And white-rob'd innocence from heaven deſcend Pope.

Upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom to order it, &c.] The Meſſiah is ſaid to ſit upon the throne of David, becauſe all the promiſes concerning the perpetuity of his kingdom, related chiefly to, and were fulfilled in Chriſt; for his kingdom alone was properly everlaſting, Dan. ii. 44. vii. 14.

The zeal of the Lord of hoſts, &c.] God ſhall do this, not out of regard to the deſerts of men, but for his own honour. Lowth.

8 The remainder of this chapter contains a prophecy againſt Iſrael, and was uttered before the carrying away the ten tribes into captivity. Lowth.

10 The bricks are falling down, &c.] The words import the people's ſlighting God's judgments, as if the damage ſuffered by them might eaſily be repaired, and therefore they were not worth laying to heart. Lowth.

20 They ſhall eat every man the fleſh of his own arm.] This was literally fulfilled, 2 Kings, vi. 28. Jer. xix. 8.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo unto them, &c.] This is a continuation of the ſubject treated of in the foregoing chapter, wherein the prophet parti-

2 To turn aside the needy from judgement, and to take away the right from the poor of my people, that widows may be their prey, and that they may rob the fatherless.

3 And what will ye do in the day of visitation, and in the desolation which shall come from far? to whom will ye flee for help? and where will ye leave your glory?

4 Without me they shall bow down under the prisoners, and they shall fall under the slain. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 ¶ O Assyrian, the rod of mine anger, and the staff in their hand is mine indignation.

6 I will send him against an hypocritical nation, and against the people of my wrath will I give him a charge, to take the spoil, and to take the prey, and to tread them down like the mire of the streets.

7 Howbeit, he meaneth not so, neither doth his heart think so; but it is in his heart to destroy, and cut off nations not a few.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether kings?

9 Is not Calno as Carchemish? is not Hamath as Arpad? is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 As my hand hath found the kingdoms of the idols, and whose graven images did excel them of Jerusalem and of Samaria;

11 Shall I not, as I have done unto Samaria and her idols, so do to Jerusalem and her idols?

12 Wherefore it shall come to pass, that when the Lord hath performed his whole work upon mount Zion and on Jerusalem, I will punish the fruit of the stout heart of the king of Assyria, and the glory of his high looks.

13 For he saith, By the strength of my hand I have done it, and by my wisdom; for I am prudent: and I have removed the bounds of the people, and have robbed their treasures, and I have put down the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And my hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people: and as one gathereth eggs that are left, have I gathered all the earth; and there was none that moved the wing, or opened the mouth, or peeped.

15 Shall the ax boast it self against him that heweth therewith? or shall the saw magnify it self against him that shaketh it? as if the rod should shake it self against them that lifted it up, or as if the staff should lift up it self, as if it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord, the Lord of hosts, send among his fat ones leanness; and under his glory he shall kindle a burning like the burning of a fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall be for a fire, and his Holy One for a flame; and it shall burn and devour his thorns and his briers in one day;

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitful field, both soul and body: and they shall be as when a standard-bearer fainteth.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a child may write them.

20 ¶ And it shall come to pass in that day, that the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Jacob, shall no more again stay upon him that smote them; but particularly reproves the sins of injustice and oppression, and denounces judgments against them. Lowth.

5 O Assyrian, the rod of mine anger, &c.] A new prophecy begins here, and continues to the end of the chapter, and instructs us in this important truth, that God often prospers wicked and tyrannical governments to be his scourge, and the instruments of his vengeance upon others; and when they have executed the work which he allotted them, he then punishes them for those very oppressions which they have exercised towards their neighbours, and to which they were excited purely by their own ambition and covetousness, though Providence directed them to better purposes. The prophet directs this discourse to Sennacherib, king of Assyria. Lowth.

6 An hypocritical nation, &c.] Or, a profane nation, as the word signifies.

9 Is not Calno as Carchemish?] Have not I been equally successful against all these cities?

11 Shall I not, as I have done unto Samaria and her idols, so do to Jerusalem and her idols?] The prophet speaks in the person of the king of Assyria, who considered the God of the Jews as no better than the gods of the other countries round about; and these he thought had sufficiently discovered their weakness in not being able to deliver their own countries and votaries. See 2 Kings, xviii. 33, 34, 35. Lowth.

14 Or peeped.] Or chirped. See chap. viii. 19.

15 Shall the ax boast itself, &c.] Men are only instruments in the hand of Providence; therefore the glory ought to be ascribed to God alone. Lowth.

16 His fat ones.] His principal men for strength and courage.

18 They shall be as when a standard-bearer fainteth.] He, or it, shall be as a destruction lifted up for a public warning. Taylor.

19 The trees of his forest shall be few, &c.] So few of his army shall escape, that a child may be able to keep the muster-roll.

ſhall ſtay upon the LORD the Holy One of Iſrael in truth.

21 The remnant ſhall return, even the remnant of Jacob, unto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people Iſrael be as the ſand of the ſea, yet a remnant of them ſhall return: the conſumption decreed ſhall overflow with righteouſneſs.

23 For the LORD GOD of hoſts ſhall make a conſumption, even determined in the midſt of all the land.

24 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD GOD of hoſts, O my people that dwelleſt in Zion, be not afraid of the Aſſyrian: he ſhall ſmite thee with a rod, and ſhall lift up his ſtaff againſt thee, after the manner of Egypt.

25 For yet a very little while, and the indignation ſhall ceaſe, and mine anger in their deſtruction.

26 And the LORD of hoſts ſhall ſtir up a ſcourge for him, according to the ſlaughter of Midian at the rock of Oreb: and as his rod was upon the ſea, ſo ſhall he lift it up after the manner of Egypt.

27 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that his burden ſhall be taken away from off thy ſhoulder, and his yoke from off thy neck, and the yoke ſhall be deſtroyed becauſe of the anointing.

28 He is come to Aiath, he is paſſed to Migron; at Michmaſh he hath laid up his carriages:

29 They are gone over the paſſage; they have taken up their lodging at Geba; Ramah is afraid, Gibeah of Saul is fled.

30 Lift up thy voice, O daughter of Gallim: cauſe it to be heard unto Laiſh, O poor Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is removed; the inhabitants of Gebim gather themſelves to flee.

32 As yet ſhall he remain at Nob that day: he ſhall ſhake his hand againſt the mount of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jeruſalem.

33 Behold, the Lord, the LORD of hoſts, ſhall lop the bough with terror: and the high ones of ſtature ſhall be hewn down, and the haughty ſhall be humbled.

34 And he ſhall cut down the thickets of the foreſts with iron, and Lebanon ſhall fall by a mighty one.

CHAP. XI.

1 The peaceable kingdom of the branch out of the root of Jeſſe. 10 The reſtoration of Iſrael, and vocation of the Gentiles.

AND there ſhall come forth a rod out of the ſtem of Jeſſe, and a branch ſhall grow out of his roots:

2 And the Spirit of the LORD ſhall reſt upon him, the ſpirit of wiſdom and underſtanding, the ſpirit of counſel and might, the ſpirit of knowledge, and of the fear of the LORD.

3 And ſhall make him of quick underſtanding in the fear of the LORD: and he ſhall not judge after the ſight of his eyes, neither reprove after the hearing of his ears:

4 But with righteouſneſs ſhall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity, for the meek

27 The yoke ſhall be deſtroyed becauſe of the anointing.] For the ſake of God's choſen people, called by the Pſalmiſt his anointed, and alſo for the preſervation of the kingdom and prieſthood, both which offices were conferred by the ceremony of anointing. I ſee no reaſon for applying the anointed to Chriſt in this context. Pilkington.

34 Lebanon ſhall fall by a mighty one.] The flower of the Aſſyrian army ſhall fall by the ſtroke of a mighty angel, 2 Kings, xix. 35. It was common to repreſent princes and powerful men by the talleſt trees, and the common people by the lower ſhrubs. Lebanon was famous for its tall cedars, to which the principal commanders of the Aſſyrian army are here compared. Lowth.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 There ſhall come a rod out of the ſtem of Jeſſe, and a branch ſhall grow out of his root.] The prophet continues the metaphor begun in the two laſt verſes of the preceding chapter, where he reſembles the Aſſyrian king, and the principal officers of his army, to the talleſt trees in the foreſt; and here he deſcribes the Meſſiah as a ſmall branch ariſing from the family of David, as out of a ſtem that had been ſeverely lopped and almoſt exterminated, having hardly life enough left to propagate its kind.

From Jeſſe's root behold a branch ariſe,
Whoſe ſacred flow'r with fragrance fills the ſkies:
Th' etherial Spirit o'er its leaves ſhall move,
And on its top deſcends the myſtic Dove. Pope.

3 He ſhall make him of quick underſtanding in the fear of the Lord.] i. e. He ſhall embrace every opportunity of advancing the honour of God, and promoting true piety.

He ſhall not judge after the ſight of his eyes, &c.] i. e. To uſe the expreſſion of our Saviour himſelf, he will not judge according to outward appearance, but will judge righteous judgment.

4 With righteouſneſs ſhall he judge the poor, &c.] This is a conſtant character of Chriſt's kingdom. See Pſalm lxxii. 2, 12. Iſaiah xxvi. 6. And the bleſſings of the goſpel are peculiarly promiſed to the poor, Mat. v. 3. i. e. to thoſe who have the true of the earth: and he ſhall ſmite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips ſhall he ſlay the wicked.

5 And righteouſneſs ſhall be the girdle of his loins, and faithfulneſs the girdle of his reins.

6 The wolf alſo ſhall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard ſhall lie down with the kid: and the calf, and the young lion, and the fatling together, and a little child ſhall lead them.

7 And the cow and the bear ſhall feed; their young ones ſhall lie down together; and the lion ſhall eat ſtraw like the ox.

8 And the ſuckling child ſhall play on the hole of the aſp, and the weaned child ſhall put his hand on the cockatrice-den.

9 They ſhall not hurt nor deſtroy in all my holy mountain: for the earth ſhall be full of the knowledge of the LORD, as the waters cover the ſea.

10 ¶ And in that day there ſhall be a root of Jeſſe, which ſhall ſtand for an enſign of the people; to it ſhall the Gentiles ſeek: and his reſt ſhall be glorious.

11 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the LORD ſhall ſet his hand again the ſecond time to recover the remnant of his people, which ſhall be left from Aſſyria, and from Egypt, and from Pathros, and from Cuſh, and from Elam, and from Shinar, and from Hamath, and from the iſlands of the ſea.

12 And he ſhall ſet up an enſign for the nations, and ſhall aſſemble the outcaſts of Iſrael, and gather together the diſperſed of Judah from the four corners of the earth.

13 The envy alſo of Ephraim ſhall depart, and the adverſaries of Judah ſhall be cut off: Ephraim ſhall not envy Judah, and Judah ſhall not vex Ephraim.

14 But they ſhall fly upon the ſhoulders of the Philiſtines toward the weſt; they ſhall ſpoil them of the eaſt together: they ſhall lay their hand upon Edom and Moab, and the children of Ammon ſhall obey them.

true ſpirit of poverty, which conſiſts in a contempt of this world, and an humble ſubmiſſion to the diſpenſations of Providence. Lowth.

He ſhall ſmite the earth with the rod of his mouth, &c.] A rod is the emblem of power; hence the power of Chriſt in his kingdom is often compared to a rod, Pſalm cx. 2, and to a rod of iron, Pſalm ii. 9. becauſe it will in the end break all its adverſaries to pieces. This rod is here ſaid to proceed out of his mouth, becauſe it ſignifies the word of God, containing his threatnings and judgments denounced againſt ſinners. The ſame word is ſaid by St. Paul, to be ſharper than any two-edged ſword, Heb. iv. 12. becauſe it will utterly deſtroy thoſe that continue in diſobedience. This ſword is deſcribed as proceeding out of the mouth of Chriſt, Rev. i. 16. becauſe it is like the ſentence of condemnation pronounced upon the rebellious by him at the laſt day, as judge of all the earth. Lowth.

5 Righteouſneſs ſhall be the girdle of his loins.] A girdle was a mark of honour among the antients, and uſed both for ſtrength and expedition. The expreſſion implies, that a ſtrict regard to truth, integrity and juſtice, will be the honour and ſtability of Chriſt's kingdom. Lowth.

6, 7, 8 The wolf alſo ſhall lie down with the lamb, &c.] Theſe metaphorical expreſſions denote, that every thing ſhall contribute towards a firm and laſting peace, all occaſions of diſturbance being removed.

The lambs with wolves ſhall graze the verdant mead,
And boys in flow'ry bands the tiger lead;
The ſteer and lion at one crib ſhall meet,
And harmleſs ſerpents lick the pilgrim's feet.
The ſmiling infant in his hand ſhall take
The creſted baſiliſk and ſpeckled ſnake;
Pleas'd the green luſtre of the ſcales ſurvey,
And with their forky tongue ſhall innocently play. Pope.

9 The earth ſhall be full of the knowledge of the Lord.] Theſe words prove that the foregoing expreſſions are metaphorical, and denote, that the great change in the external face of things under the flouriſhing ſtate of Chriſt's kingdom, ſhall be chiefly owing to the increaſe of their knowledge in the duties of religion, which when it is made the governing principle of men's lives, calms the rougheſt temper, and ſubdues the moſt headſtrong paſſions. Lowth.

As the waters cover the ſea.] i. e. The channels of the ſea.

10 Which ſhall ſtand for an enſign to the people.] The intention of ſetting up a ſtandard is to aſſemble people together; thus the firſt preachers of the goſpel like ſo many heralds ſent into the ſeveral parts of the world, gathered a numerous aſſembly of Gentiles into the church of Chriſt. Lowth.

His reſt ſhall be glorious.] The ark is frequently ſtiled God's reſting-place. By the ſame analogy the church is here ſtiled Chriſt's reſt, which is ſaid to be glorious, in alluſion to the cloud of glory, the ſymbol of God's preſence, which covered the tabernacle, and afterwards filled the temple, ſettling itſelf over the cherubims. Lowth.

11 The Lord ſhall ſet his hand again the ſecond time to recover the remnant of his people.] This chapter contains a general prophecy of the advances Chriſt's kingdom ſhould make in the world. But as theſe advances were gradual, ſo the ſeveral parts of this prophecy may be ſuppoſed to point at different ages or periods of time. This part of the chapter ſeems to foretel thoſe glorious times of the church which ſhall be uſhered in with the reſtoration of the Jews; when they ſhall embrace the goſpel, and be reſtored to their own country from the ſeveral diſperſions where they are ſcattered. Lowth.

The iſlands of the ſea.] The Jews call all thoſe places iſlands, that lie upon the ſea-coaſt; but the expreſſion in the text may very well comprehend all the European nations.

12 He ſhall ſet up an enſign for the nations, and ſhall aſſemble the outcaſts of Iſrael.] The Gentiles ſhall not only come into the church themſelves, but ſhall alſo at one time, as it were by a ſignal, reſtore all the Jews to their own country, and aſſemble them from their ſeveral diſperſions whither they have been ſcattered.

13 Ephraim ſhall not envy Judah.] Ephraim is often put for Iſrael, being the chief of the ten tribes that ſeparated from Judah.

15 And the LORD shall utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptian sea; and with his mighty wind shall he shake his hand over the river, and shall smite it in the seven streams, and make men go over dry-shod.

16 And there shall be an high-way for the remnant of his people, which shall be left from Assyria; like as it was to Israel in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A joyful thanksgiving of the faithful for the mercies of God.

AND in that day thou shalt say, O LORD, I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me, thine anger is turned away, and thou comfortedst me.

2 Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid: for the LORD JEHOVAH is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation.

3 Therefore with joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation.

4 And in that day shall ye say, Praise the LORD, call upon his name, declare his doings among the people, make mention that his name is exalted.

5 Sing unto the LORD; for he hath done excellent things: this is known in all the earth.

6 Cry out and shout, thou inhabitant of Zion: for great is the Holy One of Israel in the midst of thee.

CHAP. XIII.

1 God musters the armies of his wrath. 6 He threateneth to destroy Babylon by the Medes. 19 The desolation thereof.

THE burden of Babylon, which Isaiah the son of Amoz did see.

2 Lift ye up a banner upon the high mountain, exalt the voice unto them, shake the hand, that they may go into the gates of the nobles.

3 I have commanded my sanctified ones, I have also called my mighty ones for mine anger, even them that rejoice in my highness.

4 The noise of a multitude in the mountains, like as of a great people; a tumultuous noise of the kingdoms of nations gathered together: the LORD of hosts mustereth the host of the battle.

5 They come from a far country, from the end of heaven, even the LORD and the weapons of his indignation, to destroy the whole land.

6 ¶ Howl ye; for the day of the LORD is at hand; it shall come as a destruction from the Almighty.

7 Therefore shall all hands be faint, and every man's heart shall melt:

8 And they shall be afraid: pangs and sorrows shall take hold of them; they shall be in pain as a woman that travaileth: they shall be amazed one at another; their faces shall be as flames.

9 Behold, the day of the LORD cometh, cruel both with wrath and fierce anger, to lay the land desolate: and he shall destroy the sinners thereof out of it.

10 For the stars of heaven and the constellations thereof shall not give their light: the sun shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moon shall not cause her light to shine.

11 And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I

15 The tongue of the Egyptian sea.] By this expression is meant the bay of the sea, where the Nile empties itself into the Mediterranean. The verse imports the deliverance of the Jews in the latter times from their several captivities, which shall be as miraculous as that which was vouchsafed them by Moses.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 3 With joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation.] The antient Jews used to repeat this verse when, with a great deal of joy and ceremony, they drew water out of the river Shiloah, on the last day of the feast of tabernacles.

This chapter is an hymn of praise proper to be used in that triumphant state of the church described in the foregoing chapter.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The burden of Babylon.] A burden in the language of the prophets, signifies a burdensome prophecy, threatening ruin and destruction.

4 The noise of a multitude in the mountains, &c.] Gathering round the banner set up there. The expressions are noble, and contain a lively description of that terror which the appearance of an hostile army strikes into the beholders.

5 They come from a far country.] Many of Cyrus's auxiliaries came from very distant countries.

10 The stars of heaven, and the constellations thereof shall not give their light, &c.] Expressions of this kind in scripture, always denote great calamities, and particularly the downfall of states and kingdoms; princes and rulers being often represented by the sun, the moon and the stars. It may also be observed, that all God's particular judgments being earnests and fore-runners of the last and general judgment, the same expressions are common to both. Lowth.

will cauſe the arrogancy of the proud to ceaſe, and will lay low the haughtineſs of the terrible.

12 I will make a man more precious than fine gold; even a man, than the golden wedge of Ophir.

13 Therefore I will ſhake the heavens, and the earth ſhall remove out of her place, in the wrath of the LORD of hoſts, and in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And it ſhall be as the chaſed roe, and as a ſheep that no man taketh up: they ſhall every man turn to his own people, and flee every one into his own land.

15 Every one that is found ſhall be thruſt through; and every one that is joined unto them ſhall fall by the ſword.

16 Their children alſo ſhall be daſhed to pieces before their eyes; their houſes ſhall be ſpoiled, and their wives raviſhed.

17 Behold, I will ſtir up the Medes againſt them, which ſhall not regard ſilver; and as for gold, they ſhall not delight in it.

18 Their bows alſo ſhall daſh the young men to pieces: and they ſhall have no pity on the fruit of the womb; their eye ſhall not ſpare children.

19 ¶ And Babylon the glory of kingdoms, the beauty of the Chaldees excellency, ſhall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah.

20 It ſhall never be inhabited, neither ſhall it be dwelt in from generation to generation: neither ſhall the Arabian pitch tent there, neither ſhall the ſhepherds make their fold there.

21 But wild beaſts of the deſert ſhall lie there; and their houſes ſhall be full of doleful creatures, and owls ſhall dwell there, and ſatyrs ſhall dance there.

22 And the wild beaſts of the iſlands ſhall cry in their deſolate houſes, and dragons in their pleaſant palaces. And her time is near to come, and her days ſhall not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIV.

1 God's merciful reſtoration of Iſrael. 3 Their triumphant inſultation over Babel.

FOR the LORD will have mercy on Jacob, and will yet chooſe Iſrael, and ſet them in their own land: and the ſtrangers ſhall be joined with them, and they ſhall cleave to the houſe of Jacob.

2 And the people ſhall take them, and bring them to their place: and the houſe of Iſrael ſhall poſſeſs them in the land of the LORD for ſervants and handmaids: and they ſhall take them captives whoſe captives they were, and they ſhall rule over their oppreſſors.

3 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs in the day that the LORD ſhall give thee reſt from thy ſorrow, and from thy fear, and from the hard bondage wherein thou waſt made to ſerve,

4 That thou ſhalt take up this proverb againſt the king of Babylon, and ſay, How hath the oppreſſor ceaſed! the golden city ceaſed!

5 The LORD hath broken the ſtaff of the wicked, and the ſcepter of the rulers.

12 I will make a man more precious than gold.] By the havock of war; or the words may import, that the Medes ſhall ſpare no man's life, though he would purchaſe it with gold.

16 Their children alſo ſhall be daſhed to pieces.] Priam ſays in the Iliad, b. 22.

> My heroes ſlain, my bridal bed o'erturn'd,
> My daughters raviſh'd, and my city burn'd,
> My bleeding infants daſh'd againſt the floor;
> Theſe I have yet to ſee, perhaps yet more! Pope.

17 I will ſtir up the Medes againſt them, &c.] The Medes at the time when Iſaiah wrote this prophecy, were a people of no account, forming only a province under the king of Aſſyria; and not erected into a ſeparate kingdom, till Dioces, their firſt king, took upon him the adminiſtration of their government, about the ſeventeenth year of king Hezekiah. But they afterwards became a very conſiderable people, and made up the principal part of the army which was brought againſt Babylon by Cyrus, whoſe mother was a Mede. Babylon was afterwards taken by Darius; who, as ſoon as he had made himſelf maſter of the place, ordered three thouſand of the principal men to be crucified, and thereby fulfilled the prophecies of the cruelty which the Medes and Perſians ſhould uſe towards the Babylonians, foretold in this chapter, and Jer. l. 42. Newton on the Prophets.

19 Babylon, the glory of kingdoms.] Babylon, according to the account of profane writers, was of amazing extent, the moſt moderate accounts making the walls forty-five miles in circuit.

20 Neither ſhall the Arabian pitch tent there.] The Arabians were wandering ſhepherds, that had no certain habitation, but carried their flocks and tents from place to place for the convenience of paſture.

21 Satyrs ſhall dance there.] The meaning ſeems to be, that the place ſhould be uninhabited by any thing but wild beaſts: ſuch as the imaginary habitation of the ſatyrs is by the poets deſcribed to be.

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 4 Thou ſhalt take up this proverb.] i. e. This triumphal ſong or ſpeech, and as noble a one as ever was compoſed, from this verſe to the 24th.

6 He who ſmote the people in wrath with a continual ſtroke, he that ruled the nations in anger, is perſecuted, and none hindereth.

7 The whole earth is at reſt and is quiet: they break forth into ſinging.

8 Yea, the fir-trees rejoice at thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, ſaying, Since thou art laid down, no feller is come up againſt us.

9 Hell from beneath is moved for thee to meet thee at thy coming: it ſtirreth up the dead for thee, even all the chief ones of the earth; it hath raiſed up from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

10 All they ſhall ſpeak and ſay unto thee, Art thou alſo become weak as we? art thou become like unto us?

11 Thy pomp is brought down to the grave, and the noiſe of thy viols: the worm is ſpread under thee, and the worms cover thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heaven, O lucifer, ſon of the morning; how art thou cut down to the ground, which didſt weaken the nations!

13 For thou haſt ſaid in thine heart, I will aſcend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the ſtars of God: I will ſit alſo upon the mount of the congregation, in the ſides of the north:

14 I will aſcend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the moſt High.

15 Yet thou ſhalt be brought down to hell, to the ſides of the pit.

16 They that ſee thee ſhall narrowly look upon thee, and conſider thee, ſaying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, that did ſhake kingdoms?

17 That made the world as a wilderneſs, and deſtroyed the cities thereof, that opened not the houſe of his priſoners?

18 All the kings of the nations, even all of them, lie in glory, every one in his own houſe.

19 But thou art caſt out of thy grave like an abominable branch; and as the raiment of thoſe that are ſlain, thruſt through with a ſword, that go down to the ſtones of the pit; as a carcaſe troden under feet.

20 Thou ſhalt not be joined with them in burial, becauſe thou haſt deſtroyed thy land, and ſlain thy people: the ſeed of evil doers ſhall never be renowned.

21 Prepare ſlaughter for his children for the iniquity of their fathers; that they do not riſe, nor poſſeſs the land, nor fill the face of the world with cities.

22 For I will riſe up againſt them, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, and cut off from Babylon the name, and remnant, and ſon, and nephew ſaith the LORD.

23 I will alſo make it a poſſeſſion for the bittern, and pools of water: and I will ſweep it with the beſom of deſtruction, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

7 The whole earth is at reſt and quiet.] The earth is at peace, now the great oppreſſor is gone.

9 Hell from beneath is moved for thee to meet thee at thy coming, &c.] The Hebrew word here rendered hell, ſignifies the ſtate of the dead in general, and is indifferently applied to the good and bad: here it is uſed in the worſt ſenſe, and denotes the infernal manſions of deceaſed tyrants; who were ſtirred up to receive and entertain him.

12 How art thou fallen from heaven, O lucifer, ſon of the morning! &c.] By lucifer we are to underſtand the king of Babylon, who excelled other kings as much as the morning ſtar does the other conſtellations. But the expreſſion alſo alludes to Satan, the prince of the apoſtate angels, who is deſcribed as falling from heaven like lightning, Luke x. 18. And the title of Son of the morning, is common both to the morning ſtar and to an angel; the angels being ſtiled morning ſtars, Job xxxviii. 7. The fall of the apoſtate angels is not directly recorded in the Old Teſtament; but it is ſufficiently implied in the diſtinction the holy writers make between good and evil ſpirits, and is ſometimes alluded to by the prophets when they threaten deſtruction to proud and inſolent tyrants, who, in imitation of the pride of the prince of darkneſs, exalt themſelves againſt God and his truth, and are the inſtruments of ſatan in promoting idolatry and wickedneſs in the world. Lowth.

13 Thou haſt ſaid in thine heart, I will aſcend into heaven.] There have been many inſtances of tyrants, who have been ſo extravagantly vain, as to affect divine honours: for this very crime it was that Nebuchadnezzar was degraded into a beaſt.

I will exalt my throne above the ſtars of God.] i. e. Above the angels; ſtars in the prophetic language ſignifying rulers either in church or ſtate.

I will alſo ſit upon the mount of the congregation, in the ſides of the north.] I will ſit in the temple of God, which was built on mount Moriah, and on the north ſide of Jeruſalem. Lowth.

17 That opened not the houſe of his priſoners.] Margin, That did not let his priſoners looſe homewards.

18 Every one in his houſe.] In his own ſepulchre.

19 As the raiment of thoſe that are ſlain.] The touching the cloaths of any perſon ſlain contracted uncleanneſs by the law.

23 I will make it a poſſeſſion for the bittern, and pools of water.] Babylon ſtood in a low, marſhy ground; and the prophet threatens it ſhall be as entirely deſtroyed, as if it were ſunk into the bottom of a great lake.

I will ſweep it with the beſom of deſtruction.] How nobly this image expreſſes the total extirpation of this wicked people!

Notes

24 The LORD of hosts hath sworn, saying, Surely as I have thought, so shall it come to pass; and as I have purposed, so shall it stand:

25 That I will break the Assyrian in my land, and upon my mountains tread him under foot: then shall his yoke depart from off them, and his burden depart from off their shoulders.

26 This is the purpose that is purposed upon the whole earth: and this is the hand that is stretched out upon all the nations.

27 For the LORD of hosts hath purposed, and who shall disannul it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turn it back?

28 ¶ In the year that king Ahaz died, was this burden.

29 Rejoice not thou, whole Palestina, because the rod of him that smote thee is broken: for out of the serpent's root shall come forth a cockatrice, and his fruit shall be a fiery flying serpent.

30 And the first-born of the poor shall feed, and the needy shall lie down in safety: and I will kill thy root with famine, and he shall slay thy remnant.

31 Howl, O gate; cry, O city; thou, whole Palestina, art dissolved: for there shall come from the north a smoke, and none shall be alone in his appointed times.

32 What shall one then answer the messengers of the nation? That the LORD hath founded Zion, and the poor of his people shall trust in it.

CHAP. XV.

The lamentable state of Moab.

THE burden of Moab. Because in the night Ar of Moab is laid waste, and brought to silence: because in the night Kir of Moab is laid waste, and brought to silence;

2 He is gone to Bajith and to Dibon, the high places, to weep: Moab shall howl over Nebo, and over Medeba: on all their heads shall be baldness, and every beard cut off.

3 In their streets they shall gird themselves with sackcloth: on the tops of their houses and in their streets every one shall howl, weeping abundantly.

4 And Heshbon shall cry, and Elealeh: their voice shall be heard even unto Jahaz: therefore the armed soldiers of Moab shall cry out; his life shall be grievous unto him.

5 My heart shall cry out for Moab: his fugitives shall flee unto Zoar, an heifer of three years old: for by the mounting-up of Luhith with weeping shall they go it up; for in the way of Horonaim they shall raise up a cry of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shall be desolate: for the hay is withered away, the grass faileth, there is no green thing.

7 Therefore the abundance they have gotten, and that which they have laid up, shall they carry away to the brook of the willows.

8 For the cry is gone round about the borders of Moab; the howling thereof unto Eglaim, and the howling thereof unto Beer-elim.

9 For the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more upon Dimon, lions upon him that escapeth of Moab, and upon the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Moab is exhorted to yield obedience to Christ's kingdom, 6 and threatened for pride.

SEND ye the lamb to the ruler of the land from Sela to the wilderness, unto the mount of the daughter of Zion.

2 For it shall be that as a wandering bird cast out of the nest, so the daughters of Moab shall be at the fords of Arnon.

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 He is gone to Bajith.] He, i. e. the people of Moab.

5 His fugitives shall flee unto Zoar, an heifer of three years old.] The sense of this passage would be much clearer, if, instead of adding the words shall flee, as our translation does, the text was supplied in the following manner from the former part of the verse, His fugitives shall cry out unto Zoar as an heifer of three years old.

7 That which they have laid up, shall they carry away to the brook of the willows.] Or, as the margin renders it, to the valley of the Arabians, whither the Assyrians carried all the spoil they took from the Moabites, it being the direct way from Moab to Assyria. Lowth.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Send ye the lamb.] The Moabites being subdued by David, became his tributaries; part of the tribute which they paid was an hundred thousand lambs, which being discontinued, the prophet exhorts them to renew it.

From Sela to the wilderness.] It should be rendered, From Sela in the wilderness, 2 Kings, xiv. 7.

3 Take counſel, execute judgement; make thy ſhadow as the night in the midſt of the noon-day; hide the outcaſts, bewray not him that wandereth.

4 Let mine outcaſts dwell with thee, Moab; be thou a covert to them from the face of the ſpoiler: for the extortioner is at an end, the ſpoiler ceaſeth, the oppreſſors are conſumed out of the land.

5 And in mercy ſhall the throne be eſtabliſhed: and he ſhall ſit upon it in truth, in the tabernacle of David, judging and ſeeking judgement, and haſting righteouſneſs.

6 ¶ We have heard of the pride of Moab; he is very proud; even of his haughtineſs, and his pride, and his wrath: but his lyes ſhall not be ſo.

7 Therefore ſhall Moab howl for Moab, every one ſhall howl: for the foundations of Kir-hareſeth ſhall ye mourn, ſurely they are ſtricken.

8 For the fields of Heſhbon languiſh, and the vine of Sibmah: the lords of the heathen have broken down the principal plants thereof, they are come even unto Jazer, they wandered through the wilderneſs: her branches are ſtretched out, they are gone over the ſea.

9 Therefore I will bewail with the weeping of Jazer the vine of Sibmah: I will water thee with my tears, O Heſhbon, and Elealeh: for the ſhouting for thy ſummer-fruits, and for thy harveſt, is fallen.

10 And gladneſs is taken away, and joy out of the plentiful field; and in the vineyards there ſhall be no ſinging, neither ſhall there be ſhouting: the treaders ſhall tread out no wine in their preſſes; I have made their vintage-ſhouting to ceaſe.

11 Wherefore my bowels ſhall ſound like an harp for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareſh.

12 And it ſhall come to paſs, when it is ſeen that Moab is weary on the high place, that he ſhall come to his ſanctuary to pray; but he ſhall not prevail.

13 This is the word that the LORD hath ſpoken concerning Moab ſince that time.

14 But now the LORD hath ſpoken, ſaying, Within three years, as the years of an hireling, and the glory of Moab ſhall be contemned, with all that great multitude: and the remnant ſhall be very ſmall and feeble.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Syria and Iſrael threatened. 6 A remnant ſhall forſake idolatry. 9 The reſt ſhall be plagued for their impiety.

THE burden of Damaſcus. Behold, Damaſcus is taken away from being a city, and it ſhall be a ruinous heap.

2 The cities of Aroer are forſaken: they ſhall be for flocks, which ſhall lie down, and none ſhall make them afraid.

3 The fortreſs alſo ſhall ceaſe from Ephraim, and the kingdom from Damaſcus, and the remnant of Syria: they ſhall be as the glory of the children of Iſrael, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

4 And in that day it ſhall come to paſs, that the glory of Jacob ſhall be made thin, and the fatneſs of his fleſh ſhall wax lean.

5 And it ſhall be as when the harveſtman gathereth the corn, and reapeth the ears with his arm; and it ſhall be as he that gathereth ears in the valley of Rephaim.

6 ¶ Yet gleaning-grapes ſhall be left in it, as the ſhaking of an olive-tree, two or three berries in the top of the uppermoſt bough, four

4 For the extortioner is at an end, the ſpoiler ceaſeth, &c.] This ſhews the foregoing expreſſions to be ironical, as if the prophet had ſaid, to have ſhewed ſuch kindneſs to us in the time of our diſtreſs, would have been thankfully accepted as a ſeaſonable inſtance of humanity; but now by the favour of the Almighty, we have no farther need of your aſſiſtance, for that ſtorm is quickly blown over, and it is now your turn to feel the afflicting hand of God. Lowth.

5 In mercy ſhall the throne be eſtabliſhed, and he ſhall ſit upon it in truth.] Hezekiah's throne and kingdom is now eſtabliſhed, and he ſhall govern his people with an equal mixture of juſtice and mercy; and in that particular be a type of the Meſſiah, in whom all the promiſes made to the houſe of David ſhall be finally accompliſhed. Lowth.

6 His lies ſhall not be ſo.] Vulgate reads, His wrath is greater than his ſtrength.

Notes on the Seventeenth Chapter.

Ver. 4 The glory of Jacob ſhall be made thin, and the fatneſs of his fleſh ſhall wax lean.] Jacob here ſignifies Iſrael, and is uſed to denote the ten tribes. God's judgments are often denoted by leanneſs; becauſe, like a conſumption, they waſte the ſtrength. Lowth.

or five in the outmoſt fruitful branches thereof, ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael.

7 At that day ſhall a man look to his maker, and his eyes ſhall have reſpect to the Holy One of Iſrael.

8 And he ſhall not look to the altars, the work of his hands, neither ſhall reſpect that which his fingers have made, either the groves, or the images.

9 ¶ In that day ſhall his ſtrong cities be as a forſaken bough, and an uppermoſt branch, which they left becauſe of the children of Iſrael: and there ſhall be deſolation.

10 Becauſe thou haſt forgotten the God of thy ſalvation, and haſt not been mindful of the rock of thy ſtrength, therefore ſhalt thou plant pleaſant plants, and ſhalt ſet it with ſtrange ſlips:

11 In the day ſhalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning ſhalt thou make thy ſeed to flouriſh: but the harveſt ſhall be a heap in the day of grief and of deſperate ſorrow.

12 Wo to the multitude of many people, which make a noiſe like the noiſe of the ſeas; and to the ruſhing of nations, that make a ruſhing like the ruſhing of mighty waters!

13 The nations ſhall ruſh like the ruſhing of many waters: but God ſhall rebuke them, and they ſhall flee far off, and ſhall be chaſed as the chaff of the mountains before the wind, and like a rolling thing before the whirlwind.

14 And behold, at evening-tide trouble; and before the morning he is not. This is the portion of them that ſpoil us, and the lot of them that rob us.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 God in care of his people will deſtroy the Ethiopians. 7 An acceſs ſhall grow thereby unto the church.

WO to the land ſhadowing with wings, which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia:

2 That ſendeth ambaſſadors by the ſea, even in veſſels of bulruſhes upon the waters, ſaying, Go, ye ſwift meſſengers, to a nation ſcattered and peeled, to a people terrible from their beginning hitherto, a nation meted out and troden down, whoſe land the rivers have ſpoiled.

3 All ye inhabitants of the world, and dwellers on the earth, ſee ye, when he lifteth up an enſign on the mountains; and when he bloweth a trumpet, hear ye.

4 For ſo the LORD ſaid unto me, I will take my reſt, and I will conſider in my dwelling-place like a clear heat upon herbs, and like a cloud of dew in the heat of harveſt.

5 For afore the harveſt, when the bud is perfect, and the ſour grape is ripening in the flower, he ſhall both cut off the ſprigs with pruning-hooks, and take away and cut down the branches.

6 They ſhall be left together unto the fowls of the mountains, and to the beaſts of the earth: and the fowls ſhall ſummer upon them, and all the beaſts of the earth ſhall winter upon them.

7 ¶ In that time ſhall the preſent be brought unto the LORD of hoſts of a people ſcattered and peeled, and from a people terrible from their beginning hitherto; a nation meted out and troden under foot, whoſe land the rivers have ſpoiled, to the place of the name of the LORD of hoſts, the mount Zion.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo unto the land ſhadowing with wings, &c.] This deſcription is generally allowed to ſignify Egypt. Some underſtand the words of their ſhips, with ſpreading ſails like wings; others of the protection ſhe boaſted ſhe could give her allies. But the word which we render ſhadowing, properly ſignifies a ſort of timbrel, an inſtrument of muſic peculiar to the Egyptians in their ſacrifices to Iſis. Lowth.

2 In veſſels of bulruſhes.] The Egyptians uſed to make ſloops and barks of papyrus, which they daubed well with ſlime and pitch: the little ark made for Moſes (Exod. ii. 3.) was fabricated in the ſame manner, and of the ſame materials.

4 I will take my reſt, and conſider in my dwelling-place, &c.] Or, as the margin reads it, I will have a regard for my ſet dwelling, and defend it, though without any viſible means, or the outward aſſiſtance of any of my people's confederates.

5 Afore the harveſt, &c.] Before the deſigns of the Ethiopians and Egyptians could come to maturity, they ſhould prove abortive, like a vine whoſe bearing branches are lopped off.

6 Shall ſummer and winter upon them.] Shall feed on them all the year round.

Notes

CHAP. XIX.

1 The confusion of Egypt. 11 The foolishness of their princes. 18 The calling of Egypt to the church. 23 The covenant of Egypt, Assyria, and Israel.

THE burden of Egypt. Behold, the LORD rideth upon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt: and the idols of Egypt shall be moved at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the midst of it.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: and they shall fight every one against his brother, and every one against his neighbour; city against city, and kingdom against kingdom.

3 And the spirit of Egypt shall fail in the midst thereof; and I will destroy the counsel thereof; and they shall seek to the idols, and to the charmers, and to them that have familiar spirits, and to the wizards.

4 And the Egyptians will I give over into the hand of a cruel lord; and a fierce king shall rule over them, saith the Lord, the LORD of hosts.

5 And the waters shall fail from the sea, and the river shall be wasted and dried up.

6 And they shall turn the rivers far away; and the brooks of defence shall be emptied and dried up: the reeds and flags shall wither.

7 The paper-reeds by the brooks, by the mouth of the brooks, and every thing sown by the brooks, shall wither, be driven away, and be no more.

8 The fishers also shall mourn, and all they that cast angle into the brooks shall lament, and they that spread nets upon the waters shall languish.

9 Moreover, they that work in fine flax, and they that weave net-works shall be confounded.

10 And they shall be broken in the purposes thereof, all that make sluices and ponds for fish.

11 ¶ Surely the princes of Zoan are fools, the counsel of the wise counsellors of Pharaoh is become brutish: how say ye unto Pharaoh, I am the son of the wise, the son of ancient kings?

12 Where are they? where are thy wise men? and let them tell thee now, and let them know what the LORD of hosts hath purposed upon Egypt.

13 The princes of Zoan are become fools, the princes of Noph are deceived; they have also seduced Egypt, even they that are the stay of the tribes thereof.

14 The LORD hath mingled a perverse spirit in the midst thereof: and they have caused Egypt to err in every work thereof, as a drunken man staggereth in his vomit.

15 Neither shall there be any work for Egypt, which the head or tail, branch or rush may do.

16 In that day shall Egypt be like unto women: and it shall be afraid and fear, because of the shaking of the hand of the LORD of hosts, which he shaketh over it.

17 And the land of Judah shall be a terror unto Egypt: every one that maketh mention thereof shall be afraid in himself; because of the counsel of the LORD of hosts which he hath determined against it.

18 ¶ In that day shall five cities in the land of Egypt speak the language of Canaan, and swear to the LORD of hosts: one shall be called, The city of destruction.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The burden of Egypt.] The ingenious Dr. Newton, bishop of Bristol, with great reason, supposes this chapter to contain a prophecy of the conquest of Egypt by Cambyses and the Persians. The first attempt Cambyses made was upon Pelusium, a strong town at the entrance of Egypt; and he succeeded by the stratagem of placing before his army a great number of dogs, sheep, cats, and other animals, which being held sacred by the Egyptians, not one of them would cast a javelin, or shoot an arrow that way; and so the town was taken almost without resistance. Newton on the Prophecies, vol. I. p. 365.

5 The waters shall fail from the sea, and the river shall be wasted and dried up.] This was literally fulfilled under the government of the twelve petty tyrants, who ruled Egypt after Sethon. But probably the expression is metaphorical, and denotes the decay of the Egyptian strength by similitudes taken from the decrease of the river Nile; for on the overflowing of that river, all the plenty and prosperity of Egypt depended. Lowth.

11 The son of antient kings.] i. e. A son of the kings of the East.

13 The princes of Noph.] i. e. Of Memphis.

18 Shall speak the language of Canaan.] Some interpret it, shall be of one accord with Canaan; Dr. Newton, shall profess the religion of the Hebrews.

19 In that day shall there be an altar to the LORD in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to the LORD.

20 And it shall be for a sign and for a witness unto the LORD of hosts in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry unto the LORD because of the oppressors, and he shall send them a saviour and a great one, and he shall deliver them.

21 And the LORD shall be known to Egypt, and the Egyptians shall know the LORD in that day, and shall do sacrifice and oblation; yea, they shall vow a vow unto the LORD and perform it.

22 And the LORD shall smite Egypt; he shall smite and heal it: and they shall return even to the LORD, and he shall be intreated of them, and shall heal them.

23 ¶ In that day shall there be a highway out of Egypt to Assyria; and the Assyrian shall come into Egypt, and the Egyptian into Assyria, and the Egyptians shall serve with the Assyrians.

24 In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and with Assyria, even a blessing in the midst of the land:

25 Whom the LORD of hosts shall bless, saying, Blessed be Egypt my people, and Assyria the work of my hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

A type prefiguring the shameful captivity of Egypt and Ethiopia.

IN the year that Tartan came unto Ashdod when Sargon the king of Assyria sent him, and fought against Ashdod, and took it:

2 At the same time spake the LORD by Isaiah the son of Amoz, saying, Go, and loose the sackcloth from off thy loins, and put off thy shoe from thy foot. And he did so, walking naked and bare-foot.

3 And the LORD said, Like as my servant Isaiah hath walked naked and bare-foot three years for a sign and wonder upon Egypt and upon Ethiopia;

4 So shall the king of Assyria lead away the Egyptians prisoners, and the Ethiopians captives, young and old, naked and bare-foot, even with their buttocks uncovered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shall be afraid and ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their glory.

6 And the inhabitant of this isle shall say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation whither we flee for help to be delivered from the king of Assyria: and how shall we escape?

CHAP. XXI.

1 The fall of Babylon. 11 Edom, scorning the prophet, is moved to repentance. 13 The set time of Arabia's calamity.

THE burden of the desert of the sea. As whirlwinds in the south pass through; so it cometh from the desert, from a terrible land.

2 A grievous vision is declared unto me; The treacherous dealer dealeth treacherously, and the spoiler spoileth. Go up, O Elam:

20 He shall send them a saviour, &c.] Who could this be but Alexander, who is always distinguished by the name of Alexander the great, and whose first successor in Egypt was called the great Ptolemy, and Ptolemy Soter, or the Saviour? Newton, p. 372.

Notes on the Twentieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the year that Tartan came to Ashdod, &c.] It appears from ver. 5, 6. that this expedition was made while the Jews were under the apprehension of Sennacherib's invasion; when, in order to strengthen themselves, they entered into a confederacy with Egypt and Ethiopia. Tartan is mentioned, 2 Kings, xviii. 17, as one of the generals in the army of Sennacherib, who is here called Sargon. And it is probable that at the time his armies invaded Judah, he sent a detachment and besieged Ashdod. Lowth.

2 He walked naked.] We must not understand this literally, but only that part of his body was naked, and that he went bare-foot, for it is not probable that he could have lived three whole years without cloaths.

6 The inhabitants of this isle shall say, &c.] Probably by this isle we ought to understand Judah or Jerusalem; it being common among the prophets to use the word isle, to signify any country or place. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-first Chapter.

Ver. 1 The burden of the desert of the sea, &c.] We learn from the ninth verse, that this is to be understood of Babylon, which is called the desert of the sea, because it was to be rendered desolate, and turned into pools of water. Lowth.

2 A grievous vision is declared unto me, the treacherous dealer dealeth treacherously, and the spoiler spoileth, &c.] This passage may be better translated in the following manner, A grievous vision: there is declared unto me, the oppressor for the oppressor, and a spoiler for the spoiler: i. e. the king of Babylon shall now feel beſiege, O Media: all the ſighing thereof have I made to ceaſe.

3 Therefore are my loins filled with pain: pangs have taken hold upon me as the pangs of a woman that travaileth: I was bowed down at the hearing of it; I was diſmayed at the ſeeing of it.

4 My heart panted, fearfulneſs affrighted me: the night of my pleaſure hath he turned into fear unto me.

5 Prepare the table, watch in the watch-tower, eat, drink: ariſe, ye princes, and anoint the ſhield.

6 For thus hath the Lord ſaid unto me, Go, ſet a watchman, let him declare what he ſeeth.

7 And he ſaw a chariot with a couple of horſemen, a chariot of aſſes, and a chariot of camels; and he hearkened diligently with much heed:

8 And he cried, A lion: My lord, I ſtand continually upon the watch-tower in the day-time, and I am ſet in my ward whole nights:

9 And behold, here cometh a chariot of men, with a couple of horſemen. And he anſwered and ſaid, Babylon is fallen, is fallen; and all the graven images of her gods he hath broken unto the ground.

10 O my threſhing, and the corn of my floor: that which I have heard of the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael, have I declared unto you.

11 ¶ The burden of Dumah. He calleth to me out of Seir, Watchman, what of the night? Watchman, what of the night?

12 The watchman ſaid, The morning cometh, and alſo the night: if ye will enquire, enquire ye: return, come.

13 ¶ The burden upon Arabia. In the foreſt in Arabia ſhall ye lodge, O ye travelling companies of Dedanim.

14 The inhabitants of the land of Tema brought water to him that was thirſty, they prevented with their bread him that fled.

15 For they fled from the ſwords, from the drawn ſword, and from the bent bow, and from the grievouſneſs of war.

16 For thus hath the Lord ſaid unto me, Within a year, according to the years of an hireling, and all the glory of Kedar ſhall fail:

17 And the reſidue of the number of archers, the mighty men of the children of Kedar, ſhall be diminiſhed: for the LORD God of Iſrael hath ſpoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The invaſion of Jewry by the Perſians. 8 Their human wiſdom reproved.

THE burden of the valley of viſion. What aileth thee, now, that thou art wholly gone up to the houſe-tops?

2 Thou that art full of ſtirs, a tumultuous that oppreſſion and ravage himſelf, which he had before brought upon others. Lowth.

5 Prepare the table, &c.] This verſe may be tranſlated, While they prepare a table, while they watch in the watch-tower, while they eat and drink, ariſe, ye princes, &c. While the Babylonians make ſome faint proviſions for war, but are more intent upon feaſting, ariſe, ye leaders of the Perſian army, and prepare for war in earneſt. Babylon was ſurprized and taken the night after a great feſtival. Lowth.

7 A couple of horſemen, &c.] The two horſemen may denote Cyrus and Darius, the principal leaders of the army againſt Babylon, and the chariot of aſſes and another of camels, two different nations, viz. the Medes and Perſians. Lowth.

8 He cried, a lion.] Margin, He cried as a lion.

9 He anſwered, and ſaid.] Some ſuppoſe this the anſwer of the prophet, by which he explains the foregoing viſion to be meant of Babylon.

Is fallen, is fallen.] The expreſſion is doubled, to ſhow the certainty of the event.

10 O my threſhing, &c.] The prophet applies himſelf to the Jews, as groaning under the oppreſſions of that heathen government; whereupon he calls them God's threſhing, and the corn of his floor, becauſe they had been ſo ſeverely bruiſed by their oppreſſors: to be threſhed, ſignifies to undergo great calamities. Lowth.

11 The burden of Dumah.] Or, Idumea.

12 The morning cometh, and alſo the night, &c.] This verſe has puzzled all the commentators, but the ſenſe of it ſeems to be this: "You enquire every night what tidings, but the morning may be as dangerous as the night."

13 Ye travelling companies of Dedanim, &c.] This prophecy threatens one clan of the Arabians, thoſe who were the poſterity of Dedan, the grandſon of Abraham, and tells them, they ſhall be driven from their tents, and forced to ſhelter themſelves in the woods and thickets: the Arabians lived in tents, going with their cattle from place to place in ſearch of paſture. Lowth.

14 Brought water, &c.] Septuagint reads, O ye inhabitants of Teman, meet with water him that is thirſty, meet with bread them that are running away. The margin alſo reads, bring ye water, &c.

16 The glory of Kedar ſhall fail.] Kedar was Iſhmael's ſon; the prophet extends this judgment to another clan of the Arabians, who were famous for the uſe of the bow.

Notes on the Twenty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 The valley of viſion, &c.] By the valley of viſion is meant Jeruſalem, which was ſurrounded by mountains.

Are gone up to the houſe-tops.] To diſcover the motions of the enemy, or look out for aſſiſtance.

city, a joyous city: thy ſlain men are not ſlain with the ſword, nor dead in battle.

3 All thy rulers are fled together, they are bound by the archers: all that are found in thee are bound together, which have fled from far.

4 Therefore ſaid I, Look away from me, I will weep bitterly; labour not to comfort me; becauſe of the ſpoiling of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of treading down, and of perplexity by the Lord GOD of hoſts in the valley of viſion, of breaking down the walls, and of crying to the mountains.

6 And Elam bare the quiver, with chariots of men and horſemen, and Kir uncovered the ſhield.

7 And it ſhall come to paſs, that thy choiceſt valleys ſhall be full of chariots, and the horſemen ſhall ſet themſelves in array at the gate.

8 ¶ And he diſcovered the covering of Judah, and thou didſt look in that day to the armour of the houſe of the foreſt.

9 Ye have ſeen alſo the breaches of the city of David, that they are many: and ye gathered together the waters of the lower pool.

10 And ye have numbered the houſes of Jeruſalem, and the houſes have ye broken down to fortify the wall.

11 Ye made alſo a ditch between the two walls for the water of the old pool: but ye have not looked unto the maker thereof, neither had reſpect unto him that faſhioned it long ago.

12 And in that day did the Lord GOD of hoſts call to weeping and to mourning, and to baldneſs, and to girding with ſackloth:

13 And behold, joy and gladneſs, ſlaying oxen, and killing ſheep, eating fleſh, and drinking wine: let us eat and drink; for to morrow we ſhall die.

14 And it was revealed in mine ears by the LORD of hoſts, Surely this iniquity ſhall not be purged from you, till ye die, ſaith the Lord GOD of hoſts.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD of hoſts, Go, get thee unto this treaſurer, even unto Shebna which is over the houſe, and ſay, 16 What haſt thou here? and whom haſt thou here, that thou haſt hewed thee out a ſepulchre here, as he that heweth him out a ſepulchre on high, and that graveth an habitation for himſelf in a rock?

17 Behold, the LORD will carry thee away with a mighty captivity, and will ſurely cover thee.

18 He will ſurely violently turn and toſs thee like a ball into a large country: there ſhalt thou die, and there the chariots of thy glory ſhall be the ſhame of thy lord's houſe.

19 And I will drive thee from thy ſtation, and from thy ſtate ſhall he pull thee down.

20 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that I will call my ſervant Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah:

21 And I will clothe him with thy robe, and ſtrengthen him with thy girdle, and I will commit thy government into his hand: and he ſhall be a father to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and to the houſe of Judah.

22 And the key of the houſe of David will I lay upon his ſhoulder: ſo he ſhall open, and none ſhall ſhut; and he ſhall ſhut, and none ſhall open.

23 And I will faſten him as a nail in a ſure place; and he ſhall be for a glorious throne to his father's houſe.

6 Elam bare the quiver.] The Perſians were famous archers.

Kir.] This was a city of Media.

8 He diſcovered the covering, &c.] Mr. White tranſlates it thus, He (i. e. the enemy) ſhall diſmantle the fortified cities of Judah, and thou ſhalt look, &c.

17, 18 The Lord will carry thee away with a mighty captivity, &c.] The true ſenſe of theſe verſes ſeems to be given in the Septuagint, with which the Chaldee paraphraſt agrees: Behold, the Lord ſhall carry thee away with a mighty captivity, and ſhall diveſt thee of thy robe: he ſhall ſtrip thee of thy glorious coronet, and ſhall caſt thee out like a ball into a wide country.

22 The key of the houſe of David, &c.] The antients carried upon their ſhoulders every thing that was looked upon as an enſign of power and dignity: thus Callimachus ſpeaking of Ceres, ſays, ſhe had a key upon her ſhoulder: Job alſo ſays, chap. xxxi. 35, 36. My deſire is---that mine adverſary had written a book: ſurely I would take it upon my ſhoulder, &c. And Horace, book I. ode 21.

Fair Delos ſing, whence great Apollo ſprung;
The harp and quiver on his ſhoulder hung. Duncombe.

23 I will faſten him as a nail.] What is tranſlated nail, ſignifies here a pole or poſt fixed in the earth firmly in the middle of a tent. According to the largeneſs of the tent there might be two or three of thoſe poles, which ſerved not only to ſupport the top of the tent, but alſo, being full of hooks, to hang up garments, veſſels, arms, &c. Shaw.

Notes

24 And they shall hang upon him all the glory of his father's house, the offspring and the issue, all vessels of small quantity, from the vessels of cups even to all the vessels of flagons.

25 In that day, saith the LORD of hosts, shall the nail that is fastened in the sure place be removed, and be cut down, and fall; and the burden that was upon it shall be cut off: for the LORD hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 The miserable overthrow of Tyre. 17 Their return.

THE burden of Tyre. Howl, ye ships of Tarshish: for it is laid waste, so that there is no house, no entering-in. From the land of Chittim it is revealed to them.

2 Be still, ye inhabitants of the isle; thou whom the merchants of Zidon, that pass over the sea, have replenished.

3 And by great waters the seed of Sihor, the harvest of the river, is her revenue; and she is a mart of nations.

4 Be thou ashamed, O Zidon: for the sea hath spoken, even the strength of the sea, saying, I travail not, nor bring forth children, neither do I nourish up young men, nor bring up virgins.

5 As at the report concerning Egypt, so shall they be sorely pained at the report of Tyre.

6 Pass ye over to Tarshish; howl, ye inhabitants of the isle.

7 Is this your joyous city, whose antiquity is of ancient days? her own feet shall carry her [a]far off to sojourn.

8 Who hath taken this counsel against Tyre the crowning city, whose merchants are princes, whose traffickers are the honourable of the earth?

9 The LORD of hosts hath purposed it, to stain the pride of all glory, and to bring into contempt all the honourable of the earth.

10 Pass through thy land as a river, O daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 He stretched out his hand over the sea, he shook the kingdoms: the LORD hath given a commandment against the merchant-city, to destroy the strong holds thereof.

12 And he said, Thou shalt no more rejoice, O thou oppressed virgin, daughter of Zidon: arise, pass over to Chittim; there also shalt thou have no rest.

13 Behold, the land of the Chaldeans; this people was not till the Assyrian founded it for them that dwell in the wilderness: they set up the towers thereof, they raised up the palaces thereof; and he brought it to ruin.

14 Howl, ye ships of Tarshish: for your strength is laid waste.

15 And it shall come to pass in that day, that Tyre shall be forgotten seventy years, according to the days of one king: after the end of seventy years shall Tyre sing as an harlot.

16 Take an harp, go about the city, thou harlot that hast been forgotten; make a sweet melody, sing many songs, that thou mayest be remembered.

17 ¶ And it shall come to pass, after the end of seventy years, that the LORD will visit Tyre, and she shall turn to her hire, and shall com-

Notes on the Twenty-third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Chittim.] Chittim in scripture signifies all the countries lying upon the Mediterranean sea, called the Isles of Chittim.

2 Ye inhabitants of the isle.] Tyre was placed in an island.

3 By great waters the seed of Sihor, the harvest of the river is her revenue.] This verse may be better translated in the following manner: the seed of the Nile, growing by the abundance of waters, and the harvest of the river was her revenues. The overflowing of the Nile, called here Sihor, rendered Egypt so fruitful, that it was always considered as one of the great granaries of the world. Lowth.

4 The sea hath spoken, even the strength of the sea.] Tyre is here called the sea, because the inhabitants looked upon the sea as their proper element; and the strength of the sea, because it was strong at sea, both with regard to its situation and the strength of its naval forces. The city is here introduced as bemoaning her desolate condition. Lowth.

5 As at the report concerning Egypt.] Some read this verse thus, as soon as the report of Tyre shall come to Egypt, they shall be in great pain for it, viz. because the Egyptians exported their corn to Tyre.

11 He stretched out, &c.] i. e. The Lord stretched out his hand over Tyre, called the sea, ver. 4.

12 Daughter of Zidon.] Tyre was in all probability a colony of Zidonians, and thence called by the prophet the daughter of Zidon. It is certain that the latter was much the oldest city, being mentioned by Moses at the peopling the world after the flood, Gen. x. 19.

15 One king.] King is here put for kingdom.

Shall sing as an harlot.] Shall recover her antient liberty.

17 Shall commit fornication with all the kingdoms, &c.] This expression signifies the several arts which she had to entice merchants to trade with her, and the frauds she made use of in managing her trade.

mit fornication with all the kingdoms of the world upon the face of the earth.

18 And her merchandize and her hire shall be holiness to the LORD: it shall not be treasured nor laid up; for her merchandize shall be for them that dwell before the LORD, to eat sufficiently, and for durable clothing.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 God's judgements upon the land. 13 A remnant shall joyfully praise him.

BEhold, the LORD maketh the earth empty, and maketh it waste, and turneth it upside down, and scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And it shall be, as with the people, so with the priest; as with the servant, so with his master; as with the maid, so with her mistress; as with the buyer, so with the seller; as with the lender, so with the borrower; as with the taker of usury, so with the giver of usury to him.

3 The land shall be utterly emptied and utterly spoiled: for the LORD hath spoken this word.

4 The earth mourneth and fadeth away, the world languisheth and fadeth away, the haughty people of the earth do languish.

5 The earth also is defiled under the inhabitants thereof: because they have transgressed the laws, changed the ordinance, broken the everlasting covenant;

6 Therefore hath the curse devoured the earth, and they that dwell therein are desolate; therefore the inhabitants of the earth are burned, and few men left.

7 The new wine mourneth, the vine languisheth, all the merry-hearted do sigh.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth, the noise of them that rejoice endeth, the joy of the harp ceaseth.

9 They shall not drink wine with a song; strong drink shall be bitter to them that drink it.

10 The city of confusion is broken down: every house is shut up, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streets; all joy is darkened, the mirth of the land is gone.

12 In the city is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 ¶ When thus it shall be in the midst of the land among the people, there shall be as the shaking of an olive-tree, and as the gleaning-grapes when the vintage is done.

14 They shall lift up their voice, they shall sing for the majesty of the LORD, they shall cry aloud from the sea.

15 Wherefore glorify ye the LORD in the fires, even the name of the LORD God of Israel in the isles of the sea.

16 From the uttermost part of the earth have we heard songs, even glory to the righteous. But I said, My leanness, my leanness, wo unto me! the treacherous dealers have dealt treacherously, yea, the treacherous dealers have dealt very treacherously.

17 Fear, and the pit, and the snare are upon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And it shall come to pass, that he who

---

18 Her merchandise, and her hire shall be holiness unto the Lord.] The sense of this passage seems to be, that many of the Tyrians shall in after-times be converted to the true religion, and consecrate a great part of their wealth to the service of God. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Behold, the Lord maketh the earth empty.] The prophet having for ten or twelve chapters together been denouncing God's judgments against particular kingdoms, comes at length to pronounce the final doom upon the earth itself, for its great wickedness: and that this is the meaning, and not any particular part of Canaan, is evident from an expression at the 4th verse, the world languisheth. Peters.

5 Broken the everlasting covenant.] i. e. The covenant of redemption made in Christ, which is eternal, and takes in all mankind. Peters.

6 The inhabitants of the earth are burned, and few men left.] i. e. The few righteous who have escaped the general corruption, were to regard this period of the conflagration as no other than the day of their redemption. Peters.

10 The city of confusion, &c.] The word rendered confusion signifies likewise desolation; and then the sense may be, every city is the image of desolation.

13 As the shaking of an olive-tree.] i. e. Very few shall be left by the enemy, as few olives remain after the tree is shook.

14 They shall cry aloud from the sea.] This passage relates to the future restoration of the Jews, as some other parts of the chapter plainly allude to the consummation of all things. Lowth.

16 From the uttermost parts of the earth have we heard songs, even glory to the righteous.] We have heard from the utmost regions the joyful acknowledgment of the righteous praising God for their deliverance, and for all the glorious things he hath done for them.

18 The windows from on high are open.] To pour down fire upon a wicked world, as before they poured down water: the expression being borrowed from Moses, shows that he meant this of a destruction as universal as that of the deluge.

fleeth from the noiſe of the fear ſhall fall into the pit: and he that cometh up out of the midſt of the pit ſhall be taken in the ſnare: for the windows from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do ſhake.

19 The earth is utterly broken down, the earth is clean diſſolved, the earth is moved exceedingly.

20 The earth ſhall reel to and fro like a drunkard, and ſhall be removed like a cottage; and the tranſgreſſion thereof ſhall be heavy upon it; and it ſhall fall, and not riſe again.

21 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the LORD ſhall puniſh the hoſt of the high ones that are on high, and the kings of the earth upon the earth:

22 And they ſhall be gathered together as priſoners are gathered in the pit, and ſhall be ſhut up in the priſon, and after many days ſhall they be viſited.

23 Then the moon ſhall be confounded, and the ſun aſhamed, when the LORD of hoſts ſhall reign in mount Zion, and in Jeruſalem, and before his ancients gloriouſly.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The prophet praiſeth God for his judgements, 6 for his ſaving benefits, 9 and for his victorious ſalvation.

O LORD, thou art my God; I will exalt thee, I will praiſe thy name: for thou haſt done wonderful things: thy counſels of old are faithfulneſs and truth.

2 For thou haſt made of a city, an heap: of a defenced city, a ruin: a palace of ſtrangers to be no city: it ſhall never be built.

3 Therefore ſhall the ſtrong people glorify thee, the city of the terrible nations ſhall fear thee.

4 For thou haſt been a ſtrength to the poor, a ſtrength to the needy in his diſtreſs, a refuge from the ſtorm, a ſhadow from the heat, when the blaſt of the terrible ones is as a ſtorm againſt the wall.

5 Thou ſhalt bring down the noiſe of ſtrangers, as the heat in a dry place; even the heat with the ſhadow of a cloud; the branch of the terrible ones ſhall be brought low.

6 ¶ And in this mountain ſhall the LORD of hoſts make unto all people a feaſt of fat things, a feaſt of wines on the lees; of fat things full of marrow, of wines on the lees well refined.

7 And he will deſtroy in this mountain the face of the covering caſt over all people, and the veil that is ſpread over all nations.

8 He will ſwallow up death in victory; and the LORD GOD will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people ſhall he take away from off all the earth: for the LORD hath ſpoken it.

9 ¶ And it ſhall be ſaid in that day, Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will ſave us: this is the LORD; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his ſalvation.

20 It ſhall fall, and not riſe again.] This expreſſion remarkably makes for our interpretation: for, I think, God's judgments denounced againſt Iſrael or Judah are attended with ſome diſtant proſpect of a reſtoration to favour: but here, we ſee, the earth is to be deſtroyed, even paſt redemption. Peters.

21 The hoſt of the high ones on high.] Meaning, probably, the rebel angels.

22 They ſhall be viſited.] i. e. Puniſhed, with an everlaſting deſtruction from the preſence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power.

23 In Jeruſalem.] i. e. In the city of the living God, the heavenly Jeruſalem

Before his antients.] Or elders; alluding to the elders of Iſrael, and Moſes at the head of them.

Notes on the Twenty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 O Lord, thou art my God.] In this hymn there is a noble prediction of the light of the goſpel ſhining throughout the world, and removing from men's eyes the veil of ignorance and error that had overſpread all nations. Peters.

4 A refuge from the ſtorm, a ſhadow from the heat.]

The ſick and weak the healing plant ſhall aid,
From ſtorms a ſhelter, and from heat a ſhade. Pope.

6 A feaſt of fat things, &c.] It is common in ſcripture to expreſs, under the ſimilitude of a feaſt, God's calling men by his grace. The ſame metaphor is uſed in deſcribing the joys of heaven, Luke xxii. 29, 30. The words here imply that God will beſtow his grace in a plentiful manner upon his people, and fill them with ſpiritual delights, when the Jews ſhall be converted, and the fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall come into the church. Lowth.

7 In this mountain.] i. e. Mount Zion, or Jeruſalem, from whence the glad tidings of the goſpel were firſt publiſhed.

8 He will ſwallow up death in victory, &c.] St. Paul juſtly expounds this text of the general reſurrection, and tells us this will not be fulfilled till that awful day. Inſtead of in victory, read, for ever, as the word rather ſignifies.

No ſigh, no murmur the wide world ſhall hear,
From every face he wipes off every tear.
In adamantine chains ſhall death be bound,
And hell's grim tyrant feel th' eternal wound. Pope.

Notes

10 For in this mountain ſhall the hand of the LORD reſt, and Moab ſhall be troden down under him, even as ſtraw is troden down for the dunghil.

11 And he ſhall ſpread forth his hands in the midſt of them as he that ſwimmeth ſpreadeth forth his hands to ſwim: and he ſhall bring down their pride together with the ſpoils of their hands.

12 And the fortreſs of the high fort of thy walls ſhall he bring down, lay low, and bring to the ground, even to the duſt.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 A ſong inciting to confidence in God. 20 An exhortation to wait on him.

IN that day ſhall this ſong be ſung in the land of Judah; We have a ſtrong city; ſalvation will God appoint for walls and bulwarks.

2 Open ye the gates, that the righteous nation which keepeth the truth may enter in.

3 Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whoſe mind is ſtayed on thee: becauſe he truſteth in thee.

4 Truſt ye in the LORD for ever: for in the LORD JEHOVAH is everlaſting ſtrength:

5 For he bringeth down them that dwell on high, the lofty city he layeth it low even to the ground; he bringeth it even to the duſt.

6 The foot ſhall tread it down, even the feet of the poor, and the ſteps of the needy.

7 The way of the juſt is uprightneſs: thou, moſt upright, doſt weigh the path of the juſt.

8 Yea, in the way of thy judgements, O LORD, have we waited for thee: the deſire of our ſoul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my ſoul have I deſired thee in the night; yea, with my ſpirit within me will I ſeek thee early: for when thy judgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteouſneſs.

10 Let favour be ſhewed to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteouſneſs: in the land of uprightneſs will he deal unjuſtly, and will not behold the majeſty of the LORD.

11 LORD, when thy hand is lifted up, they will not ſee: but they ſhall ſee, and be aſhamed for their envy at the people; yea, the fire of thine enemies ſhall devour them.

12 LORD, thou wilt ordain peace for us; for thou alſo haſt wrought all our works in us.

13 O LORD our God, other lords beſides thee have had dominion over us: but by thee only will we make mention of thy name.

14 They are dead, they ſhall not live; they are deceaſed, they ſhall not riſe: therefore haſt thou viſited and deſtroyed them, and made all their memory to periſh.

15 Thou haſt increaſed the nation, O LORD, thou haſt increaſed the nation: thou art glorified: thou haſt removed it far unto all the ends of the earth.

16 LORD, in trouble have they viſited thee, they poured out a prayer, when thy chaſtening was upon them.

17 Like as a woman with child, that draweth near the time of her delivery is in pain, and crieth out in her pangs; ſo have we been in thy ſight, O LORD.

18 We have been with child, we have been in pain, we have as it were brought forth wind; we have not wrought any deliverance in the earth, neither have the inhabitants of the world fallen.

Notes on the Twenty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 We have a ſtrong city, ſalvation will God appoint for walls and bulwarks.] The church is called the city of God, and her ſtrength depends on the protection of the Almighty.

2 Open ye the gates.] This expreſſiom implies the enlarging the numbers of believers, and bringing into the church daily ſuch as ſhould be ſaved.

That the righteous nation.] i. e. The Chriſtian church, when thoroughly purged from its droſs.

11 When thy hand is lifted up, they will not ſee, but, &c.] i. e. This laſt judgment ſhall certainly awaken them, though they refuſe to ſee the hand of God in others. Peters.

12 Thou wilt ordain peace for us.] Or, bleſſedneſs. Thou haſt given us a law to direct us in all our ways and works, and ſuch other gracious advantages as, if duly improved, cannot fail to bring us to happineſs. Peters.

14 They are deceaſed, &c.] They are manes, or ghoſts of mighty wicked men, whom the Jews uſed too frequently to worſhip; and therefore he ſays, they ſhall not riſe; theſe idol deities, together with their impious worſhippers, ſhall ſink into deſtruction.

18 Neither have the inhabitants of the world fallen.] By our means.

19 Thy dead men ſhall live, &c.] We may ſuppoſe theſe the words of God by his prophet, Thy dead, O my people, ſhall live, with my dead body ſhall they ariſe: Thus it contains an awful myſtery, as pointing to him who was the firſt-fruits from the dead. Peters.

The earth ſhall caſt out the dead.] Not the dead in general, though the prophet is ſpeaking of a reſurrection; but the wretched part of them, the rephaim, as the word here ſignifies. Peters.

Notes

19 Thy dead men shall live, together with my dead body shall they arise. Awake, and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 ¶ Come, my people, enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doors about thee: hide thy self as it were for a little moment, until the indignation be overpast:

21 For behold, the LORD cometh out of his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity: the earth also shall disclose her blood, and shall no more cover her slain.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The care of God over his vineyard. 7 His chastisements differ from judgements. 12 The church of Jews and Gentiles.

IN that day the LORD with his sore and great and strong sword shall punish leviathan the piercing serpent, even leviathan, that crooked serpent; and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing ye unto her, A vineyard of red wine.

3 I the LORD do keep it: I will water it every moment: lest any hurt it, I will keep it night and day.

4 Fury is not in me: who would set the briers and thorns against me in battle? I would go through them, I would burn them together.

5 Or let him take hold of my strength, that he may make peace with me, and he shall make a peace with me.

6 He shall cause them that come of Jacob to take root: Israel shall blossom and bud, and fill the face of the world with fruit.

7 ¶ Hath he smitten him, as he smote those that smote him? or is he slain according to the slaughter of them that are slain by him?

8 In measure, when it shooteth forth, thou wilt debate with it: he stayeth his rough wind in the day of the east-wind.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquity of Jacob be purged; and this is all the fruit to take away his sin; when he maketh all the stones of the altar as chalk-stones that are beaten in sunder, the groves and images shall not stand up.

10 Yet the defenced city shall be desolate, and the habitation forsaken, and left like a wilderness: there shall the calf feed, and there shall he lie down, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughs thereof are withered, they shall be broken off: the women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of no understanding: therefore he that made them will not have mercy on them, and he that formed them will shew them no favour.

12 ¶ And it shall come to pass in that day, that the LORD shall beat off from the chanel of the river unto the stream of Egypt, and ye shall be gathered one by one, O ye children of Israel.

13 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the great trumpet shall be blown, and they shall come which were ready to perish in the land of Assyria, and the outcasts in the land of Egypt, and shall worship the LORD in the holy mount at Jerusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Ephraim threatened. 16 Christ promised. 18 Their security shall be tried.

WO to the crown of pride, to the drunkards of Ephraim, whose glorious beauty

Notes on the Twenty-seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 In that day the Lord with his sore, and great, and strong sword shall punish leviathan.] Tyrants and oppressors are often compared to the monsters of the deep; and the expressions of this verse denote in general those worldly potentates who have been the noted oppressors of God's people, and are indeed the instruments and types of Satan, so often called in scripture the Serpent. Lowth.

2 A vineyard of red wine.] The church is often compared to a vineyard.

4 Who would set the briars and thorns against me in battle, &c.] If the briars and thorns, i. e. the wicked and incorrigible, bid defiance to me, they will find I will soon consume them, like a devouring fire.

8 He stayeth his rough wind in the day of the east-wind.] i. e. In the midst of judgment he remembers mercy.

10 There shall the calf feed.] Desolate places naturally turn to pasturage.

12 From the channel of the river to the stream of Egypt.] i. e. from the river Euphrates, which is on the borders of Assyria, to the Nile, which is the boundary of Egypt.

13 Shall worship the Lord, &c.] They shall be joined to the true worshippers of God, and serve him in his church.

Notes on the Twenty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo unto the crown of pride, to the drunkards of Ephraim.] Wo to that proud kingdom of Israel, of which Ephraim is the head; Samaria, the royal seat of the kingdom, being situated in that tribe. Here seems to be an illusion to the crown of flowers which they wore at their drinking feasts.

2 The

is a fading flower, which are on the head of the fat valleys of them that are overcome with wine!

2 Behold, the LORD, hath a mighty and a strong one, which as a tempest of hail and a destroying storm, as a flood of mighty waters overflowing, shall cast down to the earth with the hand.

3 The crown of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim, shall be troden under feet.

4 And the glorious beauty which is on the head of the fat valley shall be a fading flower, and as the hasty fruit before the summer; which when he that looketh upon it seeth, while it is yet in his hand he eateth it up.

5 In that day shall the LORD of hosts, be for a crown of glory and for a diadem of beauty unto the residue of his people,

6 And for a spirit of judgement to him that sitteth in judgement, and for strength to them that turn the battle to the gate.

7 But they also have erred through wine, and through strong drink are out of the way: the priest and the prophet have erred through strong drink, they are swallowed up of wine, they are out of the way through strong drink; they err in vision, they stumble in judgement.

8 For all tables are full of vomit and filthiness, so that there is no place clean.

9 Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to understand doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts.

10 For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little;

11 For with stammering lips and another tongue will he speak to this people.

12 To whom he said, This is the rest wherewith ye may cause the weary to rest, and this is the refreshing: yet they would not hear.

13 But the word of the LORD was unto them precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little; that they might go and fall backward, and be broken, and snared, and taken.

14 Wherefore hear the word of the LORD, ye scornful men, that rule this people which is in Jerusalem.

15 Because ye have said, We have made a covenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement; when the overflowing scourge shall pass through, it shall not come unto us: for we have made lyes our refuge, and under falsehood have we hid our selves:

16 ¶ Therefore thus saith the LORD GOD, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner-stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste.

17 Judgement also will I lay to the line, and righteousness to the plummet: and the hail shall sweep away the refuge of lyes, and the waters shall overflow the hiding-place.

18 ¶ And your covenant with death shall be disannulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand; when the overflowing scourge shall pass through, then ye shall be troden down by it.

19 From the time that it goeth forth, it shall take you: for morning by morning shall it pass over, by day and by night: and it shall be a vexation only to understand the report.

20 For the bed is shorter than that a man can stretch himself on it: and the covering narrower than that he can wrap himself in it.

21 For the LORD shall rise up as in mount Perazim, he shall be wroth as in the valley of

---

2 The Lord hath a mighty and a strong one, which as a tempest of hail and a destroying storm, shall cast down to the earth, &c.] Under these resemblances, the prophet represents Salmaneser king of Assyria, who should carry away the ten tribes captive, and make an utter destruction of that kingdom. It is very common for the prophets to represent the severe judgments of God under the emblems of storms and tempests, which are the artillery of heaven. Lowth.

7 They err in vision, they stumble in judgment.] The first charge is against the prophet, the other against the priest: but the word here translated judgment, more properly signifies resolving cases of conscience. Peters.

10 Precept must be upon precept, line upon line, &c.] You should form your instructions as if you were to deal with children, repeat the same thing over and over, and instil into them good principles by gentle degrees, as they are able to bear it.

15 We have made a covenant with death and with hell.] We have made peace, say they, with those that threaten to destroy us, meaning probably Sennacherib and his forces.

16 Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation, a stone, &c.] This prophecy can belong only to Christ, to whom it is often applied in the New Testament.

20 For the bed is shorter than that, &c.] Two proverbial expressions, importing that all worldly comforts are insufficient to cure the maladies they are applied to, and human devices unable to secure us against the punishments of Providence.

Gibeon, that he may do his work, his ſtrange work; and bring to paſs his act, his ſtrange act.

22 Now therefore be ye not mockers, leſt your bands be made ſtrong: for I have heard from the Lord GOD of hoſts a conſumption, even determined upon the whole earth.

23 Give ye ear, and hear my voice; hearken, and hear my ſpeech.

24 Doth the plowman plow all day to ſow? doth he open and break the clods of his ground?

25 When he hath made plain the face thereof, doth he not caſt abroad the fitches, and ſcatter the cummin, and caſt in the principal wheat, and the appointed barley, and the rie in their place?

26 For his God doth inſtruct him to diſcretion, and doth teach him.

27 For the fitches are not threſhed with a threſhing inſtrument, neither is a cart-wheel turned about upon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a ſtaff, and the cummin with a rod.

28 Bread-corn is bruiſed: becauſe he will not ever be threſhing it, nor break it with the wheel of his cart, nor bruiſe it with his horſemen.

29 This alſo cometh forth from the LORD of hoſts, which is wonderful in counſel, and excellent in working.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 God's judgement upon Jeruſalem. 9 Their ſenſeleſneſs, 13 and deep hypocriſy. 18 A promiſe of ſanctification.

WO to Ariel, to Ariel the city where David dwelt! add ye year to year; let them kill ſacrifices.

2 Yet I will diſtreſs Ariel, and there ſhall be heavineſs and ſorrow: and it ſhall be unto me as Ariel.

3 And I will camp againſt thee round about, and will lay ſiege againſt thee with a mount, and I will raiſe forts againſt thee.

4 And thou ſhalt be brought down, and ſhalt ſpeak out of the ground, and thy ſpeech ſhall be low out of the duſt, and thy voice ſhall be as of one that hath a familiar ſpirit, out of the ground, and thy ſpeech ſhall whiſper out of the duſt.

5 Moreover, the multitude of thy ſtrangers ſhall be like ſmall duſt, and the multitude of the terrible ones ſhall be as chaff that paſſeth away, yea, it ſhall be at an inſtant ſuddenly.

6 Thou ſhalt be viſited of the LORD of hoſts with thunder, and with earthquake, and great noiſe, with ſtorm and tempeſt, and the flame of devouring fire.

7 And the multitude of all the nations that fight againſt Ariel, even all that fight againſt her and her munition, and that diſtreſs her, ſhall be as a dream of a night-viſion.

8 It ſhall even be as when a hungry man dreameth, and behold, he eateth; but he awaketh, and his ſoul is empty: or as when a thirſty man dreameth, and behold, he drinketh; but he awaketh, and behold, he is faint, and his ſoul hath appetite: ſo ſhall the multitude of all the nations be that fight againſt mount Zion.

9 ¶ Stay your ſelves, and wonder; cry ye out, and cry: they are drunken, but not with wine; they ſtagger, but not with ſtrong drink.

10 For the LORD hath poured out upon you the ſpirit of deep ſleep, and hath cloſed your eyes: the prophets and your rulers, the ſeers hath he covered.

24 Doth the plowman plow all day to ſow?] The words may be better tranſlated, doth the plowman plow every day to ſow? is there not alſo a time for harrowing and ſowing? Lowth.

28 Nor bruiſe it with his horſemen.] Rather, with his horſes: in the Eaſtern countries they beat their wheat out of the huſk, by drawing drays, or heavy planks with iron wheels over it; theſe were drawn by horſes, and ſometimes oxen.

29 This cometh from the Lord of hoſts, &c.] The judgment threatened upon the whole land, ver. 22. cometh from God, whoſe decrees are the reſults of infinite wiſdom, and who brings them to paſs in ſuch a manner, as tend beſt to promote his own glory.

Notes on the Twenty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo to Ariel, to Ariel, the city where David dwelt, &c.] Ariel ſignifies the lion of God, and was the name of the altar, becauſe it devoured the ſacrifices which were offered upon it. Here it is put for the city of Jeruſalem, which David made the ſeat of the kingdom, and where God had promiſed to place his name. Lowth.

2 Yet I will diſtreſs Ariel---and it ſhall be unto me as Ariel.] When the city is ſurrounded by the hoſt of the enemy, it ſhall reſemble the altar of burnt-offerings, being totally ſurrounded with carcaſes, not of beaſts, but of men. Lowth.

4 Shall ſpeak out of the ground.] This alludes to the cuſtom of the magicians, who could diſguiſe their voices in a very extraordinary manner.

11 And the vision of all is become unto you as the words of a book that is sealed, which men deliver to one that is learned, saying, Read this, I pray thee: and he saith, I cannot; for it is sealed:

12 And the book is delivered to him that is not learned, saying, Read this, I pray thee: and he saith, I am not learned.

13 ¶ Wherefore the LORD said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honour me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear towards me is taught by the precept of men:

14 Therefore behold, I will proceed to do a marvellous work amongst this people, even a marvellous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 Wo unto them that seek deep to hide their counsel from the LORD, and their works are in the dark, and they say, Who seeth us? and who knoweth us?

16 Surely your turning of things upside down shall be esteemed as the potter's clay. For shall the work say of him that made it, He made me not? or shall the thing framed say of him that framed it, He had no understanding?

17 Is it not yet a very little while, and Lebanon shall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field shall be esteemed as a forest?

18 ¶ And in that day shall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity and out of darkness.

19 The meek also shall increase their joy in the LORD, and the poor among men shall rejoice in the Holy One of Israel.

20 For the terrible one is brought to nought, and the scorner is consumed, and all that watch for iniquity are cut off:

21 That make a man an offender for a word, and lay a snare for him that reproveth in the gate, and turn aside the just for a thing of nought.

22 Therefore thus saith the LORD who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob; Jacob shall not now be ashamed, neither shall his face now wax pale.

23 But when he seeth his children the work of mine hands in the midst of him, they shall sanctify my name, and sanctify the Holy One of Jacob, and shall fear the God of Israel.

24 They also that erred in spirit shall come to understanding, and they that murmured shall learn doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The people threatened for their confidence in Egypt, 8 and contempt of God's word.

WO to the rebellious children, saith the LORD, that take counsel, but not of me; and that cover with a covering, but not of my spirit, that they may add sin to sin:

2 That walk to go down into Egypt, and have not asked at my mouth; to strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh, and to trust in the shadow of Egypt!

3 Therefore shall the strength of Pharaoh be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his princes were at Zoan, and his ambassadors came to Hanes.

5 They were all ashamed of a people that could not profit them, nor be an help nor profit, but a shame, and also a reproach.

6 The burden of the beasts of the south: into the land of trouble and anguish, from whence come the young and old lion, the viper and fiery flying serpent, they will carry their riches upon the shoulders of young asses, and their treasures upon the bunches of camels, to a people that shall not profit them.

7 For the Egyptians shall help in vain, and

13 Their fear towards me is taught by the precept of men.] i. e. Human authority has too much weight among them in matters of religion. Clark.

17 Lebanon shall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field shall be esteemed as a forest.] A proverbial expression, used to indicate the remarkable changes that should ensue, when the proud shall be abased, and the meek exalted: an alteration as remarkable as if Lebanon, famous for its cedars, should be turned into a corn-field, and the richest ground into a forest. Lowth.

Notes on the Thirtieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 That cover themselves with a covering.] That pour out a libation, but not after my mind. Sykes.

6 The burden of the beasts of the south.] This is a curse upon the beasts that carried their treasures into Egypt: intimating, that if the beasts should not be spared, the men should be punished much more grievously.

to no purpoſe: therefore have I cried concerning this, Their ſtrength is to ſit ſtill.

8 ¶ Now go, write it before them in a table, and note it in a book, that it may be for the time to come for ever and ever:

9 That this is a rebellious people, lying children, children that will not hear the law of the LORD:

10 Which ſay to the ſeers, See not; and to the prophets, Propheſy not unto us right things, ſpeak unto us ſmooth things, propheſy deceits:

11 Get ye out of the way, turn aſide out of the path, cauſe the Holy One of Iſrael to ceaſe from before us.

12 Wherefore thus ſaith the Holy One of Iſrael, Becauſe ye deſpiſe this word, and truſt in oppreſſion and perverſeneſs, and ſtay thereon:

13 Therefore this iniquity ſhall be to you as a breach ready to fall, ſwelling out in a high wall, whoſe breaking cometh ſuddenly at an inſtant.

14 And he ſhall break it as the breaking of the potter's veſſel, that is broken in pieces; he ſhall not ſpare: ſo that there ſhall not be found in the burſting of it a ſherd to take fire from the hearth, or to take water withal out of the pit.

15 For thus ſaith the LORD GOD, the Holy One of Iſrael; In returning and reſt ſhall ye be ſaved, in quietneſs and in confidence ſhall be your ſtrength: and ye would not.

16 But ye ſaid, No; for we will flee upon horſes; therefore ſhall ye flee: and, We will ride upon the ſwift; therefore ſhall they that purſue you be ſwift.

17 One thouſand ſhall flee at the rebuke of one; at the rebuke of five ſhall ye flee: till ye be left as a beacon upon the top of a mountain, and as an enſign on an hill.

18 And therefore will the LORD wait that he may be gracious unto you, and therefore will he be exalted that he may have mercy upon you: for the LORD is a God of judgement: Bleſſed are all they that wait for him.

19 For the people ſhall dwell in Zion at Jeruſalem: thou ſhalt weep no more: he will be very gracious unto thee at the voice of thy cry; when he ſhall hear it, he will anſwer thee.

20 And though the Lord give you the bread of adverſity and the water of affliction, yet ſhall not thy teachers be removed into a corner any more, but thine eyes ſhall ſee thy teachers:

21 And thine ears ſhall hear a word behind thee, ſaying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right-hand, and when ye turn to the left.

22 Ye ſhall defile alſo the covering of thy graven images of ſilver, and the ornament of thy molten images of gold: thou ſhalt caſt them away as a menſtruous cloth; thou ſhalt ſay unto it, Get thee hence.

23 Then ſhall he give the rain of thy ſeed that thou ſhalt ſow the ground withal, and bread of the increaſe of the earth, and it ſhall be fat and plenteous: in that day ſhall thy cattle feed in large paſtures.

24 The oxen likewiſe and the young aſſes that ear the ground, ſhall eat clean provender, which hath been winnowed with the ſhovel and with the fan.

25 And there ſhall be upon every high mountain, and upon every high hill, rivers and ſtreams of water, in the day of the great ſlaughter, when the towers fall.

26 Moreover, the light of the moon ſhall be as the light of the ſun, and the light of the ſun ſhall be ſeven-fold, as the light of ſeven days, in the day that the LORD bindeth up the breach of his people, and healeth the ſtroke of their wound.

18 Therefore will the Lord wait, &c.] This might have been better tranſlated in the following manner; nevertheleſs the Lord will wait, or yet ſurely the Lord will wait. Lowth.

21 Thine ears ſhall hear a word behind thee, ſaying, This is the way, &c.] As God will afford you teachers, ſo he will alſo give you grace to liſten to their inſtructions.

24 Winnowed with the ſhovel and with the fan.] See note on Pſalm i. 4.

25 There ſhall be upon every high mountain, and every high hill, rivers, &c.] God's bleſſings are often repreſented under the metaphor of a well-watered ground, which is the moſt fruitful: and here the prophet promiſes ſuch fertility, that the barren and mountainous land ſhall yield as plentiful an harveſt as if it were watered with ſtreams and rivers. Lowth.

In the day of the great ſlaughter, when the towers ſhall fall.] When that terrible deſtruction ſhall be made of God's enemies, mentioned Rev. xiv. 20. xix. 21. when the great men of the earth, called here the towers, ſhall fall. Lowth.

26 The light of the moon ſhall be as the light of the ſun, &c.] Light is an emblem of joy and happineſs: the words ſeem to deſcribe that glorious ſtate of the church, when there ſhall be no night, nor any reſemblance of it, no degree either of ſorrow or ignorance.

27 Behold, the name of the LORD cometh from far, burning with his anger, and the burden thereof is heavy: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue as a devouring fire.

28 And his breath as an overflowing ſtream ſhall reach to the midſt of the neck, to ſift the nations with the ſieve of vanity: and there ſhall be a bridle in the jaws of the people, cauſing them to err.

29 Ye ſhall have a ſong as in the night, when a holy ſolemnity is kept: and gladneſs of heart, as when one goeth with a pipe to come into the mountain of the LORD, to the Mighty One of Iſrael.

30 And the LORD ſhall cauſe his glorious voice to be heard, and ſhall ſhew the lighting-down of his arm, with the indignation of his anger, and with a flame of a devouring fire, with ſcattering, and tempeſt, and hail-ſtones.

31 For through the voice of the LORD ſhall the Aſſyrian be beaten down, which ſmote with a rod.

32 And in every place where the grounded ſtaff ſhall paſs, which the LORD ſhall lay upon him, it ſhall be with tabrets and harps; and in battles of ſhaking will he fight with it.

33 For Tophet is ordained of old; yea, for the king it is prepared: he hath made it deep and large: the pile thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the LORD, like a ſtream of brimſtone, doth kindle it.

CHAP. XXXI.

The prophet ſheweth the curſed folly in truſting to Egypt, and forſaking of God.

WO to them that go down to Egypt for help, and ſtay on horſes, and truſt in chariots, becauſe they are many, and in horſemen becauſe they are very ſtrong: but they look not unto the Holy One of Iſrael, neither ſeek the LORD!

2 Yet he alſo is wiſe, and will bring evil, and will not call back his words; but will ariſe againſt the houſe of the evil-doers, and againſt the help of them that work iniquity.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, and not God; and their horſes fleſh, and not ſpirit. When the LORD ſhall ſtretch out his hand, both he that helpeth ſhall fall, and he that is holpen ſhall fall down, and they all ſhall fail together.

4 For thus hath the LORD ſpoken unto me, Like as the lion and the young lion roaring on his prey, when a multitude of ſhepherds is called forth againſt him, he will not be afraid of their voice, nor abaſe himſelf for the noiſe of them: ſo ſhall the LORD of hoſts come down to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds flying, ſo will the LORD of hoſts defend Jeruſalem: defending alſo he will deliver it, and paſſing over he will preſerve it.

6 Turn ye unto him from whom the children of Iſrael have deeply revolted.

7 For in that day every man ſhall caſt away his idols of ſilver, and his idols of gold, which your own hands have made unto you for a ſin.

8 Then ſhall the Aſſyrian fall with the ſword, not of a mighty man; and the ſword, not of a mean man, ſhall devour him: but he ſhall flee from the ſword, and his young men ſhall be diſcomfited.

29 Ye ſhall have a ſong, as in the night.] The feaſt of the paſſover is chiefly alluded to here, which was always kept in the evening, and the ſupper concluded with hymns.

32 In every place where the grounded ſtaff ſhall paſs, which the Lord ſhall lay upon him, it ſhall be with tabrets and harps, &c.] This paſſage may be thus rendered more conformable to the Hebrew, Every place where the terrible ſtroke ſhall paſs which the Lord will lay upon him, ſhall reſound with tabrets and harps. The expreſſion alludes to the rod with which the Aſſyrian ſmote the deſcendants of Jacob; as if the prophet had ſaid, God hath prepared a rod to chaſtiſe him, who was before a ſcourge to all his neighbours. The import of the whole ſentence is this, That every place where God ſhall afflict this heavy judgment upon the Aſſyrian ſhall be full of joy and gladneſs. Lowth.

33 Tophet.] Otherwiſe called the valley of Hinnom. It was looked upon as the picture of hell itſelf, the word gehenna being derived from thence.

Notes on the Thirty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 4 Like as a lion and the young lion roaring on his prey, &c.] This is an elegant ſimilitude, repreſenting the Almighty's power, which no human ſtrength is able to withſtand. One would think Homer had copied it, Iliad, b. 12.

So preſs'd with hunger from the mountain's brow
Deſcends a lion on the flocks below;
In vain loud maſtiffs bay him from afar,
And ſhepherds gaul him with an iron war;
Regardleſs, furious he purſues his way;
He foams, he roars, he rends the panting prey. Pope.

5 As birds flying, ſo will the Lord of hoſts defend Jeruſalem.] The protection which God affords to his ſervants is commonly expreſſed by covering them under his wings, in alluſion to the wings of the cherubims which covered the mercy-ſeat. Lowth.

8 The Aſſyrian ſhall fall with the ſword, &c.] He ſhall not fall by 9 And he ſhall paſs over to his ſtrong hold for fear, and his princes ſhall be afraid of the enſign, ſaith the LORD, whoſe fire is in Zion, and his furnace in Jeruſalem.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The bleſſings of Chriſt's kingdom. 9 Deſolation is foreſhewn. 15 Reſtoration is promiſed to ſucceed.

BEhold, a king ſhall reign in righteouſneſs; and princes ſhall rule in judgement.

2 And a man ſhall be as an hiding-place from the wind, and a covert from the tempeſt; as rivers of water in a dry place; as the ſhadow of a great rock in a weary land.

3 And the eyes of them that ſee ſhall not be dim, and the ears of them that hear ſhall hearken.

4 The heart alſo of the raſh ſhall underſtand knowledge, and the tongue of the ſtammerers ſhall be ready to ſpeak plainly.

5 The vile perſon ſhall be no more called liberal, nor the churl ſaid to be bountiful.

6 For the vile perſon will ſpeak villany, and his heart will work iniquity, to practiſe hypocriſy, and to utter error againſt the LORD, to make empty the ſoul of the hungry; and he will cauſe the drink of the thirſty to fail.

7 The inſtruments alſo of the churl are evil: he deviſeth wicked devices to deſtroy the poor with lying words, even when the needy ſpeaketh right.

8 But the liberal deviſeth liberal things; and by liberal things ſhall he ſtand.

9 ¶ Riſe up, ye women that are at eaſe; hear my voice, ye careleſs daughters; give ear unto my ſpeech:

10 Many days and years ſhall ye be troubled, ye careleſs women: for the vintage ſhall fail, the gathering ſhall not come.

11 Tremble, ye women that are at eaſe; be troubled, ye careleſs ones; ſtrip you and make you bare, and gird ſackcloth upon your loins.

12 They ſhall lament for the teats, for the pleaſant fields, for the fruitful vine.

13 Upon the land of my people ſhall come up thorns and briers; yea, upon all the houſes of joy in the joyous city:

14 Becauſe the palaces ſhall be forſaken; the multitude of the city ſhall be left; the forts and towers ſhall be for dens for ever, a joy of wild aſſes, a paſture of flocks;

15 ¶ Until the ſpirit be poured upon us from on high, and the wilderneſs be a fruitful field, and the fruitful field be counted for a foreſt.

16 Then judgement ſhall dwell in the wilderneſs, and righteouſneſs remain in the fruitful field.

17 And the work of righteouſneſs ſhall be peace; and the effect of righteouſneſs, quietneſs and aſſurance for ever.

18 And my people ſhall dwell in a peaceable habitation, and in ſure dwellings, and in quiet reſting-places:

19 When it ſhall hail, coming down on the foreſt; and the city ſhall be low in a low place.

20 Bleſſed are ye that ſow beſide all waters, that ſend forth thither the feet of the ox and the aſs.

by any mortal power, but by the hand of an angel; accordingly the Aſſyrian army was in one night deſtroyed by a ſudden ſtroke from heaven. Lowth.

Notes on the Thirty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 Behold, a king ſhall reign in righteouſneſs, &c.] Under the government of ſo good a king as Hezekiah, inferior princes and magiſtrates ſhall execute their office with faithfulneſs and integrity. Lowth.

2 As an hiding-place from the wind.] This prince ſhall be a refuge to us, when the ſtorms of calamities overtake us, or the oppreſſions of our enemies conſume us.

9 Riſe up, ye women.] He prophecieth of ſuch calamities to come, that they will not ſpare the women and children, therefore deſireth them to take heed.

12 They ſhall lament for the teats, &c.] By the teats he means the plentiful fields whereby men are nouriſhed, as children by the teat.

15 Until the ſpirit be poured upon us from on high.] Until the Almighty gives us new life, and recovers us from this forlorn condition.

16 Then judgment ſhall dwell in the wilderneſs, &c.] Then ſhall all manner of peace and happineſs flouriſh in that place which was lately a wilderneſs, but now a fruitful field.

20 That ſend forth thither the feet of the ox and the aſs.] i. e. That employ their labours. It was the cuſtom of the Jews to uſe aſſes as well as oxen in plowing and cultivating their lands.

Notes

WO to thee that ſpoileſt, and thou waſt not ſpoiled; and dealeſt treacherouſly, and they dealt not treacherouſly with thee: when thou ſhalt ceaſe to ſpoil, thou ſhalt be ſpoiled; and when thou ſhalt make an end to deal treacherouſly, they ſhall deal treacherouſly with thee!

2 O LORD, be gracious unto us; we have waited for thee: be thou their arm every morning, our ſalvation alſo in the time of trouble.

3 At the noiſe of the tumult the people fled; at the lifting up of thy ſelf the nations were ſcattered.

4 And your ſpoil ſhall be gathered like the gathering of the caterpillar; as the running to and fro of locuſts ſhall he run upon them.

5 The LORD is exalted; for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with judgement and righteouſneſs.

6 And wiſdom and knowledge ſhall be the ſtability of thy times, and ſtrength of ſalvation: the fear of the LORD is his treaſure.

7 Behold, their valiant ones ſhall cry without: the ambaſſadors of peace ſhall weep bitterly.

8 The high-ways lie waſte, the wayfaring man ceaſeth: he hath broken the covenant, he hath deſpiſed the cities, he regardeth no man.

9 The earth mourneth and languiſheth: Lebanon is aſhamed and hewn down: Sharon is like a wilderneſs, and Baſhan and Carme ſhake off their fruits.

10 Now will I riſe, ſaith the LORD; now will I be exalted; now will I lift up my ſelf.

11 Ye ſhall conceive chaff, ye ſhall bring forth ſtubble: your breath as fire ſhall devour you.

12 And the people ſhall be as the burnings of lime: as thorns cut up ſhall they be burned in the fire.

13 ¶ Hear, ye that are far off, what I have done; and ye that are near, acknowledge my might.

14 The ſinners in Zion are afraid, fearfulneſs hath ſurpriſed the hypocrites. Who among us ſhall dwell with the devouring fire? who amongſt us ſhall dwell with everlaſting burnings?

15 He that walketh righteouſly, and ſpeaketh uprightly; he that deſpiſeth the gain of oppreſſions, that ſhaketh his hands from holding of bribes, that ſtoppeth his ears from hearing of blood, and ſhutteth his eyes from ſeeing evil;

16 He ſhall dwell on high: his place of defence ſhall be the munitions of rocks; bread ſhall be given him, his waters ſhall be ſure.

17 Thine eyes ſhall ſee the king in his beauty: they ſhall behold the land that is very far off.

Notes on the Thirty-third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo to thee that ſpoileſt, and thou waſt not ſpoiled.] Meaning the enemies of the church, viz. the Chaldeans, and particularly Sennacherib, king of Aſſyria.

2 Be thou their arm every morning.] It is uſual for the prophets to change their ſtile from the firſt, to the ſecond or third perſon.

4 Your ſpoil ſhall be gathered like the gathering of the caterpillar, &c.] The Jews ſhall plunder the Aſſyrian camp, till they leave it as bare as the locuſts or caterpillars leave the trees when they have ſtripped them of their verdure. Lowth.

6 Wiſdom and knowledge, &c.] i. e. In the days of Hezekiah.

7 Ambaſſadors of peace.] The meſſengers ſent from Hezekiah to Rabſhakeh, 2 Kings, xviii.

9 The earth mourneth and languiſheth.] The whole land is under the greateſt conſternation, and the moſt beautiful parts of the country ſeem to languiſh and wither, at the approach of the enemy, and look upon themſelves as already deſtroyed.

10 Now will I riſe, ſaith the Lord: now will I be exalted, &c.] When things are come to the laſt extremity, then is the time for the Almighty to interpoſe, and make his ſtrength more eminently conſpicuous in the midſt of the weakneſs of man. Lowth.

11 Ye ſhall conceive, &c.] This is ſpoken to the enemies of Jeruſalem.

14 The ſinners in Zion are afraid, fearfulneſs hath ſurpriſed the hypocrites: who among us ſhall dwell with the devouring fire? &c.] They that did not rely upon God for help, were ready to cry out, Who can bear the approach of the Aſſyrian, who devours all things like fire? But, in a ſecondary ſenſe, theſe words may be applied to the torments of hell, which, when the conſciences of ſinners begin to be rouſed from their lethargy, give them abundant cauſe for forming the moſt dreadful ideas of the Divine vengeance. And they who could not ſupport the thought of being attacked with all the force of a human enemy; how will they bear the weight of God's wrath, when he ſhall declare himſelf their enemy, and ſet his terrors in array againſt them? Lowth.

15 He that walketh.] The meaning is, he that is juſt and righteous in all his dealings, ſhall by the favourable protection of the Divine Providence, as by an impregnable fortreſs, be defended againſt all extreme calamities. Clark.

17 Thine eyes ſhall ſee the king in his beauty.] This elegant image probably alludes to the felicity of the righteous in the everlaſting world: Milton touches the ſame ſubject with wonderful elevation and majeſty of thought:

——————They walk with God,
High in ſalvation, and the climes of bliſs. B. xi. 707.

18 Thine heart ſhall meditate terror: Where is the ſcribe? where is the receiver? where is he that counted the towers?

19 Thou ſhalt not ſee a fierce people, a people of a deeper ſpeech than thou canſt perceive; of a ſtammering tongue, that thou canſt not underſtand.

20 Look upon Zion the city of our ſolemnities: thine eyes ſhall ſee Jeruſalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that ſhall not be taken down; not one of the ſtakes thereof ſhall ever be removed, neither ſhall any of the cords thereof be broken.

21 But there the glorious LORD will be unto us a place of broad rivers and ſtreams; wherein ſhall go no galley with oars, neither ſhall gallant ſhip paſs thereby.

22 For the LORD is our judge, the LORD is our law-giver, the LORD is our king: he will ſave us.

23 Thy tacklings are looſed; they could not well ſtrengthen their maſt; they could not ſpread the ſail: then is the prey of a great ſpoil divided; the lame take the prey.

24 And the inhabitant ſhall not ſay, I am ſick; the people that dwell therein ſhall be forgiven their iniquity.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 The judgements wherewith God revengeth his church. 11 The deſolation of her enemies. 16 The certainty of the prophecy.

COME near, ye nations, to hear; and hearken, ye people: let the earth hear, and all that is therein; the world, and all things that come forth of it.

2 For the indignation of the LORD is upon all nations, and his fury upon all their armies: he hath utterly deſtroyed them, he hath delivered them to the ſlaughter.

3 Their ſlain alſo ſhall be caſt out, and their ſtink ſhall come up out of their carcaſes, and the mountains ſhall be melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoſt of heaven ſhall be diſſolved, and the heavens ſhall be rolled together as a ſcrole: and all their hoſt ſhall fall down as the leaf falleth off from the vine, and as a falling fig from the fig-tree.

5 For my ſword ſhall be bathed in heaven: behold it ſhall come down upon Idumea, and upon the people of my curſe to judgement.

6 The ſword of the LORD is filled with blood, it is made fat with fatneſs, and with the blood of lambs and goats, with the fat of the kidneys of rams: for the LORD hath a ſacrifice in Bozrah, and a great ſlaughter in the land of Idumea.

7 And the unicorns ſhall come down with them, and the bullocks with the bulls; and their land ſhall be ſoaked with blood, and their duſt made fat with fatneſs.

8 For it is the day of the LORD's vengeance, and the year of recompenſes for the controverſy of Zion.

9 And the ſtreams thereof ſhall be turned into pitch, and the duſt thereof into brimſtone and the land thereof ſhall become burning pitch.

10 It ſhall not be quenched night nor day; the ſmoke thereof ſhall go up for ever: from generation to generation it ſhall lie waſte; none ſhall paſs through it for ever and ever.

20 Look upon Zion the city of our ſolemnities, &c.] You may now view Zion in perfect peace, and freed from all the fears of an hoſtile invaſion. God hath choſen it to be the place ſet apart for his ſolemn worſhip, and the temple of his own reſidence.

23 Thy tacklings, &c.] Having compared the Aſſyrians to a naval force, he purſues the metaphor, and deſcribes them as in a ſhipwrecked condition.

Notes on the Thirty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Come near, ye nations, and hear, &c.] A ſummons to all the inhabitants of the earth to the following deſcription of the general judgment, which concerns them all. Lowth.

3 The mountains ſhall be melted, &c.] Septuagint, Shall be ſoaked.

5 It ſhall come down upon Idumea, &c.] It is common for the prophets to repreſent the enemies of God's church by the name of ſome country remarkable for its hatred to the Jews; and in this ſenſe, Edom or Idumea may be taken here, the inhabitants of that country being famous for their malice to the Iſraelites. But the words here ſeem to deſcribe a more general judgment, of which the deſtruction of Edom was but an imperfect repreſentation. Lowth.

7 The unicorns.] The creature here meant is the rhinoceros. The beaſts mentioned in the 6th verſe and in this, ſignify all ranks and ſorts of people, the ſtrongeſt, as well as the weakeſt. Septuagint reads, The noblemen ſhall come down.

8 It is the day of the Lord's vengeance, and the year of recompenſes.] A time which ſhall be remarkable for God's vindicating the cauſe of his oppreſſed truth and people. A day and a year are here equivalent terms. Lowth.

9 The ſtreams thereof ſhall be turned into pitch, &c.] This alludes to the deſtruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, an emblem of the everlaſting deſtruction of the wicked.

11 ¶ But the cormorant and the bittern ſhall poſſeſs it; the owl alſo and the raven ſhall dwell in it: and he ſhall ſtretch out upon it the line of confuſion, and the ſtones of emptineſs.

12 They ſhall call the nobles thereof to the kingdom, but none ſhall be there, and all her princes ſhall be nothing.

13 And thorns ſhall come up in her palaces, nettles and brambles in the fortreſſes thereof: and it ſhall be an habitation of dragons, and a court for owls.

14 The wild beaſts of the deſert ſhall alſo meet with the wild beaſts of the iſland, and the ſatyr ſhall cry to his fellow; the ſcriech-owl alſo ſhall reſt there, and find for her ſelf a place of reſt.

15 There ſhall the great owl make her neſt, and lay, and hatch, and gather under her ſhadow: there ſhall the vultures alſo be gathered, every one with her mate.

16 ¶ Seek ye out of the book of the LORD, and read: no one of theſe ſhall fail, none ſhall want her mate: for my mouth it hath commanded, and his ſpirit it hath gathered them.

17 And he hath caſt the lot for them, and his hand hath divided it unto them by line: they ſhall poſſeſs it for ever, from generation to generation ſhall they dwell therein.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The joyful flouriſhing of Chriſt's kingdom. 3 The weak are encouraged by the virtues and privileges of the goſpel.

THE wilderneſs and the ſolitary place ſhall be glad for them: and the deſert ſhall rejoice, and bloſſom as the roſe.

2 It ſhall bloſſom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and ſinging: the glory of Lebanon ſhall be given unto it, the excellency of Carmel and Sharon: they ſhall ſee the glory of the LORD, and the excellency of our God.

3 ¶ Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees.

4 Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be ſtrong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompenſe; he will come, and ſave you.

5 Then the eyes of the blind ſhall be opened, and the ears of the deaf ſhall be unſtopped.

6 Then ſhall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb ſing: for in the wilderneſs ſhall waters break out, and ſtreams in the deſert.

7 And the parched ground ſhall become a pool, and the thirſty land ſprings of water: in the habitation of dragons, where each lay, ſhall be graſs with reeds and ruſhes.

8 And an high-way ſhall be there, and a way, and it ſhall be called, The way of holineſs: the unclean ſhall not paſs over it; but it ſhall be for thoſe: the way-faring men, though fools, ſhall not err therein.

---

11 The bittern.] This would more properly have been tranſlated, the hedge-hog, as Dr. Shaw obſerves, and the Septuagint and ſeveral other tranſlations have rendered it.

13 Dragons.] By dragons are generally meant, thoſe noxious and diſagreeable creatures that hide themſelves in dark and inacceſſible coverts.

Owls.] It ſhould be rendered oſtriches, as in the margin.

14 The ſatyr ſhall cry to his fellow.] It is certain the prophet here ſpeaks of ſpectres; for he deſcribes a deſert place which ſtrikes the mind with terror; and where the imagination, ſo ſtruck, uſually forms monſters, not from what it ſees, but what it fears.

Notes on the Thirty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The wilderneſs and the ſolitary place ſhall be glad for them.] i. e. For the judgments inflicted upon the enemies of the people of God. By the wilderneſs is meant the church, which before was in a deſolate condition, but now ſhall ſpread and flouriſh. Lowth.

2 It ſhall bloſſom abundantly, &c.] Spiritual bleſſings are often diſplayed under the emblems of fruitfulneſs and plenty.

See nature haſtes her earlieſt wreathes to bring,
With all the incenſe of the breathing ſpring:
See loſty Lebanon his head advance,
See nodding foreſts on the mountains dance:
See ſpicy clouds from lowly Sharon riſe,
And Carmel's flow'ry top perfumes the ſkies! Pope.

5 Then the eyes of the blind ſhall be opened, &c.] Our Saviour, in anſwer to John's diſciples, proved himſelf to be the Meſſiah by appealing to this prophecy, as literally fulfilled in the miracles he wrought. Matt. xi. 5.

Hear him, ye deaf, and all ye blind, behold! Pope.

6 The lame man ſhall leap as an hart, &c.]

The dumb ſhall ſing, the lame his crutch forego,
And leap exulting like the bounding roe. Pope.

In the wilderneſs, &c.] This implies the plentiful infuſion of God's grace in the happy times of the goſpel.

The ſwain in barren deſerts with ſurpriſe
Sees lilies ſpring, and ſudden verdure riſe,
And ſtarts, amidſt the thirſty wilds to hear
New falls of water murmuring in his ear:
On riſted rocks, the dragon's late abodes,
The green reed trembles, and the bulruſh nods.

9 No lion ſhall be there, nor any ravenous beaſt ſhall go up thereon, it ſhall not be found there; but the redeemed ſhall walk there:

10 And the ranſomed of the LORD ſhall return, and come to Zion with ſongs, and everlaſting joy upon their heads: they ſhall obtain joy and gladneſs; and ſorrow and ſighing ſhall flee away.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Sennacherib invadeth Judah. 4 Rabſhakeh's blaſphemous perſuaſions to the people. 22 His words are told to Hezekiah.

NOW it came to paſs in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah, that Sennacherib king of Aſſyria came up againſt all the defenced cities of Judah, and took them.

2 And the king of Aſſyria ſent Rabſhakeh from Lachiſh to Jeruſalem, unto king Hezekiah, with a great army. And he ſtood by the conduit of the upper-pool in the high-way of the fuller's field.

3 Then came forth unto him Eliakim Hilkiah's ſon, which was over the houſe, and Shebna the ſcribe, and Joah Aſaph's ſon the recorder:

4 ¶ And Rabſhakeh ſaid unto them, Say ye now to Hezekiah, Thus ſaith the great king, the king of Aſſyria, What confidence is this wherein thou truſteſt?

5 I ſay, ſayeſt thou, (but they are but vain words) I have counſel and ſtrength for war: now on whom doſt thou truſt, that thou rebelleſt againſt me?

6 Lo, thou truſteſt in the ſtaff of this broken reed, on Egypt; whereon if a man lean, it will go into his hand and pierce it: ſo is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all that truſt in him.

7 But if thou ſay to me, We truſt in the LORD our God: is it not he whoſe high places and whoſe altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and ſaid to Judah and to Jeruſalem, Ye ſhall worſhip before this altar?

8 Now therefore give pledges, I pray thee, to my maſter the king of Aſſyria, and I will give thee two thouſand horſes, if thou be able on thy part to ſet riders upon them.

9 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain of the leaſt of my maſter's ſervants, and put thy truſt on Egypt for chariots and for horſemen?

10 And am I now come up without the LORD againſt this land to deſtroy it? the LORD ſaid unto me, Go up againſt this land, and deſtroy it.

11 Then ſaid Eliakim and Shebna and Joah unto Rabſhakeh, Speak, I pray thee, unto thy ſervants in the Syrian language; for we underſtand it: and ſpeak not to us in the Jews language, in the ears of the people that are on the wall.

12 But Rabſhakeh ſaid, Hath my maſter ſent me to thy maſter and to thee to ſpeak theſe words? hath he not ſent me to the men that ſit upon the wall, that they may eat their own dung and drink their own piſs with you?

13 Then Rabſhakeh ſtood, and cried with a loud voice in the Jews language, and ſaid, Hear ye the words of the great king, the king of Aſſyria.

14 Thus ſaith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he ſhall not be able to deliver you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you truſt in the LORD, ſaying, The LORD will ſurely deliver us: this city ſhall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Aſſyria.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus ſaith the king of Aſſyria, Make an agreement with me by a preſent, and come out to me: and eat ye every one of his vine, and every one of his fig-tree, and drink ye every one the waters of his own ciſtern;

9 No lion ſhall be there.] No cruel oppreſſor of mankind.

10 The ranſomed of the Lord.] Whom the Lord ſhall deliver from the captivity of Babylon.

Notes on the Thirty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Rabſhakeh.] This is not a proper name, but ſignifies his cup-bearer. See 2 Kings, xviii. ver. 17, &c. to the end, and notes.

8 Give pledges, I pray thee, unto my maſter, the king of Aſſyria.] Rabſhakeh directs his diſcourſe to king Hezekiah, as if he was preſent, and bids him mention any hoſtage or wager he would be willing to forfeit, provided he was unable to find riders for two thouſand horſes, which the king of Aſſyria would undertake to furniſh. Lowth.

10 The Lord hath ſaid unto me, Go up againſt this land, and deſtroy it.] He ſeems to mean that ſome oracle or idol, in requeſt among the Aſſyrians, had promiſed him ſucceſs; and this pretended deity he impiouſly calls by the name of the true God.

Notes

17 Until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards.

18 Beware leſt Hezekiah perſuade you, ſaying, The LORD will deliver us. Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria?

19 Where are the gods of Hamath and Arphad? where are the gods of Sepharvaim? and have they delivered Samaria out of my hand?

20 Who are they amongſt all the gods of theſe lands that have delivered their land out my hand, that the LORD ſhould deliver Jeruſalem out of my hand?

21 But they held their peace, and anſwered him not a word: for the king's commandment was, ſaying, Anſwer him not.

22 ¶ Then came Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah, that was over the houſehold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and Joah the ſon of Aſaph, the recorder, to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rabſhakeh.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Hezekiah mourning, ſendeth to Iſaiah to pray for them. 6 Iſaiah comforteth them. 36 An angel ſlayeth the Aſſyrians. 37 Sennacherib is ſlain by his own ſons.

AND it came to paſs when king Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes, and covered himſelf with ſackcloth, and went into the houſe of the LORD.

2 And he ſent Eliakim, who was over the houſehold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and the elders of the prieſts covered with ſackcloth, unto Iſaiah the prophet the ſon of Amoz:

3 And they ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith Hezekiah, This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and of blaſphemy: for the children are come to the birth, and there is not ſtrength to bring forth.

4 It may be the LORD thy God will hear the words of Rabſhakeh, whom the king of Aſſyria his maſter hath ſent to reproach the living God, and will reprove the words which the LORD thy God hath heard: wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant that is left.

5 So the ſervants of king Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 ¶ And Iſaiah ſaid unto them, Thus ſhall ye ſay unto your maſter, Thus ſaith the LORD, Be not afraid of the words that thou haſt heard, wherewith the ſervants of the king of Aſſyria have blaſphemed me.

7 Behold, I will ſend a blaſt upon him, and he ſhall hear a rumour, and return to his own land; and I will cauſe him to fall by the ſword in his own land.

8 So Rabſhakeh returned, and found the king of Aſſyria warring againſt Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachiſh.

9 And he heard ſay concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, He is come forth to make war with thee. And when he heard it, he ſent meſſengers to Hezekiah, ſaying,

10 Thus ſhall ye ſpeak to Hezekiah king of Judah, ſaying, Let not thy God, in whom thou truſteſt, deceive thee, ſaying, Jeruſalem ſhall not be given into the hand of the king of Aſſyria.

11 Behold, thou haſt heard what the kings of Aſſyria have done to all lands by deſtroying them utterly; and ſhalt thou be delivered?

12 Have the gods of the nations delivered them which my fathers have deſtroyed, as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Telaſſar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arphad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah?

14 And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the meſſengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went up unto the houſe of the LORD, and ſpread it before the LORD.

15 And Hezekiah prayed unto the LORD, ſaying,

16 O LORD of hoſts, God of Iſrael, that dwelleſt between the cherubims, thou art the Notes on the Thirty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 And it came to paſs, &c.] For notes on this chapter, the reader is deſired to turn back to the 19th chapter of the 2d book of Kings.

16 That dwelleſt between the cherubims.] Who haſt declared thyſelf in a peculiar manner the God of Iſrael, by chuſing this temple for thy dwelling-place, where thou vouchſafeſt thy appearance from between the cherubims, and giveſt favourable anſwers to us, when we humbly implore thy aſſiſtance. Louth.

God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth: thou haſt made heaven and earth.

17 Incline thine ear, O LORD, and hear; open thine eyes, O LORD, and ſee; and hear all the words of Sennacherib, which hath ſent to reproach the living God.

18 Of a truth, LORD, the kings of Aſſyria have laid waſte all the nations, and their countries, 19 And have caſt their gods into the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of men's hands, wood and ſtone: therefore they have deſtroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O LORD our God, ſave us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou art the LORD, even thou only.

21 Then Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz ſent unto Hezekiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, Whereas thou haſt prayed to me againſt Sennacherib king of Aſſyria:

22 This is the word which the LORD hath ſpoken concerning him, The virgin, the daughter of Zion, hath deſpiſed thee, and laughed thee to ſcorn; the daughter of Jeruſalem hath ſhaken her head at thee.

23 Whom haſt thou reproached and blaſphemed? and againſt whom haſt thou exalted thy voice, and liſted up thine eyes on high? even againſt the Holy One of Iſrael.

24 By thy ſervants haſt thou reproached the Lord, and haſt ſaid, By the multitude of my chariots am I come up to the height of the mountains, to the ſides of Lebanon: and I will cut down the tall cedars thereof, and the choice fir-trees thereof: and I will enter into the height of his border, and the foreſt of his Carmel.

25 I have digged, and drunk water; and with the ſole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of the beſieged places.

26 Haſt thou not heard long ago how I have done it, and of ancient times that I have formed it? now have I brought it to paſs that thou ſhouldeſt be to lay waſte defenced cities into ruinous heaps.

27 Therefore their inhabitants were of ſmall power, they were diſmayed and confounded: they were as the graſs of the field, and as the green herb, as the graſs on the houſe-tops, and as corn blaſted before it be grown up.

28 But I know thy abode, and thy going-out, and thy coming-in, and thy rage againſt me.

29 Becauſe thy rage againſt me and thy tumult is come up into mine ears; therefore will I put my hook in thy noſe, and my bridle in thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou cameſt.

30 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee, Ye ſhall eat this year ſuch as groweth of it ſelf; and the ſecond year that which ſpringeth of the ſame: and in the third year ſow ye, and reap; and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof.

31 And the remnant that is eſcaped of the houſe of Judah ſhall again take root downward, and bear fruit upward:

32 For out of Jeruſalem ſhall go forth a remnant, and they that eſcape out of mount Zion: the zeal of the LORD of hoſts ſhall do this.

33 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD concerning the king of Aſſyria, He ſhall not come into this city, nor ſhoot an arrow there, nor come before it with ſhields, nor caſt a bank againſt it.

34 By the way that he came, by the ſame ſhall he return, and ſhall not come into this city, ſaith the LORD.

35 For I will defend this city to ſave it for mine own ſake, and for my ſervant David's ſake.

24 I will cut down the tall cedars thereof.] Cities are in the prophetical writings often metaphorically repreſented by woods or foreſts, and the ſeveral ranks of inhabitants by the taller and leſſer trees growing there. This ſeems to be the true ſenſe of the paſſage, which, in a pompous manner, repreſents the boaſts of the Aſſyrian prince, as threatening to take mount Zion, together with the capital city of Jeruſalem, and deſtroy their principal inhabitants. Lowth.

I will enter into the height of his border.] I will take poſſeſſion of the principal parts of his dominions.

25 I have digged and drunk water.] Or, as the text in 2 Kings, xix. 24. I have digged and drunk ſtrange waters, i. e. I have marched through deſerts where it was expected my army would periſh with thirſt, and yet even there I have found water.

I have dried up all the rivers of the beſieged places.] I have rendered rivers fordable, by turning their ſtreams from their ancient beds, and deprived the beſieged of the benefit of thoſe waters.

30 This ſhall be a ſign unto thee.] That you may know that this delivery comes only from the Lord, let me tell thee that God ſhall ſecond this mercy with another. Biſhop Hall.

Notes

36 ¶ Then the angel of the LORD went forth, and ſmote in the camp of the Aſſyrians a hundred and fourſcore and five thouſand: and when they aroſe early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpſes.

37 ¶ So Sennacherib king of Aſſyria departed, and went and returned, and dwelt at Nineveh.

38 And it came to paſs as he was worſhipping in the houſe of Niſroch his god, that Adrammelech and Sharezer his ſons ſmote him with the ſword; and they eſcaped into the land of Armenia: and Eſarhaddon his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 Hezekiah hath his life lengthened. 8 The ſun goeth ten degrees backward for a ſign of that promiſe. 9 Hezekiah's thankſgiving.

IN thoſe days was Hezekiah ſick unto death. And Iſaiah the prophet the ſon of Amoz came unto him, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD, Set thine houſe in order: for thou ſhalt die, and not live.

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall, and prayed unto the LORD,

3 And ſaid, Remember now, O LORD, I beſeech thee, how I have walked before thee in truth and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy ſight. And Hezekiah wept ſore.

4 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD to Iſaiah, ſaying,

5 Go, and ſay to Hezekiah, Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of David thy father, I have heard thy prayer, I have ſeen thy tears: behold, I will add unto thy days fifteen years.

6 And I will deliver thee and this city out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria: and I will defend this city.

7 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee from the LORD, that the LORD will do this thing that he hath ſpoken;

8 Behold, I will bring again the ſhadow of the degrees which is gone down in the ſun-dial of Ahaz ten degrees backward. So the ſun returned ten degrees by which degrees it was gone down.

9 ¶ The writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been ſick, and was recovered of his ſickneſs;

10 I ſaid in the cutting-off of my days, I ſhall go to the gates of the grave: I am deprived of the reſidue of my years.

11 I ſaid, I ſhall not ſee the LORD, even the LORD, in the land of the living: I ſhall behold man no more with the inhabitants of the world.

12 Mine age is departed, and is removed from me as a ſhepherd's tent: I have cut off like a weaver my life: he will cut me off with pining ſickneſs: from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me.

13 I reckoned till morning, that as a lion ſo will he break all my bones: from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me.

14 Like a crane or a ſwallow, ſo did I chatter: I did mourn as a dove; mine eyes fail with looking upward: O LORD, I am oppreſſed; undertake for me.

15 What ſhall I ſay? he hath both ſpoken

Notes on the Thirty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 In thoſe days was Hezekiah, &c.] See 2 Kings, xx. 1, 2, &c. and the notes.

8 So the ſun returned ten degrees.] The dial in uſe among the antient Jews differed from that now uſed: theirs was a kind of ſtairs; the time of the day was diſtinguiſhed, not by lines, but by ſteps or degrees; the ſhade of the ſun every half hour moved forward a new degree. Godwyn's Moſes and Aaron.

11 I ſhall not ſee the Lord, even the Lord in the land of the living, &c.] The beſt men under the law had but imperfect notions of a future ſtate, and conſidered it as the greateſt unhappineſs to be deprived of the ſociety of religious men here on earth.

12 Is removed from me as a ſhepherd's tent.] It was the practice of ſhepherds to be continually removing their tents from one place to another, in ſearch of paſture for their flocks.

I have cut off like a weaver my life, &c.] My ſins have cut the thread of my life, like that of a weaver's ſhuttle.

13 From day to night.] I concluded I ſhould die before night.

14 Like a crane or a ſwallow, ſo did I chatter, &c.] My pains ſometimes forced me to cry out aloud: at other times my ſtrength was ſo exhauſted, that I could only groan inwardly, and lament my unhappy condition.

Mine eyes fail with looking upward.] I had hardly ſtrength to lift up mine eyes to heaven: I even deſpaired of any relief from thence.

15 What ſhall I ſay?] The ſuddenneſs of my deliverance ſo greatly ſurpriſes me, that I want words to expreſs my thankfulneſs.

I ſhall go ſoftly all my years in the bitterneſs of my ſoul.] The ſenſe is more intelligible in our Old Tranſlation, thus; I will, ſo long as I live, remember the bitterneſs of my life: i. e. the remembrance of the miſery I endured ſhall continually excite me to renew my thankfulneſs for this thy mercy. Lowth.

unto me, and himself hath done it: I shall go softly all my years in the bitterness of my soul.

16 O Lord, by these things men live, and in all these things is the life of my spirit; so wilt thou recover me, and make me to live.

17 Behold, for peace I had great bitterness: but thou hast in love to my soul delivered it from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my sins behind thy back.

18 For the grave cannot praise thee, death cannot celebrate thee: they that go down into the pit cannot hope for thy truth.

19 The living, the living, he shall praise thee, as I do this day: the father to the children shall make known thy truth.

20 The LORD was ready to save me: therefore we will sing my songs to the stringed instruments all the days of our life in the house of the LORD.

21 For Isaiah had said, Let them take a lump of figs, and lay it for a plaister upon the boil, and he shall recover.

22 Hezekiah also had said, What is the sign, that I shall go up to the house of the LORD?

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Merodach-baladan, sending to visit Hezekiah, hath notice of his treasures. 3 Isaiah foretelleth the Babylonian captivity.

AT that time Merodach-baladan the son of Baladan king of Babylon sent letters and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had been sick, and was recovered.

2 And Hezekiah was glad of them, and shewed them the house of his precious things, the silver and the gold, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his dominion, that Hezekiah shewed them not.

3 ¶ Then came Isaiah the prophet unto king Hezekiah, and said unto him, What said these men? and from whence came they unto thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a far country unto me, even from Babylon.

4 Then said he, What have they seen in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house have they seen: there is nothing among my treasures that I have not shewed them.

5 Then said Isaiah to Hezekiah, Hear the word of the LORD of hosts:

6 Behold, the days come that all that is in thine house, and that which thy fathers have laid up in store until this day, shall be carried to Babylon: nothing shall be left, saith the LORD.

7 And of thy sons that shall issue from thee, which thou shalt beget, shall they take away; and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.

8 Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah, Good is the word of the LORD which thou hast spoken. He said moreover, For there shall be peace and truth in my days.

CHAP. XL.

1 The promulgation of the gospel. 3 The preaching of John Baptist. 9 The preaching of the Apostles.

COmfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God.

16 By these things men live, &c.] As the life of every man is thy gift, so I shall always acknowledge the preservation of mine to be owing to thy goodness in promising, and thy faithfulness in making good thy promise.

17 Behold, for peace I had great bitterness, &c.] The words may be translated, Behold, my grievous anguish is turned into ease.

19 The father to the children shall make known thy truth.] Thy wonderful mercy towards me shall be transmitted to after-ages.

20 We will sing my songs, &c.] We will sing this and other hymns which are ordered by king Hezekiah to be performed in the public service of the temple. Lowth.

21 Let him take a lump of figs.] See note on 2 Kings, xx. 7.

Notes on the Thirty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 At that time Merodach-baladan the son of Baladan.] See 2 Kings, xx. 12, &c. and the notes. Merodach was the name of an idol worshipped by the Babylonians, and Beli, another: and these two idols, with the addition of Adan or Adon, which signifies Lord, gave name to the king of Babylon; it being common for the princes of that kingdom to take their names from the idols they worshipped. Lowth.

Sent letters and a present to Hezekiah.] One reason for his sending this embassy was to satisfy himself with regard to the miracle of the shadow's going backward on the king's recovery. The Babylonians were famous for studying astronomy, which made their king the more desirous of being satisfied with regard to so remarkable a phænomenon. Lowth.

8 Good is the word of the Lord.] The expression denotes the king's patiently submitting to God's decree.

Notes on the Fortieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God.] The prophet

2 Speak ye comfortably to Jeruſalem, and cry unto her, that her warfare is accompliſhed, that her iniquity is pardoned: for ſhe hath received of the LORD's hand double for all her ſins.

3 ¶ The voice of him that crieth in the wilderneſs, Prepare ye the way of the LORD, make ſtraight in the deſart a high-way for our God.

4 Every valley ſhall be exalted, and every mountain and hill ſhall be made low: and the crooked ſhall be made ſtraight, and the rough places plain:

5 And the glory of the LORD ſhall be revealed, and all fleſh ſhall ſee it together: for the mouth of the LORD hath ſpoken it.

6 The voice ſaid, Cry. And he ſaid, What ſhall I cry? All fleſh is graſs, and all the goodlineſs thereof is as the flower of the field:

7 The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth; becauſe the Spirit of the LORD bloweth upon it: ſurely the people is graſs.

8 The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God ſhall ſtand for ever.

9 ¶ O Zion, that bringeſt good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain: O Jeruſalem, that bringeſt good tidings, lift up thy voice with ſtrength: lift it up, be not afraid; ſay unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God!

10 Behold, the LORD GOD will come with ſtrong hand, and his arm ſhall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him.

11 He ſhall feed his flock like a ſhepherd: he ſhall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his boſom, and ſhall gently lead thoſe that are with young.

12 Who hath meaſured the waters in the hollow of his hand? and meted out heaven with the ſpan, and comprehended the duſt of the earth in a meaſure, and weighed the mountains in ſcales, and the hills in a balance?

13 Who hath directed the Spirit of the LORD? or being his counſellor hath taught him?

14 With whom took he counſel, and who inſtructed him, and taught him in the path of judgement, and taught him knowledge, and ſhewed to him the way of underſtanding?

15 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the ſmall duſt of prophet addreſſes himſelf to God's meſſengers, whoſe office it was to publiſh the glad tidings of peace and ſalvation. The times of the Meſſiah are called the conſolation of Iſrael, Luke ii. 25. Lowth.

2 Her warfare is accompliſhed.] All kinds of ſervitude and hardſhips are, in ſcripture, compared to a warfare. Lowth.

Double for all her ſins.] Double, in proportion to the uſual ſeverity with which God puniſhes the ſins of men.

3 In the wilderneſs.] The prophet calls the way by which the Jews were to return from captivity by the name of the wilderneſs, alluding to their paſſage through the deſert, in their way from Egypt to Canaan. Lowth.

Prepare ye the way of the Lord, &c.] This expreſſion alludes to the cuſtom of princes in ſending harbingers before them, to make the roads eaſy and commodious for their paſſage. And it muſt be added, that the very words exactly deſcribe the office of John the Baptiſt, who prepared the way of the great Redeemer of mankind, by preaching in the wilderneſs.

Hark! a glad voice the lonely deſert chears;
Prepare the way! a God, a God appears;
A God! a God! the vocal hills reply,
The rocks proclaim th' approaching deity.
Lo, earth receives him from the bending ſkies!
Sink down ye mountains, and ye vallies riſe!
With heads declin'd, ye cedars, homage pay;
Be ſmooth ye rocks, ye rapid floods give way! Pope.

6 The voice ſaid, Cry. And he ſaid, What ſhall I cry? &c.] By the voice is meant the voice of God, who is introduced as commanding his meſſenger or prophet to proclaim this important truth, That all men are weak and impotent, and that God alone and his promiſes can be relied on. Lowth.

9 O Zion, that bringeſt good tidings, O Jeruſalem, that bringeſt good tidings.] The margin gives us better ſenſe, O thou that telleſt good tidings to Zion; O thou that telleſt good tidings to Jeruſalem: it was uſual for thoſe who were to publiſh any proclamation, to aſcend to the top of an eminence, that their voice might be heard at a conſiderable diſtance. Lowth.

11 He ſhall feed his flock like a ſhepherd, &c.] As the care which God took in providing for and protecting his people, is reſembled to the duty of a ſhepherd; ſo the office of the Meſſiah is often deſcribed by the prophets under the ſame metaphor. In alluſion to this our Saviour calls himſelf the good ſhepherd, John x. 11. and repreſents himſelf as coming into the world to ſeek and ſave that which was loſt, and bringing home the wandring ſheep upon his ſhoulders rejoicing. Lowth.

As the good ſhepherd tends his fleecy care,
Seeks freſheſt paſture, and the pureſt air,
Explores the loſt, the wand'ring ſheep directs,
By day o'erſees them, and by night protects;
The tender lambs he raiſes in his arms,
Feeds from his hand, and in his boſom warms;
Thus ſhall mankind his guardian care engage,
The promis'd father of a future age. Pope.

12 The duſt of the earth.] This expreſſion here ſignifies the dry land, or ſolid part of our globe. Hervey.

15 He taketh up the iſles as a very little thing.] This paſſage might be better tranſlated: the prophet had no intention to inform mankind what the Almighty could do, with regard to the iſlands, if he pleaſed to exert his power; his deſign was to ſhow what mere nothings they are before his majeſty. The iſlands, ſays he, though ſo ſpacious as to afford room for the erection of kingdoms, and the abode of nations; though ſo the balance: behold, he taketh up the isles as a very little thing.

16 And Lebanon is not sufficient to burn, nor the beasts thereof sufficient for a burnt-offering.

17 All nations before him are as nothing; and they are counted to him less than nothing, and vanity.

18 To whom then will ye liken God? or what likeness will ye compare unto him?

19 The workman melteth a graven image, and the goldsmith spreadeth it over with gold, and casteth silver chains.

20 He that is so impoverished that he hath no oblation, chooseth a tree that will not rot: he seeketh unto him a cunning workman to prepare a graven image that shall not be moved.

21 Have ye not known? have ye not heard? hath it not been told you from the beginning? have ye not understood from the foundations of the earth?

22 It is he that sitteth upon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grasshoppers; that stretcheth out the heavens as a curtain, and spreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in:

23 That bringeth the princes to nothing: he maketh the judges of the earth as vanity.

24 Yea, they shall not be planted; yea, they shall not be sown; yea, their stock shall not take root in the earth: and he shall also blow upon them, and they shall wither, and the whirlwind shall take them away as stubble.

25 To whom then will ye liken me, or shall I be equal? saith the Holy One.

26 Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, that bringeth out their host by number: he calleth them all by names, by the greatness of his might, for that he is strong in power: not one faileth.

27 Why sayest thou, O Jacob, and speakest, O Israel, My way is hid from the LORD, and my judgement is passed over from my God?

28 Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the LORD, the creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding.

29 He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaseth strength.

30 Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall:

31 But they that wait upon the LORD shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.

CHAP. XLI.

1 God expostulateth with his people about his mercies to the church, 10 about his promises, 21 and about the vanity of idols.

KEEP silence before me, O islands; and let the people renew their strength: let them come near; then let them speak: let us come near together to judgement.

2 Who raised up the righteous man from the east, called him to his foot, gave the nations before him, and made him rule over kings? he gave them as the dust to his sword, and as driven stubble to his bow.

3 He pursued them, and passed safely; even strong as to withstand for many thousands of years, the raging assaults of the whole watery world, are yet before the adorable Jehovah small as the minutest grain, which the eye can scarce discern; light as the feathered mote, which the least breath hurries away like a tempest. The deep-rooted islands are as the volatile atom, which is wafted to and fro in perpetual agitation. Hervey.

19 Casteth silver chains.] Pausanias informs us, that the Spartans chained down the image of their god Mars, as the Athenians kept an image of victory without wings, both for the same reason, that they might not desert them: he mentions likewise a statue of Venus among the Spartans, whose feet were fettered.

26 Lift up your eyes on high, &c.] No man can lift up his eyes to heaven, and contemplate the exact order and regular motions of the celestial bodies, without being convinced that there is a wise author of nature, who at first created, and still preserves this beautiful system of things. Lowth.

28 The Lord fainteth not, neither is weary?] Though we cannot fathom the depths of Jehovah's providence, or assign the reasons for his proceedings; yet we may be assured, that his delaying to deliver his people does not proceed from a deficiency either of ability or knowledge, since he upholds all things by the word of his power, and his wisdom extends to every part of the creation. Lowth.

Notes on the Forty-first Chapter.

Ver. 1 Keep silence before me, O islands, &c.] God here summons the heathen nations to plead their cause before him; and, in order to this, commands an awful silence to be kept, according to the forms observed in solemn courts of justice. Lowth.

2 Who raised up the righteous man from the east? &c.] Some expositors understand this of Abraham, whom God called from the other side of the Euphrates, which lay to the eastward of Judea; but it seems more natural to apply it to Cyrus, here typically representing Christ. Lowth.

3 He pursued, &c.] The preterperfect tense is here put for the future.

6 They

by the way that he had not gone with his feet.

4 Who hath wrought and done it, calling the generations from the beginning? I the LORD the first, and with the last, I am he.

5 The isles saw it, and feared; the ends of the earth were afraid, drew near, and came.

6 They helped every one his neighbour; and every one said to his brother, Be of good courage.

7 So the carpenter encouraged the goldsmith, and he that smooth*e*th with the hammer him that smote the anvil, saying, It is ready for the sodering: and he fastened it with nails, that it should not be moved.

8 But thou, Israel, art my servant, Jacob, whom I have chosen, the seed of Abraham my friend.

9 Thou whom I have taken from the ends of the earth, and called thee from the chief men thereof, and said unto thee, Thou art my servant; I have chosen thee, and not cast thee away.

10 ¶ Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness.

11 Behold, all they that were incensed against thee shall be ashamed and confounded: they shall be as nothing; and they that strive with thee shall perish.

12 Thou shalt seek them, and shalt not find them, even them that contended with thee: they that war against thee shall be as nothing, and as a thing of nought.

13 For I the LORD thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not, I will help thee.

14 Fear not, thou worm Jacob, and ye men of Israel: I will help thee, saith the LORD, and thy redeemer, the Holy One of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make thee a new sharp threshing-instrument having teeth: thou shalt thresh the mountains, and beat them small, and shalt make the hills as chaff.

16 Thou shalt fan them, and the wind shall carry them away, and the whirlwind shall scatter them: and thou shalt rejoice in the LORD, and shalt glory in the Holy One of Israel.

17 When the poor and needy seek water, and there is none, and their tongue faileth for thirst, I the LORD will hear them, I the God of Israel will not forsake them.

18 I will open rivers in high places, and fountains in the midst of the valleys: I will make the wilderness a pool of water, and the dry-land springs of water.

19 I will plant in the wilderness the cedar, the shittah-tree, and the myrtle, and the oil-tree: I will set in the desert the fir-tree, and the pine, and the box-tree together.

20 That they may see, and know, and consider, and understand together, that the hand of the LORD hath done this, and the Holy One of Israel hath created it.

21 ¶ Produce your cause, saith the LORD; bring forth your strong reasons, saith the King of Jacob.

22 Let them bring them forth, and shew us what shall happen: let them shew the former things what they be, that we may consider them, and know the latter end of them; or declare us things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that ye are gods: yea, do good, or do evil, that we may be dismayed, and behold it together.

24 Behold, ye are of nothing, and your work of nought: an abomination is he that chooseth you.

25 I have raised up one from the north, and he shall come: from the rising of the sun shall

6 They helped every one his neighbour, &c.] Remote countries were astonished at the sudden rise of Cyrus, and joined in alliance to check his greatness; just as several artificers that are concerned in the trade of idol-making, assist one another in carrying on their common interest. Lowth.

8 Thou, Israel, art my servant, &c.] These expressions are very endearing: it is honourable to be the servant of the most High, still more so to be his chosen servant, and to be descended from one to whom he vouchsafed the title of friend, as God did to Abraham, (2 Chron. xx. 7.) This glorious privilege Christ was pleased to confer on his disciples, John xv. 13.

14 Fear not, thou worm Jacob.] Though thou art despicable to every nation.

15 Thou shalt thresh the mountains, &c.] By the mountains and hills are probably meant the greater and lesser kingdoms, which were enemies to God's truth.

19 Shittah-tree.] Probably this was the Acacia. Shaw.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, &c.] God alone can certainly foretel future events.

25 I have raised up one from the north.] Cyrus is described as coming he call upon my name: and he shall come upon princes as upon morter, and as the potter treadeth clay.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may know? and before-time, that we may say, He is righteous? yea, there is none that sheweth, yea, there is none that declareth, yea, there is none that heareth your words.

27 The first shall say to Zion, Behold, behold them; and I will give to Jerusalem one that bringeth good tidings.

28 For I beheld, and there was no man, even amongst them, and there was no counsellor, that when I asked of them, could answer a word.

29 Behold, they are all vanity; their works are nothing: their molten images are wind and confusion.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The office of Christ. 5 God's promise to him. 10 An exhortation to praise God.

BEhold my servant, whom I uphold; mine elect, in whom my soul delighteth; I have put my Spirit upon him: he shall bring forth judgement to the Gentiles!

2 He shall not cry, nor lift up, nor cause his voice to be heard in the street.

3 A bruised reed shall he not break, and the smoking flax shall he not quench: he shall bring forth judgement unto truth.

4 He shall not fail, nor be discouraged, till he have set judgement in the earth: and the isles shall wait for his law.

5 ¶ Thus saith God the LORD, he that created the heavens, and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk therein:

6 I the LORD have called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles;

7 To open the blind eyes, to bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison-house.

8 I am the LORD; that is my name; and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images.

9 Behold, the former things are come to pass, and new things do I declare: before they spring forth I tell you of them.

10 ¶ Sing unto the LORD a new song, and coming from the east, ver. 2. and here from the north and east too, because his father was a Persian, and his mother a Median: Media lay north of Babylon. Lowth.

27 The first shall say to Zion, &c.] The verse may be better translated thus, I that am the first, will give unto Zion and unto Jerusalem one that bringeth good tidings.

Notes on the Forty-second Chapter.

Ver. 1 Behold my servant whom I will uphold.] The following prophecy is, by St. Matthew, applied to Christ. Indeed it cannot, with any shew of probability, be applied to any other.

Christ is often called by Isaiah and Zechariah God's servant, as being sanctified and sent into the world upon a message of the highest importance. And this title agrees very well with those many declarations our blessed Saviour made of his coming into the world to do the will of him that sent him. It is perhaps in this respect, that St. Paul saith of Christ, He took upon him the form of a servant. Lowth.

Mine elect in whom my soul delighteth.] Christ is emphatically stiled the beloved of God, and the Son of his love, in several places of the New Testament.

He shall bring forth judgment to the Gentiles.] He shall make known God's laws and judgments to the Gentiles.

2 He shall not cry, nor lift up, nor cause his voice to be heard in the street.] He shall patiently endure the contradiction of sinners against himself, and not vindicate his own character against their calumnies in any clamorous manner.

3 A bruised reed shall he not break.] Can any image be more significant of a very infirm and enfeebled faith, than the reed that bends before every wind: which, besides its natural weakness, is made abundantly weaker by being bruised; and therefore ready to fall in pieces of itself? This admirably expresses the sweetness of our Saviour's temper.

Smoaking flax shall he not quench.] Where the least spark of grace appears, he will not quench it, but take the utmost care to keep it alive and improve it.

He shall bring forth judgment unto truth.] He shall make the truth and justice of his cause to appear against all opposers, and obtain a complete victory over his adversaries. Lowth.

4 He shall not fail, nor be discouraged, &c.] This part of the prophecy relates to the propagating the gospel by Christ and his messengers, who would not be discouraged by the difficulties they met with in the discharge of their office, but still continue unwearied in well-doing, till at last they should surmount all opposition, plant judgment and truth in the earth, and make the remotest parts of the world own their dependence on the Son of God, and submit to his laws. Lowth.

6 I the Lord have called thee in righteousness, &c.] I, who am the Almighty, have called thee to this high dignity, to fulfil my righteous purpose; and therefore I will sustain and defend thee.

A covenant of the people, a light to the Gentiles.] Christ is called the angel of the covenant, Mal. iii. 1. He alone was the mediator of the new covenant, into which both Jews and Gentiles were to be admitted. Lowth.

10, 11, 12 Sing unto the Lord a new song, &c.] An exhortation to all the inhabitants of the earth to give glory to God for his wonderful mercy in making himself known to the Gentile world by the gospel.

his praiſe from the end of the earth; ye that go down to the ſea, and, and all that is therein; the iſles, and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderneſs and the cities thereof lift up their voice, the villages that Kedar doth inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rock ſing; let them ſhout from the top of the mountains.

12 Let them give glory unto the LORD, and declare his praiſe in the iſlands.

13 The LORD ſhall go forth as a mighty man, he ſhall ſtir up jealouſy like a man of war: he ſhall cry; yea, roar; he ſhall prevail againſt his enemies.

14 I have long time holden my peace; I have been ſtill, and refrained my ſelf: now will I cry like a travailing woman; I will deſtroy, and devour at once.

15 I will make waſte mountains and hills, and dry up all their herbs; and I will make the rivers iſlands, and I will dry up the pools.

16 And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkneſs light before them, and crooked things ſtraight. Theſe things will I do unto them, and not forſake them.

17 They ſhall be turned back, they ſhall be greatly aſhamed that truſt in graven images, that ſay to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

18 Hear, ye deaf; and look, ye blind, that ye may ſee.

19 Who is blind but my ſervant? or deaf, as my meſſenger that I ſent? who is blind as he that is perfect, and blind as the LORD's ſervant?

20 Seeing many things, but thou obſerveſt not; opening the ears, but he heareth not.

21 The LORD is well pleaſed for his righteouſneſs ſake; he will magnify the law, and make it honourable.

22 But this is a people robbed and ſpoiled; they are all of them ſnared in holes, and they are hid in priſon-houſes; they are for a prey, and none delivereth; for a ſpoil, and none ſaith, Reſtore.

23 Who among you will give ear to this? who will hearken, and hear for the time to come?

24 Who gave Jacob for a ſpoil, and Iſrael to the robbers? did not the LORD, he againſt whom we have ſinned? for they would not walk in his ways, neither were they obedient unto his law.

25 Therefore he hath poured upon him the fury of his anger, and the ſtrength of battle: and it hath ſet him on fire round about, yet he knew not; and it burned him, yet he laid it not to heart.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth the church with his promiſes. 14 He foretelleth Babylon's deſtruction; 18 and his people's deliverance.

BUT now, thus ſaith the LORD that created thee, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Iſrael; Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine.

2 When thou paſſeſt through the waters, I will be with thee; and when through the rivers, they ſhall not overflow thee: when thou walkeſt through the fire, thou ſhalt not be burned; neither ſhall the flame kindle upon thee.

3 For I am the LORD thy God, the Holy One of Iſrael, thy ſaviour: I gave Egypt for thy ranſom, Ethiopia and Seba for thee.

4 Since thou waſt precious in my ſight, thou

15 I will make waſte mountains and hills, and dry up all their herbs, &c.] As the mercy of God is repreſented by pouring water on the thirſty ground, ſo his wrath is deſcribed as if it were a conſuming fire, which parcheth up and conſumeth every thing.

16 I will bring the blind by the way that they knew not, &c.] This paſſage relates either to the people's return from captivity, and imports, that God would provide means for their reſtoration which they did not think of; or it may refer to the times of the goſpel, when God enlightened the world with the rays of truth, and brought mankind into the paths of virtue, notwithſtanding all the oppoſition made by inveterate error and prejudice. Lowth.

19 Who is blind but my ſervant? or deaf, as my meſſenger, &c.] This relates to ſome of the prophets, ſeveral of whom were unfaithful to their truſt, and irregular in their lives. The expreſſion following, Who is blind as he that is perfect? &c. ſeems to diſcover an error of the tranſcriber, who has probably wrote one ſentence twice over.

25 He hath poured upon them the fury of his anger.] This was literally fulfilled when the Chaldean army took their city, and burnt both that and their temple.

Notes on the Forty-third Chapter.

Ver. 3 I gave Egypt for thy ranſom, &c.] I turned Sennacherib's power againſt theſe countries, and made them ſuffer thoſe calamities which ſhould have been inflicted upon thee, and ſo they were as the payment of thy ranſom, chap. xxxvii. 9.

haſt been honourable, and I have loved thee: therefore will I give men for thee, and people for thy life.

5 Fear not; for I am with thee: I will bring thy ſeed from the eaſt, and gather thee from the weſt:

6 I will ſay to the north, Give up; and to the ſouth, Keep not back: bring my ſons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth;

7 Even every one that is called by my name: for I have created him for my glory, I have formed him; yea, I have made him.

8 Bring forth the blind people that have eyes, and the deaf that have ears.

9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be aſſembled: who among them can declare this, and ſhew us former things? let them bring forth their witneſſes, that they may be juſtified: or let them hear, and ſay, It is truth.

10 Ye are my witneſſes, ſaith the LORD, and my ſervant whom I have choſen: that ye may know and believe me, and underſtand that I am he: before me there was no god formed, neither ſhall there be after me.

11 I, even I, am the LORD; and beſide me there is no ſaviour.

12 I have declared, and have ſaved, and I have ſhewed, when there was no ſtrange god among you: therefore ye are my witneſſes, ſaith the LORD, that I am God.

13 Yea, before the day was I am he; and there is none that can deliver out of my hand: I will work, and who ſhall let it?

14 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD your redeemer, the Holy One of Iſrael; For your ſake I have ſent to Babylon, and have brought down all their nobles, and the Chaldeans, whoſe cry is in the ſhips.

15 I am the LORD, your Holy One, the creator of Iſrael, your King.

16 Thus ſaith the LORD, which maketh a way in the ſea, and a path in the mighty waters;

17 Which bringeth forth the chariot and horſe, the army and the power; they ſhall lie down together, they ſhall not riſe: they are extinct, they are quenched as tow.

18 ¶ Remember ye not the former things, neither conſider the things of old.

19 Behold, I will do a new thing; now it ſhall ſpring forth; ſhall ye not know it? I will even make a way in the wilderneſs, and rivers in the deſert.

20 The beaſt of the field ſhall honour me, the dragons and the owls: becauſe I give waters in the wilderneſs, and rivers in the deſert, to give drink to my people, my choſen.

21 This people have I formed for my ſelf; they ſhall ſhew forth my praiſe.

22 But thou haſt not called upon me, O Jacob; but thou haſt been weary of me, O Iſrael.

23 Thou haſt not brought me the ſmall cattle of thy burnt-offerings, neither haſt thou honoured me with thy ſacrifices. I have not cauſed thee to ſerve with an offering, nor wearied thee with incenſe.

24 Thou haſt brought me no ſweet cane with money, neither haſt thou filled me with the fat of thy ſacrifices: but thou haſt made me to ſerve with thy ſins, thou haſt wearied me with thine iniquities.

25 I, even I, am he that blotteth out thy tranſgreſſions for mine own ſake, and will not remember thy ſins.

26 Put me in remembrance: let us plead together: declare thou, that thou mayeſt be juſtified.

27 Thy firſt father hath ſinned, and thy teachers have tranſgreſſed againſt me.

28 Therefore I have profaned the princes of the ſanctuary, and have given Jacob to the curſe, and Iſrael to reproaches.

5, 6 I will bring thy ſeed from the eaſt, and gather thee from the weſt.] This prophecy was partly fulfilled in the return of the Jews from Babylon, and other countries under that monarchy; but the entire completion of it will be at the time when the Jews ſhall embrace the goſpel, and be gathered to their own land.

8 The blind people that have eyes.] The heathen idolaters, who, like the images they worſhip, have eyes and ſee not.

14 Whoſe cry is in the ſhips.] Who glory in the number of their ſhips.

20 I give waters in the wilderneſs, &c.] This alludes to the miraculous waters which God cauſed to guſh out of the rocks in the wilderneſs, for the uſe of the children of Iſrael when they came up out of Egypt. Lowth.

24 Neither haſt thou filled me with the fat of ſacrifices.] Mr. Edwards ſuppoſes that there is an alluſion here to that heathen notion mentioned Deut. xxxii. 38.

CHAP. XLIV.

1 God's church comforted. 7 The vanity of idols, 9 and folly of idol-makers.

YET now hear, O Jacob my ſervant, and Iſrael, whom I have choſen:

2 Thus ſaith the LORD that made thee, and formed thee from the womb, which will help thee; Fear not, O Jacob, my ſervant; and thou, Jeſhurun, whom I have choſen.

3 For I will pour water upon him that is thirſty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour my Spirit upon thy ſeed, and my bleſſing upon thine offſpring:

4 And they ſhall ſpring up as among the graſs, as willows by the water-courſes.

5 One ſhall ſay, I am the LORD's; and another ſhall call himſelf by the name of Jacob; and another ſhall ſubſcribe with his hand unto the LORD, and ſurname himſelf by the name of Iſrael.

6 Thus ſaith the LORD the King of Iſrael, and his redeemer the LORD of hoſts; I am the firſt, and I am the laſt; and beſides me there is no God.

7 ¶ And who, as I, ſhall call, and ſhall declare it, and ſet it in order for me, ſince I appointed the ancient people? and the things that are coming, and ſhall come? let them ſhew unto them?

8 Fear ye not, neither be afraid: have not I told thee from that time, and have declared it? ye are even my witneſſes. Is there a God beſides me? yea, there is no God: I know not any.

9 ¶ They that make a graven image are all of them vanity; and their delectable things ſhall not profit: and they are their own witneſſes; they ſee not, nor know; that they may be aſhamed.

10 Who hath formed a god, or molten a graven image that is profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, all his fellows ſhall be aſhamed: and the workmen, they are of men: let them all be gathered together, let them ſtand up; yet they ſhall fear, and they ſhall be aſhamed together.

12 The ſmith with the tongs both worketh in the coals, and faſhioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the ſtrength of his arms: yea, he is hungry, and his ſtrength faileth; he drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter ſtretcheth out his rule; he marketh it out with a line; he fitteth it with planes, and he marketh it out with the compaſs, and maketh it after the figure of a man, according to the beauty of a man; that it may remain in the houſe.

14 He heweth him down cedars, and taketh the cypreſs and the oak, which he ſtrengtheneth for himſelf among the trees of the foreſt: he planteth an aſh, and the rain doth nouriſh it.

15 Then ſhall it be for a man to burn: for he will take thereof, and warm himſelf; yea, he kindleth it, and baketh bread: yea, he maketh a god, and worſhippeth it; he maketh it a graven image, and falleth down thereto.

16 He burneth part thereof in the fire; with part thereof he eateth fleſh; he roaſteth roaſt, and is ſatisfied; yea, he warmeth himſelf, and ſaith, Aha, I am warm, I have ſeen the fire:

17 And the reſidue thereof he maketh a god, even his graven image: he falleth down unto it, and worſhippeth it, and prayeth unto it, and ſaith, Deliver me; for thou art my god.

18 They have not known, nor underſtood: for he hath ſhut their eyes, that they cannot ſee; and their hearts, that they cannot underſtand.

19 And none conſidereth in his heart, nei-

Notes on the Forty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Thou Jeſhurun, whom I have choſen.] Jeſhurun is a name given to the Jews by Moſes; Deut. xxxiii. 15.

3 I will pour water upon him that is thirſty, &c.] The bleſſings of the Almighty are often repreſented under the metaphor of rivers and ſtreams, which water ground, and render it fruitful. Lowth.

4 As willows by the water-courſes.] Willows are very quick growers: in this expreſſion the prophet denotes the eaſe with which God pours out his bleſſings upon the righteous. Lamy.

5 One ſhall ſay I am the Lord's, &c.] This relates to the increaſe of the church by the acceſſion of the Gentiles.

7 Who, as I, ſhall declare it, &c.] God claims to himſelf the ordering and diſpoſing of all the affairs of the world, from the time that he created man upon it.

14 Which he ſtrengtheneth for himſelf, &c.] Which he had nouriſhed till it came to its due growth.

16 With part he eateth fleſh.] He dreſſeth fleſh in order to eat it.

ther is there knowledge nor understanding to say, I have burned part of it in the fire; yea, also I have baked bread upon the coals thereof; I have roasted flesh, and eaten it: and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I fall down to the stock of a tree?

20 He feedeth on ashes: a deceived heart hath turned him aside, that he cannot deliver his soul, nor say, Is there not a lye in my right hand?

21 Remember these, O Jacob and Israel; for thou art my servant: I have formed thee; thou art my servant: O Israel, thou shalt not be forgotten of me.

22 I have blotted out as a thick cloud thy transgressions, and as a cloud, thy sins: return unto me; for I have redeemed thee.

23 Sing, O ye heavens; for the LORD hath done it: shout, ye lower parts of the earth: break forth into singing, ye mountains, O forest, and every tree therein: for the LORD hath redeemed Jacob, and glorified himself in Israel.

24 Thus saith the LORD thy redeemer, and he that formed thee from the womb; I am the LORD that maketh all things; that stretcheth forth the heavens alone; that spreadeth abroad the earth by my self:

25 That frustrateth the tokens of the lyars, and maketh diviners mad; that turneth wise men backward, and maketh their knowledge foolish:

26 That confirmeth the word of his servant, and performeth the counsel of his messengers; that saith to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited, and to the cities of Judah, Ye shall be built, and I will raise up the decayed places thereof:

27 That saith to the deep, Be dry, and I will dry up thy rivers:

28 That saith of Cyrus, He is my shepherd, and shall perform all my pleasure: even saying to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be built; and to the temple, Thy foundation shall be laid.

CHAP. XLV.

1 God calleth Cyrus for his church's sake. 5 He challengeth obedience. 20 He convinceth the idols of vanity.

THUS saith the LORD to his anointed, to Cyrus, whose right hand I have holden, to subdue nations before him; and I will loose the loins of kings; to open before him the two-leaved gates, and the gates shall not be shut:

2 I will go before thee, and make the crooked places straight: I will break in pieces the gates of brass, and cut in sunder the bars of iron:

3 And I will give thee the treasures of darkness, and hidden riches of secret places, that thou mayest know that I the LORD, which call thee by thy name, am the God of Israel.

4 For Jacob my servant's sake, and Israel mine elect, I have even called thee by thy name: I have surnamed thee, though thou hast not known me.

5 ¶ I am the LORD, and there is none else, there is no God besides me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me:

6 That they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none besides me. I am the LORD, and there is none else.

20 He feedeth on ashes.] On things that have no nourishment. A deceived heart hath turned him aside, &c.] Vulgar errors and prejudices have perverted his understanding, that he cannot discern the most gross and palpable falshood, nor free himself from its strange delusions. Lowth.

22 I have blotted out as a thick cloud thy transgressions, &c.] The preterperfect tense is here, as in several other places, used for the future. God encourages the people to trust in his mercy, by assuring them that, upon their repentance, he will fully forgive their sins. Lowth.

23 Sing, O ye heavens; for the Lord hath done it: &c.] This apostrophe to the whole creation to join in praising God for his wonderful mercies is remarkably beautiful.

27 That saith to the deep, be dry, &c.] God opened a way to Cyrus to take Babylon, by suggesting to him a method of draining the river Euphrates, and making it passable for his army.

28 That saith of Cyrus, he is my shepherd, &c.] I will make him my instrument of gathering my people together, and leading them home, as a shepherd does his flock. This is one of the most remarkable prophecies in scripture, where Cyrus is called by his name, as the prophet expresses it, chap. xlv. 4. above an hundred years before he was born. Lowth.

Notes on the Forty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Thus saith the Lord to his anointed, to Cyrus, &c.] God gives the title of anointed to Cyrus, to shew that he was raised up to be an immediate instrument of Providence in restoring the Jews from their captivity.

2 I will break in pieces the gates of brass, &c.] Nebuchadnezzar made twenty-five gates of solid brass to every side of the great wall which encompassed Babylon; the whole number of brazen gates being an hundred. Prideaux.

7 I form the light, and create darkneſs: I make peace, and create evil. I the LORD do all theſe things.

8 Drop down, ye heavens, from above, and let the ſkies pour down righteouſneſs: let the earth open, and let them bring forth ſalvation, and let righteouſneſs ſpring up together. I the LORD have created it.

9 Wo unto him that ſtriveth with his maker! Let the potſherd ſtrive with the potſherds of the earth. Shall the clay ſay to him that faſhioneth it, What makeſt thou? or thy work, He hath no hands?

10 Wo unto him that ſaith unto his father, What begetteſt thou? or to the woman, What haſt thou brought forth?

11 Thus ſaith the LORD, the Holy One of Iſrael, and his Maker, Aſk me of things to come concerning my ſons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me.

12 I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have ſtretched out the heavens, and all their hoſt have I commanded.

13 I have raiſed him up in righteouſneſs, and I will direct all his ways: he ſhall build my city, and he ſhall let go my captives, not for price nor reward, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

14 Thus ſaith the LORD, The labour of Egypt, and merchandiſe of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of ſtature, ſhall come over unto thee, and they ſhall be thine: they ſhall come after thee; in chains they ſhall come over: and they ſhall fall down unto thee, they ſhall make ſupplication unto thee, ſaying, Surely God is in thee; and there is none elſe, there is no God.

15 Verily thou art a God that hideſt thyſelf, O God of Iſrael the Saviour.

16 They ſhall be aſhamed and alſo confounded, all of them: they ſhall go to confuſion together that are makers of idols.

17 But Iſrael ſhall be ſaved in the LORD with an everlaſting ſalvation: ye ſhall not be aſhamed nor confounded world without end.

18 For thus ſaith the LORD, that created the heavens; God himſelf, that formed the earth and made it; he hath eſtabliſhed it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the LORD; and there is none elſe.

19 I have not ſpoken in ſecret, in a dark place of the earth: I ſaid not unto the ſeed of Jacob, Seek ye me in vain. I the LORD ſpeak righteouſneſs, I declare things that are right.

20 ¶ Aſſemble your ſelves, and come; draw near together, ye that are eſcaped of the nations; they have no knowledge that ſet up the wood of their graven image, and pray unto a god that cannot ſave.

21 Tell ye, and bring them near; yea, let them take counſel together: Who hath declared this from ancient time? who hath told it from that time? have not I the LORD? and there is no God elſe beſide me; a juſt God, and a ſaviour: there is none beſide me.

7 I form the light, and make darkneſs: I make peace, and create evil, &c.] Theſe words being directed to Cyrus king of Perſia, muſt be underſtood as ſpoken to the Perſian ſect of the Magians, who held light and darkneſs, good and evil, to be the ſupreme beings, without acknowledging the great God of heaven and earth, who is infinitely ſuperior to them both. In oppoſition to this opinion, the prophet inſtructs king Cyrus, that light and darkneſs, good and evil, are under the direction and diſpoſal of Almighty God. Prideaux.

8 Drop down, ye heavens, from above, &c.] The prophet ſeems to ſpeak this in the name of God, as if he had ſaid, Though when ye look to the heavens and earth for ſuccour, ye ſee nothing now but ſigns of God's wrath, yet I will cauſe them to give certain tokens of your deliverance and of the performance of my promiſe, which is meant by righteouſneſs.

Ye heav'ns from high the dewy nectar pour,
And in ſoft ſilence ſhed the kindly ſhow'r! Pope.

11 Aſk me of things to come concerning my ſons, &c.] The true ſenſe of this difficult paſſage ſeems to be this: That although God is not obliged to render an account of his proceedings to any of his creatures; yet he is graciouſly pleaſed to comply with their curioſity, and reſolve any queſtions that may be propoſed concerning the final iſſue of his people's captivity. Nay, he repreſents himſelf as ready to ſave them, and to do every thing that can be deſired in favour of his elect, thoſe whom he here calls his ſons, and the work of his hands.

13 I have raiſed him up in righteouſneſs.] i. e. Cyrus, that I may ſhow by him the faithfulneſs of my promiſe in delivering my people.

14 They ſhall be thine.] They who before were thine enemies, ſhall honour thee, and thou ſhalt rule them, which was accompliſhed in the time of Chriſt.

15 Verily thou art a God that hideſt thyſelf.] This paſſage alludes to the unſearchableneſs of God's counſels; Septuagint reads, Thou art God, and we know thee not.

19 I have not ſpoken in ſecret, in a dark place of the earth.] I have delivered my laws and will, with plainneſs and perſpicuity, not in dark and enigmatical terms like the heathen oracles, which were ſpoken out of caverns and grottoes. Lowth.

I the Lord ſpeak righteouſneſs.] My laws are all of them holy, juſt, and good: whereas the profoundeſt myſteries of the heathen gods conſiſt of impure and obſcene rites.

22 Look unto me, and be ye ſaved all the ends of the earth: for I am God; and there is none elſe.

23 I have ſworn by my ſelf, the word is gone out of my mouth in righteouſneſs, and ſhall not return, That unto me every knee ſhall bow, every tongue ſhall ſwear.

24 Surely, ſhall one ſay, In the LORD have I righteouſneſs and ſtrength: even to him ſhall men come; and all that are incenſed againſt him ſhall be aſhamed.

25 In the LORD ſhall all the ſeed of Iſrael be juſtified, and ſhall glory.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The idols of Babylon could not ſave themſelves. 3 God ſaveth his people to the end. 5 Idols are not comparable to God.

BEL boweth down, Nebo ſtoopeth, their idols were upon the beaſts and upon the cattle: your carriages were heavy loaden; they are a burden to the weary beaſt.

2 They ſtoop, they bow down together: they could not deliver the burden, but themſelves are gone into captivity.

3 ¶ Hearken unto me, O houſe of Jacob, and all the remnant of the houſe of Iſrael, which are born by me from the belly, which are carried from the womb:

4 And even to your old age I am he; and even to hoary hairs will I carry you: I have made, and I will bear; even I will carry, and will deliver you.

5 ¶ To whom will ye liken me, and make me equal, and compare me, that we may be like?

6 They laviſh gold out of the bag, and weigh ſilver in the balance, and hire a goldſmith; and he maketh it a god: they fall down, yea, they worſhip.

7 They bear him upon the ſhoulder, they carry him, and ſet him in his place, and he ſtandeth; from his place ſhall he not remove: yea, one ſhall cry unto him, yet can he not anſwer, nor ſave him out of his trouble.

8 Remember this, and ſhew your ſelves men: bring it again to mind, O ye tranſgreſſors.

9 Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none elſe; I am God, and there is none like me:

10 Declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, ſaying, My counſel ſhall ſtand, and I will do all my pleaſure:

11 Calling a ravenous bird from the eaſt, the man that executeth my counſel from a far country: yea, I have ſpoken it, I will alſo bring it to paſs; I have purpoſed it, I will alſo do it.

12 Hearken unto me ye ſtout-hearted, that are far from righteouſneſs.

13 I bring near my righteouſneſs; it ſhall not be far off, and my ſalvation ſhall not tarry: and I will place ſalvation in Zion for Iſrael my glory.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 God's judgement upon Babylon and Chaldea, 6 for their unmercifulneſs, 7 pride, 10 and over-boldneſs.

COME down, and ſit in the duſt, O virgin daughter of Babylon, ſit on the ground: there is no throne, O daughter of the Chal-

22 Be ye ſaved, all the ends of the earth.] This relates to the calling, and eſpecially to the bringing in the fulneſs of the Gentiles at the end of the world. Lowth.

23 My word ſhall not return.] It ſhall be fully accompliſhed.

Notes on the Forty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Bel boweth down, Nebo ſtoopeth.] Two principal idols of the Babylonians: Bel is the ſame as Baal; ſome tranſlations read, Nebo is fallen or broken down. The images of theſe deities were carried in triumph by the Perſians as part of the ſpoil; as was common for conquerors to do in token of a complete victory.

2 They ſtoop, they bow down together, they could not deliver the burden.] The deities which were worſhipped in theſe cities could not deliver their own images, which became burdenſome to thoſe that carried them away. Lowth.

6 They laviſh gold, &c.] The ſame argument againſt idolatry had been made uſe of before, chap. xl. 19. and xliv. 12; and it was proper to repeat it for the ſake of thoſe that were to live among the Babylonians, whoſe authority would powerfully recommend idolatry. Lowth.

9 Remember the former things.] What I have formerly done for you, both in Egypt, and after your ſettlement in Canaan.

11 Calling a ravenous bird.] i. e. Cyrus. Conquerors who have ravaged whole countries are often compared to birds of prey. Lowth.

13 I will place ſalvation in Zion for Iſrael my glory.] Or, I will give ſalvation to Zion, and my glory to Iſrael.

Notes on the Forty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Sit in the duſt, O virgin daughter of Babylon.] Sit in a mournful and diſconſolate poſture. The prophet calls her the virgin daughter of Babylon, as ſhe had never been conquered.

deans: for thou ſhalt no more be called tender and delicate.

2 Take the milſtones, and grind meal: uncover thy locks, make bare the leg, uncover the thigh, paſs over the rivers.

3 Thy nakedneſs ſhall be uncovered, yea, thy ſhame ſhall be ſeen: I will take vengeance, and I will not meet thee as a man.

4 As for our redeemer, The LORD of hoſts is his name, the Holy One of Iſrael.

5 Sit thou ſilent, and get thee into darkneſs, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou ſhalt no more be called, The lady of kingdoms.

6 ¶ I was wroth with my people, I have polluted mine inheritance, and given them into thine hand: thou didſt ſhew them no mercy; upon the ancient haſt thou very heavily laid thy yoke.

7 ¶ And thou ſaidſt, I ſhall be a lady for ever: ſo that thou didſt not lay theſe things to thy heart, neither didſt remember the latter end of it.

8 Therefore hear now this, thou that art given to pleaſures, that dwelleſt careleſly, that ſayeſt in thine heart, I am, and none elſe beſides me; I ſhall not ſit as a widow neither ſhall I know the loſs of children:

9 But theſe two things ſhall come to thee in a moment in one day, the loſs of children, and widowhood: they ſhall come upon thee in their perfection, for the multitude of thy ſorceries, and for the great abundance of thine inchantments.

10 ¶ For thou haſt truſted in thy wickedneſs: thou haſt ſaid, None ſeeth me. Thy wiſdom and thy knowledge, it hath perverted thee; and thou haſt ſaid in thine heart, I am, and none elſe beſides me.

11 Therefore ſhall evil come upon thee; thou ſhalt not know from whence it riſeth: and miſchief ſhall fall upon thee; thou ſhalt not be able to put it of: and deſolation ſhall come upon thee ſuddenly, which thou ſhalt not know.

12 Stand now with thine inchantments, and with the multitude of thy ſorceries, wherein thou haſt laboured from thy youth; if ſo be thou ſhalt be able to profit, if ſo be thou mayeſt prevail.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counſels. Let now the aſtrologers, the ſtar-gazers, the monthly prognoſticators ſtand up, and ſave thee from theſe things that ſhall come upon thee.

14 Behold, they ſhall be as ſtubble; the fire ſhall burn them; they ſhall not deliver themſelves from the power of the flame: there ſhall not be a coal to warm at, nor fire to ſit before it.

15 Thus ſhall they be unto thee with whom thou haſt laboured, even thy merchants from thy youth: they ſhall wander every one to his quarter; none ſhall ſave thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 God, to convince the people of their obſtinacy, revealeth his prophecies. 12 He exhorteth them to obedience.

2 Take the milſtones and grind meal, &c.] Thou ſhalt be reduced to grind at the mill, the loweſt and moſt abject degree of drudgery.

Make bare the leg, &c.] Thou ſhalt be forced to go barefoot over rivers when thou art led captive by the Perſians.

3 I will not meet thee as a man.] I will ſhew thee neither mercy nor pity.

5 Sit thou ſilent, and get thee into darkneſs, &c.] Silence and darkneſs are oppoſed to that noiſe and gaity that is ſeen in rich and populous cities, which being deſtroyed, are reduced to a melancholy ſilence and ſolitude. Babylon has been for many years an heap of ruins.

7 I ſhall be a lady for ever.] I ſhall be the chief city and miſtreſs of the world.

8 Thou ſayeſt in thine heart, I am, and none elſe beſides me.] Words full of inſolence and blaſphemy, whereby ſhe arrogated that power to herſelf which ſolely belongs to God.

I ſhall not ſit as a widow, neither ſhall I know the loſs of children.] It is common for the prophets to repreſent cities as the mothers of their inhabitants, and their kings and princes as their huſbands: and when they are bereaved of theſe, they are ſaid to be widows and childleſs. Lowth.

9 Theſe two things, &c.] The Babylonians, being beſieged by Darius, in order to hold out to the laſt extremity, took all their women, and each man chuſing one of them, out of thoſe of his own family, whom he liked beſt, they ſtrangled the reſt, that unneceſſary mouths might not conſume their proviſions: and hereby was ſignally fulfilled this remarkable prophecy, viz. that the loſs of children and widowhood ſhould come upon them in one day: in what greater perfection could theſe calamities come upon them, than when they themſelves thus upon themſelves became the executioners of them? Newton on Prophecy.

14 There ſhall not be a coal to warm at.] Septuagint reads, Thou haſt coals of fire; ſit upon them: it ſeems to be one of the magical tricks uſed by the Babylonians, and which the prophet here ironically recommends to them. Wall.

15 Thus ſhall they be unto thee with whom thou haſt laboured, &c.] This paſſage may be better rendered, Thus ſhall thy merchants deal with thee, with whom thou haſt laboured, even from thy youth. Lowth.

HEAR ye this, O houſe of Jacob, which are called by the name of Iſrael, and are come forth out of the waters of Judah; which ſwear by the name of the LORD, and make mention of the God of Iſrael, but not in truth, nor in righteouſneſs.

2 For they call themſelves of the holy city, and ſtay themſelves upon the God of Iſrael; The LORD of hoſts is his name.

3 I have declared the former things from the beginning; and they went forth out of my mouth, and I ſhewed them: I did them ſuddenly, and they came to paſs.

4 Becauſe I knew that thou art obſtinate, and thy neck is an iron ſinew, and thy brow braſs;

5 I have even from the beginning declared it to thee: before it came to paſs I ſhewed it thee: leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Mine idol hath done them, and my graven image and my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou haſt heard, ſee all this; and will not yet declare it? I have ſhewed thee new things from this time, even hidden things, and thou didſt not know them.

7 They are created now, and not from the beginning; even before the day when thou heardeſt them not; leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Behold, I knew them.

8 Yea, thou heardeſt not, yea, thou kneweſt not, yea, from that time that thine ear was not opened: for I knew that thou wouldeſt deal very treacherouſly, and was called a Tranſgreſſor from the womb.

9 For my name's ſake will I defer mine anger, and for my praiſe will I refrain for thee, that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I have refined thee, but not with ſilver; I have choſen thee in the furnace of affliction.

11 For mine own ſake, even for mine own ſake, will I do it: for how ſhould my name be polluted? and I will not give my glory unto another.

12 ¶ Hearken unto me, O Jacob, and Iſrael, my called; I am he; I am the firſt, I alſo am the laſt.

13 Mine hand alſo hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath ſpanned the heavens: when I call unto them, they ſtand up together.

14 All ye, aſſemble your ſelves, and hear; which among them hath declared theſe things? The LORD hath loved him: he will do his pleaſure on Babylon, and his arm ſhall be on the Chaldeans.

15 I, even I, have ſpoken; yea, I have called him: I have brought him, and he ſhall make his way proſperous.

16 Come ye near unto me, hear ye this; I have not ſpoken in ſecret from the beginning: from the time that it was, there am I: and now the Lord GOD and his Spirit hath ſent me.

17 Thus ſaith the LORD thy Redeemer, the Notes on the Forty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Which are called by the name of Iſrael.] Who value yourſelves on being deſcended from Jacob, and called after his name, but do not ſhow yourſelves to be true Iſraelites by your deeds. Lowth.

5 I have even from the beginning declared it to thee, &c.] God ordained a ſucceſſion of prophets to foretel the moſt remarkable events which ſhould happen to the Jews, that they might not aſcribe the ſucceſs of any particular tranſaction to their idols: a ſuggeſtion their fidelity and obſtinacy might prompt them to alledge. Lowth.

6 Thou haſt heard, ſee all this; and will not yet declare it?] The tranſlation publiſhed under Henry VIII. gives the ſenſe of theſe words very clearly; Thou heardeſt it, and behold it is come to paſs: and ſhall not ye yourſelves confeſs the ſame?

I have ſhewed thee new things.] New works of my providence, ſuch as thou wert not before acquainted with.

8 Yea, thou heardeſt not, yea, thou kneweſt not, yea from that time that thine ear was not opened, &c.] The latter part of this ſentence ſhould be thus tranſlated: nor was thine ear opened from the beginning: the prophet perſiſts in repeating what he had ſaid before, namely, that it was God alone who could foretel theſe events; and that he did it, becauſe he knew their proneneſs to idolatry, and therefore was determined to remove every pretence for aſcribing theſe predictions to idols. To open the ear ſignifies to declare or make known.

10 I have choſen thee in the furnace of affliction.] This may be better rendered, I have tried thee in the furnace of affliction.

12 Hearken unto me, O Jacob, and Iſrael my called, &c.] An exhortation to the Jews to hearken to the voice of that God who had called their father Abraham from an idolatrous country and kindred to be his ſervant, and choſen his ſeed to be his peculiar people. Lowth.

14 The Lord hath loved him.] i. e. Cyrus, the deliverer of his people.

16 I have not ſpoken in ſecret, &c.] i. e. I have not delivered my predictions in ambiguous terms, becauſe I am from all eternity, and being preſent to all the ſucceſſions of time, can clearly foreſee thoſe diſtant events which my providence bringeth to paſs. Lowth.

The Lord God and his ſpirit hath ſent me.] Theſe words can be applied only to the Meſſiah, who was ſent into the world by his father, and anointed to his prophetic office by the holy ſpirit. Lowth.

Notes

Holy One of Iſrael; I am the LORD thy God, which teacheth thee to profit, which leadeth thee by the way that thou ſhouldeſt go.

18 O that thou hadſt hearkened to my commandments! then had thy peace been as a river, and thy righteouſneſs as the waves of the ſea:

19 Thy ſeed alſo had been as the ſand, and the offſpring of thy bowels like the gravel thereof; his name ſhould not have been cut off, nor deſtroyed from before me.

20 Go ye forth of Babylon, flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ſinging declare ye, tell this, utter it even to the end of the earth; ſay ye, The LORD hath redeemed his ſervant Jacob.

21 And they thirſted not when he led them through the deſerts: he cauſed the waters to flow out of the rock for them: he clave the rock alſo, and the waters guſhed out.

22 There is no peace, ſaith the LORD, unto the wicked.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 Chriſt being ſent to the Jews complaineth of them. 5 He is ſent to the Gentiles. 13 God's love to the church.

LISTEN, O iſles, unto me; and hearken, ye people from far; The LORD hath called me from the womb; from the bowels of my mother hath he made mention of my name.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a ſharp ſword, in the ſhadow of his hand hath he hid me; and made me a poliſhed ſhaft, in his quiver hath he hid me,

3 And ſaid unto me, Thou art my ſervant, O Iſrael, in whom I will be glorified.

4 Then I ſaid, I have laboured in vain, I have ſpent my ſtrength for nought, and in vain; yet ſurely my judgement is with the LORD, and my work with my God.

5 ¶ And now, ſaith the LORD, that formed me from the womb to be his ſervant, to bring Jacob again to him, Though Iſrael be not gathered, yet ſhall I be glorious in the eyes of the LORD, and my God ſhall be my ſtrength.

6 And he ſaid, It is a light thing that thou ſhouldeſt be my ſervant to raiſe up the tribes of Jacob, and to reſtore the preſerved of Iſrael: I will alſo give thee for a light to the Gentiles, that thou mayeſt be my ſalvation unto the end of the earth.

7 Thus ſaith the LORD, the redeemer of Iſrael, and his Holy One, to him whom man deſpiſeth, to him whom the nation abhorreth, to a ſervant of rulers; kings ſhall ſee, and ariſe; princes alſo ſhall worſhip; becauſe of the LORD, that is faithful, and the Holy One of Iſrael, and he ſhall chooſe thee.

8 Thus ſaith the LORD, In an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of ſalvation have I helped thee: and I will preſerve thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, to eſtabliſh the earth, to cauſe to inherit the deſolate heritages;

9 That thou mayeſt ſay to the priſoners, Go forth; to them that are in darkneſs, Shew your ſelves. They ſhall feed in the ways, and their paſtures ſhall be in all high places.

10 They ſhall not hunger, nor thirſt; nei-

Notes on the Forty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The Lord hath called me from the womb, &c.] Theſe words are, in an eminent manner, true of Chriſt, whom God hath peculiarly ſanctified for his offices of king, prieſt, and prophet, and ſent him into the world to execute the ſame.

2 Sharp ſword, and poliſhed ſhaft.] Or arrow, intimating the virtue and efficacy of Chriſt's doctrine.

3 Thou art my ſervant, O Iſrael, in whom I will be glorified.] Theſe words can be applied to none but Chriſt, as the head and repreſentative of the church, who was to raiſe up the tribes of Jacob, and reſtore the preſerved of Iſrael.

4 My work with my God.] Rather, my reward, as in the margin.

5, 6 Though Iſrael be not gathered, yet ſhall I be glorious, &c.] Though Chriſt's miniſtry ſhould be unſucceſsful in gathering the Jews into the church; yet the preaching of his apoſtles ſhould meet with better ſucceſs among the Gentiles, and enlighten thoſe that dwell in the remoteſt parts of the earth. Lowth.

7 To him whom man deſpiſeth, &c.] Theſe words deſcribe the wonderful progreſs of the goſpel, from ſmall beginnings; that the author of it, from being the contempt of all the great men of the world, ſhould at laſt be the object of their adoration, ver. 23. Lowth.

8 In an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of ſalvation have I helped thee, &c.] The firſt publiſhing of the goſpel is that time which God thought proper to fix upon as a ſeaſon of mercy, according to his eternal decree. Therefore, when the fulneſs of time was come, God ſent his Son into the world to be the mediator of that new covenant he then made both with the Jew and Gentile. Lowth.

10 They ſhall not hunger nor thirſt, neither ſhall the heat nor ſun ſmite them, &c.] There ſhall be nothing in their way from Babylon that ſhall hinder or hurt them: but theſe words are by St. John, Rev. vii. 16, 17. applied to the heavenly eſtate of the New Jeruſalem.

ther ſhall the heat nor ſun ſmite them: for he that hath mercy on them ſhall lead them, even by the ſprings of water ſhall he guide them.

11 And I will make all my mountains away, and my high-ways ſhall be exalted.

12 Behold, theſe ſhall come from far: and lo, theſe from the north, and from the weſt; and theſe from the land of Sinim.

13 ¶ Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth: and break forth into ſinging, O mountains: for the LORD hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted.

14 But Zion ſaid, The LORD hath forſaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her ſucking child, that ſhe ſhould not have compaſſion on the ſon of her womb? yea, they may forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I have graven thee upon the palms of my hands; thy walls are continually before me.

17 Thy children ſhall make haſte; thy deſtroyers, and they that made thee waſte, ſhall go forth of thee.

18 Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all theſe gather themſelves together, and come to thee. As I live, ſaith the LORD, thou ſhalt ſurely clothe thee with them all as with an ornament, and bind them on thee as a bride doeth.

19 For thy waſte and thy deſolate places and the land of thy deſtruction ſhall even now be too narrow by reaſon of the inhabitants, and they that ſwallowed thee up ſhall be far away.

20 The children which thou ſhalt have, after thou haſt loſt the other, ſhall ſay again in thine ears, The place is too ſtrait for me: give place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then ſhalt thou ſay in thine heart, Who hath begotten me theſe, ſeeing I have loſt my children, and am deſolate, a captive, and removing to and fro? and who hath brought up theſe? Behold, I was left alone; theſe, where had they been?

22 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD, Behold, I will lift up mine hand to the Gentiles, and ſet up my ſtandard to the people: and they ſhall bring thy ſons in their arms, and thy daughters ſhall be carried upon their ſhoulders.

23 And kings ſhall be thy nurſing-fathers, and their queens thy nurſing-mothers: they ſhall bow down to thee with their face toward the earth, and lick up the duſt of thy feet; and thou ſhalt know that I am the LORD: for they ſhall not be aſhamed that wait for me.

24 Shall the prey be taken from the mighty, or the lawful captive delivered?

25 But thus ſaith the LORD, Even the captives of the mighty ſhall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible ſhall be delivered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will ſave thy children.

26 And I will feed them that oppreſs thee with their own fleſh, and they ſhall be drunken with their own blood as with ſweet wine: and all fleſh ſhall know that I the LORD am thy ſaviour and thy redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

CHAP. L.

1 Chriſt ſheweth the cauſe of the Jews dereliction.
10 An exhortation to truſt in God, and not in our ſelves.

THUS ſaith the LORD, Where is the bill of your mother's divorcement whom I

12 From the land of Sinim.] From the ſouth country.

15 Can a woman forget her ſucking child, &c.] God is often deſcribed as bearing a fatherly affection towards his people; but here the compariſon is raiſed higher, and he ſpeaks of himſelf as having the ſame tenderneſs as a mother has for the fruit of her womb. Lowth.

16 I have graven thee upon the palms of my hands, thy walls are continually before me.] Thou art as dear to me, and as deeply imprinted on my memory, as if thy picture were drawn upon my hand, and always in my ſight. By walls he means the good order of policy and diſcipline.

17 Thy children ſhall make haſte.] An old tranſlation printed in the year 1611, reads, The builders make haſte; thy deſtroyers, &c. are departed from thee: LXX read, Thou ſhalt quickly be built by thoſe by whom thou waſt carried away.

19 Thy waſte and thy deſolate places ſhall even now be too narrow, &c.] This muſt be underſtood either of the acceſſion of the Gentiles into the church, or ſome future reſtoration of the Jewiſh nation. Lowth.

23 Kings ſhall be thy nurſing-fathers, and queens thy nurſing-mothers, &c.] This prophecy was remarkably fulfilled in the favour ſhewn to the church by Conſtantine and his mother Helen, and ſince by other Chriſtian monarchs, who have thought it their glory to promote religion, and defend it from every ſtorm. Lowth.

Notes on the Fiftieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Where is the bill of your mother's divorcement whom I have put away? &c.] The covenant which God made with his people is commonly repreſented by a marriage-contract: in alluhave put away? or which of my creditors is it to whom I have ſold you? Behold, for your iniquities have ye ſold your ſelves, and for your tranſgreſſions is your mother put away.

2 Wherefore, when, I came, was there no man? when I called, was there none to anſwer? is my hand ſhortened at all, that it cannot redeem? or have I no power to deliver? behold, at my rebuke I dry up the ſea, I make the rivers a wilderneſs: their fiſh ſtinketh, becauſe there is no water, and dieth for thirſt.

3 I clothe the heavens with blackneſs, and I make ſackcloth their covering.

4 The LORD GOD hath given me the tongue of the learned, that I ſhould know how to ſpeak a word in ſeaſon to him that is weary: he wakeneth morning by morning, he wakeneth mine ear to hear as the learned.

5 The LORD GOD hath opened mine ear, and I was not rebellious, neither turned away back.

6 I gave my back to the ſmiters, and my cheeks to them that plucked off the hair; I hid not my face from ſhame and ſpitting.

7 For the Lord GOD will help me; therefore ſhall I not be confounded: therefore have I ſet my face like a flint, and I know that I ſhall not be aſhamed.

8 He is near that juſtifieth me; who will contend with me? let us ſtand together: who is mine adverſary? let him come near to me.

9 Behold, the LORD GOD will help me; who is he that ſhall condemn me? lo, they all ſhall wax old as a garment; the moth ſhall eat them up.

10 ¶ Who is among you that feareth the LORD, that obeyeth the voice of his ſervant, that walketh in darkneſs, and hath no light? let him truſt in the name of the LORD, and ſtay upon his God.

11 Behold, all ye that kindle a fire, that compaſs your ſelves about with ſparks: walk in the light of your fire, and in the ſparks that ye have kindled. This ſhall ye have of mine hand; ye ſhall lie down in ſorrow.

CHAP. LI.

1 An exhortation, after the pattern of Abraham, to truſt in Chriſt. 9 Chriſt defendeth his from fear.

HEarken to me, ye that follow after righteouſneſs, ye that ſeek the LORD; look unto the rock whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

2 Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and bleſſed him, and increaſed him.

3 For the LORD ſhall comfort Zion: he will comfort all her waſte places, and he will make her wilderneſs like Eden, and her deſert like the garden of the LORD: joy and gladneſs ſhall be found therein, thankſgiving, and the voice of melody.

4 Hearken unto me, my people; and give ſion to this notion, God demands of the captives, who deſpaired of his mercy, to produce the bill of divorce which he had given to their mother; being himſelf ready to receive her, whenever ſhe would return from her idolatries. Lowth.

2 Wherefore when I came, was there no man? &c.] Why did ye all refuſe to attend to my meſſages, ſent to you by my ſervants the prophets? Lowth.

3 I clothe the heavens with blackneſs, &c.] Sackcloth was made of black goat's hair. Lamy.

4 He wakeneth mine ear to hear as the learned.] Every morning he putteth me in mind of diſcharging mine office, as maſters rouſe up their ſcholars betimes to ſtudy.

6 I gave my back to the ſmiters, &c.] The prophets generally met with very bad treatment from the men of their own times. We learn from hence, that Iſaiah's lot was no better than that of his brethren; however, the words were literally fulfilled in the great Redeemer of mankind. Lowth.

9 Lo, they all ſhall wax old as a garment.] They ſhall quickly die, and all their wicked deſigns ſhall periſh with them. Herod, Pilate, and the chief prieſts are long ſince periſhed.

10 Who is he among you that feareth the Lord? &c.] Let thoſe who fear God, and readily obey all his precepts revealed to them by the prophets, (though their preſent circumſtances may be involved in the blackeſt night of affliction, without the leaſt ray of hope to chear and ſupport them) ſtill continue to rely upon God, who, in due time, will viſit them with light and ſalvation. Lowth.

Notes on the Fifty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah, &c.] You ſprung from Abraham and Sarah, when they were paſt the age of having children. It is therefore no difficulty to God to multiply their poſterity, however ſmall their number may be. Lowth.

3 He will comfort all her waſte places, &c.] This promiſe primarily relates to the peopling of Judea, after it had lain waſte during the captivity; but it myſtically implies the reſtoring of truth and righteouſneſs, when ignorance and corruption had overſpread the whole earth. Lowth.

4 A law ſhall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to reſt for a light of the people.] The latter part of this ſentence ſhould be rendered in the following manner: I will cauſe my judgment to break forth for a light to the people. The law here mentioned can be no other than the goſpel. Lowth.

ear unto me, O my nation: for a law shall proceed from me, and I will make my judgement to rest for a light of the people.

5 My righteousness is near; my salvation is gone forth, and mine arms shall judge the people: the isles shall wait upon me, and on mine arm shall they trust.

6 Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken unto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my law; fear ye not the reproach of men, neither be ye afraid of their revilings.

8 For the moth shall eat them up like a garment, and the worm shall eat them like wool: but my righteousness shall be for ever, and my salvation from generation to generation.

9 ¶ Awake, awake, put on strength, O arm of the LORD; awake as in the ancient days, in the generations of old, Art thou not it that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art thou not it which hath dried the sea, the waters of the great deep? that hath made the depths of the sea a way for the ransomed to pass over.

11 Therefore the redeemed of the LORD shall return, and come with singing unto Zion; and everlasting joy shall be upon their head: they shall obtain gladness and joy; and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

12 I even, I, am he that comforteth you: who art thou, that thou shouldest be afraid of a man that shall die, and of the son of man which shall be made as grass.

13 And forgettest the LORD thy maker, that hath stretched forth the heavens, and laid the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually every day because of the fury of the oppressor, as if he were ready to destroy? and where is the fury of the oppressor?

14 The captive exile hasteneth that he may be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should fail.

15 But I am the LORD thy God, that divided the sea, whose waves roared: The LORD of hosts is his name.

16 And I have put my words in thy mouth, and have covered thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant the heavens, and lay the foundations of the earth, and say unto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, stand up, O Jerusalem, which hast drunk at the hand of the LORD the cup of his fury; thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sons whom she hath brought forth: neither is there any that taketh her by the hand of all the sons that she hath brought up.

19 These two things are come unto thee; who shall be sorry for thee? desolation, and

5 Mine arms shall judge the people, &c.] i. e. The power of the most High shall accompany the preaching of the gospel.

6 The heavens shall vanish away like smoke, &c.] Here we see is an end put to the race of men at once, and their habitation: but God's righteousness and salvation, which are to be for ever, must mean his bestowing the rewards of eternal life on his faithful servants. Peters.

> The seas shall waste, the skies in smoke decay,
> Rocks fall to dust, and mountains melt away;
> But fix'd his word, his saving pow'r remains;
> Thy realm for ever lasts, thy own MESSIAH reigns. Pope.

7 The people in whose heart is my law, fear ye not the reproach of men, &c.] They who have the law of God written on their hearts, and religiously strive to observe its precepts, will never regard the reproaches of the ungodly. Lowth.

9 Awake, awake, put on strength, O arm of the Lord, &c.] The prophet, by an elegant figure, addresses himself to God; desiring him to exert his power in behalf of his distressed people, as he had done in ancient times, when he delivered them from the slavery of the Egyptians. Rahab sometimes stands for Egypt.

13 Where is the fury of the oppressor?] It shall so suddenly vanish, that not the least traces of it can be found.

14 The captive exile hasteneth, that he may be loosed, &c.] The Hebrew runs plainly thus, The captive exile shall be quickly delivered, he shall not die in the pit, (or prison) neither shall his bread fail.

15 That divideth the sea.] That instantly calmeth the sea.

16 I have put my words in thy mouth.] This may in some sense be understood of Isaiah, but is chiefly meant of Christ. Lowth.

That I may plant the heavens, &c.] The Septuagint has here a very plausible reading, and runs thus, I have covered thee in the shadow of my hand, with which I planted the heavens, &c.

17 Awake, awake, stand up, O Jerusalem, which hast drunk, &c.] The prophet here represents Jerusalem, as one lying astonished under the stroke of the Almighty's judgments, which are commonly described under the similitude of a cup of intoxicating liquor, because they astonish the children of men, and bereave them of their reason and discretion. Lowth.

19 Desolation and destruction, &c.] The original word for desolation deſtruction; and the famine, and the ſword: by whom ſhall I comfort thee?

20 Thy ſons have fainted, they lie at the head of all the ſtreets as a wild bull in a net: they are full of the fury of the LORD, the rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore hear now this, thou afflicted, and drunken, but not with wine;

22 Thus ſaith thy Lord the LORD, and thy God that pleadeth the cauſe of his people, Behold, I have taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, even the dregs of the cup of my fury: thou ſhalt no more drink it again.

23 But I will put it in the hand of them that afflict thee; which have ſaid to thy ſoul, Bow down, that we may go over: and thou haſt laid thy body as the ground, and as the ſtreet to them that went over.

CHAP. LII.

1 Chriſt perſuadeth the church to believe his free redemption, 7 to receive the miniſters thereof, 9 to joy in the power thereof.

AWAKE, awake; put on thy ſtrength, O Zion; put on thy beautiful garments, O Jeruſalem, the holy city: for henceforth there ſhall no more come into thee the uncircumciſed and the unclean.

2 Shake thy ſelf from the duſt; ariſe, and ſit down, O Jeruſalem; looſe thy ſelf from the bands of thy neck, O captive daughter of Zion.

3 For thus ſaith the LORD, Ye have ſold your ſelves for nought; and ye ſhall be redeemed without money.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord GOD, My people went down aforetime into Egypt to ſojourn there; and the Aſſyrian oppreſſed them without cauſe.

5 Now therefore, what have I here, ſaith the LORD, that my people is taken away for nought? they that rule over them make them to howl, ſaith the LORD; and my name continually every day is blaſphemed.

6 Therefore my people ſhall know my name: therefore they ſhall know in that day that I am he that doth ſpeak: behold, it is I.

7 ¶ How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publiſheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publiſheth ſalvation; that ſaith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth!

8 Thy watchmen ſhall lift up the voice, with the voice together ſhall they ſing: for they ſhall ſee eye to eye when the LORD ſhall bring again Zion.

9 ¶ Break forth into joy, ſing together, ye waſte places of Jeruſalem: for the LORD hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jeruſalem.

10 The LORD hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth ſhall ſee the ſalvation of our God.

11 Depart ye, depart ye, go ye out from thence, touch no unclean thing; go ye out of the midſt of her; be ye clean, that bear the veſſels of the LORD.

12 For ye ſhall not go out with haſte, nor go by flight: for the LORD will go before you; and the God of Iſrael will be your rere-ward.

13 Behold, my ſervant ſhall deal prudently, he ſhall be exalted and extolled and be very high.

lation is properly uſed of famine, the learned Schultens therefore thus tranſlates the words, Theſe two things are come upon thee —deſolation and deſtruction, even the famine and the ſword.

Who ſhall be ſorry for thee? &c.] Who is there left to take pity on thee, ſince thy children are all involved in the ſame degree of miſery?

22 Thou ſhalt no more drink it again.] The words ſhould rather be rendered, Thou ſhalt no longer drink thereof. Noldius.

Notes on the Fifty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 Awake, awake, put on thy ſtrength, O Zion.] Thou haſt for a long time been in a ſtate of ſilence and obſcurity, like one dead and buried; rouſe up thyſelf and reſume thy former power and dignity.

2 Shake thyſelf from the duſt: ariſe, and ſit down, O Jeruſalem, &c.] The city of Jeruſalem, which the prophet had repreſented as lying in the duſt, and buried in her own ruins, chap. xlvii. 1. is here exhorted to riſe from the ground, and ſit again on her throne as the mother city of the Jewiſh nation. Lowth.

7 How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, &c.] A poetical deſcription of the meſſenger who firſt brought the news of Cyrus's decree for the people's return. This paſſage is very properly applied by St. Paul to the firſt preachers of the goſpel, Rom. x. 15. the very words importing good tidings of peace and ſalvation, whereby the kingdom of God was founded among men. Lowth.

10 The Lord hath made bare his holy arm.] He hath given evident tokens of his power and holineſs.

All the ends of the earth ſhall ſee the ſalvation of our God.] Theſe words can only be underſtood of the revelation of the goſpel, being preached in every part of the world. Lowth.

13 Behold, my ſervant ſhall deal prudently.] Or, as the margin has

14 As many were aſtoniſhed at thee; his viſage was ſo marred more than any man, and his form more than the ſons of men:

15 So ſhall he ſprinkle many nations: the kings ſhall ſhut their mouths at him: for that which had not been told them ſhall they ſee, and that which they had not heard ſhall they conſider.

CHAP. LIII.

1 The prophet excuſeth the ſcandal of the croſs, 4 by the benefit of Chriſt's paſſion, 10 and the good ſucceſs thereof.

WHO hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the LORD revealed?

2 For he ſhall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comelineſs: and when we ſhall ſee him, there is no beauty that we ſhould deſire him.

3 He is deſpiſed and rejected of men; a man of ſorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him: he was deſpiſed, and we eſteemed him not.

4 ¶ Surely he hath born our griefs, and carried our ſorrows: yet we did eſteem him ſtricken, ſmitten of God, and afflicted.

5 But he was wounded for our tranſgreſſions, he was bruiſed for our iniquities: the chaſtiſement of our peace was upon him; and with his ſtripes we are healed.

6 All we like ſheep have gone aſtray; we have turned every one his own way: and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

7 He was oppreſſed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the ſlaughter, and as a ſheep before her ſhearers is dumb, ſo he openeth not his mouth.

8 He was taken from priſon and from judgement: and who ſhall declare his generation? for he was cut off out of the land of the living: for the tranſgreſſion of my people was he ſtricken.

9 And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; becauſe he has it, ſhall proſper. This prophecy can belong only to the Meſſiah, who is in an eminent ſenſe, called God's ſervant. Lowth.

14 Many were aſtoniſhed at thee, &c.] The prophet means that aſtoniſhment which ſeized the people, on the ſtrange alteration between him who was lately followed by multitudes with acclamations and hoſannahs, and reverenced as the great prophet that ſhould come into the world, and the ſame perſon ſuffering on the croſs, and treated as the ſcorn of men, and the outcaſt of the people. Lowth.

15 So ſhall he ſprinkle many nations.] He ſhall purify whole nations by his blood, and preſent them holy to God. The expreſſion alludes to the legal ſprinklings by which the people were ſanctified. Lowth.

The kings ſhall ſhut their mouths at him.] Shall ſubmit themſelves to him; ſhall lay their hands upon their mouths, and liſten to his inſtructions with the greateſt reverence.

That which had not been told them, ſhall they ſee; and that, &c.] They ſhall be inſtructed in ſuch heavenly truths, as human reaſon could never diſcover. The goſpel is called a myſtery kept ſecret from ages and generations, the knowledge of which could be obtained only by divine revelation. Lowth.

Notes on the Fifty-third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Who hath believed our report? &c.] This is ſpoken in the perſon of Chriſt and his apoſtles: who, ſay they, among our own countrymen, hath believed our report or doctrine? and though God hath ſhewn ſuch viſible tokens of his power in thoſe miracles wrought in confirmation of our miſſion, yet how few of our own nation are convinced by them?

2 He ſhall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground.] i. e. Before the Lord. The prophet gives the reaſon why the Jews rejected Chriſt, viz. the meanneſs of his outward appearance. The Meſſiah is here reſembled to a tender plant, and to a branch growing out of a dry ground, which appears withered, and does not promiſe either life or fruit. The word rendered root, ſhould have been tranſlated branch or ſhoot. Lowth.

He hath no form nor comelineſs, &c.] The meanneſs of his outward circumſtances, eſpecially when he came to be condemned as a malefactor, made his perſon appear deſpicable.

3 A man of ſorrow, and acquainted with grief.] The bleſſed Jeſus endured the continual contradiction of ſinners; and all the ill treatment which the malice of men or devils could ſuggeſt.

We hid as it were our faces from him, &c.] We diſregarded him, and took no compaſſion on his ſufferings.

4 Surely he hath born our griefs, and carried our ſorrows.] He hath born the evils and puniſhments due to our ſins.

We did eſteem him ſtricken, ſmitten of God.] His enemies imagined he was puniſhed for his own ſins.

5 The chaſtiſement of our peace was upon him, &c.] He was chaſtiſed for our reconciliation.

6 The Lord laid upon him the iniquity of us all.] i. e. The puniſhment of our iniquity.

7 He was oppreſſed, and he was afflicted.] The words may be better rendered, It was exacted of him, and he anſwered the demand: i. e. he gave that ſatisfaction which God's juſtice demanded for our ſins. Lowth.

Yet he opened not his mouth.] All the hard uſage he met with did not prevail with him to utter any intemperate expreſſion; he even refuſed to make a juſt defence, any further than it was neceſſary for him to plead his innocence. Lowth.

He is brought as a lamb to the ſlaughter, &c.] Meekly ſubmitting to the violence of his perſecutors.

8 He was taken from priſon and from judgement.] Or, as the paſſage may be better rendered, He was carried away to execution by tyrannical oppreſſion, and a ſentence of condemnation.

Who ſhall declare his generation?] Who ſhall declare the wickedneſs of that age or generation that deſtroyed this innocent perſon in ſo unjuſt a manner? Lowth.

9 He made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death.] had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 ¶ Yet it pleaſed the LORD to bruiſe him; he hath put him to grief: when thou ſhalt make his ſoul an offering for ſin, he ſhall ſee his ſeed, he ſhall prolong his days, and the pleaſure of the LORD ſhall proſper in his hand.

11 He ſhall ſee of the travel of his ſoul, and ſhall be ſatisfied: by his knowledge ſhall my righteous ſervant juſtify many; for he ſhall bear their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he ſhall divide the ſpoil with the ſtrong: becauſe he hath poured out his ſoul unto death: and he was numbered with the tranſgreſſors; and he bare the ſin of many, and made interceſſion for the tranſgreſſors.

CHAP. LIV.

1 The amplitude of the Gentiles church, 4 their ſafety, 6 Ther deliverance out of affliction, 11 Their fair edification, 15 and ſure preſervation.

SING, O barren, thou that didſt not bear; break forth into ſinging, and cry aloud, thou that didſt not travail with child: for more are the children of the deſolate than the children of the married wife, ſaith the LORD.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them ſtretch forth the curtains of thine habitations: ſpare not, lengthen thy cords, and ſtrengthen thy ſtakes:

3 For thou ſhalt break forth on the right hand and on the left; and thy ſeed ſhall inherit the Gentiles, and make the deſolate cities to be inhabited.

4 ¶ Fear not; for thou ſhalt not be aſhamed: neither be thou confounded; for thou ſhalt not be put to ſhame: for thou ſhalt forget the ſhame of thy youth, and ſhalt not remember the reproach of thy widowhood any more.

5 For thy Maker is thine huſband; The LORD of hoſts is his name: and thy Redeemer, the Holy One of Iſrael, The God of the whole earth ſhall he be called.

6 ¶ For the LORD hath called thee as a woman forſaken and grieved in ſpirit, and a wife of youth, when thou waſt refuſed, ſaith thy God.

7 For a ſmall moment have I forſaken thee; but with great mercies will I gather thee.

death.] There are two words in the original which have changed places in this verſe; when they are reſtored to their proper ſituations, the ſenſe will be very clear, thus, He was taken up, (ſuſpended) with wicked men in his death; and with a rich man was his ſepulchre. Kennicott.

10 He ſhall ſee his ſeed.] This may be properly underſtood of our Lord's diſciples, called Chriſtians after his name; nothing being more uſual than to call teachers by the name of fathers, and they that follow his inſtructions by that of children.

The pleaſure of the Lord ſhall proſper in his hand.] The redemption of mankind is often called God's good pleaſure; as being at once both highly acceptable to him, and the effect of his good pleaſure and free grace. Lowth.

11 He ſhall ſee of the travel of his ſoul, and ſhall be ſatisfied, &c.] He ſhall rejoice that his ſufferings have not been in vain, but the means of ſaving ſo many.

12 Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great.] This expreſſion is equivalent to that in Pſalm ii. 8. I will give him the heathen for his inheritance, &c.

He ſhall divide the ſpoil with the ſtrong.] This expreſſion alludes to the cuſtom of conquerors in dividing the ſpoils of their victory with their officers and ſoldiers. No Chriſtian can poſſibly doubt of this chapter being predictive of the Meſſiah; when he conſiders Acts viii. 35. For after finding that the Eunuch of Æthiopia had been reading this very chapter, (and had aſked Philip, Of whom ſpeaketh the prophet this?) we are told at the 9th verſe —Then Philip began at the ſame ſcripture, and preached unto him Jeſus. Kennicott.

Notes on the Fifty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Sing, O barren, thou that didſt not bear, &c.] The prophet had deſcribed Jeruſalem, during her captivity, as a deſolate woman forſaken of her huſband, and bereaved of her children. Here he bids her rejoice and comfort herſelf after her affliction, becauſe her children ſhould be much more numerous than they were even in her moſt flouriſhing condition. This cannot be literally ſpoken of the Jewiſh nation, which never made ſo noble a figure after the captivity, as in the days of David and Solomon; and therefore can only be underſtood of Jeruſalem, as ſhe is a type of the Chriſtian church, who, after her great ſpouſe, the Son of God, was taken from her by death, and ſhe left in a forlorn condition, her children orphans, deſponding, and comfortleſs, yet from ſuch mean beginnings, ſhe ſpread herſelf over the world, and we ſtill receive a further enlargement, when the fulneſs of the Jews and Gentiles is come in. Lowth.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tents, &c.] He deſcribes the city of Jeruſalem, the figure of the chriſtian church, under the metaphor of a tent, the moſt antient way of dwelling.

5 Thy Maker is thy huſband.] Though God had caſt thee off for ſome time, yet he ſtill owns the relation of a huſband towards thee, and will give thee abundant marks of his conjugal affection.

The God of the whole earth ſhall he be called.] He ſhall not only be called the God of the Jews, but alſo of the Gentiles.

7 For a ſmall moment have I forſaken thee, &c.] God's anger towards his ſervants is ſhort, when compared with that everlaſting kindneſs he will ſhow towards them. The ſame rule holds true of the church in general, whoſe light afflictions are but for a moment, in compariſon of that eternal glory he hath promiſed them: an earneſt of which will be the millenium, or a thouſand years of reſt, which is to uſher in the heavenly ſtate, and ſeems to be deſcribed in the following part of the chapter. Lowth.

8 In a little wrath I hid my face from thee for a moment; but with everlasting kindness will I have mercy on thee, saith the LORD thy redeemer.

9 For this is as the waters of Noah unto me: for as I have sworn that the waters of Noah should no more go over the earth; so have I sworn that I would not be wroth with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountains shall depart, and the hills be removed: but my kindness shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of my peace be removed, saith the LORD, that hath mercy on thee.

11 ¶ Oh, thou afflicted, tossed with tempest, and not comforted, behold, I will lay thy stones with fair colours, and lay thy foundations with sapphires.

12 And I will make thy windows of agates, and thy gates of carbuncles, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall be taught of the LORD; and great shall be the peace of thy children.

14 In righteousness shalt thou be established: thou shalt be far from oppression; for thou shalt not fear: and from terror; for it shall not come near thee.

15 ¶ Behold, they shall surely gather together, but not by me: whosoever shall gather together against thee shall fall for thy sake.

16 Behold, I have created the smith that bloweth the coals in the fire, and that bringeth forth an instrument for his work; and I have created the waster to destroy.

17 No weapon that is formed against thee shall prosper; and every tongue that shall rise against thee in judgement thou shalt condemn. This is the heritage of the servants of the LORD, and their righteousness is of me, saith the LORD.

CHAP. LV.

1 The prophet with the promises of Christ, calleth to faith, 6 and to repentance. 8 The happy state of them that believe.

HO, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money, and without price.

2 Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which satisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness.

3 Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear, and your soul shall live: and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David.

4 Behold, I have given him for a witness to the people, a leader and commander to the people.

5 Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and nations that knew not thee shall run unto thee, because of the LORD thy God, and for the Holy One of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

9 As I have sworn that the waters of Noah should no more go over the earth, &c.] The solemn promise which God here makes must relate to some period of time, when God will not any more afflict his people: but this has never yet been accomplished; for though they returned from the Babylonish captivity, yet their whole nation and government was afterwards ruined by the Romans; so that this prophecy probably refers to the millenium.

11 Behold, I will lay thy stones with fair colours, &c.] The church of Christ and the society of Antichrist are, by St. John, in the Revelations, described as two cities, the latter called mystical Babylon, and the former the new and heavenly Jerusalem, to distinguish it from the earthly city of that name, and described as coming down from God, and adorned with all those gifts and graces which can render it glorious and durable, and metaphorically represented under the figure of a square, solid, and beautiful structure, consisting of gold and precious stones.

16 I have created the smith that bloweth the coals, &c.] Both the maker of offensive weapons, and they that use them, being under my direction, no design formed against thee shall prosper.

Notes on the Fifty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters.] Divine grace is often represented under the similitude of springs and streams of water: and, in the same manner, divine knowledge, the food and support of the soul, is expressed by the metaphors of meat and drink, which sustain the body, John vi. 27. The prophet here exhorts men, under this metaphor, to make use of the means of instruction offered by the gospel; and thus the words are expounded by Christ himself, John vii. 37. Lowth.

Buy wine and milk without money, and without price.] This expression shews that divine knowledge is of far greater value, than to be purchased with money, being the gift of God, and obtainable only by earnest prayers and sincere endeavours.

3 I will make an everlasting covenant with you, &c.] The gospel is often called an everlasting covenant, in opposition to the law, which was designed to last only for a time, and to give way to a better.

4 I have given him for a witness to the people, &c.] The prophets often put David for Christ; because, in the latter, all the promises made to the former of establishing his throne for ever, were to be fulfilled.

6 ¶ Seek ye the LORD while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near.

7 Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.

8 ¶ For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the LORD.

9 For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts.

10 For as the rain cometh down, and the snow, from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater.

11 So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 For ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.

13 Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir-tree, and instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle-tree: and it shall be to the LORD for a name, for an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off.

CHAP. LVI.

1 The prophet exhorteth to sanctification; 3 which shall be accepted without respect of persons. 9 Against blind watchmen.

THUS saith the LORD, Keep ye judgement, and do justice: for my salvation is near to come, and my righteousness to be revealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the son of man that layeth hold on it; that keepeth the sabbath from polluting it, and keepeth his hand from doing any evil.

3 ¶ Neither let the son of the stranger, that hath joined himself to the LORD, speak, saying, The LORD hath utterly separated me from his people: neither let the eunuch say, Behold, I am a dry tree.

4 For thus saith the LORD unto the eunuchs that keep my sabbaths, and choose the things that please me, and take hold of my covenant;

5 Even unto them will I give in mine house and within my walls a place and a name better than of sons and of daughters: I will give them an everlasting name, that shall not be cut off.

6 Also the sons of the stranger, that join themselves to the LORD, to serve him, and to love the name of the LORD, to be his servants, every one that keepeth the sabbath from polluting it, and taketh hold of my covenant;

6 Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, &c.] A general exhortation to men not to slight the means and opportunities of grace offered by the gospel. Lowth.

7 He will have mercy upon him, &c.] A general promulgation of pardon, such as only belongs to the gospel-state.

8, 9 For my thoughts are not as your thoughts, &c.] This implies a different dispensation: that the change was from carnal to spiritual is elegantly intimated in the next verse, As the heavens are higher than the earth, &c. Warburton.

12 Ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace, &c.] This passage may particularly relate to the return of the Jews from captivity: but then we are to consider their call out of Babylon as an emblem of a much greater deliverance, when God shall call men by the gospel out of darkness into his marvellous light; and when the fulness of the Gentiles shall come in.

13 Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir-tree, &c.] i. e. The new religion shall as far exceed the old, as the fir-tree the thorn, or the myrtle the brier. Warburton.

Waste sandy valleys, once perplex'd with thorn,
The spiry fir and shapely box adorn:
To leafless shrubs the flowering palms succeed,
And od'rous myrtle to the noisom weed. Pope.

Notes on the Fifty-sixth Chapter.

Ver. 2 That keepeth the sabbath from polluting it, &c.] The sabbath was ordained as a token of God's covenant with his people. And hence the observation of it became the distinguishing character of a Jew, by which he declared himself a worshipper of the true God, who created heaven and earth, and instituted the sabbath as a memorial of that creation. Lowth.

3 Neither let the son of the stranger, that hath joined him to the Lord, speak, saying, &c.] The strangers were those who joined themselves with the Jews in worshipping the true God, without being circumcised, or obliging themselves to observe the whole law of Moses. Here God declares his acceptance of such, preparing thereby a way for the gospel-institution, when the partition-wall between the Jews and Gentiles should be broken down. Lowth.

Neither let the eunuch say, Behold, I am a dry tree.] As fruitfulness was one of the chief blessings promised under the law, so barrenness was both a curse and a reproach.

5 Unto them will I give a name better than of sons or of daughters, &c.] Eunuchs were forbid to enter into the congregation of the Lord, or to join themselves with the Jews in their public assemblies. But here the Almighty tells them that the time is coming when these restraints shall have no force; the inward endowments of the soul shall be sufficient to give pious persons a title to the communion of saints, and their names shall be written in the book of life: a more lasting remembrance than posterity can entitle them to. Lowth.

7 Even them will I bring to my holy mountain, and make them joyful in my houſe of prayer: their burnt-offerings and their ſacrifices ſhall be accepted upon mine altar; for mine houſe ſhall be called an houſe of prayer for all people.

8 The LORD GOD which gathereth the outcaſts of Iſrael, ſaith, Yet will I gather others to him, beſides thoſe that are gathered unto him.

9 ¶ All ye beaſts of the field, come to devour, yea, all yea beaſts in the foreſt.

10 His watchmen are blind: they are all ignorant, they are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark; ſleeping, lying down, loving to ſlumber.

11 Yea, they are greedy dogs which can never have enough, and they are ſhepherds that cannot underſtand: they all look to their own way, every one for his gain, from his quarter.

12 Come ye, ſay they, I will fetch wine, and we will fill our ſelves with ſtrong drink; and to-morrow ſhall be as this day, and much more abundant.

CHAP. LVII.

1 The bleſſed death of the righteous. 3 The Jews reproved for their whoriſh idolatry. 13 Evangelical promiſes to the penitent.

THE righteous periſheth, and no man layeth it to heart, and merciful men are taken away, none conſidering that the righteous is taken away from the evil to come.

2 He ſhall enter into peace: they ſhall reſt in their beds, each one walking in his uprightneſs.

3 ¶ But draw near hither, ye ſons of the ſorcereſs, and the ſeed of the adulterer, and the whore:

4 Againſt whom do ye ſport your ſelves? againſt whom make ye a wide mouth, and draw out the tongue? are ye not children of tranſgreſſion, a ſeed of falſhood?

5 Enflaming your ſelves with idols under every green tree, ſlaying the children in the valleys under the clifts of the rocks?

6 Among the ſmooth ſtones of the ſtream is thy portion; they, they are thy lot: even to them haſt thou poured a drink-offering, thou haſt offered a meat-offering. Should I receive comfort in theſe?

7 Upon a lofty and high mountain haſt thou ſet thy bed; even thither wenteſt thou up to offer ſacrifice.

8 Behind the doors alſo and the poſts haſt thou ſet up thy remembrance: for thou haſt diſcovered thy ſelf to another than me, and art gone up: thou haſt enlarged thy bed,

7 Mine houſe ſhall be called an houſe of prayer for all people, &c.] The temple was originally deſigned for ſtrangers as well as the Jews, as a place to offer up their prayers to the divine majeſty, as is ſufficiently plain from the prayer of Solomon at the dedication of it; though the number of proſelytes was but ſmall, till the time of the ſecond temple. Lowth.

9 All the beaſts of the field, come to devour, &c.] This paſſage begins another prophecy, diſplaying the ſins and miſeries which began with the invaſion of Pharaoh Necho, and ended with the Babyloniſh captivity.

10 His watchmen are blind—they are all dumb dogs, &c.] The cauſe of theſe miſeries is imputed here to the ignorance and careleſſneſs of their governors, both in church and ſtate, whom the prophet compares to dumb dogs, that give no warning of approaching enemies, but abandon themſelves to ſloth and idleneſs. Lowth.

12 To-morrow ſhall be as this day, and much more abundant.] This they ſaid, in deriſion of the threatenings of deſtruction which the prophets denounced againſt them.

Notes on the Fifty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 No man layeth it to heart.] No man reflects with himſelf how ſore a judgment it is to have good men, and eſpecially pious princes, taken away in times of danger and diſtreſs, who might either by their prayers avert impending judgments, or, by their prudence and vigilance, apply proper remedies to the public calamities. Lowth.

2 They ſhall reſt in their beds, &c.] As death is compared to ſleep, ſo the grave is reſembled to lying down in a bed; in 2 Chron. xvi. 14. we read of the bed of ſpices in which king Aſa was laid: and, if we underſtand this text of the death of ſome of their good kings, the phraſe will allude to the coſtly funerals with which they honoured the memory of their pious princes after their deceaſe. Lowth.

5 Slaying the children in the valleys under the clifts of the rocks?] Offering them in ſacrifice to Moloch: a ſin ſeverely prohibited, Lev. xx. 2. though greatly practiſed in the times of their idolatrous kings of Judah; the valley of Hinnom was chiefly noted for this inhuman practice. It ſeems both by the Hebrew and Septuagint, that they did not only make them paſs through the fire, but effectually murdered them. Wall.

6 Among the ſmooth ſtones of the ſtream, &c.] Biſhop Warburton thinks it probable from this paſſage, that the Iſraelites paid religious honour to that monument of twelve ſtones taken out of the channel of Jordan, and pitched in Gilgal for a memorial of their miraculous paſſage.

7 Upon a lofty and high mountain haſt thou ſet thy bed.] The idolatrous practice of ſacrificing in high places is often mentioned in ſcripture; and conſequently the word bed may be underſtood of that uſed at feaſts, and was prepared for the entertainment, which was made with part of the oblation. It was the cuſtom of the antients to lie upon beds or couches at their meals. Lowth.

and made thee a covenant with them; thou lovedſt their bed where thou ſaweſt it.

9 And thou wenteſt to the king with ointment, and didſt increaſe thy perfumes, and didſt ſend thy meſſengers far off, and didſt debaſe thy ſelf even unto hell.

10 Thou art wearied in the greatneſs of thy way: yet ſaidſt thou not, There is no hope: thou haſt found the life of thine hand; therefore thou waſt not grieved.

11 And of whom haſt thou been afraid or feared, that thou haſt lyed, and haſt not remembered me, nor laid it to thy heart? have not I held my peace even of old, and thou feareſt me not?

12 I will declare thy righteouſneſs, and thy works; for they ſhall not profit thee.

13 ¶ When thou crieſt, let thy companies deliver thee: but the wind ſhall carry them all away; vanity ſhall take them: but he that putteth his truſt in me ſhall poſſeſs the land, and ſhall inherit my holy mountain;

14 And ſhall ſay, Caſt ye up, caſt ye up, prepare the way, take up the ſtumbling-block out of the way of my people.

15 For thus ſaith the High and Lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whoſe name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him alſo that is of a contrite and humble ſpirit, to revive the ſpirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones.

16 For I will not contend for ever, neither will I be always wroth: for the ſpirit ſhould fail before me, and the ſouls which I have made.

17 For the iniquity of his covetouſneſs was I wroth, and ſmote him: I hid me, and was wroth, and he went on frowardly in the way of his heart.

18 I have ſeen his ways, and will heal him: I will lead him alſo, and reſtore comforts unto him, and to his mourners.

19 I create the fruit of the lips; Peace, peace to him that is far off, and to him that is near, ſaith the LORD; and I will heal him.

20 But the wicked are like the troubled ſea, when it cannot reſt, whoſe waters caſt up mire and dirt.

21 There is no peace, ſaith my God, to the wicked.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 Hypocriſy is reproved. 8 The promiſes due to godlineſs, 13 and to the keeping of the ſabbath.

CRY aloud, ſpare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and ſhew my people their tranſgreſſion, and the houſe of Jacob their ſins.

2 Yet they ſeek me daily, and delight to know my ways, as a nation that did righteouſneſs, and forſook not the ordinance of their God; they aſk of me the ordinances of juſtice; they take delight in approaching to God.

3 Wherefore have we faſted, ſay they, and thou ſeeſt not? wherefore have we afflicted our ſoul, and thou takeſt no knowledge? Behold, in the day of your faſt ye find pleaſure, and exact all your labours.

4 Behold, ye faſt for ſtrife and debate, and to ſmite with the fiſt of wickedneſs: ye ſhall not faſt as ye do this day, to make your voice to be heard on high.

5 Is it ſuch a faſt that I have choſen? a day for a man to afflict his ſoul? is it to bow down his head as a bulruſh, and to ſpread ſackcloth and 9 Thou wenteſt to the king with ointment, &c.] Thou madeſt leagues with idolatrous princes, and courted their favour by preſents.

10 Thou haſt found the life of thine hand.] By theſe methods thou haſt ſupported thyſelf.

13 Let thy companies deliver thee, &c.] Thy allies, whoſe aſſiſtance thou haſt taken ſuch pains to procure.

15 I dwell in the high and holy place, &c.] Though my throne be in heaven, yet I do not diſdain to converſe with the lowly and meek; and I will relieve and comfort in their afflictions thoſe who humble themſelves under my hand. Lowth.

17 I hid me.] God's withdrawing his mercy is expreſſed by hiding his face.

19 I create the fruit of the lips.] By the mercies I confer upon my people, I give new occaſion for praiſe and thankſgiving.

Peace to him that is far off, &c.] The peace here proclaimed can be properly underſtood only of thoſe terms of pardon which Chriſt hath offered both to Jew and Gentile. Lowth.

Notes on the Fifty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 3 In the day of your faſt you find pleaſure, and exact all your labours.] Or, as the words may be better tranſlated, you find wherewith to pleaſe yourſelves, and you are rigorous in burdening others. Labours is uſed figuratively to denote thoſe riches which are gotten by the toil and fatigue either of ourſelves or others: and proportionably by exacting our labours in the ſtile of the Moſaic law, means our rigorous inſiſting upon payment where the debtor has not ability to make it. Berriman.

aſhes under him? wilt thou call this a faſt, and an acceptable day to the LORD?

6 Is not this the faſt that I have choſen; to looſe the bands of wickedneſs, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppreſſed go free, and that ye break every yoke?

7 Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are caſt out to thy houſe? when thou ſeeſt the naked, that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thy ſelf from thine own fleſh.

8 ¶ Then ſhall thy light break forth as the morning, and thine health ſhall ſpring forth ſpeedily: and thy righteouſneſs ſhall go before thee; the glory of the LORD ſhall be thy rereward:

9 Then ſhalt thou call, and the LORD ſhall anſwer: thou ſhalt cry, and he ſhall ſay, Here I am. If thou take away from the midſt of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and ſpeaking vanity;

10 And if thou draw out thy ſoul to the hungry, and ſatisfy the afflicted ſoul: then ſhall thy light riſe in obſcurity, and thy darkneſs be as the noon-day:

11 And the LORD ſhall guide thee continually, and ſatisfy thy ſoul in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou ſhalt be like a watered garden, and like a ſpring of water whoſe waters fail not.

12 And they that ſhall be of thee ſhall build the old waſte places: thou ſhalt raiſe up the foundations of many generations: and thou ſhalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The reſtorer of paths to dwell in.

13 ¶ If thou turn away thy foot from the ſabbath, from doing thy pleaſure on my holy day; and call the ſabbath a Delight; the holy of the LORD, Honourable; and ſhalt honour him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleaſure, nor ſpeaking thine own words.

14 Then ſhalt thou delight thy ſelf in the LORD; and I will cauſe thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the LORD hath ſpoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The damnable nature of ſin. 9 Calamity is for ſin. 16 Salvation is only of God. 20 The covenant of the Redeemer.

BEhold, the LORD's hand is not ſhortened, that it cannot ſave; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear:

2 But your iniquities have ſeparated between you and your God, and your ſins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity: your lips have ſpoken lyes, your tongue hath muttered perverſeneſs.

4 None calleth for juſtice, nor any pleadeth for truth: they truſt in vanity, and ſpeak lyes: they conceive miſchief, and bring forth iniquity.

5 They hatch cockatrice eggs, and weave the ſpider's web: he that eateth of their eggs dieth, and that which is cruſhed breaketh out into a viper.

6 Their webs ſhall not become garments, neither ſhall they cover themſelves with their works: their works are works of iniquity, and the act of violence is in their hands.

---

9 The putting forth of the finger, &c.] Any attempt towards invading the right of others.

11 In drought, &c.] Drought is uſed to ſignify any ſort of want.

12 Shall build the old waſte places.] i. e. They ſhall build thoſe houſes and cities that have for a long time been in ruins, and razed from their very foundation.

The reſtorer of paths to dwell in.] When the cities are again inhabited, the roads that lead to them will be again frequented.

13 If thou turn away thy foot, &c.] The foot is metaphorically put for labour: this expreſſion ſeems to ſignify, If thou refrain from all ſervile work on the ſabbath-day. Pilkington.

From doing thy pleaſure.] As feaſtings and rejoicings were eſſential to the ſabbath at this time, it is here intimated they were carried to a ſinful exceſs.

14 I will cauſe thee to ride upon the high places of the earth.] I will exalt thee above the neighbouring nations, and give thee poſſeſſion of their lofty mountains, whither they uſed to retreat, as to an impregnable fortreſs. Lowth.

Notes on the Fifty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1, 2. Behold, the Lord's hand is not ſhortened, &c.] The reaſon of the continuance of your calamities is not want either of power in God to deliver you, or of goodneſs to hear your prayers; but your own iniquities render him a ſtranger to you, interrupt the correſpondence that formerly ſubſiſted between him and his people, and ſtop the courſe of his bleſſings. Lowth.

5. They hatch cockatrice-eggs, and weave the ſpider's web.] Their miſchievous deſigns are like cockatrice-eggs, which are rank poiſon in themſelves, and when hatched produce a venemous ſerpent: the meaning of weaving the ſpider's web is, they bury themſelves in making nets to entrap others.

7 Their feet run to evil, and they make haſte to ſhed innocent blood: their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; waſting and deſtruction are in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not; and there is no judgement in their goings: they have made them crooked paths: whoſoever goeth therein ſhall not know peace.

9 ¶ Therefore is judgement far from us, neither doth juſtice overtake us: we wait for light, but behold obſcurity; for brightneſs, but we walk in darkneſs.

10 We grope for the wall like the blind, and we grope as if we had no eyes: we ſtumble at noon-day as in the night; we are in deſolate places as dead men.

11 We roar all like bears, and mourn ſore like doves: we look for judgement, but there is none; for ſalvation, but it is far off from us.

12 For our tranſgreſſions are multiplied before thee, and our ſins teſtify againſt us: for our tranſgreſſions are with us; and as for our iniquities, we know them:

13 In tranſgreſſing and lying againſt the LORD, and departing away from our God, ſpeaking oppreſſion and revolt, conceiving and uttering from the heart words of falſehood.

14 And judgement is turned away backward, and juſtice ſtandeth afar off: for truth is fallen in the ſtreet, and equity cannot enter.

15 Yea, truth faileth; and he that departeth from evil maketh himſelf a prey: and the LORD ſaw it, and it diſpleaſed him that there was no judgement.

16 ¶ And he ſaw that there was no man, and wondered that there was no interceſſor: therefore his arm brought ſalvation unto him; and his righteouſneſs, it ſuſtained him.

17 For he put on righteouſneſs as a breaſtplate, and an helmet of ſalvation upon his head; and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeal as a cloke.

18 According to their deeds, accordingly he will repay, fury to his adverſaries, recompenſe to his enemies; to the iſlands he will repay recompenſe.

19 So ſhall they fear the name of the LORD from the weſt, and his glory from the riſing of the ſun. When the enemy ſhall come in like a flood, the Spirit of the LORD ſhall lift up a ſtandard againſt him.

20 ¶ And the Redeemer ſhall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from tranſgreſſion in Jacob, ſaith the LORD.

21 As for me, this is my covenant with them, ſaith the LORD; My Spirit that is upon thee, and my words which I have put in thy mouth, ſhall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy ſeed, nor out of the mouth of thy ſeed's ſeed, ſaith the LORD, from henceforth and for ever.

CHAP. LX.

1 The glory of the church in the abundant acceſs of the Gentiles; 15 and the great bleſſings after a ſhort affliction.

ARISE, ſhine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the LORD is riſen upon thee.

9 We wait for light, but behold obſcurity, &c.] We ſtill hope for better times, but are involved in the cloud of affliction.

10 We are in deſolate places as dead men.] We are baniſhed from the world as the dead, who have no longer any portion in it. Thus the Pſalmiſt, Thou haſt broken us in the place of dragons, and covered us with the ſhadow of death, Pſalm xliv. 19.

16 He ſaw that there was no man, therefore his arm brought ſalvation unto him, &c.] When the people were arrived at this height of impiety, the Almighty reſolved himſelf to exert his power for delivering the righteous, purely to vindicate his own honour, and perform his promiſes.

18 To the iſlands he will repay recompenſe.] He will ſeverely puniſh thoſe foreign nations who have been the oppreſſors of his people, and make them feel the ſame miſeries they have inflicted upon others. See note on chap. xi 11.

21 My ſpirit that is upon thee, and my words which I have put in thy mouth, &c.] This muſt be underſtood of Chriſt, who came from heaven to declare unto us the whole counſel of God, and whom we are to hear and obey in all things. Lowth.

Notes on the Sixtieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Ariſe, ſhine, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is riſen upon thee.] It is common for the prophets to deſcribe happineſs under the metaphor of light, and affliction under that of darkneſs. Accordingly Jeruſalem is here bid to ariſe from the ground or duſt, where her afflictions had laid her low, and, like the morning ſtar or ſun, to give light to all around her, and communicate to others part of that honour and luſtre which ſhe hath received from God, the true Sun of righteouſneſs. The prophet in this chapter has deſcribed the glories of Chriſt's kingdom, which began upon the firſt publication of the goſpel, but will not be completed till the fulneſs of the Jews and Gentiles are come into the church. Lowth.

Riſe, crown'd with light, imperial Salem, riſe!
Exalt thy tow'ry head, and lift thine eyes!
See a long race thy ſpacious courts adorn;
See future ſons, and daughters yet unborn,

Ina

2 For behold, the darkneſs ſhall cover the earth, and groſs darkneſs the people: but the LORD ſhall ariſe upon thee, and his glory ſhall be ſeen upon thee.

3 And the Gentiles ſhall come to thy light, and kings to the brightneſs of thy riſing.

4 Lift up thine eyes round about, and ſee: all they gather themſelves together, they come to thee: thy ſons ſhall come from far, and thy daughters ſhall be nurſed at thy ſide.

5 Then thou ſhalt ſee, and flow together; and thine heart ſhall fear, and be enlarged; becauſe the abundance of the ſea ſhall be converted unto thee, the forces of the Gentiles ſhall come unto thee;

6 The multitude of camels ſhall cover thee, the dromedaries of Midian and Ephah; all they from Sheba ſhall come: they ſhall bring gold and incenſe; and they ſhall ſhew forth the praiſes of the LORD.

7 All the flocks of Kedar ſhall be gathered together unto thee, the rams of Nebaioth ſhall miniſter unto thee: they ſhall come up with acceptance on mine altar, and I will glorify the houſe of my glory.

8 Who are theſe that fly as a cloud, and as the doves to their windows?

9 Surely the iſles ſhall wait for me, and the ſhips of Tarſhiſh firſt, to bring thy ſons from far, their ſilver and their gold with them, unto the name of the LORD thy God, and to the Holy One of Iſrael, becauſe he hath glorified thee.

10 And the ſons of ſtrangers ſhall build up thy walls, and their kings ſhall miniſter unto thee: for in my wrath I ſmote thee, but in my favour have I had mercy on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates ſhall be open continually; they ſhall not be ſhut day nor night; that men may bring unto thee the forces of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and kingdom that will not ſerve thee ſhall periſh; yea, thoſe nations ſhall be utterly waſted.

13 The glory of Lebanon ſhall come unto thee, the fir-tree, the pine-tree, and the box together, to beautify the place of my ſanctuary: and I will make the place of my feet glorious.

14 The ſons alſo of them that afflicted thee ſhall come bending unto thee; and all they that deſpiſed thee ſhall bow themſelves down at the ſoles of thy feet; and they ſhall call thee, The city of the LORD, the Zion of the Holy One of Iſrael.

15 ¶ Whereas thou haſt been forſaken and hated, ſo that no man went through thee, I will make thee an eternal excellency, a joy of many generations.

16 Thou ſhalt alſo ſuck the milk of the Gentiles, and ſhalt ſuck the breaſt of kings: and thou ſhalt know that I the LORD am thy Saviour and thy Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

17 For braſs I will bring gold, and for iron I will bring ſilver, and for wood braſs, and for ſtones iron: I will alſo make thy officers peace, and thine exactors righteouſneſs.

In crowding ranks on ev'ry ſide ariſe,
Demanding life, impatient for the ſkies!
See barb'rous nations at thy gates attend,
Walk in thy light, and in thy temple bend;
See thy bright altars throng'd with proſtrate kings,
And heap'd with products of Sabean ſprings.
For thee Idume's ſpicy foreſts blow,
And ſeeds of gold, in Ophir's mountains glow.
See heav'n its ſparkling portals wide diſplay,
And break upon thee in a flood of day. Pope.

2, 3 The darkneſs ſhall cover the earth, &c.] When ignorance, like a thick darkneſs, overſpreads the world, then ſhall the light of God's truth, like the day ſpring from on high, diffuſe itſelf over the earth.

5 Thou ſhalt ſee and flow together, and thine heart ſhall fear and be enlarged.] Thy joy ſhall break out upon thee, like an overflowing river; and the ſudden tranſports of it ſhall produce aſtoniſhment, like that which ariſeth from the impreſſions of fear. Lowth.

The abundance of the ſea ſhall be converted unto thee.] This paſſage relates to the fulneſs of the Gentiles coming into the church.

7 All the flocks of Kedar ſhall be gathered together unto thee, the rams of Nebaioth ſhall miniſter unto thee.] Kedar and Nebaioth were two ſons of Iſhmael, and dwelt in Arabia: the meaning is, the Arabians who have abundance of cattle ſhall come unto thee.

8 Who are theſe that fly as a cloud, and as the doves, &c.] He compares the multitudes of people flocking to the church to a flight of doves repairing to their cotes.

11 Thy gates ſhall be open continually, &c.] It is a ſure ſign of a ſettled peace, and that there is no fear of an enemy, when the gates of a city ſtand continually open. But we are alſo to underſtand by this phraſe, that the concourſe of people will be too great to admit of the gates being ever ſhut. Lowth.

17 I will make thy officers peace, and thine exactors, &c.] Peace is here put for men of peace; and righteouſneſs for righteous men.

18 Violence shall no more be heard in thy land, wasting nor destruction within thy borders; but thou shalt call thy walls Salvation, and thy gates Praise.

19 The sun shall be no more thy light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light unto thee; but the LORD shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory.

20 Thy sun shall no more go down; neither shall thy moon withdraw it self: for the LORD shall be thine everlasting light, and the days of thy mourning shall be ended.

21 Thy people also shall be all righteous: they shall inherit the land for ever, the branch of my planting, the work of my hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become a thousand, and a small one a strong nation. I the LORD will hasten it in his time.

CHAP. LXI.

1 The office of Christ. 4 The forwardness, 7 and blessings of the faithful.

THE Spirit of the LORD God is upon me; because the LORD hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound;

2 To proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all that mourn.

3 To appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called, Trees of righteousness, The planting of the LORD, that he might be glorified.

4 ¶ And they shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolations, they shall repair the waste cities, the desolations of many generations.

5 And strangers shall stand and feed your flocks, and the sons of the alien shall be your plowmen and your vine-dressers.

6 But ye shall be named the Priests of the LORD: men shall call you the Ministers of our God: ye shall eat the riches of the Gentiles, and in their glory shall ye boast your selves.

7 ¶ For your shame ye shall have double: and for confusion they shall rejoice in their portion: therefore in their land they shall possess the double: everlasting joy shall be unto them.

8 For I the LORD love judgement, I hate robbery for burnt-offering: and I will direct their work in truth, and I will make an everlasting covenant with them.

9 And their seed shall be known among the 18 Thou shalt call thy walls salvation, &c.] Or, as the sense might be better expressed, Thou shalt call salvation thy walls, and praise thy gates. Lowth.

19, 20 The sun shall be no more thy light, &c.] The favour of the Almighty, and the light of his countenance, shall give thee greater comfort and lustre, than the light of the sun and moon: a promise that will be fulfilled in the new Jerusalem, where there shall be no vicissitude of day and night, for the glory of God and of the Lamb, are the light thereof, Rev. xxi. 23. xxii. 5.

No more the rising sun shall gild the morn,
Nor ev'ning Cynthia fill her silver horn,
But lost, dissolv'd in thy superior rays,
One tide of glory, one unclouded blaze
O'erflows thy courts: the light himself shall shine
Reveal'd, and God's eternal day be thine!

21 Thy people also shall be all righteous, &c.] This character can belong only to the New Jerusalem; for, in this state of the church, the chaff and tares will always be mixed with the wheat, till they are separated by the great Judge of quick and dead.

Notes on the Sixty-first Chapter.

Ver. 1 The spirit of the Lord is upon me, because the Lord hath anointed me.] The descent of the Holy Ghost upon our blessed Saviour supplied this external unction, and qualified him for the office of a prophet, beyond all others that were before him, and in this respect he was anointed with the oil of gladness above his fellows. Lowth.

To preach good tidings unto the meek.] Or, as the words are rendered in the Septuagint, to preach the gospel to the poor; which St. Matthew and St. Luke have followed. The humble and poor in spirit have a peculiar title to the privileges of the gospel: and accordingly persons of mean conditions, whose affections were not too firmly placed on the glories of the world, were those who most readily embraced it, when it was first preached. Lowth.

He hath sent me to bind up the broken hearted, &c.] To give ease to those who are wearied with the burden of their sins.

2 To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord.] This is spoken in allusion to the proclaiming the year of jubilee, when there was a general release of all manner of servitude, debts, and obligations: a type of that freedom which Christ hath purchased for us. Lowth.

3 That they might be called trees of righteousness.] It is a common metaphor in the prophetical writings to resemble the righteous to trees. He shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, Psalm i. 3. The righteous shall flourish like a palm-tree: he shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon, Psalm xcii. 12. Lowth.

5 Strangers shall stand and feed your flocks, and the sons of the alien shall be your plowmen, &c.] By strangers and aliens may be meant those Gentiles who were aliens to the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, Ephes. ii. 12.

7 You shall have double.] i. e. Double recompence.

Gentiles, and their offspring among the people: all that ſee them ſhall acknowledge them that they are the ſeed which the LORD hath bleſſed.

10 I will greatly rejoice in the LORD, my ſoul ſhall be joyful in my God: for he hath clothed me with the garments of ſalvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteouſneſs, as a bridegroom decketh himſelf with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herſelf with her jewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden cauſeth the things that are ſown in it to ſpring forth; ſo the LORD GOD will cauſe righteouſneſs and praiſe to ſpring forth before all the nations.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The prophet's fervent deſire to confirm the church in God's promiſes. 6 The miniſters office in preaching the goſpel.

FOR Zion's ſake will I not hold my peace, and for Jeruſalem's ſake I will not reſt, until the righteouſneſs thereof go forth as brightneſs, and the ſalvation thereof as a lamp that burneth.

2 And the Gentiles ſhall ſee thy righteouſneſs, and all kings thy glory: and thou ſhalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the LORD ſhall name.

3 Thou ſhalt alſo be a crown of glory in the hand of the LORD, and a royal diadem in the hand of thy God.

4 Thou ſhalt no more be termed, Forſaken; neither ſhall thy land any more be termed, Deſolate: but thou ſhalt be called Hephzi-bah, and thy land Beulah; for the LORD delighteth in thee, and thy land ſhall be married.

5 For as a young man marrieth a virgin, ſo ſhall thy ſons marry thee; and as the bridegroom rejoiceth over the bride, ſo ſhall thy God rejoice over thee.

6 ¶ I have ſet watchmen upon thy walls, O Jeruſalem, which ſhall never hold their peace day nor night: ye that make mention of the LORD, keep not ſilence;

7 And give him no reſt, till he eſtabliſh, and till he make Jeruſalem a praiſe in the earth.

8 The LORD hath ſworn by his right hand, and by the arm of his ſtrength, Surely I will no more give thy corn to be meat for thine enemies; and the ſons of the ſtranger ſhall not drink thy wine for the which thou haſt laboured:

9 But they that have gathered it ſhall eat it, and praiſe the LORD; and they that have brought it together ſhall drink it in the courts of my holineſs.

10 Go through, go through the gates; prepare ye the way of the people; caſt up, caſt up the high-way; gather out the ſtones: lift up a ſtandard for the people.

11 Behold, the LORD hath proclaimed unto the end of the world, Say ye to the daughter of Zion, Behold, thy ſalvation cometh; behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him.

12 And they ſhall call them, The holy people, The redeemed of the LORD: and thou ſhalt be called, Sought out, A city not forſaken.

10 I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, &c.] The Jewiſh church is here introduced, as ſpeaking and returning thanks to the Almighty, for the honour he had conferred on her and her children after their diſperſion, and made her glorious in the eyes of the whole world. How beautifully does the prophet deſcribe the furniture of a renewed and heavenly mind, under the ſimilitude of a rich and complete ſuit of apparel! He hath cloathed me with the garments of ſalvation, &c.

Notes on the Sixty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 For Zion's ſake will I not hold my peace, &c.] The prophet here ſpeaks in the perſon of the Meſſiah, and declares that he will never ceaſe interceding with God, till the redemption of Iſrael be accompliſhed. Lowth.

5 So ſhall thy ſons marry thee.] The learned and ingenious Dr. Lowth, in his Diſſert. de Sacra Poeſi Heb. inſtead of thy ſons, reads, thy builder or reſtorer;

Nam ut juvenis uxorem ducit virginem,
Ita te uxorem ducet conditor tuus.

6 I have ſet watchmen, &c.] The original word properly ſignifies thoſe prieſts and Levites who kept watch day and night about the temple; and ſome of them at certain hours ſung pſalms of prayer and praiſe.

7 Give him no reſt, till he eſtabliſh, &c.] Here God is repreſented in a wonderful way of condeſcenſion, ſuffering himſelf to be compelled, as it were, by the importunate prayers of good men. Clark.

10 Go through the gates; prepare you the way of the people, &c.] The prophet, relying upon the oath of the Almighty, ſpeaks of the general reſtoration of the Jews, as if it was then performing; and exhorts thoſe nations through whoſe territories they were to paſs in their return to their own land, to repair the roads for them, and leave the rough and ſtony places, ſignifying by this metaphor, the removal of all obſtacles that might hinder their return. Lowth.

Notes

CHAP. LXIII.

1 Chriſt ſheweth who he is, what his victory over his enemies, 7 and what his mercy towards his church.

WHO is this that cometh from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah? this that is glorious in his apparel, travelling in the greatneſs of his ſtrength? I that ſpeak in righteouſneſs, mighty to ſave.

2 Wherefore art thou red in thine apparel, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine-fat?

3 I have troden the wine-preſs alone; and of the people there was none with me: for I will tread them in mine anger, and trample them in my fury; and their blood ſhall be ſprinkled upon my garments, and I will ſtain all my raiment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the year of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to help; and I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore mine own arm brought ſalvation unto me; and my fury, it upheld me.

6 And I will tread down the people in mine anger, and make them drunk in my fury, and I will bring down their ſtrength to the earth.

7 ¶ I will mention the loving-kindneſſes of the LORD, and the praiſes of the LORD, according to all that the LORD hath beſtowed on us, and the great goodneſs towards the houſe of Iſrael, which he hath beſtowed on them, according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his loving-kindneſſes.

8 For he ſaid, Surely, they are my people, children that will not lye: ſo he was their ſaviour.

9 In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his preſence ſaved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; and he bare them, and carried them all the days of old.

10 But they rebelled, and vexed his Holy Spirit: therefore he was turned to be their enemy, and he fought againſt them.

11 Then he remembered the days of old, Moſes, and his people, ſaying, Where is he that brought them up out of the ſea, with the ſhepherd of his flock? where is he that put his Holy Spirit within him?

12 That led them by the right hand of Moſes, with his glorious arm, dividing the water before them, to make himſelf an everlaſting name?

13 That led them through the deep, as an horſe in the wilderneſs, that they ſhould not ſtumble?

14 As a beaſt goeth down into the valley, the Spirit of the LORD cauſed him to reſt: ſo didſt thou lead thy people, to make thy ſelf a glorious name.

15 Look down from heaven, and behold from the habitation of thy holineſs and of thy Notes on the Sixty-third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Who is this that cometh from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah?] The Idumeans joined with the enemies of the Jews in bringing on the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, at the time of the captivity, for which they were ſeverely reproved by the prophets, and threatened with utter deſtruction; which accordingly came to paſs. Bozrah was the chief city of the Idumeans. But the words Edom and Bozrah may be taken in the appellative ſenſe, to denote in general a field of blood, or place of ſlaughter: the word Edom ſignifying red as blood, and Bozrah a vintage, which, in the prophetical idiom, imports God's vengeance upon the wicked. Lowth.

Glorious in his apparel, travelling in the greatneſs of his ſtrength?] Like a general marching in triumph at the head of his army, and carrying tokens of victory on his raiment.

I that ſpeak in righteouſneſs, mighty to ſave.] Chriſt anſwers; I am now come to fulfil all my promiſes, and deliver you from your enemies. Several parts of the prophetic writings are written in the form of a dramatic poem, where different perſons are introduced, ſpeaking by turns, and anſwering one another. This obſervation will often account for the altering the prophet's ſtile from the firſt to the ſecond or third perſon. Lowth.

5 There was none to help, &c.] Things were come to that extremity, that there was no appearance of ſuccour by any human means.

6 Make them drunk in my fury.] God's judgments are often repreſented by a cup of intoxicating liquor, becauſe they uſually bereave men of their ſenſes.

7 I will mention the loving kindneſſes of the Lord, &c.] The prophet breaks out into a grateful acknowledgment of God's former mercies to his people, which he conſiders as ſo many earneſts of his goodneſs for the time to come. Lowth.

9 In all their affliction he was afflicted.] When there was a neceſſity for puniſhing them, in order to their amendment, he had a compaſſionate ſenſe of the evils they ſuffered. Lowth.

The angel of his preſence ſaved them, &c.] The angel who conducted them by the cloud and a pillar of fire, was no other than the Logos, or ſecond perſon of the Bleſſed Trinity.

11 With the ſhepherd of his flock.] Margin reads, Shepherds, i. e. Moſes and Aaron.

13 Wilderneſs.] This ſometimes ſignifies the plain, or champain country.

15 Where is thy zeal and thy ſtrength, the ſounding of thy bowels? &c.] Where is thy love and concern for thy people, and the power thou uſedſt to exert for thy deliverance? Where are thy tender mercies which thou formerly ſhewedſt towards me?

glory: where is thy zeal and thy ſtrength, the ſounding of thy bowels, and of thy mercies towards me? are they reſtained?

16 Doubtleſs, thou art our father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Iſrael acknowledge us not: thou, O LORD, art our father, our redeemer, thy name is from everlaſting.

17 O LORD, why haſt thou made us to err from thy ways? and hardened our heart from thy fear? return, for thy ſervants ſake the tribes of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thy holineſs have poſſeſſed it but a little while: our adverſaries have troden down thy ſanctuary.

19 We are thine: thou never beareſt rule over them; they were not called by thy name.

CHAP. LXIV.

1 The church prayeth for the illuſtration of God's power, 9 and complaineth of affliction.

OH, that thou wouldeſt rend the heavens, that thou wouldeſt come down, that the mountains might flow down at thy preſence!

2 As when the melting fire burneth, the fire cauſeth the waters to boil, to make thy name known to thine adverſaries, that the nations may tremble at thy preſence!

3 When thou didſt terrible things which we looked not for, thou cameſt down, the mountains flowed down at thy preſence.

4 For ſince the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye ſeen, O God, beſides thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou meeteſt him that rejoiceth, and worketh righteouſneſs; thoſe that remember thee in thy ways: behold, thou art wroth; for we have ſinned: in thoſe is continuance, and we ſhall be ſaved.

6 But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteouſneſs are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away.

7 And there is none that calleth upon thy name, that ſtirreth up himſelf to take hold of thee: for thou haſt hid thy face from us, and haſt conſumed us, becauſe of our iniquities.

8 But now, O LORD, thou art our father; we are the clay, and thou our potter; and we all are the work of thy hand.

9 ¶ Be not wroth very ſore, O LORD, neither remember iniquity for ever: behold, ſee, we beſeech thee we are all thy people.

10 Thy holy cities are a wilderneſs, Zion is a wilderneſs, Jeruſalem a deſolation.

11 Our holy and our beautiful houſe, where our fathers praiſed thee, is burned up with fire: and all our pleaſant things are laid waſte.

12 Wilt thou refrain thyſelf for theſe things, O LORD? wilt thou hold thy peace, and afflict us very ſore?

CHAP. LXV.

1 The Gentiles called, and the Jews rejected. 17 The bleſſed ſtate of the new Jeruſalem.

16 Though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Iſrael acknowledge us not, &c.] It is in vain to boaſt, that we are the children of Abraham or Jacob: they know not our condition, nor can they afford us any relief. Lowth.

17 Why haſt thou made us to err from thy ways?] Rather, why haſt thou ſuffered us to err from thy ways?

19 We are thine, thou never beareſt rule over them, &c.] The words might have been better tranſlated, We are thine of old, thou haſt not ruled over them, &c. i. e. thou art called the God of Abraham from ancient times; and therefore we humbly implore thee not to caſt us off utterly, whilſt thou makeſt thyſelf known to the Gentiles, who, till lately, never were thy people, nor in covenant with thee. Lowth.

Notes on the Sixty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Oh, that thou wouldeſt rent the heavens, that thou wouldſt come down.] The prayer, begun the fifteenth verſe of the foregoing chapter, is continued to the end of this, in the name of the church and people of the Jews, who are repreſented as languiſhing and diſconſolate under the long dejection they had ſuffered. The prophet deſires God would declare his love towards his church by miracles and mighty power, as he did on mount Sinai.

That the mountains might flow down at thy preſence.] A poetical deſcription of the thunder and lightning which ſhook mount Sinai, and the violent rains which accompanied that tempeſt, when the mountains appeared as if they were melting down. Lowth.

5 Thou meeteſt him that rejoiceth, and worketh righteouſneſs, &c.] Thou preventeſt with the bleſſings of thy goodneſs, thoſe that take pleaſure in the ways of thy commandments, and live under a continual ſenſe of thy providence.

In thoſe is continuance.] i. e. In the mercies of God, which he calls his ways.

6 Like the wind, have taken us away.] Like a wind that blaſts and withers both leaves and fruit.

11 Our holy and our beautiful houſe, where our fathers praiſed thee, is burned up with fire, &c.] This relates to the burning of the temple by the Romans, who made an entire deſtruction of it, according to our Saviour's prediction. Lowth.

Notes

I Am ſought of them that aſked not for me; I am found of them that ſought me not: I ſaid, Behold me, behold me, unto a nation, that was not called by my name.

2 I have ſpread out my hands all the day unto a rebellious people, which walketh in a way that was not good, after their own thoughts;

3 A people that provoketh me to anger continually to my face; that ſacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incenſe upon altars of brick;

4 Which remain among the graves, and lodge in the monuments; which eat ſwine's fleſh, and broth of abominable things is in their veſſels;

5 Which ſay, Stand by thy ſelf, come not near to me; for I am holier than thou. Theſe are a ſmoke in my noſe, a fire that burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is written before me: I will not keep ſilence, but I will recompenſe, even recompenſe into their boſom,

7 Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers together, ſaith the LORD, which have burned incenſe upon the mountains, and blaſphemed me upon the hills: therefore will I meaſure their former work into their boſom.

8 Thus ſaith the LORD, As the new wine is found in the cluſter, and one ſaith, Deſtroy it not; for a bleſſing is in it: ſo will I do for my ſervants ſakes, that I may not deſtroy them all.

9 And I will bring forth a ſeed out of Jacob, and out of Judah an inheritor of my mountains: and mine elect ſhall inherit it, and my ſervants ſhall dwell there.

10 And Sharon ſhall be a fold of flocks, and the valley of Achor a place for the herds to lie down in; for my people that have ſought me.

11 But ye are they that forſake the LORD, that forget my holy mountain, that prepare a table for that troop, and that furniſh the drink-offering unto that number.

12 Therefore will I number you to the ſword, and ye ſhall all bow down to the ſlaughter: becauſe when I called, ye did not anſwer; when I ſpake, ye did not hear; but did evil before mine eyes, and did chooſe that wherein I delighted not.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD, Behold, my ſervants ſhall eat, but ye ſhall be hungry: behold, my ſervants ſhall drink, but ye ſhall be thirſty: behold, my ſervants ſhall rejoice, but ye ſhall be aſhamed:

14 Behold, my ſervants ſhall ſing for joy of heart, but ye ſhall cry for ſorrow of heart, and ſhall howl for vexation of ſpirit.

15 And ye ſhall leave your name for a curſe unto my choſen: for the Lord GOD ſhall ſlay thee, and call his ſervants by another name.

16 That he who bleſſeth himſelf in the earth ſhall bleſs himſelf in the God of truth, and he that ſweareth in the earth ſhall ſwear by the God of truth; becauſe the former troubles are forgotten, and becauſe they are hid from mine eyes.

17 ¶ For behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former ſhall not be remembered, nor come into mind.

18 But be ye glad and rejoice for ever in that which I create: for behold, I create Jeruſalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy.

19 And I will rejoice in Jeruſalem, and joy

Notes on the Sixty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 I am ſought of them that aſked not for me: I am found of them that ſought me not.] There is an evident impropriety in the firſt part of the ſentence; the words ſhould have been rather rendered, I am found of them that aſked not for me: the verb which commonly ſignifies to ſeek being ſometimes put for finding. Lowth.

I ſaid, Behold me, behold me, unto a nation that was not called by my name.] i. e. I manifeſted myſelf to the Gentiles.

2 I have ſpread out my hands, &c.] I did not make myſelf known to the Gentiles till the Jews had rejected me.

4 Which remaineth among graves, &c.] To conſult with ſpirits and practiſe necromancy.

Swine's fleſh.] Which was expreſsly forbidden.

Broth of abominable things.] This denotes the ſuperſtitious practice of ſeething a kid in its mother's milk, with which they ſprinkled their trees to make them more fruitful.

8 As the new wine is found in the cluſter, and one ſaith, deſtroy it not, &c.] As a few good grapes are found in a cluſter of bad ones, and one ſpeaketh to another, that would pluck it from the vine, to ſpare it, becauſe ſome of the grapes may come to good; ſo I will not deſtroy the whole nation of the Jews, for the ſake of a few righteous perſons that ſpring out from among the reſt. Lowth.

10 Sharon---and the valley of Achor.] Theſe two places were the moſt fertile parts of Judea.

11 That prepare a table for that troop.] That multitude of idols, of whom they thought they could never have enough.

17 Behold, I create new heavens and a new earth.] The converſion of the Jews will happen when the world is near its period, and then will follow the new heavens and earth, which are to commence when the preſent ſhall be diſſolved. Such a new ſtate of things, St. Peter tells us, we are to expect, according to God's promiſe; which muſt relate to ſome prophecies of the Old Teſtament, and particularly to this and the following chapter, the apoſtle uſing the very ſame expreſſions we find here. Lowth.

in my people: and the voice of weeping ſhall be no more heard in her, nor the voice of crying.

20 There ſhall be no more thence an infant of days, nor an old man that hath not filled his days: for the child ſhall die an hundred years old, but the ſinner being an hundred years old, ſhall be accurſed.

21 And they ſhall build houſes, and inhabit them; and they ſhall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them.

22 They ſhall not build, and another inhabit; they ſhall not plant, and another eat: for as the days of a tree, are the days of my people, and mine elect ſhall long enjoy the work of their hands.

23 They ſhall not labour in vain, nor bring forth for trouble: for they are the ſeed of the bleſſed of the LORD, and their offſpring with them.

24 And it ſhall come to paſs, that before they call, I will anſwer: and while they are yet ſpeaking, I will hear.

25 The wolf and the lamb ſhall feed together, and the lion ſhall eat ſtraw like the bullock: and duſt ſhall be the ſerpent's meat. They ſhall not hurt nor deſtroy in all my holy mountain, ſaith the LORD.

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God will be ſerved in humble ſincerity. 5 The humble comforted. 15 God's judgements againſt the wicked.

THUS ſaith the LORD, The heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footſtool: where is the houſe that ye build unto me? and where is the place of my reſt?

2 For all thoſe things hath mine hand made, and all thoſe things have been, ſaith the LORD: but to this man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite ſpirit, and trembleth at my word.

3 He that killeth an ox, is as if he ſlew a man; he that ſacrificeth a lamb, as if he cut off a dog's neck; he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered ſwine's blood; he that burneth incenſe, as if he bleſſed an idol. Yea, they have choſen their own ways, and their ſoul delighteth in their abominations.

4 I alſo will chooſe their deluſions, and will bring their fears upon them: becauſe when I called, none did anſwer; when I ſpake, they did not hear: but they did evil before mine eyes, and choſe that in which I delighted not.

5 ¶ Hear the word of the LORD, ye that tremble at his word; Your brethren that hated you, and caſt you out for my name's ſake, ſaid, Let the LORD be glorified. But he ſhall appear to your joy, and they ſhall be aſhamed.

6 A voice of noiſe from the city, a voice from the temple, a voice of the LORD that rendereth recompenſe to his enemies.

7 Before ſhe travailed, ſhe brought forth; before her pain came, ſhe was delivered of a man-child.

8 Who hath heard ſuch a thing? who hath ſeen ſuch things? Shall the earth be made to bring forth in one day, or ſhall a nation be born at once? for as ſoon as Zion travailed ſhe brought forth her children.

9 Shall I bring to the birth, and not cauſe

---

20 For the child ſhall die an hundred years old, but the ſinner being an hundred years old, ſhall be accurſed.] This paſſage may be more plainly rendered in the following manner: For he that dies an hundred years old, ſhall die a child; and the ſinner that dies an hundred years old, ſhall be accurſed. The prophet deſcribes this renovation of the world as a paradiſiacal ſtate, and ſuch as the patriarchs enjoyed before the flood, when men commonly lived near a thouſand years: ſo that he who died at an hundred years of age, would have been conſidered as dying in his childhood. Lowth.

22, 22 They ſhall build houſes, and inhabit them, &c.]

Then palaces ſhall riſe; the joyful ſon
Shall finiſh what his ſhort-liv'd ſire begun;
Their vines a ſhadow to their race ſhall yield,
And the ſame hand that ſow'd, ſhall reap the field. Pope.

25 The wolf and the lamb, &c.] See note on chap. xi. 6, 7, &c. Duſt ſhall be the ſerpent's meat, &c.] The curſe pronounced upon the ſerpent ſhall be then fully accompliſhed; Chriſt having put all enemies under his feet, eſpecially the devil, who is the head of them. Lowth.

Notes on the Sixty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 3 He that killeth an ox, is as if he ſlew a man, &c.] Without a devout temper of mind, killing an ox for a burnt-offering is no more acceptable to God, than if a man ſacrificed his ſon to Moloch.

As if he cut off a dog's neck.] The price of a dog was forbid to be brought into the houſe of the Lord.

7 Before ſhe travailed, ſhe brought forth.] This denotes the ſudden increaſe of the Chriſtian church, upon God's rejecting the Jews, and deſtroying their temple and worſhip; the very deſtruction of the Jewiſh polity making way for the growth of the goſpel, inaſmuch as it abated that oppoſition which the Jewiſh zealots all along gave to the ſpreading of it. Lowth.

to bring forth? ſaith the LORD: ſhall I cauſe to bring forth, and ſhut the womb? ſaith thy God.

10 Rejoice ye with Jeruſalem, and be glad with her, all ye that love her: rejoice for joy with her, all ye that mourn for her:

11 That ye may ſuck and be ſatisfied with the breaſts of her conſolations; that ye may milk out and be delighted with the abundance of her glory.

12 For thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will extend peace to her like a river, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing ſtream: then ſhall ye ſuck, ye ſhall be born upon her ſides, and be dandled upon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, ſo will I comfort you; and ye ſhall be comforted in Jeruſalem.

14 And when ye ſee this, your heart ſhall rejoice, and your bones ſhall flouriſh like an herb: and the hand of the LORD ſhall be known towards his ſervants, and his indignation towards his enemies.

15 ¶ For behold, the LORD will come with fire, and with his chariots like a whirlwind, to render his anger with fury, and his rebuke with flames of fire.

16 For by fire and by his ſword will the LORD plead with all fleſh: and the ſlain of the LORD ſhall be many.

17 They that ſanctify themſelves, and purify themſelves in the gardens, behind one tree in the midſt, eating ſwine's fleſh, and the abomination, and the mouſe, ſhall be conſumed together, ſaith the LORD.

18 For I know their works, and their thoughts: it ſhall come, that I will gather all nations and tongues; and they ſhall come, and ſee my glory.

19 And I will ſet a ſign among them, and I will ſend thoſe that eſcape of them unto the nations, to Tarſhiſh, Pul, and Lud, that draw the bow, to Tubal, and Javan, to the iſles afar off, that have not heard my fame, neither have ſeen my glory; and they ſhall declare my glory among the Gentiles.

20 And they ſhall bring all your brethren for an offering unto the LORD out of all nations, upon horſes, and in chariots, and in litters, and upon mules, and upon ſwift beaſts, to my holy mountain Jeruſalem, ſaith the LORD, as the children of Iſrael bring an offering in a clean veſſel into the houſe of the LORD.

21 And I will alſo take of them for prieſts and for Levites, ſaith the LORD.

22 For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, ſhall remain before me, ſaith the LORD, ſo ſhall your ſeed and your name remain.

23 And it ſhall come to paſs, that from one new-moon to another, and from one ſabbath to another, ſhall all fleſh come to worſhip before me, ſaith the LORD.

24 And they ſhall go forth, and look upon the carcaſes of the men that have tranſgreſſed againſt me. For their worm ſhall not die, neither ſhall their fire be quenched; and they ſhall be an abhorring unto all fleſh.

17 Behind one tree in the midſt.] The Hebrew has it, They who ſanctified themſelves, and purified themſelves in the gardens, behind the temple of Adad, i. e. the ſun. Lamy.

19 Tarſhiſh, Pul, and Lud, &c.] Tarſhiſh denotes the Eaſtern parts, Pul and Lud the South, Tubal and Javan the North, and the iſles the Weſt.

24 They ſhall go forth, &c.] Without the circuit of the new Jeruſalem, or the camp of the ſaints; and look upon the carcaſſes of thoſe enemies of God, that were ſlain in the battle, mentioned ver. 16.

THE

THE BOOK OF THE PROPHET JEREMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Jeremiah was of the ſacerdotal race, the ſon of Hilkiah, of Anathoth, in the tribe of Benjamin. He was called to the prophetic office when he was very young, in the thirteenth year of Joſiah, i. e. Anno Mundi 4385, and continued in the diſcharge of it about forty-three years. He was not carried captive to Babylon with the other Jews, but remained in Judea to lament the deſolation of his country. He was afterwards a priſoner in Egypt, with his diſciple Baruch, where it is ſuppoſed he died in a very advanced age.

Part of the prophecy of Jeremiah relates to the time after the captivity of Iſrael, and before that of Judah, from the firſt chapter to the forty-fourth; and part of it, namely from the forty-fourth chapter to the end, to the time of the latter captivity. The prophet expoſes the ſins of the kingdom of Judah with great freedom and boldneſs, and reminds them of the ſevere judgments which had befallen the ten tribes for the ſame offences; he paſſionately laments their misfortunes, and recommends to them a ſpeedy reformation. Afterwards he predicts the grievous calamities that were approaching, particularly the ſeventy years captivity in Chaldea. He alſo foretels their deliverance and happy return, and the recompenſe which Babylon, Moab, and other enemies of the Jews, ſhould meet with in due time. St. Jerom has obſerved, that the ſtile of Jeremiah is more eaſy than that of Iſaiah; that he retains ſomething of his native ruſticity; but that he is very learned and majeſtic, and equal to Iſaiah in the ſenſe of his prophecy.

CHAP. I.

1 The calling of Jeremiah. 11 His viſion. 15 His meſſage againſt Judah. 17 God promiſeth to aſſiſt him.

THE words of Jeremiah the ſon of Hilkiah, of the prieſts that were in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin:

2 To whom the word of the LORD came in the days of Joſiah the ſon of Amon king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign.

3 It came alſo in the days of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, unto the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, unto the carrying away of Jeruſalem captive in the fifth month.

4 Then the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

5 Before I formed thee in the belly, I knew thee; and before thou cameſt forth out of the womb, I ſanctified thee, and I ordained thee a prophet unto the nations.

6 Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord GOD, behold, I cannot ſpeak: for I am a child.

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 The words of Jeremiah the ſon of Hilkiah, of the prieſts that were in Anathoth, &c.] Anathoth was one of the cities allotted to the prieſts. St. Jerom tells us it was ſituated in the tribe of Benjamin, about three miles from Jeruſalem.

3 Unto the carrying away of Jeruſalem captive in the fifth month, &c.] The Jews underwent ſeveral captivities before their final deſolation. The firſt was when Jehoiachim was carried away captive in the eighth year of Nebuchadnezzar. There was another captivity in the eighteenth year of his reign: after which followed, in the next year, that captivity which accompanied the deſtruction of the temple and city of Jeruſalem, in the fifth month; in memory of which calamity, the faſt of the fifth month was obſerved during the ſeventy years of captivity. Lowth.

5 Before I formed thee in the belly, I knew thee, &c.] Some perſons have been deſigned for certain offices by a particular decree of God, even before they were formed in the womb; examples of this kind we have in St. John the Baptiſt, St. Paul, Gal. i. 15. and the prophet Jeremiah.

7 But the LORD ſaid unto me, Say not, I am a child: for thou ſhalt go to all that I ſhall ſend thee, and whatſoever I command thee thou ſhalt ſpeak.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliver thee, ſaith the LORD.

9 Then the LORD put forth his hand, and touched my mouth. And the LORD ſaid unto me, Behold, I have put my words in thy mouth.

10 See, I have this day ſet thee over the nations and over the kingdoms, to root out, and to pull down, and to deſtroy, and to throw down; to build, and to plant.

11 ¶ Moreover, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying, Jeremiah, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, I ſee a rod of an almond-tree.

12 Then ſaid the LORD unto me, Thou haſt well ſeen: for I will haſten my word to perform it.

13 And the word of the LORD came unto me the ſecond time, ſaying, What ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, I ſee a ſeething-pot, and the face thereof is towards the north.

14 Then the LORD ſaid unto me, Out of the north an evil ſhall break forth upon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 ¶ For lo, I will call all the families of the kingdoms of the north, ſaith the LORD: and they ſhall come, and they ſhall ſet every one his throne at the entring of the gates of Jeruſalem, and againſt all the walls thereof round about; and againſt all the cities of Judah.

16 And I will utter my judgements againſt them touching all their wickedneſs, who have forſaken me, and have burned incenſe unto other gods, and worſhipped the works of their own hands.

17 ¶ Thou therefore gird up thy loins, and ariſe, and ſpeak unto them all that I command thee: be not diſmayed at their faces, leſt I confound thee before them.

18 For behold, I have made thee this day a defenced city, and an iron pillar, and braſen walls againſt the whole land, againſt the kings of Judah, againſt the princes thereof, againſt the prieſts thereof, and againſt the people of the land.

19 And they ſhall fight againſt thee, but they ſhall not prevail againſt thee: for I am with thee, ſaith the LORD, to deliver thee.

CHAP. II.

1 God's expoſtulation with the Jews touching their cauſeleſs revolt. 14 They are the cauſes of their own calamities.

MOreover, the word of the LORD came to me, ſaying,

2 Go, and cry in the ears of Jeruſalem, ſaying, thus ſaith the LORD; I remember thee, the kindneſs of thy youth, the love of thine eſpouſals, when thou wenteſt after me in the wilderneſs, in a land that was not ſown.

3 Iſrael was holineſs unto the LORD, and the firſt-fruits of his increaſe: all that devour him ſhall offend; evil ſhall come upon them, ſaith the LORD.

4 Hear the word of the LORD, O houſe of Jacob, and all the families of the houſe of Iſrael:

5 Thus ſaith the LORD, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone

---

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliver thee, &c.] To reprove the faults of all perſons in general, with that plainneſs and impartiality which the prophets uſe, requires a more than ordinary degree of reſolution; for which reaſon, the promiſe of God's aſſiſtance was particularly neceſſary, to encourage them in that unthankful office. Lowth.

10 To root out, and to pull down, &c.] The prophets are ſaid to do things, when they only declare God's purpoſe of doing them.

11, 12 I ſee a rod of an almond-tree, &c.] The almond-tree buds and bloſſoms very early in the ſpring; and therefore a branch of it, adorned with buds and bloſſoms, is a proper emblem to denote God's haſtening the execution of the predictions he made by his prophet. Accordingly Jeremiah lived to ſee moſt of the predictions fulfilled. Lowth.

13 I ſee a ſeething-pot, and the face thereof was towards the north.] A ſteam of a ſeething-pot very properly repreſents the judgments of the Almighty, which are often compared to a fire, as the afflictions of the Iſraelites are to a ſmoking furnace. The latter part of the verſe may be better rendered thus; the appearance of it was, as coming from the north; ſo that the pot itſelf may denote Jeruſalem ſet on fire, and conſumed by an army of Chaldeans, whoſe country lay northward of Judea. Lowth.

18 I have made thee this day a defenced city, and an iron pillar, and brazen walls, &c.] i. e. Firm and ſtrong: Homer uſes brazen walls in the ſame ſenſe. Odyſſ. x. 4.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 2 I remember thee, the kindneſs of thy youth, the love of thine eſpouſals.] I remember my firſt kindneſs to thee, when I delivered thee from the bondage of Egypt, and eſpouſed thee to myſelf, to be my own peculiar people. Lowth.

In a land that was not ſown.] I miraculouſly fed thee with bread from heaven.

far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?

6 Neither said they, Where is the LORD that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, that led us through the wilderness; through a land of deserts, and of pits; through a land of drought, and of the shadow of death; through a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into a plentiful country, to eat the fruit thereof and the goodness thereof; but when ye entered, ye defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

8 The priests said not, Where is the LORD? and they that handle the law knew me not: the pastors also transgressed against me, and the prophets prophesied by Baal, and walked after things that do not profit.

9 Wherefore I will yet plead with you, saith the LORD, and with your children's children will I plead.

10 For pass over the isles of Chittim, and see; and send unto Kedar, and consider diligently, and see if there be such a thing.

11 Hath a nation changed their gods? which are yet no gods; but my people have changed their glory for that which doth not profit.

12 Be astonished, O ye heavens, at this, and be horribly afraid, be ye very desolate, saith the LORD.

13 For my people have committed two evils; they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water.

14 ¶ Is Israel a servant? is he a home-born slave? why is he spoiled?

15 The young lions roared upon him, and yelled, and they made his land waste: his cities are burned without inhabitant.

16 Also the children of Noph and Tahapanes have broken the crown of thy head.

17 Hast thou not procured this unto thyself, in that thou hast forsaken the LORD thy God, when he led thee by the way?

18 And now what hast thou to do in the way of Egypt, to drink the waters of Sihor? or what hast thou to do in the way of Assyria, to drink the waters of the river?

19 Thine own wickedness shall correct thee, and thy backslidings shall reprove thee: know therefore and see, that it is an evil thing and bitter that thou hast forsaken the LORD thy God, and that my fear is not in thee, saith the Lord GOD of hosts.

20 For of old time I have broken thy yoke, and burst thy bands; and thou saidst, I will not transgress; when upon every high hill, and under every green tree thou wanderest, playing the harlot.

21 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine, wholly a right seed: how then art thou turned into the degenerate plant of a strange vine unto me?

22 For though thou wash thee with nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquity is marked before me, saith the LORD GOD.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, I have not gone after Baalim? see thy way in 8 They that handle the law knew me not.] The priests, whose office it was to instruct others in their duties, were ignorant or regardless of it themselves: and this was the principal cause of that degeneracy of manners which prevailed among the people. Lowth.

The pastors also transgressed against me.] A pastor is taken in the Prophets for a magistrate, as well as an ecclesiastical governor; and this sense agrees best with the sense of the passage; which is to shew that all orders and degrees of men in authority, had contributed to that corruption of manners which had overspread the nation. Lowth.

11 My people have changed their glory, &c.] The people of Israel and Judah, even in the worst and most idolatrous times, did never totally renounce the true God: they worshipped false gods with and besides him. But God, who would not suffer the honour due to him alone, to be thus given to others, often resents it, and represents it as no better than apostacy. Jortin's Discourses.

13 They have forsaken me, &c.] God is the author of all blessings, both spiritual and temporal, from whom all good gifts are derived, as from an inexhaustible fountain: and if ever men place their happiness, either in false religions, or in the uncertain comforts of worldly blessings, they will find themselves as wretchedly disappointed, as they who expect to find water in broken cisterns. Lowth.

15 The young lions roared upon him.] i. e. The kings of Syria, Assyria, and other neighbouring countries.

16 The children of Noph and Tahapanes.] i. e. The Egyptians in general.

18 What hast thou to do in the way of Egypt, to drink the waters of Sihor?] Some suppose Sihor to be the same with the river of Egypt, or the Nile. Nahal signifies a river in general, which might easily, by way of eminence, become the proper name of the principal river of the country. Hoffman.

22 Though thou wash thee with nitre.] See note on Proverbs, chap. xxv. 20.

23, 24 A swift dromedary—a wild ass.] The particle as is to be supplied in both these places, as a swift, &c.

the valley, know what thou haſt done: thou art a ſwift dromedary traverſing her ways;

24 A wild aſs uſed to the wilderneſs, that ſnuffeth up the wind at her pleaſure; in her occaſion who can turn her away? all they that ſeek her will not weary themſelves; in her month they ſhall find her.

25 With-hold thy foot from being unſhod, and thy throat from thirſt. But thou ſaidſt, There is no hope. No: for I have loved ſtrangers, and after them will I go.

26 As the thief is aſhamed when he is found: ſo is the houſe of Iſrael aſhamed; they, their kings, their princes, and their prieſts, and their prophets,

27 Saying to a ſtock, Thou art my father; and to a ſtone, Thou haſt brought me forth. For they have turned their back unto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will ſay, Ariſe, and ſave us.

28 But where are thy gods that thou haſt made thee? let them ariſe, if they can ſave thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities are thy gods, O Judah.

29 Wherefore will ye plead with me? ye all have tranſgreſſed againſt me, ſaith the LORD.

30 In vain have I ſmitten your children; they received no correction: your own ſword hath devoured your prophets like a deſtroying lion.

31 O generation, ſee ye the word of the LORD: Have I been a wilderneſs unto Iſrael? a land of darkneſs? wherefore ſay my people, We are lords; we will come no more unto thee?

32 Can a maid forget her ornaments, or a bride her attire? yet my people have forgotten me days without number.

33 Why trimmeſt thou thy way to ſeek love? therefore haſt thou alſo taught the wicked ones thy ways.

34 Alſo in thy ſkirts is found the blood of the ſouls of the poor innocents: I have not found it by ſecret ſearch, but upon all theſe.

35 Yet thou ſayeſt, Becauſe I am innocent, ſurely his anger ſhall turn from me. Behold, I will plead with thee, becauſe thou ſayeſt, I have not ſinned.

36 Why gaddeſt thou about ſo much to change thy way? thou alſo ſhalt be aſhamed of Egypt, as thou waſt aſhamed of Aſſyria.

37 Yea, thou ſhalt go forth from him, and thine hands upon thine head: for the LORD hath rejected thy confidences, and thou ſhalt not proſper in them.

CHAP. III.

1 God's great mercy in Judah's vile whoredom.
12 The promiſes of the goſpel to the penitent.

THEY ſay, If a man put away his wife, and ſhe go from him, and become another man's, ſhall he return unto her again? ſhall not that land be greatly polluted? But thou haſt played the harlot with many lovers; yet return again to me, ſaith the LORD.

2 Lift up thine eyes unto the high places, and ſee where thou haſt not been lien with. In the ways haſt thou ſat for them, as the Arabian in the wilderneſs: and thou haſt polluted the land with thy whoredoms, and with thy wickedneſs.

3 Therefore the ſhowers have been withholden, and there hath been no latter rain: and thou hadſt a whore's forehead, thou refuſedſt to be aſhamed.

4 Wilt thou not from this time cry unto me, My father, thou art the guide of my youth?

5 Will he reſerve his anger for ever? will he keep it to the end? Behold, thou haſt ſpoken and done evil things as thou couldeſt.

6 The LORD ſaid alſo unto me in the days of Joſiah the king, Haſt thou ſeen that which 27 They have turned their back unto me, &c.] They have been obſtinate.

30 Your own ſword hath devoured your prophets.] You have ſlain your own prophets for reproving of you.

31 Have I been a wilderneſs unto Iſrael? a land of darkneſs?] Conſider what I ſay to you from the mouth of God. Have ye not been plentifully provided for by him? Has he been backward in beſtowing his kindneſs upon you?

34 The blood of the ſouls, &c] The blood of the lives of the children offered in ſacrifice to Moloch.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 2 In the ways haſt thou ſat for them, as the Arabian in the wilderneſs, &c.] Their fondneſs for idolatry is compared to the wantonneſs of a harlot, who lies in wait for them, as for a prey; or as an Arabian hides himſelf in the deſert, to ſtrip the unwary traveller; the Arabians being remarkable for ſuch practices. Lowth.

backſliding Iſrael hath done? ſhe is gone up upon every high mountain, and under every green tree, and there hath played the harlot.

7 And I ſaid, after ſhe had done all theſe things, Turn thou unto me. But ſhe returned not. And her treacherous ſiſter Judah ſaw it.

8 And I ſaw, when for all the cauſes whereby backſliding Iſrael committed adultery, I had put her away, and given her a bill of divorce; yet her treacherous ſiſter Judah feared not, but went and played the harlot alſo.

9 And it came to paſs through the lightneſs of her whoredom that ſhe defiled the land, and committed adultery with ſtones and with ſtocks.

10 And yet for all this, her treacherous ſiſter Judah hath not turned unto me with her whole heart, but feignedly, ſaith the LORD.

11 And the LORD ſaid unto me, The backſliding Iſrael hath juſtified her ſelf more than treacherous Judah.

12 ¶ Go, and proclaim theſe words toward the north, and ſay, Return, thou backſliding Iſrael, ſaith the LORD; and I will not cauſe mine anger to fall upon you: for I am merciful, ſaith the LORD, and I will not keep anger for ever.

13 Only acknowledge thine iniquity, that thou haſt tranſgreſſed againſt the LORD thy God, and haſt ſcattered thy ways to the ſtrangers under every green tree, and ye have not obeyed my voice, ſaith the LORD.

14 Turn, O backſliding children, ſaith the LORD; for I am married unto you: and I will take you one of a city, and two of a family, and I will bring you to Zion:

15 And I will give you paſtors according to mine heart, which ſhall feed you with knowledge and underſtanding.

16 And it ſhall come to paſs when ye be multiplied and increaſed in the land, in thoſe days, ſaith the LORD, they ſhall ſay no more, The ark of the covenant of the LORD; neither ſhall it come to mind; neither ſhall they remember it, neither ſhall they viſit it; neither ſhall that be done any more.

17 At that time they ſhall call Jeruſalem the Throne of the LORD: and all the nations ſhall be gathered unto it, to the name of the LORD, to Jeruſalem: neither ſhall they walk any more after the imagination of their evil heart.

18 In thoſe days the houſe of Judah ſhall walk with the houſe of Iſrael, and they ſhall come together out of the land of the north, to the land that I have given for an inheritance unto your fathers.

19 But I ſaid, How ſhall I put thee among the children, and give thee a pleaſant land, a goodly heritage of the hoſts of nations? and I ſaid, Thou ſhalt call me, My father; and ſhalt not turn away from me.

20 Surely, as a wife treacherouſly departeth from her huſband, ſo have ye dealt treacherouſly with me, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the LORD.

21 A voice was heard upon the high places,

12 Proclaim theſe words toward the north, and ſay, Return thou backſliding Iſrael, &c.] The ſin of the ten tribes being attended with more favourable circumſtances than that of Judah, the prophet is here commanded to call them to repentance, with promiſes of pardon; and, according to this, he is bid to direct his ſpeech northward, i. e. towards Aſſyria and Media, whither the ten tribes were carried away captive. Lowth.

15 I will give you paſtors according to mine heart, &c.] An evangelical promiſe; implying, that under the happy times, here foretold, all governors, both in church and ſtate, ſhould faithfully diſcharge their truſt.

17 At that time they ſhall call Jeruſalem the throne of the Lord, &c.] Jeruſalem is often called the city of God; and is therefore a proper type of the church of God, which the text tells us, ſhall be called the throne of the Lord: i. e. God ſhall give evident proofs of his peculiar reſidence there, as the king and protector of his people, and in a more eminent manner than ever he did in the temple at Jeruſalem. To this church all the nations ſhall be gathered, i. e. the Jews and Gentiles ſhall then be joined in one religious body, and worſhip God with one mind and one mouth. Lowth.

19 How ſhall I put thee among the children, and give thee a pleaſant land?] How can it be conſiſtent with the Divine juſtice, for God to receive ſuch a rebellious people into favour, to own them for his children, and to put them into poſſeſſion of the goodly inheritance which he gave their fathers?

A goodly heritage of the hoſts of nations? &c.] The ſenſe of this difficult paſſage ſeems to be expreſſed in the Septuagint, where the words are rendered; The inheritance of the Almighty God of the nations. The Hebrew word tſebi, they ſuppoſe to be a title belonging to God, denoting his ſuperlative excellence. It muſt be owned, that a great regard is to be paid to the authority of that verſion; becauſe the authors of it had better opportunities of knowing the extent of the Hebrew language, than it is poſſible for us to have, and might have very good reaſons for rendering ſome words in a ſingular and unuſual ſignification; though the later rabbins and lexicographers have not obſerved it. Upon this foundation, Biſhop Pearſon, Dr. Pocock, and others, have defended ſeveral paſſages in that tranſlation, which are cited in the New Teſtament, and ſhow that the ſenſe of the original is truly expreſſed by it. Lowth.

Notes

weeping and ſupplications of the children of Iſrael: for they have perverted their way, and they have forgotten the LORD their God.

22 Return, ye backſliding children, and I will heal your backſlidings. Behold, we come unto thee; for thou art the LORD our God.

23 Truly in vain is ſalvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the LORD our God is the ſalvation of Iſrael.

24 For ſhame hath devoured the labour of our fathers from our youth; their flocks and their herds, their ſons and their daughters.

25 We lie down in our ſhame, and our confuſion covereth us: for we have ſinned againſt the LORD our God, we and our fathers, from our youth even unto this day, and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God.

CHAP. IV.

1 God calleth Iſrael, 3 and Judah to repentance. 19 He lamenteth over Judah.

IF thou wilt return, O Iſrael, ſaith the LORD, return unto me: and if thou wilt put away thine abominations out of my ſight, then ſhalt thou not remove.

2 And thou ſhalt ſwear, The LORD liveth, in truth, in judgement, and in righteouſneſs: and the nations ſhall bleſs themſelves in him, and in him ſhall they glory.

3 ¶ For thus ſaith the LORD to the men of Judah and Jeruſalem, Break up your fallow-ground, and ſow not among thorns.

4 Circumciſe your ſelves to the LORD, and take away the foreſkins of your heart, ye men of Judah, and inhabitants of Jeruſalem: leſt my fury come forth like fire, and burn that none can quench it, becauſe of the evil of your doings.

5 Declare ye in Judah, and publiſh in Jeruſalem, and ſay, Blow ye the trumpet in the land: cry, gather together, and ſay, Aſſemble your ſelves, and let us go into the defenced cities.

6 Set up the ſtandard towards Zion; retire, ſtay not: for I will bring evil from the north, and a great deſtruction.

7 The lion is come up from his thicket, and the deſtroyer of the Gentiles is on his way: he is gone forth from his place to make thy land deſolate; and thy cities ſhall be laid waſte, without an inhabitant.

8 For this gird you with ſackcloth, lament and howl: for the fierce anger of the LORD is not turned back from us.

9 And it ſhall come to paſs at that day, ſaith the LORD, that the heart of the king ſhall periſh, and the heart of the princes; and the prieſts ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and the prophets ſhall wonder.

10 Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord GOD! ſurely thou haſt greatly deceived this people, and Jeruſalem, ſaying, Ye ſhall have peace; whereas the ſword reacheth unto the ſoul.

11 At that time ſhall it be ſaid to this people, and to Jeruſalem, A dry wind of the high places in the wilderneſs toward the daughter of my people, not to fan, nor to cleanſe,

12 Even a full wind from thoſe places ſhall

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 2 The nations ſhall bleſs themſelves in him, and in him ſhall they glory.] A prediction of the goſpel-times, when the heathen ſhould join with the Iſraelites in paying all ſolemn acts of worſhip and devotion, to the true God alone, and in aſcribing all honour and glory to him, and to his only Son the Meſſiah, in whom all nations were to be bleſſed. Lowth.

3 Break up your fallow-grounds, &c.] An exhortation to repentance, under the metaphor of plowing up their fallow-ground, which had lain long uncultivated, and clearing it from thorns, that it might be capable of receiving good ſeed.

4 Take away the foreſkins of your hearts.] Hence it appears, that the ceremony of circumciſion had a ſpiritual ſignification: accordingly, the apoſtle makes moral applications of ſeveral branches of the ceremonial law.

5, 6 Blow ye the trumpet in the land, &c.] The prophet here begins a new diſcourſe, and deſcribes the dreadful preparations for war, ſuch as blowing the trumpet, and ſetting up a ſtandard for aſſembling them together, in order to leave the open country, and retire with their families and goods to the fortified cities, both for their own ſafety, and that they might defend thoſe garriſons againſt the power of the enemy. Lowth.

7 The lion is come up from his thicket, and the deſtroyer of the Gentiles is on his way, &c.] Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, whoſe monarchy is repreſented by a lion: he is called here the deſtroyer of the Gentiles, or rather of the nations, becauſe Judea and all the neighbouring countries, were, by God's decree, delivered into his hands.

10 Surely thou haſt greatly deceived this people, &c.] i. e. Thou haſt ſuffered them to be deceived by falſe prophets.

11 A dry wind, &c.] i. e. A hot peſtilential wind, which ſweeps away multitudes in a moment. The prophet deſcribes the Chaldean army deſtroying Judea, under the metaphor of a dry parching wind, which blaſts the fruit of the earth, withers the leaves upon the trees, and gives every thing a barren and naked aſpect.

come unto me: now alſo will I give ſentence againſt them.

13 Behold, he ſhall come up as clouds, and his chariots ſhall be as a whirlwind: his horſes are ſwifter than eagles. Wo unto us; for we are ſpoiled!

14 O Jeruſalem, waſh thine heart from wickedneſs, that thou mayeſt be ſaved: how long ſhall thy vain thoughts lodge within thee?

15 For a voice declareth from Dan, and publiſheth affliction from mount Ephraim.

16 Make ye mention to the nations; behold, publiſh againſt Jeruſalem, that watchers come from a far country, and give out their voice againſt the cities of Judah.

17 As keepers of a field are they againſt her round about; becauſe ſhe hath been rebellious againſt me, ſaith the LORD.

18 Thy way and thy doings have procured theſe things unto thee: this is thy wickedneſs, becauſe it is bitter, becauſe it reacheth unto thine heart.

19 ¶ My bowels, my bowels: I am pained at my very heart; my heart maketh a noiſe in me; I cannot hold my peace, becauſe thou haſt heard, O my ſoul, the ſound of the trumpet, the alarm of war.

20 Deſtruction upon deſtruction is cried; for the whole land is ſpoiled: ſuddenly are my tents ſpoiled, and my curtains in a moment.

21 How long ſhall I ſee the ſtandard, and hear the ſound of the trumpet.

22 For my people is fooliſh, they have not known me, they are ſottiſh, children, and they have none underſtanding: they are wiſe to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge.

23 I beheld the earth, and lo, it was without form and void; and the heavens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountains, and lo, they trembled, and all the hills moved lightly.

25 I beheld, and lo, there was no man, and all the birds of the heavens were fled.

26 I beheld, and lo, the fruitful place was a wilderneſs, and all the cities thereof were broken down at the preſence of the LORD, and by his fierce anger.

27 For thus hath the LORD ſaid, The whole land ſhall be deſolate: yet will I not make a full end.

28 For this ſhall the earth mourn, and the heavens above be black: becauſe I have ſpoken it, I have purpoſed it, and will not repent, neither will I turn aback from it.

29 The whole city ſhall flee, for the noiſe of the horſemen and bow-men; they ſhall go into thickets, and climb up upon the rocks: every city ſhall be forſaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou art ſpoiled, what wilt thou do? though thou cloth'ſt thy ſelf with crimſon, though thou deck'ſt thee with ornaments of gold, though thou rent'ſt thy face with painting, in vain ſhalt thou make thy ſelf fair: thy lovers will deſpiſe thee, they will ſeek thy life.

31 For I have heard a voice as of a woman in travail, and the anguiſh as of her that bringeth forth her firſt child; the voice of the daughter of Zion, that bewaileth her ſelf, that ſpreadeth her hands, ſaying, Wo is me now: for my ſoul is wearied becauſe of murderers!

CHAP. V.

The judgement of God upon the Jews for their manifold corruptions.

16 Watchers come from a far country.] The prophet, by way of irony, calls the Chaldean army watchers.

19 My bowels, my bowels, &c.] The prophet, in very moving expreſſions, ſympathizes with his country, which he foreſees will become the ſeat of war, and be utterly ruined by an hoſtile invaſion.

Suddenly are my tents ſpoiled, and my curtains in a moment.] i. e. The cities and houſes in Judea are laid waſte, in alluſion to the ancient way of dwelling in tents.

23 I beheld the earth, and lo, it was without form and void, &c.] The whole face of nature has a diſmal aſpect, the inhabitants of the lands and the houſes, together with the fruits of the earth, are deſtroyed by the armies of the enemy; the birds of the air, and the beaſts of the field, are conſumed with famine, ſo that the country appears, as if it was reduced to its primitive chaos. The heavens are covered with darkneſs, and the mountains tremble at the wrath of the Almighty.

28 I have purpoſed it, and will not repent, &c.] God's purpoſe of delivering up the Jews into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar was irreverſible, upon the ſuppoſition that the greateſt part of them would continue impenitent, which he likewiſe foreſaw. Lowth.

30 Though thou rent'ſt thy face with painting.] Margin reads, Thy eyes. See note on 2 Kings, ix. 30.

31 I have heard a voice as of a woman in travail, &c.] Jeruſalem here is very pathetically deſcribed as of a woman in travail, bewailing the loſs of her children by the hand of the Chaldeans, and in vain imploring aſſiſtance. Lowth.

Notes

RUN ye to and fro through the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, and ſee now and know, and ſeek in the broad places thereof, if ye can find a man, if there be any that executeth judgement, that ſeeketh the truth, and I will pardon it.

2 And though they ſay, the LORD liveth; ſurely, they ſwear falſly.

3 O LORD, are not thine eyes upon the truth? thou haſt ſtricken them, but they have not grieved; thou haſt conſumed them, but they have refuſed to receive correction: they have made their faces harder than a rock: they have refuſed to return.

4 Therefore I ſaid, Surely theſe are poor; they are fooliſh: for they know not the way of the LORD, nor the judgement of their God.

5 I will get me unto the great men, and will ſpeak unto them; for they have known the way of the LORD, and the judgement of their God: but theſe have altogether broken the yoke, and burſt the bonds.

6 Wherefore a lion out of the foreſt ſhall ſlay them, a wolf of the evenings ſhall ſpoil them, a leopard ſhall watch over their cities: every one that goeth out thence ſhall be torn in pieces: becauſe their tranſgreſſions are many, and their backſlidings are encreaſed.

7 How ſhall I pardon thee for this? thy children have forſaken me, and ſworn by them that are no gods: when I had fed them to the full, they then committed adultery, and aſſembled themſelves by troops in the harlots houſes.

8 They were as fed horſes in the morning: every one neighed after his neighbour's wife.

9 Shall I not viſit for theſe things? ſaith the LORD: and ſhall not my ſoul be avenged on ſuch a nation as this?

10 Go ye up upon her walls, and deſtroy; but make not a full end: take away her battlements; for they are not the LORD's.

11 For the houſe of Iſrael and the houſe of Judah have dealt very treacherouſly againſt me, ſaith the LORD.

12 They have belied the LORD, and ſaid, It is not he: neither ſhall evil come upon us; neither ſhall we ſee ſword nor famine:

13 And the prophets ſhall become wind, and the word is not in them: thus ſhall it be done unto them.

14 Wherefore thus ſaith the LORD God of hoſts, Becauſe ye ſpeak this word, behold, I will make my words in thy mouth fire, and this people wood, and it ſhall devour them.

15 Lo, I will bring a nation upon you from far, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the LORD: it is a mighty nation, it is an ancient nation, a nation whoſe language thou knoweſt not, neither underſtandeſt what they ſay.

16 Their quiver is as an open ſepulchre, they are all mighty men.

17 And they ſhall eat up thine harveſt, and thy bread, which thy ſons and thy daughters ſhould eat; they ſhall eat up thy flocks and thine herds; they ſhall eat up thy vines and thy fig-trees: they ſhall impoveriſh thy fenced cities, wherein thou truſtedſt, with the ſword.

18 Nevertheleſs, in thoſe days ſaith the LORD, I will not make a full end with you.

19 And it ſhall come to paſs when ye ſhall ſay, Wherefore doeth the LORD our God all theſe things unto us? then ſhalt thou anſwer them, Like as ye have forſaken me, and ſerved ſtrange gods in your land, ſo ſhall ye ſerve ſtrangers in a land that is not your's.

20 Declare this in the houſe of Jacob, and publiſh it in Judah, ſaying,

21 Hear now this, O fooliſh people, and without underſtanding; which have eyes and ſee not; which have ears, and hear not:

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Run ye to and fro through the ſtreets of Jeruſalem.] The prophet deſcribes the general corruption of mankind, in much the ſame terms with thoſe of the pſalmiſt, There is none that doth good, &c.

2 Though they ſay the Lord liveth, ſurely they ſwear falſely.] Even thoſe who do not ſwear by falſe gods, will venture to call God to bear witneſs to what is not true.

4 Surely theſe are poor, &c.] They are rude, ignorant, and vulgar.

5 I will get me unto the great men, and will ſpeak unto them, &c.] He ſpeaketh this to the reproach of thoſe who ſhould govern and teach others, and yet are greater tranſgreſſors than the ſimple people.

7 How ſhall I pardon thee for this? &c.] God appeals to themſelves, whether they can think it conſiſtent with his juſtice to let ſuch enormous offences as theſe go unpuniſhed?

15 I will bring a nation from far.] Babylon is called a far country, Iſaiah xxxix. 3.

16 Their quiver is an open ſepulchre.] All their arrows do execution.

22 Fear ye not me? ſaith the LORD: will ye not tremble at my preſence, which have placed the ſand for the bound of the ſea, by a perpetual decree, that it cannot paſs it; and though the waves thereof toſs themſelves, yet can they not prevail; though they roar, yet can they not paſs over it?

23 But this people hath a revolting and a rebellious heart; they are revolted, and gone.

24 Neither ſay they in their heart, Let us now fear the LORD our God, that giveth rain, both the former and the latter, in his ſeaſon: he reſerveth unto us the appointed weeks of the harveſt.

25 Your iniquities have turned away theſe things, and your ſins have with-holden good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked men: they lay wait as he that ſetteth ſnares; they ſet a trap, they catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birds, ſo are their houſes full of deceit: therefore they are become great, and waxen rich.

28 They are waxen fat, they ſhine: yea, they overpaſs the deeds of the wicked: they judge not the cauſe, the cauſe of the fatherleſs, yet they proſper: and the right of the needy do they not judge.

29 Shall I not viſit for theſe things? ſaith the LORD: ſhall not my ſoul be avenged of ſuch a nation as this?

30 A wonderful and horrible thing is committed in the land:

31 The prophets propheſy falſly, and the prieſts bear rule by their means; and my people love to have it ſo: and what will ye do in the end thereof?

CHAP. VI.

1 The enemies ſent againſt Judah, 4 encourage themſelves. 6 God ſetteth them on work becauſe of their ſins.

O Ye children of Benjamin, gather your ſelves to flee out of the midſt of Jeruſalem, and blow the trumpet in Tekoa, and ſet up a ſign of fire in Beth-haccerem: for evil appeareth out of the north, and great deſtruction.

2 I have likened the daughter of Zion to a comely and delicate woman.

3 Their ſhepherds with their flocks ſhall come unto her; they ſhall pitch their tents againſt her round about; they ſhall feed every one in his place.

4 Prepare ye war againſt her; ariſe, and let us go up at noon. Wo unto us, for the day goeth away, for the ſhadows of the evening are ſtretched out!

5 Ariſe, and let us go by night, and let us deſtroy her palaces.

6 ¶ For thus hath the LORD of hoſts ſaid, Hew ye down trees, and caſt a mount againſt Jeruſalem. This is the city to be viſited: ſhe is wholly oppreſſion in the midſt of her.

7 As a fountain caſteth out her waters, ſo ſhe caſteth out her wickedneſs: violence and ſpoil is heard in her; before me continually is grief and wounds.

22 Though the waves toſs themſelves, yet can they not prevail.] The adjuſting the proportion of the tides, that they ſhould not riſe ſo high as to overflow the lower grounds, is a remarkable inſtance of God's eſpecial providence.

24 Let us now fear the Lord our God that giveth rain, &c.] The viciſſitude of ſeaſons, of cold, and heat, of drought and moiſture, ſo wiſely fitted for the growth of the fruits of the earth, and other uſes of human life, is ſo remarkable a proof of the being of a God and his providence, that it is obvious to the meaneſt capacity; and on this account it is frequently inſiſted on by the inſpired writers. The former rain fell ſoon after ſowing-time, to make the ſeed take root; the latter juſt before harveſt, to plump and fill the ears. Lowth.

26 They catch men.] By the arts of fraud they over-reach others, and make a prey of their ſubſtance.

31 The prophets prophecy falſely, and the prieſts bear rule by their means, &c.] Both prieſts and prophets agree to ſpeak pleaſing things to the people, in order to ſupport their own intereſt and authority; and this muſt produce a total corruption of manners, and conſequently bring on utter ruin and deſtruction. Lowth.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Set up a ſign of fire in Beth-haccerem.] To aſſemble the people together for their mutual defence. Beth-haccerem was a village between Jeruſalem and Tekoa.

2 I have likened the daughter of Zion to a comely and delicate woman, &c.] The paſſage may be rendered, I have likened the daughter of Zion to a paſture, and a pleaſant habitation. The words that follow ver. 3. favour this interpretation.

3 The ſhepherds with their flocks ſhall come unto her, &c.] i. e. The Chaldean generals and their armies, who ſhould feed upon and devour her.

4 Ariſe, and let us go up at noon, &c.] The ſoldiers are deſcribed as eagerly bent upon taking the city.

6 Caſt a mount.] Mr. Pilkington properly tranſlates this paſſage, Play an engine againſt Jeruſalem: The margin reads, Pour out the engine of ſhot.

7 Violence and ſpoil is heard in her, &c.] I hear the continual complaints of thoſe that groan under the oppreſſions they ſuffer, and are cruelly and unjuſtly put to death.

8 Leſt

8 Be thou inſtructed, O Jeruſalem, leſt my ſoul depart from thee: leſt I make thee deſolate, a land not inhabited.

9 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, They ſhall throughly glean the remnant of Iſrael as a vine: turn back thine hand as a grape-gatherer into the baſkets.

10 To whom ſhall I ſpeak and give warning, that they may hear? behold, their ear is uncircumciſed, and they cannot hearken: behold, the word of the LORD is unto them a reproach; they have no delight in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the fury of the LORD; I am weary with holding in: I will pour it out upon the children abroad, and upon the aſſembly of young men together: for even the huſband with the wife ſhall be taken, the aged with him that is full of days.

12 And their houſes ſhall be turned unto others, with their fields and wives together: for I will ſtretch out my hand upon the inhabitants of the land, ſaith the LORD.

13 For from the leaſt of them even unto the greateſt of them every one is given to covetouſneſs, and from the prophet even unto the prieſt every one dealeth falſly.

14 They have healed alſo the hurt of the daughter of my people ſlightly, ſaying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace.

15 Were they aſhamed when they had commited abomination? nay, they were not at all aſhamed, neither could they bluſh: therefore they ſhall fall among them that fall: at the time that I viſit them, they ſhall be caſt down, ſaith the LORD.

16 Thus ſaith the LORD, Stand ye in the ways, and ſee, and aſk for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye ſhall find reſt for your ſouls. But they ſaid, We will not walk therein.

17 Alſo I ſet watchmen over you, ſaying, Hearken to the ſound of the trumpet. But they ſaid, We will not hearken.

18 Therefore hear, ye nations, and know, O congregation, what is among them.

19 Hear, O earth: behold, I will bring evil upon this people, even the fruit of their thoughts, becauſe they have not hearkened unto my words, nor to my law, but rejected it.

20 To what purpoſe cometh there to me incenſe from Sheba? and the ſweet cane from a far country? your burnt-offerings are not acceptable, nor your ſacrifices ſweet unto me.

21 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will lay ſtumbling-blocks before this people, and the fathers and the ſons together ſhall fall upon them; the neighbour and his friend ſhall periſh.

22 Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, a people cometh from the north-country, and a great nation ſhall be raiſed from the ſides of the earth.

23 They ſhall lay hold on bow and ſpear: they are cruel, and have no mercy: their voice roareth like the ſea, and they ride upon horſes, ſet in array as men for war againſt thee, O daughter of Zion.

24 We have heard the fame thereof: our

8 Leſt my ſoul depart from thee, &c.] Leſt my affection be utterly alienated from thee, ſo that I caſt off all compaſſion towards thee, and give thee up to ruin and deſolation. Lowth.

16 Stand ye in the ways and ſee, and aſk for the old paths, &c.] Imitate the traveller, when at a loſs which way to direct his ſteps; enquire what way the patriarchs of old, kings, and prophets of former times walked in: imitate their practices, wherein ye will find true comfort and ſatisfaction, and not the late devices of your princes and prophets, whereby you have been ſeduced into error, and betrayed into many miſchiefs. Lowth.

17 I ſet watchmen over you.] Prophets to warn you of your dangers.

18 Hear, ye nations, and know, O congregation, &c.] God appeals to all men, and ſummons them to aſſemble together, in order to hear what he hath to lay to the charge of his people.

20 To what purpoſe cometh there to me incenſe from Sheba?] Sheba was part of Arabia Felix, and famous for its incenſe and perfumes. The prophet here reproves the hypocriſy of the Jews, who endeavoured to cover their inward corruption by the external appearances of religion, which the prophets often declared to be of no value, when they do not proceed from a devout mind. There is a ſtory in Plato ſimilar to this—"The "Athenians, in their wars with the Lacedæmonians, having re- "ceived many defeats, ſent a meſſenger to the oracle of Jupiter, "to aſk the reaſon why they, who had erected ſo many temples "to the gods, and honoured them with ſo many ſacrifices, "ſhould be leſs ſucceſsful than the Lacedæmonians, who fell "much ſhort of them in theſe particulars? The oracle anſwer- "ed; I am better pleaſed with the prayer of the Lacedæmonians "than with all the oblations of the Greeks. Now the prayer they "made uſe of was a ſhort petition, in which they begged the "gods to give them all good things ſo long as they continued "virtuous."

The ſweet cane from a far country, &c.] The calamus aromaticus, an ingredient often uſed in perfumes.

23 Their voice roareth like the ſea, &c.] Hoſtile invaſions are very properly compared to great inundations, that carry all before them, and lay a country waſte. Lowth.

hands wax feeble: anguiſh hath taken hold of us, and pain, as of a woman in travail.

25 Go not forth into the field, nor walk by the way for the ſword of the enemy and fear is on every ſide.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with ſackcloth, and wallow thy ſelf in aſhes, make thee mourning, as for an only ſon, moſt bitter lamentation: for the ſpoiler ſhall ſuddenly come upon us.

27 I have ſet thee for a tower and a fortreſs among my people, that thou mayeſt know and try their way.

28 They are all grievous revolters, walking with ſlanders: they are braſs and iron; they are all corrupters.

29 The bellows are burned, the lead is conſumed of the fire; the founder melteth in vain: for the wicked are not plucked away.

30 Reprobate ſilver ſhall men call them, becauſe the LORD hath rejected them.

CHAP. VII.

1 Jeremiah is ſent to call for true repentance. 8 He rejecteth their vain confidence.

THE word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, ſaying,

2 Stand in the gate of the LORD's houſe, and proclaim there this word, and ſay, Hear the word of the LORD, all ye of Judah, that enter in at theſe gates to worſhip the LORD.

3 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael; Amend your ways, and your doings, and I will cauſe you to dwell in this place.

4 Truſt ye not in lying words, ſaying, The Temple of the LORD, the Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord are theſe.

5 For if ye throughly amend your ways and your doings; if ye throughly execute judgement between a man and his neighbour;

6 If ye oppreſs not the ſtranger, the fatherleſs, and the widow, and ſhed not innocent blood in this place, neither walk after other gods to your hurt;

7 Then will I cauſe you to dwell in this place, in the land that I gave to your fathers, for ever and ever.

8 ¶ Behold, ye truſt in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Will ye ſteal, murder, and commit adultery, and ſwear falſly, and burn incenſe unto Baal, and walk after other gods whom ye know not?

10 And come and ſtand before me in this houſe, which is called by my name, and ſay, We are delivered to do all theſe abominations?

11 Is this houſe, which is called by my name, become a den of robbers in your eyes? behold, even I have ſeen it, ſaith the LORD.

12 But go ye now unto my place which was in Shiloh, where I ſet my name at the firſt, and ſee what I did to it for the wickedneſs of my peole Iſrael.

13 And now, becauſe ye have done all theſe works, ſaith the LORD, and I ſpake unto you, riſing up early, and ſpeaking, but ye heard not; and I called you, but ye anſwered not;

14 Therefore will I do unto th... ouſe which is called by my name, wherein ye truſt, and unto the place which I gave to you and to your fathers, as I have done to Shiloh.

15 And I will caſt you out of my ſight, as I have caſt out all your brethren, even the whole ſeed of Ephraim.

---

28 They are braſs and iron.] Their impudence reſembles braſs, and their obſtinacy iron.

29 Their bellows are burnt.] All the means that can be uſed to purge this people of their droſs prove ineffectual.

The lead is conſumed.] Before the uſe of quickſilver, lead was uſed for refining metals.

30 Reprobate ſilver ſhall men call them, becauſe the Lord hath rejected them.] As baſe money is refuſed by every one, becauſe it cannot bear the touchſtone, ſo ſhall theſe hypocrites and evil-doers be rejected, both by God and man.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 2 Stand in the gate of the Lord's houſe, &c.] Moſt probably the eaſt-gate of the temple, which led directly to it.

9 Will ye ſteal, murder, &c.] He does not charge them with the tranſgreſſion of the ritual ordinances of Moſes, but with the breach of the weightier matters of the law: thereby preparing their minds for the reception of the goſpel.

10 We are delivered to do all theſe abominations.] This is tranſlated contrary to the plain meaning of the prophet, and ſhould have been rendered, We have been delivered, though we have done all theſe abominations; as an old tranſlation printed in the year 1611, has it.

12 But go ye now unto my place which was in Shiloh, where I ſet my name at the firſt, &c.] God's ark and tabernacle were placed in Shiloh, when the Iſraelites had taken poſſeſſion of the promiſed land, yet he ſuffered the ark itſelf to fall into the hands of the Philiſtines, and quite forſook that place of his reſidence.

16 Therefore pray not thou for this people, neither lift up cry nor prayer for them, neither make interceſſion to me: for I will not hear thee.

17 Seeſt thou not what they do in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead their dough, to make cakes to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto other gods, that they may provoke me to anger.

19 Do they provoke me to anger? ſaith the LORD: do they not provoke themſelves to the confuſion of their own faces?

20 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, mine anger and my fury ſhall be poured out upon this place, upon man and upon beaſt, and upon the trees of the field, and upon the fruit of the ground; and it ſhall burn, and ſhall not be quenched.

21 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Put your burnt-offerings unto your ſacrifices, and eat fleſh.

22 For I ſpake not unto your fathers, nor commanded them in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt-offerings or ſacrifices:

23 But this thing commanded I them, ſaying, Obey my voice, and I will be your God, and ye ſhall be my people: and walk ye in all the ways that I have commanded you, that it may be well unto you.

24 But they hearkened not, nor inclined their ear, but walked in the counſels and in the imagination of their evil heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came forth out of the land of Egypt unto this day, I have even ſent unto you all my ſervants the prophets, daily riſing up early, and ſending them:

26 Yet they hearkened not unto me, nor inclined their ear, but hardened their neck; they did worſe than their fathers.

27 Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeak all theſe words unto them; but they will not hearken to thee: thou ſhalt alſo call unto them; but they will not anſwer thee:

28 But thou ſhalt ſay unto them, This is a nation that obeyeth not the voice of the LORD their God, nor receiveth correction: truth is periſhed, and is cut off from their mouth.

29 Cut off thine hair, O Jeruſalem, and caſt it away; and take up a lamentation on high places: for the LORD hath rejected and forſaken the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Judah have done evil in my ſight, ſaith the LORD: they have ſet their abominations in the houſe which is called by my name, to pollute it:

31 And they have built the high places of Tophet, which is in the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, to burn their ſons and their daughters in the fire; which I commanded them not, neither came it into my heart.

32 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that it ſhall no more be called Tophet, nor the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, but The valley of ſlaughter: for they ſhall bury in Tophet, till there be no place.

33 And the carcaſes of this people ſhall be meat for the fowls of the heaven, and for the beaſts of the earth: and none ſhall fray them away.

34 Then will I cauſe to ceaſe from the cities of Judah, and from the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, the voice of mirth and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride: for the land ſhall be deſolate.

18 To make cakes to the queen of heaven.] i. e. They ſacrifice to the ſun, moon, and ſtars, which they called the queen of heaven, chap. xliv. 18.

22, 23 I ſpake not unto your fathers,---concerning ſacrifices, &c.] The two parts of this ſentence are not to be taken ſeparately, as if God did not require burnt-offerings at all; but that he did not inſiſt ſo much upon ſacrifices as obedience to the commandments of the moral law. Clark.

31 They have built the high places of Tophet, &c.] This unnatural cuſtom of burning their children, by way of ſacrifice to Moloch, was derived from the Canaanites. The place where they performed this inhuman rite was called Tophet, from the tabrets which ſounded there to drown the cries of the children thus cruelly murdered. The valley of the ſon of Hinnom, or the valley of Hinnom; in the Hebrew, Gee Hinnom, from whence the word gebenna is derived, and uſed to ſignify hell; the ſacrifices here offered being a lively picture of the infernal torments. Lowth.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The Jews calamity. 4 Their impenitency upbraided. 13 Their judgement ſhewed. 18 Their deſperate eſtate bewailed.

AT that time ſaith the LORD, they ſhall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of his princes, and the bones of the prieſts, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem out of their graves:

2 And they ſhall ſpread them before the ſun, and the moon, and all the hoſt of heaven, whom they have loved, and whom they have ſerved, and after whom they have walked, and whom they have ſought, and whom they have worſhipped: they ſhall not be gathered, nor be buried; they ſhall be for dung upon the face of the earth.

3 And death ſhall be choſen rather than life by all the reſidue of them that remain of this evil family, which remain in all the places whither I have driven them, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

4 ¶ Moreover, thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD; Shall they fall, and not ariſe? ſhall he turn away, and not return?

5 Why then is this people of Jeruſalem ſlidden back by a perpetual backſliding? they hold faſt deceit, they refuſe to return.

6 I hearkened and heard, but they ſpake not aright: no man repented him of his wickedneſs, ſaying, What have I done? every one turned to his courſe, as the horſe ruſheth into the battle.

7 Yea, the ſtork in the heaven knoweth her appointed times; and the turtle, and the crane, and the ſwallow obſerve the time of their coming; but my people know not the judgement of the LORD.

8 How do ye ſay, We are wiſe, and the law of the LORD is with us? Lo, certainly in vain made he it; the pen of the ſcribes is in vain.

9 The wiſe men are aſhamed, they are diſmayed and taken; lo, they have rejected the word of the LORD; and what wiſdom is in them?

10 Therefore will I give their wives unto others, and their fields to them that ſhall inherit them: for every one from the leaſt even unto the greateſt is given to covetouſneſs, from the prophet even unto the prieſt every one dealeth falſly.

11 For they have healed the hurt of the daughter of my people ſlightly, ſaying, Peace, peace when there is no peace.

12 Were they aſhamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not at all aſhamed, neither could they bluſh: therefore ſhall they fall among them that fall: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall be caſt down, ſaith the LORD.

13 ¶ I will ſurely conſume them, ſaith the LORD. There ſhall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the fig-tree, and the leaf ſhall fade: and the things that I have given them ſhall paſs away from them.

14 Why do we ſit ſtill? aſſemble your ſelves, and let us enter into the defenced cities, and let us be ſilent there: for the LORD our God hath put us to ſilence, and given us water of gall to drink, becauſe we have ſinned againſt the LORD.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 They ſhall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, &c.] When Jeruſalem ſhall be taken and expoſed to the rage of the Chaldean army, they ſhall break open the ſepulchres of kings and great men, in hopes of finding treaſures depoſited there. Lowth.

3 Death ſhall be deſired, &c.] Becauſe of the afflictions they ſhall ſuffer through God's judgments.

6 As the horſe ruſheth into the battle.] Without any conſideration or fear of approaching danger.

7 Yea, the ſtork in the heaven knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, and the crane, &c.] Theſe birds know, by natural inſtinct, the ſeaſons when to return to the places of their former abode: whereas this people never thinketh of returning to their God. The ſacred writers often ſend men to the brute creation for inſtruction, in order to upbraid their ſtupidity. Lowth.

8 The pen of the ſcribes is in vain.] The word ſcribe ſignifies a perſon not only that tranſcribes, but one that is learned in expounding the law.

14 Let us enter into the defenced cities, and let us be ſilent there, &c.] This ſeems to be ſpoken in the perſon of the people, who lived in open towns, exhorting one another to repair to Jeruſalem, and other fortified places, to ſeek for refuge: whereas the prophet had before exhorted the inhabitants of Jeruſalem to flee even from thence. He therefore replies in the following part of the verſe, that God had indeed put them to ſilence in another ſenſe; namely, he had taken away all their ſtrength, and left them to be deſtroyed by their enemies. Lowth.

17 Ser-

15 We looked for peace, but no good came; and for a time of health, and behold, trouble.

16 The ſnorting of his horſes was heard from Dan: the whole land trembled at the ſound of the neighing of his ſtrong ones: for they are come, and have devoured the land, and all that is in it; the city, and thoſe that dwell therein.

17 For behold, I will ſend ſerpents, cockatrices, among you, which will not be charmed, and they ſhall bite you, ſaith the LORD.

18 ¶ When I would comfort my ſelf againſt ſorrow, my heart is faint in me.

19 Behold, the voice of the cry of the daughter of my people, becauſe of them that dwell in a far country: Is not the LORD in Zion? is not her king in her? Why have they provoked me to anger with their graven images, and with ſtrange vanities?

20 The harveſt is paſt, the ſummer is ended, and we are not ſaved.

21 For the hurt of the daughter of my people am I hurt; I am black; aſtoniſhment hath taken hold on me.

22 Is there no balm in Gilead? is there no phyſician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

CHAP. IX.

1 The Jews lamented for their manifold ſins, 9 and judgement. 12 Diſobedience is the cauſe of their calamity.

OH, that my head were waters, and mine eyes a fountain of tears, that I might weep day and night for the ſlain of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh, that I had in the wilderneſs a lodging-place of way-faring men; that I might leave my people, and go from them: for they be all adulterers, an aſſembly of treacherous men!

3 And they bend their tongues like their bow for lyes: but they are not valiant for the truth upon the earth: for they proceed from evil to evil, and they know not me, ſaith the LORD.

4 Take ye heed every one of his neighbour, and truſt ye not in any brother; for every brother will utterly ſupplant, and every neighbour will walk with ſlanders.

5 And they will deceive every one his neighbour, and will not ſpeak the truth: they have taught their tongue to ſpeak lyes, and weary themſeves to commit iniquity.

6 Thine habitation is in the midſt of deceit: through deceit they refuſe to know me, ſaith the LORD.

7 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Behold, I will melt them, and try them: for how ſhall I do for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue is as an arrow ſhot out; it ſpeaketh deceit: one ſpeaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in heart he layeth his wait.

9 ¶ Shall I not viſit them for theſe things? ſaith the LORD: ſhall not my ſoul be avenged on ſuch a nation as this?

10 For the mountains will I take up a weeping and wailing, and for the habitations of the wilderneſs a lamentation, becauſe they are burned up, ſo that none can paſs through them; neither can men hear the voice of the cattle: both

17 Serpents, cockatrices, which will not be charmed.] Such enemies as you ſhall not be able to ſoften by any entreaties you can uſe. It is a well-atteſted opinion, that there were methods of charming venemous creatures that they ſhould not hurt thoſe that came near them. See note on Pſalm lviii. 5.

20 The harveſt is paſt, &c.] The people complain that the ſummer, the time for marching an army, is paſt, and yet no ſuccour arrived.

21 I am black.] I look ghaſtly as thoſe that are dying.

22 Is there no balm in Gilead? &c.] Gilead was famous for balm, and other healing drugs; the prophet applies this metaphorically to the ſtate of the Jews, and aſks whether there have been no methods uſed to heal theſe mortal wounds and diſtempers, and if there have, why are they attended with ſo little ſucceſs? implying that God had ſent his prophets, as ſo many ſpiritual phyſicians, and that they had given the beſt advice; but the fault lay wholly in the patients themſelves, who refuſed to ſubmit to their preſcriptions. Lowth.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Oh, that my head were waters, &c.] The prophet moſt affectingly ſympathiſes with the calamities of his people, in order to excite them to a ſenſe of their own misfortunes, and prevail upon them to humble themſelves under the afflicting hand of God.

2 They be all adulterers.] Apoſtates from God.

3 They bend their tongues like their bows.] The pſalmiſt compares the tongue to a bow, and the words of calumny to arrows, Pſalm lxiv. 3, 4.

10 For the mountains will I take up a weeping, &c.] He here laments that general deſolation which he foreſees is coming on the whole land. Lowth.

the fowl of the heavens and the beaſt are fled; they are gone

11 And I will make Jeruſalem heaps, and a den of dragons; and I will make the cities of Judah deſolate, without an inhabitant.

12 ¶ Who is the wiſe man, that may underſtand this? and who is he to whom the mouth of the LORD hath ſpoken, that he may declare it, for what the land periſheth, and is burned up like a wilderneſs, that none paſſeth through?

13 And the LORD ſaith, Becauſe they have forſaken my law which I ſet before them, and have not obeyed my voice, neither walked therein;

14 But have walked after the imagination of their own heart, and after Baalim, which their fathers taught them:

15 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Behold, I will feed them, even this people, with wormwood, and give them water of gall to drink.

16 I will ſcatter them alſo among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers have known; and I will ſend a ſword after them, till I have conſumed them.

17 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Conſider ye, and call for the mourning-women, that they may come; and ſend for cunning women, that they may come:

18 And let them make haſte, and take up a wailing for us, that our eyes may run down with tears, and our eye-lids guſh out with waters.

19 For a voice of wailing is heard out of Zion, How are we ſpoiled! we are greatly confounded, becauſe we have forſaken the land, becauſe our dwellings have caſt us out.

20 Yet hear the word of the LORD, O ye women, and let your ear receive the word of his mouth, and teach your daughters wailing, and every one her neighbour lamentation.

21 For death is come up into our windows, and is entered into our palaces, to cut off the children from without, and the young men from the ſtreets.

22 Speak, Thus ſaith the LORD; Even the carcaſes of men ſhall fall as dung upon the open field, and as the handful after the harveſtman, and none ſhall gather them.

23 Thus ſaith the LORD; Let not the wiſe man glory in his wiſdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches;

24 But let him that glorieth, glory in this, that he underſtandeth and knoweth me, that I am the LORD, which exerciſe loving-kindneſs, judgement, and righteouſneſs in the earth: for in theſe things I delight, ſaith the LORD.

25 Behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will puniſh all them which are circumciſed with the uncircumciſed;

26 Egypt, and Judah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all that are in the utmoſt corners, that dwell in the wilderneſs: for all theſe nations are uncircumciſed, and all the houſe of Iſrael are uncircumciſed in the heart.

CHAP. X.

1 The unequal compariſon of God and idols. 19 The ſpoil of the tabernacle by fooliſh paſtors.

HEAR ye the word which the LORD ſpeaketh unto you, O houſe of Iſrael:

2 Thus ſaith the LORD; Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not diſmayed at the 11 A den of dragons.] Serpents, ſuch as are uſually found in ruins and deſolate places.

15 I will feed them with wormwood, &c.] I will turn their plenty into ſcarcity, and their joy into mourning: the meaning is, God would chaſtiſe them for their iniquities with the moſt bitter puniſhments.

17 Mourning women.] There were women whoſe profeſſion it was to make public lamentations at funerals: the Romans likewiſe had their præficæ.

23, 24 Let not the wiſe man glory in his wiſdom, &c.] Let not men value themſelves for their wiſdom, ſtrength, or riches, which are things in themſelves of very uncertain continuance: the only true valuable endowment is the knowledge of God, not as he is in himſelf, which is too high an attainment for poor mortals to pretend to, but with reſpect to his dealing with the children of men; to have a ſerious ſenſe of his mercies to the penitent, of his judgments to the obſtinate, and of his truth and integrity, in making good his promiſes and threatenings to both. It is in the exerciſe of theſe attributes, that the Almighty chiefly delights; and it is by theſe he deſires to make himſelf known to mankind. Lowth.

26 All theſe nations are uncircumciſed, and the houſe of Iſrael is uncircumciſed in the heart.] All theſe nations are as unclean, as if uncircumciſed, and even the houſe of Iſrael is uncircumciſed in the heart——Uncircumciſed for unclean occurs Lev. xix. 23.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not diſmayed at ſigns of heaven; for the heathen are diſmayed at them.

3 For the cuſtoms of the people are vain: for one cutteth a tree out of the foreſt, the work of the hands of the workmen, with the ax.

4 They deck it with ſilver and with gold; they faſten it with nails and with hammers, that it move not.

5 They are upright as the palm-tree, but ſpeak not: they muſt needs be born, becauſe they cannot go. Be not afraid of them: for they cannot do evil, neither alſo is it in them to do good.

6 Foraſmuch as there is none like unto thee, O LORD: thou art great, and thy name is great in might.

7 Who would not fear thee, O king of nations? for to thee doth it appertain: foraſmuch as among all the wiſe men of the nations and in all their kingdoms there is none like unto thee.

8 But they are altogether brutiſh and fooliſh: the ſtock is a doctrine of vanities.

9 Silver ſpread into plates is brought from Tarſhiſh, and gold from Uphaz, the work of the workman, and of the hands of the founder: blue and purple is their clothing: they are all the work of cunning men.

10 But the LORD is the true God; he is the living God, and an everlaſting king: at his wrath the earth ſhall tremble, and the nations ſhall not be able to abide his indignation.

11 Thus ſhall ye ſay unto them, The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth, even they ſhall periſh from the earth, and from under theſe heavens.

12 He hath made the earth by his power, he hath eſtabliſhed the world by his wiſdom, and hath ſtretched out the heavens by his diſcretion.

13 When he uttereth his voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, and he cauſeth the vapours to aſcend from the ends of the earth: he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treaſures.

14 Every man is brutiſh in his knowledge: every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falſhood, and there is no breath in them.

15 They are vanity, and the work of errors: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall periſh.

16 The portion of Jacob is not like them: for he is the former of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance; The LORD of hoſts is his name.

17 Gather up thy wares out of the land, O inhabitant of the fortreſs.

18 For thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will ſling out the inhabitants of the land at this once, and will diſtreſs them, that they may find it ſo.

19 ¶ Wo is me for my hurt! my wound is grievous: but I ſaid, Truly this is a grief, and I muſt bear it.

20 My tabernacle is ſpoiled, and all my cords are broken: my children are gone forth of me, and they are not: there is none to ſtretch forth my tent any more, and to ſet up my curtains.

21 For the paſtors are become brutiſh, and have not ſought the LORD: therefore they ſhall not proſper, and all their flocks ſhall be ſcattered.

22 Behold, the noiſe of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the north-coun-at the ſigns of heaven, &c.] Both the Chaldeans and Egyptians were famous for their ſkill in aſtrology; and therefore the prophet means, that when the Jews were to live, during their captivity, among thoſe people, they ſhould pay no regard to the predictions they might make from the heavenly bodies, by the aſpects of which they pretended to foretel great calamities; whereby they terrified the people with the apprehenſion of impending evils. Lowth.

9 Silver ſpread into plates is brought from Tarſhiſh.] Ships of Tarſhiſh often ſignify all trading and merchant ſhips in general. But Tarſhiſh here probably means ſome port of Spain, whither the merchants of Tyre and Sidon traded. Lowth.

Gold from Uphaz, &c.] Bochart ſuppoſes Uphaz to be the ſame with Ophir in India, near Zeilan, a place famous for gold.

13 When he uttereth his voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, &c.] When God ſends his thunder abroad, the clouds immediately diſtil in abundance of rain, which fructifies the earth, and cauſes all vegetables to flouriſh.

17 O inhabitant of the fortreſs.] He warns Jeruſalem to move her effects, and prepare for going into captivity.

20 My tabernacle is ſpoiled, and all my cords are broken.] The prophet perſonates his country bewailing herſelf in the following manner: my cities and houſes are plundered and deſtroyed, as if they were ſo many ſhepherds tents: cords here ſignify an inheritance. Lamy.

My children are gone forth of me, and they are not, &c.] My inhabitants are gone into captivity, and will not return hither any more; ſo that they are the ſame to me as if they were actually dead.

try, to make the cities of Judah desolate, and a den of dragons.

23 O LORD, I know that the way of man is not in himself: it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps.

24 O LORD, correct me, but with judgement; not in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing.

25 Pour out thy fury upon the heathen that know thee not, and upon the families that call not on thy name: for they have eaten up Jacob, and devoured him, and consumed him, and have made his habitation desolate.

CHAP. XI.

1 Jeremiah proclaimeth God's covenant, 8 rebuketh the disobedient Jews. 11 He prophesieth evils to come upon them.

THE word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

2 Hear ye the words of this covenant, and speak unto the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem;

3 And say thou unto them, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel; Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this covenant,

4 Which I commanded your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying; Obey my voice, and do them, according to all which I command you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God:

5 That I may perform the oath which I have sworn unto your fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as it is this day. Then answered, I and said, So be it, O LORD.

6 Then the LORD said unto me, Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying, Hear ye the words of this covenant, and do them.

7 For I earnestly protested unto your fathers in the day that I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, even unto this day, rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voice.

8 ¶ Yet they obeyed not, nor inclined their ear, but walked every one in the imagination of their evil heart: therefore I will bring upon them all the words of this covenant which I commanded them to do; but they did them not.

9 And the LORD said unto me, A conspiracy, is found among the men of Judah, and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

10 They are turned back to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to hear my words; and they went after other gods to serve them: the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken my covenant which I made with their fathers.

11 ¶ Therefore thus saith the LORD; Behold, I will bring evil upon them which they shall not be able to escape: and though they shall cry unto me, I will not hearken unto them.

12 Then shall the cities of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem go, and cry unto the gods unto whom they offer incense: but they shall not save them at all in the time of their trouble.

13 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Judah; and according to the number of the streets of Jerusalem have ye set up altars to that shameful thing, even altars to burn incense unto Baal.

14 Therefore pray not thou for this people, neither lift up a cry or prayer for them: for I will not hear them in the time that they cry unto me for their trouble.

15 What hath my beloved to do in mine house, seeing she hath wrought lewdness with many? and the holy flesh is passed from thee: when thou doest evil, then thou rejoicest.

16 The LORD called thy name, A green olive-tree, fair and of goodly fruit: with the

Ver. 3 Cursed be the man.] Or rather, cursed is the man.

4 From the iron furnace, &c.] An iron furnace is used to melt and purify metals; a very proper repesentation of any sore affliction, wherein God tries his servants in order to purge them from their dross. Lowth.

5 So be it, O Lord.] So shall it most certainly be.

15 What hath my beloved to do in mine house? &c.] Why doth this my chosen people, as they love to call themselves, make their appearance before me in my house, since they have gone a whoring after several idols of the nations round about them?

The holy flesh is passed from thee, &c.] The sacrifices which thou offerest up to me, as an atonement for thy sins, not at all profit thee, being rendered unacceptable to me, by those many and gross sins in which thou continuest without remorse.

16 The Lord called thy name, a green olive-tree, &c.] The Jewish nation, in its flourishing state, is sometimes compared to a vine, sometimes to an olive-tree, Psalm lii. 8.

noiſe of a great tumult he hath kindled fire upon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the LORD of hoſts, that planted thee, hath pronounced evil againſt thee, for the evil of the houſe of Iſrael, and of the houſe of Judah, which they have done, againſt themſelves to provoke me to anger, in offering incenſe unto Baal.

18 And the LORD hath given me knowledge of it, and I know it: then thou ſhewedſt me their doings.

19 But I was like a lamb or an ox that is brought to the ſlaughter: and I knew not that they had deviſed devices againſt me, ſaying, Let us deſtroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and let us cut him off from the land of the living, that his name may be no more remembered.

20 But, O LORD of hoſts, that judgeſt righteouſly, that trieſt the reins and the heart, let me ſee thy vengeance on them: for unto thee have I revealed my cauſe.

21 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of the men of Anathoth that ſeek thy life, ſaying, Propheſy not in the name of the LORD, that thou die not by our hand:

22 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Behold, I will puniſh them: the young men ſhall die by the ſword; their ſons and their daughters ſhall die by famine:

23 And there ſhall be no remnant of them: for I will bring evil upon the men of Anathoth, even the year of their viſitation.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jeremiah complaining of the wicked's proſperity, by faith ſeeth their ruin. 14 God's promiſe to the penitent.

RIghteous art thou, O LORD, when I plead with thee: yet let me talk with thee of thy judgements: Wherefore doth the way of the wicked proſper? wherefore are all they happy that deal very treacherouſly?

2 Thou haſt planted them, yea, they have taken root: they grow, yea, they bring forth fruit: thou art near in their mouth, and far from their reins.

3 But thou, O LORD, knoweſt me: thou haſt ſeen me, and tried mine heart towards thee: pull them out like ſheep for the ſlaughter, and prepare them for the day of ſlaughter.

4 How long ſhall the land mourn, and the herbs of every field wither, for the wickedneſs of them that dwell therein? the beaſts are conſumed, and the birds; becauſe they ſaid, He ſhall not ſee our laſt end.

5 If thou haſt run with the footmen, and they have wearied thee, then how canſt thou contend with horſes? and if in the land of peace, wherein thou truſtedſt, they wearied thee, then how wilt thou do in the ſwelling of Jordan.

6 For even thy brethren, and the houſe of thy father, even they have dealt treacherouſly with thee; yea, they have called a multitude after thee: believe them not, though they ſpeak fair words unto thee.

7 I have forſaken mine houſe, I have left mine heritage; I have given the dearly beloved of my ſoul into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is unto me as a lion in the foreſt, it crieth out againſt me: therefore have I hated it.

---

19 I was like a lamb or an ox, &c.] This verſe is variouſly interpreted, but by the fathers generally applied to the crucifixion of Chriſt.

20 The reins, &c.] The inward thoughts or conſcience.

21 Propheſy not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hand.] This was generally the uſage the prophets met with from their enemies: they were even treated in this manner by their neighbours, their friends, and relations. Lowth.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Righteous art thou, O Lord, yet let me talk with thee of thy judgments, &c.] Though I have not the leaſt doubt of thy juſtice and holineſs, yet ſuffer me to argue with thee concerning the proſperity of the wicked, and the afflictions of the righteous: a diſpenſation which hath, in all ages, been made an objection againſt Providence, and on that account a ſtumbling-block even to good men. Lowth.

2 Far from their reins.] Here again inſtead of reins it ſhould have been rendered thoughts or conſcience.

4 Our laſt end.] By a tranſpoſition of two letters in the Hebrew, a remarkable difference is made in the ſenſe, which when rectified, inſtead of our laſt end, will be our ways, as in the Septuagint. Kennicott.

In the ſwelling of Jordan.] Septuagint reads, The roaring of Jordan; and Vulgate, the pride of Jordan: and ſome underſtand by the expreſſion, the mountains from which Jordan riſes, which were terrible for the roaring of lions.

6 They have called a multitude after thee, &c.] They have ſtirred up the multitude againſt thee, and endeavoured to bring thee under a popular odium. Lowth.

8 Mine heritage is unto me as a lion in the foreſt, &c.] Ever raging againſt me and my prophets.

9 Mine heritage is unto me as a ſpeckled bird; the birds round about are againſt her: come ye aſſemble all the beaſts of the field, come to devour.

10 Many paſtors have deſtroyed my vineyard, they have troden my portion under foot, they have made my pleaſant portion a deſolate wilderneſs.

11 They have made it deſolate; and being deſolate it mourneth unto me: the whole land is made deſolate, becauſe no man layeth it to heart.

12 The ſpoilers are come upon all high places through the wilderneſs; for the ſword of the LORD ſhall devour from the one end of the land even to the other end of the land: no fleſh ſhall have peace.

13 They have ſown wheat, but ſhall reap thorns: they have put themſelves to pain, but ſhall not profit: and they ſhall be aſhamed of your revenues, becauſe of the fierce anger of the LORD.

14 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD againſt all mine evil neighbours, that touch the inheritance which I have cauſed my people Iſrael to inherit; Behold, I will pluck them out of their land, and pluck out the houſe of Judah from among them.

15 And it ſhall come to paſs after that I have plucked them out, I will return, and have compaſſion on them, and will bring them again every man to his heritage, and every man to his land.

16 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they will diligently learn the ways of my people, to ſwear by my name, The LORD liveth; as they taught my people to ſwear by Baal; then ſhall they be built in the midſt of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, I will utterly pluck up and deſtroy that nation, ſaith the LORD.

CHAP. XIII.

1 In a type of a linen girdle the people's deſtruction is prefigured. 12 By the bottles filled with wine their drunkenneſs in miſery foretold.

THUS ſaith the LORD unto me, Go, and get thee a linen girdle, and put it upon thy loins, and put it not in water.

2 So I got a girdle, according to the word of the LORD, and put it on my loins.

3 And the word of the LORD came unto me the ſecond time, ſaying,

4 Take the girdle that thou haſt got, which is upon thy loins, and ariſe, go to Euphrates, and hide it there in a hole of the rock.

5 So I went, and hid it by Euphrates, as the LORD commanded me.

6 And it came to paſs after many days, that the LORD ſaid unto me, Ariſe, go to Euphrates, and take the girdle from thence which I commanded thee to hide there.

9 Mine heritage is unto me as a ſpeckled bird, the birds round about.] This place ſhould have been tranſlated as the LXX, and Bochart underſtand it, Mine heritage is unto me as the ravenous hyæna: the ravenous beaſts are round about it. Eſſay for a New Tranſlation.

10 Many paſtors have deſtroyed mine vineyard, &c.] By many paſtors are meant the generals of the Chaldean army, and by the vineyard Judea. Lowth.

11 No man layeth it to heart.] No man acknowledgeth the hand of God in the calamities they feel, or humbles himſelf under it.

13 They ſhall be aſhamed of your revenues.] Margin reads, Ye ſhall be; the word revenues alludes to the reaping of thorns.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 4 Ariſe, go to Euphrates, and hide it there in a hole of the rock, &c.] God commanded the prophet to hide the girdle by the bank of the Euphrates, to ſignify the Jews being carried captive over that river. Moſt commentators are of opinion, that this was performed by the prophet only in viſion; it being very improbable, that God ſhould ſend him two ſuch long journeys, merely on this errand. The very learned biſhop of Glouceſter, in his Divine Legation, vol. II. p. 83, obſerves, That language being at firſt extremely rude and equivocal, ſo that men were at a loſs to explain any new conception, or uncommon adventure; they were naturally inſtigated to ſupply the deficiencies of ſpeech by apt and ſignificant ſigns. Accordingly in the firſt ages of the world, mutual converſe was upheld by a mixed diſcourſe of words and actions: this practice ſubſiſted long after the neceſſity had ceaſed; eſpecially among the Eaſtern people, whoſe natural temperature inclined them to a mode of converſation which ſo well exerciſed their vivacity and motion; and ſo much gratified it, by a perpetual repreſentation of material images: of this we have innumerable inſtances in holy ſcripture; as where the falſe prophet puſhed with horns of iron, to denote the entire overthrow of the Aſſyrians, 1 Kings, xxii. 11. where Jeremiah, by God's direction, hides a girdle in a hole of a rock near the Euphrates, (chap. xiii.) where he breaks a potter's veſſel in the ſight of the people, (chap. xix.) puts on bonds and yokes, (chap. xxvii.) and caſts a book into the Euphrates, (chap. li.) where Ezekiel, by the ſame appointment, delineates the ſiege of Jeruſalem on a tile, (chap. iv.) weighs the hair of his head in balances, (chap. v.) carries out his houſhold-ſtuff, (chap. xii.) and joins together the two ſticks for Judah and Iſrael, (chap. xxxvii.) By theſe actions the prophets inſtructed the people in the will of God, and converſed with them by ſigns.——The biſhop underſtands all the above-mentioned, as real actions, and not viſionary.

7 Then I went to Euphrates, and digged, and took the girdle from the place where I had hid it: and behold, the girdle was marred; it was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the LORD; After this manner will I mar the pride of Judah and the great pride of Jerusalem.

10 This evil people, which refuse to hear my words, which walk in the imagination of their heart, and walk after other gods, to serve them, and to worship them, shall even be as this girdle, which is good for nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaveth to the loins of a man, so have I caused to cleave unto me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Judah, saith the LORD; that they might be unto me for a people, and for a name, and for a praise, and for a glory: but they would not hear.

12 ¶ Therefore thou shalt speak unto them this word; Thus saith the LORD God of Israel; Every bottle shall be filled with wine. And they shall say unto thee, Do we not certainly know that every bottle shall be filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say unto them, Thus saith the LORD; Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, even the kings that sit upon David's throne, and the priests, and the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, with drunkenness.

14 And I will dash them one against another, even the fathers and the sons together, saith the LORD: I will not pity, nor spare, nor have mercy, but destroy them.

15 Hear ye, and give ear, be not proud: for the LORD hath spoken.

16 Give glory to the LORD your God, before he cause the darkness, and before your feet stumble upon the dark mountains, and while ye look for light, he turn it into the shadow of death, and make it gross darkness.

17 But if ye will not hear it, my soul shall weep in secret places for your pride; and mine eye shall weep sore, and run down with tears, because the LORD's flock is carried away captive.

18 Say unto the king, and to the queen, Humble your selves, sit down: for your principalities shall come down, even the crown of your glory.

19 The cities of the south shall be shut up, and none shall open them: Judah shall be carried away captive all of it, it shall be wholly carried away captive.

20 Lift up your eyes, and behold them that come from the north: where is the flock that was given thee, thy beautiful flock?

21 What wilt thou say when he shall punish thee? for thou hast taught them to be captains, and as chief over thee: shall not sorrows take thee as a woman in travail.

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things upon me? For the greatness of thine iniquity are thy skirts discovered, and thy heels made bare.

23 Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do evil.

---

12 Every bottle shall be filled with wine, &c.] Rather, every skin, &c. God's judgments are often represented under a cup of intoxicating liquor: accordingly God here declares, that as they have all sinned, so every one shall have his share in the punishment. Lowth.

16 Give glory to the Lord your God before he cause darkness.] Confess your faults, and humble yourselves under his mighty hand, before he bring upon you the night of affliction.

Before your feet stumble upon the dark mountains, &c.] Before the time come, when ye shall be forced to fly by night unto the mountains for fear of the enemy. Lowth.

17 If ye will not hear it, my soul shall weep in secret places, &c.] If ye resolve to harden yourselves against those messages I deliver unto you from the mouth of God, I will lay aside my public character, and secretly bewail your obstinacy and contempt of God's word and threatnings. Lowth.

19 The cities of the south.] i. e. Judah, which lay south of Babylon.

22 For the greatness of thy iniquity are thy skirts discovered.] Discover is here used in a particular sense, viz. to make any thing cease to be a cover: so Psal. xxix. 9.

23 Can the Ethiopian change his skin, &c.] This passage imports the extreme difficulty of overcoming bad habits; custom being a second nature: for we are not to take the words in a strict literal sense (for then it would have been of no consequence for the prophet to have exhorted the people to amendment) but only extend their meaning, so far as to denote, that a moral change in habitual sinners is almost as impossible as a natural one. Thus our Saviour compares the difficulty of a rich man's entering into the kingdom of God, to a natural impossibility; viz. to a camel's passing through the eye of a needle: but he qualifies the comparison by adding, what is impossible with men, is possible with God. Lowth.

24 Therefore will I ſcatter them as the ſtubble that paſſeth away by the wind of the wilderneſs.

25 This is thy lot, the portion of thy meaſures from me, ſaith the LORD; becauſe thou haſt forgotten me, and truſted in falſhood.

26 Therefore will I diſcover thy ſkirts upon thy face, that thy ſhame may appear.

27 I have ſeen thine adulteries, and thy neighings, the lewdneſs of thy whoredom, and thine abominations on the hills in the fields. Wo unto thee, O Jeruſalem! wilt thou not be made clean? when ſhall it once be?

CHAP. XIV.

1 A grievous famine, 7 cauſeth Jeremiah to pray. 10 The Lord will not be intreated. 13 Lying prophets are no excuſe.

THE word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah concerning the dearth.

2 Judah mourneth, and the gates thereof languiſh; they are black unto the ground; and the cry of Jeruſalem is gone up.

3 And their nobles have ſent their little ones to the waters: they came to the pits, and found no water; they returned with their veſſels empty: they were aſhamed and confounded, and covered their heads.

4 Becauſe the ground is chapt, for there was no rain in the earth, the plowmen were aſhamed, they covered their heads.

5 Yea, the hind alſo calved in the field, and forſook it, becauſe there was no graſs.

6 And the wild aſſes did ſtand in the high-places, they ſnuffed up the wind like dragons; their eyes did fail, becauſe there was no graſs.

7 ¶ O LORD, though our iniquities teſtify againſt us, do thou it for thy name's ſake: for our backſlidings are many; we have ſinned againſt thee.

8 O the hope of Iſrael, the ſaviour thereof in time of trouble, why ſhouldeſt thou be as a ſtranger in the land, and as a wayfaring man that turneth aſide to tarry for a night?

9 Why ſhouldeſt thou be as a man aſtoniſhed, as a mighty man that cannot ſave? yet thou, O LORD, art in the midſt of us, and we are called by thy name; leave us not.

10 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD unto this people; Thus have they loved to wander, they have not refrained their feet: therefore the LORD doth not accept them; he will now remember their iniquity, and viſit their ſins.

11 Then ſaid the LORD unto me, Pray not for this people for their good.

12 When they faſt, I will not hear their cry; and when they offer burnt-offering and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will conſume them by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

13 ¶ Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord GOD, behold, the prophets ſay unto them, Ye ſhall not ſee the ſword, neither ſhall ye have famine: but I will give you aſſured peace in this place.

14 Then the LORD ſaid unto me, The prophets propheſy lyes in my name: I ſent them not, neither have I commanded them, neither ſpake unto them: they propheſy unto you a falſe viſion, and divination, and a thing of nought, and the deceit of their heart.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD concerning the prophets that propheſy in my name, and I ſent them not, yet they ſay, Sword and famine ſhall not be in this land; By ſword and famine ſhall thoſe prophets be conſumed.

16 And the people to whom they propheſy ſhall be caſt out in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, be-

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Concerning the dearth.] Rather, the drought, as the LXX have it, and other verſions: this dearth was the effect of a great drought.

2 Judah mourneth, and the gates thereof languiſh, they are black unto the ground, &c.] By the gates of Judah are meant the cities thereof, together with their inhabitants, who have left their cities deſolate, to ſeek for ſuſtenance. The people look black and ghaſtly, and caſt themſelves down upon the ground through grief and deſpair. Lowth.

6 Like dragons.] Septuagint has nothing of dragons, nor does the ſenſe require it.

8 Why ſhouldeſt thou be as a ſtranger in the land? &c.] As one that careth not for us; as one no more concerned for our welfare, than a traveller for a place where he lodges only one night, and never expects to ſee it again?

10 Thus have they loved to wander, &c.] God returns an anſwer to the complaints and expoſtulations of the prophet, and tells the people, that their miſeries are owing to themſelves, who took pleaſure in going aſtray from the true God, and following the idolatries and corrupt cuſtoms of the heathens; which ſins he now viſits ſo ſeverely. Lowth.

cauſe of the famine and the ſword; and they ſhall have none to bury them, their wives, nor their ſons, nor their daughters: for I will pour their wickedneſs upon them.

17 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay this word unto them; Let mine eyes run down with tears night and day, and let them not ceaſe: for the virgin daughter of my people is broken with a great breach, with a very grievous blow.

18 If I go forth into the field, then behold, the ſlain with the ſword; and if I enter into the city, then behold, them that are ſick with famine: yea, both the prophet and the prieſt go about into a land that they know not.

19 Haſt thou utterly rejected Judah? hath thy ſoul loathed Zion? why haſt thou ſmitten us, and there is no healing for us? we looked for peace, and there is no good; and for the time of healing, and behold, trouble.

20 We acknowledge, O LORD, our wickedneſs, and the iniquity of our fathers: for we have ſinned againſt thee.

21 Do not abhor us, for thy name's ſake, do not diſgrace the throne of thy glory: remember, break not thy covenant with us.

22 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles that can cauſe rain? or can the heavens give ſhowers? art not thou he, O LORD our God? therefore we will wait upon thee: for thou haſt made all theſe things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The utter rejection and manifold judgements of the Jews. 10 Jeremiah complaining, 19 receiveth a gracious promiſe.

THEN ſaid the LORD unto me, Though Moſes and Samuel ſtood before me, yet my mind could not be toward this people: caſt them out of my ſight, and let them go forth.

2 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they ſay unto thee, Whither ſhall we go forth? then thou ſhalt tell them, Thus ſaith the LORD; Such as are for death, to death; and ſuch as are for the ſword, to the ſword; and ſuch as are for the famine, to famine; and ſuch as are for captivity, to captivity.

3 And I will appoint over them four kinds, ſaith the LORD: the ſword to ſlay; and the dogs, to tear; and the fowls of the heaven, and the beaſts of the earth, to devour and deſtroy.

4 And I will cauſe them to be removed into all kingdoms of the earth; becauſe of Manaſſeh the ſon of Hezekiah king of Judah, for that which he did in Jeruſalem.

5 For who ſhall have pity upon thee, O Jeruſalem? or who ſhall bemoan thee? or who ſhall go aſide to aſk how thou doeſt?

6 Thou haſt forſaken me, ſaith the LORD, thou art gone backward: therefore will I ſtretch out my hand againſt thee, and deſtroy thee; I am weary with repenting.

7 And I will fan them with a fan in the gates of the land; I will bereave them of children, I will deſtroy my people, ſince they return not from their ways.

8 Their widows are increaſed to me above the ſand of the ſeas: I have brought upon them, againſt the mother of the young men, a ſpoiler at noon-day: I have cauſed him to fall upon it ſuddenly, and terrors upon the city.

9 She that hath born ſeven languiſheth: ſhe hath given up the ghoſt, her ſun is gone down while it was yet day: ſhe hath been aſhamed

17 The virgin daughter of my people.] Thoſe cities were called virgins which never came into a conqueror's hands.

21 Do not diſgrace the throne of thy glory, &c.] Theſe words are principally to be underſtood of the temple; the prophet beſeeches God not to give up that ſtructure to be prophaned by infidels, the place which he had choſen for his peculiar reſidence, where he ſat between the cherubims as upon a throne.

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Though Moſes and Samuel ſtood before me, yet my mind could not be toward this people, &c.] God declares he would not liſten to his greateſt favourites. Moſes obtained pardon for the people after their ſin in making the molten calf, and again after their deſpiſing the promiſed land. Samuel's interceſſion prevailed for their deliverance out of the hands of the Philiſtines; and therefore theſe two perſons are mentioned together, as remarkable for the prevalence of their prayers. But here God declares, that if theſe very perſons were alive, and in that near attendance on him which they formerly enjoyed, yet even their prayers ſhould not avert his judgments from this people. Lowth.

2 Such as are for death, &c.] Death here ſignifies famine.

4 I will cauſe them to be removed, &c.] See note on Deut. xxviii. 25.

Becauſe of Manaſſeh.] Not for his ſins only, but for the people's alſo, becauſe they conſented to his wickedneſs, 2 Kings, xxi.

6 I am weary of repenting.] When God ſuſpends the execution of his judgments, he is ſaid to repent of the evil he had threatened. Lowth.

8 The mother of the young men.] i. e. Jeruſalem.

9 Her ſun is gone down while it was yet day, &c.] She is like a young man who dieth in his full ſtrength.

and confounded: and the reſidue of them will I deliver to the ſword before their enemies, ſaith the LORD.

10 ¶ Wo is me, my mother, that thou haſt born me a man of ſtrife, and a man of contention to the whole earth! I have neither lent on uſury, nor men have lent to me on uſury, yet every one of them doth curſe me.

11 The LORD ſaid, Verily it ſhall be well with thy remnant, verily I will cauſe the enemy to entreat thee well in the time of evil and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall iron break the northern iron, and the ſteel?

13 Thy ſubſtance and thy treaſures will I give to the ſpoil without price, and that for all thy ſins, even in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to paſs with thine enemies, into a land which thou knoweſt not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which ſhall burn upon you.

15 O LORD, thou knoweſt: remember me, and viſit me, and revenge me of my perſecutors; take me not away in thy long-ſuffering: know that for thy ſake I have ſuffered rebuke.

16 Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart: for I am called by thy name, O LORD God of hoſts.

17 I ſat not in the aſſembly of the mockers, nor rejoiced; I ſat alone becauſe of thy hand; for thou haſt filled me with indignation.

18 Why is my pain perpetual? and my wound incurable, which refuſeth to be healed? wilt thou be altogether unto me as a lyar, and as waters that fail?

19 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, If thou return, then will I bring thee again, and thou ſhalt ſtand before me: and if thou take forth the precious from the vile, thou ſhalt be as my mouth: let them return unto thee; but return not thou unto them.

20 And I will make thee unto this people a fenced braſen wall: and they ſhall fight againſt thee, but they ſhall not prevail againſt thee: for I am with thee to ſave thee, and to deliver thee, ſaith the LORD.

21 And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the terrible.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The utter ruin of the Jews foreſhewn. 14 Their return from captivity ſtranger than their deliverance out of Egypt.

THE word of the LORD came alſo unto me, ſaying,

2 Thou ſhalt not take thee a wife, neither ſhalt thou have ſons nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus ſaith the LORD concerning the ſons and concerning the daughters that are born in this place, and concerning their mothers that bare them, and concerning their fathers that begat them in this land;

4 They ſhall die of grievous deaths: they ſhall not be lamented; neither ſhall they be buried; but they ſhall be as dung upon the face of the earth: and they ſhall be conſumed by the ſword, and by famine; and their carcaſes ſhall be meat for the fowls of heaven and for the beaſts of the earth.

5 For thus ſaith the LORD; Enter not into the houſe of mourning, neither go to lament, nor bemoan them: For I have taken away my peace from this people, ſaith the LORD, even loving-kindneſs and mercies.

---

11 It ſhall be well with thy remnant.] Some interpret this, that the laſt days of Jeremiah ſhould be happy; others, that his family ſhould eſcape the evils threatened.

12 Shall iron break northern iron?] As common iron cannot contend for hardneſs with the northern iron; ſo the Jews cannot ſtand againſt the Babylonians.

16 Thy words were found, and I did eat them, &c.] As ſoon as I perceived thy words, I treaſured them in my memory; I meditated upon them, and inwardly digeſted them.

18 Wilt thou be altogether unto me as a liar, and as waters that fail?] Thou haſt promiſed to be my protector againſt all mine enemies, and wilt thou altogether deceive me; like rivulets, which being dried up in the ſummer, diſappoint the thirſty traveller?

19 If thou take forth the precious from the vile.] If thou encourage the good, and reprove the wicked, thou ſhalt be as my mouth hath promiſed.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Thou ſhalt not take thee a wife, neither ſhalt thou have ſons nor daughters in this place.] Fruitfulneſs was promiſed as a bleſſing under the law, but ceaſed to be ſo in ſuch difficult times as were coming upon the Jewiſh nation: for parents could not promiſe themſelves any comfort in their children, who muſt be expoſed to the many miſeries that attend an hoſtile invaſion, and a conquering army. Lowth.

6 Both the great and the ſmall ſhall die in this land: they ſhall not be buried, neither ſhall men lament for them, nor cut themſelves, nor make themſelves bald for them.

7 Neither ſhall men tear themſelves for them in mourning, to comfort them for the dead: neither ſhall men give them the cup of conſolation to drink for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou ſhalt not alſo go into the houſe of feaſting, to ſit with them to eat and to drink.

9 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael; Behold, I will cauſe to ceaſe out of this place in your eyes, and in your days, the voice of mirth and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride.

10 And it ſhall come to paſs when thou ſhalt ſhew this people all theſe words, and they ſhall ſay unto thee, Wherefore hath the LORD pronounced all this great evil againſt us? or what is our iniquity? or what is our ſin that we have committed againſt the LORD our God?

11 Then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Becauſe your fathers have forſaken me, ſaith the LORD, and have walked after other gods, and have ſerved them, and have worſhipped them, and have forſaken me, and have not kept my law;

12 And ye have done worſe than your fathers; for behold, ye walk every one after the imagination of his evil heart, that they may not hearken unto me:

13 Therefore will I caſt you out of this land, into a land that ye know not, neither ye nor your fathers; and there ſhall ye ſerve other gods day and night; where I will not ſhew you favour.

14 ¶ Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that it ſhall no more be ſaid, The LORD liveth that brought up the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt;

15 But, The LORD liveth that brought up the children of Iſrael from the land of the north, and from all the lands whither he had driven them: and I will bring them again into their land that I gave unto their fathers.

16 Behold, I will ſend for many fiſhers, ſaith the LORD, and they ſhall fiſh them; and after will I ſend for many hunters, and they ſhall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the holes of the rock.

17 For mine eyes are upon all their ways: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquity hid from mine eyes.

18 And firſt I will recompenſe their iniquity and their ſin double; becauſe they have defiled my land, they have filled mine inheritance with the carcaſes of their deteſtable and abominable things.

19 O LORD, my ſtrength and my fortreſs, and my refuge in the day of affliction, the Gentiles ſhall come unto thee from the ends of the earth, and ſhall ſay, Surely our fathers have inherited lyes, vanity, and things wherein there is no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods unto himſelf, and they are no gods?

21 Therefore behold, I will this once cauſe them to know, I will cauſe them to know mine hand and my might: and they ſhall know that my name is, The LORD.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The captivity of Judah for ſin. 5 Truſt in man is curſed, 7 in God is bleſſed. 9 The deceitful heart cannot deceive God. 12 The ſalvation of God.

9 For I will cauſe to ceaſe out of this place, &c.] In the time of the general deſolation enſuing, all ſolemn ſeaſons of mirth and gladneſs, whether public or private, ſhall ceaſe.

16 I will ſend for many fiſhers---and they ſhall fiſh them; and for many hunters, and they ſhall hunt them, &c.] It is common for the ſacred writers to repreſent enemies and oppreſſors under the metaphors of fiſhers and hunters; becauſe they uſe all the methods of open force and ſecret ſtratagem, in order to make men their prey. Theſe two ſimilitudes imply, that the Chaldeans ſhall make an intire conqueſt of the whole land, and ſtrip it entirely of its riches and inhabitants; for what ſhall eſcape one party ſhall fall into the hands of another. Lowth.

18 With the carcaſes of their deteſtable and abominable things.] i. e. With their idols, which are called carcaſes, being not only without life, but alſo deteſtable in the ſight of God.

19 O Lord, my ſtrength and my fortreſs---the Gentiles ſhall come unto thee from the ends of the earth, &c.] To demonſtrate more emphatically the abſurdity of forſaking the true God, and apoſtatizing to idolatry, the prophet foretels that the time will come when the very Gentiles themſelves ſhall be aſhamed of the idolatry they and their forefathers have ſo long been guilty of, humbly confeſs their ſin, and addreſs themſelves to the true God in all their wants, as their only refuge and defence. Lowth.

Notes

THE ſin of Judah is written with a pen of iron, and with the point of a diamond: it is graven upon the table of their heart, and upon the horns of your altars;

2 Whilſt their children remember their altars and their groves by the green trees upon the high hills.

3 O my mountain in the field, I will give thy ſubſtance and all thy treaſures to the ſpoil, and thy high places for ſin, throughout all thy borders.

4 And thou, even thy ſelf, ſhalt diſcontinue from thine heritage that I gave thee; and I will cauſe thee to ſerve thine enemies in the land which thou knoweſt not: for ye have kindled a fire in mine anger, which ſhall burn for ever.

5 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD; Curſed be the man that truſteth in man, and maketh fleſh his arm, and whoſe heart departeth from the LORD.

6 For he ſhall be like the heath in the deſert, and ſhall not ſee when good cometh; but ſhall inhabit the parched places in the wilderneſs, in a ſalt land and not inhabited.

7 ¶ Bleſſed is the man that truſteth in the LORD, and whoſe hope the LORD is:

8 For he ſhall be as a tree planted by the waters, and that ſpreadeth out her roots by the river; and ſhall not ſee when heat cometh; but her leaf ſhall be green; and ſhall not be careful in the year of drought, neither ſhall ceaſe from yielding fruit.

9 ¶ The heart is deceitful above all things and deſperately wicked: who can know it?

10 I the LORD ſearch the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings.

11 As the partridge ſitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; ſo he that getteth riches, and not by right, ſhall leave them in the midſt of his days, and at his end ſhall be a fool.

12 ¶ A glorious high throne from the beginning is the place of our ſanctuary.

13 O LORD, the hope of Iſrael, all that forſake thee ſhall be aſhamed, and they that depart from me ſhall be written in the earth, becauſe they have forſaken the LORD, the fountain of living waters.

14 Heal me, O LORD, and I ſhall be healed; ſave me, and I ſhall be ſaved: for thou art my praiſe.

15 Behold, they ſay unto me, Where is the word of the LORD? let it come now.

16 As for me, I have not haſtened from being a paſtor to follow thee: neither have I deſired the woful day; thou knoweſt: that which came out of my lips was right before thee.

17 Be not a terror unto me: thou art my hope in the day of evil.

18 Let them be confounded that perſecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be diſmayed, but let not me be diſmayed: bring upon them the day of evil, and deſtroy them with double deſtruction.

19 Thus ſaith the LORD unto me; Go, and ſtand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Judah come in, and by the which they go out, and in all the gates of Jeruſalem;

20 And ſay unto them, Hear ye the word of the LORD, ye kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, that enter in by theſe gates:

Notes on the Seventeenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The ſin of Judah is written with a pen of iron, and with the point of a diamond, &c.] In indelible characters, like things engraven on tables of ſtone, to preſerve the memory of them to poſterity.

3 O my mountain in the field, &c.] A periphraſis of the temple, called in other places of ſcripture the mountain of the Lord's houſe, and the holy mountain. And as the temple was conſidered as the principal part of Jeruſalem, it is uſed to expreſs the whole city. Lowth.

5 Curſed be the man that truſteth in man.] This alludes to the Jews confiding in the aſſiſtance which the Egyptians and other allies would afford them againſt the Babylonians, who, he tells them, would deceive them, and make them forfeit the Divine protection. Lowth.

8 Shall not ſee when heat cometh.] Or, ſhall not fear, &c.

9 The heart is deceitful above all things.] Here he aſſigns a reaſon why we ought to put our truſt in God, and not in man, who often under the pretences of ſincerity, conceals the moſt miſchievous deſigns. Lowth.

10 I try the reins.] i. e. The inward thoughts.

12 A glorious high throne from the beginning is the place of your ſanctuary.] The kingdom of the Almighty is from everlaſting: his throne is in heaven, the place of his peculiar reſidence, of which his temple at Jeruſalem is but an imperfect reſemblance. The words inſtruct the Jews to look up to God in the heavens, and not fancy the temple the only place from which they might addreſs themſelves to him, which made them think he would never forſake that ſeat of his reſidence, nor the city where he had placed his name. Lowth.

21 Thus ſaith the LORD; Take heed to your ſelves, and bear no burden on the ſabbath-day, nor bring it in by the gates of Jeruſalem:

22 Neither carry forth a burden out of your houſes on the ſabbath-day, neither do ye any work, but hallow ye the ſabbath-day, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their ear, but made their neck ſtiff, that they might not hear nor receive inſtruction.

24 And it ſhall come to paſs, if ye diligently hearken unto me, ſaith the LORD, to bring in no burden through the gates of this city on the ſabbath-day, but hallow the ſabbath-day, to do no work therein;

25 Then ſhall there enter into the gates of this city kings and princes ſitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horſes, they, and their princes, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem: and this city ſhall remain for ever.

26 And they ſhall come from the cities of Judah, and from the places about Jeruſalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plain, and from the mountains, and from the ſouth, bringing burnt-offerings, and ſacrifices, and meat-offerings, and incenſe, and bringing ſacrifices of praiſe unto the houſe of the LORD.

27 But if ye will not hearken unto me to hallow the ſabbath-day, and not to bear a burden, even entering in at the gates of Jeruſalem on the ſabbath-day; then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it ſhall devour the palaces of Jeruſalem, and it ſhall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Under the type of a potter God ſheweth his abſolute power of diſpoſing of nations. 11 Judgements threatened to Judah.

THE word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, ſaying,

2 Ariſe, and go down to the potter's houſe, and there will I cauſe thee to hear my words.

3 Then I went down to the potter's houſe, and behold, he wrought a work on the wheels.

4 And the veſſel that he made of clay was marred in the hand of the potter: ſo he made it again another veſſel, as ſeemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the LORD came to me, ſaying,

6 O houſe of Iſrael, cannot I do with you as this potter? ſaith the LORD. Behold; as the clay is in the potter's hand, ſo are ye in mine hand, O houſe of Iſrael.

7 At what inſtant I ſhall ſpeak concerning a nation and concerning a kingdom to pluck up and to pull down and to deſtroy it;

8 If that nation, againſt whom I have pronounced, turn from their evil, I will repent of the evil that I thought to do unto them.

9 And at what inſtant I ſhall ſpeak concerning a nation and concerning a kingdom to build and to plant it.

10 If it do evil in my ſight, that it obey not my voice, then I will repent of the good wherewith I ſaid I would benefit them.

11 ¶ Now therefore go to, ſpeak to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, I frame evil againſt you, and deviſe a device againſt you: return ye now every one from his evil way, and make your ways and your doings good.

12 And they ſaid, There is no hope: but we will walk after our own devices, and we will every one do the imagination of his evil heart.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD; Aſk ye now among the heathen, who hath heard ſuch things. The virgin of Iſrael hath done a very horrible thing.

14 Will a man leave the ſnow of Lebanon

25 Then ſhall there enter into the gates of this city, kings and princes, &c.] Hence it appears, that the judgments denounced againſt Jeruſalem, at leaſt as far as they threatened the city with utter deſtruction, were not irreverſible. And, from Jeremiah's advice to Zedekiah, chap. xxxviii. 17. it may be concluded, that if the king had hearkened to that counſel, the city would not have been deſtroyed, and he himſelf might have continued a tributary king under Nebuchadnezzar. Lowth.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 8 I will repent of the evil that I thought to do unto them, &c.] Whenever repentance is aſcribed to God, it muſt be meant only of a change with regard to the outward adminiſtrations of his providence, and his dealing with men otherwiſe than he did before. Nor does this imply any change in God, but in ourſelves. He ſtill acts by the ſame rules; but we, according to our different behaviour, become the objects either of his favour or diſpleaſure. Lowth.

which cometh from the rock of the field? or shall the cold flowing waters that come from another place be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten me, they have burned incense to vanity, and they have caused them to stumble in their ways from the ancient paths, to walk in paths, in a way not cast up;

16 To make their land desolate, and a perpetual hissing; every one that passeth thereby shall be astonished, and wag his head.

17 I will scatter them as with an east-wind before the enemy; I will shew them the back and not the face in the day of their calamity.

18 Then said they, Come, and let us devise devices against Jeremiah; for the law shall not perish from the priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor the word from the prophet: come, and let us smite him with the tongue, and let us not give heed to any of his words.

19 Give heed to me, O LORD, and hearken to the voice of them that contend with me.

20 Shall evil be recompensed for good? for they have digged a pit for my soul. Remember that I stood before thee to speak good for them, and to turn away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore deliver up their children to the famine, and pour out their blood by the force of the sword; and let their wives be bereaved of their children, and be widows; and let their men be put to death; let their young men be slain by the sword in battle.

22 Let a cry be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring a troop suddenly upon them: for they have digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feet.

23 Yet, LORD, thou knowest all their counsel against me to slay me: forgive not their iniquity, neither blot out their sin from thy sight; but let them be overthrown before thee: deal thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

Under the type of breaking a potter's vessel is foreshewed the desolation of the Jews for their sins.

THUS saith the LORD, Go, and get a potter's earthen bottle, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the priests;

2 And go forth unto the valley of the son of Hinnom, which is by the entry of the east-gate, and proclaim there the words that I shall tell thee,

3 And say, Hear ye the word of the LORD, O kings of Judah, and inhabitants of Jerusalem; Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his ears shall tingle.

4 Because they have forsaken me, and have estranged this place, and have burned incense in it unto other gods, whom neither they nor their fathers have known, nor the kings of Judah, and have filled this place with the blood of innocents;

5 They have built also the high places of Baal, to burn their sons with fire for burnt-offerings unto Baal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my mind:

6 Therefore behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that this place shall no more be called Tophet, nor, The valley of the son of Hinnom, but, The valley of slaughter.

14 Will a man leave the snow of Lebanon, which cometh from the rock of the field? &c.] Lebanon derives its name from the whiteness of the snow which covers the summit of it even in the midst of summer. But the word which our translators have rendered from the rock, signifies also dew or moisture; and therefore the words may be translated thus: Will a man leave the moisture of the field for the snow-water of Lebanon? Lowth.

18 Let us devise devices against Jeremiah, &c.] Let us accuse him of being a false prophet; for his threatnings plainly contradict God's promises to his people, whereby we are assured, that there shall always be a succession of priests to explain the law; of scribes, or learned men, to elucidate the more difficult parts of it; and of prophets to instruct the people in the knowledge of futurity. Lowth.

Let us smite him with the tongue.] Or, for the tongue, i. e. for his bold speeches against the government.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Go, and get a potter's earthen bottle, &c.] An earthen pitcher with a narrow neck to drink out of. By this emblem the prophet signified that if God pleased, the city and people might be as easily destroyed, as an earthen vessel could be broken. See note on chap. xiii. 4.

5 To burn their sons with fire for burnt-offerings unto Baal, &c.] The idol to whom the inhuman sacrifices were offered is elsewhere called Moloch. And it should be observed, that Baal and Moloch are equivalent terms, both signifying lord or king, and seem to have been promiscuously given by each idolatrous nation to that idol they chiefly worshipped. Lowth.

7 And I will make void the counſel of Judah and Jeruſalem in this place; and I will cauſe them to fall by the ſword before their enemies, and by the hands of them that ſeek their lives: and their carcaſes will I give to be meat for the fowls of the heaven and for the beaſts of the earth.

8 And I will make this city deſolate, and an hiſſing; every one that paſſeth thereby ſhall be aſtoniſhed and hiſs, becauſe of all the plagues thereof.

9 And I will cauſe them to eat the fleſh of their ſons and the fleſh of their daughters, and they ſhall eat every one the fleſh of his friend, in the ſiege and ſtraitneſs wherewith their enemies and they that ſeek their lives ſhall ſtraiten them.

10 Then ſhalt thou break the bottle in the ſight of the men that go with thee,

11 And ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Even ſo will I break this people and this city, as one breaketh a potter's veſſel, that cannot be made whole again: and they ſhall bury them in Tophet, till there be no place to bury.

12 Thus will I do unto this place, ſaith the LORD, and to the inhabitants thereof, and even make this city as Tophet.

13 And the houſes of Jeruſalem, and the houſes of the kings of Judah ſhall be defiled as the place of Tophet, becauſe of all the houſes, upon whoſe roofs they have burned incenſe unto all the hoſt of heaven, and have poured out drink-offerings unto other gods.

14 Then came Jeremiah from Tophet, whither the LORD had ſent him to propheſy; and he ſtood in the court of the LORD's houſe, and ſaid to all the people,

15 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Behold, I will bring upon this city and upon all her towns all the evil that I have pronounced againſt it, becauſe they have hardened their necks, that they might not hear my words.

CHAP. XX.

1 Paſhur ſmiting Jeremiah, receiveth a new name, and a fearful doom. 7 Jeremiah complaineth of contempt, 10 of treachery, 14 and of his birth.

NOW Paſhur the ſon of Immer the prieſt, who was alſo chief governor in the houſe of the LORD, heard that Jeremiah propheſied theſe things.

2 Then Paſhur ſmote Jeremiah the prophet, and put him in the ſtocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin, which was by the houſe of the LORD.

3 And it came to paſs on the morrow that Paſhur brought forth Jeremiah out of the ſtocks. Then ſaid Jeremiah unto him, The LORD hath not called thy name Paſhur, but Magor-miſſabib.

4 For thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, I will make thee a terror to thy ſelf and to all thy friends; and they ſhall fall by the ſword of their enemies, and thine eyes ſhall behold it: and I will give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall carry them captive into Babylon, and ſhall ſlay them with the ſword.

5 Moreover, I will deliver all the ſtrength of this city, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treaſures of the kings of Judah will I give into the hand of their enemies, which ſhall ſpoil them, and take them, and carry them to Babylon.

6 And thou, Paſhur, and all that dwell in thine houſe, ſhall go into captivity: and thou ſhalt come to Babylon, and there thou ſhalt

9 They ſhall eat the fleſh of their ſons, &c.] A terrible judgment threatened by Moſes, Deut. xxviii. 53; and fulfilled in the ſiege of Jeruſalem.

12 Make this city as Tophet.] i. e. A place of ſlaughter.

13 The houſes of Jeruſalem---ſhall be defiled as the place of Tophet, &c.] Polluted with dead bodies.

15 They have hardened their necks.] Becauſe they are obſtinate.

Notes on the Twentieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Paſhur the ſon of Immer the prieſt, &c.] Paſhur being the head of his family, had a principal authority in directing the affairs of the temple; and therefore is here called a chief governor in the houſe of the Lord. But if we ſuppoſe Paſhur to have been, in a ſtrict ſenſe, chief, or ſupreme governor of the houſe of God, he ſeems to have been the ſame officer that is called Captain of the temple, Acts iv. 1.

3 The Lord hath not called thy name Paſhur, but Magor-miſſabib.] The name I give thee ſignifies fear or terror round about; and thou ſhalt be a dreadful example of thoſe calamities which are coming upon thy friends, and all the inhabitants of this city.

die, and ſhalt be buried there, thou, and all thy friends, to whom thou haſt propheſied lyes.

7 ¶ O LORD, thou haſt deceived me, and I was deceived: thou art ſtronger than I, and haſt prevailed: I am in deriſion daily, every one mocketh me.

8 For ſince I ſpake, I cried out, I cried, violence and ſpoil; becauſe the word of the LORD was made a reproach unto me and a deriſion daily.

9 Then I ſaid, I will not make mention of him, nor ſpeak any more in his name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire ſhut up in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not ſtay.

10 ¶ For I heard the defaming of many, fear on every ſide. Report, ſay they, and we will report it. All my familiars watched for my halting, ſaying, Peradventure he will be enticed, and we ſhall prevail againſt him, and we ſhall take our revenge on him.

11 But the LORD is with me as a mighty terrible one: therefore my perſecutors ſhall ſtumble, and they ſhall not prevail: they ſhall be greatly aſhamed; for they ſhall not proſper: their everlaſting confuſion ſhall never be forgotten.

12 But, O LORD of hoſts, that trieſt the righteous, and ſeeſt the reins and the heart, let me ſee thy vengeance on them: for unto thee have I opened my cauſe.

13 Sing unto the LORD, praiſe ye the LORD: for he hath delivered the ſoul of the poor from the hand of evil-doers.

14 ¶ Curſed be the day wherein I was born: let not the day wherein my mother bare me be bleſſed.

15 Curſed be the man who brought tidings to my father, ſaying, A man-child is born unto thee; making him very glad.

16 And let that man be as the cities which the LORD overthrew, and repented not: and let him hear the cry in the morning, and the ſhouting at noon-tide;

17 Becauſe he ſlew me not from the womb; or that my mother might have been my grave, and her womb always great with me.

18 Wherefore came I forth out of the womb to ſee labour and ſorrow, that my days ſhould be conſumed with ſhame?

CHAP. XXI.

1 Zedekiah enquireth the event of Nebuchadrezzar's war. 3 A hard ſiege foretold.

THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the LORD, when king Zedekiah ſent unto him Paſhur the ſon of Melchiah, and Zephaniah the ſon of Maaſeiah the prieſt, ſaying,

2 Enquire, I pray thee, of the LORD for us; for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon maketh war againſt us; if ſo be that the LORD will deal with us according to all his wondrous works, that he may go up from us.

3 ¶ Then ſaid Jeremiah unto them, Thus ſhall ye ſay to Zedekiah;

---

7 O Lord, thou haſt deceived me.] The following verſes contain the doleful reflections of Jeremiah on the ill ſucceſs of his prophecies, which had little effect upon others, and brought many calamities upon himſelf. The ſenſe of what he ſays is this, Thou haſt promiſed to be my ſafeguard againſt mine enemies, but I find myſelf diſappointed, and expoſed to all their malice.

Thou art ſtronger than I, and haſt prevailed, &c.] It was ſore againſt my will that I undertook the prophetical office; but thy commands and inſpiration in a manner conſtrained me.

8 Since I ſpake, I cried out, &c.] Since I began to prophecy, I have reaſon to complain of the hardſhips I have undergone on that account.

11 The Lord is with me as a mighty and terrible one, &c.] The prophet having given vent to his melancholy reflections, begins to chear up his ſpirits by the comfortable promiſes he had received from the Almighty, by which he was aſſured that his enemies ſhould be diſappointed in the ill deſigns they had formed againſt him. Lowth.

14 Curſed be the day wherein I was born.] This, and the following verſes, repreſent the melancholy thoughts that oppreſſed the mind of the prophet, while he was ſtruggling with the reproach and malice of his enemies; and are written in a poetical ſtrain like the lamentations of Job, wherein he expreſſes his wiſhes that he had never been born. Lowth.

Let not the day be bleſſed.] Let it not be celebrated with thoſe good wiſhes which are commonly uſed on birth-days.

15 Curſed be the man who brought tidings to my father, &c.] In this lamentation every circumſtance proper to raiſe the paſſions, is mentioned; and therefore not to be conſidered as ſo many expreſſions of indignation or malice, but rather of mourning and ſorrow. Of the ſame kind are thoſe beautiful figures in David's funeral ſong upon Saul and Jonathan, Ye mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew, neither let there be rain upon you, &c. 2 Sam. i. 21.

Notes on the Twenty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 Enquire, I pray you, of the Lord.] Not that the king was touched with the repentance of his ſins, but that the prophet might pray unto God to take this plague away, as Pharaoh intreated Moſes.

4 Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael; Behold, I will turn back the weapons of war that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight againſt the king of Babylon, and againſt the Chaldeans which beſiege you without the walls, and I will aſſemble them into the midſt of this city.

5 And I my ſelf will fight againſt you with an out-ſtretched hand and with a ſtrong arm, even in anger and in fury and in great wrath.

6 And I will ſmite the inhabitants of this city, both man and beaſt: they ſhall die of a great peſtilence.

7 And afterwards, ſaith the LORD, I will deliver Zedekiah king of Judah, and his ſervants, and the people, and ſuch as are left in this city from the peſtilence, from the ſword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of thoſe that ſeek their life: and he ſhall ſmite them with the edge of the ſword; he ſhall not ſpare them, neither have pity, nor have mercy.

8 And unto this people thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, I ſet before you the way of life, and the way of death.

9 He that abideth in this city ſhall die by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Chaldeans that beſiege you, he ſhall live, and his life ſhall be unto him for a prey.

10 For I have ſet my face againſt this city for evil, and not for good, ſaith the LORD: it ſhall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall burn it with fire.

11 And touching the houſe of the king of Judah, ſay, Hear ye the word of the LORD;

12 O houſe of David, thus ſaith the LORD; Execute judgement in the morning, and deliver him that is ſpoiled out of the hand of the oppreſſor, leſt my fury go out like fire, and burn that none can quench it, becauſe of the evil of your doings.

13 Behold, I am againſt thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rock of the plain, ſaith the LORD; which ſay, Who ſhall come down againſt us? or who ſhall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will puniſh you according to the fruit of your doings, ſaith the LORD: and I will kindle a fire in the foreſt thereof, and it ſhall devour all things round about it.

CHAP. XXII.

1. An exhortation to repentance. 10 The judgement of Shallum, 20 of Coniah.

THUS ſaith the LORD; Go down to the houſe of the king of Judah, and ſpeak there this word,

2 And ſay, Hear the word of the LORD, O king of Judah, that ſitteſt upon the throne of David, thou, and thy ſervants, and thy people that enter in by theſe gates;

3 Thus ſaith the LORD; Execute ye judgement and righteouſneſs, and deliver the ſpoiled out of the hand of the oppreſſor: and do no wrong, do no violence to the ſtranger, the fatherleſs, nor the widow, neither ſhed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye do this thing indeed, then ſhall there enter in by the gates of this houſe kings ſitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horſes, he and his ſervants, and his people.

5 But if ye will not hear theſe words, I ſwear by my ſelf, ſaith the LORD, that this houſe ſhall become a deſolation.

6 For thus ſaith the LORD unto the king's houſe of Judah; Thou art Gilead unto me,

7 He ſhall ſmite them with the edge of the ſword, &c.] Zedekiah himſelf was not ſlain, but carried to Babylon, where he died; though his ſons and his great men were ſlain by the command of Nebuchadnezzar. But it is common in all writers to expreſs that indefinitely, which is true of the greateſt part of the perſons concerned. Lowth.

8 I ſet before you the way of life and death.] i. e. By yielding to, or reſiſting Nebuchadnezzar.

13 Behold, I am againſt thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rock of the plain, &c.] A deſcription of Jeruſalem; the former expreſſion denoting the lower part of the city, which was ſurrounded by hills, and the latter mount Sion. Lowth.

14 I will kindle a fire in the foreſt thereof.] The word foreſt is often uſed metaphorically by the prophets to ſignify a city; becauſe its ſtately buildings reſemble cedars ſtanding in their ſeveral ranks. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 4 The gates of this houſe.] The text reads, The gates of this city. See chap. xvii. 25.

6 Thou art Gilead unto me, and the head of Lebanon, &c.] Though thou wert never ſo precious in my ſight, wert as valuable for riches and plenty as the fat paſtures of Gilead, and thy buildings as ſtately as the tall cedars of Lebanon, yet, unleſs thy princes and people reform, thou ſhalt become nothing but ruin and deſolation. Lowth.

and the head of Lebanon: yet ſurely I will make thee a wilderneſs, and cities which are not inhabited.

7 And I will prepare deſtroyers againſt thee, every one with his weapons: and they ſhall cut down thy choice cedars, and caſt them into the fire.

8 And many nations ſhall paſs by this city, and they ſhall ſay every man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the LORD done thus unto this great city?

9 Then they ſhall anſwer; Becauſe they have forſaken the covenant of the LORD their God, and worſhipped other gods, and ſerved them.

10 ¶ Weep ye not for the dead, neither bemoan him: but weep ſore for him that goeth away; for he ſhall return no more, nor ſee his native country.

11 For thus ſaith the LORD touching Shallum the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, which reigned inſtead of Joſiah his father, which went forth out of this place; He ſhall not return thither any more:

12 But he ſhall die in the place whither they have led him captive, and ſhall ſee this land no more.

13 Wo unto him that buildeth his houſe by unrighteouſneſs, and his chambers by wrong; that uſeth his neighbour's ſervice without wages, and giveth him not for his work;

14 That ſaith, I will build me a wide houſe and large chambers, and cutteth him out windows: and it is cieled with cedar, and painted with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reign, becauſe thou cloſeſt thy ſelf in cedar? did not thy father eat and drink, and do judgement and juſtice, and then it was well with him?

16 He judged the cauſe of the poor and needy: then it was well with him: was not this to know me? ſaith the LORD.

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are not but for thy coveteouſneſs; and for to ſhed innocent blood, and for oppreſſion, and for violence, to do it.

18 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD concerning Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah; They ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, Ah, my brother! or, Ah, ſiſter! they ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, Ah, lord! or, Ah, his glory!

19 He ſhall be buried with the burial of an aſs, drawn and caſt forth beyond the gates of Jeruſalem.

20 ¶ Go up to Lebanon, and cry; and liſt up thy voice in Baſhan, and cry from the paſſages: for all thy lovers are deſtroyed.

21 I ſpake unto thee in thy proſperity; but thou ſaidſt, I will not hear. This hath been

---

7 Thy choice cedars.] Thy noble buildings; perhaps made of cedar.

10 Weep ye not for the dead, &c.] Weep not for Joſiah, for he is buried in peace, and taken away from the evil to come, but rather lament Jehoahaz his ſucceſſor, whom Pharaoh-necho hath carried captive into Egypt; from thence never to return.

11 Touching Shallum the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, which reigned inſtead of Joſiah his father, &c.] Shallum here mentioned can be no other than Jehoahaz; for the characters given in the text will agree to none elſe. It was he that reigned inſtead of his father Joſiah, and it was he that went out of Jeruſalem, or that was carried away captive, and never returned any more. Why he is called Shallum is not eaſy at this diſtance of time to conjecture; ſome ſuppoſe the name was given him by way of reproach, becauſe of the ſhortneſs of his reign, in which he reſembled king Shallum, mentioned 2 Kings, xv. 13. as Jeconiah is called Coniah, by way of contempt, verſe 24. Lowth.

13 Wo unto him that buildeth his houſe by unrighteouſneſs, &c.] The prophet proceeds to denounce God's judgments againſt Jehoiakim, who it ſeems had built himſelf a ſtately palace in thoſe calamitous times, and took no care to pay the wages of his workmen; but ſupported his own luxury by oppreſſing thoſe who were to live by their labour: a crying ſin, too common among the great men of the world. Lowth.

15 Then it was well with him.] Noldius reads, Therefore it was, &c.

18 They ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, Ah, my brother! or ah, ſiſter! &c.] The prophet here repeats part of the ſong which the public mourners uſed to ſing at funerals; indicating that Jehoiakim ſhould not be buried with thoſe ſolemn lamentations with which the memory of his predeceſſors, particularly that of his father, had been honoured. Lowth.

19 He ſhall be buried with the burial of an aſs, &c.] Jehoiakim was advanced to the throne of Judah by Pharaoh-necho, king of Egypt, whoſe fortune he followed till the conqueſt of Egypt by the Chaldeans: after he had reigned three years, he was taken priſoner by Nebuchadnezzar, and put in irons, but afterwards releaſed, and made a tributary king. After three years obedience Jehoiakim rebelled, in confidence of aſſiſtance from Egypt: in the tenth year of his reign, Nebuchadnezzar's army over-ran Judea, and, in the following year, beſieged Jeruſalem, and, in all probability, took Jehoiakim priſoner in ſome ſally he made upon them, killed him, and caſt out his dead body in the highway, like the carcaſe of an aſs, denying him the common rights of burial. Accordingly he is ſaid to have ſlept with, but not to have been buried with his fathers, 2 Kings, xxiv. 6. Lowth.

20 Cry from the paſſages.] Call for aſſiſtance from the borders, or rivers, which are the bounds of your country.

thy manner from thy youth, that thou obeyedſt not my voice.

22 The wind ſhall eat up all thy paſtors, and thy lovers ſhall go into captivity: ſurely then ſhalt thou be aſhamed and confounded for all thy wickedneſs.

23 O inhabitant of Lebanon, that makeſt thy neſt in the cedars, how gracious ſhalt thou be when pangs come upon thee, the pain as of a woman in travail!

24 As I live, ſaith the LORD, though Coniah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah were the ſignet upon my right hand, yet would I pluck thee thence:

25 And I will give thee into the hand of them that ſeek thy life, and into the hand of them whoſe face thou feareſt, even into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of the Chaldeans.

26 And I will caſt thee out, and thy mother that bare thee, into another country, where ye were not born; and there ſhall ye die.

27 But to the land whereunto they deſire to return, thither ſhall they not return.

28 Is this man Coniah a deſpiſed broken idol? is he a veſſel wherein is no pleaſure? wherefore are they caſt out, he and his ſeed, and are caſt into a land which they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the LORD:

30 Thus ſaith the LORD; Write ye this man childleſs, a man that ſhall not proſper in his days: for no man of his ſeed ſhall proſper, ſitting upon the throne of David, and ruling any more in Judah.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 He propheſieth a reſtoration of the ſcattered flock. 9 Againſt falſe prophets.

WO be unto the paſtors that deſtroy and ſcatter the ſheep of my paſture ſaith the LORD.

2 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD GOD of Iſrael againſt the paſtors that feed my people; Ye have ſcattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not viſited them: behold, I will viſit upon you the evil of your doings ſaith the LORD.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my flock out of all countries whither I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds; and they ſhall be fruitful and increaſe.

4 And I will ſet up ſhepherds over them which ſhall feed them: and they ſhall fear no more, nor be diſmayed, neither ſhall they be lacking, ſaith the LORD.

5 Behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will raiſe unto David a righteous Branch, and a King ſhall reign and proſper, and ſhall execute judgement and juſtice in the earth.

6 In his days Judah ſhall be ſaved, and Iſrael ſhall dwell ſafely: and this is his name whereby he ſhall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.

22 The wind ſhall eat up all thy paſtors, &c.] The judgments of the Almighty, like a blaſting wind, ſhall deſtroy all thy governors both eccleſiaſtical and civil.

23 O inhabitant of Lebanon, that makeſt thy neſt in the cedars.] A metaphorical deſcription of Jeruſalem, whoſe ſtately buildings are elſewhere compared to the tall cedars of a foreſt.

How gracious ſhalt thou be, &c.] Rather, how humble and ſuppliant will thou be in thoſe pangs which ſhall ſuddenly come upon thee.

24 Though Coniah——were the ſignet upon my right hand, &c.] Though he were never ſo dear to me, and ever under my eye and care, yet his wickedneſs would make him forfeit all my favour towards him.

28 Is this man Coniah a deſpiſed broken idol? &c.] Would any one have thought that this man, who was inveſted with royal dignity, ſhould be rendered no better than a broken image of royalty, diveſted of all power and authority, and like a broken idol, the object of ſcorn and reproach?

29 O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the Lord.] The prophets often endeavour to engage the attention of men, by appealing to heaven and earth; i. e. to all creatures, and particularly to the inhabitants of this world. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo be unto the paſtors, &c.] By the word paſtors are here meant kings, as appears by comparing ver. 5.

3 I will gather the remnant.] Thus the prophets generally mix promiſes with threatnings.

5 A righteous branch.] The Meſſiah is often called the branch, to denote his deſcent from the ſtock of David.

Shall execute judgement and juſtice in the earth.] This character is alſo given by the pſalmiſt and the prophet Iaiah, becauſe his laws are the moſt perfect rule of righteouſneſs, and he himſelf the moſt impartial rewarder of every man according to his works. Lowth.

6 In his days Judah ſhall be ſaved, and Iſrael, &c.] This prophecy is in part fulfilled in all true believers, the myſtical Iſrael, but will receive its utmoſt completion when the Jewiſh nation ſhall be reſtored: a bleſſing foretold by moſt of the antient prophets; who generally join Judah and Iſrael together, as equal ſharers in the bleſſing, being no longer two, but one kingdom. Lowth.

THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.] He ſhall be Jehovah, or the true God; and our righteouſneſs, or the means of our juſtification.

7, 8 There-

7 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that they ſhall no more ſay, The LORD liveth which brought up the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt;

8 But, The LORD liveth which brought up and which led the ſeed of the houſe of Iſrael out of the north-country, and from all countries whither I had driven them; and they ſhall dwell in their own land.

9 ¶ Mine heart within me is broken becauſe of the prophets; all my bones ſhake: I am like a drunken man, and like a man whom wine hath overcome, becauſe of the LORD, and becauſe of the words of his holineſs.

10 For the land is full of adulterers: for becauſe of ſwearing the land mourneth: the pleaſant places of the wilderneſs are dried up, and their courſe is evil, and their force is not right.

11 For both prophet and prieſt are profane; yea, in my houſe have I found their wickedneſs, ſaith the LORD.

12 Wherefore their way ſhall be unto them as ſlippery ways in the darkneſs; they ſhall be driven on, and fall therein: for I will bring evil upon them, even the year of their viſitation, ſaith the LORD.

13 And I have ſeen folly in the prophets of Samaria: they prophefied in Baal, and cauſed my people Iſrael to err.

14 I have ſeen alſo in the prophets of Jeruſalem an horrible thing: they commit adultery, and walk in lyes: they ſtrengthen alſo the hands of evil-doers, that none doth return from his wickedneſs: they are all of them unto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts concerning the prophets; Behold, I will feed them with wormwood, and make them drink the water of gall: for from the prophets of Jeruſalem is profaneneſs gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Hearken not unto the words of the prophets that prophefy unto you: they make you vain: they ſpeak a viſion of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the LORD.

17 They ſay ſtill unto them that deſpiſe me, The LORD hath ſaid, Ye ſhall have peace: and they ſay unto every one that walketh after the imagination of his own heart, No evil ſhall come upon you.

18 For who hath ſtood in the counſel of the LORD and hath perceived and heard his word? who hath marked his word, and heard it?

19 Behold, a whirlwind of the LORD is gone forth in fury, even a grievous whirlwind: it ſhall fall grievouſly upon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the LORD ſhall not return, until he have executed, and till he have performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter days ye ſhall conſider it perfectly.

21 I have not ſent theſe prophets, yet they ran: I have not ſpoken to them, yet they prophefied.

22 But if they had ſtood in my counſel, and had cauſed my people to hear my words, then they ſhould have turned them from their evil way, and from the evil of their doings.

23 Am I a God at hand, ſaith the LORD, and not a God afar off?

7, 8 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, &c.] This wonderful work of God's reſtoring the Jewiſh nation, after their diſperſions in every part of the world, will ſo far exceed the miracles he wrought in their deliverance out of Egypt, that the latter will not deſerve to be mentioned with the former. St. Paul calls this reſtoration of the Jews, Life from the dead, Rom. xi. 15. i. e. it will be a miracle as ſurpriſing as if a dead body were reſtored again to life. Lowth.

9 Mine heart within me is broken becauſe of the prophets, &c.] He deſcribes the terror and concern under which he laboured, on account of the falſe prophets.

10 Becauſe of ſwearing the land mourneth.] By ſwearing is chiefly here meant perjury.

11 Their wickedneſs have I found in my houſe.] My temple is full of their idolatry and ſuperſtition.

13, 14 I have ſeen folly in the prophets of Samaria, &c.] He compares the ſins of the prophets of Samaria and Jeruſalem together; and pronounces thoſe of the latter to be more enormous, becauſe they pronounced their falſe prophecies in the name of the true God, and pretended that he was the author of all their impoſtures. The wickedneſs of their lives alſo reflected a diſhonour upon his name and religion. Lowth.

They ſtrengthen the hands of the evil-doers.] They encourage men in their wickedneſs.

19, 20 Behold, a whirlwind of the Lord is gone forth in fury, &c.] If theſe prophets had really known the purpoſes and intentions of the Almighty, they would not have ſaid Peace, peace (verſe 17.) to the wicked, but have propheſied a grievous deſtruction juſt ready to fall upon them; for that will certainly come to paſs, and the event fatally convince them of the truth of my prediction. Lowth.

24 Can any hide himſelf in ſecret places that I ſhall not ſee him? ſaith the LORD. Do not I fill heaven and earth? ſaith the LORD.

25 I have heard what the prophets ſaid, that propheſy lyes in my name, ſaying, I have dreamed, I have dreamed.

26 How long ſhall this be in the heart of the prophets that propheſy lyes? yea, they are prophets of the deceit of their own heart;

27 Which think to cauſe my people to forget my name by their dreams which they tell every man to his neighbour, as their fathers have forgotten my name for Baal.

28 The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream; and he that hath my word, let him ſpeak my word faithfully: What is the chaff to the wheat? ſaith the LORD.

29 Is not my word like as a fire? ſaith the LORD; and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?

30 Therefore behold, I am againſt the prophets, ſaith the LORD, that ſteal my words every one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I am againſt the prophets, ſaith the LORD, that uſe their tongues, and ſay, He ſaith.

32 Behold, I am againſt them that propheſy falſe dreams, ſaith the LORD, and do tell them, and cauſe my people to err by their lyes and by their lightneſs, yet I ſent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they ſhall not profit this people at all, ſaith the LORD.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a prieſt ſhall aſk thee, ſaying, What is the burden of the LORD? thou ſhalt then ſay unto them, What burden? I will even forſake you, ſaith the LORD.

34 And as for the prophet, and the prieſt, and the people that ſhall ſay, The burden of the LORD, I will even puniſh that man and his houſe.

35 Thus ſhall ye ſay every one to his neighbour and every one to his brother, What hath the LORD anſwered? and, What hath the LORD ſpoken?

36 And the burden of the LORD ſhall ye mention no more: for every man's word ſhall be his burden: for ye have perverted the words of the living God, of the LORD of hoſts our God.

37 Thus ſhalt thou ſay to the prophet, What hath the LORD anſwered thee? and, What hath the LORD ſpoken?

38 But ſith ye ſay, The burden of the LORD; therefore thus ſaith the LORD; Becauſe ye ſay this word, The burthen of the LORD, and I have ſent unto you, ſaying, Ye ſhall not ſay, The burden of the LORD;

39 Therefore behold, I, even I, will utterly forget you, and I will forſake you, and the city that I gave you and your fathers, and caſt you out of my preſence:

40 And I will bring an everlaſting reproach upon you, and a perpetual ſhame, which ſhall not be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 By good and bad figs, 4 he foreſheweth the reſtoration from captivity, 8 and the deſolation of Zedekiah and the reſt.

THE LORD ſhewed me, and behold, two baſkets of figs, were ſet before the temple of the LORD, after that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive Jeconiah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes of Judah, with the carpenters and ſmiths, from Jeruſalem, and had brought them to Babylon.

28 What is the chaff to the wheat?] The difference between true prophecies and counterfeits is as evident as that between chaff and wheat.

29 Is not my word like as, a fire? and like a hammer?] My word is quick and powerful like fire, making its way through all oppoſition; and the threatnings it denounces will as certainly take hold of the ungoldly, as fire does of the ſtubble. And as a hammer breaketh the hardeſt rock in pieces, ſo is my word able to break down the confidence of the moſt hardened ſinner. Lowth.

32 By their lightneſs.] By their folly and inconſiſtence.

33 What is the burden of the Lord?] Or, Burdenſome prophecy big with ruin and deſtruction.

39 I will utterly forget you.] Septuagint reads, I will carry you away or remove you, (as a burden) which makes the ſenſe more acute.

Notes on the Twenty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Two baſkets of figs, were ſet before the temple of the Lord, &c.] The viſion repreſented two ſuch baſkets of figs as uſed to be offered up for firſt-fruits at the temple. The good figs ſignified thoſe that were gone into captivity, and ſo ſaved their lives; and the bad figs thoſe that remained, and were yet ſubject to the ſword, famine, and peſtilence.

2 One baſket had very good figs, even like the figs that are firſt ripe: and the other baſket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten, they were ſo bad.

3 Then ſaid the LORD unto me, What ſeeſt thou Jeremiah? And I ſaid, Figs the good figs, very good; and the evil very evil, that cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil.

4 ¶ Again, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

5 Thus ſaith the LORD the God of Iſrael; Like theſe good figs, ſo will I acknowledge them that are carried away captive of Judah, whom I have ſent out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans for their good.

6 For I will ſet mine eyes upon them for good, and I will bring them again to this land: and I will build them, and not pull them down; and I will plant them, and not pluck them up.

7 And I will give them an heart to know me that I am the LORD: and they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God: for they ſhall return unto me with their whole heart.

8 ¶ And as the evil figs which cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil; ſurely thus ſaith the LORD; So will I give Zedekiah the king of Judah, and his princes and the reſidue of Jeruſalem, that remain in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt:

9 And I will deliver them to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth for their hurt, to be a reproach and a proverb, a taunt and a curſe in all places whither I ſhall drive them.

10 And I will ſend the ſword, the famine, and the peſtilence among them, till they be conſumed from off the land that I gave unto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Jeremiah reproving the Jews diſobedience to the prophets, 8 foretelleth the ſeventy years captivity, 12 and after that, the deſtruction of Babylon.

THE word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, that was the firſt year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon;

2 The which Jeremiah the prophet ſpake unto all the people of Judah, and to all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſaying,

3 From the thirteenth year of Joſiah the ſon of Amon king of Judah, even unto this day; that is the three and twentieth year; the word of the LORD hath come unto me, and I have ſpoken unto you, riſing early and ſpeaking; but ye have not hearkened.

4 And the LORD hath ſent unto you all his ſervants the prophets, riſing early and ſending them; but ye have not hearkened, nor inclined your ear to hear.

5 They ſaid, Turn ye again now every one from his evil way and from the evil of your doings, and dwell in the land that the LORD hath given unto you and to your fathers for ever and ever:

6 And go not after other gods to ſerve them and to worſhip them, and provoke me not to anger with the works of your hands, and I will do you no hurt.

7 Yet ye have not hearkened unto me, ſaith the LORD; that ye might provoke me to anger with the works of your hands to your own hurt.

8 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Becauſe ye have not heard my words,

5 Like theſe good figs, ſo will I acknowledge, &c.] The Jews, who remained in their own country, flattered themſelves with being more beloved of God than their brethren that were carried away captive: to check this vain confidence, God promiſed to ſhew the latter particular marks of his favour in a ſtrange land, and to pour out his diſpleaſure in an extraordinary manner upon the former. Lowth.

7 I will give them an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, &c.] The captives, who returned from Babylon, were the peculiar objects of theſe bleſſings, which principally conſiſted in the knowledge and fear of God, and grace to live in obedience to his commands. Lowth.

8 That dwell in the land of Egypt.] That fled thither for ſuccour.

9 And a curſe.] Men ſhall uſe this phraſe as a form of execration.

Notes on the Twenty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 4 The Lord hath ſent unto you all his ſervants the prophets, &c.] There ſeems to have been ſeveral prophets, cotemporary with Jeremiah, though only two of them are mentioned in ſcripture, namely Zephaniah, and Urijah, the ſon of Shemaiah. From the time of Samuel, when the anſwers by Urim began to ceaſe, ſchools or ſeminaries for educating perſons for the prophetical office were eſtabliſhed. And God generally made choice of perſons educated in theſe ſchools to exerciſe this function. From the time of theſe ſchools of the prophets being ſettled, there was a ſucceſſion of prophets continued till the captivity, when the office began by degrees to ceaſe. Lowth.

9 Perpe-

9 Behold, I will ſend and take all the families of the north, ſaith the LORD, and Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon my ſervant, and will bring them againſt this land, and againſt the inhabitants thereof, and againſt all theſe nations round about, and will utterly deſtroy them, and make them an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, and perpetual deſolations.

10 Moreover, I will take from them the voice of mirth and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the ſound of the milſtones, and the light of the candle.

11 And this whole land ſhall be a deſolation and an aſtoniſhment: and theſe nations ſhall ſerve the king of Babylon ſeventy years.

12 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs when ſeventy years are accompliſhed, that I will puniſh the king of Babylon, and that nation, ſaith the LORD, for their iniquity, and the land of the Chaldeans; and will make it perpetual deſolations.

13 And I will bring upon that land all my words which I have pronounced againſt it, even all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah hath propheſied againſt all the nations.

14 For many nations and great kings ſhall ſerve themſelves of them alſo: and I will recompenſe them according to their deeds, and according to the works of their own hands.

15 For thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael unto me; Take the wine-cup of this fury at my hand, and cauſe all the nations to whom I ſend thee to drink it.

16 And they ſhall drink, and be moved, and be mad, becauſe of the ſword that I will ſend among them.

17 Then took I the cup at the LORD's hand, and made all the nations to drink unto whom the LORD had ſent me;

18 To wit, Jeruſalem, and the cities of Judah, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them a deſolation, an aſtoniſhment, an hiſſing, and a curſe; as it is this day:

19 Pharaoh king of Egypt, and his ſervants, and his princes, and all his people,

20 And all the mingled people, and all the kings of the land of Uz, and all the kings of the land of the Philiſtines, and Aſhkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Aſhdod,

21 Edom, and Moab, and the children of Ammon,

22 And all the kings of Tyrus, and all the kings of Zidon, and the kings of the iſles which are beyond the ſea,

23 Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that are in the utmoſt corners,

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of the mingled people that dwell in the deſert,

25 And all the kings of Zimri, and all the 9 Perpetual deſolations.] The word does not always ſignify eternity in a ſtrict ſenſe, but is ſometimes taken for ſuch a duration as had a remarkable period to conclude it; viz. ſeventy years, mentioned ver. 11. Thus it is ſaid of a ſervant, he ſhall ſerve his maſter for ever, which the Jews expound till the next jubilee.

10 The ſound of the milſtones, and the light of the candle.] There ſhall be no marks of trade, or of preparing the common neceſſaries of life, ſuch as the grinding of corn. There will be no occaſion for candle, where the inhabitants are diſperſed and deſtroyed; nor will there be any ſuch illuminations as are uſual upon feſtival ſolemnities. Lowth.

11 Seventy years.] This computation of ſeventy years captivity is to be reckoned from the firſt year of Nebuchadrezzar, when that monarch made his firſt attempt upon Judea. From which time, to the firſt year of the reign of Cyrus over the Aſſyrian monarchy, is juſt ſeventy. Lowth.

13 All that is written in this book.] Here the ſenſe ends in the Septuagint; and then follows the title of another paragraph: The things which Jeremiah propheſied againſt the nations of Elam: and ſo begins that prophecy againſt Elam, which in the Hebrew comes at chap. xlix. 34. And Dr. Lowth obſerves, that this verſe ſeems to juſtify the order in which the Septuagint has placed theſe prophcies.

17 Then took I the cup at the Lord's hand, and made all the nations to drink, &c.] Theſe words, in purſuance of the ſame metaphor, import the prophet's obeying the commands of the Almighty, and denouncing his judgments upon all the ſeveral nations hereafter mentioned.

20 All the mingled people.] The word, which we render mingled, properly ſignifies a mixture of ſeveral nations; and is ſuppoſed to allude to the trading countries, ſituated on the coaſt of the Mediterranean or of the Red Sea.

All the kings of the land of Uz, &c.] Uz was the ſon of Eſau, Gen. xxxvi. 28. from whom Idumea was ſo called, and is the country here meant by the prophet. The kings mentioned here, and in the following verſes, were petty princes of ſeveral clans or colonies.

22 The kings of the iſles which are beyond the ſea.] Rather, by the ſea ſide, as the words are tranſlated in the margin of our bibles. The phraſe denotes the people living on the coaſt of the Mediterranean ſea.

23 Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, &c.] Theſe were Arabians deſcended from Abraham, and his brother Nahor.

24 The mingled people that dwell in the deſert.] A mixture of people dwelling in that part of Arabia ſtiled the deſert, called in ſcripture by the general name of the children of the Eaſt.

kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Medes,

26 And all the kings of the north, far and near, one with another, and all the kingdoms of the world, which are upon the face of the earth: and the king of Sheſhach ſhall drink after them.

27 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael; Drink ye, and be drunken, and ſpue, and fall, and riſe no more, becauſe of the ſword, which I will ſend among you.

28 And it ſhall be, if they refuſe to take the cup at thine hand to drink, then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Ye ſhall certainly drink.

29 For lo, I begin to bring evil on the city which is called by my name, and ſhould ye be utterly unpuniſhed? Ye ſhall not be unpuniſhed: for I will call for a ſword upon all the inhabitants of the earth, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

30 Therefore propheſy thou againſt them all theſe words, and ſay unto them, The LORD ſhall roar from on high, and utter his voice from his holy habitation; he ſhall mightily roar upon his habitation, he ſhall give a ſhout as they that tread the grapes, againſt all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 A noiſe ſhall come even to the ends of the earth: for the LORD hath a controverſy with the nations; he will plead with all fleſh; he will give them that are wicked to the ſword, ſaith the LORD.

32 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Behold, evil ſhall go forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlwind ſhall be raiſed up from the coaſts of the earth.

33 And the ſlain of the LORD ſhall be at that day from one end of the earth even unto the other end of the earth: they ſhall not be lamented, neither gathered, nor buried; they ſhall be dung upon the ground.

34 Howl, ye ſhepherds, and cry; and wallow your ſelves in the aſhes, ye principal of the flock: for the days of your ſlaughter and of your diſperſions are accompliſhed; and ye ſhall fall like a pleaſant veſſel.

35 And the ſhepherds ſhall have no way to flee, nor the principal of the flock to eſcape.

36 A voice of the cry of the ſhepherds, and an howling of the principal of the flock ſhall be heard: for the LORD hath ſpoiled their paſture.

37 And the peaceable habitations are cut down, becauſe of the fierce anger o the LORD.

38 He hath forſaken his covert, as the lion: for their land is deſolate, becauſe of the fierceneſs of the oppreſſor, and becauſe of his fierce anger.

IN the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah came this word from the LORD, ſaying, 26 The king of Sheſhach ſhall drink after them.] By Sheſhach is meant Babylon, as appears from chap. li. 41. The prophets ſometimes made uſe of dark circumlocutions in expreſſing the places they propheſied againſt: thus Iſaiah calls Babylon, the deſert of the ſea, and Jeruſalem, the valley of viſion. Lowth.

27 Drink ye, &c.] The imperative is here put for the future.

28 If they refuſe to take the cup at thine hand, &c.] If they either do not believe thy threatnings, or diſregard them, becauſe they think themſelves ſufficiently provided againſt any hoſtile invaſion, thou ſhalt let them know that the judgments denounced againſt them are God's irreverſible decree. Lowth.

30 He ſhall mightily roar upon his habitation, &c.] God ſhall pronounce and execute a terrible judgment upon the temple, the place he had choſen for his habitation.

34 Howl, ye ſhepherds, and cry, ye principal of the flock, &c.] By ſhepherds are here meant princes and governors; and, in purſuing the ſame metaphor, the principal of the flock ſignifies the great and wealthy men of each nation againſt whom theſe judgments are denounced. Lowth.

Ye ſhall fall like a pleaſant veſſel.] Ye ſhall be utterly deſtroyed as a cryſtal glaſs, when it is daſhed againſt the ground.

38 Becauſe of the fierceneſs of the oppreſſor.] The Hebrew word which is tranſlated oppreſſor, ſignifies likewiſe a dove; and we are informed that the Aſſyrians bore the figure of a dove in their ſtandards; and from this ſymbol they might take the denomination.

Notes on the Twenty-ſixth Chapter.

man from his evil way, that I may repent me of the evil which I purpoſe to do unto them becauſe of the evil of their doings.

4 And thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD; If ye will not hearken to me to walk in my law which I have ſet before you,

5 To hearken to the words of my ſervants the prophets, whom I ſent unto you, both riſing up early, and ſending them, but ye have not hearkened;

6 Then will I make this houſe like Shiloh, and will make this city a curſe to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the prieſts, and the prophets, and all the people heard Jeremiah ſpeaking theſe words in the houſe of the LORD.

8 ¶ Now it came to paſs, when Jeremiah had made an end of ſpeaking all that the LORD had commanded him to ſpeak unto all the people, that the prieſts, and the prophets, and all the people took him, ſaying, Thou ſhalt ſurely die.

9 Why haſt thou propheſied in the name of the LORD, ſaying, This houſe ſhall be like Shiloh, and this city ſhall be deſolate without an inhabitant? And all the people were gathered againſt Jeremiah in the houſe of the LORD.

10 ¶ When the princes of Judah heard theſe things, then they came up from the king's houſe unto the houſe of the LORD, and ſat down in the entry of the new gate of the LORD's houſe.

11 Then ſpake the prieſts and the prophets unto the princes and to all the people, ſaying, This man is worthy to die: for he hath propheſied againſt this city, as ye have heard with your ears.

12 ¶ Then ſpake Jeremiah unto all the princes and to all the people, ſaying, The LORD ſent me to propheſy againſt this houſe and againſt this city all the words that ye have heard.

13 Therefore now amend your ways and your doings, and obey the voice of the LORD your God; and the LORD will repent him of the evil that he hath pronounced againſt you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hand: do with me as ſeemeth good and meet unto you.

15 But know ye for certain, that if ye put me to death, ye ſhall ſurely bring innocent blood upon your ſelves, and upon this city, and upon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truth the LORD hath ſent me unto you to ſpeak all theſe words in your ears.

16 ¶ Then ſaid the princes and all the people unto the prieſts and to the prophets; This man is not worthy to die: for he hath ſpoken to us in the name of the LORD our God.

17 Then roſe up certain of the elders of the land, and ſpake to all the aſſembly of the people, ſaying,

18 Micah the Moraſthite propheſied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and ſpake to all the people of Judah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Zion ſhall be ploughed like a field, and Jeruſalem ſhall become heaps, and the mountain of the houſe as the high places of the foreſt.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah put him at all to death? did he not fear the LORD, and beſought the LORD, and the LORD repented him of the evil which he had pronounced againſt them? Thus might we procure great evil againſt our ſouls.

20 And there was alſo a man that propheſied in the name of the LORD, Urijah the ſon of Shemaiah of Kirjath-jearim, who propheſied againſt this city and againſt this land according to all the words of Jeremiah.

21 And when Jehoiakim the king, with all his mighty men, and all the princes, heard his words, the king ſought to put him to death: but when Urijah heard it, he was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt.

18 Zion ſhall be plowed like a field, &c.] The Jews ſuppoſe this prophecy to have been fulfilled in the utter deſtruction of the ſecond temple by Titus, when Terentius razed the very foundations of the city and temple; and by that means fulfilled the prediction of our bleſſed Saviour, that there ſhould not be left one ſtone upon another. When conquerors would ſignify their purpoſe, that a city ſhould never be rebuilt, they uſed to plow up the ground where it ſtood, Horace alludes to this cuſtom, book I. ode 16. Imprimeretque muris, &c.

23 And they fetched forth Urijah out of Egypt, and brought him unto Jehoiakim the king; who ſlew him with the ſword, and caſt his dead body into the graves of the common people.

24 Nevertheleſs, the hand of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan was with Jeremiah, that they ſhould not give him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

Under the type of bonds and yokes he propheſieth the ſubduing of the neighbour kings unto Nebuchadnezzar.

IN the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, came this word unto Jeremiah from the LORD, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the LORD to me; Make thee bonds and yokes, and put them upon thy neck,

3 And ſend them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the meſſengers which come to Jeruſalem unto Zedekiah king of Judah;

4 And command them to ſay unto their maſters, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael; Thus ſhall ye ſay unto your maſters;

5 I have made the earth, the man and the beaſt that are upon the ground, by my great power and by my out-ſtretched arm, and have given it unto whom it ſeemed meet unto me.

6 And now have I given all theſe land into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon my ſervant; and the beaſts of the field have I given him alſo to ſerve him.

7 And all nations ſhall ſerve him, and his ſon, and his ſon's ſon, until the very time of his land come: and then many nations and great kings ſhall ſerve themſelves of him.

8 And it ſhall come to paſs, that the nation and kingdom which will not ſerve the ſame Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, and that will not put their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, that nation will I puniſh, ſaith the LORD, with the ſword, and with the famine, and with the peſtilence, until I have conſumed them by his hand.

9 Therefore hearken not ye to your prophets, nor to your diviners, nor to your dreamers, nor to your enchanters, nor to your ſorcerers, which ſpeak unto you, ſaying, Ye ſhall not ſerve the king of Babylon:

10 For they propheſy a lye unto you, to remove you far from your land; and that I ſhould drive you out, and ye ſhould periſh.

11 But the nations that bring their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and ſerve him, thoſe will I let remain ſtill in their own land, ſaith the LORD! and they ſhall till it, and dwell therein.

12 I ſpake alſo to Zedekiah king of Judah according to all theſe words, ſaying, Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and ſerve him and his people, and live.

13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people, by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, as the LORD hath ſpoken againſt the nation that will not ſerve the king of Babylon?

14 Therefore hearken not unto the words of the prophets that ſpeak unto you, ſaying, Ye ſhall not ſerve the king of Babylon; for they propheſy a lye unto you.

Notes on the Twenty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim, &c.] As the laſt chapter begins with mentioning Jehoiakim, the ſon of Joſiah, ſome tranſcriber (thinking the beginning of this chapter muſt ſpeak of the ſame perſon, becauſe it alſo ſpeaks of a ſon of Joſiah) ſeems to have writ Jehoiakim inſtead of Zedekiah, as it is now in the Syriac verſion; not conſidering that Zedekiah was alſo Joſiah's ſon. Moſt commentators acknowledge the miſtake, and quote the 3d and 12th verſes of this chapter as proofs of it.

2 Make thee bonds and yokes.] See note on chap. xiii. 4. The yoke was a pole which went over the ſhoulders of a man, and was faſtened by certain bands to the neck. It was uſed by ſlaves to carry burthens with, which were hung to each end of the pole. Taylor's Heb. Concord.

6 I have given all theſe lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, &c.] God is the ſole lord and proprietor of the world; and by virtue of his ſovereignty and dominion, has a right to give the kingdoms of the earth to whomſoever he pleaſes.

7 His ſon, and his ſon's ſon.] Viz. Evilmerodach and his ſon Belſhazzar.

Until the time of his land come.] i. e. Until the time of his viſitation, viz. at the end of ſeventy years.

9 Hearken not ye to your prophets, nor to your diviners, &c.] The Jews learned, together with the idolatrous rites of their neighbours, their arts of divination, and foretelling future events, the uſe of which was expreſsly forbidden by the law of Moſes. Lowth.

15 For I have not ſent them, ſaith the LORD, yet they propheſy a lye in my name; that I might drive you out, and that ye might periſh, ye, and the prophets that propheſy unto you.

16 Alſo I ſpake to the prieſts, and to all this people, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD; Hearken not to the words of your prophets, that propheſy unto you, ſaying, Behold, the veſſels of the LORD's houſe ſhall now ſhortly be brought again from Babylon; for they propheſy a lye unto you.

17 Hearken not unto them: ſerve the king of Babylon, and live. Wherefore ſhould this city be laid waſte?

18 But if they be prophets, and if the word of the LORD be with them, let them now make interceſſion to the LORD of hoſts that the veſſels which are left in the houſe of the LORD, and in the houſe of the king of Judah, and at Jeruſalem, go not to Babylon.

19 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts concerning the pillars, and concerning the ſea, and concerning the baſes, and concerning the reſidue of the veſſels that remain in this city.

20 Which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took not, when he carried away captive Jeconiah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah from Jeruſalem to Babylon, and all the nobles of Judah and Jeruſalem;

21 Yea, thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael concerning the veſſels that remain in the houſe of the LORD, and in the houſe of the king of Judah, and of Jeruſalem;

22 They ſhall be carried to Babylon, and there ſhall they be until the day that I viſit them, ſaith the LORD: then will I bring them up, and reſtore them to this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Hananiah's falſe prophecy. 10 He breaketh Jeremiah's yoke. 12 Jeremiah foretelleth of an iron yoke, 15 and Hananiah's death.

AND it came to paſs the ſame year, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year, and in the fifth month, that Hananiah the ſon of Azur the prophet, which was of Gibeon, ſpake unto me in the houſe of the LORD, in the preſence of the prieſts and of all the people, ſaying,

2 Thus ſpeaketh the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon.

3 Within two full years will I bring again into this place all the veſſels of the LORD's houſe that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took away from this place, and carried them away to Babylon.

4 And I will bring again to this place Jeconiah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah, with all the captives of Judah that went into Babylon, ſaith the LORD: for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.

5 Then the prophet Jeremiah ſaid unto the prophet Hananiah in the preſence of the prieſts, and in the preſence of all the people that ſtood in the houſe of the LORD,

6 Even the prophet Jeremiah ſaid, Amen: the LORD do ſo: the LORD perform thy words which thou haſt propheſied, to bring again the veſſels of the LORD's houſe, and all that is carried away captive, from Babylon into this place.

7 Nevertheleſs, hear thou now this word that I ſpeak in thine ears, and in the ears of all the people;

8 The prophets that have been before me and before thee of old propheſied both againſt many countries and againſt great kingdoms, of war, and of evil, and of peſtilence.

16 The veſſels of the Lord's houſe, &c.] Which were taken when Jeconiah was led captive to Babylon.

18 Let them make interceſſion, &c.] It was the prophets office not only to declare the word of God, but alſo to pray for the ſins of the people.

Notes on the Twenty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 2 I have broken the yoke, &c.] That tyrannical power which Nebuchadnezzar exerciſes, of which Jeremiah's bonds and yokes were figures.

4 I will bring again to this place Jeconiah, &c.] This was joyful news to the people, who looked upon Zedekiah only as a deputy or viceroy under Nebuchadnezzar.

8, 9 The prophets that have been before me, propheſied againſt many countries, &c.] Jeremiah offers two reaſons in defence of his own prophecies, and againſt the truth of thoſe of Hananiah. Firſt, That many other prophets agreed with himſelf in prophecying evil againſt the Jews, and other neighbouring countries; whereas Hananiah, being ſingle in his prediction, nothing leſs than the punctual anſwering the event could give him the authority of a true prophet. Secondly, That, conſidering the corruption of the people's manners, it was highly probable that God would puniſh their iniquities. Lowth.

9 The prophet which propheſieth of peace, when the word of the prophet ſhall come to paſs, then ſhall the prophet be known that the LORD hath truly ſent him.

10 ¶ Then Hananiah the prophet took the yoke from off the prophet Jeremiah's neck, and brake it.

11 And Hananiah ſpake in the preſence of all the people, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD; Even ſo will I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon from the neck of all nations within the ſpace of two full years. And the prophet Jeremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah the prophet, after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, ſaying, 13 Go, and tell Hananiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD; Thou haſt broken the yokes of wood; but thou ſhalt make for them yokes of iron.

14 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, I have put a yoke of iron upon the neck of all theſe nations, that they may ſerve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; and they ſhall ſerve him: and I have given him the beaſts of the field alſo.

15 ¶ Then ſaid the prophet Jeremiah unto Hananiah the prophet, Hear now, Hananiah; The LORD hath not ſent thee; but thou makeſt this people to truſt in a lye.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, I will caſt thee from off the face of the earth: this year ſhalt thou die, becauſe thou haſt taught rebellion againſt the LORD.

17 So Hananiah the prophet died the ſame year, in the ſeventh month.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Jeremiah's letter to the captives in Babylon.
20 The fearful end of Ahab and Zedekiah, two lying prophets.

NOW theſe are the words of the letter that Jeremiah the prophet ſent from Jeruſalem unto the reſidue of the elders which were carried away captives, and to the prieſts, and to the prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jeruſalem to Babylon;

2 After that Jeconiah the king, and the queen, and the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jeruſalem, and the carpenters, and the ſmiths were departed from Jeruſalem.

3 By the hand of Elaſah the ſon of Shaphan, and Gemariah the ſon of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah ſent unto Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; ſaying,

4 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael unto all that are carried away captives, whom I have cauſed to be carried away from Jeruſalem unto Babylon;

5 Build ye houſes, and dwell in them; and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them.

6 Take ye wives, and beget ſons and daughters; and take wives for your ſons, and give your daughters to huſbands, that they may bear ſons and daughters; that ye may be increaſed there, and not diminiſhed.

7 And ſeek the peace of the city whither I have cauſed you to be carried away captives, and pray unto the LORD for it: for in the peace thereof ſhall ye have peace.

8 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Let not your prophets and your diviners, that be in the midſt of you, deceive you, neither hearken to your dreams which ye cauſe to be dreamed.

9 For they propheſy falſly unto you in my name: I have not ſent them, ſaith the LORD.

10 For thus ſaith the LORD, that after ſe-

13 Yokes of iron.] Such as no human ſtrength can break.

16 This year thou ſhalt die, &c.] As Hananiah had limited the accompliſhment of his prophecy to the ſpace of two years, in order to gain credit with the people, by ſo punctual a prediction; ſo Jeremiah confines the proof of his veracity to a much ſhorter time: the event being exactly conformable evidently ſhewed the falſhood of the other's pretences. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The reſidue of the elders.] The elders here mentioned were probably the remnant of the members of the Sanhedrim, carried away captive in the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim, many of whom died by the hardſhips they ſuffered in their tranſportation. Lowth.

5, 6 Build ye houſes, and dwell in them, &c.] He gives them this advice, to check their hopes of a ſpeedy return from Babylon, with which they had been flattered by their falſe prophets.

7 Seek the peace of the city, &c.] It is the duty of all private perſons to ſubmit to the government that protects them, and to pray for its proſperity: and, if they are enemies to the truth, they are to leave it to God to execute upon them the judgments he hath denounced againſt tyrants and oppreſſors. Lowth.

venty years be accomplished at Babylon, I will visit you, and perform my good word towards you, in causing you to return to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts that I think towards you, saith the LORD, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you an expected end.

12 Then shall ye call upon me, and ye shall go and pray unto me, and I will hearken unto you.

13 And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, saith the LORD: and I will turn away your captivity, and I will gather you from all the nations and from all the places whither I have driven you, saith the LORD; and I will bring you again into the place whence I caused you to be carried away captive.

15 Because ye have said, The LORD hath raised us up prophets in Babylon;

16 Know that thus saith the LORD of the king that sitteth upon the throne of David, and of all the people that dwelleth in this city, and of your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captivity;

17 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, Behold, I will send upon them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figs, that cannot be eaten, they are so evil.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence, and will deliver them to be removed to all the kingdoms of the earth, to be a curse, and an astonishment, and an hissing, and a reproach among all the nations whither I have driven them;

19 Because they have not hearkened to my words, saith the LORD, which I sent unto them by my servants the prophets, rising up early, and sending them; but ye would not hear, saith the LORD.

20 ¶ Hear ye therefore the word of the LORD, all ye of the captivity, whom I have sent from Jerusalem to Babylon:

21 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, of Ahab the son of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the son of Maaseiah, which prophesy a lye unto you in my name: Behold, I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon; and he shall slay them before your eyes.

22 And of them shall be taken up a curse by all the captivity of Judah which are in Babylon, saying, the LORD make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babylon roasted in the fire;

23 Because they have committed villany in Israel, and have committed adultery with their neighbours wives, and have spoken lying words in my name, which I have not commanded them; even I know, and am a witness saith the LORD.

24 Thus shalt thou also speak to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name unto all the people that are at Jerusalem, and to Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah the priest, and to all the priests, saying,

26 The LORD hath made thee priest in the stead of Jehoiada the priest, that ye should be officers in the house of the LORD, for every man that is mad, and maketh himself a prophet, that thou shouldest put him in prison, and in the stocks:

27 Now therefore, why hast thou not reproved Jeremiah of Anathoth which maketh himself a prophet to you?

28 For therefore he sent unto us in Baby-

10 I will visit you.] This promise was chiefly fulfilled to their posterity; there being but few of those captives that returned in person into their own country.

14 Will gather you from all the nations, &c.] This prediction was directly spoken to those that were carried captives with Jeconiah, and fulfilled in their restoration under Cyrus: but the prophecy being so general may be supposed to relate to that general restoration, so often foretold by the ancient prophets.

21 He shall slay them before your eyes.] As persons that disturbed the minds of the Jews, his subjects, and made them unwilling to submit to his government.

22 Whom the king of Babylon roasted in the fire.] This cruel punishment was common in the East, and often used during the persecution of the Christians under the emperor Diocletian.

26 The Lord hath made thee priest in the stead of Jehoiada the priest, &c.] Shemaiah directs his letter to Zephaniah in the first place, as being next in order to the high-priest, and tells him, that God had appointed him to supply the place of the high-priest, who was probably absent at that time. Lowth.

That ye be officers for every man that is mad, &c.] The prophets were often accused of madness by their enemies.

lon, saying, This captivity is long: build ye houses, and dwell in them; and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them.

29 And Zephaniah the priest read this letter in the ears of Jeremiah the prophet.

30 Then came the word of the LORD unto Jeremiah, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captivity, saying, Thus saith the LORD concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite; because that Shemaiah hath prophesied unto you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lye:

32 Therefore thus saith the LORD: Behold, I will punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seed: he shall not have a man to dwell among this people: neither shall he behold the good that I will do for my people, saith the LORD; because he hath taught rebellion against the LORD.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The Jews return. 10 Jacob comforted. 18 Their return shall be gracious.

THE word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord GOD of Israel, saying, Write thee all the words that I have spoken unto thee in a book.

3 For lo, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will bring again the captivity of my people Israel and Judah, saith the LORD: and I will cause them to return to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they shall possess it.

4 And these are the words that the LORD spake concerning Israel and concerning Judah.

5 For thus saith the LORD; We have heard a voice of trembling, of fear, and not of peace.

6 Ask ye now, and see whether a man doth travail with child? wherefore do I see every man with his hands on his loins, as a woman in travail, and all faces are turned into paleness?

7 Alas! for that day is great, so that none is like it: it is even the time of Jacob's trouble; but he shall be saved out of it.

8 For it shall come to pass in that day, saith the LORD of hosts, that I will break his yoke from off thy neck, and will burst thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serve themselves of him.

9 But they shall serve the LORD their God, and David their king, whom I will raise up unto them.

10 ¶ Therefore fear thou not, O my servant Jacob, saith the LORD; neither be dismayed, O Israel: for lo, I will save thee, from afar, and thy seed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob shall return, and shall be in rest and quiet, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the LORD, to save thee: though I make a full end of all nations whither I have scattered thee, yet will I not make a full end of thee: but I will correct thee in measure, and will not leave thee altogether unpunished.

12 For thus saith the LORD, Thy bruise is incurable, and thy wound is grievous.

13 There is none to plead thy cause, that thou mayest be bound up: thou hast no healing medicines.

---

32 He shall not have a man, &c.] None of his posterity shall remain to see my people restored to their own land. Lowth.

Notes on the Thirtieth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Write thee all the words that I have spoken unto thee, in a book.] The following words contain a promise of the Jews restoration from their captivity; therefore God commands them to be written for the use of posterity, to be a support to the Jews, and a proof of God's presence and over-ruling providence, when the event should be brought about. Lowth.

6 See whether a man doth travail with child? &c.] All men seem to carry that concern in their countenances, from the apprehension of approaching evils, as is common to women when they draw near the time of their travail. Lowth.

7 Alas, for that day is great, so that none is like it, &c.] The word day here signifies the whole time of the siege and taking of Jerusalem, the destruction of the city and temple, and the carrying away the people captive. This is described as a time of great tribulation, in which it was an earnest of the day of judgment, called the Great and terrible day of the Lord. Lowth.

8 Strangers shall no more serve themselves of him.] This promise has not yet received its accomplishment: for, after the return of the Jews from the Babylonish captivity, they were again reduced to servitude by the Greeks and Romans; and at present there is no place in the world where they can be said to be their own masters. Lowth.

9 David their king, &c.] i. e. The Messiah, who should come of the stock of David, and is by the prophets often called by the name of David.

10 Jacob shall be at rest and quiet, and none shall make him afraid.] These expressions denote external peace and freedom from the annoyance of all enemies whatsoever. Lowth.

12 Thy bruise is incurable.] To all human appearance, and there is none but God can heal thee.

13 There is none to plead thy cause, &c.] There are none that, by the reformation of their lives, or their intercessions with God, endeavour to avert his displeasure. Lowth.

14 All thy lovers have forgotten thee: they seek thee not: for I have wounded thee with the wound of an enemy, with the chastisement of a cruel one, for the multitude of thine iniquity: because thy sins were increased.

15 Why criest thou for thine affliction? thy sorrow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquity: because thy sins were increased, I have done these things unto thee.

16 Therefore all they that devour thee shall be devoured; and all thine adversaries, every one of them, shall go into captivity; and they that spoil thee shall be a spoil, and all that prey upon thee will I give for a prey.

17 For I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the LORD; because they called thee an Out-cast, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after.

18 ¶ Thus saith the LORD; Behold, I will bring again the captivity of Jacob's tents, and have mercy on his dwelling places; and the city shall be builded upon her own heap, and the palace shall remain after the manner thereof.

19 And out of them shall proceed thanksgiving, and the voice of them that make merry: and I will multiply them, and they shall not be few; I will also glorify them, and they shall not be small.

20 Their children also shall be as aforetime, and their congregation shall be established before me, and I will punish all that oppress them.

21 And their nobles shall be of themselves, and their governor shall proceed from the midst of them: and I will cause him to draw near, and he shall approach unto me: for who is this that engaged his heart to approach unto me? saith the LORD.

22 And ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

23 Behold, the whirlwind of the LORD goeth forth with fury, a continuing whirlwind; it shall fall with pain upon the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce anger of the LORD shall not return until he have done it, and until he have performed the intents of his heart: in the latter days ye shall consider it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The restoration of Israel. 22 Christ is promised. 27 His care over the church.

AT the same time, saith the LORD, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people.

2 Thus saith the LORD, The people which were left of the sword found grace in the wilderness; even Israel, when I went to cause him to rest.

3 The LORD hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee.

4 Again I will build thee, and thou shalt be built, O virgin of Israel: thou shalt be again adorned with thy tabrets, and shalt go forth in the dances of them that make merry.

---

14 I have wounded thee with the wound of an enemy.] Thine iniquities have provoked me to punish thee with that severity that looks like cruelty.

18 Upon her own heap.] Or hill, as in the margin.

The palace shall remain, &c.] The city and temple shall be restored to their former state.

21 I will cause him to draw near, and he shall approach unto me.] He shall have a near attendance upon me; for I will make him a priest to me, as well as a king, according to that prophecy concerning the Messiah, Thou art a priest for ever, after the order of Melchisedeck, Psalm cx. Lowth.

Who is this that engaged his heart, &c.] Who is there, except the Messiah, that is so entirely devoted to my service?

23 Behold the whirlwind, &c.] See chap. xxiii. 20.

24 In the latter days ye shall consider it.] Or rather, understand it. The latter days may signify the time to come, but the expression commonly implies the times under the gospel, as being the last dispensation, and what should continue to the end of the world. If we take the phrase in this sense, the words import, that when all these evils are come upon you, which God has threatened against your disobedience, and particularly for your heinous sin in rejecting the Messiah; and you have found the denunciations of the prophets verified in the several captivities you have undergone; then you will understand the import of this and several other prophecies, and the event will perfectly instruct you in their meaning. Lowth.

Notes on the Thirty-first Chapter.

Ver. 2 Which were left of the sword.] Which were delivered from the cruelty of Pharaoh.

3 An everlasting love, &c.] The mercies I promised, when I made a covenant with your fathers, shall never fail.

4 Thou shalt be built, O virgin of Israel, &c.] Thy inhabitants shall be again restored to thee, who shall rebuild their cities that lay desolate during the time of their captivity. The Jews are called the virgin of Israel, to imply, that, by repentance and reformation, they have washed away the stains of their former idolatries, so often compared to whoredoms in the scriptures. Lowth.

Thou shalt be adorned with tabrets, and go forth in the dances.] With all the signs both of religious and civil joy.

5 Thou ſhalt yet plant vines upon the mountains of Samaria: the planter ſhall plant, and ſhall eat them as common things.

6 For there ſhall be a day that the watchmen upon the mount Ephraim ſhall cry, Ariſe ye, and let us go up to Zion unto the LORD our God.

7 For thus ſaith the LORD; Sing with gladneſs for Jacob, and ſhout among the chief of the nations: publiſh ye, praiſe ye, and ſay, O LORD, ſave thy people the remnant of Iſrael.

8 Behold, I will bring them from the north-country, and gather them from the coaſts of the earth, and with them the blind and the lame, the woman with child, and her that travaileth with child together: a great company ſhall return thither.

9 They ſhall come with weeping, and with ſupplications will I lead them: I will cauſe them to walk by the rivers of waters in a ſtraight way wherein they ſhall not ſtumble: for I am a father to Iſrael, and Ephraim is my firſt-born.

10 Hear the word of the LORD, O ye nations, and declare it in the iſles afar off, and ſay, He that ſcattered Iſrael will gather him, and keep him as a ſhepherd doth his flock.

11 For the LORD hath redeemed Jacob, and ranſomed him from the hand of him that was ſtronger than he.

12 Therefore they ſhall come and ſing in the height of Zion, and ſhall flow together to the goodneſs of the LORD, for wheat, and for wine, and for oil, and for the young of the flock and of the herd, and their ſoul ſhall be as a watered garden; and they ſhall not ſorrow any more at all.

13 Then ſhall the virgin rejoice in the dance, both young men and old together: for I will turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them rejoice from their ſorrow.

14 And I will ſatiate the ſoul of the prieſts with fatneſs, and my people ſhall be ſatisfied with my goodneſs, ſaith the LORD.

15 Thus ſaith the LORD; A voice was heard in Ramah, lamentation and bitter weeping; Rachel weeping for her children, refuſed to be comforted for her children, becauſe they were not.

16 Thus ſaith the LORD; Refrain thy voice from weeping, and thine eyes from tears: for thy work ſhall be rewarded, ſaith the LORD; and they ſhall come again from the land of the enemy.

17 And there is hope in thine end, ſaith the LORD, that thy children ſhall come again to their own border.

18 I have ſurely heard Ephraim bemoaning

---

6 The watchmen upon the mount Ephraim ſhall cry, Ariſe ye, &c.] The expreſſions ariſe ye, &c. allude to the Jews going in companies to Jeruſalem, at the three ſolemn feaſts of the year. By watchmen, may be underſtood thoſe evangelical preachers, who ſhall be inſtruments in converting the Jews, and bringing them into the boſom of the church. Lowth.

8 With them the blind and the lame, the woman with child, &c.] God will conduct them with all imaginary care and tenderneſs, and furniſh the moſt feeble and indigent with ſuitable accommodations. The words allude to God's conducting his people of all ages and conditions through the wilderneſs, compared to the care with which a parent or a nurſe carries a tender child.

9 They ſhall come with weeping, and with ſupplications will I lead them.] i. e. They ſhall have their joy tempered with tears of repentance for their former miſcarriages. The Septuagint reading is very different, and ſeems much preferable: they went out with weeping, but in comfort will I bring them back.

I will cauſe them to walk by the rivers of waters, &c.] The words allude to God's miraculouſly ſupplying the Iſraelites with water in the wilderneſs.

Ephraim is my firſt-born.] Ephraim is often equivalent to Iſrael.

14 I will ſatiate the ſoul of the prieſts with fatneſs.] A figurative expreſſion, ſignifying whatever is beſt and moſt delicious: it may likewiſe mean, the ſpirit of wiſdom and knowledge.

15 A voice was heard in Ramah---Rachel weeping for her children.] The prophet deſcribes the lamentations in and about Jeruſalem, at the time of the ſeveral captivities, under the metaphor of a mother lamenting over her dead children. The mournful ſcene is laid in Ramah, in the tribe of Benjamin, and Rachel the mother of that tribe is introduced as chief mourner on ſo ſad an occaſion. This figurative repreſentation was, in a great meaſure, literally fulfilled, when Herod ſlew the infants at Bethlehem, the place where Rachel was buried; and therefore ſhe may, with great propriety, be repreſented, as riſing from her grave, and lamenting the death of her innocent children. A modern author contends that there was no ſuch place as Ramah near Bethlehem; and that the word ought to be tranſlated on high, or aloud: the whole he thinks ſhould be rendered thus; "Aloud a voice is heard; lamentations, weepings, louder "and louder; Rachel weeping over her children, refuſing to be "comforted over her children, becauſe they are not." Had the prophet lived at that time, and heard the mothers cries increaſe as the murderers proceeded in their bloody work, he could not poſſibly have given a more lively deſcription of this maſſacre, than he has done near 600 years before it was committed. R. Y.

17 There is hope in thine end, &c.] Though theſe of the preſent age do not live to ſee a return from captivity, yet their poſterity ſhall enjoy that bleſſing.

18 Turn thou me, and I ſhall be turned, &c.] Turn my heart by thy preventing grace, and I ſhall be effectually reformed.

himself thus; Thou hast chastised me, and I was chastised, as a bullock unaccustomed to the yoke: turn thou me, and I shall be turned; for thou art the LORD my God.

19 Surely after that I was turned, I repented; and after that I was instructed, I smote upon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, even confounded, because I did bear the reproach of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim my dear son? is he a pleasant child? for since I speak against him, I do earnestly remember him still: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely have mercy upon him, saith the LORD.

21 Set thee up way-marks, make thee high heaps: set thine heart toward the high-way, even the way which thou wentest: turn again, O virgin of Israel, turn again to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go about, O thou backsliding daughter? for the LORD hath created a new thing in the earth, A woman shall compass a man.

23 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; As yet they should use this speech in the land of Judah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring again their captivity? The LORD bless thee, O habitation of justice, and mountain of holiness.

24 And there shall dwell in Judah it self, and in all the cities thereof together, husbandmen, and they that go forth with flocks.

25 For I have satiated the weary soul, and I have replenished every sorrowful soul.

26 Upon this I awaked, and beheld; and my sleep was sweet unto me.

27 ¶ Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will sow the house of Israel and the house of Judah with the seed of man and with the seed of beast.

28 And it shall come to pass, that like as I have watched over them to pluck up, and to break down, and to throw down, and to destroy, and to afflict; so will I watch over them to build and to plant, saith the LORD.

29 In those days they shall say no more, The fathers have eaten a sour grape, and the children's teeth are set on edge.

30 But every one shall die for his own iniquity: every man that eateth the sour grape, his teeth shall be set on edge.

31 Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah.

32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband unto them, saith the LORD;

33 But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the LORD, I will put my law in 19 Surely after that I was turned, I repented.] As soon as the grace of God touched my heart, and gave me a due sense of my duty, and the many deviations from it I had been guilty of, I immediately became a true penitent.

I smote upon my thigh.] An action expressing great concern or surprize. Homer makes Achilles use it, Iliad b. 16.

Divine Achilles view'd the rising flames,
And smote his thigh, and thus aloud exclaims. Pope.

This action was likewise used by the Roman orators to express great concern: Nulla perturbatio animi, nulla corporis, frons non percussa, non femur. Cicero de Clar. Orat.

Because I did bear the reproach of my youth.] The burden of my former sins lay heavy upon my mind.

20 Is Ephraim my dear son? Is he a pleasant child? &c.] The passage may be much better rendered, Is not Ephraim my dear son? Is he not a pleasant child? i. e. is not Ephraim one on whom I have placed my affections, as a parent does upon a child, in whom he delights?

21 Set thee up way-marks, make thee high heaps, &c.] He bids them think of preparing for their return to their own country; and, in order to that end, to erect way-marks to guide travellers in the right road. Lowth.

22 The Lord hath created a new thing in the earth, &c.] Most Christian writers understand this passage of the miraculous conception of the virgin Mary. Nor will it be thought, that such a prophecy concerning the conception of Christ is here inserted abruptly, if it be considered, that, as the coming of the Messiah is the foundation of all the promises both of the first and second covenant, so it contains the most powerful arguments to persuade men to obedience. And that covenant, of which Christ was to be the Mediator, is plainly foretold and described in the thirty-first and following verses of this chapter. Lowth.

23 O habitation of justice, and mountain of holiness.] When the captivity shall be restored, and the temple rebuilt, Jerusalem shall enjoy its former privileges, and be called the seat of justice, and the temple shall be stiled the holy mountain, or place dedicated to the service of the Almighty.

25 I have satiated.] Or, I will satiate.

31 I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, &c.] This must be meant of the evangelical covenant, as the text is expounded by St. Paul, Heb. viii. 8. x. 16. Lowth.

33 I will put my law in their inward parts, &c.] Or, in their minds, as St. Paul explains it: i. e. the new covenant shall require inward purity, instead of external obedience, and a reasonable service in the place of ceremonial ordinances. Lowth.

their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they ſhall be my people.

34 And they ſhall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, ſaying, Know the LORD: for they ſhall all know me, from the leaſt of them unto the greateſt of them, ſaith the LORD: for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their ſin no more.

35 Thus ſaith the LORD, which giveth the ſun for a light by day, and the ordinances of the moon and of the ſtars for a light by night, which divideth the ſea when the waves thereof roar; The LORD of hoſts is his name:

36 If thoſe ordinances depart from before me, ſaith the LORD, then the ſeed of Iſrael alſo ſhall ceaſe from being a nation before me for ever.

37 Thus ſaith the LORD; If heaven above can be meaſured, and the foundations of the earth ſearched out beneath, I will alſo caſt off all the ſeed of Iſrael for all that they have done, ſaith the LORD.

38 Behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that the city ſhall be built to the LORD, from the tower of Hananeel unto the gate of the corner.

39 And the meaſuring-line ſhall yet go forth over-againſt it upon the hill Gareb, and ſhall compaſs about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the aſhes, and all the fields unto the brook of Kidron, unto the corner of the horſe-gate towards the eaſt, ſhall be holy unto the LORD: it ſhall not be plucked up, nor thrown down any more for ever.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Jeremiah's impriſonment. 16 His complaint to God. 26 The captivity confirmed. 36 A promiſe of a gracious return.

THE word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah; which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar.

2 For then the king of Babylon's army beſieged Jeruſalem: and Jeremiah the prophet was ſhut up in the court of the priſon, which was in the king of Judah's houſe.

3 For Zedekiah king of Judah had ſhut him up, ſaying, Wherefore doſt thou propheſy, and ſay, Thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall take it:

4 And Zedekiah king of Judah ſhall not eſcape out of the hand of the Chaldeans, but ſhall ſurely be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, and ſhall ſpeak with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes ſhall behold his eyes:

5 And he ſhall lead Zedekiah to Babylon, and there ſhall he be until I viſit him, ſaith the LORD: though ye fight with the Chaldeans, ye ſhall not proſper.

6 And Jeremiah ſaid, The word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

7 Behold, Hanameel the ſon of Shallum thine uncle ſhall come unto thee, ſaying, Buy thee my field that is in Anathoth: for the right of redemption is thine to buy it.

8 So Hanameel mine uncle's ſon came to me in the court of the priſon, according to the word of the LORD, and ſaid unto me, Buy my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the country of Benjamin: for the right of inheritance is thine, and the redemption is thine: buy it for thy ſelf. Then I knew that this was the word of the LORD.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel my uncle's ſon, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the money, even ſeventeen ſhekels of ſilver.

10 And I ſubſcribed the evidence, and ſeal-

34 They ſhall teach no more—ſaying, Know the Lord, &c.] The laws of the new covenant ſhall be ſo plain and agreeable to the dictates of reaſon, that there ſhall be no need for continually putting them in mind of it as the former covenant, a great part of whoſe ordinances was purely poſitive and ceremonial. God will now give a great meaſure of his grace, both to inſtruct men in the knowledge of his will, and engage them to practiſe it accordingly.

40 The valley of the dead bodies.] The valley of Tophet, which was made a common burying-place, even this ſhall be cleanſed, and ſet apart as holy unto the Lord.

Notes on the Thirty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 3 Wherefore doſt thou propheſy, &c.] This refers to the prophecy at chap. xxxiv. 2. Jeremiah's prophecies are put together without any order of time.

ed it, and took witneſſes, and weighed him the money in the balances.

11 So I took the evidence of the purchaſe, both that which was ſealed according to the law and cuſtom, and that which was open:

12 And I gave the evidence of the purchaſe unto Baruch the ſon of Neriah the ſon of Maaſeiah, in the ſight of Hanameel mine uncle's ſon, and in the preſence of the witneſſes that ſubſcribed the book of the purchaſe, before all the Jews that ſat in the court of the priſon.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, ſaying,

14 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Take theſe evidences, this evidence of the purchaſe, both which is ſealed, and this evidence which is open; and put them in an earthen veſſel, that they may continue many days.

15 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Houſes, and fields, and vineyards ſhall be poſſeſſed again in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had delivered the evidence of the purchaſe unto Baruch the ſon of Neriah, I prayed unto the LORD, ſaying,

17 Ah, LORD GOD, behold thou haſt made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and ſtretched-out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee:

18 Thou ſheweſt loving-kindneſs unto thouſands, and recompenſeſt the iniquity of the fathers into the boſom of their children after them: the Great, the Mighty God, the LORD of hoſts is his name.

19 Great in counſel, and mighty in work: for thine eyes are open upon all the ways of the ſons of men, to give every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings:

20 Which haſt ſet ſigns and wonders in the land of Egypt even unto this day, and in Iſrael, and amongſt other men; and haſt made thee a name, as at this day;

21 And haſt brought forth thy people Iſrael out of the land of Egypt with ſigns, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hand, and with a ſtretched-out arm, and with great terror.

22 And haſt given them this land, which thou didſt ſwear to their fathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey;

23 And they came in, and poſſeſſed it; but they obeyed not thy voice, neither walked in thy law: they have done nothing of all that thou commandedſt them to do: therefore thou haſt cauſed all this evil to come upon them:

24 Behold the mounts, they are come unto the city to take it: and the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans that fight againſt it, becauſe of the ſword, and of the famine, and of the peſtilence: and what thou haſt ſpoken is come to paſs; and behold, thou ſeeſt it.

25 And thou haſt ſaid unto me, O Lord GOD, Buy thee the field for money, and take witneſſes; for the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto Jeremiah, ſaying,

27 Behold, I am the LORD, the God of all fleſh: Is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon; and he ſhall take it:

29 And the Chaldeans, that fight againſt this city, ſhall come and ſet fire on this city, and burn it, with the houſes upon whoſe roofs they have offered incenſe unto Baal, and poured out drink-offerings unto other gods, to provoke me to anger.

30 For the children of Iſrael and the children of Judah have only done evil before me

10 I weighed him the money in the balances.] In antient times all money went by weight; as it does now in ſeveral countries.

17 Ah, Lord God, behold, thou haſt made the heaven and the earth.] This prayer begins with an acknowledgment of God's infinite power, which is ſufficiently manifeſt, both in the works of creation and providence, whereby he ſhews himſelf wonderful in his mercies, and terrible in his judgments. Lowth.

There is nothing too hard for thee.] Or, hidden from thee, as the Hebrew word literally imports.

19 Great in counſel, and mighty in work, &c.] Who art infinitely wiſe in ordering all events, and as powerful in putting thy decrees in execution. Lowth.

24 Behold the mounts.] Rather, behold the engines; the margin reads, The engines of ſhot, for taking the city.

25 For the city is given, &c.] Rather, although the city be given, &c.

27 Is any thing too hard for me?] The difficulties which thou thinkeſt impoſſible to be ſurmounted are eaſy to me, who can do all things, and have the lives and actions of all men at my diſpoſal.

from their youth: for the children of Israel have only provoked me to anger with the work of their hands saith the LORD.

31 For this city hath been to me as a provocation of mine anger and of my fury, from the day that they built it even unto this day; that I should remove it from before my face:

32 Because of all the evil of the children of Israel and of the children of Judah which they have done to provoke me to anger, they, their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

33 And they have turned unto me the back, and not the face: though I taught them rising up early, and teaching them, yet they have not hearkened to receive instruction.

34 But they set their abominations in the house which is called by my name, to defile it.

35 And they built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of the son of Hinnom, to cause their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire unto Molech: which I commanded them not, neither came it into my mind that they should do this abomination to cause Judah to sin.

36 ¶ And now therefore thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning this city, whereof ye say, It shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence;

37 Behold, I will gather them out of all countries whither I have driven them in mine anger and in my fury and in great wrath; and I will bring them again unto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely:

38 And they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

39 And I will give them one heart and one way, that they may fear me for ever, for the good of them and of their children after them.

40 And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from them, to do them good; but I will put my fear in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will rejoice over them to do them good, and I will plant them in this land assuredly, with my whole heart and with my whole soul.

42 For thus saith the LORD; Like as I have brought all this great evil upon this people, so will I bring upon them all the good that I have promised them.

43 And fields shall be bought in this land, wherefore ye say, It is desolate without man or beast; it is given into the hand of the Chaldeans.

44 Men shall buy fields for money, and subscribe evidences, and seal them, and take witnesses in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, and in the cities of the mountains, and in the cities of the valley, and in the cities of the south: for I will cause their captivity to return, saith the LORD.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 A return promised. 15 Christ, the Branch of righteousness.

MOreover, the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah the second time, while 31 From the day that they built it, &c.] David was the builder of that part of Jerusalem called Sion, therefore stiled the city of David: he also improved, and enlarged the whole city of Jerusalem, and made it the seat of the kingdom: but we do not read that idolatry, the sin spoken of, was committed here in David's time: if we take the words in a stricter sense, they must be understood of the time of Solomon, who beautified the city by erecting the temple, and other stately buildings, but afterwards defiled it with idolatry. Lowth.

I should remove it from my face.] Withdraw my protection from it.

They have turned to me the back.] They have been obstinate, and continued in disobedience.

37 I will cause them to dwell safely.] St. Jerom observes in his notes upon the place, that his promise, taken in its full extent, was not made good to those who returned from the captivity, because they were frequently infested with wars, both by the kings of Syria and Egypt, and those of the neighbouring nations, as appears from the history of the Maccabees; and were finally subdued by the Romans: the promise therefore must relate to the future calling of the Jews, when they shall embrace the doctrines of the gospel. Lowth.

39 I will give them one heart, and one way.] This must be understood, at least with regard to its ultimate completion, of the re-union of Judah and Israel after their general restoration.

40 I will make an everlasting covenant with them, &c.] The Jewish covenant, with respect to the ceremonial ordinances contained in it, is sometimes called an everlasting covenant; because these ordinances were to continue for a long succession of time, and to last till the age of the Messiah. But when this expression is applied to the gospel-covenant, it has a peculiar emphasis; implying, that it shall never be abolished, or give way to any other dispensation. Lowth.

he was yet ſhut up in the court of the priſon, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the LORD the maker thereof, the LORD that formed it to eſtabliſh it; The LORD is his name:

3 Call unto me, and I will anſwer thee, and ſhew thee great and mighty things, which thou knoweſt not.

4 For thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael, concerning the houſes of this city, and concerning the houſes of the kings of Judah, which are thrown down by the mounts, and by the ſword;

5 They come to fight with the Chaldeans, but it is to fill them with the dead bodies of men, whom I have ſlain in mine anger and in my fury, and for all whoſe wickedneſs I have hid my face from this city.

6 Behold, I will bring it health and cure, and I will cure them, and will reveal unto them the abundance of peace and truth.

7 And I will cauſe the captivity of Judah and the captivity of Iſrael to return, and will build them as at the firſt.

8 And I will cleanſe them from all their iniquity whereby they have ſinned againſt me; and I will pardon all their iniquities whereby they have ſinned, and whereby thy have tranſgreſſed againſt me.

9 And it ſhall be to me a name of joy, a praiſe and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which ſhall hear all the good that I do unto them: and they ſhall fear and tremble for all the goodneſs and for all the proſperity that I procure unto it.

10 Thus ſaith the LORD; Again there ſhall be heard in this place, which ye ſay ſhall be deſolate without a man and without beaſt, even in the cities of Judah and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, that are deſolate without man and without inhabitant and without beaſt:

11 The voice of joy and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that ſhall ſay, Praiſe the LORD of hoſts: for the LORD is good; for his mercy endureth for ever; and of them that ſhall bring the ſacriſice of praiſe into the houſe of the LORD. For I will cauſe to return the captivity of the land as at the firſt, ſaith the LORD.

12 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Again in this place which is deſolate without man and without beaſt, and in all the cities thereof, ſhall be an habitation of ſhepherds cauſing their flocks to lie down.

13 In the cities of the mountains, in the cities of the vale, and in the cities of the ſouth, and in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Judah ſhall the flocks paſs again under the hands of him that telleth them, ſaith the LORD.

14 Behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will perform that good thing which I have promiſed unto the houſe of Iſrael and to the houſe of Judah.

15 ¶ In thoſe days and at that time will I cauſe the Branch of righteouſneſs to grow up unto David; and he ſhall execute judgement and righteouſneſs in the land.

16 In thoſe days ſhall Judah be ſaved, and

Ver. 3 Call unto me, and I will anſwer thee, &c.] An expreſſion intimating the favour and loving-kindneſs of the Almighty, that he is ready to comply with the firſt intimations of the deſires of his ſervants. 6 I will bring it health and cure, &c.] I will reſtore this place to its former proſperity, and deliver it from that melancholy ſtate to which it has been reduced by the ſins of its inhabitants.

8 I will cleanſe them from all their iniquity, &c.] I will remit the puniſhments I have inflicted on them for their iniquities. This verſe contains that general promiſe of pardon of ſins often mentioned in the prophets, as the peculiar bleſſing of the goſpel.

9 It ſhall be an honour before all nations of the earth, &c.] God's ſpecial providence over the Jews in reſtoring their city and temple, ſhall be remarked by the heathen world, and will cauſe all the inhabitants of the earth to give glory to the God they worſhipped. Lowth.

Jeruſalem ſhall dwell ſafely; and this is the name wherewith ſhe ſhall be called, The LORD our righteouſneſs.

17 For thus ſaith the LORD; David ſhall never want a man to ſit upon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael;

18 Neither ſhall the prieſts the Levites want a man before me to offer burnt-offerings, and to kindle meat-offerings, and to do ſacrifice continually.

19 And the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah, ſaying,

20 Thus ſaith the LORD; If ye can break my covenant of the day and my covenant of the night, and that there ſhould not be day and night in their ſeaſon;

21 Then may alſo my covenant be broken with David my ſervant, that he ſhould not have a ſon to reign upon his throne; and with the Levites the prieſts, my miniſters.

22 As the hoſt of heaven cannot be numbered, neither the ſand of the ſea meaſured; ſo will I multiply the ſeed of David my ſervant, and the Levites that miniſter unto me.

23 Moreover, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, ſaying,

24 Conſidereſt thou not what this people have ſpoken, ſaying, The two families which the LORD hath choſen, he hath even caſt them off. Thus have they deſpiſed my people, that they ſhould be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus ſaith the LORD; If my covenant be not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth:

26 Then will I caſt away the ſeed of Jacob, and David my ſervant, ſo that I will not take any of his ſeed to be rulers over the ſeed of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob: for I will cauſe their captivity to return, and have mercy on them.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Jeremiah propheſieth the captivity of Zedekiah, and the city.

THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the LORD, when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and all his army, and all the kingdoms of the earth of his dominion, and all the people fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities thereof; ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael; Go, and ſpeak to Zedekiah king of Judah, and tell him, Thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon; and he ſhall burn it with fire:

3 And thou ſhalt not eſcape out of his hand, but ſhalt ſurely be taken, and delivered into his hand; and thine eyes ſhall behold the eyes of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall ſpeak with thee mouth to mouth, and thou ſhalt go to Babylon.

4 Yet hear the word of the LORD, O Zedekiah king of Judah; Thus ſaith the LORD of thee; Thou ſhalt not die by the ſword:

5 But thou ſhalt die in peace: and with the burnings of thy fathers, the former kings which were before thee, ſo ſhall they burn odours for thee; and they will lament thee, ſaying, Ah, lord! for I have pronounced the word, ſaith the LORD.

6 Then Jeremiah the prophet ſpake all theſe words unto Zedekiah king of Judah in Jeruſalem, 17 David ſhall never want a man to ſit upon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael, &c.] The promiſe of perpetuity made to David's kingdom ſhall be fulfilled in the Meſſiah, whoſe kingdom ſhall have no end. Lowth.

22 As the hoſt of heaven cannot be numbered, &c.] This relates to the promiſe made to Abraham, of multiplying his ſeed as the ſtars of heaven, Gen. xxii. 17. If we conſider the literal ſenſe of this promiſe, as fulfilled when the Jews firſt peopled the land of Canaan; it is wonderful to reflect on the vaſt numbers of inhabitants who dwelt in Judea, a country not above 160 miles in length, and about 120 in breadth, if we take in all the country on the other ſide of Jordan, to the borders of Arabia: and yet in David's time there were reckoned above fifteen hundred thouſand fighting men, 1 Chron. xxi. 5.

24 The two families which the Lord hath choſen, he hath even caſt them off, &c.] By the two families are meant the tribes of Judah and Levi. The words are ſpoken by thoſe who thought the Jews would never be reſtored to their former condition, or again enjoy their antient government in church or ſtate. Lowth.

Notes on the Thirty-fourth Chapter

Ver. 1 When Nebuchadnezzar---fought againſt Jeruſalem, &c.] The ſiege was begun in the ninth year of Zedekiah, in the tenth month, and tenth day of the month, which anſwers to the latter end of our December; but the particulars here recorded, do not ſeem to have happened till ſome time after the ſiege. Lowth.

2 I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, &c.] This prophecy, which threatened the king in particular, as well as the city and nation in general, ſo highly diſpleaſed Zedekiah, that he ſhut up the prophet in priſon.

5 They ſhall burn odours for thee.] It was cuſtomary for the Jews to burn odours at the funeral of thoſe kings whoſe memory they honoured.

7 When the king of Babylon's army fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities of Judah that were left, againſt Lachiſh, and againſt Azekah: for theſe defenced cities remained of the cities of Judah.

8 This is the word that came unto Jeremiah from the LORD, after that the king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people which were at Jeruſalem to proclaim liberty unto them;

9 That every man ſhould let his man-ſervant and every man his maid-ſervant, being an Hebrew or an Hebreweſs, go free; that none ſhould ſerve himſelf of them, to wit, of a Jew his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had entered into the covenant, heard that every one ſhould let his man-ſervant and every one his maid-ſervant go free, that none ſhould ſerve themſelves of them any more, then they obeyed, and let them go.

11 But afterwards they turned, and cauſed the ſervants and the handmaids, whom they had let go free, to return; and brought them into ſubjection for ſervants and for handmaids.

12 Therefore the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah from the LORD, ſaying,

13 Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael; I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of bond-men, ſaying;

14 At the end of ſeven years let ye go every man his brother an Hebrew, which hath been ſold unto thee; and when he hath ſerved thee ſix years, thou ſhalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers hearkened not unto me, neither inclined their ear.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my ſight, in proclaiming liberty every man to his neighbour; and ye had made a covenant before me in the houſe which is called by my name:

16 But ye turned and polluted my name, and cauſed every man his ſervant and every man his handmaid, whom he had ſet at liberty at their pleaſure, to return, and brought them into ſubjection, to be unto you for ſervants and for handmaids.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD; Ye have not hearkened unto me, in proclaiming liberty every one to his brother and every man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaim a liberty for you, ſaith the LORD, to the ſword, to the peſtilence, and to the famine: and I will make you to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth.

18 And I will give the men that have tranſgreſſed my covenant, which have not performed the words of the covenant which they had made before me, when they cut the calf in twain, and paſſed between the parts thereof,

19 The princes of Judah, and the princes of Jeruſalem, the eunuchs, and the prieſts, and all the people of the land which paſſed between the parts of the calf,

20 I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life: and their dead bodies ſhall be for meat unto the fowls of the heaven and to the beaſts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Judah and his princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life, and into the hand of the king of Baby-

14 At the end of ſeven years.] The ſeventh year was the year of releaſe; conſequently ſervants were to remain but ſix years with their maſters, and, at the beginning of the ſeventh, were to be reſtored to their liberty. Lowth.

Your fathers hearkened not unto me, &c.] It appears from hence, and other paſſages in ſcripture, that the ſabbatical years were wholly neglected for ſeveral years before the captivity. The author of the ſecond book of Chronicles aſſigns this reaſon for the captivity, That the land might enjoy her ſabbaths, chap. xxxvi. 21. Now, if we reckon the whole ſeventy years captivity as a puniſhment for this neglect, it will follow, that the law for obſerving thoſe ſabbatical years had been diſregarded for about 430 years. Lowth.

15 He had made a covenant before me.] This was properly ſuch a covenant as Joſiah, and all the people formerly made in the houſe of the Lord; whereby they obliged themſelves to worſhip him, obſerve his laws in general, and this for giving freedom to their ſervants in particular.

17 Ye have not hearkened unto me, in proclaiming liberty.] Though ye made proclamation of ſuch a liberty, yet ye never performed it.

I proclaim a liberty for you---to the ſword, &c.] I will now make public proclamation, that I give free commiſſion for the ſword, the famine, and the peſtilence, to deſtroy you utterly.

18, 19 When they cut the calf in twain, and paſſed between the parts thereof] Implying by that ceremony, that they wiſhed themſelves might be cut in ſunder, in like manner, if they broke their ſolemn vow and promiſe: the ſame right was uſed in very antient times, Gen. xv. 10.

lon's army, which are gone up from you.

22 Behold, I will command, ſaith the LORD, and cauſe them to return to this city; and they ſhall fight againſt it, and take it, and burn it with fire: and I will make the cities of Judah a deſolation without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 By the obedience of the Rechabites, 12 the Jews diſobedience is condemned.

THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the LORD in the days of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, ſaying,

2 Go unto the houſe of the Rechabites, and ſpeak unto them, and bring them into the houſe of the LORD, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink.

3 Then I took Jaazaniah, the ſon of Jeremiah the ſon of Habaziniah, and his brethren, and all his ſons, and the whole houſe of the Rechabites;

4 And I brought them into the houſe of the LORD, into the chamber of the ſons of Hanan the ſon of Igdaliah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was above the chamber of Maaſeiah the ſon of Shallum, the keeper of the door:

5 And I ſet before the ſons of the houſe of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and I ſaid unto them, Drink ye wine.

6 But they ſaid, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the ſon of Rechab our father commanded us, ſaying, Ye ſhall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your ſons for ever:

7 Neither ſhall ye build houſe, nor ſow ſeed, nor plant vineyard, nor have any: but all your days ye ſhall dwell in tents; that ye may live many days in the land where ye be ſtrangers.

8 Thus have we obeyed the voice of Jonadab the ſon of Rechab our father in all that he hath charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our ſons, nor or daughters;

9 Nor to build houſes for us to dwell in: neither have we vineyard, nor field, nor ſeed:

10 But we have dwelt in tents, and have obeyed and done according to all that Jonadab our father commanded us.

11 But it came to paſs, when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came up into the land, that we ſaid, Come, and let us go to Jeruſalem for fear of the army of the Chaldeans, and for fear of the army of the Syrians: ſo we dwell at Jeruſalem.

12 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto Jeremiah, ſaying,

13 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Go, and tell the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, Will ye not receive inſtruction to hearken to my words? ſaith the LORD.

14 The words of Jonadab the ſon of Rechab, that he commanded his ſons not to drink-wine, are performed: for unto this day they drink none, but obey their fathers commandment: notwithſtanding, I have ſpoken unto you, riſing early and ſpeaking; but ye hearkened not unto me:

15 I have ſent alſo unto you all my ſervants the prophets, riſing up early and ſending them, ſaying, Return ye now every man from his evil way, and amend your doings, and go not after other gods to ſerve them, and ye ſhall dwell in the land which I have given to you and to your fathers; but ye have not inclined your ear, nor hearkened unto me.

16 Becauſe the ſons of Jonadab the ſon of Rechab have performed the commandment of 18 And Jeremiah ſaid unto the houſe of the Rechabites, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Becauſe ye have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according unto all that he hath commanded you:

19 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Jonadab the ſon of Rechab ſhall not want a man to ſtand before me for ever.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth Jeremiah's prophecy. 20 Jehoiakim burneth the roll. 27 His judgement. 32 Baruch writeth a new copy.

AND it came to paſs in the fourth year of of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, that this word came unto Jeremiah, from the LORD, ſaying,

2 Take thee a roll of a book, and write therein all the words that I have ſpoken unto thee againſt Iſrael, and againſt Judah, and againſt all the nations, from the day I ſpake unto thee, from the days of Joſiah, even unto this day.

3 It may be that the houſe of Judah will hear all the evil which I purpoſe to do unto them; that they may return every man from his evil way; that I may forgive their iniquity and their ſin.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the ſon of Neriah: and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the LORD, which he had ſpoken unto him, upon a roll of a book.

5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, ſaying, I am ſhut up; I cannot go into the houſe of the LORD:

6 Therefore go thou and read in the roll which thou haſt written from my mouth, the words of the LORD in the ears of the people in the LORD's houſe upon the faſting-day: and alſo thou ſhalt read them in the ears of all Judah, that ſhall come out of their cities.

7 It may be they will preſent their ſupplication before the LORD, and will return every one from his evil way: for great is the anger and the fury that the LORD hath pronounced againſt this people.

8 And Baruch the ſon of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of the LORD in the LORD's houſe.

9 And it came to paſs in the fifth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a faſt before the LORD to all the people in Jeruſalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Judah unto Jeruſalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the book the words of Jeremiah in the houſe of the LORD, in the chamber of Gemariah the ſon of Shaphan the Notes on the Thirty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Take thee a roll of a book.] The ancient manner of writing was upon long ſcrolls of parchment, which they afterwards rolled upon ſticks. Lowth.

Write therein all the words that I have ſpoken unto thee againſt Iſrael, and againſt Judah, &c.] Though the kingdom of Iſrael was deſtroyed by Salmanezer, before the time of Jeremiah, yet the prophet was ordered to reprove their ſins, both to make the juſtice of God appear in puniſhing them ſo ſeverely, and to warn the reſt of the Jews, by their example. Beſides, there were ſome remains of theſe tribes ſtill left, who joined themſelves to the tribe of Judah. Lowth.

3 It may be that the houſe of Judah will hear, &c.] God is here introduced as ſpeaking after the manner of man, and uſing ſuch methods as in human probability may be moſt likely to prevail. Theſe and ſuch like expreſſions indicate, that God's foreknowledge of future events lays no reſtraint on the will of man, nor takes away the liberty of human actions. Lowth.

5 I am ſhut up.] Probably he was under confinement for having given offence to the king by his prophecies.

9 In the fifth year of Jehoiakim---in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a faſt, &c.] It was cuſtomary among the Jews to proclaim anniverſary faſts upon certain days, in memory of ſome great calamity which had befallen them at that time. Of this kind were the faſts of the fourth, fifth, ſeventh, and tenth months, mentioned by the prophet Zechariah; the firſt inſtituted in memory of the city's being taken by Nebuchadnezzar, the ſecond in memory of the temple's being burnt in that month; the third for the murder of Jedaliah, and the fourth in memory of the ſiege which then began. Lowth.

ſcribe, in the higher court, at the entry of the new gate of the LORD's houſe, in the ears of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the ſon of Gemariah, the ſon of Shaphan had heard out of the book all the words of the LORD,

12 Then he went down into the king's houſe into the ſcribes chamber: and lo, all the princes ſat there, even Eliſhama the ſcribe, and Delaiah the ſon of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the ſon of Achbor, and Gemariah the ſon of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the ſon of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared unto them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read the book in the ears of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes ſent Jehudi the ſon of Nethaniah, the ſon of Shelemiah, the ſon of Cuſhi, unto Baruch, ſaying, Take in thine hand the roll wherein thou haſt read in the ears of the people, and come. So Baruch the ſon of Neriah took the roll in his hand, and came unto them.

15 And they ſaid unto him, Sit down now, and read it in our ears. So Baruch read it in their ears.

16 Now it came to paſs when they had heard all the words, they were afraid both one and other, and ſaid unto Baruch, We will ſurely tell the king of all theſe words.

17 And they aſked Baruch, ſaying, Tell us now, How didſt thou write all theſe words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch anſwered them; He pronounced all theſe words unto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ink in the book.

19 Then ſaid the princes unto Baruch, Go, hide thee, thou, and Jeremiah; and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the king into the court, but they laid up the roll in the chamber of Eliſhama the ſcribe, and told all the words in the ears of the king.

21 So the king ſent Jehudi to fetch the roll: and he took it out of Eliſhama the ſcribe's chamber: and Jehudi read it in the ears of the king, and in the ears of all the princes which ſtood beſide the king.

22 Now the king ſat in the winter-houſe, in the ninth month: and there was a fire on the hearth burning before him.

23 And it came to paſs, that when Jehudi had read three or four leaves, he cut it with the penknife, and caſt it into the fire that was on the hearth, until all the roll was conſumed in the fire that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor rent their garments, neither the king, nor any of his ſervants that heard all theſe words.

25 Nevertheleſs, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had made interceſſion to the king that he would not burn the roll: but he would not hear them.

26 But the king commanded Jerahmeel the ſon of Hammelech, and Seraiah the ſon of Azriel, and Shelemiah the ſon of Abdeel, to take Baruch the ſcribe, and Jeremiah the prophet. But the LORD hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, after that the king had burned the roll, and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah, ſaying, 28 Take thee again another roll, and write in it all the former words that were in the firſt roll, which Jehoiakim the king of Judah hath burned.

29 And thou ſhalt ſay to Jehoiakim king of Judah, Thus ſaith the LORD; Thou haſt burned this roll, ſaying, Why haſt thou written therein, ſaying, The king of Babylon ſhall certainly come and deſtroy this land, and ſhall cauſe to ceaſe from thence man and beaſt?

30 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of Jehoiakim king of Judah, He ſhall have none to ſit upon the throne of David: and his dead body ſhall be caſt out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the froſt.

31 And I will puniſh him, and his ſeed, and his ſervants, for their iniquity; and I will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Je-

32 ¶ Then took Jeremiah another roll, and gave it to Baruch the ſcribe the ſon of Neriah; who wrote therein from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the book which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire: and there were added beſides unto them many like words.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 The Egyptians having raiſed the Chaldeans ſiege, Zedekiah ſendeth to Jeremiah; 6 who propheſieth the Chaldeans return and victory. 11 He is beaten, and put in priſon.

AND king Zedekiah the ſon of Joſiah reigned inſtead of Coniah the ſon of Jehoiakim, whom Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon made king in the land of Judah.

2 But neither he, nor his ſervants, nor the people of the land did hearken unto the words of the LORD which he ſpake by the prophet Jeremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king ſent Jehucal the ſon of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the ſon of Maaſeiah the prieſt, to the prophet Jeremiah, ſaying, Pray now unto the LORD our God for us.

4 Now Jeremiah came in and went out among the people: for they had not put him into priſon.

5 Then Pharaoh's army was come forth out of Egypt: and when the Chaldeans that beſieged Jeruſalem heard tidings of them, they departed from Jeruſalem.

6 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto the prophet Jeremiah, ſaying,

7 Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael; Thus ſhall ye ſay to the king of Judah, that ſent you unto me to enquire of me; Behold, Pharaoh's army, which is come forth to help you, ſhall return to Egypt into their own land.

8 And the Chaldeans ſhall come again, and fight againſt this city, and take it, and burn it with fire.

9 Thus ſaith the LORD; Deceive not your ſelves, ſaying, The Chaldeans ſhall ſurely depart from us: for they ſhall not depart.

10 For though ye had ſmitten the whole army of the Chaldeans that fight againſt you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet ſhould they riſe up every man in his tent, and burn this city with fire.

11 ¶ And it came to paſs that when the army of the Chaldeans was broken up from Jeruſalem for fear of Pharaoh's army, 12 Then Jeremiah went forth out of Jeruſalem to go into the land of Benjamin, to ſeparate himſelf thence in the midſt of the people.

13 And when he was in the gate of Benjamin, a captain of the ward was there, whoſe name was Irijah, the ſon of Shelemiah, the ſon of Hananiah; and he took Jeremiah the prophet, ſaying, Thou falleſt away to the Chaldeans.

14 Then ſaid Jeremiah, It is falſe; I fall not away to the Chaldeans. But he hearkened not to him: ſo Irijah took Jeremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were wroth with Jeremiah, and ſmote him, and put him in priſon in the houſe of Jonathan the ſcribe: for they had made that the priſon.

16 When Jeremiah was entered into the dungeon, and into the cabins, and Jeremiah had remained there many days;

32 There were added beſides unto them many like words.] From hence we may infer, that the ſpirit of God did not always indite the very words which the ſacred authors wrote, directing them only in general to expreſs his ſenſe in proper words, leaving the manner to themſelves. Hence proceeds that variety of ſtile obſervable in the ſcriptures, according to the genius or education of the writers. Lowth.

Notes on the Thirty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Zedekiah---whom Nebuchadrezzar made king.] A tributary king, he having taken an oath of homage to the king of Babylon.

5 Pharaoh's army was come forth out of Egypt, &c.] Zedekiah, contrary to the oath he had taken to Nebuchadnezzar, made an alliance with the king of Egypt, and contracted with him for aſſiſtance againſt the king of Babylon. Accordingly the king of Egypt ſent an army to his relief, which obliged the Chaldeans to raiſe the ſiege of Jeruſalem, in order to fight this Egyptian army. Lowth.

12 To ſeparate himſelf thence in the mids of the people.] Or rather, from the midſt of his people, or, from among his people; i. e. Jeremiah propoſed to leave the city, and retire into his own country. Lowth.

13 Thou falleſt away to the Chaldeans.] The ground of this accuſation was the prophet's having foretold that the Chaldeans ſhould take the city, and exhorted the Jews to ſubmit to them.

19 Where

17 Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and took him out: and the king aſked him ſecretly in his houſe, and ſaid, Is there any word from the LORD? And Jeremiah ſaid, There is; for, ſaid he, thou ſhalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon.

18 Moreover, Jeremiah ſaid unto king Zedekiah, What have I offended againſt thee, or againſt thy ſervants, or againſt this people, that ye have put me in priſon?

19 Where are now your prophets which propheſied unto you, ſaying, The king of Babylon ſhall not come againſt you, nor againſt this land?

20 Therefore hear now, I pray thee, O my lord the king: let my ſupplication, I pray thee, be accepted before thee; that thou cauſe me not to return to the houſe of Jonathan the ſcribe, leſt I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they ſhould commit Jeremiah into the court of the priſon, and that they ſhould give him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers ſtreet, until all the bread in the city were ſpent. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the priſon.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 Jeremiah is put into the dungeon. 7 Ebed-melech getteth him ſome enlargement. 14 His counſel to the king.

THEN Shephatiah the ſon of Mattan, and Gedeliah the ſon of Paſhur, and Jucal the ſon of Shelemiah, and Paſhur the ſon of Malchiah, heard the words that Jeremiah had ſpoken unto all the people, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the LORD, He that remaineth in this city ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth forth to the Chaldeans ſhall live; for he ſhall have his life for a prey, and ſhall live.

3 Thus ſaith the LORD, This city ſhall ſurely be given into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which ſhall take it.

4 Therefore the princes ſaid unto the king, We beſeech thee, let this man be put to death: for thus he weakeneth the hands of the men of war that remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, in ſpeaking ſuch words unto them: for this man ſeeketh not the welfare of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king ſaid, Behold, he is in your hand: for the king is not he that can do any thing againſt you.

6 Then took they Jeremiah and caſt him into the dungeon of Malchiah the ſon of Hammelech that was in the court of the priſon: and they let down Jeremiah with cords. And in the dungeon there was no water, but mire: ſo Jeremiah ſunk in the mire.

7 ¶ Now when Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, one of the eunuchs which was in the king's houſe, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon; the king then ſitting in the gate of Benjamin;

8 Ebed-melech went forth out of the king's houſe, and ſpake to the king, ſaying,

9 My lord the king, theſe men have done evil in all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, whom they have caſt into the dungeon; and he is like to die for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the city.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, ſaying, Take from hence thirty men with thee, and take up Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech took the men with him, and went into the houſe of the king under the treaſury, and took thence old caſt clouts, and old rotten rags, and let them down by cords into the dungeon to Jeremiah.

---

19 Where are now your prophets? &c.] Where are now your falſe prophets? The event muſt ſurely have demonſtrated how much they have deceived you; the ſiege is again renewed, and the city in imminent danger of being taken. Lowth.

21 Into the court of the priſon.] A more favourable reſtraint.

Till all the bread of the city was ſpent.] Till famine forced the city to ſurrender.

Notes on the Thirty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 4 He weakeneth the hands of the men of war.] i. e. He diſcourageth the men of war. Pilkington.

6 Then took they Jeremiah, and caſt him into the dungeon, &c.] It is commonly thought that Jeremiah, during his confinement in this loathſome place, compoſed the melancholy meditations inſerted in the third chapter of the Lamentations. See the 53d and 55th verſes.

9 Theſe men have done evil.] This perſon, though only a proſelyte, had a greater regard for God's word, and the meſſenger that publiſhed it, than any of the great men of his own nation.

15 If

12 And Ebed-melech the Ethiopian ſaid unto Jeremiah, Put now theſe old caſt clouts and rotten rags under thine arm-holes under the cords. And Jeremiah did ſo.

13 So they drew up Jeremiah with cords, and took him up out of the dungeon. And Jeremiah remained in the court of the priſon.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and took Jeremiah the prophet unto him into the third entry that is in the houſe of the LORD. And the king ſaid unto Jeremiah, I will aſk thee a thing; hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah ſaid unto Zedekiah, If I declare it unto thee, wilt thou not ſurely put me to death? and if I give thee counſel, wilt thou not hearken unto me?

16 So Zedekiah the king ſware ſecretly unto Jeremiah, ſaying, As the LORD liveth, that made us this ſoul, I will not put thee to death, neither will I give thee into the hand of theſe men that ſeek thy life.

17 Then ſaid Jeremiah unto Zedekiah, Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; If thou wilt aſſuredly go forth unto the king of Babylon's princes, then thy ſoul ſhall live, and this city ſhall not be burned with fire; and thou ſhalt live, and thine houſe.

18 But if thou wilt not go forth to the king of Babylon's princes, then ſhall this city be given into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they ſhall burn it with fire, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hand.

19 And Zedekiah the king ſaid unto Jeremiah, I am afraid of the Jews that are fallen to the Chaldeans, leſt they deliver me into their hand, and they mock me.

20 But Jeremiah ſaid, They ſhall not deliver thee. Obey, I beſeech thee, the voice of the LORD which I ſpeak unto thee: ſo it ſhall be well unto thee, and thy ſoul ſhall live.

21 But if thou refuſe to go forth, this is the word that the LORD hath ſhewed me:

22 And behold, all the women that are left in the king of Judah's houſe ſhall be brought forth to the king of Babylon's princes, and thoſe women ſhall ſay, Thy friends have ſet thee on, and have prevailed againſt thee: thy feet are ſunk in the mire, and they are turned away back.

23 So they ſhall bring out all thy wives and thy children to the Chaldeans: and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hand, but ſhalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon: and thou ſhalt cauſe this city to be burned with fire.

24 Then ſaid Zedekiah unto Jeremiah, Let no man know of theſe words, and thou ſhalt not die.

25 But if the princes hear that I have talked with thee, and they come unto thee, and ſay unto thee, Declare unto us now what thou haſt ſaid unto the king, hide it not from us, and we will not put thee to death; alſo what the king ſaid unto thee:

26 Then thou ſhalt ſay unto them, I preſented my ſupplication before the king, that he would not cauſe me to return to Jonathan's houſe, to die there.

27 Then came all the princes unto Jeremiah, and aſked him: and he told them according to all theſe words that the king had commanded. So they left off ſpeaking with him: for the matter was not perceived.

---

15 If I declare it unto thee, wilt thou not ſurely put me to death? &c.] The prophet had ſo often experienced the unſteadineſs of the king's temper, his backwardneſs in following good counſel, and his want of courage to ſupport thoſe who dared to give him proper advice, that he might very reaſonably determine not to venture his life to ſerve a man, who was, in ſome meaſure, incapable of being directed. And although God had ſhewed the prophet what would be the effect of this advice, if it were followed, yet it doth not appear that he had commanded him to make this known to Zedekiah. Lowth.

16 As the Lord liveth, that made us this ſoul, &c.] i. e. The author of our life and being; and may he preſerve it, or take it from me, as I ſpeak truth or falſhood.

19 They mock me.] When I am in the power of the Chaldeans, I fear they will treat me with contempt, without any regard to my royal character. Zedekiah was conſcious to himſelf, that he had broken that oath of homage and fidelity he had before given to the king of Babylon; and therefore might juſtly be treated as a man deſtitute both of faith and honour. Lowth.

22 All the women that are left, &c.] The king's wives, daughters, and other women that belong to the court, ſhall become a prey to the officers of the king of Babylon's army.

Thy friends have ſet thee on, &c.] Theſe very women ſhall reproach thee, for having ſuffered thyſelf to be enſnared by the advice of thy friends, and brought under inſuperable difficulties. Lowth.

They are turned away back.] Even thy friends, who adviſed thee not to ſubmit to the Chaldeans, will forſake thee in thy diſtreſs, and take the firſt opportunity of going over to the enemy.

26 That he would not cauſe me to return to Jonathan's houſe.] Jeremiah had been before kept priſoner there, chap. xxxvii. 15.

28 So Jeremiah abode in the court of the prison until the day that Jerusalem was taken: and he was there when Jerusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Jerusalem is taken. 4 Zedekiah is made blind, and sent to Babylon. 8 The city is ruined. 9 The people are captivated.

IN the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, came Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon and all his army against Jerusalem, and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the city was broken up.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babylon came in, and sat in the middle gate, even Nergal-sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Nergal-sharezer, Rab-mag, with all the residue of the princes of the king of Babylon.

4 ¶ And it came to pass, that when Zedekiah the king of Judah saw them, and all the men of war, then they fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the king's garden, by the gate betwixt the two walls: and he went out the way of the plain.

5 But the Chaldeans army pursued after them, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho: and when they had taken him they brought him up to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon to Riblah in the land of Hamath; where he gave judgement upon him.

6 Then the king of Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babylon slew all the nobles of Judah.

7 Moreover, he put out Zedekiah's eyes, and bound him with chains, to carry him to Babylon.

8 ¶ And the Chaldeans burned the king's house and the houses of the people with fire, and brake down the walls of Jerusalem.

9 ¶ Then Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carried away captive into Babylon the remnant of the people that remained in the city, and those that fell away, that fell to him, with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard left of the poor of the people, which had nothing, in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards and fields at the same time.

11 Now Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon gave charge concerning Jeremiah to Nebuzar-adan the captive of the guard, saying, 12 Take him, and look well to him, and do him no harm: but do unto him even as he shall say unto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard sent, and Nebushasban, Rab-saris, and Nergal-sharezer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babylon's princes;

14 Even they sent, and took Jeremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him unto Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan, that he should carry him home. So he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah while he was shut up in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Go, and speak to Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will bring my words upon this city for evil, and not for good;

Notes on the Thirty-ninth Chapter.

Ver 2 The city was broken up, &c.] Such breaches were made in the walls, that the armies of the Chaldeans entered and took possession of the city. Lowth.

4 When Zedekiah saw them, &c.] When the king and his officers saw that the Chaldeans were entered into the city, and had made themselves masters of it; instead of submitting himself to them, as Jeremiah had advised him, he endeavoured to make his escape.

5 To Riblah in the land of Hamath.] Most interpreters suppose this city to be the same which was afterwards called Antioch, being rebuilt by Seleucus. Lowth.

He gave judgment upon him.] He pronounced sentence upon him, as one that had broken his oath of fidelity to the king of Babylon, which he took when he made him king of Judea.

7 He put out Zedekiah's eyes, and bound him with chains to carry him to Babylon.] It is added, chap. lii. 11. that he put him in prison till the day of his death.] Thus two prophecies, which seemed at first to contradict each other, were fulfilled: the first was that of Jeremiah, namely, that Zedekiah's eyes should behold the king of Babylon, xxxii. 4. And the second that of the prophet Ezekiel, who foretold that he should not see Babylon, though he should die there, Ezek. xii. 13. Lowth.

11, 12 Now Nebuchadrezzar---gave charge concerning Jeremiah, &c.] He was informed that the prophet had exhorted both the king and people to submit themselves to his authority; and had his advice been followed, the charge and labour of so long a siege, and the terrible consequences that attended it, had been prevented. Lowth.

12 Look well to him.] Heb. Set thine eyes upon him; i. e. make much of him: habere aliquem in oculis is used by Terence.

Notes

and they ſhall be accompliſhed in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliver thee in that day, ſaith the LORD: and thou ſhalt not be given into the hand of the men of whom thou art afraid.

18 For I will ſurely deliver thee, and thou ſhalt not fall by the ſword, but thy life ſhall be for a prey unto thee: becauſe thou haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the LORD.

CHAP. XL.

1 Jeremiah being ſet free by Nebuzar-adan, goeth to Gedaliah. 7 The diſperſed Jews repair to him. 13 Iſhmael's conſpiracy.

THE word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, after that Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had let him go from Ramah, when he had taken him being bound in chains among all that were carried away captive of Jeruſalem and Judah, which were carried away captive unto Babylon.

2 And the captain of the guard took Jeremiah, and ſaid unto him, The LORD thy God hath pronounced this evil upon this place.

3 Now the LORD hath brought it, and done according as he hath ſaid: becauſe ye have ſinned againſt the LORD, and have not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come upon you.

4 And now, behold, I looſe thee this day from the chains which were upon thine hand. If it ſeem good unto thee to come with me into Babylon, come; and I will look well unto thee: but if it ſeem ill unto thee to come with me into Babylon, forbear: behold, all the land is before thee: whither it ſeemeth good and convenient for thee to go, thither go.

5 Now while he was not yet gone back, he ſaid, Go back alſo to Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon hath made governor over the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people: or go whereſoever it ſeemeth convenient unto thee to go. So the captain of the guard gave him victuals and a reward, and let him go.

6 Then went Jeremiah unto Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam to Mizpah; and dwelt with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 ¶ Now when all the captains of the forces which were in the fields, even they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam governor in the land, and had committed unto him men and women and children, and of the poor of the land, of them that were not carried away captive to Babylon;

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, even Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and Johanan and Jonathan the ſons of Kareah, and Seraiah the ſon of Tanhumeth, and the ſons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the ſon of a Maachathite, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan ſware unto them and to their men, ſaying, Fear not to ſerve the Chaldeans: dwell in the land, and ſerve the king of Babylon, and it ſhall be well with you.

10 As for me, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah, to ſerve the Chaldeans, which will come unto us: but ye, gather ye wine, and ſummer-fruits, and oil, and put them in your veſſels, and dwell in your cities that ye have taken.

11 Likewiſe when all the Jews that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of Judah, and that he had ſet over them Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan;

Notes on the Fortieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, &c.] This relates to the prophecy mentioned chap. xlii. 7. occaſioned by the conſpiracy of Iſhmael againſt Gedaliah.

5 Go back to Gedaliah.] The Chaldee paraphraſe ſeems to interpret this very well, If thou wilt not abide [here] go back to Gedaliah.

6 Then went Jeremiah unto Gedaliah---to Mizpah, &c.] A town in the confines of Judah and Benjamin, where Gedaliah then reſided. It was a place of great note in the time of the judges, and afterwards rebuilt by king Aſa. Lowth.

7 When all the captains of the forces which were in the fields, &c.] By the taking of Jeruſalem, the Chaldeans made a complete conqueſt of Judea; and the Jewiſh army with its commanders fled, and diſperſed themſelves in ſeveral parts of the country; but, upon the news of Gedaliah's being appointed governor of the land, they all repaired unto him. Lowth.

10 To ſerve the Chaldeans which will come unto us.] I am ready to obey any orders that the king of Babylon ſends me by his ſervants.

Gather ye wine and oil.] By a metonymy for grapes and olives. It was now about the month of Auguſt, the proper ſeaſon for gathering the ſummer fruits of that country.

12 Even all the Jews returned out of all places whither they were driven, and came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah, unto Mizpah, and gathered wine and ſummer-fruits very much.

13 ¶ Moreover, Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah.

14 And ſaid unto him, Doſt thou certainly know that Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath ſent Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah to ſlay thee? but Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam believed them not.

15 Then Johanan the ſon of Kareah ſpake to Gedaliah in Mizpah ſecretly, ſaying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I will ſlay Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and no man ſhall know it: wherefore ſhould he ſlay thee, that all the Jews which are gathered unto thee ſhould be ſcattered, and the remnant of Judah periſh?

16 But Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam ſaid unto Johanan the ſon of Kareah, Thou ſhalt not do this thing: for thou ſpeakeſt falſly of Iſhmael.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Iſhmael treacherouſly killeth Gedaliah, and others. 11 Johanan recovereth the captives.

NOW it came to paſs in the ſeventh month, that Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah the ſon of Eliſhama of the ſeed royal, and the princes of the king, even ten men with him, came unto Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam to Mizpah: and there they did eat bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then aroſe Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and the ten men that were with him, and ſmote Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan with the ſword, and ſlew him, whom the king of Babylon had made governor over the land.

3 Iſhmael alſo ſlew all the Jews that were with him, even with Gedaliah, at Mizpah, and the Chaldeans that were found there, and the men of war.

4 And it came to paſs the ſecond day after he had ſlain Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

5 That there came certain from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, even fourſcore men, having their beards ſhaven, and their clothes rent, and having cut themſelves, with offerings and incenſe in their hand, to bring them to the houſe of the LORD.

6 And Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meet them, weeping all along as he went: and it came to paſs as he met them, he ſaid unto them, Come to Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam.

7 And it was ſo when they came into the midſt of the city, that Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah ſlew them, and caſt them into the midſt of the pit, he, and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them that ſaid unto Iſhmael, Slay us not: for we have treaſures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oil, and of honey. So he forbare, and ſlew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Iſhmael had caſt all the dead bodies of the men whom he had ſlain becauſe of Gedaliah, was it which Aſa the king had made for fear of Baaſha king of Iſrael: and Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah filled it with them that were ſlain.

Notes on the Forty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the ſeventh month.] The city was deſtroyed in the fourth month, and Gedaliah ſlain in the ſeventh, which contained part of September and part of October.

5 Fourſcore men, having their beards ſhaven, &c.] Theſe were tokens of great mourning, and uſed by theſe perſons, to expreſs their grief for the deſtruction of the city and temple. Such expreſſions of ſorrow were forbidden to be uſed at funeral obſequies, but might be lawfully uſed upon other mournful occaſions. Lowth.

With offerings and incenſe in their hand, to bring them to the houſe of the Lord.] Some are of opinion, that devout perſons brought their oblations to the place where the altar formerly ſtood, which they conſidered as conſecrated ground: but others think, that, by the houſe of the Lord, is to be underſtood an altar or place of worſhip, erected by Gedaliah at Mizpah, in imitation of that which was formerly placed there by Samuel. From a paſſage in 1 Maccabees, chap. iii. 46. it appears, that there was then a place of worſhip at Mizpah. There were many ſuch ſanctuaries or places of worſhip both in Judea and elſewhere, among the Jewiſh diſperſions, as Dr. Prideaux has ſhown at large in his Connection.

6 Weeping all the way he went.] As if he ſympathized with them.

8 We have treaſures in the field, &c.] Or, in the country, in contradiſtinction to a town or city: they promiſed to make him maſter of all their riches, if he would ſpare their lives. Lowth.

10 Then Ishmael carried away captive all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, even the king's daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had committed to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam: and Ishmael the son of Nethaniah carried them away captive, and departed to go over to the Ammonites.

11 ¶ But when Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, heard of all the evil that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they took all the men, and went to fight with Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now it came to pass, that when all the people which were with Ishmael saw Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces that were with him, then they were glad.

14 So all the people that Ishmael had carried away captive from Mizpah cast about and returned, and went unto Johanan the son of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the son of Nethaniah escaped from Johanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Then took Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, from Mizpah, after that he had slain Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, even mighty men of war, and the women, and the children, and the eunuchs, whom he had brought again from Gibeon.

17 And they departed, and dwelt in the habitation of Chimham, which is by Bethlehem, to go to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Chaldeans: for they were afraid of them, because Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had slain Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon made governor in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 Johanan desireth Jeremiah to enquire of God, promising obedience. 7 Jeremiah's answer. 19 Their hypocrisy reproved.

THEN all the captains of the forces, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and Jezaniah the son of Hoshaiah, and all the people from the least even unto the greatest, came near,

2 And said unto Jeremiah the prophet, Let, we beseech thee, our supplication be accepted before thee, and pray for us unto the LORD thy God, even for all this remnant: for we are left but a few of many, as thine eyes do behold us:

3 That the LORD thy God may shew us the way wherein we may walk, and the thing that we may do.

4 Then Jeremiah the prophet said unto them, I have heard you: behold, I will pray unto the LORD your God, according to your words: and it shall come to pass that whatsoever thing the LORD shall answer you, I will declare it unto you; I will keep nothing back from you.

5 Then they said to Jeremiah, The LORD be a true and faithful witness between us, if we do not even according to all things for the which the LORD thy God shall send thee to us.

6 Whether it be good, or whether it be evil, we will obey the voice of the LORD our God, to whom we send thee; that it may be well with us, when we obey the voice of the LORD our God.

7 ¶ And it came to pass after ten days, that the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah.

8 Then called he Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces which were with him, and all the people from the least even to the greatest,

9 And said unto them, Thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, unto whom ye sent me to present your supplication before him.

12 The great waters of Gibeon.] Called the pool of Gibeon.

17 The habitation of Chimham, &c.] A parcel of ground, which David had settled on Chimham, the son of Barzillai.

18 Because of the Chaldeans.] They were afraid lest the Chaldeans should impute this insurrection to the whole body of the Jews, that were left in the land.

Notes on the Forty-second Chapter.

Ver. 3 That the Lord may shew us, &c.] This is the nature of hypocrites, who would know of God's word what they should do, but will follow it only in those particulars where it tallies with their own inclinations.

10 If ye will ſtill abide in this land, then will I build you and not pull you down, and I will plant you and not pluck you up: for I repent me of the evil that I have done unto you.

11 Be not afraid of the king of Babylon, of whom ye are afraid; be not afraid of him, ſaith the LORD, for I am with you to ſave you, and to deliver you from his hand.

12 And I will ſhew mercies unto you, that he may have mercy upon you, and cauſe you to return to your own land.

13 But if ye ſay, We will not dwell in this land, neither obey the voice of the LORD your God,

14 Saying, No: but we will go into the land of Egypt, where we ſhall ſee no war, nor hear the ſound of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread; and there will we dwell:

15 And now therefore hear the word of the LORD, ye remnant of Judah: Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; If ye wholly ſet your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to ſojourn there,

16 Then it ſhall come to paſs, that the ſword which ye feared ſhall overtake you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine whereof ye were afraid ſhall follow cloſe after you there in Egypt: and there ye ſhall die.

17 So ſhall it be with all the men that ſet their faces to go into Egypt to ſojourn there; they ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence: and none of them ſhall remain or eſcape from the evil that I will bring upon them.

18 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, As mine anger and my fury hath been poured forth upon the inhabitants of Jeruſalem; ſo ſhall my fury be poured forth upon you, when ye ſhall enter into Egypt; and ye ſhall be an execration, and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, and a reproach; and ye ſhall ſee this place no more.

19 ¶ The LORD hath ſaid concerning you, O ye remnant of Judah; Go ye not into Egypt: know certainly that I have admoniſhed you this day.

20 For ye diſſembled in your hearts when ye ſent me unto the LORD your God, ſaying, Pray for us unto the LORD our God; and according unto all that the LORD our God ſhall ſay, ſo declare unto us, and we will do it.

21 And now I have this day declared it to you: but ye have not obeyed the voice of the LORD your God, nor any thing for the which he hath ſent me unto you.

22 Now therefore know certainly, that ye ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, in the place whither ye deſire to go, and to ſojourn.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 Johanan carrieth Jeremiah into Egypt. 8 Jeremiah propheſieth the conqueſt of Egypt by the Babylonians.

AND it came to paſs, that when Jeremiah had made an end of ſpeaking unto all the people all the words of the LORD their God, for which the LORD their God had ſent him to them, even all theſe words,

2 Then ſpake Azariah the ſon of Hoſhaiah,

10 I repent me of the evil that I have done unto you.] This expreſſion implies a declaration from God, that the puniſhment the Jews had already undergone had made ſatisfaction to his juſtice, as far as concerns this world; and that he would not continue the ſame ſeverity towards them, unleſs they gave him freſh provocation. See chap. xviii. 8.

12 I will ſhew mercies unto you, &c.] I will incline the heart of the king of Babylon to take pity on you, and will again ſettle you in your own country, from whence ye were driven by the late wars and diſtractions. Lowth.

15 If ye ſet your faces.] If you are fully determined.

19 The Lord hath ſaid, Go ye not into Egypt, &c.] God commanded the Jews, by Moſes, not to have any commerce with Egypt, that they might not practiſe the idolatrous cuſtoms of that country, with which they had been defiled during their ſojouring there; and this was the reaſon why he often reproved them by his prophets, for making alliances with Egypt, but there were particular reaſons at this time for ſo ſevere a prohibition; for the Jews had either learned ſeveral of their idolatrous practices from the Egyptians, or, at leaſt, were confirmed in thoſe evil cuſtoms by their examples. Beſides, it was the rival kingdom, which contended for empire with that of Babylon. The Jews therefore, by ſeeking protection in Egypt, refuſed to ſubmit themſelves to the king of Babylon, to whom God had decreed the government of Judea, and all the neighbouring countries. Lowth.

Notes on the Forty-third Chapter.

Ver. 2 Hoſhaiah.] Called Jezaniah, chap. xlii. 1. There are many inſtances in the ſcriptures of the ſame perſons being called by different names; probably owing to the errors of tranſcribers.

All the proud men.] Thoſe who refuſed to obey the commands of God, when they croſſed their own inclinations.

The Lord---hath not ſent thee, &c.] It is a conſtant method of hypocrites and infidels, to pretend they are not ſatisfied of the truth of revelation; when the true cauſe of their unbelief is, that God's commands contradict their own luſts and appetites.

7 Thus and Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the proud men, ſaying unto Jeremiah, Thou ſpeakeſt falſly; The LORD our God hath not ſent thee to ſay, Go not into Egypt to ſojourn there:

3 But Baruch the ſon of Nereiah ſetteth thee on againſt us, for to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they might put us to death, and carry us away captives into Babylon.

4 So Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, and all the people, obeyed not the voice of the LORD, to dwell in the land of Judah.

5 But Johanan the ſon of Kareah and all the captains of the forces took all the remnant of Judah, that were returned from all nations whither they had been driven to dwell in the land of Judah;

6 Even men and women, and children, and the king's daughters, and every perſon that Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had left with Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet, and Baruch the ſon of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the LORD. Thus came they even to Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, ſaying,

9 Take great ſtones in thine hand, and hide them in the clay in the brick-kiln which is at the entry of Pharaoh's houſe in Tahpanhes, in the ſight of the men of Judah;

10 And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Behold, I will ſend and take Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon my ſervant, and will ſet his throne upon theſe ſtones that I have hid: and he ſhall ſpread his royal pavilion over them.

11 And when he cometh, he ſhall ſmite the land of Egypt, and deliver ſuch as are for death to death; and ſuch as are for captivity, to captivity; and ſuch as are for the ſword, to the ſword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houſes of the gods of Egypt; and he ſhall burn them and carry them away captives: and he ſhall array himſelf with the land of Egypt as a ſhepherd putteth on his garment; and he ſhall go forth from thence in peace.

13 He ſhall break alſo the images of Beth-ſhemeſh, that is in the land of Egypt; and the houſes of the gods of the Egyptians ſhall he burn with fire.

CHAP. XLIV.

1 The deſolation of Judah for idolatry. 15 The Jews obſtinacy, 20 is threatened. 29 The deſtruction of Egypt foreſhewn.

THE word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews which dwell in the land of Egypt, which dwell at Migdol, and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the country of Pathros, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Ye have ſeen all the evil that I have brought upon Jeruſalem, and upon all the cities of Judah; and behold, this day they are a deſolation; and no man dwelleth therein:

3 Becauſe of their wickedneſs which they have committed to provoke me to anger, in that they went to burn incenſe, and to ſerve other gods, whom they knew not, neither they, ye, nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit, I ſent unto you all my ſervants the prophets, riſing early and ſending them,

---

7 Thus came they even to Tahpanhes, &c.] This was one of the principal cities of Egypt, and it was a palace where their kings often reſided. St. Jerom tells us, from an ancient tradition, that the prophet Jeremiah was here ſtoned to death by the Jews. Lowth.

9 In the clay in the brick-kiln.] Bricks were the chief materials which the Babylonians uſed in their buildings.

11 Deliver ſuch as are for death, to death. &c.] Death here ſignifies peſtilence; he uſed the ſame phraſe, chap. xv. 2.

12 I will kindle a fire in the houſes of the gods of Egypt.] When God puniſhes an heathen nation, one of the principal ſins for which he viſits it, is idolatry; and therefore he executes his vengeance in a remarkable manner, upon their idols. Lowth.

He ſhall array himſelf with the land of Egypt, &c.] The prophet here promiſes, that Egypt ſhall furniſh the Chaldean army with all manner of neceſſaries, and defend them from the hardſhips they had been expoſed to during the invaſion, as a ſhepherd is ſecured from the injuries of the weather by a thick garment. Lowth.

Notes on the Forty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Migdol, Noph, and Pathros.] Migdol was a place near the Red Sea; Noph was commonly called Memphis; and Pathros was the country of Thebais, as Bochart proves.

3 To ſerve other gods, whom they knew not, &c.] Theſe idols are oppoſed to the true God, called elſewhere the God of their fathers; i. e. he that made himſelf known to them by ſo many miracles of mercy, and promiſed to ſhew the ſame favour to their poſterity, if they continued ſtedfaſt in their obedience. Lowth.

saying, Oh, do not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they hearkened not, nor inclined their ear to turn from their wickedness, to burn no incense unto other gods.

6 Wherefore my fury and mine anger was poured forth, and was kindled in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem; and they are wasted and desolate, as at this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel; Wherefore commit ye this great evil against your souls, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling, out of Judah, to leave you none to remain;

8 In that ye provoke me unto wrath with the works of your hands, burning incense unto other gods in the land of Egypt, whither ye be gone to dwell, that ye might cut your selves off, and that ye might be a curse and a reproach among all the nations of the earth?

9 Have ye forgotten the wickedness of your fathers, and the wickedness of the kings of Judah, and the wickedness of their wives, and your own wickedness, and the wickedness of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem.

10 They are not humbled even unto this day, neither have they feared, nor walked in my law nor in my statutes, that I set before you, and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will set my face against you for evil, and to cut off all Judah.

12 And I will take the remnant of Judah that have set their faces to go into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, and they shall all be consumed, and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall even be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall die, from the least even unto the greatest, by the sword and by the famine: and they shall be an execration, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach.

13 For I will punish them that dwell in the land of Egypt as I have punished Jerusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence:

14 So that none of the remnant of Judah which are gone into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, shall escape or remain, that they should return into the land of Judah, to the which they have a desire to return to dwell there: for none shall return but such as shall escape.

15 ¶ Then all the men which knew that their wives had burned incense unto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt, in Pathros, answered Jeremiah, saying,

16 As for the word that thou hast spoken unto us in the name of the LORD, we will not hearken unto thee.

17 But we will certainly do whatsoever thing goeth forth out of our own mouth, to burn incense unto the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, as we have done, we and our fathers, our kings and our princes, in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem: for then had we plenty of victuals, and were well, and saw no evil.

18 But since we left off to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, we have wanted all things, and have been consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when we burned incense to the queen of heaven, and poured out drink-offerings unto her, did we make her cakes to worship her, and pour out drink-offerings unto her, without our men?

20 ¶ Then Jeremiah said unto all the peo-

7 To cut off from you man and woman, child, &c.] God designed that this remnant should have kept possession of Judea, when the rest of their brethren were carried away captive; but by going into Egypt, and defiling themselves with the idolatry of that nation, they provoked God to destroy them utterly. Lowth.

9 Wickedness of your fathers.] The margin reads more properly punishments; which we ought to keep in memory from the beginning, that considering them, we might learn to fear God, and keep his commandments.

14 None shall return but such as shall escape.] None shall return but the remnant mentioned, ver. 28. to whom I will grant that peculiar favour of escaping from the common destruction. Lowth.

17 The queen of heaven.] See chap. vii. 18.

Then had we plenty of victuals, and were all well, &c.] They compare their former condition before the invasion of Judea, and the siege of Jerusalem, with their present state; and reason from the fallacious appearance of wordly prosperity, that they were then in the right. Lowth.

19 When we burn incense.] These are the words of the women, who were the most zealous promoters of this idolatry.

ple, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had given him that anſwer, ſaying,

21 The incenſe that ye burned in the cities of Judah and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, ye and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the LORD remember them, and came it not into his mind?

22 So that the LORD could no longer bear becauſe of the evil of your doings, and becauſe of the abominations which ye have committed: therefore is your land a deſolation, and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, without an inhabitant, as at this day:

23 Becauſe ye have burned incenſe, and becauſe ye have ſinned againſt the LORD, and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD, nor walked in his law, nor in his ſtatutes, nor in his teſtimonies; therefore this evil is happened unto you, as at this day.

24 Moreover, Jeremiah ſaid unto all the people, and to all the women, Hear the word of the LORD, all Judah that are in the land of Egypt;

25 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, Ye and your wives have both ſpoken with your mouths, and fulfilled with your hand, ſaying, We will ſurely perform our vows that we have vowed, to burn incenſe to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her: ye will ſurely accompliſh your vows, and ſurely perform your vows.

26 Therefore hear ye the word of the LORD, all Judah that dwell in the land of Egypt; Behold, I have ſworn by my great name, ſaith the LORD, that my name ſhall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Judah in all the land of Egypt, ſaying, The Lord GOD liveth.

27 Behold, I will watch over them for evil, and not for good: and all the men of Judah that are in the land of Egypt ſhall be conſumed by the ſword and by the famine, until there be an end of them.

28 Yet a ſmall number that eſcape the ſword ſhall return out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah; and all the remnant of Judah that are gone into the land of Egypt to ſojourn there ſhall know whoſe word ſhall ſtand, mine or their's.

29 ¶ And this ſhall be a ſign unto you, ſaith the LORD, that I will puniſh you in this place, that ye may know that my words ſhall ſurely ſtand againſt you for evil:

30 Thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, I will give Pharaoh-hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek his life; as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon his enemy, and that ſought his life.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Baruch being diſmayed, 4 Jeremiah inſtructeth and comforteth him.

THE word that Jeremiah the prophet ſpake unto Baruch the ſon of Neriah, when he had written theſe words in a book at the mouth of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the LORD the God of Iſrael unto thee, O Baruch;

3 Thou didſt ſay, Wo is me now! for the LORD hath added grief to my ſorrow: I fainted in my ſighing, and I find no reſt.

---

25 Ye have ſpoken with your mouths, and fulfilled with your hand.] Ye have committed double evil in making wicked vows, and performing the ſame.

26 That my name ſhall be no more named in the mouth of any man in Judah, in all the land of Egypt, &c.] The Jews ſeem to have joined the worſhip of the true God with that of idols, as the Samaritans had done before them. See note on 2 Kings, xvii. 41. Hence God declares that he will not receive any ſuch polluted worſhip at their hands, nor ſuffer his name to be any longer profaned by ſuch hypocrites, but will conſume them by a ſudden and general deſtruction, or deliver them up to impenitence and utter apoſtacy. Lowth.

30 I will give Pharaoh-hophra---into the hand of his enemies, &c.] Pharaoh was a name common to all the kings of Egypt; but ſeveral of them had ſome additional epithet to diſtinguiſh them from the reſt. This prince engaged in a battle with Amaſis, by whom he was defeated, taken, and ſtrangled. Uſher's Annals.

Notes on the Forty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Baruch.] He was Jeremiah's diſciple, and wrote his prophecies under him.

3 The Lord hath added grief to my ſorrow, &c.] The ſorrow which I felt for the threatenings denounced againſt my country and religion, are increaſed by my own troubles, being ſought after by the king's command in order to be put to death. Lowth.

4 ¶ Thus ſhalt thou ſay unto him; The LORD ſaith thus; Behold, that which I have built will I break down, and that which I have planted I will pluck up, even this whole land.

5 And ſeekeſt thou great things for thy ſelf? ſeek them not: for behold, I will bring evil upon all fleſh, ſaith the LORD: but thy life will I give unto thee for a prey in all places whither thou goeſt.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The overthrow of Pharaoh's army. 13 The conqueſt of Egypt by Nebuchadrezzar. 27 Jacob comforted in chaſtiſement.

THE word of the LORD which came to Jeremiah the prophet againſt the Gentiles;

2 Againſt Egypt, againſt the army of Pharaoh-necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates in Carchemiſh, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon ſmote in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah:

3 Order ye the buckler and ſhield, and draw near to battle.

4 Harneſs the horſes; and get up, ye horſemen, and ſtand forth with your helmets: furbiſh the ſpears, and put on the brigandines.

5 Wherefore have I ſeen them diſmayed, and turned away back? and their mighty ones are beaten down, and are fled apace, and look not back: for fear was round about, ſaith the LORD.

6 Let not the ſwift flee away, nor the mighty man eſcape: they ſhall ſtumble, and fall toward the north by the river Euphrates.

7 Who is this that cometh up as a flood, whoſe waters are moved as the rivers?

8 Egypt riſeth up like a flood, and his waters are moved like the rivers: and he ſaith, I will go up, and will cover the earth; I will deſtroy the city, and the inhabitants thereof.

9 Come up, ye horſes; and rage, ye chariots: and let the mighty men come forth: the Ethiopians, and the Libyans, that handle the ſhield; and the Lydians, that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord GOD of hoſts, a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his adverſaries: and the ſword ſhall devour, and it ſhall be ſatiated and made drunk with their blood: for the Lord God of hoſts hath a ſacrifice in the north-country by the river Euphrates.

11 Go up into Gilead, and take balm, O virgin daughter of Egypt: in vain ſhalt thou uſe many medicines; for thou ſhalt not be cured.

12 The nations have heard of thy ſhame, and thy cry hath filled the land: for the mighty man hath ſtumbled againſt the mighty, and they are fallen both together.

13 ¶ The word that the LORD ſpake to Jeremiah the prophet, how Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon ſhould come and ſmite the land of Egypt.

---

4 That which I have built, will I break down, &c.] The land and people which have ſo long flouriſhed under the peculiar care of my providence, I reſolve now to give up to utter deſtruction. Lowth.

5 Seekeſt thou great things for thyſelf?] Doſt thou aſpire to honour and dignity in a time of common diſtreſs?

Notes on the Forty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The word of the Lord---againſt the Gentiles.] This title belongs to the five following chapters; and refers to the general denunciation of God's judgments upon the countries round about Judea. Lowth.

2 Againſt the army of Pharaoh-necho king of Egypt.] This was the ſecond battle the king of Babylon (called the king of Aſſyria) fought with Pharaoh-necho. In the firſt of theſe expeditions Joſiah was ſlain.

3 Order ye the buckler.] The prophet ironically encourages the Egyptians to make all warlike preparations, which yet he foreſees will ſignify nothing.

6 Let not the ſwift flee away, &c.] The words imply, that it was God's command that none of the Egyptians ſhould eſcape.

7, 8, &c. Who is this that cometh up as a flood? &c.] In order to raiſe an expectation of ſome mighty enterprize, the prophet deſcribes by way of deriſion, the march of the Egyptian army, coming on like a flood, and ſweeping away all before it; alluding to the annual overflowing of the river Nile. Lowth.

10 This is the day of the Lord God of hoſts.] The day of the Lord often ſignifies the day of his vengeance; and is therefore uſed in the New Teſtament to ſignify the day of judgment.

The Lord hath a ſacrifice in the north-country, &c.] The ſlaughter of men is called a ſacrifice, becauſe it makes ſome kind of ſatisfaction to the juſtice of the Almighty. Lowth.

11 Go up into Gilead and take balm.] Gilead was famous for producing the celebrated balm of that name. And, in alluſion to the practice of going thither for relief in dangerous caſes, the prophet ironically adviſes the Egyptians to try all methods in their power to prevent the deſtruction with which they were threatened: but all their endeavours will be in vain.

O virgin daughter of Egypt, &c.] Thoſe countries or cities are called virgins which were never conquered. Egypt was become great by its ſucceſs, and therefore did not apprehend the leaſt danger of being conquered.

14 Declare ye in Egypt, and publiſh in Migdol, and publiſh in Noph and in Tahpanhes: ſay ye, Stand faſt, and prepare thee; for the ſword ſhall devour round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men ſwept away? they ſtood not, becauſe the LORD did drive them.

16 He made many to fall, yea, one fell upon another: and they ſaid, Ariſe, and let us go again to our own people, and to the land of our nativity, from the oppreſſing ſword.

17 They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt is but a noiſe; he hath paſſed the time appointed.

18 As I live, ſaith the King, whoſe name is the LORD of hoſts, ſurely as Tabor is among the mountains, and as Carmel by the ſea, ſo ſhall he come.

19 Oh, thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, furniſh thy ſelf to go into captivity: for Noph ſhall be waſte and deſolate without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt is like a very fair heifer, but deſtruction cometh: it cometh out of the north.

21 Alſo her hired men are in the midſt of her like fatted bullocks: for they alſo are turned back, and are fled away together: they did not ſtand, becauſe the day of their calamity was come upon them, and the time of their viſitation.

22 The voice thereof ſhall go like a ſerpent: for they ſhall march with an army, and come againſt her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They ſhall cut down her foreſt, ſaith the LORD, though it cannot be ſearched; becauſe they are more than the graſhoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt ſhall be confounded; ſhe ſhall be delivered into the hand of the people of the north.

25 The LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaith, Behold, I will puniſh the multitude of No, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods, and their kings; even Pharaoh, and all them that truſt in him:

26 And I will deliver them into the hand of thoſe that ſeek their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of his ſervants: and afterwards it ſhall be inhabited as in the days of old, ſaith the LORD.

27 ¶ But fear not thou, O my ſervant Jacob, and be not diſmayed, O Iſrael: for behold, I will ſave thee from afar off, and thy ſeed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob ſhall return, and be in reſt and at eaſe, and none ſhall make him afraid.

28 Fear thou not, O Jacob my ſervant, ſaith the LORD: for I am with thee: for I will make a full end of all the nations whither I have driven thee; but I will not make a full end of thee, but correct thee in meaſure; yet will I not leave thee wholly unpuniſhed.

CHAP. XLVII.

The deſtruction of the Philiſtines.

THE word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet againſt the Philiſtines; before that Pharaoh ſmote Gaza.

16 From the oppreſſing ſword.] In the Hebrew it is, the ſword of the pigeon, i. e. the ſword of the Aſſyrians, for they paid a particular worſhip to pigeons, and bore the figure of them on their ſtandards. See chap. xxv. 38. Lamy.

18 As Tabor is among the mountains, and as Carmel by the ſea, ſo ſhall he come.] Though Egypt were as inacceſſible as the top of mount Tabor, and defended by the ſea like Carmel, yet the enemy ſhould come upon her, and conquer her entirely. Poole.

20 Egypt is like a very fair heifer.] In this compariſon there is an alluſion to their god Apis, which was a bull, remarkable for his beauty. Grotius.

21 Like fatted bullocks.] i. e. Fit for ſlaughter.

22 The voice thereof ſhall go like a ſerpent, &c.] They ſhall make a feeble noiſe like the hiſſing of a ſerpent when it is purſued; and ſhall ſpeak in a very ſubmiſſive tone. Lowth.

23 They are more than the graſhoppers.] Armies were often compared to graſshoppers both for their multitude, and becauſe they make a general conſumption.

25 I will puniſh the multitude of No, &c.] The words in the original are Ammon Minno, which may be literally rendered Ammon of No. Ezekiel calls it Hamon No, and Nahum, No Amon. The name is generally thought to be derived from Jupiter Ammon, whoſe temple was in this city, ſuppoſed to be the ſame which profane authors call Thebes; the Septuagint renders it Dioſpolis, the Greek name for Thebes, a city famous for the worſhip of Jupiter Ammon. Lowth.

27, 28 Fear not thou, O my ſervant Jacob, &c.] Theſe two verſes contain a comfortable promiſe to the Jews, that God will not utterly deſtroy them, as he hath done ſeveral other nations, againſt whom the prophets have denounced his judgments; but will preſerve a remnant of them, to whom he will perform the promiſes made to their fathers. Lowth.

Notes on the Forty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Before that Pharaoh ſmote Gaza.] When the country of the Philiſtines was in ſeeming quiet and ſecurity, the deſtruction of Gaza probably followed Pharaoh's victories at Megiddo and Carchemiſh, when Judea became tributary to him. Lowth.

2 Waters

2 Thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, waters riſe up out of the north, and ſhall be an overflowing flood, and ſhall overflow the land, and all that is therein; the city, and them that dwell therein: then the men ſhall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land ſhall howl.

3 At the noiſe of the ſtamping of the hoofs of his ſtrong horſes, at the ruſhing of his chariots, and at the rumbling of his wheels, the fathers ſhall not look back to their children for feebleneſs of hands:

4 Becauſe of the day that cometh to ſpoil all the Philiſtines, and to cut off from Tyrus and Zidon every helper that remaineth: for the LORD will ſpoil the Philiſtines, the remnant of the country of Caphtor.

5 Baldneſs is come upon Gaza, Aſhkelon is cut off with the remnant of their valley: how long wilt thou cut thy ſelf?

6 O thou ſword of the LORD, how long will it be ere thou be quiet? put up thy ſelf into thy ſcabbard, reſt, and be ſtill.

7 How can it be quiet, ſeeing the LORD hath given it a charge againſt Aſhkelon, and againſt the ſea-ſhore? there hath he appointed it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The judgement of Moab for ſeveral corruptions.
47 The reſtoration of Moab.

AGainſt Moab thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; Wo unto Nebo; for it is ſpoiled: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken; Miſgab is confounded and diſmayed.

2 There ſhall be no more praiſe of Moab: in Heſhbon they have deviſed evil againſt it; Come, and let us cut it off from being a nation. Alſo thou ſhalt be cut down, O Madmen; the ſword ſhall purſue thee.

3 A voice of crying ſhall be from Horonaim, ſpoiling and great deſtruction.

4 Moab is deſtroyed; her little ones have cauſed a cry to be heard.

5 For in the going-up of Luhith continual weeping ſhall go up; for in the going-down of Horonaim the enemies have heard a cry of deſtruction.

6 Flee, ſave your lives, and be like the heath in the wilderneſs.

7 For becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy works and in thy treaſures, thou ſhalt alſo be taken: and Chemoſh ſhall go forth into captivity with his prieſts and his princes together.

8 And the ſpoiler ſhall come upon every city, and no city ſhall eſcape: the valley alſo ſhall periſh, and the plain ſhall be deſtroyed, as the LORD hath ſpoken.

9 Give wings unto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof ſhall be deſolate, without any to dwell therein.

10 Curſed be he that doeth the work of the LORD deceitfully, and curſed be he that keepeth back his ſword from blood.

2 Waters ſhall riſe up out of the north.] An overflowing flood is a common metaphor to deſcribe the march of an army that over-runs a country. By the north is meant the land of the Chaldeans.

3 The fathers ſhall not look back to their children, &c.] Anxiety for their own ſafety ſhall take away their natural affection.

4 The remnant of the country of Caphtor.] The Caphtorims, which are alſo called Cappadocians, had antiently deſtroyed the Philiſtines and dwelt in their land. See Deut. ii. 23.

5 Baldneſs is come.] They have ſhaved or pulled off their hair for ſorrow.

Notes on the Forty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo unto Nebo, for it is ſpoiled: Kiriathaim is confounded, &c.] The name of two cities of Moab; the latter was given to the Reubenites; but the inhabitants of Moab afterwards recovered it, together with ſeveral other places. Lowth.

2 O Madmen.] A city of Moab.

6 Like the heath in the wilderneſs.] Heath grows no where but in deſert and uncultivated places: which is the reaſon why the prophet, threatening the Jews with an entire deſolation, uſes this compariſon. Lamy.

7 Chemoſh.] The idol of the Moabites.

8 The valley alſo ſhall periſh, and the plain ſhall be deſtroyed, &c.] Thoſe who live in the country with their flocks and herds ſhall be involved in the ſame calamity with the inhabitants of the cities. Lowth.

9 Give wings unto Moab, that it may flee and get away, &c.] It is not a common ſpeed that can deliver the Moabites from that imminent danger that threatens them.

10 Curſed be he that doth the work of the Lord deceitfully, &c.] He here ſhows that God would puniſh the Chaldeans if they did not deſtroy the Egyptians. God executes his judgments upon ſinners, by the miniſtry of men, and even often by as great ſinners as thoſe they are ſent to chaſtiſe. He had declared by Jeremiah his purpoſe of making the Chaldeans his inſtruments in puniſhing the Jews, and the neighbour-countries. Their ſucceſs anſwered the prediction; and Nebuchadnezzar ſeems to have conſidered Jeremiah as a prophet, and had a particular regard for his character. Being thus aſſured that he had a commiſſion from God, he might confidently proceed in his conqueſts, and it would have been a fault to have ſhewn mercy to thoſe whom he had good reaſon to believe that the Almighty himſelf had devoted to deſtruction. Lowth.

11 Moab hath been at eaſe from his youth, and he hath ſettled on his lees, and hath not been emptied from veſſel to veſſel, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taſte remained in him, and his ſcent is not changed.

12 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will ſend unto him wanderers, that ſhall cauſe him to wander, and ſhall empty his veſſels, and break their bottles.

13 And Moab ſhall be aſhamed of Chemoſh, as the houſe of Iſrael was aſhamed of Beth-el their confidence.

14 How ſay ye, We are mighty, and ſtrong men for the war?

15 Moab is ſpoiled, and gone up out of her cities, and his choſen young men are gone down to the ſlaughter, ſaith the King, whoſe name is The LORD of hoſts.

16 The calamity of Moab is near to come, and his affliction haſteth faſt.

17 All ye that are about him bemoan him; and all ye that know his name, ſay, How is the ſtrong ſtaff broken, and the beautiful rod!

18 Thou daughter that doſt inhabit Dibon, come down from thy glory, and ſit in thirſt; for the ſpoiler of Moab ſhall come upon thee, and he ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong holds.

19 O inhabitant of Aroer, ſtand by the way, and eſpy: aſk him that fleeth, and her that eſcapeth, and ſay, What is done?

20 Moab is confounded; for it is broken down: howl, and cry; tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is ſpoiled,

21 And judgement is come upon the plain country; upon Holon, and upon Jahazah, and upon Mephaath,

22 And upon Dibon, and upon Nebo, and upon Beth-diblathaim,

23 And upon Kiriathaim, and upon Beth-gamul, and upon Beth-meon,

24 And upon Kerioth, and upon Bozrah; and upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far or near.

25 The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, ſaith the LORD.

26 Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himſelf againſt the LORD. Moab alſo ſhall wallow in his vomit, and he alſo ſhall be in deriſion.

27 For was not Iſrael a deriſion unto thee? was he found among thieves? for ſince thou ſpakeſt of him, thou ſkippedſt for joy.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leave the cities, and dwell in the rock, and be like the dove that maketh her neſt in the ſides of the hole's mouth.

29 We have heard the pride of Moab, he is exceeding proud: his loftineſs, and his arrogancy, and his pride, and the haughtineſs of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, ſaith the LORD: but it ſhall not be ſo; his lyes ſhall not ſo effect it.

31 Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab; mine heart ſhall mourn for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee with the weeping of Jazer: thy plants are gone over the ſea, they reach even to the ſea of Jazer: the ſpoiler is fallen upon thy ſummer-fruits and upon thy vintage.

33 And joy and gladneſs is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab: and I have cauſed wine to fail from the wine-preſſes: none ſhall tread with ſhouting; their ſhouting ſhall be no ſhouting.

34 From the city of Heſhbon, even unto Elealeh, and even unto Jahaz, have they uttered their voice, from Zoar, even unto Horonaim, as an heifer of three years old: for the waters alſo of Nimrim ſhall be deſolate.

---

11 Moab hath been at eaſe from his youth, and hath ſettled on his lees.] i. e. Has gone on careleſsly in a long and uninterrupted courſe of wickedneſs: and as wine feeds on its lees, hath flouriſhed in peace and grown rich.

12 I will ſend unto him wanderers, &c.] The Chaldean ſoldiers, who came from a foreign country.

17 How is the ſtrong ſtaff broken, and the beautiful rod! &c.] A ſtaff or rod is an emblem of authority, and thence is uſed to ſignify a kingdom or government.

18 Come down from thy glory, and ſit in thirſt, &c.] Septuagint reads, Sit in dirt: i. e. ſubmit to a mean condition, in which thou ſhalt feel the want of all the conveniencies of life.

25 The horn of Moab, and his arm, &c.] Strength is often expreſſed by the horn, wherein the ſtrength of bulls conſiſts; and by the arm, wherein human proweſs is lodged.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee with the weeping of Jazer, &c.] The expreſſions denote the deſtruction of the fruitful vineyards of Sibmah; the loſs of which the inhabitants of Jazer would have reaſon to deplore. Lowth.

35 Moreover, I will cauſe to ceaſe in Moab, ſaith the LORD, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incenſe to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart ſhall ſound for Moab like pipes, and mine heart ſhall ſound like pipes for the men of Kir-heres: becauſe the riches that he hath gotten are periſhed.

37 For every head ſhall be bald, and every beard clipped: upon all the hands ſhall be cuttings, and upon the loins ſackcloth.

38 There ſhall be lamentation generally upon all the houſe-tops of Moab, and in the ſtreets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a veſſel wherein is no pleaſure, ſaith the LORD.

39 They ſhall howl, ſaying, How is it broken down? how hath Moab turned the back with ſhame? ſo ſhall Moab be a deriſion and a diſmaying to all them about him.

40 For thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, he ſhall fly as an eagle, and ſhall ſpread his wings over Moab.

41 Kerioth is taken, and the ſtrong holds are ſurpriſed, and the mighty men's hearts in Moab at that day ſhall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.

42 And Moab ſhall be deſtroyed from being a people, becauſe he hath magnified himſelf againſt the LORD.

43 Fear, and the pit, and the ſnare, ſhall be upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, ſaith the LORD.

44 He that fleeth from the fear ſhall fall into the pit; and he that getteth up out of the pit ſhall be taken in the ſnare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the year of their viſitation, ſaith the LORD.

45 They that fled ſtood under the ſhadow of Heſhbon, becauſe of the force: but a fire ſhall come forth out of Heſhbon, and a flame from the midſt of Sihon, and ſhall devour the corner of Moab, and the crown of the head of the tumultuous ones.

46 Wo be unto thee, O Moab; the people of Chemoſh periſheth: for thy ſons are taken captives, and thy daughters captives.

47 ¶ Yet will I bring again the captivity of Moab in the latter days, ſaith the LORD. Thus far is the judgement of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The judgement of the Ammonites, 7 of Edom, 23 of Damaſcus, 28 of Kedar, 30 of Hazor, 34 and of Elam.

CONcerning the Ammonites thus ſaith the LORD; Hath Iſrael no ſons? hath he no heir? why then doth their king inherit Gad, and his people dwell in his cities?

2 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will cauſe an alarm of war to to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites; and it ſhall be a deſolate heap, and her daughters ſhall be burned with fire: then ſhall Iſrael be heir unto them that were his heirs, ſaith the LORD.

3 Howl, O Heſhbon; for Ai is ſpoiled: cry, ye daughters of Rabbah, gird ye with ſackcloth: lament, and run to and fro by the hedges; for their king ſhall go into captivity, and his prieſts and his princes together.

4 Wherefore glorieſt thou in the valleys, thy flowing valley, O backſliding daughter? that 36 Mine heart ſhall ſound for Moab like pipes, &c.] They uſed to play on flutes and other inſtruments grave and ſolemn tunes at funerals, and in the times of mourning.

40 He ſhall fly as an eagle.] He, i. e. Nebuchadnezzar.

43 Fear, and the pit, &c.] He that eſcapeth one danger ſhall fall into another.

45 They that fled ſtood under the ſhadow of Heſhbon, &c.] They that fled for fear of the enemy's forces, hoped to find ſafety in Heſhbon, a ſtrong fenced city. Lowth.

Notes on the Forty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Hath Iſrael no ſons?—Why then doth their king inherit Gad? &c.] Inſtead of Gad, the Septuagint has Gilead, which ſeems the true reading. God ſorely afflicted thoſe parts of the kingdom of Iſrael which lay on the eaſt-ſide of Jordan, firſt by Hazel, then by Tiglath-pileſer, and afterwards delivered up the whole kingdom to be carried away captive by Salmaneſer; ſoon after which, the Ammonites took occaſion to poſſeſs themſelves of Gilead, as it lay near their territories. But God's permiſſing the Iſraelites gave them no right to invade their neighbour, eſpecially when they had been ſo tender of the Ammonites' right, as not to invade their poſſeſſions in their march towards the land of Canaan. Lowth.

2 Her daughters ſhall be burnt with fire, &c.] i. e. The leſſer cities, which are reckoned as ſo many daughters to the mother city, ſhall be laid in aſhes by the enemy.

3 Howl, O Heſhbon, for Ai is ſpoiled, &c.] When Ai, a city of the Ammonites, is deſtroyed, it is time for Heſhbon, the chief city of Moab, to lament her danger. Lowth.

Their king ſhall go into captivity.] The margin and Alexandrine copy read, Melcom ſhall go into captivity; he was the idol of the Ammonites.

4 Where-

trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come unto me?

5 Behold, I will bring a fear upon thee, saith the Lord God of hosts, from all those that be about thee; and ye shall be driven out every man right forth; and none shall gather up him that wandereth.

6 And afterward I will bring again the captivity of the children of Ammon, saith the Lord.

7 ¶ Concerning Edom, thus saith the Lord of hosts; Is wisdom no more in Teman? is counsel perished from the prudent? is their wisdom vanished.

8 Flee ye, turn back, dwell deep, O inhabitants of Dedan: for I will bring the calamity of Esau upon him, the time that I will visit him.

9 If grape-gatherers come to thee, would they not leave some gleaning-grapes? if thieves by night, they will destroy till they have enough.

10 But I have made Esau bare, I have uncovered his secret places, and he shall not be able to hide himself; his seed is spoiled, and his brethren and his neighbours, and he is not.

11 Leave thy fatherless children, I will preserve them alive; and let thy widows trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord; Behold, they whose judgement was not to drink of the cup, have assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shalt altogether go unpunished? thou shalt not go unpunished, but thou shalt surely drink of it.

13 For I have sworn by my self, saith the Lord; that Bozrah shall become a desolation, a reproach, a waste, and a curse; and all the cities thereof shall be perpetual wastes.

14 I have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent unto the heathen, saying, Gather ye together, and come against her, and rise up to the battle.

15 For lo, I will make thee small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy terribleness hath deceived thee, and the pride of thine heart, O thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, that holdest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the eagle, I will bring thee down from thence, saith the Lord.

17 Also Edom shall be a desolation: every one that goeth by it shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and the neighbour cities thereof, saith the Lord, no man shall abide there, neither shall a son of man dwell in it.

19 Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan against the habitation of the strong: but I will suddenly make him run away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint over her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is that shepherd that will stand before me.

20 Therefore hear the counsel of the Lord that he hath taken against Edom, and his purposes that he hath purposed against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least of the flock shall draw them out: surely he shall make their habitations desolate with them.

---

4 Wherefore glorieſt thou in thy vallies?] i. e. In the riches of thy plentiful vallies.

5 None ſhall gather up him that wandereth.] None will afford ſhelter to the fugitives.

7 Is wiſdom no more in Teman? &c.] The inhabitants of the Eaſt were famous for their wiſdom and learning; and the people of Teman, a city of Edom, were long known to be among the firſt claſs. Lowth.

8 Dwell deep, O inhabitants of Dedan, &c.] The Dedanites were deſcended from Dedan, the grandſon of Abraham, and ſettled in Arabia. The prophet here exhorts them to hide themſelves in the deepeſt caverns and dens they could find.

12 They whoſe judgement was not to drink.] I have not ſpared mine own people, and how ſhould I pity thee?

16 Thy terribleneſs hath deceived thee, &c.] Thou haſt been formerly terrible to all about thee: the confidence thou haſt in thy ſtrength hath rendered thee careleſs and ſecure, and thereby given thine enemies an advantage againſt thee. Lowth.

O thou that dwelleſt in the clifts of the rock, &c.] St. Jerom, who lived in the neighbourhood, tells us, that Idumea was a rocky mountainous country, and that the inhabitants dwelt in caves dug in the rocks and hills. Lowth.

19 He ſhall come up as a lion from the ſwelling of Jordan, &c.] A noble deſcription of Nebuchadnezzar's army marching againſt Idumea, whom the prophet compares to a lion rouſed from his den, by the ſwelling of the Jordan in time of harveſt. Lowth.

I will ſuddenly make him run away from her.] The words ſhould have been rendered, I will rouſe him up, and make him run upon her.

Who is that ſhepherd that will ſtand before me?] The word ſhepherd is here uſed in oppoſition to the lion mentioned before, as if the prophet had ſaid, a ſhepherd may as well encounter a lion, as the beſt appointed warrior contend with the Almighty, or thoſe whom he makes the inſtruments of his vengeance. Lowth.

20 The leaſt of the flock ſhall draw them out, &c.] The prophet having given the name of ſhepherd to the generals of the army, purſues the ſame metaphor, expreſſing the common ſoldiers by

the 21 The earth is moved at the noiſe of their fall: at the cry, the noiſe thereof was heard in the Red-ſea.

22 Behold, he ſhall come up and fly as the eagle, and ſpread his wings over Bozrah: and at that day ſhall the heart of the mighty men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.

23 ¶ Concerning Damaſcus: Hamath is confounded, and Arpad; for they have heard evil tidings; they are faint-hearted; there is ſorrow on the ſea; it cannot be quiet.

24 Damaſcus is waxed feeble, and turneth her ſelf to flee, and fear hath ſeized on her: anguiſh and ſorrows have taken her as a woman in travail.

25 How is the city of praiſe not left, the city of my joy!

26 Therefore her young men ſhall fall in her ſtreets, and all the men of war ſhall be cut off in that day, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damaſcus, and it ſhall conſume the palaces of Ben-hadad.

28 ¶ Concerning Kedar, and concerning the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon ſhall ſmite, thus ſaith the LORD; Ariſe ye, go up to Kedar, and ſpoil the men of the eaſt.

29 Their tents and their flocks ſhall they take away: they ſhall take to themſelves their curtains and all their veſſels, and their camels; and they ſhall cry unto them, Fear is on every ſide.

30 ¶ Flee, get ye far off, dwell deep, O ye inhabitants of Hazor, ſaith the LORD; for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath taken counſel againſt you, and hath conceived a purpoſe againſt you.

31 Ariſe, get ye up unto the wealthy nation, that dwelleth without care, ſaith the LORD, which have neither gates nor bars, which dwell alone.

32 And their camels ſhall be a booty, and the multitude of their cattle a ſpoil: and I will ſcatter into all winds them that are in the utmoſt corners: and I will bring their calamity from all ſides thereof, ſaith the LORD.

33 And Hazor ſhall be a dwelling for dragons, and a deſolation for ever: there ſhall no man abide there, nor any ſon of man dwell in it.

34 ¶ The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet againſt Elam in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, ſaying, 35 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Behold, I will break the bow of Elam, the chief of their might.

36 And upon Elam will I bring the four winds from the four quarters of heaven, and will ſcatter them towards all thoſe winds; and there ſhall be no nation whither the outcaſts of Elam ſhall not come.

37 For I will cauſe Elam to be diſmayed before their enemies, and before them that ſeek their life: and I will bring evil upon them, even my fierce anger, ſaith the LORD; and I will ſend the ſword after them, till I have conſumed them:

38 And I will ſet my throne in Elam, and will deſtroy from thence the king and the people, ſaith the LORD.

39 But it ſhall come to paſs in the latter days, that I will bring again the captivity of Elam, ſaith the LORD.

CHAP. L.

1, 9, 21, 35 The judgement of Babylon. 4, 17, 33 The redemption of Iſrael.

THE word that the LORD ſpake againſt Babylon and againſt the land of the Chaldeans by Jeremiah the prophet.

the leaſt of the flock. Theſe, ſays he, ſhall have ſtrength and courage ſufficient to defeat the Idumean forces. Lowth.

21 At the cry, the noiſe thereof.] Or, the noiſe of their cry was heard in the Red Sea, which lay at a conſiderable diſtance.

23 Hamath is confounded, and Arpad, &c.] Hamath and Arpad are often joined together. Hamath was a frontier town lying on the borders of Judea towards Syria, thence called the entrance of Hamath.

25 How is the city of praiſe not left, &c.] This is ſpoken in the perſon of an inhabitant of Damaſcus, bewailing the lot of ſo famous and pleaſant a city, which was to be deſtroyed by the enemy. Lowth.

31 Which have neither bars nor gates.] A deſcription of thoſe who live ſecurely, who have neither walls or ramparts.

34 The word---that came to Jeremiah againſt Elam, &c.] The province of Elymais, which, together with Suſiana, Nebuchadnezzar ſubdued and took from Aſtyages king of Media. The prophet Daniel, chap. viii. 1, 2, mentions his reſiding in Shuſhan the palace, in the province of Elam.

36 Upon Elam will I bring the four winds.] i. e. Enemies from every quarter.

2 Declare ye among the nations, and publiſh, and ſet up a ſtandard; publiſh, and conceal not: ſay, Babylon is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken in pieces; her idols are confounded, her images are broken in pieces.

3 For out of the north there cometh up a nation againſt her, which ſhall make her land deſolate, and none ſhall dwell therein: they ſhall remove, they ſhall depart both man and beaſt.

4 ¶ In thoſe days and in that time, ſaith the LORD, the children of Iſrael ſhall come, they and the children of Judah together, going and weeping: they ſhall go, and ſeek the LORD their God.

5 They ſhall aſk the way to Zion with their faces thitherward, ſaying, Come, and let us join our ſelves to the LORD in a perpetual covenant that ſhall not be forgotten.

6 My people hath been loſt ſheep: their ſhepherds have cauſed them to go aſtray, they have turned them away on the mountains: they have gone from mountain to hill, they have forgotten their reſting-place.

7 All that found them have devoured them: and their adverſaries ſaid, We offend not; becauſe they have ſinned againſt the LORD, the habitation of juſtice; even the LORD, the hope of their fathers.

8 Remove out of the midſt of Babylon, and go forth out of the land of the Chaldeans, and be as the he-goats before the flocks.

9 ¶ For lo, I will raiſe, and cauſe to come up againſt Babylon an aſſembly of great nations from the north-country: and they ſhall ſet themſelves in array againſt her; from thence ſhe ſhall be taken: their arrows ſhall be as of a mighty expert man; none ſhall return in vain.

10 And Chaldea ſhall be a ſpoil: all that ſpoil her ſhall be ſatisfied, ſaith the LORD.

11 Becauſe ye were glad, becauſe ye rejoiced, O ye deſtroyers of mine heritage, becauſe ye are grown fat, as the heifer at graſs, and bellow as bulls;

12 Your mother ſhall be ſore confounded; ſhe that bare you ſhall be aſhamed: behold, the hindermoſt of the nations ſhall be a wilderneſs, a dry land, and a deſert.

13 Becauſe of the wrath of the LORD, it ſhall not be inhabited, but it ſhall be wholly deſolate: every one that goeth by Babylon ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and hiſs at all her plagues.

14 Put your ſelves in array againſt Babylon round about: all ye that bend the bow, ſhoot at her, ſpare no arrows: for ſhe hath ſinned againſt the LORD.

15 Shout againſt her round about: ſhe hath given her hand: her foundations are fallen, her walls are thrown down: for it is the vengeance of the LORD: take vengeance upon her; as ſhe hath done, do unto her.

16 Cut off the ſower from Babylon, and him that handleth the ſickle in the time of harveſt: for fear of the oppreſſing ſword, they ſhall turn every one to his people, and they ſhall flee every one to his own land.

17 ¶ Iſrael is a ſcattered ſheep; the lions

Notes on the Fiftieth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken in pieces, &c.] Bel is the ſame with Baal, a name common to the idols of the Eaſt, and, at firſt, probably given to ſome of the heavenly bodies. Both Bel and Merodach were antient kings, whom they had placed among the number of their gods. Lamy.

5 They ſhall aſk the way to Zion with their faces thitherward, &c.] This paſſage alludes to the cuſtom of the Jews going in companies up to Jeruſalem at the ſolemn feſtivals. Lowth.

Let us join ourſelves to the Lord in a perpetual covenant, &c.] The words may allude to that ſolemn covenant entered into by Joſiah and the people of Judah, after the general corruption of religion and morality, which, like a deluge, had overflowed the nation during the reign of Manaſſeh. Lowth.

6 They have turned them away on the mountains, &c.] They have turned them aſide from the true worſhip of God, to ſacrifice to idols upon the mountains and high-places.

7 Their adverſaries ſaid, We offend not; becauſe they have ſinned againſt the Lord, &c.] The heathen took advantage againſt the Jews from thoſe remarkable judgments which the Almighty had brought upon his people; and concluded from thence, that he had caſt them off utterly for their ſins: and being deprived of his protection, they preſumed, that they might uſe them as they pleaſed. Lowth.

8 Be as he-goats before the flocks.] Let every one ſtrive to lead the way to others, and give them an example of ſpeedily obeying the call of the Almighty.

11 Fat as an heifer at graſs.] The inſolence of oppreſſors is often compared to the wantonneſs of full-fed cattle.

16 Cut off the ſower from Babylon, &c.] Babylon reſembled a country walled in rather than a city; the walls, according to Herodotus, being ſixty miles in compaſs; according to Strabo, forty-eight. Within this enormous incloſure a great deal of ground was cultivated and ploughed for corn; ſo that enough grew within the walls to ſupport the inhabitants during a long ſiege. Lowth.

17 The lions have driven him away, &c.] Salmaneſer carried have driven him away: first, the king of Assyria hath devoured him; and last, this Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; Behold, I will punish the king of Babylon and his land, as I have punished the king of Assyria.

19 And I will bring Israel again to his habitation, and he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soul shall be satisfied upon mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those days and in that time, saith the LORD, the iniquity of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none; and the sins of Judah, and they shall not be found: for I will pardon them whom I reserve.

21 ¶ Go up against the land of Merathaim, even against it, and against the inhabitants of Pekod: waste, and utterly destroy after them, saith the LORD, and do according to all that I have commanded thee.

22 A sound of battle is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the hammer of the whole earth cut asunder and broken! how is Babylon become a desolation among the nations!

24 I have laid a snare for thee, and thou art also taken, O Babylon, and thou wast not aware; thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striven against the LORD.

25 The LORD hath opened his armoury, and hath brought forth the weapons of his indignation: for this is the work of the Lord GOD of hosts in the land of the Chaldeans.

26 Come against her from the utmost border, open her store-houses: cast her up as heaps, and destroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Slay all her bullocks: let them go down to the slaughter: wo unto them! for their day is come, the time of their visitation.

28 The voice of them that flee and escape out of the land of Babylon to declare in Zion the vengeance of the LORD our God, the vengeance of his temple.

29 Call together the archers against Babylon: all ye that bend the bow, camp against it round about; let none thereof escape: recompense her according to her work; according to all that she hath done do unto her; for she hath been proud against the LORD, against the Holy One of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of war shall be cut off in that day, saith the LORD.

31 Behold, I am against thee, O thou most proud, saith the LORD GOD of hosts: for thy day is come, the time that I will visit thee.

32 And the most proud shall stumble, and fall, and none shall raise him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall devour all round about him.

33 ¶ Thus saith the LORD of hosts; The children of Israel and the children of Judah were oppressed together: and all that took them captives held them fast; they refused to let them go.

34 Their redeemer is strong; The LORD away the ten tribes, and afterwards Nebuchadnezzar totally destroyed the whole nation.

18 I have punished the king of Assyria.] This probably relates to the destruction of Nineveh, the capital of the Assyrian empire, where the last king of the Assyrian race was slain, and the seat of the empire removed to Babylon. Prideaux.

19 I will bring Israel again to his habitation.] I will restore them to their ancient habitations, and their former peace and plenty.

20 I will pardon them whom I reserve.] The Almighty, in all the judgments he denounces against his people, always promises to preserve a remnant.

21 Go up against the land of Merathaim.] Or, the land of Rebels, as our margin expounds the word: i. e. against Babylon. This command is directed to Cyrus and his confederates.

Against the inhabitants of Pekod, &c.] A country belonging to the Babylonian empire. The word signifies visitation; and therefore used by the prophet, this being the time when God will visit Babylon. Lowth.

23 How is the hammer of the whole earth cut asunder and broken! &c.] How is that oppressive empire that smote the whole earth with a continual stroke, destroyed and laid waste! Lowth.

24 I have laid a snare for thee.] Cyrus took the city by surprize, by draining the river Euphrates.

27 Slay all her bullocks.] Her princes and mighty men.

28 The voice of them that flee and escape out of the land of Babylon, &c.] Some of those Jews who were more than ordinary zealous for the welfare of God's church and people were ready, upon the first news of the taking of Babylon, to bring the glad tidings to Judea, that God had revenged his people, and executed his judgments on those who destroyed his temple, and profaned the holy vessels of it that had long been dedicated to his service. Lowth.

29 The archers.] This is chiefly meant of the Elamites, who were famous archers, and composed part of Cyrus's army.

34 Their Redeemer is strong, &c.] God will himself plead the cause of his injured truth and people. Lowth.

of hoſts is his name; he ſhall throughly plead their cauſe, that he may give reſt to the land, and diſquiet the inhabitants of Babylon.

35 ¶ A ſword is upon the Chaldeans, ſaith the LORD, and upon the inhabitants of Babylon, and upon her princes, and upon her wiſe men.

36 A ſword is upon the lyars; and they ſhall dote: a ſword is upon her mighty men; and they ſhall be diſmayed.

37 A ſword is upon their horſes, and upon their chariots, and upon all the mingled people that are in the midſt of her; and they ſhall become as women: a ſword is upon her treaſures; and they ſhall be robbed.

38 A drought is upon her waters; and they ſhall be dried up: for it is the land of graven images, and they are mad upon their idols.

39 Therefore the wild beaſts of the deſert with the wild beaſts of the iſlands ſhall dwell there, and the owls ſhall dwell therein: and it ſhall be no more inhabited for ever; neither ſhall it be dwelt in from generation to generation.

40 As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah and the neighbour cities thereof, ſaith the LORD; ſo ſhall no man abide there, neither ſhall any ſon of man dwell therein.

41 Behold, a people ſhall come from the north, and a great nation, and many kings ſhall be raiſed up from the coaſts of the earth.

42 They ſhall hold the bow and the lance: they are cruel, and will not ſhew mercy; their voice ſhall roar like the ſea, and they ſhall ride upon horſes, every one put in array like a man to the battle, againſt thee, O daughter of Babylon.

43 The king of Babylon hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: anguiſh took hold of him, and pangs as of a woman in travail.

44 Behold, he ſhall come up like a lion from the ſwelling of Jordan unto the habitation of the ſtrong: but I will make them ſuddenly run away from her: and who is a choſen man that I may appoint over her? for who is like me: and who will appoint me the time? and who is that ſhepherd that will ſtand before me?

45 Therefore hear ye the counſel of the LORD that he hath taken againſt Babylon, and his purpoſes that he hath purpoſed againſt the land of the Chaldeans: Surely the leaſt of the flock ſhall draw them out: ſurely he ſhall make their habitation deſolate with them.

46 At the noiſe of the taking of Babylon the earth is moved, and the cry is heard among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

God's ſevere judgements againſt Babylon in revenge of Iſrael.

THUS ſaith the LORD; Behold, I will raiſe up againſt Babylon, and againſt them that dwell in the midſt of them that riſe up againſt me, a deſtroying wind;

2 And will ſend unto Babylon fanners, that ſhall fan her, and ſhall empty her land: for in the day of trouble they ſhall be againſt her round about.

3 Againſt him that bendeth let the archer bend his bow, and againſt him that lifteth himſelf up in his brigandine: and ſpare ye not her young men; deſtroy ye utterly all her hoſt.

4 Thus the ſlain ſhall fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and they that are thruſt through in her ſtreets.

5 For Iſrael hath not been forſaken, nor Judah of his God, of the LORD of hoſts; though their land was filled with ſin againſt the Holy One of Iſrael.

---

35 A ſword is upon her---wiſe men.] The Chaldeans were famous for their ſkill in aſtrology, and other arts of divination: and yet all their learning was not ſufficient to preſerve them from the common calamities. Lowth.

36 The liars.] Falſe pretenders to the knowledge of future events.

37 The mingled people.] Her auxiliaries made up of ſeveral nations.

39 The wild beaſts of the deſert, &c.] St. Jerom aſſures us, that in his time the place where Babylon ſtood was turned into a park, where the king of Perſia uſed to hunt.

Notes on the Fifty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 4 The ſlain ſhall fall.] Mr. Kennicott obſerves, that the Hebrew word here tranſlated ſlain, ſhould have been rendered, the ſoldiers.

5 Iſrael hath not been forſaken, nor Judah of his God, &c.] Though God was juſtly diſpleaſed with his people, yet he will not caſt them off utterly, or deprive them of his protection. Lowth.

6 Flee out of the midſt of Babylon, and deliver every man his ſoul: be not cut off in her iniquity; for this is the time of the LORD's vengeance; he will render unto her a recompenſe.

7 Babylon hath been a golden cup in the LORD's hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations have drunken of her wine; therefore the nations are mad.

8 Babylon is ſuddenly fallen and deſtroyed: howl for her; take balm for her pain, if ſo be ſhe may be healed.

9 We would have healed Babylon, but ſhe is not healed: forſake her, and let us go every one into his own country: for her judgement reacheth unto heaven, and is lifted up even to the ſkies.

10 The LORD hath brought forth our righteouſneſs: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the LORD our God.

11 Make bright the arrows; gather the ſhields: the LORD hath raiſed up the ſpirit of the kings of the Medes: for his device is againſt Babylon, to deſtroy it; becauſe it is the vengeance of the LORD, the vengeance of his temple.

12 Set up the ſtandard upon the walls of Babylon, make the watch ſtrong, ſet up the watchmen, prepare the ambuſhes: for the LORD hath both deviſed and done that which he ſpake againſt the inhabitants of Babylon.

13 O thou that dwelleſt upon many waters, abundant in treaſures, thine end is come, and the meaſure of thy covetouſneſs.

14 The LORD of hoſts hath ſworn by himſelf, ſaying, Surely I will fill thee with men as with caterpillers; and they ſhall lift up a ſhout againſt thee.

15 He hath made the earth by his power, he hath eſtabliſhed the world by his wiſdom, and hath ſtretched out the heaven by his underſtanding.

16 When he uttereth his voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens; and he cauſeth the vapours to aſcend from the ends of the earth: he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treaſures.

17 Every man is brutiſh by his knowledge; every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falſhood, and there is no breath in them.

18 They are vanity, the work of errors: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall periſh.

19 The portion of Jacob is not like them: for he is the Former of all things: and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance; The LORD of hoſts is his name.

20 Thou art my battle-ax and weapons of war: for with thee will I break in pieces the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdoms;

21 And with thee will I break in pieces the 7 Babylon hath been a golden cup in the Lord's hand.] She hath recommended her idolatries to the whole world by ſeveral ſpecious pretences, as well as by her authority and example: ſo that they have reſembled poiſon diſpenſed in a golden cup, which has induced men to drink without being aware of the danger; the expreſſions allude to the practice of harlots, in giving love-portions to their gallants, which were made up of ſuch materials as affected their brains. The ſenſe of this verſe is evidently applied by St. John to the ſpiritual Babylon, which hath uſed the moſt plauſible methods to diſguiſe her idolatrous practices. Lowth.

8 Take balm for her pain, &c.] This is ſpoken ironically, implying that her ruin is irrecoverable.

9 We would have healed Babylon, &c.] This is ſpoken in the name of God's prophets, and the other witneſſes of his truth; implying, that they had ſufficiently teſtified againſt her errors and idolatries, but ſhe was irreclaimable. Lowth.

10 The Lord hath brought forth our righteouſneſs.] Hath declared our cauſe to be juſt: Septuagint reads, Hath brought his judgment.

11 The Lord hath raiſed up the ſpirit of the king of the Medes, &c.] Neriglisſorus, king of Babylon, having formed an alliance againſt the Medes, Cambyſes ſent his ſon Cyrus with an army of thirty thouſand Perſians to join the Medes commanded by Cyaxeres: this Cyaxeres king of Media, called Darius the Mede in ſcripture, was the uncle of Cyrus, and it was properly his army that made the expedition againſt the Babylonians, employing Cyrus as his general. Perſia was then a ſmall part of the empire of Media, and of little account, till Cyrus advanced its reputation; and even then it was called the kingdom of the Medes and Perſians, the Medes having ſtill the preference. Lowth.

13 O thou that dwelleſt upon many waters, &c.] Upon the river Euphrates, which encompaſſed Babylon, and was thought to render the city impregnable.

14 As with caterpillars.] Rather locuſts, as Bochart obſerves the word properly ſignifies.

15, &c. He hath made the earth by his power, &c.] An elegant and lofty deſcription of the power and wiſdom of the Almighty, in oppoſition to the weakneſs and ſtupidity of idols.

19 The portion of Jacob, &c.] i. e. The God of Iſrael is not like theſe.

20 Thou art my battle-ax, &c.] God here ſpeaks to Cyrus, and tells him, that he will make uſe of him as an inſtrument of Providence, for deſtroying the whole power of the Babylonian empire, and of all orders and degrees of men in it; as he had formerly made that empire the executioner of his judgments upon other countries. Lowth.

horſe and his rider; and with thee will I break in pieces the chariot and his rider;

22 With thee alſo will I break in pieces man and woman; and with thee will I break in pieces old and young; and with thee will I break in pieces the young man and the maid;

23 I will alſo break in pieces with thee the ſhepherd and his flock; and with thee will I break in pieces the huſbandman and his yoke of oxen; and with thee will I break in pieces captains and rulers.

24 And I will render unto Babylon, and to all the inhabitants of Chaldea, all their evil that they have done in Zion, in your ſight, ſaith the LORD.

25 Behold, I am againſt thee, O deſtroying mountain, ſaith the LORD, which deſtroyeſt all the earth: and I will ſtretch out mine hand upon thee, and roll thee down from the rocks, and will make thee a burned mountain.

26 And they ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations; but thou ſhalt be deſolate for ever, ſaith the LORD.

27 Set ye up a ſtandard in the land, blow the trumpet among the nations, prepare the nations againſt her, call together againſt her the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Aſhchenaz; appoint a captain againſt her, cauſe the horſes to come up as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the captains thereof, and all the rulers thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land ſhall tremble and ſorrow: for every purpoſe of the LORD ſhall be performed againſt Babylon, to make the land of Babylon a deſolation without an inhabitant.

30 The mighty men of Babylon have forborn to fight, they have remained in their holds; their might hath failed, they became as women: they have burned her dwelling-places; her bars are broken.

31 One poſt ſhall run to meet another, and one meſſenger to meet another, to ſhew the king of Babylon that his city is taken at one end.

32 And that the paſſages are ſtopped, and the reeds they have burned with fire, and the men of war are affrighted.

33 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael; The daughter of Babylon is like a threſhing floor, it is time to threſh her: yet a little while, and the time of her harveſt ſhall come.

34 Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath devoured me, he hath cruſhed me, he hath made me an empty veſſel, he hath ſwallowed me up like a dragon, he hath filled his belly with my delicates, he hath caſt me out.

35 The violence done to me and to my fleſh be upon Babylon, ſhall the inhabitant of Zion ſay; and, My blood upon the inhabitants of Chaldea, ſhall Jeruſalem ſay.

36 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, I will plead thy cauſe, and take vengeance for 25 O deſtroying mountain,] Rather, O corrupting mountain, that corrupteſt the whole earth: Babylon was ſituated on a plain, but is called a mountain from its lofty edifices, walls, and towers.

27 Call together againſt her the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Aſhchenaz, &c.] Theſe were countries under the dominion of the Medes. The two former were probably the ſame with the greater and leſſer Armenia. The firſt expedition of Cyrus in this war was for reducing the Armenians, who had revolted from the government of the Medes; but, upon this conqueſt, were obliged to ſend their quota of auxiliaries to the carrying on the war againſt the Babylonians. Lowth.

31 One poſt ſhall run to meet another, &c.] Babylon was taken by ſurprize; for Cyrus, having turned the current of the Euphrates, entered the city by the channel of that river. In order to put this ſtratagem in execution, Cyrus took the opportunity of a public feſtival, when the whole night was uſually ſpent in revellings, and all manner of diſorders. In this time of riot, the gates leading to the Euphrates, that uſed to be ſhut every night, were left open, and gave a paſſage to Cyrus and his army into the city; when he became maſter of it, while they thought themſelves ſecure, both from the height and ſtrength of the walls, and the depth of the river; Cyrus having at that time made very little progreſs in the ſiege, though he had inveſted the city with his army above two years. This ſurprize cauſed ſo many meſſengers to run one after the other to acquaint the king of this unexpected news. Herodotus ſays, that the extreme parts of the city were taken before thoſe who lived in the centre were ſenſible of the danger. Lowth.

32 The reeds they have burnt with fire.] The Hebrew word rendered reeds, ſignifies likewiſe marſhes; the meaning is, that the enemies have burnt up all the outworks belonging to the marſhy ground about the Euphrates.

33 It is time to threſh her.] It is time for her to feel the miſeries ſhe hath made others ſuffer.

The time of her harveſt ſhall come.] Her inhabitants and their treaſures ſhall be ſwept away like corn at the time of harveſt.

34 Nebuchadrezzar---hath devoured me, &c.] A pathetic deſcription of the calamities brought upon the Jews by Nebuchadrezzar and his forces, who, after devouring the wealth, and laying waſte the beauty of their country, carried them away captive into a ſtrange land. Lowth.

thee; and I will dry up her ſea, and make her ſprings dry.

37 And Babylon ſhall become heaps, a dwelling-place for dragons, an aſtoniſhment and an hiſſing, without an inhabitant.

38 They ſhall roar together like lions; they ſhall yell as lions whelps.

39 In their heat I will make their feaſts, and I will make them drunken, that they may rejoice, and ſleep a perpetual ſleep, and not wake, ſaith the LORD.

40 I will bring them down like lambs to the ſlaughter, like rams with he-goats.

41 How is Sheſhach taken! and how is the praiſe of the whole earth ſurpriſed! how is Babylon become an aſtoniſhment among the nations!

42 The ſea is come up upon Babylon: ſhe is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.

43 Her cities are a deſolation, a dry land and a wilderneſs, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth any ſon of man paſs thereby.

44 And I will puniſh Bel in Babylon, and I will bring forth out of his mouth that which he hath ſwallowed up: and the nations ſhall not flow together any more unto him: yea, the wall of Babylon ſhall fall.

45 My people, go ye out of the midſt of her, and deliver ye every man his ſoul from the fierce anger of the LORD.

46 And leſt your heart faint, and ye fear for the rumour that ſhall be heard in the land; a rumour ſhall both come one year, and after that in another year ſhall come a rumour; and violence in the land, ruler againſt ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the days come that I will do judgement upon the graven images of Babylon: and her whole land ſhall be confounded, and all her ſlain ſhall fall in the midſt of her.

48 Then the heaven and the earth, and all that is therein, ſhall ſing for Babylon: for the ſpoilers ſhall come unto her from the north, ſaith the LORD.

49 As Babylon hath cauſed the ſlain of Iſrael to fall, ſo at Babylon ſhall fall the ſlain of all the earth.

50 Ye that have eſcaped the ſword, go away, ſtand not ſtill: remember the LORD afar off, and let Jeruſalem come into your mind.

51 We are confounded, becauſe we have heard reproach; ſhame hath covered our faces: for ſtrangers are come into the ſanctuaries of the LORD's houſe.

52 Wherefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will do judgement upon her graven images, and through all her land the wounded ſhall groan.

53 Though Babylon ſhall mount up to heaven, and though ſhe ſhould fortify the height of her ſtrength, yet from me ſhall ſpoilers come unto her, ſaith the LORD.

54 A ſound of a cry cometh from Babylon, and great deſtruction from the land of the Chaldeans.

55 Becauſe the LORD hath ſpoiled Babylon, and deſtroyed out of her the great voice, when 38 They ſhall roar together, &c.] Either through anguiſh of mind; or elſe the prophet deſcribes the revels and riotous noiſe they made on the night when the city was taken.

39 In their heat will I make their feaſts, and I will make them drunken, &c.] While they are feaſting themſelves, I will provide them another cup to drink, namely, that of my fury and indignation. See note on chap. xxv. 26.

41 How is Sheſhach taken!] How is Babylon taken! This city was ſurpriſed at the time of the feſtival called Sacchæa; and thence named Sheſhach by the prophet.

How is the praiſe of the whole earth ſurpriſed, &c.] Babylon was eſteemed the wonder of the world, for the heighth, breadth, and compaſs of its walls, the palace, and hanging gardens belonging to it, for the temple of Belus, for the banks and facing of the river, and the artificial lakes and canals made for the draining of it. Lowth.

42 The ſea is come up, &c.] Multitudes are reſembled to mighty waters.

44 That which he hath ſwallowed up.] i. e. The gifts which he hath received, as part of the ſpoil of other nations, and which the idolaters have brought unto him from all countries.

46 A rumour ſhall both come one year, and after that in another year ſhall come a rumour, &c.] Meaning that Babylon ſhould not be deſtroyed all at once, but by little and little: for the firſt year came the tidings, the next the ſiege, and in the third year it was taken.

47 All her ſlain ſhall fall.] Dr. Kennicott very judiciouſly obſerves, that it ſhould be rendered, All her ſoldiers ſhall fall, &c.

49 As Babylon hath cauſed the ſlain, &c.] The true tranſlation ſeems to be, As Babylon hath cauſed the ſoldiers of Iſrael to fall: ſo at Babylon ſhall fall the ſoldiers of all that country. Kennicott.

51 We are confounded, becauſe we have heard reproach, &c.] The prophet repeats the words of thoſe pious exiles, when they reflected on the deſolation of God's people and ſanctuary.

55 When her waves do roar.] Some explain this of the Medes and Perſians coming up like a flood againſt Babylon.

her waves do roar like great waters, a noiſe of their voice is uttered.

56 Becauſe the ſpoiler is come upon her, even upon Babylon, and her mighty men are taken, every one of their bows is broken: for the LORD God of recompenſes ſhall ſurely requite.

57 And I will make drunk her princes, and her wiſe men, her captains, and her rulers, and her mighty men: and they ſhall ſleep a perpetual ſleep, and not wake, ſaith the King, whoſe name is The LORD of hoſts.

58 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; The broad walls of Babylon ſhall be utterly broken, and her high gates ſhall be burned with fire; and the people ſhall labour in vain, and the folk in the fire, and they ſhall be weary.

59 ¶ The word which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah the ſon of Neriah the ſon of Maaſeiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah into Babylon, in the fourth year of his reign. And this Seraiah was a a quiet prince.

60 So Jeremiah wrote in a book all the evil that ſhould come upon Babylon, even all theſe words that are written againſt Babylon.

61 And Jeremiah ſaid to Seraiah, When thou comeſt to Babylon, and ſhalt ſee, and ſhalt read all theſe words;

62 Then ſhalt thou ſay, O LORD, thou haſt ſpoken againſt this place, to cut it off, that none ſhall remain in it, neither man nor beaſt, but that it ſhall be deſolate for ever.

63 And it ſhall be when thou haſt made an end of reading this book, that thou ſhalt bind a ſtone to it, and caſt it into the midſt of Euphrates:

64 And thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſhall Babylon ſink, and ſhall not riſe from the evil that I will bring upon her: and they ſhall be weary. Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.

CHAP. LII.

1 Zedekiah rebelleth. 4 Jeruſalem is beſieged and taken. 8 Zedekiah's ſons killed, and his own eyes put out.

ZEdekiah was one and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jeruſalem. And his mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did that which was evil in the eyes of the LORD, according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

3 For through the anger of the LORD it came to paſs in Jeruſalem and Judah, till he had caſt them out from his preſence, that Zedekiah rebelled againſt the king of Babylon.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his army againſt Jeruſalem, and pitched againſt it, and built forts againſt it round about.

5 So the city was beſieged unto the eleventh year of king Zedekiah.

6 And in the fourth month, in the ninth day of the month, the famine was ſore in the city, ſo that there was no bread for the people of the land.

---

58 The broad walls of Babylon ſhall be utterly broken, &c.] The walls of Babylon, according to Herodotus, were eighty-ſeven feet in breadth. Creſias ſays, they were ſo wide, that ſix chariots might run a-breaſt. Their height was three hundred and fifty feet; the city was ſquare, and in each ſide were twenty-five gates of braſs, which were taken away by Darius, when he made himſelf maſter of the city; he alſo reduced the walls to the height of fifty cubits. Lowth.

59 Seraiah was a quiet prince.] The chief chamberlain, as the margin reads with better ſenſe.

61 Shalt read all theſe words.] He was enjoined to read this prophecy to the Jews, who were carried away to Babylon in Jehoiakim's captivity, to comfort them under their exile.

63 Thou ſhalt bind a ſtone to it, and caſt it into the midſt of Euphrates.] The prophets often gave ſenſible repreſentations of the judgments they foretold. This was a ſignificant emblem of Babylon's ſinking irrecoverably under the judgments here denounced againſt her. This threatening was, in a literal ſenſe, fulfilled, by Cyrus's breaking down the head or dam of the great lake, that was on the weſt-ſide of the city, in order to turn the current of the river that way: for no care being afterwards taken to repair the breach, the whole country around it was overflown. So that the prophecy of Iſaiah was alſo literally fulfilled, of making the country of Babylon a poſſeſſion for the bittern and pools of water, chap. xiv. 23. Prideaux.

64 Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.] Theſe words are inſerted to ſhow, that the next chapter was added by Ezra, or whoever collected this prophecy into one volume.

Notes on the Fifty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 Zedekiah was one and twenty years old, &c.] This chapter is chiefly tranſcribed from the latter part of the ſecond book of Kings, commencing at the 18th verſe of the xxivth chapter, to which place the reader is referred for notes.

7 Then the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the king's garden; now the Chaldeans were by the city round about: and they went by the way of the plain.

8 ¶ But the army of the Chaldeans purſued after the king, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho: and all his army was ſcattered from him.

9 Then they took the king, and carried him up unto the king of Babylon to Riblah in the land of Hamath; where he gave judgement upon him.

10 And the king of Babylon ſlew the ſons of Zedekiah before his eyes: he ſlew alſo all the princes of Judah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah; and the king of Babylon bound him in chains, and carried him to Babylon, and put him in priſon till the day of his death.

12 Now in the fifth month, in the tenth day of the month, which was the nineteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, came Nebuzar-adan captain of the guard, which ſerved the king of Babylon unto Jeruſalem,

13 And burned the houſe of the LORD, and the king's houſe; and all the houſes of Jeruſalem, and all the houſes of the great men burned he with fire:

14 And all the army of the Chaldeans that were with the captain of the guard brake down all the walls of Jeruſalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carried away captive certain of the poor of the people, and the reſidue of the people that remained in the city, and thoſe that fell away, that fell to the king of Babylon, and the reſt of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard left certain of the poor of the land for vine-dreſſers and for huſbandmen.

17 Alſo the pillars of braſs that were in the houſe of the LORD, and the baſes, and the braſen ſea that was in the houſe of the LORD, the Chaldeans brake, and carried all the braſs of them to Babylon.

18 The caldrons alſo, and the ſhovels, and the ſnuffers, and the bowls, and the ſpoons, and all the veſſels of braſs wherewith they miniſtred, took they away.

19 And the baſons, and the fire-pans, and the bowls, and the caldrons, and the candleſticks, and the ſpoons, and the cups, that which was of gold in gold, and that which was of ſilver in ſilver, took the captain of the guard away.

20 The two pillars, one ſea, and twelve braſen bulls that were under the baſes, which king Solomon had made in the houſe of the LORD: the braſs of all theſe veſſels was without weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits; and a fillet of twelve cubits did compaſs it; and the thickneſs thereof was four fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapiter of braſs was upon it; and the height of one chapiter was five cubits, with net-work and pomegranates upon the chapiters round about, all of braſs. The ſecond pillar alſo and the pomegranates were like unto theſe.

23 And there were ninety and ſix pomegranates on a ſide; and all the pomegranates upon the net-work were an hundred round about.

24 And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief prieſt, and Zephaniah the ſecond prieſt, and the three keepers of the door.

25 He took alſo out of the city an eunuch which had the charge of the men of war; and ſeven men of them that were near the king's perſon, which were found in the city; and the principal ſcribe of the hoſt, who muſtered the people of the land; and threeſcore men of the people of the land that were found in the midſt of the city.

26 So Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard took them, and brought them to the king of Babylon to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babylon ſmote them, and put them to death in Riblah in the land of Hamath. Thus Judah was carried away captive out of his own land.

28 This is the people whom Nebuchadrezzar carried away captive: in the ſeventh year, three thouſand Jews and three and twenty;

29 In the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar he he carried away captive from Jeruſalem eight hundred thirty and two perſons.

30 In the three and twentieth year of Nebuchadrezzar, Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carried away captive of the Jews ſeven hundred forty and five perſons: all the perſons were four thouſand and ſix hundred.

31 And it came to paſs in the ſeven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, in the five and twentieth day of the month; that Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the firſt year of his reign, lifted up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and brought him forth out of priſon, 32 And ſpake kindly unto him, and ſet his throne above the throne of the kings that were with him in Babylon.

33 And changed his priſon garments. And he did continually eat bread before him all the days of his life.

34 And for his diet, there was a continual diet given him of the king of Babylon, every day a portion until the day of his death, all the days of his life.

31 Evil-merodach.] Implies as much as fooliſh Merodach, becauſe he was a profligate and vicious prince.

34 Until the day of his death.] Theſe words ſeem to be a moſt unneceſſary tautology: we do not find them in the parallel paſſage in 2 Kings, chap. xxv. 30; nor in our oldeſt manuſcripts. Kennicott.

THE LAMENTATIONS OF JEREMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

The compoſition of this mournful ſong is alphabetical, i. e. The firſt clauſe in each of theſe chapters begins with Aleph in Hebrew, the ſecond with Beth, and ſo on: ſo that every chapter has twenty-two clauſes; but in the third chapter the Tranſlators have divided each clauſe into two or three verſes. St. Jerome, and ſeveral other learned men, are of opinion that the prophet laments the death of the good king Joſiah, as the beginning of thoſe calamities that followed. The ſtile of the Lamentations is lively and pathetic; the ſubject of the moſt affecting kind. The famous Dr. South very juſtly obſerves, (Serm. Vol. IV. p. 31.) That ſorrow never flowed in ſo natural, ſo tender, ſo prevailing a pathos as in theſe mournful elegies. One would think, ſays he, that every letter was wrote with a tear, every word the ſound of a breaking heart; that the author was a man compounded of ſorrows; diſciplined to grief from his infancy; one who never breathed but in ſighs, nor ſpoke but with a groan. In the Septuagint there is a Preface to this book, which is not in the Hebrew, to this effect: It came to paſs, that after Iſrael was carried captive, and Jeruſalem deſolate, Jeremiah ſat weeping and bewailed Jeruſalem with this Lamentation; and bitterly weeping and mourning, ſaid as follows.

CHAP. I.

1 Jeruſalem's miſery for her ſins. 12 Her complaint, 18 and confeſſion of God's righteous judgements.

HOW doth the city ſit ſolitary that was full of people! how is ſhe become as a widow! ſhe that was great among the nations, and princeſs among the provinces, how is ſhe become tributary!

2 She weepeth ſore in the night, and her tears are on her cheeks: among all her lovers ſhe hath none to comfort her: all her friends have dealt treacherouſly with her, they are become her enemies.

3 Judah is gone into captivity, becauſe of affliction, and becauſe of great ſervitude: ſhe dwelleth among the heathen, ſhe findeth no reſt: all her perſecutors overtook her between the ſtraits.

4 The ways of Zion do mourn, becauſe none come to the ſolemn feaſts: all her gates are deſolate: her prieſts ſigh, her virgins are afflicted, and ſhe is in bitterneſs.

5 Her adverſaries are the chief, her enemies proſper: for the LORD hath afflicted her for the multitude of her tranſgreſſions: her children are gone into captivity before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beauty is departed: her princes are become like harts that find no paſture, and they are gone without ſtrength before the purſuer.

7 Jeruſalem remembered in the days of her affliction and of her miſeries all her pleaſant things that ſhe had in the days of old, when her people fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did help her: the adverſaries ſaw her, and did mock at her ſabbaths.

8 Jeruſalem hath grievouſly ſinned; therefore ſhe is removed: all that honoured her deſpiſe her, becauſe they have ſeen her nakedneſs: yea, ſhe ſigheth, and turneth backward.

9 Her filthineſs is in her ſkirts; ſhe remembered not her laſt end; therefore ſhe came down wonderfully: ſhe had no comforter; O LORD, behold my affliction: for the enemy hath magnified himſelf.

10 The adverſary hath ſpread out his hand upon all her pleaſant things: for ſhe hath ſeen that the heathen entered into her ſanctuary, whom thou didſt command that they ſhould not enter into thy congregation.

11 All her people ſigh, they ſeek bread; they have given their pleaſant things for meat to relieve the ſoul: ſee, O LORD, and conſider; for I am become vile.

12 ¶ Is it nothing to you, all ye that paſs by? behold, and ſee, if there be any ſorrow like unto my ſorrow, which is done unto me, wherewith the LORD hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce anger.

13 From above hath he ſent fire into my bones, and it prevaileth againſt them: he hath ſpread a net for my feet, he hath turned me back: he hath made me deſolate, and faint all the day.

14 The yoke of my tranſgreſſions is bound by his hand: they are wreathed, and come up upon my neck: he hath made my ſtrength to fall, the Lord hath delivered me into their hands from whom I am not able to riſe up.

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 How is ſhe become a widow!] Cities are commonly deſcribed as the mothers of their inhabitants, and their kings and princes as their huſbands and children. When, therefore, they are bereaved of theſe, they are ſaid to be widows and childleſs. Under theſe affecting circumſtances, Jeruſalem is deſcribed as ſitting alone, and in a penſive condition, the multitude of her inhabitants being diſperſed and deſtroyed. Lowth.

She that was great among the nations, &c.] The kings of Judah, in the time of their proſperity, made conqueſts in the countries of the Philiſtines, Edomites, and other neighbouring nations: and thus, by enlarging their dominions, advanced the power and grandeur of Jeruſalem.

2 Among all her lovers, ſhe hath none to comfort her, &c.] All her allies, viz. the Egyptians and Aſſyrians, whoſe friendſhip ſhe courted by ſinful compliances, have forſaken her in her afflictions, and even join with her enemies in inſulting over her. Lowth.

3 Becauſe of affliction, &c.] For her cruelty towards the poor, and oppreſſion of ſervants, Jer. xxxiv. 11.

4 The ways of Zion do mourn, becauſe none come to the ſolemn feaſts, &c.] The high-ways that lead to Jeruſalem are unfrequented; none come up thither at the ſolemn feaſts, becauſe the temple and altar are deſtroyed. Lowth.

5 Her adverſaries are the chief.] Have rule over her.

7 Did mock at her ſabbaths.] Septuagint reads, At her captivity.

8 They have ſeen her nakedneſs.] She is ſtript of all her ornaments, and carried naked into captivity.

13 He hath ſent fire into my bones.] He hath conſumed my habitations by fire.

14 The yoke of my tranſgreſſions is bound by his hand, &c.] The heinouſneſs of my ſins is continually before his eyes, as he that tieth a thing to his hand for a remembrance.

15 The LORD hath troden under foot all my mighty men in the midſt of me: he hath called an aſſembly againſt me to cruſh my young men: the LORD hath troden the virgin the daughter of Judah as in a wine-preſs.

16 For theſe things I weep; mine eye runneth down with water becauſe the comforter that ſhould relieve my ſoul is far from me: my children are deſolate, becauſe the enemy prevailed.

17 Zion ſpreadeth forth her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the LORD hath commanded concerning Jacob, that his adverſaries ſhould be round about him; Jeruſalem is as a menſtruous woman among them.

18 ¶ The LORD is righteous; for I have rebelled againſt his commandment: hear, I pray you, all people, and behold my ſorrow; my virgins, and my young men are gone into captivity.

19 I called for my lovers, but they deceived me: my priests and mine elders gave up the ghoſt in the city, while they ſought their meat to relieve their ſouls.

20 Behold, O LORD; for I am in diſtreſs: my bowels are troubled, mine heart is turned within me: for I have grievouſly rebelled: abroad the ſword bereaveth, at home there is as death.

21 They have heard that I ſigh: there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies have heard of my trouble; they are glad that thou haſt done it: thou wilt bring the day that thou haſt called, and they ſhall be like unto me.

22 Let all their wickedneſs come before thee; and do unto them, as thou haſt done unto me for all my tranſgreſſions: for my ſighs are many, and my heart is faint.

CHAP. II.

1 Jeremiah lamenteth Jeruſalem's miſery. 20 He complaineth thereof to God.

HOW hath the Lord covered the daughter of Zion with a cloud in his anger, and caſt down from heaven unto the earth the beauty of Iſrael, and remembered not his footſtool in the day of his anger!

2 The LORD hath ſwallowed up all the habitations of Jacob, and hath not pitied: he hath thrown down in his wrath the ſtrong holds of the daughter of Judah; he hath brought them down to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdom and the princes thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce anger all the horn of Iſrael: he hath drawn back his right hand from before the enemy, and he burned againſt Jacob like a flaming fire which devoureth round about.

4 He hath bent his bow like an enemy: he ſtood with his right hand as an adverſary, and ſlew all that were pleaſant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he poured out his fury like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemy: he hath ſwallowed up Iſrael, he hath ſwallowed up all her palaces: he hath deſtroyed his ſtrong holds, and hath increaſed in the daughter of Judah mourning and lamentation.

6 And he hath violently taken away his tabernacle, as if it were of a garden: he hath deſtroyed his places of the aſſembly: the LORD hath cauſed the ſolemn feaſts and ſabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath deſpiſed in the indignation of his anger the king and the prieſt.

7 The Lord hath caſt off his altar, he hath abhorred his ſanctuary, he hath given up into 15 The Lord hath trodden under foot, &c.] He hath trodden them under foot, as they that tread grapes in the wine-preſs.

20 I have grievouſly rebelled.] Septuagint and Vulgate read, I am in grievous bitterneſs.

21 Thou wilt bring the day that thou haſt called, &c.] The day when thou wilt execute thy judgments upon the Babylonians will certainly come at the time thou haſt appointed for that purpoſe. Lowth.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 The beauty of Iſrael.] The temple and all its glory.

Remembered not his footſtool in the day of his anger!] And even ſpared not the ark itſelf, the footſtool of the Shekinah, which ſat between the cherubims as on a throne.

3 The horn of Iſrael.] The glory and ſtrength of Iſrael.

4 Slew all that were pleaſant to the eye.] Thoſe who were in the flower of their age, the joy and delight of their parents.

6 He hath violently taken away his tabernacle, as if it were of a garden, &c.] He hath deſtroyed the temple, as if it had been no better than a cottage erected in a garden, while the fruit is gathering, and then to be removed. Septuagint reads, He hath torn up his tabernacle, as a vine.

7 They have made a noiſe in the houſe of the Lord, as in a day of a ſolemn feaſt.] Inſtead of the joyful ſound of praiſes and thankſgivings to God, ſuch as uſed to be ſolemnly performed in the temple at the public feſtivals, nothing was heard there but the the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces; they have made a noiſe in the houſe of the LORD as in the day of a ſolemn feaſt.

8 The LORD hath purpoſed to deſtroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: he hath ſtretched out a line, he hath not withdrawn his hand from deſtroying: therefore he made the rampart and the wall to lament; they languiſhed together.

9 Her gates are ſunk into the ground: he hath deſtroyed and broken her bars: her king and her princes are among the Gentiles: the law is no more; her prophets alſo find no viſion from the LORD.

10 The elders of the daughter of Zion ſit upon the ground, and keep ſilence: they have caſt up duſt upon their heads; they have girded themſelves with ſackcloth: the virgins of Jeruſalem hang down their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes do fail with tears, my bowels are troubled, my liver is poured upon the earth, for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people; becauſe the children and the ſucklings ſwoon in the ſtreets of the city.

12 They ſay to their mothers, Where is corn and wine? when they ſwooned as the wounded in the ſtreets of the city, when their ſoul was poured out into their mothers boſom.

13 What thing ſhall I take to witneſs for thee? what thing ſhall I liken to thee, O daughter of Jeruſalem? what ſhall I equal to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter of Zion? for thy breach is great like the ſea: who can heal thee?

14 Thy prophets have ſeen vain and fooliſh things for thee: and they have not diſcovered thine iniquity, to turn away thy captivity; but have ſeen for thee falſe burdens, and cauſes of baniſhment.

15 All that paſs by clap their hands at thee; they hiſs and wag their head at the daughter of Jeruſalem, ſaying, Is this the city that men call the Perfection of beauty, the Joy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies have opened their mouth againſt thee: they hiſs and gnaſh the teeth: they ſay, We have ſwallowed her up: certainly this is the day that we looked for; we have found, we have ſeen it.

17 The LORD hath done that which he had deviſed; he hath fulfilled his word that he had commanded in the days of old: he hath thrown down, and hath not pitied: and he hath cauſed thine enemy to rejoice over thee, he hath ſet up the horn of thine adverſaries.

18 Their heart cried unto the Lord, O wall of the daughter of Zion, let tears run down like a river day and night: give thy ſelf no reſt; let not the apple of thine eye ceaſe.

19 Ariſe, cry out in the night: in the beginning of the watches pour out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift up thy hands towards him for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger in the top of every ſtreet.

20 ¶ Behold, O LORD, and conſider to whom the noiſe of ſoldiers, and the rude vociferations of infidels profaning that ſacred place, and inſulting over God who was worſhipped there. Lowth.

8 He hath ſtretched out a line.] The inſtruments deſigned for building are in ſome places applied to deſtroying. See note on 2 Kings, xxi. 13.

11 My liver is poured upon the earth.] My vitals ſeem to be diſſolved. Septuagint reads, My glory is thrown down upon the ground.

13 What thing ſhall I take to witneſs for thee? &c.] What inſtance can I bring of any calamity like thine, that ſuch an example may be ſome mitigation of thy miſery? Lowth.

14 Falſe burdens.] The word tranſlated falſe burdens, ſignifies likewiſe prophecy in general; for Jeremiah here complains of thoſe impoſtors who propheſied peace, and ſoothed men in their ſins, to their final deſtruction. Lowth.

15 Is this the city that men call the Perfection of beauty? &c.] Jeruſalem was highly valued by the Jews for the magnificence of their temple, and the preſence of the true God there: thither the whole nation reſorted to celebrate their ſolemn feſtivals, which were obſerved with all the magnificence of a religious joy. Their being deprived of theſe ornaments gave occaſion to their enemies to inſult over them.

17 He hath fulfilled his word that he had commanded, &c.] He hath fulfilled thoſe threatenings he denounced againſt our diſobedience to the law of Moſes.

18 Their heart cried unto the Lord, O wall of the daughter of Zion, &c.] As the wall and rampart is ſaid before to mourn, becauſe their ruins are objects of lamentation, ſo here devout perſons, upon the deſtruction of the city, direct their prayers to God, as if the ruins themſelves intreated him to have compaſſion on the miſeries of that place which he had choſen for his peculiar reſidence. Lowth.

19 Ariſe, cry out in the night: in the beginning of the watches.] Devout perſons ſhewed their earneſtneſs in prayer, by attending upon it late at night, and early in the morning. The Hebrews divided the night into four parts, which they called watches: the firſt of theſe began at ſun-ſet, and laſted till nine at night; the ſecond laſted till midnight, the third till three in the morning, and the fourth ended at ſun-riſing. Lamy.

20 Shall

thou haſt done this. Shall the women eat their fruit, and children of a ſpan long? ſhall the prieſt and the prophet be ſlain in the ſanctuary of the LORD?

21 The young and the old lye on the ground in the ſtreets: my virgins and my young men are fallen by the ſword: thou haſt ſlain them in the day of thine anger; thou haſt killed, and not pitied.

22 Thou haſt called as in a ſolemn day my terrors round about, ſo that in the day of the LORD's anger none eſcaped nor remained: thoſe that I have ſwaddled and brought up hath mine enemy conſumed.

CHAP. III.

The faithful bewail their calamities.

I Am the man that hath ſeen affliction by the rod of his wrath.

2 He hath led me and brought me into darkneſs, but not into light.

3 Surely againſt me is he turned; he turneth his hand againſt me all the day.

4 My fleſh and my ſkin hath he made old; he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath builded againſt me, and compaſſed me with gall and travel.

6 He hath ſet me in dark places, as they that be dead of old.

7 He hath hedged me about, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chain heavy.

8 Alſo when I cry, and ſhout, he ſhutteth out my prayer.

9 He hath incloſed my ways with hewn ſtone, he hath made my paths crooked.

10 He was unto me as a bear lying in wait, and as a lion in ſecret places.

11 He hath turned aſide my ways, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me deſolate.

12 He hath bent his bow, and ſet me as a mark for the arrow.

13 He hath cauſed the arrows of his quiver to enter into my reins.

14 I was a deriſion to all my people, and their ſong all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitterneſs, he hath made me drunken with wormwood.

16 He hath alſo broken my teeth with gravel ſtones, he hath covered me with aſhes.

17 And thou haſt removed my ſoul far off from peace: I forgat proſperity.

18 And I ſaid, My ſtrength and my hope is periſhed from the LORD;

19 Remembering mine affliction and my miſery, the wormwood and the gall.

20 My ſoul hath them ſtill in remembrance, and is humbled in me.

21 This I recall to my mind, therefore have I hope.

22 It is of the LORD's mercies that we are not conſumed, becauſe his compaſſions fail not.

23 They are new every morning: great is thy faithfulneſs.

24 The LORD is my portion, ſaith my ſoul; therefore will I hope in him.

25 The LORD is good unto them that wait for him, to the ſoul that ſeeketh him.

26 It is good that a man ſhould both hope and quietly wait for the ſalvation of the LORD.

20 Shall the women eat their fruit, and children of a ſpan long? &c.] God thought proper to bring upon them that terrible judgment which he had denounced againſt them, if they continued to provoke him, viz. that they ſhould eat the fleſh of their ſons and daughters.

21 The young and the old lie, &c.] Either they lie ſlain, without regard to age or condition; or, proſtrate, in a deſponding ſituation.

22 Thou haſt called as in a ſolemn day my terrors round about, &c.] Terrors come upon me from every ſide by thy appointment; juſt as multitudes uſed to flock to Jeruſalem at the times of the ſolemn feaſts. Lowth.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 I am the man that have ſeen affliction, &c.] The prophet here ſpeaks particularly of the ill-treatment he met with in the diſcharge of his office, when he declared the deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

2 He hath led me into darkneſs, &c.] Light is often uſed in ſcripture for happineſs, and darkneſs for miſery.

4 He hath broken my bones.] The anguiſh I feel in my mind is as painful, as if my bones were broken.

6 As they that be dead of old.] As if I had been long ſince dead.

9 He hath incloſed my ways with hewn ſtone.] He hath kept me in hold, as a priſoner.

10 He was unto me as a bear, &c.] He had no pity on me.

13 The arrows of his quiver.] Called in Hebrew, by an elegant metaphor, the ſons of his quiver.

15 He hath made me drunken with wormwood.] He hath confounded me with ſevere and rigorous treatment.

16 He hath alſo broken my teeth with gravel-ſtones, &c.] He aggravates the calamities of his people by ſuch expreſſions as imply, that miſery and affliction are poured without meaſure on the ſons of Jacob. Lowth.

23 They are new every morning.] The Geneva tranſlation is, They are renewed every morning.

27 It is good for a man that he bear the yoke in his youth.

28 He ſitteth alone and keepeth ſilence, becauſe he hath born it upon him.

29 He putteth his mouth in the duſt; if ſo be there may be hope.

30 He giveth his cheek to him that ſmiteth him; he is filled full with reproach.

31 For the Lord will not caſt off for ever.

32 But though he cauſe grief, yet will he have compaſſion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doth not afflict willingly, nor grieve the children of men.

34 To cruſh under his feet all the priſoners of the earth,

35 To turn aſide the right of a man before the face of the moſt High,

36 To ſubvert a man in his cauſe, the Lord approveth not.

37 Who is he that ſaith, and it cometh to paſs, when the Lord commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the moſt High proceedeth not evil and good?

39 Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the puniſhment of his ſins?

40 Let us ſearch and try our ways, and turn again to the LORD.

41 Let us lift up our heart with our hands unto God in the heavens.

42 We have tranſgreſſed and have rebelled: thou haſt not pardoned.

43 Thou haſt covered with anger, and perſecuted us: thou haſt ſlain, thou haſt not pitied.

44 Thou haſt covered thy ſelf with a cloud, that our prayer ſhould not paſs through.

45 Thou haſt made us as the off-ſcouring and refuſe in the midſt of the people.

46 All our enemies have opened their mouths againſt us.

47 Fear and a ſnare is come upon us, deſolation and deſtruction.

48 Mine eye runneth down with rivers of water for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye trickleth down, and ceaſeth not, without any intermiſſion;

50 Till the LORD look down, and behold from heaven.

51 Mine eye affecteth mine heart, becauſe of all the daughters of my city.

52 Mine enemies chaſed me ſore like a bird, without cauſe.

53 They have cut off my life in the dungeon, and caſt a ſtone upon me.

54 Waters flowed over mine head: then I ſaid, I am cut off.

55 I called upon thy name, O LORD, out of the low dungeon.

56 Thou haſt heard my voice: hide not thine ear at my breathing, at my cry.

57 Thou dreweſt near in that day that I called upon thee: thou ſaidſt, Fear not.

58 O LORD, thou haſt pleaded the cauſes of my ſoul: thou haſt redeemed my life.

59 O LORD, thou haſt ſeen my wrong: judge thou my cauſe.

60 Thou haſt ſeen all their vengeance, and all their imaginations againſt me;

61 Thou haſt heard their reproach, O LORD, and all their imaginations againſt me;

---

27 It is good for a man that he bear the yoke in his youth.] It is good to be inured by times to bear thoſe uſeful reſtraints which ariſe from the ſenſe of the duty we owe to God, and the obedience we ought to pay to his laws. Lowth.

29 He putteth his mouth in the duſt, if ſo be there may be hope.] He proſtrates himſelf even to the ground before the Almighty in token of the deepeſt humiliation of his ſoul, if by that means he may recover the divine favour. Lowth.

30 He giveth his cheek to him that ſmiteth him, &c.] He not only humbles himſelf in the ſight of his Maker, but alſo bears with patience the ill-treatment of men.

37 Who is he that ſaith, and it cometh to paſs, when the Lord commandeth it not?] Here he ſhows that nothing is done without God's providence.

38 Out of the mouth of the moſt High proceedeth not evil and good?] Do not calamities, as well as proſperity, come by the will and diſpoſal of the Almighty? Lowth.

39 Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the puniſhment of his ſins?] If we conſider God's afflictions as a juſt reward for our evil doings, we ſhall never murmur or repine at Providence; and we ought to be thankful, however bitter our afflictions may be, for having an opportunity given us of repenting.

51 Mine eye affecteth mine heart.] Grief wears out my health and ſtrength.

52 Mine enemies chaſed me ſore like a bird, without cauſe.] The prophet, in this and the following verſes, deſcribes his own ſufferings, when his enemies ſeized him, and caſt him into the dungeon, Jer. xxxvii. 16. He compares them to a fowler who is in purſuit of a bird; as they, like him, took every opportunity of depriving him of his life or liberty, and even without any provocation on his part. Lowth.

62 The lips of thoſe that roſe up againſt me, and their device againſt me all the day.

63 Behold their ſitting down, and their riſing up; I am their muſick.

64 Render unto them a recompenſe, O LORD, according to the work of their hands.

65 Give them ſorrow of heart, thy curſe unto them.

66 Perſecute and deſtroy them in anger from under the heavens of the LORD.

CHAP. IV.

1 Zion's pitiful eſtate bewailed. 13 She confeſſeth her ſins. 21 Edom threatened.

HOW is the gold become dim! how is the moſt fine gold changed! the ſtones of the ſanctuary are poured out in the top of every ſtreet.

2 The precious ſons of Zion, comparable to fine gold, how are they eſteemed as earthen pitchers, the work of the hands of the potter!

3 Even the ſea-monſters draw out the breaſt, they give ſuck to their young ones: the daughter of my people is become cruel, like the oſtriches in the wilderneſs.

4 The tongue of the ſucking child cleaveth to the roof of his mouth for thirſt: the young children aſk bread, and no man breaketh it unto them.

5 They that feed delicately are deſolate in the ſtreets: they that were brought up in ſcarlet embrace dunghills.

6 For the puniſhment of the iniquity of the daughter of my people is greater than the puniſhment of the ſin of Sodom, that was overthrown as in a moment, and no hands ſtayed on her.

7 Her Nazarites were purer than ſnow, they were whiter than milk, they were more ruddy in body than rubies, their poliſhing was of ſapphire:

8 Their viſage is blacker than a coal; they are not known in the ſtreets: their ſkin cleaveth to their bones; it is withered, it is become like a ſtick.

9 They that be ſlain with the ſword are better than they that be ſlain with hunger; for theſe pine away, ſtricken through for want of the fruits of the field.

10 The hands of the pitiful women have ſodden their own children: they were their meat in the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The LORD hath accompliſhed his fury: he hath poured out his fierce anger, and hath kindled a fire in Zion, and it hath devoured the foundations thereof.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not have believed that the adverſary and the enemy ſhould have entered into the gates of Jeruſalem.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 How is the gold become dim! &c.] How is the glory of the temple obſcured! The ſanctuary, which was overlaid with gold, now lies in ruins: and the ſtones of it blended with the rubbiſh in one common heap of confuſion.

2 The precious ſons of Zion, comparable to fine gold, how are they eſteemed as earthen pitchers! &c.] Thoſe that in honour and worth exceeded the common people, as much as gold doth earthen-ware, now lie undiſtinguiſhed in death.

They were more ruddy in body than rubies, &c.] Or, as the words may be rendered, their ſkin was clearer than rubies or pearls.

Their poliſhing was of ſapphire.] A fair body ſet off with blue veins.

12 The inhabitants of the world would not have believed, &c.] Jeruſalem was ſo ſtrongly fortified both by art and nature, and had been ſo often miraculouſly preſerved by God from the attempts of its enemies, that there was not the leaſt reaſon to believe it would fall into their hands. Lowth.

15 They ſaid among the heathen, They ſhall no more ſojourn there.] When the prieſts were driven from their own land, into the heathen nations, every one conſidered their baniſhment as a juſt judgment upon their wickedneſs, and accounted them unworthy of attending any longer upon the worſhip of the Almighty in his temple. Lowth.

17 As for us, our eyes as yet failed for our vain help: in our watching we have watched for a nation that could not ſave us.

18 They hunt our ſteps, that we cannot go in our ſtreets: our end is near, our days are fulfilled; for our end is come.

19 Our perſecutors are ſwifter than the eagles of the heaven: they purſued us upon the mountains, they laid wait for us in the wilderneſs.

CHAP. V.

A pitiful complaint of Zion, in prayer to God.

REmember, O LORD, what is come upon us: conſider, and behold our reproach.

2 Our inheritance is turned to ſtrangers, our houſes to aliens.

3 We are orphans and fatherleſs, our mothers are as widows.

4 We have drunken our water for money; our wood is ſold unto us.

5 Our necks are under perſecution: we labour, and have no reſt.

6 We have given the hand to the Egyptians, and to the Aſſyrians, to be ſatisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers have ſinned, and are not, and we have born their iniquities.

8 Servants have ruled over us: there is none that doth deliver us out of their hand.

9 We gat our bread with the peril of our lives, becauſe of the ſword of the wilderneſs.

10 Our ſkin was black like an oven, becauſe of the terrible famine.

11 They raviſhed the women in Zion, and the maids in the cities of Judah.

12 Princes are hanged up by their hand: the faces of elders were not honoured.

13 They took the young men to grind, and the children fell under the wood.

14 The elders have ceaſed from the gate, the young men from their muſick.

15 The joy of our heart is ceaſed: our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crown is fallen from our head: wo unto us that we have ſinned!

17 For this our heart is faint; for theſe things our eyes are dim.

18 Becauſe of the mountain of Zion, which is deſolate, the foxes walk upon it.

19 Thou, O LORD, remaineſt for ever; thy throne from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore doſt thou forget us for ever, and forſake us ſo long time?

21 Turn thou us unto thee, O LORD, and we ſhall be turned: renew our days as of old.

22 But thou haſt utterly rejected us; thou art very wroth againſt us.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Remember, O Lord, &c.] This chapter in the vulgar Latin is entitled, The Prayer of Jeremiah, and contains a pathetical complaint to God of the miſerable condition of the Jews, both with reſpect to their ſpiritual and temporal ſtate.

6 We have given the hand, &c.] We have ſubmitted to the Egyptians.

7 We have born their iniquities.] i. e. The effect or puniſhment of them.

12 By their hand.] By the hand of their enemies.

13 The children fell under the wood.] Under the heavy burdens of wood.

THE BOOK OF THE PROPHET

EZEKIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

Ezekiel was a prophet of the houſe of Aaron: He was carried away captive to Babylon with Jeconiah, and began to prophecy in the fifth year of that captivity: He was cotemporary with Jeremiah, who propheſied at the ſame time in Judea. The exiles at Babylon, repining at their ill fortune, and thinking their countrymen who remained in Judea much happier than themſelves; the prophet ſets before their eyes that terrible ſcene of calamities which God would bring upon Judea and Jeruſalem, which ſhould end in the entire deſtruction both of the city and temple. He recounts, in very ſtrong and lively colours, the heinous provocations of the Jews, which brought down theſe heavy judgments upon them. He alſo diſtinctly predicts the plagues which were to fall upon the enemies of the Jews; and foretels the coming of the Meſſiah, and the flouriſhing ſtate of his kingdom.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of Ezekiel's prophecy. 4 His viſion of four cherubims, 15 of four wheels, 26 and of the glory of GOD.

NOW it came to paſs in the thirtieth year, in the fourth month, in the fifth day of the month, as I was among the captives by the river of Chebar, that the heavens were opened, and I ſaw viſions of God.

2 In the fifth day of the month, which was the fifth year of king Jehoiachin's captivity,

3 The word of the LORD came expreſly unto Ezekiel the prieſt, the ſon of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans, by the river Chebar; and the hand of the LORD was there upon him.

4 ¶ And I looked, and behold, a whirlwind came out of the north, a great cloud, and a fire infolding it ſelf, and a brightneſs was about it, and out of the midſt thereof as the colour of amber, out of the midſt of the fire.

5 Alſo out of the midſt thereof came the likeneſs of four living creatures. And this was their appearance; they had the likeneſs of a man.

6 And every one had four faces, and every one had four wings.

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 I was among the captives by the river of Chebar, &c.] Theſe captives were placed in towns and villages that lay upon the river Chebar in Meſopotamia.

4 Behold, a whirlwind came out of the north.] God's anger and judgments are often compared to a whirlwind; and this whirlwind is here repreſented as coming out of the north, becauſe Babylon lay to the northward of Jeruſalem. Lowth.

A great cloud, and a fire infolding itſelf, and a brightneſs was about it, &c.] The divine preſence is uſually repreſented in ſcripture as a bright light, or flaming fire breaking out of a thick cloud.

5 Out of the midſt thereof came the likeneſs of four living creatures, &c.] Theſe living creatures were four cherubims that ſupported the throne of God in the following viſion.

6 Every one of them had four faces, &c.] Theſe were the faces of a man, a lion, an ox, and an eagle; which were the figures on the ſtandards of the four principal tribes. The lion is the moſt noble among wild beaſts; the ox among beaſts of labour; the eagle among birds; and man is God's maſter-piece. And if it be true, as is pretended, that the cherubims which God ordered to be put over the ark, had the figures of theſe four ſtandards about them, then was the ark truly and literally a military chariot, in which God, as general of his armies, fought againſt his enemies: and this is the explanation of this ſo difficult, but magnificent viſion. For God being inviſible, under what form more worthy of him could he ſhow himſelf, than under that of a warrior, who has an equal ſhare of ſtrength, prudence, addreſs, and underſtanding, whom none can reſiſt, from whom nothing is hid, who is every where preſent, and marches with extreme expedition wherever he pleaſes? Thus did theſe cherubims repreſent the four beaſts, and therefore the virtues before-mentioned; and the whole viſion was a ſtrong and lively repreſen-

7 And their feet were ſtraight feet; and the ſole of their feet was like the ſole of a calf's foot: and they ſparkled like the colour of burniſhed braſs.

8 And they had the hands of a man under their wings on their four ſides; and they four had their faces and their wings.

9 Their wings were joined one to another: they turned not when they went; they went every one ſtraight forward.

10 As for the likeneſs of their faces, they four had the face of a man, and the face of a lion, on the right ſide: and they four had the face of an ox on the left ſide; they four alſo had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces; and their wings were ſtretched upward; two wings of every one were joined one to another, and two covered their bodies.

12 And they went every one ſtraight forward: whither the ſpirit was to go, they went; and they turned not when they went.

13 As for the likeneſs of the living creatures, their appearance was like burning coals of fire, and like the appearance of lamps: it went up and down among the living creatures; and the fire was bright, and out of the fire went forth lightning.

14 And the living creatures ran, and returned, as the appearance of a flaſh of lightning.

15 ¶ Now, as I beheld the living creatures, behold, one wheel upon the earth by the living creatures, with his four faces.

16 The appearance of the wheels and their work was like unto the colour of a beryl: and they four had one likeneſs: and their appearance and their work was as it were a wheel in the middle of a wheel.

17 When they went, they went upon their four ſides: and they returned not when they went.

18 As for their rings, they were ſo high that they were dreadful: and their rings were full of eyes, round about them four.

19 And when the living creatures went, the wheels went by them: and when the living creatures were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up.

20 Whitherſoever the ſpirit was to go, they went, thither was their ſpirit to go; and the wheels were lifted up over-againſt them: for the ſpirit of the living creature was in the wheels.

21 When thoſe went, theſe went; and when thoſe ſtood, theſe ſtood; and when thoſe were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up over-againſt them; for the ſpirit of the living creature was in the wheels.

22 And the likeneſs of the firmament upon the heads of the living creature was as the colour of the terrible cryſtal ſtretched forth over their heads above.

23 And under the firmament were their wings ſtraight, the one toward the other:

---

repreſentation of the majeſty and power of God, under the appearance of a warrior in a triumphal chariot. Lamy, p. 84, and 86.

7 Their feet were ſtraight, &c.] Septuagint reads, Their legs were ſtraight, and their feet were winged, and ſparkled, &c. There is nothing of calves feet in the Septuagint.

11 Their wings were ſtretched upward.] In a poſture of flying, to ſhow their readineſs to execute God's commands.

13 Their appearance was like burning coals of fire, &c.] The angels are always deſcribed of a bright and flaming colour; but here, the coals of fire and the lightning breaking forth out of the fire, denote God's vengeance coming in flaming fire to deſtroy the city and temple of Jeruſalem.

16 As it were a wheel in the middle of a wheel.] Like two circles in a ſphere cutting each other at right angles, to ſignify the ſtability and uniformity of their motion, and the ſubſerviency of one part of Providence to another. Lowth.

17 They returned not when they went.] They never went backward, to ſignify that Providence doth nothing in vain, but always accompliſhes its end.

18 Their rings were ſo high, that they were dreadful.] Their circumference was ſo prodigious, as to cauſe a terror in the prophet who beheld them, to ſignify the vaſt compaſs of Providence, which reacheth from one end of the earth to the other. Lowth.

Their rings were full of eyes, round about them four.] Septuagint reads, Their backs were full of eyes; which ſeems to be confirmed by chap. x. 12. This ſignifies, that all the motions of Providence are directed by a conſummate wiſdom and foreſight.

19, &c. When the living creatures went, the wheels went by them, &c.] Both were animated by the ſame principle of underſtanding and motion, to ſignify with what readineſs all the inſtruments of Providence concur in carrying on its great deſigns.

21 The ſpirit of the living creature was in the wheels.] There is great conformity between this verſe and a paſſage in Homer's Iliad, b. 18. ſpeaking of Vulcan, he ſays,

> Full twenty tripods for his hall he fram'd,
> That plac'd on living wheels of maſſy gold,
> (Wond'rous to tell) inſtinct with ſpirit roll'd
> From place to place, around the bleſt abodes,
> Self-mov'd, obedient to the beck of Gods. Pope.

22 The colour of the terrible cryſtal, &c.] By terrible cryſtal is meant ſuch as dazzles the eyes with its luſtre.

every one had two which covered on this side, and every one had two which covered on that side, their bodies.

24 And when they went, I heard the noise of their wings like the noise of great waters, as the voice of the Almighty, the voice of speech as the noise of an host: when they stood, they let down their wings.

25 And there was a voice from the firmament that was over their heads, when they stood, and had let down their wings.

26 ¶ And above the firmament that was over their heads was the likeness of a throne, as the appearance of a sapphire-stone: and upon the likeness of the throne was the likeness as the appearance of a man above upon it.

27 And I saw as the colour of amber, as the appearance of fire, round about within it, from the appearance of his loins even upward: and from the appearance of his loins even downward, I saw as it were the appearance of fire, and it had brightness round about.

28 As the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud in the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness round about. This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD. And when I saw it, I fell upon my face, and I heard a voice of one that spake.

CHAP. II.

1 Ezekiel's commission. 6 His instruction. 9 The roll of his heavy prophecy.

AND he said unto me, Son of man, stand upon thy feet, and I will speak unto thee.

2 And the spirit entered into me when he spake unto me, and set me upon my feet, that I heard him that spake unto me.

3 And he said unto me, Son of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: they and their fathers have transgressed against me even unto this very day.

4 For they are impudent children and stiff-hearted. I do send thee unto them; and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD.

5 And they, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear, for they are a rebellious house, yet shall know that there hath been a prophet among them.

6 ¶ And thou, son of man, be not afraid of them, neither be afraid of their words, though briers and thorns be with thee, and thou dost dwell among scorpions; be not afraid of their words, nor be dismayed at their looks, though they be a rebellious house.

7 And thou shalt speak my words unto them, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear: for they are most rebellious.

8 But thou, son of man, hear what I say unto thee: Be not thou rebellious like that rebellious house. Open thy mouth, and eat that I give thee.

9 ¶ And when I looked, behold, an hand was sent unto me; and lo, a roll of a book was therein;

10 And he spread it before me: and it was written within and without: and there was written therein lamentations, and mourning, and wo.

26 The likeness as the appearance of a man above upon it.] When Moses and the elders saw the God of Israel, they beheld no determinate figure, but an inconceivable resplendent brightness, that they might not think God could be represented by any image. But, in this vision, the form of a man is directly represented to Ezekiel as a figure of the incarnation. Lowth.

28 As the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud, &c.] The light reflected from this vision had the appearance of a rainbow, a token of God's benevolent covenant with the sons of men, to denote that the Almighty, in the midst of justice, would remember mercy, and not utterly destroy his people, especially as this vision was an evident representation of the word that was to be made flesh, whose incarnation is the basis of God's covenant of mercy with mankind. Lowth.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 Son of man, &c.] This expression is commonly understood to signify the same with a common and ordinary man, as it is usually expounded in the following text of the psalmist, What is man that thou art mindful of him, or the son of man that thou visitest him? Psalm viii. 4. So here most commentators understand it as applied to the prophet, to remind him of his frailty and mortality, and of the infinite distance between God and man.

6 Be not afraid of them, &c.] The messengers of God are often exhorted to take courage, and promised a proportional assistance in the discharge of their office, without fearing any man's person, or standing in awe of any man's greatness. Lowth.

Briars and thorns.] By these expressions the prophets often denote the wicked.

8 Open thy mouth, and eat that I give thee.] The knowledge of divine truths is often expressed by the metaphors of bodily food and nourishment: and therefore to eat the words of this prophecy, signifies to commit them to memory, to meditate upon them, and digest them. Lowth.

10 There was written therein lamentations, and mourning, and woe.] All the prophecies contained in this roll consisted of God's judgments, without any mixture of mercy, at least with regard to the Jews of the present age.

Notes

CHAP. III.

1 Ezekiel eateth the roll. 15 God ſheweth him the rule of prophecy, 22 and ſhutteth and openeth the prophet's mouth.

MOreover, he ſaid unto me, Son of man, eat that thou findeſt; eat this roll, and go ſpeak unto the houſe of Iſrael.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he cauſed me to eat that roll.

3 And he ſaid unto me, Son of man, cauſe thy belly to eat, and fill thy bowels with this roll that I give thee. Then did I eat it; and it was in my mouth as honey for ſweetneſs.

4 And he ſaid unto me, Son of man, go, get thee unto the houſe of Iſrael, and ſpeak with my words unto them.

5 For thou art not ſent to a people of a ſtrange ſpeech and of an hard language, but to the houſe of Iſrael;

6 Not to many people of a ſtrange ſpeech and of an hard language, whoſe words thou canſt not underſtand. Surely, had I ſent thee to them, they would have hearkened unto thee.

7 But the houſe of Iſrael will not hearken unto thee; for they will not hearken unto me: for all the houſe of Iſrael are impudent and hard-hearted.

8 Behold, I have made thy face ſtrong againſt their faces, and thy forehead ſtrong againſt their foreheads.

9 As an adamant, harder than flint, have I made thy forehead: fear them not, neither be diſmayed at their looks, though they be a rebellious houſe.

10 Moreover, he ſaid unto me, Son of man, all my words that I ſhall ſpeak unto thee, receive in thine heart, and hear with thine ears.

11 And go, get thee to them of the captivity, unto the children of thy people, and ſpeak unto them, and tell them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear.

12 Then the ſpirit took me up, and I heard behind me a voice of a great ruſhing, ſaying, Bleſſed be the glory of the LORD from his place.

13 I heard alſo the noiſe of the wings of the living creatures that touched one another, and the noiſe of the wheels over-againſt them, and a noiſe of a great ruſhing.

14 So the ſpirit lifted me up, and took me away, and I went in bitterneſs, in the heat of my ſpirit; but the hand of the LORD was ſtrong upon me.

15 ¶ Then I came to them of the captivity at Tel-abib, that dwelt by the river of Chebar, and I ſat where they ſat, and remained there aſtoniſhed among them ſeven days.

16 And it came to paſs at the end of ſeven days, that the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying, 17 Son of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the houſe of Iſrael; therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me.

18 When I ſay unto the wicked, Thou ſhalt ſurely die; and thou giveſt him not warning, nor ſpeakeſt to warn the wicked from his wicked way to ſave his life; the ſame wicked man ſhall die in his iniquity: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedneſs, nor from his wicked way, he ſhall die in his iniquity; but thou haſt delivered thy ſoul.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Eat this roll.] By which is meant, that none is meet to be God's meſſenger, before he has received the word of God in his heart, as ver. 10.

3 Cauſe thy belly to eat.] The belly in ſcripture often ſignifies the mind; ſo here the expreſſions denote the laying up this prophecy in his memory.

It was in my mouth as honey for ſweetneſs, &c.] I took delight in having God's ſecret counſels communicated to me, and in delivering his commands to my brethren, being pleaſed with the hopes of proving an inſtrument of their converſion, at leaſt of the amendment of ſome. Lowth.

8 I have made thy face ſtrong, &c.] Here God promiſes his aſſiſtance to his miniſters, and that he will give them boldneſs and conſtancy in their vocation.

12 Bleſſed be the glory of the Lord from his place.] Whatever place God honours with his eſpecial preſence is equivalent to his temple; and there the angels always attend upon the Divine Majeſty, to give him the honour due unto his name. Lowth.

15 I ſat and remained aſtoniſhed ſeven days.] This is perhaps not to be underſtood literally; thus Job's friends are ſaid to have ſat in ſilence by him ſeven days and ſeven nights, bewailing his misfortunes.

17 I have made thee a watchman, &c.] Prophets like watchmen placed on a tower, ſee, by their prophetic ſpirit, the evils coming on the ungodly, and are bound to give the people timely notice, that they may avoid them by a ſincere repentance. Lowth.

20 Again, When a righteous man doth turn from his righteouſneſs, and commit iniquity, and I lay a ſtumbling-block before him, he ſhall die: becauſe thou haſt not given him warning, he ſhall die in his ſin, and his righteouſneſs which he hath done ſhall not be remembered: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Nevertheleſs, if thou warn the righteous man that the righteous ſin not, and he doth not ſin, he ſhall ſurely live, becauſe he is warned; alſo thou haſt delivered thy ſoul.

22 ¶ And the hand of the LORD was there upon me; and he ſaid unto me, Ariſe, go forth into the plain, and I will there talk with thee.

23 Then I aroſe, and went forth into the plain: and behold, the glory of the LORD ſtood there, as the glory which I ſaw by the river of Chebar: and I fell on my face.

24 Then the ſpirit entered into me, and ſet me upon my feet, and ſpake with me, and ſaid unto me, Go, ſhut thy ſelf within thine houſe.

25 But thou, O ſon of man, behold, they ſhall put bands upon thee, and ſhalt bind thee with them, and thou ſhalt not go out among them;

26 And I will make thy tongue cleave to the roof of thy mouth, that thou ſhalt be dumb, and ſhalt not be to them a reprover: for they are a rebellious houſe.

27 But when I ſpeak with thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; he that heareth, let him hear; and he that forbeareth, let him forbear: for they are a rebellious houſe.

CHAP. IV.

By the type of a ſiege is ſhewed the time from Jeroboam's defection to the captivity.

THOU alſo, ſon of man, take thee a tile, and lay it before thee, and pourtray upon it the city, even Jeruſalem:

2 And lay ſiege againſt it, and build a fort againſt it, and caſt a mount againſt it; ſet the camp alſo againſt it, and ſet battering rams againſt it round about.

3 Moreover, take thou unto thee an iron pan, and ſet it for a wall of iron between thee and the city: and ſet thy face againſt it, and it ſhall be beſieged, and thou ſhalt lay ſiege againſt it. This ſhall be a ſign to the houſe of Iſrael.

4 Lie thou alſo upon thy left ſide, and lay the iniquity of the houſe of Iſrael upon it: according to the number of the days that thou ſhalt lie upon it thou ſhalt bear their iniquity.

5 For I have laid upon thee the years of their iniquity, according to the number of the days, three hundred and ninety days: ſo ſhalt thou bear the iniquity of the houſe of Iſrael.

6 And when thou haſt accompliſhed them, lie again on thy right ſide, and thou ſhalt bear the iniquity of the houſe of Judah, forty days: I have appointed thee each day for a year.

7 Therefore thou ſhalt ſet thy face toward the ſiege of Jeruſalem, and thine arm ſhall be uncovered, and thou ſhalt propheſy againſt it.

8 And behold, I will lay bands upon thee, and thou ſhalt not turn thee from one ſide to another, till thou haſt ended the days of thy ſiege.

9 Take thou alſo unto thee wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentiles, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one veſſel, and make thee bread thereof, according to the number of

---

27 He that heareth, let him hear; and he that, &c.] This is the ſum of what thou ſhalt ſay unto them; To let them know this is the laſt warning God will give them: let them therefore either give heed to what is ſaid to them, or neglect it at their utmoſt peril. Lowth.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Take thee a tile, and lay it before thee, &c.] The prophets often foreſhew impending judgments by ſignificative emblems, as being of greater force and efficacy than words. Accordingly God here commands Ezekiel to take a tile, or ſlate, and on it delineate Jeruſalem ſurrounded by armies. See note on Jer. xiii. 4.

2 Caſt a mount againſt it.] Rather, play an engine againſt it.

5 Three hundred and ninety.] i. e. Years; and beginning probably from Jeroboam's firſt ſetting up the idolatrous worſhip of the golden calves, to the laſt captivity of the Jews in the 23d year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign.

6 Forty days.] From the time of Joſiah, they had ſlept in their ſins forty years.

7 Thine arm ſhall be uncovered, &c.] The habits of the ancients were ſo contrived, that the right hand was diſengaged from the upper garments, that they might be the more ready for action. See note on Pſalm lxxiv. 11.

9 Take thou alſo unto thee wheat and barley, &c.] It is common in a time of ſcarcity to mix a great deal of the coarſer grain with a little of the better ſort, to make their proviſions laſt the longer. Accordingly Ezekiel was commanded to do this, to ſignify the ſcarcity the inhabitants ſhould ſuffer during the ſiege. Lowth.

the days that thou ſhalt lie upon thy ſide; three hundred and ninety days ſhalt thou eat thereof.

10 And thy meat which thou ſhalt eat ſhall be by weight, twenty ſhekels a day: from time to time ſhalt thou eat it.

11 Thou ſhalt drink alſo water by meaſure, the ſixth part of an hin: from time to time ſhalt thou drink.

12 And thou ſhalt eat it as barley-cakes, and thou ſhalt bake it with dung that cometh out of man, in their ſight.

13 And the LORD ſaid, Even thus ſhall the children of Iſrael eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles whither I will drive them.

14 Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord GOD, behold, my ſoul hath not been polluted: for from my youth up even till now have I not eaten of that which dieth of itſelf, or is torn in pieces; neither came there abominable fleſh into my mouth.

15 Then he ſaid unto me, Lo, I have given the cow's dung for man's dung, and thou ſhalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover, he ſaid unto me, Son of man, behold, I will break the ſtaff of bread in Jeruſalem: and they ſhall eat bread by weight, and with care; and they ſhall drink water by meaſure, and with aſtoniſhment:

17 That they may want bread and water, and be aſtoniſhed one with another, and conſume away for their iniquity.

CHAP. V.

1 Under the type of hair, 5 is ſhewed the judgement of Jeruſalem for their rebellion, 12 by famine, ſword, and diſperſion.

AND thou, ſon of man, take thee a ſharp knife, take thee a barber's raſor, and cauſe it to paſs upon thine head and upon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and divide the hair.

2 Thou ſhalt burn with fire a third part in the midſt of the city, when the days of the ſiege are fulfilled: and thou ſhalt take a third part, and ſmite about it with a knife: and a third part thou ſhalt ſcatter in the wind; and I will draw out a ſword after them.

3 Thou ſhalt alſo take thereof a few in number, and bind them in thy ſkirts.

4 Then take of them again, and caſt them into the midſt of the fire, and burn them in the fire: for thereof ſhall a fire come forth into all the houſe of Iſrael.

5 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; This is Jeruſalem: I have ſet it in the midſt of the nations and countries that are round about her.

6 And ſhe hath changed my judgements into wickedneſs more than the nations, and my ſtatutes more than the countries that are round about her: for they have refuſed my judgements and my ſtatutes, they have not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Becauſe ye multiplied more than the nations that are round about you, and have not walked in my ſtatutes, neither have kept my judgements, neither have done according to the judgements of the nations that are round about you;

8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I, even I, am againſt thee, and will execute judgements in the midſt of thee, in the ſight of the nations.

9 And I will do in thee that which I have not done, and whereunto I will not do any more the like; becauſe of all thine abominations.

10 Therefore the fathers ſhall eat the ſons

10 Twenty ſhekels a day.] About ten ounces.

11 Sixth part of an hin.] Something above a pint and a half.

13 Thus ſhall the children of Iſrael eat their defiled bread.] The circumſtances of their captivity ſhall not permit them to obſerve the rules relating to unclean meats.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 2 In the midſt of the city.] Of that delineation of the city which he was commanded to make.

Smite about it with a knife.] To ſhow that a third part of the inhabitants ſhould be ſlain, which was remarkably fulfilled.

Scatter in the wind.] The reſt ſhall be diſperſed to all the four winds.

3 Bind them in thy ſkirts.] This denotes thoſe few that ſhould be left in the land under Gedaliah.

5 I have ſet it in the midſt of the nations, &c.] This Jeruſalem thou now propheſieſt againſt was placed in the midſt of heathen nations; it was bleſſed with viſible tokens of my preſence; was erected on my holy mountain, on purpoſe that it might be a pattern of religion and virtue. Lowth.

7 Neither have done according to the judgements of the nations, &c.] You have not been ſo conſtant and zealous for the true religion, as they are for a falſe one.

9 I will do in thee that which I have not done.] As your ſins have particular aggravations above thoſe of other nations, ſo your puniſhment ſhall be proportionably greater.

10 The whole remnant of thee will I ſcatter into all the winds.] This judgment was alſo threatened by Moſes, and remarkably fulfilled in the midſt of thee, and the ſons ſhall eat their fathers; and I will execute judgements in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I ſcatter into all the winds.

11 Wherefore, as I live, ſaith the Lord GOD; Surely, becauſe thou haſt defiled my ſanctuary with all thy deteſtable things and with all thine abominations, therefore will I alſo diminiſh thee; neither ſhall mine eye ſpare, neither will I have any pity.

12 ¶ A third part of thee ſhall die with the peſtilence, and with famine ſhall they be conſumed in the midſt of thee: and a third part ſhall fall by the ſword round about thee; and I will ſcatter a third part into all the winds, and I will draw out a ſword after them.

13 Thus ſhall mine anger be accompliſhed, and I will cauſe my fury to reſt upon them, and I will be comforted: and they ſhall know that I the LORD have ſpoken it in my zeal, when I have accompliſhed my fury in them.

14 Moreover, I will make thee waſte, and a reproach among the nations that are round about thee, in the ſight of all that paſs by.

15 So it ſhall be a reproach and a taunt, an inſtruction and an aſtoniſhment unto the nations that are round about thee, when I ſhall execute judgements in thee in anger and in fury and in furious rebukes. I the LORD have ſpoken it.

16 When I ſhall ſend upon them the evil arrows of famine, which ſhall be for their deſtruction, and which I will ſend to deſtroy you: and I will increaſe the famine upon you, and will break your ſtaff of bread:

17 So will I ſend upon you famine, and evil beaſts; and they ſhall bereave thee; and peſtilence and blood ſhall paſs through thee; and I will bring the ſword upon thee. I the LORD have ſpoken it.

CHAP. VI.

1 The judgements of Iſrael for their idolatry. 8 A remnant ſhall be ſpared. 11 The faithful are exhorted to lament their calamities.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, ſet thy face towards the mountains of Iſrael, and propheſy againſt them,

3 And ſay, Ye mountains of Iſrael, hear the word of the Lord GOD; Thus ſaith the Lord GOD to the mountains, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys; Behold, I, even I, will bring a ſword upon you, and I will deſtroy your high places.

4 And your altars ſhall be deſolate, and your images ſhall be broken: and I will caſt down your ſlain men before your idols.

5 And I will lay the dead carcaſes of the children of Iſrael before their idols; and I will ſcatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling-places the cities ſhall be laid waſte, and the high places ſhall be deſolate; that your altars may be laid waſte and made deſolate, and your idols may be broken and ceaſe, and your images may be cut down, and your works may be aboliſhed.

7 And the ſlain ſhall fall in the midſt of you, and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

fulfilled in their laſt diſperſion, when every known part of the world hath ſome of them, and yet they live every where like ſtrangers, having no place they can call their own. Lowth.

12 I will draw out a ſword after them.] i. e. Mine anger ſhall ſtill purſue thee even into countries whither thou art carried captive. This was particularly fulfilled in thoſe that went into Egypt, and remarkably verified in the many perſecutions and maſſacres they have undergone at different times in moſt parts of Europe, ſince their general diſperſion. Lowth.

13 I will cauſe my fury to reſt upon them.] Or, it may be better tranſlated, I will cauſe my fury toward them to reſt; i. e. my anger ſhall be appeaſed towards them.

I will be comforted, &c.] This and the following expreſſions are borrowed from the paſſions of men, who find ſome eaſe and reſt in their minds upon their venting them, and bringing offenders to condign puniſhment. Lowth.

17 So will I ſend upon you famine, and evil beaſts.] Wild beaſts multiply in a land when it is depopulated.

Peſtilence and blood ſhall paſs through thee.] Blood ſignifies any unuſual ſort of death, and denotes here ſuch a peſtilence as ſhall deſtroy multitudes: or it may be equivalent with the ſword, which is joined with peſtilence, ver. 12.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Set thy face towards the mountains of Iſrael.] Direct thy ſpeech to the inhabitants of the mountains in the land of Judea.

3 To the mountains, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, &c.] Every part of the country had been defiled with idolatry: the altars built for idol-worſhip were generally placed upon mountains and hills: the ſhady valleys and banks of the rivers were alſo uſed for the ſame purpoſe, particularly for that inhuman rite the ſacrificing children to Moloch. Lowth.

7 Ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.] This ſentence is often repeated by the prophet; importing, that the judgments God intended to bring upon the Jews would convince the moſt hardened ſinners, that it was the hand of God. Lowth.

8 ¶ Yet will I leave a remnant, that ye may have some that ſhall eſcape the ſword among the nations, when ye ſhall be ſcattered through the countries.

9 And they that eſcape of you ſhall remember me among the nations whither they ſhall be carried captives, becauſe I am broken with their whoriſh heart, which hath departed from me; and with their eyes, which go a whoring after their idols: and they ſhall lothe themſelves for the evils which they have committed in all their abominations.

10 And they ſhall know that I am the LORD, and that I have not ſaid in vain that I would do this evil unto them.

11 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; ſmite with thine hand, and ſtamp with thy foot, and ſay, Alas! for all the evil abominations of the houſe of Iſrael: for they ſhall fall by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

12 He that is far off ſhall die of the peſtilence; and he that is near ſhall fall by the ſword; and he that remaineth and is beſieged ſhall die by the famine: thus will I accompliſh my fury upon them.

13 Then ſhall ye know that I am the LORD, when their ſlain men ſhall be among their idols round about their altars, upon every high hill, in all the tops of the mountains, and under every green tree, and under every thick oak, the place where they did offer ſweet ſavour to all their idols.

14 So will I ſtretch out my hand upon them, and make the land deſolate, yea, more deſolate than the wilderneſs towards Diblath, in all their habitations: and they ſhall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. VII.

1 Iſrael's final deſolation. 16 The mournful repentance of them that eſcape. 23 Under the type of a chain is ſhewed their miſerable captivity.

MOreover, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Alſo, thou ſon of man, thus ſaith the Lord GOD unto the land of Iſrael; An end, the end is come upon the four corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come upon thee, and I will ſend mine anger upon thee, and will judge thee according to thy ways, and will recompenſe upon thee all thine abominations.

4 And mine eye ſhall not ſpare thee, neither will I have pity: but I will recompenſe thy ways upon thee, and thine abominations ſhall be in the midſt of thee: and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; An evil, an only evil, behold, is come.

6 An end is come, the end is come: it watcheth for thee; behold, it is come.

7 The morning is come upon thee, O thou that dwelleſt in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is near, and not the ſounding again of the mountains.

8 Now will I ſhortly pour out my fury upon thee, and accompliſh mine anger upon thee: and I will judge thee according to thy ways, and will recompenſe thee for all thine abominations.

9 And mine eye ſhall not ſpare, neither will I have pity: I will recompenſe thee according to thy ways, and thine abominations that are in the midſt of thee; and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD that ſmiteth.

10 Behold the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth: the rod hath bloſſomed, pride hath budded.

11 Violence is riſen up into a rod of wickedneſs: none of them ſhall remain, nor of their

9 I am broken with their whoriſh heart.] God is here introduced as ſpeaking after the manner of men, whoſe patience is tired out by repeated provocations.

11 Smite with thy hand and ſtamp, &c.] Join to thy words thoſe geſtures which are expreſſive of extreme grief and concern.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 5 An only evil, behold, is come.] Such an evil as ſhall comprehend in it all other calamities. Lowth.

7 The morning is come upon thee.] God's judgments ſhall overtake thee ſpeedily and unexpectedly. The expreſſion alludes to the time when the magiſtrates uſed to pronounce ſentence on offenders, which was in the morning. Lowth.

Not the ſounding again of the mountains.] Not ſuch a joyful ſound as uſed to echo from the mountains, by which the treaders of grapes expreſs their ſatisfaction at the time of vintage; but the ſound of war. Lowth.

10 The rod hath bloſſomed, pride hath budded.] Wickedneſs daily increaſes, till it becomes ripe for judgment.

11 Neither ſhall there be wailing for them.] In this deſtruction none multitude, nor of any of their's: neither ſhall there be wailing for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth near: let not the buyer rejoice, nor the ſeller mourn: for wrath is upon all the multitude thereof:

13 For the ſeller ſhall not return to that which is ſold, although they were yet alive: for the viſion is touching the whole multitude thereof, which ſhall not return: neither ſhall any ſtrengthen himſelf in the iniquity of his life.

14 They have blown the trumpet, even to make all ready: but none goeth to the battle: for my wrath is upon all the multitude thereof.

15 The ſword is without, and the peſtilence and the famine within: he that is in the field ſhall die with the ſword; and he that is in the city, famine and peſtilence ſhall devour him.

16 ¶ But they that eſcape of them ſhall eſcape, and ſhall be on the mountains like doves of the valleys, all of them mourning, every one for his iniquity.

17 All hands ſhall be feeble, and all knees ſhall be weak as water.

18 They ſhall alſo gird themſelves with ſackcloth, and horror ſhall cover them; and ſhame ſhall be upon all faces, and baldneſs upon all their heads.

19 They ſhall caſt their ſilver in the ſtreets, and their gold ſhall be removed: their ſilver and their gold ſhall not be able to deliver them in the day of the wrath of the LORD: they ſhall not ſatisfy their ſouls, neither fill their bowels: becauſe it is the ſtumbling-block of their iniquity.

20 As for the beauty of his ornament, he ſet it in majeſty: but they made the images of their abominations and of their deteſtable things therein; therefore have I ſet it far from them.

21 And I will give it into the hands of the ſtrangers for a prey, and to the wicked of the earth for a ſpoil; and they ſhall pollute it.

22 My face will I turn alſo from them, and they ſhall pollute my ſecret place: for the robbers ſhall enter into it, and defile it.

23 ¶ Make a chain; for the land is full of bloody crimes, and the city is full of violence.

24 Wherefore I will bring the worſt of the heathen, and they ſhall poſſeſs their houſes: I will alſo make the pomp of the ſtrong to ceaſe; and their holy places ſhall be defiled.

25 Deſtruction cometh; and they ſhall ſeek peace, and there ſhall be none.

26 Miſchief ſhall come upon miſchief, and rumour ſhall be upon rumour, then ſhall they ſeek a viſion of the prophet; but the law ſhall periſh from the prieſt, and counſel from the ancients.

27 The king ſhall mourn, and the prince ſhall be clothed with deſolation, and the hands of the people of the land ſhall be troubled: I will do unto them after their way, and according to their deſerts will I judge them; and they ſhall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Ezekiel's viſion of jealouſy. 7 The chambers of imagery.

AND it came to paſs in the ſixth year, in the ſixth month, in the fifth day of the month, as I ſat in mine houſe, and the elders none ſhall eſcape to bewail the calamities of their brethren; or they ſhall be ſo aſtoniſhed under their affliction, that they ſhall uſe no expreſſions of ſorrow. Lowth.

12 Let not the buyer rejoice, nor the ſeller mourn, &c.] The buyer will have no reaſon to rejoice, becauſe he will not enjoy what he hath purchaſed; nor the ſeller cauſe to mourn for the loſs of his poſſeſſions, which the approaching captivity will for ever deprive him of. Lowth.

16 Like doves of the valleys, &c.] They ſhall mourn their former iniquities like ſolitary doves that are driven from their habitations.

18 Shame ſhall be upon all faces, &c.] The marks of confuſion and miſery covering the face. Lowth.

19 They ſhall not ſatisfy their ſouls, &c.] They will not be able to procure the neceſſaries of life.

20 As for the beauty of his ornament, he ſet it in majeſty, &c.] This expreſſion relates to the glory and magnificence of the temple, called often the beauty of holineſs. This very place they have defiled with idolatry; therefore I have given it into the hand of the Gentiles, to profane and pollute it. Lowth.

22 My face will I alſo turn from them, &c.] I will not hear them when they cry to me in diſtreſs; but will deliver up the moſt holy part of the temple, where none but the high-prieſt uſed to enter, into the hands of the Chaldeans, who ſhall profane and plunder it. Lowth.

23 Make a chain.] To denote the approaching captivity, when the king and the people ſhould be carried in chains to Babylon.

24 I will bring the worſt of the heathen.] The Chaldeans, who were at that time the great oppreſſors of the world, and a terror to all the countries round about them.

26 Law ſhall periſh from the prieſt, and counſel from the ancients.] Jeremiah, Daniel, and Ezekiel himſelf were carried into captivity: after which there was no prophet left among them favoured with divine revelations. By the word ancients is meant the elders, or men in authority and famous for wiſdom, whoſe advice they aſked in all caſes of difficulty. Lowth.

of Judah ſat before me, that the hand of the LORD GOD fell there upon me.

2 Then I beheld, and lo, a likeneſs as the appearance of fire: from the appearance of his loins even downward, fire; and from his loins even upward, as the appearance of brightneſs as the colour of amber.

3 And he put forth the form of an hand, and took me by a lock of mine head: and the ſpirit lifted me up between the earth and the heaven, and brought me in the viſions of God to Jeruſalem, to the door of the inner gate that looketh toward the north; where was the ſeat of the image of jealouſy, which provoketh to jealouſy.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Iſrael was there, according to the vſiion that I ſaw in the plain.

5 Then ſaid he unto me, Son of man, lift up thine eyes now the way towards the north. So I lifted up mine eyes the way toward the north, and behold, northward at the gate of the altar this image of jealouſy in the entry.

6 He ſaid furthermore unto me, Son of man, ſeeſt thou what they do? even the great abominations that the houſe of Iſrael committeth here, that I ſhould go far off from my ſanctuary? but turn thee yet again, and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations.

7 ¶ And he brought me to the door of the court: and when I looked, behold, a hole in the wall.

8 Then ſaid he unto me, Son of man, dig now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, a door.

9 And he ſaid unto me, Go in, and behold the wicked abominations that they do here.

10 So I went in, and ſaw, and behold, every form of creeping things, and abominable beaſts, and all the idols of the houſe of Iſrael, pourtrayed upon the wall round about.

11 And there ſtood before them ſeventy men of the ancients of the houſe of Iſrael, and in the midſt of them ſtood Jaazaniah the ſon of Shaphan, with every man his cenſer in his hand; and a thick cloud of incenſe went up.

12 Then ſaid he unto me, Son of man, haſt thou ſeen what the ancients of the houſe of Iſrael do in the dark, every man in the chambers of his imagery? for they ſay, The LORD ſeeth us not; The LORD hath forſaken the earth.

13 He ſaid alſo unto me, Turn thee yet again, and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations that they do.

14 Then he brought me to the door of the gate of the LORD's houſe which was towards the north, and behold, there ſat women weeping for Tammuz.

15 Then ſaid he unto me, Haſt thou ſeen this, O ſon of man? turn thee yet again, and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations than theſe.

16 And he brought me into the inner court of the LORD's houſe, and behold, at the door of the temple of the LORD, between the porch and the altar, were about five and twenty men, with their backs toward the temple of the LORD, and their faces toward the eaſt: and they worſhipped the ſun toward the eaſt.

17 Then he ſaid unto me, Haſt thou ſeen this, O ſon of man? Is it a light thing to the houſe of Judah that they commit the abominations which they commit here? for they have filled the land with violence, and have return-

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 3 The ſpirit lifted me up---and brought me in the viſions of God to Jeruſalem.] This expreſſion, in the viſions of God, ſeems to indicate that all this repreſentation was performed only in viſion; i. e. by a lively repreſentation to the mind, as if the prophet had been perſonally preſent at Jeruſalem. Lowth.

The image of jealouſy, which provoketh to jealouſy.] The image of Baal, which provoketh God to jealouſy.

4 Behold, the glory of the God of Iſrael was there, &c.] To ſhow that this was the place of his peculiar reſidence.

10 Abominable beaſts, pourtrayed on the walls.] Pictures were as much prohibited by the law as carved images.

12 The Lord ſeeth us not, &c.] They either deny the being or providence of God, or ſay in their hearts, God hath drawn from us his wonted protection. Lowth.

14 Behold, there ſat women weeping for Tammuz.] This deity is ſuppoſed to be Adonis, the ſame with the Egyptian Oſiris, or the god which they ſuppoſed to preſide over the fruits of the earth, which were then cut and gathered in; and this being called the death of Oſiris, was celebrated with mourning and lamentations. Lowth.

16 Their backs towards the temple, and their faces towards the eaſt.] So they turned their backs to God, and their faces towards the ſun.

17 They put the branch to their noſe.] The Jews tell us, that this paſſage has been altered by their rabbins, and that according to the original reading, it ſhould be tranſlated, they put a ſtink ed to provoke me to anger: and lo, they put the branch to their noſe.

18 Therefore will I alſo deal in fury: mine eye ſhall not ſpare, neither will I have pity: and though they cry in mine ears with a loud voice, yet will I not hear them.

CHAP. IX.

1 A viſion whereby is ſhewed the preſervation of ſome, 5 and the deſtruction of the reſt. 8 God cannot be intreated for them.

HE cried alſo in mine ears with a loud voice, ſaying, Cauſe them that have charge over the city to draw near, even every man with his deſtroying weapon in his hand.

2 And behold, ſix men came from the way of the higher gate, which lieth toward the north, and every man a ſlaughter-weapon in his hand; and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a writer's ink-horn by his ſide: and they went in, and ſtood beſide the braſen altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Iſrael was gone up from the cherub whereupon he was, to the threſhold of the houſe. And he called to the man clothed with linen, which had the writer's ink-horn by his ſide;

4 And the LORD ſaid unto him, Go through the midſt of the city through the midſt of Jeruſalem, and ſet a mark upon the foreheads of the men that ſigh, and that cry for all the abominations that be done in the midſt thereof.

5 ¶ And to the others he ſaid in mine hearing, Go ye after him through the city, and ſmite: let not your eye ſpare, neither have ye pity.

6 Slay utterly old and young, both maids, and little children, and women: but come not near any man upon whom is the mark: and begin at my ſanctuary. Then they began at the ancient men which were before the houſe.

7 And he ſaid unto them, Defile the houſe, and fill the courts with the ſlain: go ye forth. And they went forth, and ſlew in the city.

8 ¶ And it came to paſs while they were ſlaying them, and I was left, that I fell upon my face, and cried, and ſaid, Ah, Lord GOD! wilt thou deſtroy all the reſidue of Iſrael, in thy pouring-out of thy fury upon Jeruſalem?

9 Then ſaid he unto me, The iniquity of the houſe of Iſrael and Judah is exceeding great, and the land is full of blood, and the city full of perverſeneſs: for they ſay, The LORD hath forſaken the earth, and the LORD ſeeth not.

10 And as for me alſo, mine eye ſhall not ſpare, neither will I have pity, but I will recompenſe their way upon their head.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linen, which had the ink-horn by his ſide, reported the matter, ſaying, I have done as thou haſt commanded me.

CHAP. X.

1 The viſion of the coals of fire to be ſcattered over the city. 8 The viſion of the cherubims.

THEN I looked, and behold, in the firmament that was above the head of the cherubims, there appeared over them, as it were a ſapphire-ſtone, as the appearance of the likeneſs of a throne.

ſtink to my noſe; i. e. they put an open affront upon me, by turning their backs to me, in the place dedicated to my worſhip. Lowth.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Cauſe them to have charge over the city, to draw near, &c.] Cauſe the angels who have the charge of executing God's judgments upon the city to approach. Lowth.

2 Behold, ſix men came, &c.] Angels in the ſhape of men.

With a writer's inkhorn by his ſide.] To ſet a mark upon thoſe who were to be ſaved from the common deſtruction.

Stood by the brazen altar.] To denote, that the men ordained to deſtruction were offered up as ſo many ſacrifices, to make an atonement to the juſtice of the Almighty.

3 The glory of God was gone up from the cherub to the threſhold of the houſe, &c.] Ezekiel ſaw the glory of God depart out of the inner ſanctuary to the door of the temple, to indicate that he would ſhortly forſake this temple. Lowth.

4 A mark upon the foreheads, &c.] This alludes to an eaſtern cuſtom of marking ſervants in their foreheads.

6 Slay old and young.] This denunciation was executed by the Chaldeans.

7 Defile the houſe, and fill the courts with the ſlain, &c.] God declares he will no longer own the temple for the place of his reſidence, as having been polluted with idolatry; he therefore delivers it up with its inner and outward courts, to be polluted with blood. Lowth.

8 I was left, &c.] The prophet thought himſelf preſerved alone out of the common deſtruction, the ſlaughter was ſo great; although thoſe who had a mark in their forehead were certainly preſerved.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Fill thine hand with coals of fire, &c.] This part of the viſion even under the cherub, and fill thine hand with coals of fire from between the cherubims, and ſcatter them over the city. And he went in in my ſight.

3 Now the cherubims ſtood on the right ſide of the houſe when the man went in; and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the LORD went up from the cherub, and ſtood over the threſhold of the houſe: and the houſe was filled with the cloud, and the court was full of the brightneſs of the LORD's glory.

5 And the ſound of the cherubims wings was heard even to the outer court, as the voice of the Almighty God when he ſpeaketh.

6 And it came to paſs that when he had commanded the man clothed with linen, ſaying, Take fire from between the wheels, from between the cherubims; then he went in, and ſtood beſide the wheels:

7 And one cherub ſtretched forth his hand from between the cherubims unto the fire that was between the cherubims, and took thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linen: who took it, and went out.

8 ¶ And there appeared in the cherubims the form of a man's hand under their wings.

9 And when I looked, behold, the four wheels by the cherubims, one wheel by one cherub, and another wheel by another cherub: and the appearance of the wheels was as the colour of a beryl-ſtone.

10 And as for their appearances, they four had one likeneſs, as if a wheel had been in the midſt of a wheel.

11 When they went, they went upon their four ſides; they turned not as they went, but to the place whither the head looked they followed it; they turned not as they went.

12 And their whole body, and their backs, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheels were full of eyes round about, even the wheels that they four had.

13 As for the wheels, it was cried unto them in my hearing, O wheel.

14 And every one had four faces; the firſt face was the face of a cherub, and the ſecond face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle.

15 And the cherubims were lifted up. This is the living creature that I ſaw by the river of Chebar.

16 And when the cherubims went, the wheels went by them; and when the cherubims lifted up their wings to mount up from the earth, the ſame wheels alſo turned not from beſide them:

17 When they ſtood, theſe ſtood; and when they were lifted up, theſe lifted up themſelves alſo: for the ſpirit of the living creature was in them.

18 Then the glory of the LORD departed from off the threſhold of the houſe, and ſtood over the cherubims.

19 And the cherubims lifted up their wings, and mounted up from the earth in my ſight: when they went out, the wheels alſo were beſides them: and every one ſtood at the door of the eaſt-gate of the LORD's houſe; and the glory of the God of Iſrael was over them above.

20 This is the living creature that I ſaw under the God of Iſrael by the river of Chebar; and I knew that they were the cherubims.

21 Every one had four faces apiece, and every one four wings: and the likeneſs of the hands of a man was under their wings.

22 And the likeneſs of their faces was the ſame faces which I ſaw by the river of Chebar, their appearances, and themſelves: they went every one ſtraight forward.

3 The cherubims ſtood on the right ſide of the houſe.] The cherubims here mentioned were thoſe deſcribed in this viſion, ch. 1.

The cloud filled the inner court.] The words may be underſtood of the Shekinah removing from the inner ſanctuary or holy of holies, and coming towards the door of the houſe. Lowth.

4 The glory of the Lord went up from the cherub.] Meaning, that it would depart from the temple.

11 They turned not, &c.] Until they had executed God's judgments.

13 It was cried, O wheel.] They were put in mind of continually attending on their duty; for the wheels and living creatures were animated with the ſame principle of underſtanding and motion. Lowth.

18 The glory of the Lord departed---and ſtood over the cherubims.] It now leaves the temple, and ſettles upon the cherubims, which ſtood in the court adjoining to it.

CHAP. XI.

1 The princes preſumption; 4 Their ſin, and judgement. 13 God's purpoſes of ſaving a remnant, 21 and puniſhing the wicked.

MOreover, the ſpirit lifted me up, and brought me unto the eaſt-gate of the LORD's houſe, which looketh eaſt-ward: and behold, at the door of the gate five and twenty men: among whom I ſaw Jaazaniah the ſon of Azur, and Pelatiah the ſon of Benaiah, princes of the people.

2 Then ſaid he unto me, Son of man, theſe are the men that deviſe miſchief, and give wicked counſel in this city;

3 Which ſay, It is not near, let us build houſes: this city is the caldron, and we be the fleſh.

4 ¶ Therefore propheſy againſt them, propheſy, O ſon of man.

5 And the Spirit of the LORD fell upon me, and ſaid unto me, Speak; Thus ſaith the LORD; Thus have ye ſaid, O houſe of Iſrael: for I know the things that come into your mind, every one of them.

6 Ye have multiplied your ſlain in this city, and ye have filled the ſtreets thereof with the ſlain.

7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Your ſlain, whom ye have laid in the midſt of it, they are the fleſh; and this city is the caldron: but I will bring you forth out of the midſt of it.

8 Ye have feared the ſword: and I will bring a ſword upon you, ſaith the Lord GOD.

9 And I will bring you out of the midſt thereof, and deliver you into the hands of ſtrangers, and will execute judgements among you.

10 Ye ſhall fall by the ſword: I will judge you in the border of Iſrael; and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

11 This city ſhall not be your caldron, neither ſhall ye be the fleſh in the midſt thereof; but I will judge you in the border of Iſrael;

12 And ye ſhall know that I am the LORD: for ye have not walked in my ſtatutes, neither executed my judgements, but have done after the manners of the heathen that are round about you.

13 ¶ And it came to paſs when I propheſied, that Pelatiah the ſon of Benaiah died. Then fell I down upon my face, and cried with a loud voice, and ſaid, Ah, Lord GOD! wilt thou make a full end of the remnant of Iſrael?

14 Again the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

15 Son of man, thy brethren, even thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the houſe of Iſrael wholly, are they unto whom the inhabitants of Jeruſalem have ſaid, Get ye far from the LORD: unto us is this land given in poſſeſſion.

16 Therefore ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Although I have caſt them far off among the heathen, and although I have ſcattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them as

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Five and twenty men.] Probably the ſame that came thither to worſhip the ſun, chap. viii. 16.

3 It is not near, let us build houſes.] Theſe people put the evil day far from them; not being willing to believe, that the judgments threatened would ſoon overtake them.

This city is the caldron, and we be the fleſh.] Jeremiah foretold the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, under the metaphor of a ſeething-pot, Jer. i. 13; and Ezekiel himſelf here uſes the ſame figure of ſpeech. Theſe infidels therefore made uſe of the ſame expreſſion, in order to deride the menaces of the prophets; as if they had ſaid, If this city be a caldron, we had rather take our chance in being conſumed in it, than leave our commodious habitations, and other advantages, and run the riſk of war and captivity. Lowth.

6, 7 Ye have multiplied your ſlain, &c.] Mr. Kennicott very judiciouſly obſerves, that theſe words are delivered to men, who gave wicked counſel in the city, probably by recommending an encreaſe of their military force; and who, vainly confiding in the arm of fleſh, thought to defend themſelves againſt the deſtruction denounced by the prophet: and he contends that the Hebrew word which is tranſlated ſlain, ſhould have been rendered ſoldiers.—6. Ye have multiplied your ſoldiers in this city, and with ſoldiers ye have filled the ſtreets thereof. 7. Therefore, thus ſaith the Lord; The ſoldiers, whom ye have placed in the midſt of you, &c. This interpretation of the word, in theſe three places, ſeems to make this paſſage much better ſenſe than our tranſlation.

7 I will bring you forth, &c.] You ſhall not periſh there; for I will reſerve you for another puniſhment.

15 Get ye far from the Lord.] The Jews who were left in their own country, thought themſelves more in God's favour than thoſe who were carried away captive.

16 Yet will I be to them a little ſanctuary, &c.] To comfort thoſe who were in captivity, God tells them, that though they were deprived of the benefits of attending upon his ſanctuary, and being placed under his protection, yet he would ſupply that deficiency by being a conſtant refuge and defence to them in the countries where they were ſcattered. Lowth.

a little ſanctuary in the countries where they ſhall come.

17 Therefore ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; I will even gather you from the people, and aſſemble you out of the countries where ye have been ſcattered, and I will give you the land of Iſrael.

18 And they ſhall come thither, and they ſhall take away all the deteſtable things thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new ſpirit within you; and I will take the ſtony heart out of their fleſh, and will give them an heart of fleſh:

20 That they may walk in my ſtatutes, and keep mine ordinances, and do them: and they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God.

21 ¶ But as for them whoſe heart walketh after the heart of their deteſtable things and their abominations, I will recompenſe their way upon their own heads, ſaith the Lord GOD.

22 Then did the cherubims lift up their wings, and the wheels beſides them; and the glory of the God of Iſrael was over them above.

23 And the glory of the LORD went up from the midſt of the city, and ſtood upon the mountain which is on the eaſt-ſide of the city.

24 Afterwards the ſpirit took me up, and brought me in viſion by the Spirit of God into Chaldea, to them of the captivity. So the viſion that I had ſeen went up from me.

25 Then I ſpake to them of the captivity all the things that the LORD had ſhewed me.

CHAP. XII.

1 The type of Ezekiel's removing, 8 ſheweth the captivity of Zedekiah. 17 Ezekiel's trembling ſheweth the Jews deſolation.

THE word of the LORD alſo came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, thou dwelleſt in the midſt of a rebellious houſe, which have eyes to ſee, and ſee not; they have ears to hear, and hear not; for they are a rebellious houſe.

3 Therefore, thou ſon of man, prepare thee ſtuff for removing, and remove by day in their ſight: and thou ſhalt remove from thy place to another place in their ſight: it may be they will conſider, though they be a rebellious houſe.

4 Then ſhalt thou bring forth thy ſtuff by day in their ſight as ſtuff for removing: and thou ſhalt go forth at even in their ſight, as they that go forth into captivity.

5 Dig thou through the wall in their ſight, and carry out thereby.

6 In their ſight ſhalt thou bear it upon thy ſhoulders, and carry it forth in the twilight: thou ſhalt cover thy face, that thou ſee not the ground, for I have ſet thee for a ſign unto the houſe of Iſrael.

7 And I did ſo as I was commanded: I brought forth my ſtuff by day as ſtuff for captivity, and in the even I digged through the wall with mine hand; I brought it forth in the twilight, and I bare it upon my ſhoulder in their ſight.

8 ¶ And in the morning came the word of the LORD unto me, ſaying,

19 I will take the ſtony heart out of their fleſh, &c.] The inſenſibility of men with regard to religious matters, is often aſcribed to the hardneſs of their hearts, which will receive no impreſſion. But here the Almighty promiſes to give them teachable diſpoſitions, and to take away the veil from their hearts, as St. Paul expreſſes it. Lowth.

23 The glory of the Lord went up from the midſt of the city, &c.] The preſence of the Almighty was before departed from the temple, and now it quite left the city, to ſignify that he would acknowledge no longer any relation to either, but deliver them up to be profaned by the heathens. Lowth.

On the mountain which is on the eaſt ſide, &c.] i. e. The mount of Olives; from whence it is deſcribed returning when God ſhall again make the temple the place of his reſidence. See chap. xliii. 2.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Thou dwelleſt in the midſt of a rebellious houſe, &c.] The prophet applies himſelf to thoſe of the captivity among whom he dwelt; who repined at their ſituation, thinking thoſe who dwelt at Jeruſalem in a much better condition than themſelves. The following parables, therefore, are deſigned to ſhew, that they who were left behind to ſuſtain the miſeries of a ſiege, and the inſults of a conqueror, would be in a much worſe condition than thoſe who were already ſettled in a foreign land. Lowth.

3 Prepare thee ſtuff for removing, &c.] Get all thy goods together, and pack them up as thoſe who remove from one houſe to another. Do this openly at noon-day, that they may ſee and take notice of it. The prophets frequently propheſied by ſigns, as being of greater force and efficacy than words. See Jer. xiii. 4.

5 Dig through the wall, &c.] To ſhow that Zedekiah ſhould make his eſcape by the ſame means.

9 Son of man hath not the houſe of Iſrael, the rebellious houſe, ſaid unto thee, What doeſt thou?

10 Say thou unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; This burden concerneth the prince in Jeruſalem, and all the houſe of Iſrael that are among them.

11 Say, I am your ſign: like as I have done, ſo ſhall it be done unto them: they ſhall remove and go into captivity.

12 And the prince that is among them ſhall bear upon his ſhoulder in the twilight, and ſhall go forth: they ſhall dig through the wall to carry out thereby: he ſhall cover his face, that he ſee not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net alſo will I ſpread upon him, and he ſhall be taken in my ſnare: and I will bring him to Babylon to the land of the Chaldeans: yet ſhall he not ſee it though he ſhall die there.

14 And I will ſcatter toward every wind all that are about him to help him, and all his bands; and I will draw out the ſword after them.

15 And they ſhall know that I am the LORD, when I ſhall ſcatter them among the nations, and diſperſe them in the countries.

16 But I will leave a few men of them from the ſword, from the famine, and from the peſtilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the heathen whither they come; and they ſhall know that I am the LORD.

17 ¶ Moreover, the word of the LORD came to me, ſaying,

18 Son of man, eat thy bread with quaking, and drink thy water with trembling and with carefulneſs;

19 And ſay unto the people of the land, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem and of the land of Iſrael; They ſhall eat their bread with carefulneſs, and drink their water with aſtoniſhment, that her land may be deſolate from all that is therein, becauſe of the violence of all them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited ſhall be laid waſte, and the land ſhall be deſolate; and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

21 ¶ And the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

22 Son of man, what is that proverb that ye have in the land of Iſrael, ſaying, The days are prolonged, and every viſion faileth?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; I will make this proverb to ceaſe, and they ſhall no more uſe it as a proverb in Iſrael; but ſay unto them, The days are at hand, and the effect of every viſion.

24 For there ſhall be no more any vain viſion nor flattering divination within the houſe of Iſrael.

25 For I am the LORD; I will ſpeak, and the word that I ſhall ſpeak ſhall come to paſs; it ſhall be no more prolonged: for in your days, O rebellious houſe, will I ſay the word, and will perform it, ſaith the Lord GOD.

26 ¶ Again the word of the LORD came to me, ſaying,

27 Son of man, behold, they of the houſe of Iſrael ſay, The viſion that he ſeeth is for many days to come, and he propheſieth of the times that are far off.

28 Therefore ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; There ſhall none of my words be prolonged any more, but the word which I have ſpoken ſhall be done, ſaith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The reproof of lying prophets, and their untempered morter. 17 Of the propheteſſes, and their pillows.

13 My net alſo will I ſpread upon him, &c.] Though Zedekiah flatters himſelf with the hope of eſcaping the Chaldean army, yet he ſhall find himſelf fatally miſtaken; for I will bring his enemies upon him, who ſhall encompaſs him and ſtop his flight, as when a wild beaſt is entangled in a net. Lowth.

Yet ſhall not he ſee it, though he ſhall die there.] i. e. His eyes ſhall be put out before he arrives at Babylon, in which city he ſhall die. Accordingly he was brought before the king of Babylon in Riblah, where he paſſed ſentence upon him, as one that had broken the oath and covenant he had made with him, and then putting out his eyes, carried him to Babylon, where he continued till the day of his death. Lowth.

16 I will leave a few men of them.] Who ſhall juſtify my proceedings againſt thoſe wicked idolaters.

22 The days are prolonged, and every viſion faileth?] This is ſpoken in the perſon of infidels, who turn the grace of God into wantonneſs, and take encouragement from his patience and long-ſuffering to deſpiſe his threatenings, as if they would never be executed. Lowth.

24 There ſhall be no more any vain viſion, &c.] The falſe prophets, who foretold peace and ſafety, ſhall ſee their prophecies ſo fully refuted by the events, that they will never more pretend to publiſh any new predictions.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel that prophesy, and say thou unto them that prophesy out of their own hearts, Hear ye the word of the LORD;

3 Thus saith the Lord GOD; Wo unto the foolish prophets, that follow their own spirit, and have seen nothing!

4 O Israel, thy prophets are like the foxes in the deserts.

5 Ye have not gone up into the gaps, neither made up the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battle in the day of the LORD.

6 They have seen vanity and lying divination, saying, The LORD saith; and the LORD hath not sent them: and they have made others to hope that they would confirm the word.

7 Have ye not seen a vain vision, and have ye not spoken a lying divination, whereas ye say, The LORD saith it; albeit I have not spoken?

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Because ye have spoken vanity, and seen lyes, therefore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord GOD.

9 And mine hand shall be upon the prophets that see vanity, and that divine lyes: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel; and ye shall know that I am the LORD GOD.

10 Because, even because they have seduced my people, saying, Peace; and there was no peace; and one built up a wall, and lo, others daubed it with untempered morter;

11 Say unto them which daub it with untempered morter, that it shall fall: there shall be an overflowing shower; and ye, O great hail-stones, shall fall; and a stormy wind shall rend it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said unto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye have daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; I will even rend it with a stormy wind in my fury; and there shall be an overflowing shower in mine anger, and great hail-stones in my fury to consume it.

14 So will I break down the wall that ye have daubed with untempered morter, and bring it down to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the midst thereof; and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath upon the wall, and upon them that have daubed it with untempered morter, and will say unto you, The wall is no more, neither they that daubed it;

16 To wit, the prophets of Israel which prophesy concerning Jerusalem, and which see visions of peace for her, and there is no peace, saith the Lord GOD.

17 ¶ Likewise, thou son of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people which

4 Thy prophets are like the foxes in the deserts.] Or, as the apostle stiles them, 2 Cor. xi. 13, deceitful workers, who craftily insinuate false doctrines into unstable minds; and, at the same time, are hungry and ravenous, greedily catching at the least appearance of advantage. Lowth.

5 Ye have not gone up into the gaps.] Or, stood in the gap, alluding to the intercession made by Moses for the Israelites, whereby he with-held, as it were, the hand of God, when it was stretched out to take vengeance on the people for their enormous sin in making the golden calf.

To stand in the battle in the day of the Lord.] When God shall come like a general at the head of his army, i. e. his judgments, to execute vengeance upon his enemies.

7 Ye say, The Lord saith it, &c.] Ye promised peace to this people, and now ye see their destruction.

9 They shall not be in the assembly of my people, &c.] They shall neither be members of the church here, nor shall their names be written in the book of life.

10 They have seduced my people, saying, Peace, &c.] They have deceived my people, by telling them, that none of those judgments should overtake them, which Jeremiah and the other prophets threatened them with.

One built up a wall, and lo, others daubed it with untempered morter.] What one false prophet said (which is here called the building of the wall) another would affirm without the least grounds for so doing.

13 I will rent it with a stormy wind in my fury, &c.] In all probability the prophet intended to foretel, under these metaphors, the destruction of Jerusalem by the Chaldean army. Accordingly the Chaldee paraphrast expounds the passage in the following manner: "I will bring a mighty king with the force "of a whirlwind, a destroying people, resembling an overflow-"ing storm, and powerful princes like great hail-stones. Lowth.

propheſy out of their own heart, and propheſy thou againſt them,

18 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Wo to the women that ſew pillows to all arm-holes, and make kerchiefs upon the head of every ſtature to hunt ſouls! Will ye hunt the ſouls of my people, and will ye ſave the ſouls alive that come unto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of barley and for pieces of bread, to ſlay the ſouls that ſhould not die, and to ſave the ſouls alive that ſhould not live, by your lying to my people that hear your lyes?

20 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD, Behold, I am againſt your pillows wherewith ye there hunt the ſouls to make them fly, and I will tear them from your arms, and will let the ſouls go, even the ſouls that ye hunt to make them fly.

21 Your kerchiefs alſo will I tear, and deliver my people out of your hand, and they ſhall be no more in your hand to be hunted; and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

22 Becauſe with lyes ye have made the heart of the righteous ſad, whom I have not made ſad; and ſtrengthened the hands of the wicked, that he ſhould not return from his wicked way, by promiſing him life;

23 Therefore ye ſhall ſee no more vanity, nor divine divinations: for I will deliver my people out of your hand: and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XIV.

1 God anſwereth idolaters according to their own heart. 12 God's irrevocable ſentence. 22 A remnant ſhall be ſaved.

THEN came certain of the elders of Iſrael unto me, and ſat before me.

2 And the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

3 Son of man, theſe men have ſet up their idols in their heart, and put the ſtumbling-block of their iniquity before their face: ſhould I be enquired of at all by them?

4 Therefore ſpeak unto them, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Every man of the houſe of Iſrael that ſetteth up his idols in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling-block of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to the prophet; I the LORD will anſwer him that cometh, according to the multitude of his idols;

5 That I may take the houſe of Iſrael in their own heart, becauſe they are all eſtranged from me through their idols.

6 Therefore ſay unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Repent, and turn your ſelves from your idols; and turn away your faces from all your abominations.

7 For every one of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtranger that ſojourneth in Iſrael, which ſeparateth himſelf from me, and ſetteth up his idols in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling-block of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to a prophet to enquire of him concerning me; I the LORD will anſwer him by my ſelf:

8 And I will ſet my face againſt that man, and I will make him a ſign and a proverb, and I will cut him off from the midſt of my people; and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

Should I be enquired of at all by them?] Though they have the impudence to aſk counſel of God, they ſhall not receive a favourable anſwer, but ſuch an one as their hypocriſy deſerves.

I have given him up to ſtrong deluſions, as a juſt judgment upon him for going after idols, and ſetting up falſe pretences to inſpiration. 10 And they ſhall bear the puniſhment of their iniquity: the puniſhment of the prophet ſhall be even as the puniſhment of him that ſeeketh unto him;

11 That the houſe of Iſrael may go no more aſtray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their tranſgreſſions; but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, ſaith the Lord GOD.

12 ¶ The word of the LORD came again to me, ſaying,

13 Son of man, when the land ſinneth againſt me by treſpaſſing grievouſly, then will I ſtretch out mine hand upon it, and will break the ſtaff of the bread thereof, and will ſend famine upon it, and will cut off man and beaſt from it:

14 Though theſe three men, Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, they ſhould deliver but their own ſouls by their righteouſneſs, ſaith the Lord GOD.

15 If I cauſe noiſom beaſts to paſs through the land, and they ſpoil it, ſo that it be deſolate, that no man may paſs through becauſe of the beaſts:

16 Though theſe three men were in it, as I live, ſaith the Lord GOD, they ſhall deliver neither ſons nor daughters; they only ſhall be delivered, but the land ſhall be deſolate.

17 Or if I bring a ſword upon that land, and ſay, Sword, go through the land; ſo that I cut off man and beaſt from it:

18 Though theſe three men were in it, as I live, ſaith the Lord GOD, they ſhall deliver neither ſons nor daughters; but they only ſhall be delivered themſelves.

19 Or if I ſend a peſtilence into that land, and pour out my fury upon it in blood, to cut off from it man and beaſt:

20 Though Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, as I live, ſaith the Lord GOD, they ſhall deliver neither ſon nor daughter; they ſhall but deliver their own ſouls by their righteouſneſs.

21 For thus ſaith the Lord GOD; How much more when I ſend my four ſore judgements upon Jeruſalem, the ſword, and the famine, and the noiſom beaſt, and the peſtilence, to cut off from it man and beaſt?

22 ¶ Yet behold, therein ſhall be left a remnant that ſhall be brought forth, both ſons and daughters: behold, they ſhall come forth unto you, and ye ſhall ſee their way and their doings: and ye ſhall be comforted concerning the evil that I have brought upon Jeruſalem, even concerning all that I have brought upon it.

23 And they ſhall comfort you, when ye ſee their ways and their doings: and ye ſhall know that I have not done without cauſe all that I have done in it, ſaith the Lord GOD.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, What is the vine-tree more than any tree, or than a branch which is among the trees of the foreſt?

13 When the land treſpaſſeth grievouſly, &c.] The deſign of this and the following verſes is to ſhow, that when the inhabitants of a land have filled up the meaſure of their iniquities, and God ariſeth to execute judgment upon them, the few righteous among them ſhall not be able by their prayers to deliver the nation from the judgments decreed againſt it. They ſhall but deliver their own ſouls, as we ſee in the caſe of Sodom, where there were no righteous except Lot and his family; thoſe juſt perſons ſaved themſelves, but no interceſſion could prevail to ſpare the city. Lowth.

14 Though theſe three men, Noah, Daniel and Job, were in it, &c.] All theſe perſons were eminent for their piety: Noah and his family were ſaved from the univerſal deluge, and obtained a promiſe from the Moſt High, that he would never again deſtroy the world by a flood of waters. Daniel interceded with God for the whole nation of the Jews, and obtained a promiſe of their reſtoration, Dan. ix. and Job was appointed by God himſelf to make interceſſion for his three friends. But when God's irreverſible decree is gone out againſt a nation, even the prayers of ſuch favourites of heaven would be ineffectual to procure their deliverance.

17 If I bring a ſword upon the land.] If I deliver it into the hands of a cruel and bloody enemy.

22 Therein ſhall be left a remnant, &c.] Notwithſtanding theſe ſore judgments, ſome ſhall eſcape, and be brought into Chaldea, to be your companions in captivity.

Ye ſhall ſee their way and their doings.] Their afflictions ſhall bring them to a due ſenſe of their former iniquities, and they ſhall humbly confeſs their own ſins, and the ſins of thoſe who were conſumed in the deſtruction of the city; whereby it will appear, that I have not puniſhed them beyond what their ſins deſerved. Lowth.

Ye ſhall be comforted, &c.] This will compoſe your minds, and make you give glory to God, and acknowledge his judgments to be righteous.

Notes

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to do any work; or will men take a pin of it to hang any veſſel thereon?

4 Behold, it is caſt into the fire for fuel; the fire devoureth both the ends of it, and the midſt of it is burned: is it meet for any work?

5 Behold, when it was whole it was meet for no work: how much leſs ſhall it be meet yet for any work when the fire hath devoured it, and it is burned?

6 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; As the vine-tree among the trees of the foreſt, which I have given to the fire for fuel, ſo will I give the inhabitants of Jeruſalem.

7 And I will ſet my face againſt them: they ſhall go out from one fire, and another fire ſhall devour them: and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD, when I ſhall ſet my face againſt them.

8 And I will make the land deſolate, becauſe they have committed a treſpaſs, ſaith the LORD God.

CHAP. XVI.

1 By a wretched infant is ſhewed the ſtate of Jeruſalem. 6 God's love to her.

AGAIN the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, cauſe Jeruſalem to know her abominations,

3 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD unto Jeruſalem; Thy birth and thy nativity is of the land of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And as for thy nativity, in the day thou waſt born, thy navel was not cut, neither waſt thou waſhed in water to ſupple thee; thou waſt not ſalted at all, nor ſwaddled at all.

5 None eye pitied thee, to do any of theſe unto thee, to have compaſſion upon thee; but thou waſt caſt out in the open field to the lothing of thy perſon, in the day that thou waſt born.

6 ¶ And when I paſſed by thee, and ſaw thee polluted in thine own blood, I ſaid unto thee when thou waſt in thy blood, Live; yea, I ſaid unto thee when thou waſt in thy blood, Live.

7 I have cauſed thee to multiply as the bud of the field, and thou haſt increaſed and waxen great, and thou art come to excellent ornaments: thy breaſts are faſhioned, and thine hair is grown, whereas thou waſt naked and bare.

8 Now when I paſſed by thee, and looked upon thee, behold, thy time was the time of love: and I ſpread my ſkirt over thee, and covered thy nakedneſs: yea, I ſware unto thee, and entered into a covenant with thee, ſaith the Lord GOD, and thou becameſt mine.

9 Then waſhed I thee with water; yea, I throughly waſhed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oil.

10 I clothed thee alſo with broidered work,

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 What is the vine-tree more than any tree, &c.] The Jewiſh church is often compared to a vine in the ſacred writings. The latter part of the verſe may be better rendered in the following manner; If it be as a branch which is among the trees of the foreſt: i. e. if it prove unfruitful. Lowth.

3 Shall wood be taken, &c.] The wood of a vine is of no uſe for building, or making any utenſil.

4 The fire devoureth both the ends of it, and the midſt of it is burnt, &c.] A very appoſite repreſentation of the preſent ſtate of Judea, when both its extremities were conſumed by the ravages of a foreign enemy, and the middle of it, where the capital city ſtood, threatened every moment with deſtruction.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Cauſe Jeruſalem to know her abominations.] This order was probably performed by way of letter, as Jeremiah ſignified the will of God to the captives at Babylon.

3 Thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.] Thou boaſteſt thyſelf of the ſeed of Abraham, and yet thou followeſt the abominations of the wicked Canaanites. Thoſe are ſaid, in the ſcripture dialect, to be our parents whoſe manners we reſemble. Lowth.

4 Thou waſt not ſalted at all.] It was an antient cuſtom to ſalt the bodies of new-born infants, or to ſprinkle them with ſalt, or to waſh them in ſalt-water, which they imagined would dry up all ſuperfluous humours, would purify the body, and prevent putrefaction. Galen de Sanit. 1. 7. ſays, A little ſalt being ſprinkled upon the infant, its ſkin becomes more denſe and ſolid. A gentleman, whoſe veracity may be depended upon, informs me it is now uſual in Tartary to ſalt their children as ſoon as born.

8 Behold, thy time was the time of love.] I now thought it a proper time to betroth thee to myſelf. The Jews deliverance out of Egypt is often deſcribed as the time of God's eſpouſing them to himſelf; and his entering into covenant with them, repreſented by a marriage-contract. Lowth.

I ſpread my ſkirt over thee.] Took thee under my protection.

Covered thy nakedneſs.] Enriched thee with the goods and poſſeſſions of the Egyptians and Canaanites.

10 Shod thee with badgers ſkin, &c.] Or, with ſandals of a purple colour, as Bochart expounds the word. This and the following verſes allude to ſuch parts of the women's attire as ſerved both for uſe and ornament, and import that God did not only provide the Jews with neceſſaries, but alſo with ſuperfluities.

and ſhod thee with badgers ſkin, and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I covered thee with ſilk.

11 I decked thee alſo with ornaments, and I put bracelets upon thy hands, and a chain on thy neck.

12 And I put a jewel on thy forehead and ear-rings in thine ears, and a beautiful crown upon thine head.

13 Thus waſt thou decked with gold and ſilver; and thy raiment was of fine linen, and ſilk, and broidered work; thou didſt eat fine flour, and honey, and oil: and thou waſt exceeding beautiful, and thou didſt proſper into a kingdom.

14 And thy renown went forth among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect through my comelineſs which I had put upon thee, ſaith the Lord GOD.

15 But thou didſt truſt in thine own beauty, and playedſt the harlot becauſe of thy renown, and pouredſt out thy fornications on every one that paſſed by; his it was.

16 And of thy garments thou didſt take and deckedſt thy high places with divers colours, and playedſt the harlot thereupon: the like things ſhall not come, neither ſhall it be ſo.

17 Thou haſt alſo taken thy fair jewels of my gold and of my ſilver, which I had given thee, and madeſt to thy ſelf images of men, and didſt commit whoredom with them;

18 And tookeſt thy broidered garments, and coveredſt them: and thou haſt ſet mine oil and mine incenſe before them.

19 My meat alſo which I gave thee, fine flour, and oil, and honey, wherewith I fed thee, thou haſt even ſet it before them for a ſweet ſavour: and thus it was, ſaith the Lord GOD.

20 Moreover, thou haſt taken thy ſons and thy daughters, whom thou haſt born unto me, and theſe haſt thou ſacrificed unto them to be devoured. Is this of thy whoredoms a ſmall matter?

21 That thou haſt ſlain my children, and delivered them to cauſe them to paſs through the fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and thy whoredoms thou haſt not remembered the days of thy youth, when thou waſt naked and bare, and waſt polluted in thy blood.

23 And it came to paſs after all thy wickedneſs, (Wo, wo, unto thee! ſaith the Lord GOD,)

24 That thou haſt alſo built unto thee an eminent place, and haſt made thee an high place in every ſtreet.

25 Thou haſt built thy high place at every head of the way, and haſt made thy beauty to be abhorred, and haſt opened thy feet to every one that paſſed by, and multiplied thy whoredoms.

26 Thou haſt alſo committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, great of fleſh; and haſt increaſed thy whoredoms, to provoke me to anger.

27 Behold therefore, I have ſtretched out my hand over thee, and have diminiſhed thine ordinary food, and delivered thee unto the will of them that hate thee, the daughters of the Philiſtines, which are aſhamed of thy lewd way.

28 Thou haſt played the whore alſo with the Aſſyrians, becauſe thou waſt unſatiable; yea, thou haſt played the harlot with them, and yet couldeſt not be ſatisfied.

29 Thou haſt moreover multiplied thy fornication in the land of Canaan unto Chaldea; and yet thou waſt not ſatisfied herewith.

30 How weak is thine heart, ſaith the Lord

13 Thou didſt proſper into a kingdom.] Thou waſt advanced to be the ſeat of a kingdom, and the ſeat of the great king of heaven and earth. Lowth.

14 Thy renown went forth among the heathen for thy beauty, &c.] For the magnificence of the temple, called the beauty of holineſs, and honoured with God's eſpecial preſence.

15 Thou didſt truſt in thine own beauty, &c.] Thou preſumedſt upon the very favour I ſhowed to Jeruſalem in chooſing it for the place of my reſidence, as if that would ſecure thee from my vengeance, however great thy idolatries and other crying ſins might be.

21 Thou haſt ſlain my children,] By children are here meant the firſt-born, who were in a peculiar manner ſet apart to be God's property, yet even theſe they ſacrificed to idols.

22 Thou haſt not remembered the days, &c.] Thou haſt forgot the miſerable condition from which I reſcued thee.

27 The daughters of the Philiſtines.] The daughters of the Philiſtines are here put for the Philiſtines.

30 How weak is thine heart, &c.] Thou art not only unſtable with regard to good reſolutions, but even reſtleſs and unſettled in the practice of wickedneſs, ſtill hankering after ſome new kind of idolatry, and reſolved to indulge a wandering appetite, Lowth.

God, seeing thou doest all these things, the work of an imperious whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine eminent place in the head of every way, and makest thine high place in every street, and hast not been as an harlot, in that thou scornest hire.

32 But as a wife that committeth adultery, which taketh strangers instead of her husband.

33 They give gifts to all whores: but thou givest thy gifts to all thy lovers, and hirest them, that they may come unto thee on every side for thy whoredom.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy whoredoms, whereas none followeth thee to commit whoredoms: and in that thou givest a reward, and no reward is given unto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, hear the word of the LORD:

36 Thus saith the LORD GOD; Because thy filthiness was poured out, and thy nakedness discovered through thy whoredoms with thy lovers, and with all the idols of thy abominations, and by the blood of thy children which thou didst give unto them.

37 Behold therefore, I will gather all thy lovers with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loved, with all them that thou hast hated; I will even gather them round about against thee, and will discover thy nakedness unto them, that they may see all thy nakedness.

38 And I will judge thee as women that break wedlock and shed blood are judged; and I will give thee blood in fury and jealousy.

39 And I will also give thee into their hand, and they shall throw down thine eminent place, and shall break down thy high places: they shall strip thee also of thy clothes, and shall take thy fair jewels, and leave thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring up a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

41 And they shall burn thine houses with fire, and execute judgements upon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou also shalt give no hire any more.

42 So will I make my fury towards thee to rest, and my jealousy shall depart from thee, and I will be quiet, and will be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembered the days of thy youth, but hast fretted me in all these things: behold therefore, I also will recompense thy way upon thine head, saith the Lord GOD: and thou shalt not commit this lewdness above all thine abominations.

44 Behold, every one that useth proverbs shall use this proverb against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mother's daughter, that lotheth her husband and her children; and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which lothed their husbands and their children: your mother was an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, she and her daughters, that dwell at thy left hand: and thy younger sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou not walked after their ways, nor done after their abominations: but as if that were a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more than they in all thy ways.

48 As I live, saith the Lord GOD, Sodom thy sister hath not done, she nor her daughters, as thou hast done, thou and thy daughters.

---

33 Thou givest thy gifts to all thy lovers.] The Jews are often upbraided for making leagues with idolaters, and even courting their favours by presents. Lowth.

37 Will discover thy nakedness.] They shall see thee carried away captives, stripped and bare, without any covering to thy nakedness, according to the barbarous custom of conquerors.

38 As women that break wedlock.] Whose punishment was death. I will give thee blood in fury and jealousy.] I will make an utter destruction of thine inhabitants.

40 Shall stone thee with stones, &c.] The Chaldeans shall demolish thy walls with stones projected from battering engines.

44 Every one that useth proverbs, shall use this proverb, &c.] They that love to apply the memorable sayings of former ages to the present times, shall apply that common proverb to thee, that the daughter followeth the mother's steps, and that Jerusalem is no better than the Amorites, whose land they inhabit, and whose manners they imitate. Lowth.

45 That lotheth her husband and her children.] The Jews abhorred God their husband, and sacrificed their children to idols.

46 Thine elder sister is Samaria, &c.] Samaria is called the elder sister of Jerusalem, as being the capital city of the ten tribes, a much larger kingdom than that of Judah. She also led the way to that idolatry which afterwards infected the whole nation, forsaking the worship of God, and setting up the idolatry of the golden calves. Lowth.

48 Sodom thy sister hath not done as thou hast done, &c.] The 49 Behold, this was the iniquity of thy ſiſter Sodom, Pride, fulneſs of bread, and abundance of idleneſs was in her and in her daughters, neither did ſhe ſtrengthen the hand of the poor and needy.

50 And they were haughty, and committed abomination before me; therefore I took them away as I ſaw good.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed half of thy ſins; but thou haſt multiplied thine abominations more than they, and haſt juſtified thy ſiſters in all thine abominations which thou haſt done.

52 Thou alſo, which haſt judged thy ſiſters, bear thine own ſhame for thy ſins that thou haſt committed more abominable than they: they are more righteous than thou: yea, be thou confounded alſo, and bear thy ſhame, in that thou haſt juſtified thy ſiſters.

53 When I ſhall bring again their captivity, the captivity of Sodom and her daughters, and the captivity of Samaria and her daughters, then will I bring again the captivity of thy captives in the midſt of them:

54 That thou mayeſt bear thine own ſhame, and mayeſt be confounded in all that thou haſt done, in that thou art a comfort unto them.

55 When thy ſiſters, Sodom and her daughters, ſhall return to their former eſtate, and Samaria and her daughters ſhall return to their former eſtate, then thou and thy daughters ſhall return to your former eſtate.

56 For thy ſiſter Sodom was not mentioned by thy mouth in the day of thy pride:

57 Before thy wickedneſs was diſcovered, as at the time of thy reproach of the daughters of Syria, and all that are round about her, the daughters of the Philiſtines, which deſpiſe thee round about.

58 Thou haſt born thy lewdneſs and thine abominations, ſaith the LORD.

59 For thus ſaith the LORD GOD; I will even deal with thee as thou haſt done, which haſt deſpiſed the oath in breaking the covenant.

60 Nevertheleſs, I will remember my covenant with thee in the days of thy youth, and I will eſtabliſh unto thee an everlaſting covenant.

61 Then thou ſhalt remember thy ways, and be aſhamed, when thou ſhalt receive thy ſiſters, thine elder and thy younger: and I will give them unto thee for daughters; but not by thy covenant.

62 And I will eſtabliſh my covenant with thee; and thou ſhalt know that I am the LORD:

63 That thou mayeſt remember and be confounded, and never open thy mouth any more becauſe of thy ſhame, when I am pacified toward thee for all that thou haſt done, ſaith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XVII.

1 By two eagles and a vine, 11 is ſhewed God's judgement upon Jeruſalem. 22 God promiſeth to plant the cedar of the Goſpel.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, put forth a riddle, and ſpeak a parable unto the houſe of Iſrael;

3 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; A ſins of Sodom were not attended with ſuch aggravating circumſtances of ingratitude; nor did I uſe ſuch powerful methods of convincing them of the enormity of their wickedneſs, as I have done with regard to thee. Lowth.

49 Neither did ſhe ſtrengthen the hand, &c.] Pride and luxury make men expenſive in their own way of living, and regardleſs of the miſeries of others.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed half thy ſins, &c.] The ingratitude of Jeruſalem was greater than that of Samaria, becauſe God had placed his name there, whoſe worſhip they forſook, and profaned the temple by placing idols in it. Lowth.

53 When ſhall I bring again their captivity, &c.] When the fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall come into the church, ſome of whom may be compared with Sodom for wickedneſs, then will I alſo remember you, who are my ancient people. St. Paul tells us, that the Jews will be provoked to emulation by the Gentiles coming into the church, and thereby induced to acknowledge the truth, Rom. xi. 11, 12, &c.

59 Which haſt deſpiſed the oath, &c.] That ſolemn oath and covenant you entered into with me, to be my people, and ſerve no other God.

60 I will eſtabliſh unto thee an everlaſting covenant.] Which ſhall never be aboliſhed, namely, that of the goſpel.

61 Not by thy covenant.] Not by virtue of the old covenant I made with your fathers when they came out of Egypt, the privileges of which ye have forfeited by your diſobedience, but by virtue of the new covenant I will make with you, through the mediation of the Meſſiah. Lowth.

62 Thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.] I will then be as conſpicuous in my mercies as I was before in my judgments.

Notes on the Seventeenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Put forth a riddle, &c.] i. e. A continued metaphor, or figurative ſpeech, purſuing the allegory of the eagle and vine in the ſeveral parts of the parable.

3 A great eagle with great wings, &c.] i. e. The king of Babylon great eagle with great wings, long winged, full of feathers, which had divers colours, came unto Lebanon, and took the higheſt branch of the cedar;

4 He cropped off the top of his young twigs, and carried it into a land of traffick; he ſet it in a city of merchants.

5 He took alſo of the ſeed of the land, and planted it in a fruitful field; he placed it by great waters, and ſet it as a willow-tree.

6 And it grew, and became a ſpreading vine of low ſtature, whoſe branches turned toward him, and the roots thereof were under him: ſo it became a vine, and brought forth branches, and ſhot forth ſprigs.

7 There was alſo another great eagle, with great wings and many feathers: and behold, this vine did bend her roots towards him, and ſhot forth her branches toward him, that he might water it by the furrows of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good ſoil by great waters, that it might bring forth branches, and that it might bear fruit, that it might be a goodly vine.

9 Say thou, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Shall it proſper? ſhall he not pull up the roots thereof, and cut off the fruit thereof, that it wither? it ſhall wither in all the leaves of her ſpring, even without great power or many people to pluck it up by the roots thereof.

10 Yea, behold, being planted, ſhall it proſper? ſhall it not utterly wither, when the eaſt-wind toucheth it? it ſhall wither in the furrows where it grew.

11 ¶ Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

12 Say now to the rebellious houſe, Know ye not what theſe things mean? tell them, Behold, the king of Babylon is come to Jeruſalem, and hath taken the king thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babylon;

13 And hath taken of the king's ſeed, and made a covenant with him, and hath taken an oath of him: he hath alſo taken the mighty of the land.

14 That the kingdom might be baſe, that it might not lift it ſelf up, but that by keeping of his covenant it might ſtand.

15 But he rebelled againſt him in ſending his ambaſſadors into Egypt, that they might give him horſes and much people. Shall he proſper? ſhall he eſcape that doeth ſuch things? or ſhall he break the covenant, and be delivered?

16 As I live, ſaith the Lord GOD; ſurely in the place where the king dwelleth that made him king, whoſe oath he deſpiſed, and whoſe covenant he brake, even with him in the midſt of Babylon he ſhall die.

17 Neither ſhall Pharaoh with his mighty army and great company make for him in the war by caſting up mounts, and building forts, to cut off many perſons:

18 Seeing he deſpiſed the oath by beaking the covenant, when lo, he had given his hand, and hath done all theſe things, he ſhall not eſcape.

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; As I live, ſurely mine oath that he hath deſpiſed, and my covenant that he hath broken, even it will I recompenſe upon his own head.

20 And I will ſpread my net upon him, and he ſhall be taken in my ſnare, and I will bring him to Babylon, and will plead with him there for his treſpaſs that he hath treſpaſſed againſt me.

21 And all his fugitives with all his bands ſhall fall by the ſword, and they that remain

Came to Lebanon, and took the higheſt branch of the cedar.] i. e. Invaded Judea, inveſted the city of Jeruſalem, and took king Jehoiachin captive.

4 A land of traffick, &c.] Babylon and the country round about it, being the ſeat of univerſal monarchy, muſt of conſequence have been a place of great trade. Strabo tells us, that veſſels of great burden came up the Euphrates to the walls of the city, from the Perſian gulph. Lowth.

5 He took of the ſeed of the land.] i. e. of Zedekiah's ſeed.

6 A vine of low ſtature.] That it might not have power to rebel againſt Babylon, as ver. 14.

7 There was alſo another great eagle, &c.] Pharaoh king of Egypt, with whom Zedekiah made an alliance; whereupon an army of Egyptians came to his aſſiſtance, and raiſed the ſiege of Jeruſalem.

9 Even without great power, &c.] God will appear viſible on the Chaldeans ſide, ſo that a large force to ſubdue their enemies will be unneceſſary.

10 Shall it not utterly wither, when the eaſt-wind toucheth it? &c.] The prophet compares the Chaldean army to a parching wind that blaſts the fruits of the earth.

12 Know ye not what theſe things mean? &c.] Will ye not apply your minds to underſtand what God ſpeaks to you?

14 That the kingdom might be baſe.] A tributary kingdom.

17 By caſting up mounts.] i. e. By playing engines.

ſhall be ſcattered towards all winds: and ye ſhall know that I the LORD have ſpoken it.

22 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; I will alſo take of the higheſt branch of the high cedar, and will ſet it; I will crop off from the top of his young twigs a tender one, and will plant it upon an high mountain and eminent.

23 In the mountain of the height of Iſrael will I plant it: and it ſhall bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, and be a goodly cedar: and under it ſhall dwell all fowl of every wing; in the ſhadow of the branches thereof ſhall they dwell.

24 And all the trees of the field ſhall know that I the LORD have brought down the high tree, have exalted the low tree, have dried up the green tree, and have made the dry tree to flouriſh: I the LORD have ſpoken and have done it.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 God reproveth the unjuſt parable of ſour grapes. 25 He defendeth his juſtice, 31 and exhorteth to repentance.

THE word of the LORD came unto me again, ſaying,

2 What mean ye, that ye uſe this proverb concerning the land of Iſrael, ſaying, The fathers have eaten ſour grapes, and the children's teeth are ſet on edge?

3 As I live, ſaith the Lord GOD, ye ſhall not have occaſion any more to uſe this proverb in Iſrael.

4 Behold, all ſouls are mine; as the ſoul of the father, ſo alſo the ſoul of the ſon, is mine: the ſoul that ſinneth, it ſhall die.

5 But if a man be juſt, and do that which is lawful and right,

6 And hath not eaten upon the mountains, neither hath lifted up his eyes to the idols of the houſe of Iſrael, neither hath defiled his neighbour's wife, neither hath come near to a menſtruous woman,

7 And hath not oppreſſed any, but hath reſtored to the debtor his pledge, hath ſpoiled none by violence, hath given his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment;

8 He that hath not given forth upon uſury, neither hath taken any increaſe, that hath withdrawn his hand from mine iniquity, hath executed true judgement between man and man.

9 Hath walked in my ſtatutes, and hath kept my judgements to deal truly; he is juſt, he ſhall ſurely live, ſaith the Lord GOD.

10 If he beget a ſon that is a robber, a ſhed-

22 I will alſo take of the higheſt branch of the high cedar, and will ſet it.] The prophet, purſuing the ſame metaphor, foretels the reſtoration of the royal family of David; but the words belong more properly to Chriſt and his kingdom, which ſhall be extended over all the world. Lowth.

I will crop off from the top of his young twigs a tender one, &c.] This deſcription may be very properly applied to our bleſſed Saviour, in reſpect to the mean condition to which the family of David was then reduced.

23 Under it ſhall dwell all fowl of every wing, &c.] i. e. Of every kind. A powerful and eaſy government is a ſhelter and ſecurity to all its ſubjects: ſuch ſhall be the kingdom of Chriſt to all who ſubmit themſelves to his laws. Lowth.

24 Have brought down the high tree, and exalted the low tree.] Chriſt's kingdom ſhall by degrees exalt itſelf above all the kingdoms of the world; ſhall at length put an end to them, and itſelf continue to all eternity.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 The fathers have eaten ſour grapes, and the children's teeth are ſet on edge?] i. e. The preſent generation is puniſhed for the offences of their forefathers, particularly for the ſins committed during the reign of Manaſſeh king of Judah.

3 Ye ſhall not have occaſion any more to uſe this proverb in Iſrael.] I will ſo viſibly diſtinguiſh between the righteous and the wicked, that you ſhall have no farther occaſion to uſe this proverb. God expreſly threatens to viſit the ſins of the fathers upon the children; but this is to be underſtood only with regard to temporal, not eternal puniſhments. The ſcripture takes notice of a certain meaſure of iniquity, which is filling up from one generation to another, till at laſt it render a nation or family ripe for deſtruction. And though theſe perſons on whom this vengeance falls, ſuffer no more than their own perſonal ſins deſerved; yet becauſe the ſins of former generations, which they equal, if not exceed, make it time for God to deſtroy them utterly, the puniſhments due to the ſins of many ages and generations are ſaid to fall upon their heads. Sherlock.

4 The ſoul that ſinneth, it ſhall die.] The wages of ſin is death; and all men being ſinners, the ſenſe of temporal death paſſeth equally upon them all. But as life ſignifies in general all the happineſs which attends the favour of God, ſo death denotes all thoſe puniſhments which are the effects of the Divine diſpleaſure; under which are comprehended the miſeries of the next world; and theſe ſhall be allotted to men according to their deſerts, without any regard to the faults of their anceſtors, which ſhall not then be laid to their charge, or taken into account to aggravate their guilt. Lowth.

6 Hath not eaten upon the mountains.] Idolatrous worſhip was generally performed on the mountains or high places; and eating part of the ſacrifice, was properly maintaining communion with the idol to whom it was offered. Lowth.

Neither hath lift up his eyes, &c.] By lifting up the eyes is meant a poſture of religious worſhip or adoration.

8 Hath not given upon uſury.] Uſury, when exacted from the poor, is generally repreſented as no better than oppreſſion.

der of blood, and that doeth the like to any one of these things,

11 And that doeth not any of those duties, but even hath eaten upon the mountains, and defiled his neighbour's wife,

12 Hath oppressed the poor and needy, hath spoiled by violence, hath not restored the pledge, and hath lifted up his eyes to the idols, hath committed abomination,

13 Hath given forth upon usury, and hath taken increase: shall he then live? He shall not live; he hath done all these abominations; he shall surely die; his blood shall be upon him.

14 Now lo, if he beget a son that seeth all his father's sins which he hath done, and considereth, and doeth not such like,

15 That hath not eaten upon the mountains, neither hath lifted up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, hath not defiled his neighbour's wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, hath not with-holden the pledge, neither hath spoiled by violence, but hath given his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment,

17 That hath taken off his hand from the poor, that hath not received usury nor increase, hath executed my judgements, hath walked in my statutes; he shall not die for the iniquity of his father, he shall surely live.

18 As for his father, because he cruelly oppressed, spoiled his brother by violence, and did that which is not good among his people, lo, even he shall die in his iniquity.

19 Yet say ye, Why doth not the son bear the iniquity of the father? When the son hath done that which is lawful and right, and hath kept all my statutes, and hath done them, he shall surely live.

20 The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him.

21 But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be mentioned unto him: in his righteousness that he hath done, he shall live.

23 Have I any pleasure at all that the wicked should die? saith the Lord GOD; and not that he should return from his ways, and live?

24 But when the righteous turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, and doeth according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, shall he live? All his righteousness that he hath done shall not be mentioned: in his trespass that he hath trespassed, and in his sin that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 ¶ Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal. Hear now, O house of Israel; is not my way equal? are not your ways unequal?

26 When a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, and dieth in them: for his iniquity that he hath done shall he die.

27 Again, when the wicked man turneth away from his wickedness that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he shall save his soul alive.

28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that he hath committed, he shall surely live, he shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the LORD is not equal. O house of Israel, are not my ways equal? are not your ways unequal?

13 His blood shall be upon him.] His destruction is owing to himself.

19 Doth not the son bear the iniquity of the father?] i. e. The effects or punishment of iniquity. The Jews still appealed to their own experience as the ground of their complaint. Lowth.

24 All his righteousness that he hath done shall not be mentioned, &c.] For better had it been for him not to have known the way of righteousness, than after he had known it, to turn aside from the holy commandment, 2 Pet. ii. 21.

26, 27 When a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, &c.] An opinion prevailed among the Jews, that at the day of judgment a considerable number of good actions would overbalance men's evil ones; they therefore thought it hard, that a person who had lived righteously the greatest part of his life, if he at last committed iniquity, that his former righteousness should avail him nothing. In opposition to this doctrine, God here declares, that a righteous man sinning, and not repenting, should die in his sins; and the wicked man upon repenting, should save his soul alive. Lowth.

30 Therefore I will judge you, O houſe of Iſrael, every one according to his ways, ſaith the Lord GOD: Repent, and turn your ſelves from all your tranſgreſſions; ſo iniquity ſhall not be your ruin.

31 ¶ Caſt away from you all your tranſgreſſions whereby ye have tranſgreſſed, and make you a new heart and a new ſpirit: for why will ye die, O houſe of Iſrael?

32 For I have no pleaſure in the death of him that dieth, ſaith the Lord GOD. Wherefore turn your ſelves, and live ye.

CHAP. XIX.

A lamentation for the princes of Iſrael, under the parable of lions whelps taken in a pit.

MOreover, take thou up a lamentation for the princes of Iſrael,

2 And ſay, What is thy mother? A lioneſs: ſhe lay down among lions, ſhe nouriſhed her whelps among young lions.

3 And ſhe brought up one of her whelps: it became a young lion, and it learned to catch the prey; it devoured men.

4 The nations alſo heard of him; he was taken in their pit, and they brought him with chains unto the land of Egypt.

5 Now when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had waited, and her hope was loſt, then ſhe took another of her whelps, and made him a young lion.

6 And he went up and down among the lions, he became a young lion, and learned to catch the prey, and devoured men.

7 And he knew their deſolate palaces, and he laid waſte their cities; and the land was deſolate, and the fulneſs thereof by the noiſe of his roaring.

8 Then the nations ſet againſt him on every ſide from the provinces, and ſpread their net over him: he was taken in their pit.

9 And they put him in ward in chains, and brought him to the king of Babylon: they brought him into holds, that his voice ſhould no more be heard upon the mountains of Iſrael.

10 Thy mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: ſhe was fruitful and full of branches by reaſon of many waters.

11 And ſhe had ſtrong rods for the ſcepters of them that bear rule, and her ſtature was exalted among the thick branches, and ſhe appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

12 But ſhe was plucked up in fury, ſhe was caſt down to the ground, and the eaſt-wind dried up her fruit: her ſtrong rods were broken and withered: the fire conſumed them.

13 And now ſhe is planted in the wilderneſs, in a dry and thirſty ground.

14 And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath devoured her fruit, ſo that ſhe hath no ſtrong rod to be a ſcepter to rule. This is a lamentation, and ſhall be for a lamentation.

CHAP. XX.

1 God refuſeth to be conſulted by the elders of Iſrael. 5 The ſtory of their rebellions. 33 He promiſeth to gather them.

AND it came to paſs in the ſeventh year, in the fifth month, the tenth day of the month, that certain of the elders of Iſrael came to enquire of the LORD, and ſat before me.

31 Make you a new heart, and a new ſpirit, &c.] The prophets often exhort the Jews to an inward purity and holineſs, that they might not rely upon an outward legal righteouſneſs, and a ſcrupulous exactneſs in the obſervance of the ritual parts of the law. By thus inſtructing them in a more excellent way of ſerving God than the ceremonial law directly preſcribed, they prepared their minds for receiving thoſe truths which would be more fully diſplayed by the goſpel. Lowth.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Take thou up a lamentation, &c.] The expreſſion alludes to the mournful ſongs uſed at funerals.

2 What is thy mother? a lioneſs, &c.] The land of Judah is become cruel and bloody, and hath taught her princes to govern by tyranny and oppreſſion. Lowth.

3 She brought up one of her whelps, &c.] This is meant of Jehoahaz, who followed not the good example of his father Joſiah, but the evil practices of his wicked predeceſſors.

5 She took another of her whelps.] Jehoiakim was made king in his brother's ſtead by the king of Egypt.

6 He went among the lions.] He practiſed all the methods of tyranny and oppreſſion.

10 Thy mother is like a vine in thy blood, &c.] The country of Judea, from whence the royal family have their original, was like a fruitful vine in a flouriſhing condition. Lowth.

11 She had ſtrong rods for the ſcepters of them that bear rule, &c.] From her ſprung ſovereign princes, who were themſelves very powerful, and made their people appear conſiderable among their neighbours. Lowth.

12 She was plucked up in fury, &c.] God in his anger, removed her out of the land in which he himſelf had planted her.

13 She is planted in the wilderneſs, in a dry and thirſty ground.] A great part of her people are carried captive, where their condition is as different from what it was formerly, as the condition of a tree is, when it is removed out of a rich and well-watered, into a barren and thirſty ſoil. Lowth.

Notes

2 Then came the word of the LORD unto me, saying,

3 Son of man, speak unto the elders of Israel, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Are ye come to enquire of me? As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I will not be enquired of by you.

4 Wilt thou judge them, son of man, wilt thou judge them? cause them to know the abominations of their fathers;

5 ¶ And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; In the day, when I chose Israel, and lifted up mine hand unto the seed of the house of Jacob, and made myself known unto them in the land of Egypt, when I lifted up mine hand unto them, saying, I am the LORD your God;

6 In the day that I lifted up mine hand unto them, to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had espied for them, flowing with milk and honey; which is the glory of all lands:

7 Then said I unto them, Cast ye away every man the abominations of his eyes, and defile not your selves with the idols of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, and would not hearken unto me: they did not every man cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idols of Egypt. Then I said, I will pour out my fury upon them, to accomplish my anger against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I wrought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen among whom they were, in whose sight I made my self known unto them in bringing them forth out of the land of Egypt.

10 Wherefore I caused them to go forth out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness.

11 And I gave them my statutes, and shewed them my judgements, which if a man do, he shall even live in them.

12 Moreover also, I gave them my sabbaths, to be a sign between me and them, that they might know that I am the LORD that sanctify them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they despised my judgements, which if a man do, he shall even live in them; and my sabbaths they greatly polluted. Then I said I would pour out my fury upon them in the wilderness to consume them.

14 But I wrought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet also I lifted up my hand unto them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land which I had given them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory of all lands;

16 Because they despised my judgements, and walked not in my statutes, but polluted my sabbaths: for their heart went after their idols.

17 Nevertheless, mine eye spared them from

Notes on the Twentieth Chapter.

Ver. 5 In the day when I lifted up mine hand unto the seed of the house of Jacob.] When I entered into a solemn covenant with them pursuant to the oath I had sworn to their fathers. Lifting up the hand was a ceremony used in taking an oath, and hence the prophet has applied it to God himself. Lowth.

Made myself known unto them, &c.] By appearing to Moses, and showing myself present among them, by the many wonders I wrought for their deliverance.

6 Flowing with milk and honey, &c.] See note on Exod. iii. 8. Judea is often stiled a land flowing with milk and honey, both on account of its own fruitfulness, and also from God's peculiar blessing on it. And it might be very well called the glory of all lands, from its being the place of God's peculiar residence. Lowth.

9 I wrought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted, &c.] The reason why God did not punish the Israelites as they deserved, is elsewhere assigned in scripture, viz. because it would turn to the dishonour of God in the judgment of the heathen world, as if he was not able to make good the gracious promises he had given them.

11 Which if a man do, he shall even live in them.] By life is meant all that happiness which is contained in the literal sense of the promises belonging to that covenant, under which were mystically comprehended the promises of a better life, wherein God will bestow upon his servants the peculiar marks of his favour. Lowth.

12 I gave them my sabbaths, to be a sign between me and them, &c.] The setting apart the seventh day for the worship of God was a sign of his setting apart the Jews to be his peculiar people, and the worshippers of the true God, who in six days made heaven and earth, and rested the seventh day. The sabbath was also instituted as a memorial of their deliverance out of Egypt, and the rest they afterwards enjoyed, Deut. v. 15.

13 My sabbaths they greatly polluted.] Particularly in going to gather manna on that day, contrary to the express command of God, confirmed by an extraordinary descent of manna the foregoing day.

deſtroying them, neither did I make an end of them in the wilderneſs:

18 But I ſaid unto their children in the wilderneſs, Walk ye not in the ſtatutes of your fathers, neither obſerve their judgements, nor defile your ſelves with their idols.

19 I am the LORD your God. Walk in my ſtatutes, and keep my judgements, and do them:

20 And hallow my ſabbaths; and they ſhall be a ſign between me and you, that ye may know that I am the LORD your God.

21 Notwithſtanding the children rebelled againſt me: they walked not in my ſtatutes, neither kept my judgements to do them, which if a man do, he ſhall even live in them; they polluted my ſabbaths. Then I ſaid I would pour out my fury upon them, to accompliſh my anger againſt them in the wilderneſs.

22 Nevertheleſs, I withdrew mine hand, and wrought for my name's ſake, that it ſhould not be polluted in the ſight of the heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them forth.

23 I lifted up mine hand unto them alſo in the wilderneſs, that I would ſcatter them among the heathen, and diſperſe them through the countries:

24 Becauſe they had not executed my judgements, but had deſpiſed my ſtatutes, and had polluted my ſabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idols.

25 Wherefore I gave them alſo ſtatutes that were not good, and judgements whereby they ſhould not live.

26 And I polluted them in their own gifts, in that they cauſed to paſs through the fire all that openeth the womb, that I might make them deſolate, to the end that they might know that I am the LORD.

27 Therefore, ſon of man, ſpeak unto the houſe of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Yet in this your fathers have blaſphemed me, in that they have committed a treſpaſs againſt me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to them, then they ſaw every high hill, and all the thick trees, and they offered there their ſacrifices, and there they preſented the provocation of their offering: there alſo they made their ſweet ſavour, and poured out there their drink-offerings.

29 Then I ſaid unto them, What is the high place whereunto ye go? and the name thereof is called Bamah unto this day.

30 Wherefore ſay unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Are ye polluted after the manner of your fathers; and commit ye whoredom after their abominations?

31 For when ye offer your gifts, when ye make your ſons to paſs through the fire, ye pollute your ſelves with all your idols, even unto this day: and ſhall I be enquired of by you, O houſe of Iſrael? As I live, ſaith the Lord GOD, I will not be enquired of by you.

32 And that which cometh into your mind ſhall not be at all, that ye ſay, We will be as the heathen, as the families of the countries, to ſerve wood and ſtone.

33 ¶ As I live, ſaith the Lord God, ſurely with a mighty hand and with a ſtretched-out arm and with fury poured out will I rule over you:

34 And I will bring you out from the people, and will gather you out of the countries wherein ye are ſcattered, with a mighty hand.

---

25 I gave them ſtatutes that were not good, &c.] i. e. Not of a moral nature, or intrinſically good. Mr. Lowth thinks theſe words import, That God, to puniſh them for their diſobedience to his own laws, gave them up to a reprobate mind, and ſuffered them to walk after the idolatrous and impious cuſtoms of the heathens round about them. And as by obeying the laws and ordinances which he had given them, they might have lived happily, ſo, by diſobeying them, they became ſlaves to the vile and cruel practices of the heathen idolatries, and even offered up their very children in ſacrifice to idols, to the utter deſtruction of themſelves and their poſterity. That this was the true ſenſe of the text will appear, if we conſult Deut. iv. 28. xxviii. 36. Jer. xvi. 13. where God threatens them, as a puniſhment for their neglect of his worſhip, to diſperſe them in the heathen countries, and thereby deprive them of an opportunity of ſerving him in public, and expoſe them to the peril of being ſeduced by idols. But the author of an Eſſay for a New Tranſlation thinks theſe two verſes ſhould be thus tranſlated; For, have I given them ſtatutes that were not good, or laws whereby they ſhould not live? Or have I made them impure by their gifts? When I conſecrated to myſelf their firſt-born, to raviſh them with admiration, that they might know that I am the Lord.

26 I polluted them in their own gifts.] i. e. I held or eſteemed them as polluted. Sykes.

29 The name is called Bamah, &c.] Which ſignifies a high place, that had its name from the heathen idolatry, which it ſtill retains.

30 Are ye polluted after the manner, &c.] It would be better rendered, Are ye not polluted? &c. and do ye not commit whoredom? &c.

and with a ſtretched-out arm, and with fury poured out:

35 And I will bring you into the wilderneſs of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderneſs of the land of Egypt, ſo will I plead with you, ſaith the Lord GOD.

37 And I will cauſe you to paſs under the rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant:

38 And I will purge out from among you the rebels, and them that tranſgreſs againſt me: I will bring them forth out of the country where they ſojourn, and they ſhall not enter into the land of Iſrael: and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

39 As for you, O houſe of Iſrael, thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Go ye, ſerve ye every one his idols, and hereafter alſo, if ye will not hearken unto me: but pollute ye my holy name no more with your gifts and with your idols.

40 For in mine holy mountain, in the mountain of the height of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord GOD, there ſhall all the houſe of Iſrael, all of them in the land, ſerve me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the firſt-fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept you with your ſweet ſavour, when I bring you out from the people, and gather you out of the countries wherein ye have been ſcattered; and I will be ſanctified in you before the heathen;

42 And ye ſhall know that I am the LORD, when I ſhall bring you into the land of Iſrael, into the country for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to your fathers.

43 And there ſhall ye remember your ways and all your doings wherein ye have been defiled; and ye ſhall loathe your ſelves in your own ſight for all your evils that ye have committed.

44 And ye ſhall know that I am the LORD, when I have wrought with you for my name's ſake, not according to your wicked ways, nor according to your corrupt doings, O ye houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord GOD.

45 ¶ Moreover, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

46 Son of man, ſet thy face toward the ſouth, and drop thy word toward the ſouth, and propheſy againſt the foreſt of the ſouth-field;

47 And ſay to the foreſt of the ſouth, Hear the word of the LORD; Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it ſhall devour every green tree in thee, and every dry-tree: the flaming flame ſhall not be quenched, and all faces from the ſouth to the north ſhall be burned therein.

48 And all fleſh ſhall ſee that I the LORD have kindled it: it ſhall not be quenched.

49 Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord GOD! they ſay of me, Doth he not ſpeak parables?

CHAP. XXI.

1 Ezekiel propheſieth againſt Jeruſalem. 8 The ſharp and bright ſword.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man ſet thy face toward Jeruſalem,

37 I will cauſe you to paſs under the rod.] I will take an exact account of you, as a ſhepherd does of his flock, by ſtriking every one of them with a rod.

39 Go ye, ſerve ye every one his idols, &c.] An ironical permiſſion, full of indignation and rebuke, ſharply upbraiding them for deſpiſing thoſe many warnings God had given them: and implying, that he now reſolved to forſake them, and give them up to ſtrong deluſion, as a juſt judgment for their abuſe of the means of grace ſo long offered to them, and ſtill rejected.

40 In mine holy mountain.] In the Chriſtian church, called God's holy mountain, in alluſion to the temple built on mount Moriah.

46 Set thy face toward the ſouth.] Towards the land of Iſrael, which lay ſouthward of Chaldea. Lowth.

Againſt the foreſt of the ſouth field.] i. e. Againſt Jeruſalem, the word foreſt being taken by the prophets, metaphorically, for a city, becauſe its ſtately buildings reſemble cedars ſtanding in their ſeveral ranks. Lowth.

47 It ſhall devour every green tree in thee, and every dry tree, &c.] Fire here ſeems particularly to denote the deſtruction of Jeruſalem; which the prophet ſaith, ſhall deſtroy both the green trees, and the dry, i. e. the righteous as well as the wicked. Lowth.

49 Doth he not ſpeak parables?] They make this an argument for diſregarding whatever I ſay to them, that I uſe ſo many metaphorical expreſſions, that they cannot diſcover my meaning: whereupon God commands him in the next chapter to ſpeak in plainer terms. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 Towards the holy places.] Towards the temple.

and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophesy against the land of Israel,

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the LORD; Behold, I am against thee, and will draw forth my sword out of his sheath, and will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked, therefore shall my sword go forth out of his sheath against all flesh from the south to the north:

5 That all flesh may know that I the LORD have drawn forth my sword out of his sheath: it shall not return any more.

6 Sigh therefore, thou son of man, with the breaking of thy loins; and with bitterness sigh before their eyes.

7 And it shall be, when they say unto thee, Wherefore sighest thou? that thou shalt answer, For the tidings; because it cometh: and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be feeble, and every spirit shall faint, and all knees shall be weak as water: behold, it cometh, and shall be brought to pass, saith the Lord GOD.

8 ¶ Again, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

9 Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus saith the LORD; Say, A sword, a sword is sharpened, and also furbished;

10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter; it is furbished that it may glitter: should we then make mirth? it contemneth the rod of my son, as every tree.

11 And he hath given it to be furbished, that it may be handled: the sword is sharpened, and it is furbished, to give it into the hand of the slayer.

12 Cry and howl, son of man; for it shall be upon my people, it shall be upon all the princes of Israel: terrors by reason of the sword, shall be upon my people: smite therefore upon thy thigh.

13 Because it is a trial, and what if the sword contemn even the rod? it shall be no more, saith the Lord GOD.

14 Thou therefore, son of man, prophesy, and smite thine hands together, and let the sword be doubled the third time, the sword of the slain: it is the sword of the great men that are slain, which entreth into their privy chambers.

15 I have set the point of the sword against all their gates, that their heart may faint, and their ruins be multiplied: ah, it is made bright, it is wrapped up for the slaughter.

16 Go thee one way or other, either on the right hand, or on the left, whithersoever thy face is set.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, and I will cause my fury to rest. I the LORD have said it.

18 ¶ The word of the LORD came unto me again, saying,

19 Also, thou son of man, appoint thee two ways, that the sword of the king of Babylon may come: both twain shall come forth out of one land: and choose thou a place, choose it at the head of the way to the city.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Judah in Jerusalem the defenced.

21 For the king of Babylon stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two ways, to use divination: he made his arrows

3 I will draw forth my sword, &c.] i. e. The sword of the king of Babylon.

Will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked, &c.] That is, those who have not been guilty of idolatry, and other national sins, as well as those that have. God's absolute dominion will justify any calamity he thinks fit to bring upon men. And every man is so much a sinner, that no evil which befals him in this world can be thought unjust in God who inflicts it.

5 It shall not return.] Into its sheath.

6 Sigh therefore—with the breaking of thy loins, &c.] Show all the tokens of grief and concern.

10 The rod of my son, as every tree.] It makes no distinction between the sceptre and common wood.

12 Smite upon thy thigh.] See note on Jer. xxxi. 19.

13 If the sword contemn the rod.] i. e. The sceptre and royal family.

14 Let the sword be doubled the third time, &c.] This expression seems to import, first the slaughter made at the siege, then at the taking of the city, and thirdly, those who were slain with Gedaliah.

The sword of the slain, &c.] According to Mr. Kennicott the true version will be, The sword of the soldiers, the sword of the great warrior; i. e. the king of Babylon, as it is called at the 19th verse.

15 It is wrapt up for the slaughter, &c.] Rather, it is sharpened for the slaughter, as the Chaldee paraphrast translates it.

16 Go thee one way or other, &c.] The words are directed to the sword, implying, that God hath given it a large commission to go through the land without any restraint. Lowth.

21 To use divination.] St. Jerom describes this way of divining by arrows thus: They wrote on several arrows the names of the nations or cities they intended to attack, mixed them together in bright, he consulted with images, he looked in the liver.

22 At his right hand was the divination for Jerusalem to appoint captains, to open the mouth in the slaughter, to lift up the voice with shouting, to appoint battering rams against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fort.

23 And it shall be unto them as a false divination in their sight, to them that have sworn oaths: but he will call to remembrance the iniquity, that they may be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Because ye have made your iniquity to be remembered, in that your transgressions are discovered, so that in all your doings your sins do appear; because I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou, profane wicked prince of Israel, whose day is come, when iniquity shall have an end.

26 Thus saith the LORD GOD; Remove the diadem, and take off the crown: this shall not be the same, exalt him that is low, and abase him that is high.

27 I will overturn, overturn, overturn it: and it shall be no more, until he come whose right it is; and I will give it him.

28 And thou, son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD concerning the Ammonites, and concerning their reproach; even say thou, The sword, the sword is drawn: for the slaughter it is furbished, to consume because of the glittering:

29 Whiles they see vanity unto thee, whiles they divine a lye unto thee, to bring thee upon the necks of them that are slain, of the wicked whose day is come, when their iniquity shall have an end.

30 Shall I cause it to return into his sheath? I will judge thee in the place where thou wast created, in the land of thy nativity.

31 And I will pour out mine indignation upon thee, I will blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliver thee into the hand of brutish men, and skilful to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be for fuel to the fire; thy blood shall be in the midst of the land; thou shalt be no more remembered: for I the LORD have spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 A catalogue of sins in Jerusalem. 17 God will burn them as dross in his furnace.

MOreover, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Now, thou son of man, wilt thou judge, wilt thou judge the bloody city? yea, thou shalt shew her all her abominations.

3 Then say thou, Thus saith the Lord GOD; The city sheddeth blood in the midst of it, that her time may come, and maketh idols against her self to defile her self.

4 Thou art become guilty in thy blood that thou hast shed, and hast defiled thy self in thine idols which thou hast made: and thou hast caused thy days to draw near, and art come even unto thy years: therefore have I made thee a reproach unto the heathen, and a mocking to all countries.

5 Those that be near, and those that be far from thee, shall mock thee, which art infamous and much vexed.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel, every one were in thee to their power to shed blood.

7 In thee have they set light by father and mother: in the midst of thee have they dealt by oppression with the stranger: in thee have they vexed the fatherless and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast profaned my sabbaths.

in a quiver, and then drawing the first that came to hand, they declared war with the nation, or besieged the city whose name was written upon the arrow first drawn. This custom still prevails among the Turks and Arabians.

22 At his right hand was the divination for Jerusalem, &c.] The tokens which were shewed him persuaded him to lead his army to the right, that is, towards Jerusalem.

25 Thou, profane wicked prince of Israel, &c.] Zedekiah, whom he calls profane and wicked, for breaking that solemn oath, uttered in the name of God, whereby he had engaged himself to be tributary to the king of Babylon. Lowth.

27 Until he come, &c.] After Zedekiah is deprived of his real authority, there shall be no more kings of that family, till the coming of the Messiah.

29 To bring thee upon the necks, &c.] To add thee to the number of those who are slain in Judea. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-second Chapter.

Ver. 4 Thou hast caused thy days to draw near, &c.] Thou hast filled up the measure of thine iniquities, and brought the times of vengeance upon thy head. Lowth.

9 In thee are men that carry tales to ſhed blood: and in thee they eat upon the mountains: in the midſt of thee they commit lewdneſs.

10 In thee have they diſcovered their fathers nakedneſs: in thee have they humbled her that was ſet apart for pollution.

11 And one hath committed abomination with his neighbour's wife; and another hath lewdly defiled his daughter-in-law; and another in thee hath humbled his ſiſter, his father's daughter.

12 In thee have they taken gifts to ſhed blood: thou haſt taken uſury and increaſe, and thou haſt greedily gained of thy neighbours by extortion, and haſt forgotten me, ſaith the Lord GOD.

13 Behold therefore, I have ſmitten mine hand at thy diſhoneſt gain which thou haſt made, and at thy blood which hath been in the midſt of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be ſtrong in the days that I ſhall deal with thee? I the LORD have ſpoken it, and will do it.

15 And I will ſcatter thee among the heathen, and diſperſe thee in the countries, and will conſume thy filthineſs out of thee.

16 And thou ſhalt take thine inheritance in thy ſelf in the ſight of the heathen, and thou ſhalt know that I am the LORD.

17 ¶ And the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

18 Son of man, the houſe of Iſrael is to me become droſs: all they are braſs, and tin, and iron, and lead in the midſt of the furnace; they are even the droſs of ſilver.

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Becauſe ye are all become droſs, behold therefore, I will gather you into the midſt of Jeruſalem.

20 As they gather ſilver, and braſs, and iron, and lead, and tin into the midſt of the furnace, to blow the fire upon it, to melt it; ſo will I gather you in mine anger and in my fury, and I will leave you there, and melt you.

21 Yea, I will gather you, and blow upon you in the fire of my wrath, and ye ſhall be melted in the midſt thereof.

22 As ſilver is melted in the midſt of the furnace, ſo ſhall ye be melted in the midſt thereof; and ye ſhall know that I the LORD have poured out my fury upon you.

23 ¶ And the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

24 Son of man, ſay unto her, Thou art the land that is not cleanſed, nor rained upon in the day of indignation.

25 There is a conſpiracy of her prophets in the midſt thereof, like a roaring lion ravening the prey: they have devoured ſouls; they have taken the treaſure and precious things; they have made her many widows in the midſt thereof.

26 Her prieſts have violated my law, and have profaned mine holy things; they have put no difference between the holy and profane, neither have they ſhewed difference between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their eyes from my ſabbaths, and I am profaned among them.

27 Her princes in the midſt thereof are like wolves ravening the prey, to ſhed blood and to deſtroy ſouls, to get diſhoneſt gain.

28 And her prophets have daubed them with untempered morter, ſeeing vanity, and divining lyes unto them, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD, when the LORD hath not ſpoken.

29 The people of the land have uſed op-

10 I have diſcovered their fathers nakedneſs.] Took their mother-in-law to wife.

13 I have ſmitten my hand, &c.] I have expreſſed mine indignation at their unjuſt practices.

16 Thou ſhalt take thine inheritance in thyſelf in the ſight of the heathen, &c.] Inſtead of being mine inheritance, and under my peculiar protection, thou ſhalt be caſt out among the heathen, and receive the juſt reward of thy wickedneſs. Lowth.

21 I will blow upon you in the fire of my wrath, &c.] God's vengeance is often compared to fire, but here it was ſo in a literal ſenſe, when both city and temple were reduced to aſhes.

24 Thou art the land that is not cleanſed, &c.] God had before compared his anger to fire; in purſuance of that metaphor, here adds, that if the wholeſome admonitions of the prophets, compared to dew falling from heaven, had been duly regarded, they would have ſupplied the place of rain, and waſhed away the filth of the land; ſo that there would have been no neceſſity of purging it by fire. Lowth.

25 There is a conſpiracy of the prophets.] Of the falſe prophets.

30 And I ſought for a man among them that ſhould make up the hedge, and ſtand in the gap before me for the land, that I ſhould not deſtroy it; but I found none.

31 Therefore have I poured out mine indignation upon them, I have conſumed them with the fire of my wrath: their own way have I recompenſed upon their heads, ſaith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 The whoredoms of Aholah and Aholibah. 22 Aholibah is to be plagued by her lovers. 45 Their judgements.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, there were two women the daughters of one mother:

3 And they committed whoredoms in Egypt, they committed whoredoms in their youth: there were their breaſts preſſed, and there they bruiſed the teats of their virginity.

4 And the names of them were, Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her ſiſter: and they were mine, and they bare ſons and daughters. Thus were their names; Samaria is Aholah; and Jeruſalem, Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot when ſhe was mine, and ſhe doted on her lovers, on the Aſſyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blue, captains and rulers, all of them deſirable young men, horſemen riding upon horſes.

7 Thus ſhe committed her whoredoms with them, with all them that were the choſen men of Aſſyria, and with all on whom ſhe doted: with all their idols ſhe defiled her ſelf.

8 Neither left ſhe her whoredoms brought from Egypt: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruiſed the breaſts of her virginity, and poured their whoredom upon her.

9 Wherefore I have delivered her into the hand of her lovers, into the hand of the Aſſyrians, upon whom ſhe doted.

10 Theſe diſcovered her nakedneſs: they took her ſons and her daughters, and ſlew her with the ſword: and ſhe became famous among women; for they had executed judgement upon her.

11 And when her ſiſter Aholibah ſaw this, ſhe was more corrupt in her inordinate love than ſhe, and in her whoredoms more than her ſiſter in her whoredoms.

12 She doted upon the Aſſyrians her neighbours, captains and rulers, clothed moſt gorgeouſly, horſemen riding upon horſes, all of them deſirable young men.

13 Then I ſaw that ſhe was defiled, that they took both one way,

14 And that ſhe increaſed her whoredoms: for when ſhe ſaw men pourtrayed upon the wall, the images of the Chaldeans pourtrayed with vermilion,

15 Girded with girdles upon their loins, exceeding in dyed attire upon their heads, all of them princes to look to, after the manner of the Babylonians of Chaldea the land of their nativity:

16 And as ſoon as ſhe ſaw them with her eyes, ſhe doted upon them, and ſent meſſengers unto them into Chaldea.

17 And the Babylonians came to her into

Notes on the Twenty-third Chapter.

Ver. 2 There were two women, the daughters of one mother.] Countries are generally repreſented as mothers of their people, and the inhabitants as their children. Samaria and Jeruſalem are deſcribed in this chapter as ſiſters, the offſpring of the ſame country. Lowth.

4 Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her ſiſter.] Theſe two appellations imply, that Samaria had indeed a place for public worſhip, but of her own founding, namely, the cities of Dan and Bethel, where the golden calves were ſet up: whereas God's tabernacle at firſt, and afterwards his temple, was placed at Jeruſalem, the city he choſe for his peculiar reſidence. Samaria is called the elder ſiſter to Jeruſalem, as being the capital city of the kingdom of Iſrael, a much larger kingdom than that of Judah. Lowth.

6 Horſemen, &c.] Horſes were ſcarce in Judea, which made the Jews apply to the neighbouring countries for horſes in the times of hoſtile invaſions.

10 She became famous among women, &c.] Or, ſhe became a name among women: as ſhe had formerly been renowned among the heathen for her beauty, ſo ſhe was now every where mentioned as a remarkable inſtance of God's vengeance.

14 She ſaw men pourtrayed upon the wall, &c.] Theſe were probably the pictures of thoſe deified heroes whom the Chaldeans worſhipped as gods.

17 Her mind was alienated from them.] She quickly grew weary of theſe too, as lewd women are of former gallants.

the bed of love, and they defiled her with their whoredom, and ſhe was polluted with them, and her mind was alienated from them.

18 So ſhe diſcovered her whoredoms, and diſcovered her nakedneſs: then my mind was alienated from her, like as my mind was alienated from her ſiſter.

19 Yet ſhe multiplied her whoredoms, in calling to remembrance the days of her youth, wherein ſhe had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For ſhe doted upon their paramours, whoſe fleſh is as the fleſh of aſſes, and whoſe iſſue is like the iſſue of horſes.

21 Thus thou calledſt to remembrance the lewdneſs of thy youth, in bruiſing thy teats by the Egyptians, for the paps of thy youth.

22 ¶ Therefore, O Aholibah, thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will raiſe up thy lovers againſt thee, from whom thy mind is alienated, and I will bring them againſt thee on every ſide;

23 The Babylonians, and all the Chaldeans, Pekod, and Shoa, and Koa, and all the Aſſyrians with them; all of them deſirable young men, captains and rulers, great lords and renowned, all of them riding upon horſes.

24 And they ſhall come againſt thee with chariots, wagons, and wheels, and with an aſſembly of people, which ſhall ſet againſt thee buckler and ſhield and helmet round about: and I will ſet judgement before them, and they ſhall judge thee according to their judgements.

25 And I will ſet my jealouſy againſt thee, and they ſhall deal furiouſly with thee: they ſhall take away thy noſe and thine ears; and thy remnant ſhall fall by the ſword: they ſhall take thy ſons and thy daughters; and thy reſidue ſhall be devoured by the fire.

26 They ſhall alſo ſtrip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy fair jewels.

27 Thus will I make thy lewdneſs to ceaſe from thee, and thy whoredom brought from the land of Egypt: ſo that thou ſhalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus ſaith the LORD GOD; Behold, I will deliver thee into the hand of them whom thou hateſt, into the hand of them from whom thy mind is alienated.

29 And they ſhall deal with thee hatefully, and ſhall take away all thy labour, and ſhall leave thee naked and bare: and the nakedneſs of thy whoredoms ſhall be diſcovered, both thy lewdneſs and thy whoredoms.

30 I will do theſe things unto thee, becauſe thou haſt gone a whoring after the heathen, and becauſe thou art polluted with their idols.

31 Thou haſt walked in the way of thy ſiſter: therefore will I give her cup into thine hand.

32 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Thou ſhalt drink of thy ſiſter's cup deep and large: thou ſhalt be laughed to ſcorn and had in deriſion; it containeth much.

33 Thou ſhalt be filled with drunkenneſs and ſorrow, with the cup of aſtoniſhment and deſolation, with the cup of thy ſiſter Samaria.

34 Thou ſhalt even drink it and ſuck it out, and thou ſhalt break the ſherds thereof, and pluck off thine own breaſts: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord GOD.

35 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Becauſe thou haſt forgotten me, and caſt me behind thy back, therefore bear thou alſo thy lewdneſs and thy whoredoms.

36 The LORD ſaid moreover unto me, Son of man, wilt thou judge Aholah and Aholi-

22 I will raiſe up thy lovers againſt thee, &c.] I will execute my judgments upon thee by thoſe very Babylonians whoſe alliance and idolatries thou haſt been ſo fond of; but haſt ſince broken the league thou madeſt with them, contracting a new one with Egypt, and haſt thereby provoked them to revenge thy perfidiouſneſs. Lowth.

23 Pekod, and Shoa, and Koa, &c.] St. Jerom thinks theſe are ſo many titles of honour; as much as to ſay, governors, princes, and great men.

24 I will ſet judgement before them, &c.] I will deliver thee into their power, as the miniſters of my juſtice.

25 I will ſet my jealouſy againſt thee, &c.] They ſhall puniſh with that fury with which a man in the rage of jealouſy ſhall treat a wife who had been unfaithful to him. Lowth.

27 Thus will I make thy lewdneſs to ceaſe, &c.] Theſe ſevere judgments ſhall effectually deter thee from idolatry; accordingly we find, that after the captivity, the Jews never returned to their idolatrous practices.

31 I will give her cup into thine hand, &c.] See note on Iſaiah li. 17.

34 Thou ſhalt break the ſhreds thereof.] Like a drunken man, thou ſhalt break in pieces the cup, and then be angry at thyſelf for ſo doing. Lowth.

bah? yea, declare unto them their abominations;

37 That they have committed adultery, and blood is in their hands, and with their idols have they committed adultery, and have alſo cauſed their ſons, whom they bare unto me, to paſs for them through the fire to devour them.

38 Moreover, this they have done unto me: they have defiled my ſanctuary in the ſame day, and have profaned my ſabbaths.

39 For when they had ſlain their children to their idols, then they came the ſame day into my ſanctuary to profane it: and lo, thus have they done in the midſt of mine houſe.

40 And furthermore, that ye have ſent for men to come from far, unto whom a meſſenger was ſent; and lo, they came: for whom thou didſt waſh thy ſelf, paintedſt thy eyes, and deckedſt thy ſelf with ornaments,

41 And ſatteſt upon a ſtately bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou haſt ſet mine incenſe and mine oil.

42 And a voice of a multitude being at eaſe was with her: and with the men of the common ſort were brought Sabeans from the wilderneſs, which put bracelets upon their hands, and beautiful crowns upon their heads.

43 Then ſaid I unto her that was old in adulteries, Will they now commit whoredoms with her, and ſhe with them?

44 Yet they went in unto her as they go in unto a woman that playeth the harlot: ſo they went in unto Aholah and unto Aholibah the lewd women.

45 ¶ And the righteous men, they ſhall judge them after the manner of adultereſſes, and after the manner of women that ſhed blood; becauſe they are adultereſſes, and blood is in their hands.

46 For thus ſaith the Lord GOD; I will bring up a company upon them, and will give them to be removed and ſpoiled.

47 And the company ſhall ſtone them with ſtones, and diſpatch them with their ſwords: they ſhall ſlay their ſons and their daughters, and burn up their houſes with fire.

48 Thus will I cauſe lewdneſs to ceaſe out of the land, that all women may be taught not to do after your lewdneſs.

49 And they ſhall recompenſe your lewdneſs upon you, and ye ſhall bear the ſins of your idols: and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 By a boiling pot, 6 is ſhewed Jeruſalem's deſtruction. 15 By Ezekiel's not mourning for his wife, 19 is ſhewed the Jews calamity is beyond all ſorrow.

AGAIN in the ninth year, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, Write thee the name of the day, even of this ſame day: the king of Babylon ſet himſelf againſt Jeruſalem this ſame day.

3 And utter a parable unto the rebellious houſe, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Set on a pot, ſet it on, and alſo pour water into it.

4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, the thigh and the ſhoulder: fill it with the choice bones.

5 Take the choice of the flock, and burn alſo the bones under it, and make it boil well, and let them ſeethe the bones of it therein.

41 Satteſt upon a ſtately bed, and a table prepared before it, &c.] The expreſſions denote their ſitting down with idolaters, and partaking of their ſacrifices.

42 The voice of a multitude at eaſe.] All ſorts of expreſſions of joy, as muſick and dancing.

45 The righteous men they ſhall judge them, &c.] By righteous men may be underſtood the prophets, who foretold the judgments God would inflict upon Samaria and Jeruſalem, and are ſaid to execute the judgments they foretel. So Ezekiel ſays of himſelf, that he was ſent to deſtroy the city, that is, to prophecy its deſtruction. Lowth.

49 Ye ſhall bear the ſins of your idols, &c.] Ye ſhall bear the puniſhment due to your ſins of idolatry.

Notes on the Twenty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 3 Utter a parable unto the rebellious houſe, &c.] Add this emblem or parable concerning a boiling pot to the reſt thou haſt delivered to them, though they ſeem reſolved not to regard what thou deliverеſt, either in plain words or figurative expreſſions. The deſtruction of Jeruſalem is repreſented by a boiling pot, both by Jer. i. 13, and Ezek. xi. 3.

4 Gather the pieces, &c.] Meaning the chief of the citizens.

5 Burn the bones under it, &c.] The bones of thoſe who have been unjuſtly ſlain in the midſt of the city, whoſe blood cries for vengeance againſt it, and kindles God's anger like fire.

6 ¶ Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Wo, to the bloody city! to the pot whoſe ſcum is therein, and whoſe ſcum is not gone out of it! bring it out piece by piece; let no lot fall upon it.

7 For her blood is in the midſt of her: ſhe ſet it upon the top of a rock; ſhe poured it not upon the ground, to cover it with duſt:

8 That it might cauſe fury to come up to take vengeance, I have ſet her blood upon the top of a rock, that it ſhould not be covered.

9 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Wo to the bloody city! I will even make the pile for fire great.

10 Heap on wood, kindle the fire, conſume the fleſh, and ſpice it well, and let the bones be burned.

11 Then ſet it empty upon the coals thereof, that the braſs of it may be hot, and may burn, and that the filthineſs of it may be molten in it, that the ſcum of it may be conſumed.

12 She hath wearied her ſelf with lyes, and her great ſcum went not forth out of her: her ſcum ſhall be in the fire.

13 In thy filthineſs is lewdneſs: becauſe I have purged thee, and thou waſt not purged, thou ſhalt not be purged, from thy filthineſs any more, till I have cauſed my fury to reſt upon thee.

14 I the LORD have ſpoken it: it ſhall come to paſs, and I will do it: I will not go back, neither will I ſpare, neither will I repent. According to thy ways and according to thy doings ſhall they judge thee, ſaith the Lord GOD.

15 ¶ Alſo the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

16 Son of man, Behold, I take away from thee the deſire of thine eyes with a ſtroke: yet neither ſhalt thou mourn nor weep, neither ſhall thy tears run down.

17 Forbear to cry, make no mourning for the dead, bind the tire of thine head upon thee, and put on the ſhoes upon thy feet, and cover not thy lips, and eat not the bread of men.

18 So I ſpake unto the people in the morning; and at even my wife died; and I did in the morning as I was commanded.

19 ¶ And the people ſaid unto me, Wilt thou not tell us what theſe things are to us, that thou doeſt ſo?

20 Then I anſwered them, The word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying, 21 Speak unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will profane my ſanctuary, the excellency of your ſtrength, the deſire of your eyes, and that which your ſoul pitieth; and your ſons and your daughters whom ye have left ſhall fall by the ſword.

22 And ye ſhall do as I have done: ye ſhall not cover your lips, nor eat the bread of men.

23 And your tires ſhall be upon your heads, and your ſhoes upon your feet: ye ſhall not mourn nor weep; but ye ſhall pine away for your iniquities, and mourn one towards another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is unto you a ſign: according to all that he hath done ſhall ye do: and when this cometh ye ſhall know that I am the Lord GOD.

25 Alſo thou ſon of man, ſhall it not be in the day when I take from them their ſtrength,

---

7 She poured it not upon the ground, to cover it with duſt, &c.] The words allude to the command of the law, that they ſhould cover the blood of any beaſt, or other living creature which was ſlain with duſt. A precept intended not only to prevent their eating blood, but alſo to give them a kind of horror at the ſight of ſhedding it. Lowth.

10 Spice it well.] The words import, that the Chaldeans ſhould be as eager to deſtroy the city and inhabitants, as hungry people are to devour a well-dreſſed meal.

12 She hath wearied herſelf with lies, &c.] This expreſſion imports the people's multiplying their idolatries, idols being elſewhere called lies, and ſeeking relief ſometimes from one idol, and ſometimes from another.

13 I have purged thee, and thou waſt not purged, &c.] I did what was requiſite on my part towards thy converſion, but thou refuſedſt to repent: my ſpirit, therefore, ſhall not ſtrive any longer with thee, but I will execute on thee my judgments.

16 The deſire of thy eyes.] Thy wife, the object of thy love.

17 Eat not the bread of men.] Rather, as the Vulgate reads, The bread of mourners; for they had their mourning feaſts at funerals.

21 Behold, I will profane my ſanctuary, the excellency of your ſtrength.] I will deliver my temple into the hands of the heathen, and they ſhall profane and deſtroy it.

The deſire of your eyes, and that which your ſoul pitieth, &c.] The beauty of holineſs, as the temple is often called, whoſe deſtruction will affect you with the tendereſt concern.

23 Ye ſhall not mourn, &c.] Theſe terrible judgments ſhall ſtrike you with ſuch poignant grief, as is too great to be expreſſed by words or actions.

24 Ye ſhall know that I am the Lord God, &c.] Comparing the prediction with the event will convince the moſt obſtinate, that the judgments inflicted upon you come immediately from God.

25 When I take from them their ſtrength, the joy of their glory, &c.] The temple, whoſe beauty and magnificence were their moſt peculiar glory; together with their ſons and daughters, whereon they placed their affection. Lowth.

the joy of their glory, the desire of their eyes, and that whereupon they set their minds, their sons, and their daughters;

26 That he that escapeth in that day shall come unto thee to cause thee to hear it with thine ears?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speak, and be no more dumb: and thou shalt be a sign unto them; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXV.

1 God's vengeance for their insolence against the Jews, on the Ammonites, 8 Moab, and Seir, 12 Edom, 15 and the Philistines.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesy against them;

3 And say unto the Ammonites, Hear the word of the Lord GOD; Thus saith the Lord GOD; Because thou saidst, Aha, against my sanctuary, when it was profaned; and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate; and against the house of Judah, when they went into captivity;

4 Behold therefore, I will deliver thee to the men of the east for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eat thy fruit, and they shall drink thy milk.

5 And I will make Rabbah a stable for camels, and the Ammonites a couching-place for flocks: and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

6 For thus saith the Lord GOD; Because thou hast clapped thine hands, and stamped with the feet, and rejoiced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel;

7 Behold therefore, I will stretch out mine hand upon thee, and will deliver thee for a spoil to the heathen; and I will cut thee off from the people, and I will cause thee to perish out of the countries: I will destroy thee; and thou shalt know that I am the LORD.

8 ¶ Thus saith the Lord GOD; Because that Moab and Seir do say, Behold, the house of Judah is like unto all the heathen;

9 Therefore behold, I will open the side of Moab from the cities, from his cities which are on his frontiers, the glory of the country Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim,

10 Unto the men of the east with the Ammonites, and I will give them in possession, that the Ammonites may not be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute judgements upon Moab; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord GOD; Because that Edom hath dealt against the house of Judah by taking vengeance, and hath greatly offended, and revenged himself upon them;

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; I will also stretch out mine hand upon Edom, and will cut off man and beast from it; and I will make it desolate from Teman; and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will lay my vengeance upon Edom by the hand of my people Israel: and they shall do in Edom according to mine anger and according to my fury: and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord GOD.

15 ¶ Thus saith the Lord GOD; Because the Philistines have dealt by revenge, and have 27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened, &c.] From this time to the time the news arrives of the city's being taken, thou shalt not prophesy any more to thine own people, but then I will give you a new commission, and thou shalt speak with freedom and plainness, not by signs, as thou dost at present. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 3 Because thou saidst, Aha, against my sanctuary, &c.] The Ammonites, Moabites, and Edomites, though nearly related to the Jews, bore them a constant hatred, and took all opportunities to shew it, when they were under any distress, particularly at the time of the general captivity, and destruction of their city and temple. Lowth.

4 To the men of the east, &c.] To the Chaldeans, who lay to the east of the country of the Ammonites.

5 I will make Rabbah a stable for camels, &c.] Instead of being a city inhabited by men, it shall be a stable for camels, a species of creatures very common in those climates.

8 Because Moab and Seir, &c.] Seir is the same with Edom.

9 Baal-meon.] Called in Joshua xiii. 17, Beth-baal-meon, i. e. the temple of the idol Meon.

12 Hath dealt against the house of Judah.] The Idumeans being the posterity of Esau, bare an inveterate hatred against the Jews, on account of their ancestor's losing his birth-right, and the reduction of Edom afterwards by David. Upon these accounts they embraced every opportunity of venting their malice against them, especially at the time of the captivity, when their cruelty was remarkable, as appears from those pathetic words of the psalmist, Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Jerusalem, how they said, down with it, down with it, even unto the ground. Lowth.

taken vengeance with a deſpiteful heart, to deſtroy it for the old hatred;

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will ſtretch out mine hand upon the Philiſtines, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and deſtroy the remnant of the ſea-coaſt.

17 And I will execute great vengeance upon them with furious rebukes; and they ſhall know that I am the LORD, when I ſhall lay my vengeance upon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Tyrus for inſulting againſt Jeruſalem is threatened. 7 Nebuchadrezzar's power againſt her. 15 The mourning for her.

AND it came to paſs in the eleventh year, in the firſt day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, becauſe that Tyrus hath ſaid againſt Jeruſalem, Aha, ſhe is broken that was the gates of the people: ſhe is turned unto me: I ſhall be repleniſhed, now ſhe is laid waſte:

3 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am againſt thee, O Tyrus, and will cauſe many nations to come up againſt thee, as the ſea cauſeth his waves to come up.

4 And they ſhall deſtroy the walls of Tyrus, and break down her towers: I will alſo ſcrape her duſt from her, and make her like the top of a rock.

5 It ſhall be a place for the ſpreading of nets in the midſt of the ſea: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord GOD: and it ſhall become a ſpoil to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field ſhall be ſlain by the ſword; and they ſhall know that I am the LORD.

7 ¶ For thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will bring upon Tyrus Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, a king of kings, from the north, with horſes, and with chariots, and with horſemen, and companies, and much people.

8 He ſhall ſlay with the ſword thy daughters in the field: and he ſhall make a fort againſt thee, and caſt a mount againſt thee, and lift up the buckler againſt thee.

9 And he ſhall ſet engines of war againſt thy walls, and with his axes he ſhall break down thy towers.

10 By reaſon of the abundance of his horſes their duſt ſhall cover thee: thy walls ſhall ſhake at the noiſe of the horſemen, and of the wheels, and of the chariots, when he ſhall enter into thy gates, as men enter into a city wherein is made a breach.

11 With the hoofs of his horſes ſhall he tread down all thy ſtreets: he ſhall ſlay thy people by the ſword, and thy ſtrong garriſons ſhall go down to the ground.

12 And they ſhall make a ſpoil of thy riches, and make a prey of thy merchandiſe; and they ſhall break down thy walls, and deſtroy thy pleaſant houſes: and they ſhall lay thy ſtones, and thy timber, and thy duſt in the midſt of the water.

13 And I will cauſe the noiſe of thy ſongs to ceaſe; and the ſound of thy harps ſhall be no more heard.

14 And I will make thee like the top of a rock: thou ſhalt be a place to ſpread nets upon; thou ſhalt be built no more: for I the LORD have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord GOD.

15 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord GOD to Tyrus; Shall not the iſles ſhake at the ſound of thy fall, when the wounded cry, when the ſlaughter is made in the midſt of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the ſea ſhall come down from their thrones, and lay away their

Ver. 2 She is broken that was the gates of the people.] i. e. Jeruſalem, where many people reſorted.

I ſhall be repleniſhed now ſhe is laid waſte.] When Jeruſalem was taken, the ſpoil of the city was carried to Tyre for ſale, and ſeveral of the inhabitants that were made captives were ſold there as ſlaves.

4, 5 I will alſo ſcrape her duſt from her, &c.] I will entirely deſtroy all her buildings; ſo that not ſo much as the duſt of them ſhall be left, and nothing ſhall appear but the rocks on the ſea-ſhore, where the city formerly ſtood. 17 And they shall take up a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of sea-faring men, the renowned city, which wast strong in the sea, she and her inhabitants, which cause their terror to be on all that haunt it?

18 Now shall the isles tremble in the day of thy fall; yea, the isles that are in the sea shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord GOD; When I shall make thee a desolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited; when I shall bring up the deep upon thee, and great waters shall cover thee;

20 When I shall bring thee down with them that descend into the pit, with the people of old time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, in places desolate of old, with them that go down to the pit, that thou be not inhabited; and I shall set glory in the land of the living:

21 I will make thee a terror, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou never be found again, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The rich supply of Tyrus. 26 The great and irrecoverable fall thereof.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Now, thou son of man, take up a lamentation for Tyrus;

3 And say unto Tyrus, O thou that art situate at the entry of the sea, which art a merchant of the people for many isles, Thus saith the Lord GOD; O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfect beauty.

4 Thy borders are in the midst of the seas, thy builders have perfected thy beauty.

5 They have made all thy ship-boards of fir-trees of Senir: they have taken cedars from Lebanon to make masts for thee.

6 Of the oaks of Bashan have they made thine oars: the company of the Ashurites have made thy benches of ivory, brought out of the isles of Chittim.

7 Fine linen with broidered work from Egypt was that which thou spreadest forth to be thy sail; blue and purple from the isles of Elishah was that which covered thee.

8 The inhabitants of Zidon and Arvad were thy mariners: thy wise men, O Tyrus, that were in thee, were thy pilots.

9 The ancients of Gebal and the wise men thereof were in thee thy calkers: all the ships of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupy thy merchandise.

10 They of Persia, and of Lud, and of Phut were in thine army, thy men of war: they hanged the shield and helmet in thee; they set forth thy comeliness.

11 The men of Arvad with thine army were

16 All the princes of the sea shall come down from their thrones, &c.] All the princes and rich merchants of Sidon, Carthage, and other maritime cities, who carried on a trade with Tyre, shall express a deep concern for her misfortune.

I shall set glory in the land of the living.] i. e. In Judea, when it shall be restored.

21 I will make thee a terror, &c.] Thou shalt be left in desolation, as a fearful example of my vengeance. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-seventh Chapter.

Ver. 2 Take up a lamentation for Tyrus.] This alludes to the melancholy songs used at funerals, wherein the women recounted every thing that was valuable or praise-worthy in the deceased, and then lamented his loss.

4 Thy borders are in the midst of the sea.] The words are, strictly speaking, a description of new Tyre, which stood in an island.

Thy builders.] i. e. Thy ship-builders.

5 Fir-trees of Shenir.] i. e. Mount Hermon, antiently called Shenir.

6 Isles of Chittim.] Countries adjoining to the Mediterranean, Isaiah xxiii. 1.

7 Fine linen with broidered work from Egypt, &c.] Fine linen was one of the principal commodities of Egypt, and worn by princes and great men. Hence we see to what excess of vanity the Tyrians were arrived, to use such costly manufactures for their sails. Lowth.

Isles of Elishah.] Countries on the coast of Greece: part of Peloponnesus retains the name of Elis among the Greek writers.

9 Gebal.] A province of Phœnicia near Tyre.

10 Lud, and Phut.] Lydia and Libya, part of Africa.

12 Tarshish

upon thy walls round about, and the Gammadims were in thy towers: they hanged their shields upon thy walls round about: they have made thy beauty perfect.

12 Tarshish was thy merchant by reason of the multitude of all kind of riches; with silver, iron, tin, and lead they traded in thy fairs.

13 Javan, Tubal, and Meshech, they were thy merchants: they traded the persons of men and vessels of brass in thy market.

14 They of the house of Togarmah traded in thy fairs with horses, and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants: many isles were the merchandise of thine hand: they brought thee for a present horns of ivory, and ebony.

16 Syria was thy merchant by reason of the multitude of the wares of thy making: they occupied in thy fairs with emeralds, purple, and broidered work, and fine linen, and coral, and agate.

17 Judah, and the land of Israel, they were thy merchants: they traded in thy market wheat of Minnith, and Pannag, and honey, and oil, and balm.

18 Damascus was thy merchant in the multitude of the wares of thy making; for the multitude of all riches; in the wine of Helbon, and white wool.

19 Dan also and Javan going to and fro occupied in thy fairs: bright iron, cassia, and calamus were in thy market.

20 Dedan was thy merchant in precious clothes for chariots.

21 Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar, they occupied with thee in lambs, and rams, and goats: in these were they thy merchants.

22 The merchants of Sheba and Raamah, they were thy merchants: they occupied in thy fairs with chief of all spices, and with all precious stones, and gold.

23 Haran, and Canneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Asshur, and Chilmad were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in all sorts of things, in blue clothes, and broidered work, and in chests of rich apparel, bound with cords, and made of cedar among thy merchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish did sing of thee in thy market; and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the midst of the seas.

26 ¶ Thy rowers have brought thee into great waters: the east-wind hath broken thee in the midst of the seas.

27 Thy riches, and thy fairs, thy merchandise, thy mariners, and thy pilots, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of war that are in thee, and in all thy company which is in the midst of thee, shall fall into the midst of the seas in the day of thy ruin.

28 The suburbs shall shake at the sound of the cry of thy pilots.

29 And all that handle the oar, the mariners, and all the pilots of the sea, shall come down from their ships, they shall stand upon the land;

30 And shall cause their voice to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast up dust upon their heads, they shall wallow themselves in the ashes.

31 And they shall make themselves utterly bald for thee, and gird them with sackcloth, and they shall weep for thee with bitterness of heart, and bitter wailing.

12 Tarshish was thy merchant, &c.] Tarshish was most probably a port of Spain, called by the Greek and Latin authors Tartessus, situated near the place where Cadiz now stands, famous for the pillars of Hercules, the utmost boundary of the ancient navigation. Lowth.

13 Javan, Tubal, and Meshech.] The first signifies Ionia, or Greece; the other Bochart supposes to be those people afterwards called Tibareni and Moschi, situated near the Euxine sea.

They traded the persons of men.] In buying and selling slaves.

15 Horns of ivory.] Septuagint reads, Elephant's teeth.

17 Minnith.] A place belonging to the Ammonites, where the best wheat grew.

Pannag.] Most probably a rich ointment or gum.

18 Helbon.] The same place that is now called Aleppo.

25 Ships of Tarshish.] A general expression for any trading or merchant-ships. The prophet here adds, in comprehensive terms, that all merchants sung or spake great things of her riches.

26 The east-wind hath broken thee, &c.] As the violence of the east-wind occasions many shipwrecks, so the Chaldean army shall ruin thy strength and glory, and leave thee like a wreck cast upon the shore. Lowth.

28 The suburbs.] The cities near thee.

30 Cast dust upon their heads.] See notes on 1 Sam. iv. 12. and Job ii. 12.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 God's judgement upon the prince of Tyrus.
20 The judgement of Zidon.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, ſay unto the prince of Tyrus, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Becauſe thine heart is lifted up, and thou haſt ſaid, I am a god, I ſit in the ſeat of God in the midſt of the ſeas; yet thou art a man, and not God, though thou ſet thine heart as the heart of God:

3 Behold, thou art wiſer than Daniel; there is no ſecret that they can hide from thee:

4 With thy wiſdom and with thine underſtanding thou haſt gotten thee riches, and haſt gotten gold and ſilver into thy treaſures:

5 By thy great wiſdom and by thy traffick haſt thou increaſed thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up becauſe of thy riches:

6 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Becauſe thou haſt ſet thine heart as the heart of God;

7 Behold therefore, I will bring ſtrangers upon thee, the terrible of the nations: and they ſhall draw their ſwords againſt the beauty of thy wiſdom, and they ſhall defile thy brightneſs.

8 They ſhall bring thee down to the pit, and thou ſhalt die the deaths of them that are ſlain in the midſt of the ſeas.

9 Wilt thou yet ſay before him that ſlayeth thee, I am God; but thou ſhalt be a man, and no God, in the hand of him that ſlayeth thee.

10 Thou ſhalt die the deaths of the uncircumciſed, by the hand of ſtrangers: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord GOD.

11 ¶ Moreover, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

12 Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Thou ſealeſt up the ſum, full of wiſdom, and perfect in beauty.

13 Thou haſt been in Eden the garden of God: every precious ſtone was thy covering, the ſardius, topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jaſper, the ſapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanſhip of thy tabrets and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou waſt created.

14 Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth: and I have ſet thee ſo: thou waſt upon ſeparated from the head, and was never more to be joined to it, ſo was the dead for ever ſeparated from the living, never more to return.

36 The merchants among the people ſhall hiſs at thee, &c.] The Chaldee paraphraſt renders it, they ſhall be aſtoniſhed; and this ſenſe agrees better with the lamentations of the ſea-faring men, ſpoken of in the preceding verſes. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 2 I am a god, I ſit in the ſeat of God in the midſt of the ſeas, &c.] Theſe words are an inſolent boaſt of ſelf-ſufficiency, as if he had ſaid, I neither fear any king, nor ſtand in need of aſſiſtance: I am ſeated in a place of impregnable ſtrength; the ſeas ſurround me; I am free from the aſſaults of an enemy. Lowth.

3 Thou art wiſer than Daniel.] The fame of Daniel's wiſdom was quickly ſpread over Chaldea.

8 The deaths of them that are ſlain in the midſt of the ſeas.] i. e. The deaths of thoſe that periſhed in the flood. Peters.

9 Wilt thou yet ſay before him, &c.] Mortality will certainly convince thee of thy folly in pretending to divine honours.

10 The death of the uncircumciſed, &c.] i. e. Of unbelievers and enemies to God: the Chaldee paraphraſt renders this paſſage, thou ſhalt die the death of the wicked.

12 Thou ſealeſt up the full ſum, &c.] In thy own opinion thou art the perfect pattern of wiſdom and all other excellencies.

13 Thou haſt been in Eden, the garden of God.] As thy ſituation was pleaſant, ſo thou waſt plentifully ſupplied with every thing that could contribute to make thy life agreeable. A ſtate of paradiſe in the common acceptation denotes a condition every way complete and happy.

14 Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth, &c.] Or, protecteth:

the holy mountain of God: thou haſt walked up and down in the midſt of the ſtones of fire.

15 Thou was perfect in thy ways from the day that thou waſt created, till iniquity was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandiſe they have filled the midſt of thee with violence, and thou haſt ſinned: therefore will I caſt thee as profane out of the mountain of God: and I will deſtroy thee, O covering cherub, from the midſt of the ſtones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted up becauſe of thy beauty, thou haſt corrupted thy wiſdom by reaſon of thy brightneſs: I will caſt thee to the ground, I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18 Thou haſt defiled thy ſanctuaries by the multitude of thine iniquities, by the iniquity of thy traffick: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the midſt of thee, it ſhall devour thee, and I will bring thee to aſhes upon the earth in the ſight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people ſhall be aſtoniſhed at thee: thou ſhalt be a terror, and never ſhalt thou be any more.

20 ¶ Again the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

21 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt Zidon, and propheſy againſt it,

22 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am againſt thee, O Zidon; and I will be glorified in the midſt of thee: and they ſhall know that I am the LORD, when I ſhall have executed judgements in her, and ſhall be ſanctified in her.

23 For I will ſend into her peſtilence, and blood into her ſtreets; and the wounded ſhall be judged in the midſt of her by the ſword upon her on every ſide; and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

24 And there ſhall be no more a pricking brier unto the houſe of Iſrael, nor any grieving thorn of all that are round about them that deſpiſed them; and they ſhall know that I am the Lord GOD.

25 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; When I ſhall have gathered the houſe of Iſrael from the people among whom they are ſcattered, and ſhall be ſanctified in them in the ſight of the heathen, then ſhall they dwell in their land that I have given to my ſervant Jacob.

26 And they ſhall dwell ſafely therein, and ſhall build houſes, and plant vineyards: yea, they ſhall dwell with confidence, when I have executed judgements upon all thoſe that deſpiſe them round about them; and they ſhall know that I am the LORD their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 The judgement of Pharaoh. 8 The deſolation of Egypt. 21 Iſrael ſhall be reſtored.

IN the tenth year, in the tenth month, in the twelfth day of the month, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt Pharaoh king of Egypt, and propheſy againſt him, and againſt all Egypt:

3 Speak, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am againſt thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lieth in the midſt of his rivers, which hath ſaid, My river is mine own, and I have made it for my ſelf.

teſteth: the prophet compares the prince of Tyre to a principal cherub, or chief of the angelic hoſt, who attend upon God in heaven, and are repreſented by the cherubims overſhadowing the mercy-ſeat. Lowth.

In the midſt of the ſtones of fire.] Or, among the ſtars. Peters.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandiſe, &c.] Thy ſkill in trade hath degenerated into violence, cheating, and extortion. Lowth.

18 Thou haſt defiled thy ſanctuaries by the multitude of thine iniquities, &c.] This imports a denunciation of God's judgments, for filling their idolatrous temples with riches acquired by injuſtice. Lowth.

22 I will be glorified, &c.] I will make my power and juſtice known by the judgments I will execute upon thee.

24 There ſhall be no more a pricking briar, &c.] My people ſhall dwell quietly and ſecurely in their own land, when the reſt of their wicked neighbours, who continually vexed them, are deſtroyed, and were as ſo many thorns in their ſides. The following verſe ſhows, that this promiſe chiefly relates to the general reſtoration of the Jews, when all the enemies of truth and of the church of God are ſubdued. Lowth.

26 When I have executed judgments, &c.] The prophets conclude their threatnings againſt infidels with gracious promiſes to God's people; implying, that he will not make utter deſtruction of them, as of other people, but reſerve a remnant, to whom he will fulfil the promiſes made to their fathers. Lowth.

Notes on the Twenty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 3 The great dragon that lieth in the midſt of his rivers, &c.] By the dragon is here meant the crocodile, a creature found in the river Nile, to which the prophet compares the king of Egypt, becauſe he valued himſelf upon his dominion over that river. Lowth.

24 Th

4 But I will put hooks in thy jaws, and I will cauſe the fiſh of thy rivers to ſtick unto thy ſcales, and I will bring thee up out of the midſt of thy rivers, and all the fiſh of thy rivers ſhall ſtick unto thy ſcales.

5 And I will leave thee thrown into the wilderneſs, thee and all the fiſh of thy rivers: thou ſhalt fall upon the open fields; thou ſhalt not be brought together, nor gathered: I have given thee for meat to the beaſts of the field and to the fowls of the heaven.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt ſhall know that I am the LORD, becauſe they have been a ſtaff of reed to the houſe of Iſrael.

7 When they took hold of thee by thy hand, thou didſt break, and rend all their ſhoulder: and when they leaned upon thee, thou breakeſt, and madeſt all their loins to be at a ſtand.

8 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will bring a ſword upon thee, and cut off man and beaſt out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt ſhall be deſolate and waſte; and they ſhall know that I am the LORD; becauſe he hath ſaid, The river is mine, and I have made it.

10 Behold therefore, I am againſt thee, and againſt thy rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waſte and deſolate, from the tower of Syene even unto the border of Ethiopia.

11 No foot of man ſhall paſs through it, nor foot of beaſt ſhall paſs through it, neither ſhall it be inhabited forty years.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt deſolate in the midſt of the countries that are deſolate, and her cities among the cities that are laid waſte ſhall be deſolate forty years: and I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will diſperſe them through the countries.

13 Yet thus ſaith the Lord GOD; At the end of forty years will I gather the Egyptians from the people whither they were ſcattered:

14 And I will bring again the captivity of Egypt, and will cauſe them to return into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation; and they ſhall be there a baſe kingdom.

15 It ſhall be the baſeſt of the kingdoms; neither ſhall it exalt it ſelf any more above the nations: for I will diminiſh them, that they ſhall no more rule over the nations.

16 And it ſhall be no more the confidence of the houſe of Iſrael, which bringeth their iniquity to remembrance, when they ſhall look after them: but they ſhall know that I am the Lord GOD.

17 ¶ And it came to paſs in the ſeven and twentieth year, in the firſt month, in the firſt day of the month, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

18 Son of man, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon cauſed his army to ſerve a great ſervice againſt Tyrus: every head was made bald, and every ſhoulder was peeled; yet had he no wages nor his army for Tyrus, for the ſervice that he had ſerved againſt it:

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will give the land of Egypt unto Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon; and he ſhall take her multitude, and take her ſpoil, and take her prey; and it ſhall be the wages for his army.

20 I have given him the land of Egypt for his labour wherewith he ſerved againſt it, becauſe they wrought for me, ſaith the Lord GOD.

21 ¶ In that day will I cauſe the horn of the houſe of Iſrael to bud forth, and I will give thee the opening of the mouth in the midſt of them; and they ſhall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The deſolation of Egypt, and her helpers. 20

4 The fiſh of thy rivers.] Thy ſubjects.

6 They have been a ſtaff of reed to the houſe of Iſrael, &c.] The expreſſion alludes to the canes or reeds that grow on the banks of the Nile, on which, if a man leaned, they brake, and the ſplinters ran into his hand. Lowth.

14 Pathros.] That part of Egypt which is called Thebais. Bochart.

15 The baſeſt of kingdoms.] On the failure of the Perſian empire, Egypt became ſubject to the Macedonians, after them to the Romans, then to the Saracens, then to the Mammalukes, and is now a province of the Turkiſh empire. Prideaux.

18 Every head was made bald, &c.] This ſiege laſted thirteen years: the heads of the ſoldiers became bald by continually wearing their helmets, and their ſkin was worn off their ſhoulders with carrying earth to raiſe fortifications.

He had no wages, &c.] The inhabitants had moved their effects to new Tyre, ſo that he was diſappointed of the ſpoil of the city.

21 The horn of the houſe of Iſrael, &c.] The word horn implies ſtrength, and thence is uſed to denote proſperity or a flouriſhing condition.

The arm of Babylon shall be strengthened to break the arm of Egypt.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Howl ye, Wo worth the day!

3 For the day is near, even the day of the LORD is near, a cloudy day; it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come upon Egypt, and great pain shall be in Ethiopia, when the slain shall fall in Egypt, and they shall take away her multitude, and her foundations shall be broken down.

5 Ethiopia, and Libya, and Lidya, and all the mingled people, and Chub, and the men of the land that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the LORD; They also that uphold Egypt shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come down: from the tower of Syene shall they fall in it by the sword, saith the Lord GOD.

7 And they shall be desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the midst of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the LORD, when I have set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall messengers go forth from me in ships to make the careless Ethiopians afraid, and great pain shall come upon them, as in the day of Egypt: for lo, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord GOD; I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon.

11 He and his people with him, the terrible of the nations, shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slain.

12 And I will make the rivers dry, and sell the land into the hand of the wicked: and I will make the land waste, and all that is therein, by the hand of strangers: I the LORD have spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord GOD; I will also destroy the idols, and I will cause their images to cease out of Noph; and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt: and I will put a fear in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and will execute judgements in No.

15 And I will pour my fury upon Sin, the strength of Egypt; and I will cut off the multitude of No.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall have great pain, and No shall be rent asunder, and Noph shall have distresses daily.

17 The young men of Aven and of Pibeseth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captivity.

18 At Tehaphnehes also the day shall be darkened, when I shall break there the yokes of Egypt: and the pomp of her strength shall cease in her: as for her, a cloud shall cover her, and her daughters shall go into captivity.

19 Thus will I execute judgements in Egypt: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

20 ¶ And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first month, in the seventh day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

Notes on the Thirtieth Chapter.

Ver. 3 A cloudy day it shall be, &c.] When the calamities that are coming upon Egypt shall make every thing look dark and dismal: it shall be the time of the punishment of the Egyptians and their allies.

5 All the mingled people.] All their auxiliaries.

12 I will make the rivers dry, &c.] I will destroy the strength of Egypt: the metaphor is taken from the decrease or failing of the Nile, upon the overflowings of which all the plenty and prosperity of Egypt depended. Lowth.

13 I will cause their images to cease out of Noph.] Noph or Memphis was one of the principal cities of Egypt, a seat of their kings, and a place where their sepulchres were made.

I will put a fear, &c.] Make them faint-hearted, and not able to defend themselves against their enemies.

14 In Zoan.] Zoan was one of the ancient cities of Egypt; the metropolis of the kingdom in the time of Moses.

In No.] Called in the following verse the multitude of No, or Hamon No; was probably the same with the city of Thebes, famous for its hundred gates. See note on Jer. xlvi. 25.

15 I will pour my fury upon Sin, &c.] Probably the same with Pelusium, one of the seven mouths of the Nile, commonly called the key of Egypt.

17 Aven.] The same as On, Gen. xli. 45. afterwards called Heliopolis, where a temple was dedicated to the sun.

18 When I shall break the yokes of Egypt, &c.] Shall set those at liberty that are oppressed by the bondage of Egypt.

21 Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and lo, it ſhall not be bound up to be healed, to put a roller to bind it, to make it ſtrong to hold the ſword.

22 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am againſt Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will break his arms, the ſtrong, and that which was broken: and I will cauſe the ſword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will diſperſe them through the countries.

24 And I will ſtrengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and put my ſword in his hand: but I will break Pharaoh's arms, and he ſhall groan before him with the groanings of a deadly wounded man.

25 But I will ſtrengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and the arms of Pharaoh ſhall fall down: and they ſhall know that I am the LORD, when I ſhall put my ſword into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall ſtretch it out upon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and diſperſe them among the countries; and they ſhall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 A relation unto Pharaoh 3 of the glory of Aſſyria, 10 and the fall thereof for pride. 18 The like deſtruction of Egypt.

AND it came to paſs in the eleventh year, in the third month, in the firſt day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, ſpeak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude; Whom art thou like in thy greatneſs?

3 ¶ Behold, the Aſſyrian was a cedar in Lebanon with fair branches, and with a ſhadowing ſhroud, and of an high ſtature; and his top was among the thick boughs.

4 The waters made him great, the deep ſet him up on high with her rivers running round about his plants, and ſent out her little rivers unto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted above all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches became long becauſe of the multitude of waters, when he ſhot forth.

6 All the fowls of heaven made their neſts in his boughs, and under his branches did all the beaſt of the field bring forth their young, and under his ſhadow dwelt all great nations.

7 Thus was he fair in his greatneſs, in the length of his branches: for his root was by great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: the fir-trees were not like his boughs, and the cheſnut-trees were not like his branches; nor any tree in the garden of God was like unto him in his beauty.

9 I have made him fair by the multitude of his branches: ſo that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the LORD GOD; Becauſe thou haſt lifted up thy ſelf in height, and he hath ſhot up his top among the thick boughs, and his heart is lifted up in his height;

11 I have therefore delivered him into the hand of the mighty one of the heathen: he ſhall ſurely deal with him; I have driven him out for his wickedneſs.

12 And ſtrangers, the terrible of the nations have cut him off, and have left him: upon the mountains, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are broken by all the rivers of the land; and all the peo-

Notes on the Thirty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 3 The Aſſyrian was a cedar in Lebanon, &c.] The king of Nineveh is here compared to a tall cedar, ſuch as grew on mount Lebanon. It was in this prince's reign, that Nabupolaſſar king of Babylon, and Cyaxeres king of Media, called by the names of Nebuchadonoſor and Aſſuerus in Tobit xiv. 15. joined their forces and beſieged Nineveh; and, after a long ſiege, took and utterly deſtroyed that great and famous city, and put an end to that part of the Aſſyrian empire. In this remarkable cataſtrophe, the prophecies of Nahum, Jonah, and Zephaniah, foretelling the deſtruction of Nineveh, were fulfilled. Lowth.

4 The waters made him great.] The traffick carried on by the navigation of the river Tigris, on which Nineveh was built, made him rich.

6 All the fowls of heaven made their neſts, &c.] Several nations applied to him for protection.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him, &c.] He over-topped the cedars, called in Hebrew the cedars of God; ſuch as may be ſuppoſed to have grown in paradiſe.

9 All the trees of Eden.] All the kings of the Eaſt.

ple of the earth are gone down from his ſhadow, and have left him.

13 Upon his ruin ſhall all the fowls of the heaven remain, and all the beaſts of the field ſhall be upon his branches:

14 To the end that none of all the trees by the waters exalt themſelves for their height, neither ſhoot up their top among the thick boughs, neither their trees ſtand up in their height, all that drink water: for they are all delivered unto death to the nether parts of the earth in the midſt of the children of men, with them that go down to the pit.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; In the day when he went down to the grave, I cauſed a mourning: I covered the deep for him, and I reſtrained the floods thereof, and the great waters were ſtayed: and I cauſed Lebanon to mourn for him; and all the trees of the field fainted for him.

16 I made the nations to ſhake at the ſound of his fall, when I caſt him down to hell with them that deſcend into the pit: and all the trees of Eden, the choice and beſt of Lebanon, all that drink water, ſhall be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They alſo went down into hell with him unto them that be ſlain with the ſword; and they that were his arm, that dwelt under his ſhadow in the midſt of the heathen.

18 ¶ To whom art thou thus like in glory and in greatneſs among the trees of Eden? yet ſhalt thou be brought down with the trees of Eden unto the nether parts of the earth: thou ſhalt lie in the midſt of the uncircumciſed with them that be ſlain by the ſword. This is Pharaoh, and all his multitude, ſaith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XXXII.

A lamentation for the fearful fall of Egypt.

AND it came to paſs in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, in the firſt day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, take up a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and ſay unto him, Thou art like a young lion of the nations, and thou art as a whale in the ſeas: and thou cameſt forth with thy rivers, and troubledſt the waters with thy feet, and fouledſt their rivers.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; I will therefore ſpread out my net over thee, with a company of many people; and they ſhall bring thee up in my net.

4 Then will I leave thee upon the land, I will caſt thee forth upon the open field, and will cauſe all the fowls of the heaven to remain upon thee, and I will fill the beaſts of the whole earth with thee.

5 And I will lay thy fleſh upon the mountains, and fill the valleys with thy height.

6 I will alſo water with thy blood the land wherein thou ſwimmeſt, even to the mountains; and the rivers ſhall be full of thee.

7 And when I ſhall put thee out, I will cover the heaven, and make the ſtars thereof dark; I will cover the ſun with a cloud, and the moon ſhall not give her light.

8 All the bright lights of heaven will I make dark over thee, and ſet darkneſs upon thy land, ſaith the Lord GOD.

9 I will alſo vex the hearts of many people,

13 Upon his ruin ſhall all the fowls of heaven remain, &c.] i. e. His dominions ſhall be a prey to the conquerors.

14 That none of all the trees by the waters exalt themſelves, &c.] Thy deſtruction ſhall be a warning to other kings, to deter them from exalting themſelves in their proſperity.

15 I cauſed a mourning: and covered the deep for him, &c.] Or, it might be better, I covered the deep with mourning. The deep that nurſed this fair tree is deſcribed as mourning its downfal.

I cauſed Lebanon to mourn for him, &c.] The foreſt of Lebanon, and all its ſtately trees ſympathized in his misfortunes, i. e. all his confederates and allies.

18 To whom art thou thus like in glory, &c.] The prophet now applies himſelf to the king of Egypt, and aſks him, Wilt thou ſtill boaſt thyſelf as if no prince was thine equal? Remember, that thou ſhalt undergo the ſame fate with the king of Aſſyria.

This is Pharaoh, &c.] The judgments that befel the king of Aſſyria, here deſcribed, is an exact repreſentation of the deſtruction of Pharaoh and his people. Lowth.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings ſhall be horribly afraid for thee, when I ſhall brandiſh my ſword before them; and they ſhall tremble at every moment, every man for his own life, in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord GOD; The ſword of the king of Babylon ſhall come upon thee.

12 By the ſwords of the mighty will I cauſe thy multitude to fall, the terrible of the nations all of them: and they ſhall ſpoil the pomp of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof ſhall be deſtroyed.

13 I will deſtroy alſo all the beaſts thereof from beſides the great waters; neither ſhall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hoofs of beaſts trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deep, and cauſe their rivers to run like oil, ſaith the Lord GOD.

15 When I ſhall make the land of Egypt deſolate, and the country ſhall be deſtitute of that whereof it was full, when I ſhall ſmite all them that dwell therein, then ſhall they know that I am the LORD.

16 This is the lamentation wherewith they ſhall lament her: the daughters of the nations ſhall lament her: they ſhall lament for her, even for Egypt, and for all her multitude, ſaith the Lord GOD.

17 ¶ It came to paſs alſo in the twelfth year, in the fifteenth day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying, 18 Son of man, wail for the multitude of Egypt, and caſt them down, even her, and the daughters of the famous nations, unto the nether parts of the earth, with them that go down into the pit.

19 Whom doſt thou paſs in beauty? go down, and be thou laid with the uncircumciſed.

20 They ſhall fall in the midſt of them that are ſlain by the ſword: ſhe is delivered to the ſword: draw her and all her multitudes.

21 The ſtrong among the mighty ſhall ſpeak to him out of the midſt of hell with them that help him: they are gone down, they lye uncircumciſed, ſlain by the ſword.

22 Aſſhur is there and all her company: his graves are about him: all of them ſlain, fallen by the ſword.

23 Whoſe graves are ſet in the ſides of the pit, and her company is round about her grave: all of them ſlain, fallen by the ſword, which cauſed terror in the land of the living.

24 There is Elam and all her multitude round about her grave, all of them ſlain, fallen by the ſword, which are gone down uncircumciſed unto the nether parts of the earth, which cauſed their terror in the land of the living; yet have they born their ſhame with them that go down to the pit.

25 They have ſet her a bed in the midſt of the ſlain with all her multitude: her graves are round about him: all of them uncicumciſed, ſlain by the ſword: though their terror was cauſed in the land of the living, yet have they born their ſhame with them that go down to the pit: he is put in the midſt of them that be ſlain.

26 There is Meſhech, Tubal, and all her multitude: her graves are round about him: all of them uncircumciſed, ſlain by the ſword, though they cauſed their terror in the land of the living.

27 And they ſhall not lie with the mighty

21 The ſtrong among the mighty ſhall ſpeak to him out of the midſt of hell with them that help him, &c.] The prophet has given, in this and the following verſes, a poetical deſcription of the infernal regions; where the ghoſts of their hero-gods, whoſe ſouls they had placed among the ſtars, are repreſented as coming to meet the king of Egypt and his auxiliaries, upon their arrival at the ſame place. Hell ſignifies here the ſtate of the dead.

that are fallen of the uncircumciſed, which are gone down to hell with their weapons of war: and they have laid their ſwords under their heads, but their iniquities ſhall be upon their bones, though they were the terror of the mighty in the land of the living.

28 Yea, thou ſhalt be broken in the midſt of the uncircumciſed, and ſhalt lie with them that are ſlain with the ſword.

29 There is Edom, her kings and all her princes, which with their might are laid by them that were ſlain by the ſword: they ſhall lie with the uncircumciſed, and with them that go down to the pit.

30 There be the princes of the north all of them, and all the Zidonians, which are gone down with the ſlain; with their terror they are aſhamed of their might; and they lie uncircumciſed with them that be ſlain by the ſword, and bear their ſhame with them that go down to the pit.

31 Pharaoh ſhall ſee them, and ſhall be comforted over all his multitude, even Pharaoh and all his army ſlain by the ſword, ſaith the Lord GOD.

32 For I have cauſed my terror in the land of the living: and he ſhall be laid in the midſt of the uncircumciſed with them that are ſlain with the ſword, even Pharaoh and all his multitude, ſaith the LORD GOD.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 By the duty of a watchman, 7 Ezekiel is admoniſhed of his duty. 10 God ſheweth the juſtice of his ways.

AGAIN the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, ſpeak to the children of thy people, and ſay unto them, When I bring the ſword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man of their coaſts, and ſet him for their watchman:

3 If when he ſeeth the ſword come upon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warn the people;

4 Then whoſoever heareth the ſound of the trumpet, and taketh not warning; if the ſword come, and take him away, his blood ſhall be upon his own head.

5 He heard the ſound of the trumpet, and took not warning; his blood ſhall be upon him. But he that taketh warning ſhall deliver his ſoul.

6 But if the watchman ſee the ſword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the ſword come, and take any perſon from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.

7 ¶ So thou, O ſon of man, I have ſet thee a watchman unto the houſe of Iſrael: therefore thou ſhalt hear the word at my mouth, and warn them from me.

8 When I ſay unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou ſhalt ſurely die; if thou doſt not ſpeak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man ſhall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Nevertheleſs, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it; if he do not turn from his way, he ſhall die in his iniquity; but thou haſt delivered thy ſoul.

10 ¶ Therefore, O thou ſon of man, ſpeak unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ye ſpeak, ſaying, If our tranſgreſſions and our ſins be upon us, and we pine away in them, how ſhould we then live?

11 Say unto them, As I live, ſaith the Lord GOD, I have no pleaſure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his 30 There be the princes of the north all of them, and all the Zidonians, &c.] By the princes of the north, the prophet ſeems to mean the Tyrians and their allies, joined here with the Zidonians their near neighbours.

32 I have cauſed my terror in the land of the living, &c.] As theſe kings and nations have been a terror to the world whilſt they lived in it, ſo I will now be a terror to them; eſpecially to Pharaoh and his people, in making them a remarkable example of my vengeance. Lowth.

Notes on the Thirty-third Chapter.

Ver. 5 He that taketh warning ſhall deliver his ſoul.] He ſhall ſave his life from the danger that threatens it. In like manner he who takes warning by the prophet's admonition, ſhall preſerve himſelf from the judgments threatened againſt ſinners.

10 If our tranſgreſſions and our ſins be upon us, and we pine away, &c.] Thou haſt already threatened that we ſhould pine away in our ſins, how then can the promiſes of life belong to us? Theſe are the words of perſons deſpairing of God's mercy, and from thence taking encouragement to continue in their ſins. Lowth.

way, and live: turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

12 Therefore, thou son of man, say unto the children of thy people, The righteousness of the righteous shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression: as for the wickedness of the wicked, he shall not fall thereby in the day that he turneth from his wickedness; neither shall the righteous be able to live for his righteousness in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say to the righteous, that he shall surely live; if he trust to his own righteousness, and commit iniquity, all his righteousness shall not be remembered; but for his iniquity that he hath committed he shall die for it.

14 Again, when I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die: if he turn from his sin, and do that which is lawful and right;

15 If the wicked restore the pledge, give again that he robbed, walk in the statutes of life without committing iniquity; he shall surely live, he shall not die.

16 None of his sins that he hath committed shall be mentioned unto him: he hath done that which is lawful and right; he shall surely live.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, The way of the Lord is not equal: but as for them, their way is not equal.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, he shall even die thereby.

19 But if the wicked turn from his wickedness, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal. O ye house of Israel, I will judge you every one after his ways.

21 ¶ And it came to pass in the twelfth year of our captivity, in the tenth month, in the fifth day of the month, that one that had escaped out of Jerusalem came unto me, saying, The city is smitten.

22 Now the hand of the LORD was upon me in the evening afore he that was escaped came, and had opened my mouth until he came to me in the morning; and my mouth was opened, and I was no more dumb.

23 Then the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

24 Son of man, they that inhabit those wastes of the land of Israel speak, saying, Abraham was one, and he inherited the land: but we are many; the land is given us for inheritance.

25 Wherefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Ye eat with the blood, and lift up your eyes toward your idols, and shed blood; and shall ye possess the land?

26 Ye stand upon your sword, ye work abomination, and ye defile every one his neighbour's wife; and shall ye possess the land?

27 Say thou thus unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; As I live, surely they that are in the wastes shall fall by the sword, and him that is in the open field will I give to the beasts to be devoured, and they that be in the forts and in the caves shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land most desolate, and the pomp of her strength shall cease; and the mountains of Israel shall be desolate, that none shall pass through.

29 Then shall they know that I am the LORD, when I have laid the land most desolate, because of all their abominations which they have committed.

13 If he trust to his own righteousness, &c.] If he rely upon the good works he hath done, and think the worth of them will over-balance the guilt of his evil deeds.

21 In the twelfth year of our captivity, &c.] The news of the taking and burning of Jerusalem was brought to that part of the Babylonish dominions where the Jewish captives were placed, in about a year and four months after the calamity happened.

24 Abraham was one, and he inherited the land, &c.] If Abraham being only a single person, had the whole country of Judea given to him, there is much greater reason to conclude, that God will preserve the possession of it to us, who are a numerous part of Abraham's posterity. These men spake after the vain manner of the Jews, who fondly presume, that they have a right to all the promises made to Abraham. The title of one is given to that patriarch in other places of scripture, because he was singled out from the rest of his family, to be the head of the Jewish nation. Lowth.

25 Ye eat with the blood.] Which was several times forbidden in the law, as being a heathen rite.

26 Ye stand upon your sword.] Ye make your strength the law of justice.

27 They that be in the forts, &c.] The caves here mentioned were a set of strong holds formed by nature in the rocks, or cut out in the sides of the mountains. They were so large that men might secure themselves, their families, and goods in them. Such was the cave of Adulam, where David had his residence for some time.

30 Alſo thou ſon of man, the children of thy people ſtill are talking againſt thee by the walls and in the doors of the houſes, and ſpeak one to another, every one to his brother, ſaying, Come, I pray you, and hear what is the word that cometh forth from the LORD.

31 And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they ſit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they ſhew much love, but their heart goeth after their covetouſneſs.

32 And lo, thou art unto them as a very lovely ſong of one that hath a pleaſant voice, and can play well on an inſtrument: for they hear thy words, but they do them not.

33 And when this cometh to paſs, (lo, it will come,) then ſhall they know that a prophet hath been among them.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 Bad ſhepherds reproved. 7 Their judgement. 11 God's providence for his flock. 20 The kingdom of Chriſt.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, propheſy againſt the ſhepherds of Iſrael, propheſy, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD unto the ſhepherds; Wo be to the ſhepherds of Iſrael that do feed themſelves! ſhould not the ſhepherds feed the flocks?

3 Ye eat the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool, ye kill them that are fed: but ye feed not the flock.

4 The diſeaſed have ye not ſtrengthened, neither have ye healed that which was ſick, neither have ye bound up that which was broken, neither have ye brought again that which was driven away, neither have ye ſought that which was loſt; but with force and with cruelty have ye ruled them.

5 And they were ſcattered becauſe there is no ſhepherd: and they became meat to all the beaſts of the field when they were ſcattered.

6 My ſheep wandered through all the mountains, and upon every high hill; yea, my flock was ſcattered upon all the face of the earth, and none did ſearch or ſeek after them.

7 ¶ Therefore, ye ſhepherds, hear the word of the LORD;

8 As I live, ſaith the Lord GOD, ſurely becauſe my flock became a prey, and my flock became meat to every beaſt of the field, becauſe there was no ſhepherd, neither did my ſhepherds ſearch for my flock, but the ſhepherds fed themſelves, and fed not my flock;

9 Therefore, O ye ſhepherds, hear the word of the LORD;

10 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am againſt the ſhepherds: and I will require my flock at their hand, and cauſe them to ceaſe from feeding the flock; neither ſhall the ſhepherds feed themſelves any more: for I will deliver my flock from their mouth, that they may not be meat for them.

11 ¶ For thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold I, even I, will both ſearch my ſheep, and ſeek them out.

12 As a ſhepherd ſeeketh out his flock in the day that he is among his ſheep that are ſcattered; ſo will I ſeek out my ſheep, and will deliver them out of all places where they have been ſcattered in the cloudy and dark day.

30 Againſt thee.] Rather, about thee.

31 After their covetouſneſs.] After their ſinful pleaſures. Clark.

32 Thou art unto them as a very lovely ſong.] They come to hear thee for their entertainment, not for their edification.

Notes on the Thirty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 2 The ſhepherds of Iſrael, &c.] The word ſhepherd in the prophetical writings comprehends both civil and eccleſiaſtical governors; princes being called ſhepherds of their people, as well as thoſe who have the immediate care of their ſouls.

That do feed themſelves, &c.] That regard their own advantage, not the good of the people committed to their care.

3 Ye kill them that are fed, &c.] Ye take away the lives of the wealthy, that ye may enrich yourſelves with their eſtates.

4 The diſeaſed have ye not ſtrengthened.] Ye have not applied proper remedies to the neceſſities of your people.

6 My ſheep wandered through all the mountains, &c.] My people have been forced to leave their habitations, and fly to any place where they might hope for protection.

10 I will require my flock at their hand, &c.] I will require a ſevere account from their kings and princes, their prieſts and prophets, of the damage my people have ſuſtained through their ill management; and I will deprive them of that honour and pre-eminence which they have made ſuch ill uſe of.

12 So will I ſeek out my ſheep, &c.] I will bring them home from their ſeveral diſperſions, whither they have been driven in the diſmal time of the deſtruction of their country, and their miſerable captivity.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their own land, and feed them upon the mountains of Iſrael by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the country.

14 I will feed them in a good paſture, and upon the high mountains of Iſrael ſhall their fold be: there ſhall they lie in a good fold, and in a fat paſture ſhall they feed upon the mountains of Iſrael.

15 I will feed my flock, and I will cauſe them to lie down, ſaith the Lord GOD.

16 I will ſeek that which was loſt, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will ſtrengthen that which was ſick: but I will deſtroy the fat and the ſtrong; I will feed them with judgement.

17 And as for you, O my flock, thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I judge between cattle and cattle, between the rams and the he-goats.

18 Seemeth it a ſmall thing unto you to have eaten up the good paſture, but ye muſt tread down with your feet the reſidue of your paſtures? and to have drunk of the deep waters, but ye muſt foul the reſidue with your feet?

19 And as for my flock, they eat that which ye have troden with your feet, and they drink that which ye have fouled with your feet.

20 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD unto them, Behold, I, even I, will judge between the fat cattle and between the lean cattle.

21 Becauſe ye have thruſt with ſide and with ſhoulder, and puſhed all the diſeaſed with your horns, till ye have ſcattered them abroad;

22 Therefore will I ſave my flock, and they ſhall no more be a prey; and I will judge between cattle and cattle.

23 And I will ſet up one ſhepherd over them, and he ſhall feed them, even my ſervant David: he ſhall feed them, and he ſhall be their ſhepherd.

24 And I the LORD will be their God, and my ſervant David a prince among them: I the LORD have ſpoken it.

25 And I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cauſe the evil beaſts to ceaſe out of the land: and they ſhall dwell ſafely in the wilderneſs, and ſleep in the woods.

26 And I will make them and the places round about my hill a bleſſing; and I will cauſe the ſhower to come down in his ſeaſon; there ſhall be ſhowers of bleſſing.

27 And the tree of the field ſhall yield her fruit, and the earth ſhall yield her increaſe, and they ſhall be ſafe in their land, and ſhall know that I am the LORD, when I have broken the bands of their yoke, and delivered them out of the hand of thoſe that ſerved themſelves of them.

28 And they ſhall no more be a prey to the heathen, neither ſhall the beaſts of the land devour them; but they ſhall dwell ſafely, and none ſhall make them afraid.

29 And I will raiſe up for them a plant of renown, and they ſhall be no more conſumed with hunger in the land, neither bear the ſhame of the heathen any more.

30 Thus ſhall they know that I the LORD their GOD am with them, and that they, even the houſe of Iſrael, are my people, ſaith the Lord GOD.

31 And ye my flock, the flock of my paſture, are men, and I am your God, ſaith the Lord GOD.

---

13 I will bring them out from the people, &c.] This prophecy was, in ſome degree, fulfilled in the return of the Jews from captivity: but it ſeems ſtill to look farther, even to the general reſtoration of all the ſeed of Abraham.

16 I will ſeek that which was loſt, &c.] The Meſſiah whom I will ſet over them ſhall faithfully diſcharge all the offices of a ſhepherd towards them, which their former paſtors have neglected.

I will deſtroy the fat and the ſtrong.] i. e. The oppreſſors.

17 Between the rams and the he-goats.] Between ſtrong and weak cattle; i. e. between the rich and poor.

21 Ye have thruſt with ſide and ſhoulder.] In purſuance of this compariſon, oppreſſors of the weak are ſtiled in ſcripture by the names of oxen, bullocks, rams, and he-goats.

He ſhall feed them, &c.] This prophecy was remarkably fulfilled, when Chriſt, by the preaching of the goſpel, gathered in one the children of God which were ſcattered abroad; but it will receive a farther completion at the general converſion of the Jews, when this glorious event will complete the fulneſs of the Gentiles. Lowth.

29 A plant of renown.] The Meſſiah is often deſcribed under the name of a branch.

31 Ye my flock, the flock of my paſture are men, &c.] Theſe words, at the concluſion of the chapter, explain the metaphor which

CHAP. XXXV.

The judgement of mount Seir for their hatred of Iſrael.

MOreover, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt mount Seir, and propheſy againſt it,

3 And ſay unto it, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, O mount Seir, I am againſt thee, and I will ſtretch out mine hand againſt thee, and I will make thee moſt deſolate.

4 I will lay thy cities waſte, and thou ſhalt be deſolate, and thou ſhalt know that I am the LORD.

5 Becauſe thou haſt had a perpetual hatred, and haſt ſhed the blood of the children of Iſrael by the force of the ſword, in the time of their calamity, in the time that their iniquity had an end:

6 Therefore, as I live, ſaith the Lord GOD, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood ſhall purſue thee: ſith thou haſt not hated blood, even blood ſhall purſue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir moſt deſolate, and cut off from it him that paſſeth out, and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountains with his ſlain men: in thy hills, and in thy valleys, and in all thy rivers ſhall they fall that are ſlain with the ſword.

9 I will make thee perpetual deſolations, and thy cities ſhall not return: and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

10 Becauſe thou haſt ſaid, Theſe two nations and theſe two countries ſhall be mine, and we will poſſeſs it, whereas the LORD was there;

11 Therefore, as I live, ſaith the Lord GOD, I will even do according to thine anger and according to thine envy which thou haſt uſed out of thy hatred againſt them; and I will make my ſelf known amongſt them, when I have judged thee.

12 And thou ſhalt know that I am the LORD, and that I have heard all thy blaſphemies which thou haſt ſpoken againſt the mountains of Iſrael, ſaying, They are laid deſolate, they are given us to conſume.

14 Thus with your mouth ye have boaſted againſt me, and have multiplied your words againſt me: I have heard them.

14 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; When the whole earth rejoiceth, I will make thee deſolate.

15 As thou didſt rejoice at the inheritance of the houſe of Iſrael, becauſe it was deſolate, ſo will I do unto thee: thou ſhalt be deſolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea, even all of it: and they ſhall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 The land of Iſrael is comforted by the heathen's deſtruction, 8 and God's bleſſing.

ALSO, thou ſon of man, propheſy unto the mountains of Iſrael, and ſay, Ye mountains of Iſrael, hear the word of the LORD:

2 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Becauſe the enemy hath ſaid againſt you, Aha, even the ancient high places are ours in poſſeſſion:

3 Therefore propheſy, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Becauſe they have made you deſolate, and ſwallowed you up on every ſide, which runs through the whole, that what was ſaid of a flock and its ſhepherd, is to be underſtood of men and their governors; and eſpecially of God's people, whom he takes care of as a ſhepherd does of his flock. Lowth.

Notes on the Thirty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Mount Seir.] The ſame with Idumea.

6 Sith thou haſt not hated blood, &c.] Since thou haſt taken delight in ſhedding blood, vengeance ſhall purſue thee, and thou ſhalt fall into the hands of thoſe that will be as eager to ſhed thine. Lowth.

9 Thy cities ſhall not return.] Septuagint and Vulgate read, Shall not be inhabited, or rebuilt.

10 Whereas the Lord was there, &c.] They did not believe that God had placed his name there, had choſen it as a place of his peculiar reſidence, and would never quite relinquiſh his property in it. Lowth.

14 When the whole earth rejoiceth, I will make thee deſolate.] When I ſhall reſtore other countries conquered by the king of Babylon to their proſperity, thou ſhalt ſtill lie waſte and deſolate. The Edomites never recovered their country after they were driven out of it by the Nabatheans. Prideaux.

Notes on the Thirty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 2 The ancient high places are ours in poſſeſſion.] The Idumeans boaſted, that they ſhould become maſters of the mountainous parts of Judea, where the ancient fortreſſes were placed, which commanded the reſt of the country.

3 The infamy of the heathen.] Your calamities have made you become a proverb, and a reproach among the heathen, according to the threatnings of the prophets denounced againſt you.

that ye might be a poſſeſſion unto the reſidue of the heathen, and ye are taken up in the lips of talkers, and are an infamy of the people:

4 Therefore, ye mountains of Iſrael, hear the word of the Lord GOD; Thus ſaith the Lord GOD to the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, to the deſolate waſtes, and to the cities that are forſaken, which became a prey and deriſion to the reſidue of the heathen that are round about;

5 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Surely in the fire of my jealouſy have I ſpoken againſt the reſidue of the heathen, and againſt all Idumea, which have appointed my land into their poſſeſſion, with the joy of all their heart, with deſpiteful minds to caſt it out for a prey.

6 Propheſy therefore concerning the land of Iſrael, and ſay unto the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I have ſpoken in my jealouſy and in my fury, becauſe ye have born the ſhame of the heathen:

7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; I have lifted up mine hand, Surely the heathen that are about you, they ſhall bear their ſhame.

8 ¶ But ye, O mountains of Iſrael, ye ſhall ſhoot forth your branches, and yield your fruit to my people of Iſrael: for they are at hand to come.

9 For behold, I am for you, and I will turn unto you, and ye ſhall be tilled and ſown:

10 And I will multiply men upon you, all the houſe of Iſrael, even all of it: and the cities ſhall be inhabited, and the waſtes ſhall be builded:

11 And I will multiply upon you man and beaſt; and they ſhall increaſe and bring fruit: and I will ſettle you after your old eſtates, and will do better unto you than at your beginnings: and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

12 Yea, I will cauſe men to walk upon you, even my people Iſrael; and they ſhall poſſeſs thee, and thou ſhalt be their inheritance, and thou ſhalt no more henceforth bereave them of men.

13 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Becauſe they ſay unto you, Thou land devoureſt up men, and haſt bereaved thy nations;

14 Therefore thou ſhalt devour men no more, neither bereave thy nations any more, ſaith the Lord GOD.

15 Neither will I cauſe men to hear in thee the ſhame of the heathen any more, neither ſhalt thou bear the reproach of the people any more, neither ſhalt thou cauſe thy nations to fall any more, ſaith the Lord GOD.

16 ¶ Moreover, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

17 Son of man, when the houſe of Iſrael dwelt in their own land, they defiled it by their own way and by their doings: their way was before me as the uncleanneſs of a removed woman.

18 Wherefore I poured my fury upon them for the blood that they had ſhed upon the land, and for their idols wherewith they had polluted it:

19 And I ſcattered them among the heathen, and they were diſperſed through the countries: according to their way and according to their doings I judged them.

20 And when they entered into the heathen whither they went, they profaned my holy name, when they ſaid to them, Theſe are the people of the LORD, and are gone forth out of his land.

21 But I had pity for mine holy Name, which the houſe of Iſrael had profaned among the heathen whither they went.

22 Therefore ſay unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; I do not this for your ſakes, O houſe of Iſrael, but for mine holy Name's ſake, which ye have profaned among the heathen whither ye went.

23 And I will ſanctify my great Name, which

5 In the fire of my jealouſy, &c.] In that fervent zeal and concern that I have for my honour.

8 Yield your fruit to my people of Iſrael, &c.] This ſeems to relate to the return of the Jews from Babylon, when they were reſtored to the poſſeſſion of their own country.

11 I will do better unto you than at the beginning.] In beſtowing upon you the bleſſings of the goſpel.

20 When they entered into the heathen, &c.] By theſe evil practices they brought a ſcandal upon my name, and gave occaſion to the heathen to ſay, See what profligate wretches theſe are who call themſelves by the name of God's peculiar people, whom he hath juſtly expelled out of the country which he had given them.

22 For my holy name's ſake.] Purely to vindicate my own honour.

23 I will ſanctify my great name, &c.] I will give illuſtrious was profaned among the heathen, which ye have profaned in the midſt of them; and the heathen ſhall know that I am the LORD, ſaith the Lord GOD, when I ſhall be ſanctified in you before their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land.

25 Then will I ſprinkle clean water upon you, and ye ſhall be clean: from all your filthineſs, and from all your idols will I cleanſe you.

26 A new heart alſo will I give you, and a new ſpirit will I put within you: and I will take away the ſtony heart out of your fleſh, and I will give you an heart of fleſh.

27 And I will put my Spirit within you, and cauſe you to walk in my ſtatutes, and ye ſhall keep my judgements, and do them.

28 And ye ſhall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers; and ye ſhall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will alſo ſave you from all your uncleanneſſes: and I will call for the corn, and will increaſe it, and lay no famine upon you.

30 And I will multiply the fruit of the tree and the increaſe of the field, that ye ſhall receive no more reproach of famine among the heathen.

31 Then ſhall ye remember your own evil ways, and your doings that were not good, and ſhall lothe yourſelves in your own ſight for your iniquities and for your abominations.

32 Not for your ſakes do I this, ſaith the Lord GOD, be it known unto you: be aſhamed and confounded for your own ways, O houſe of Iſrael.

33 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; In the day that I ſhall have cleanſed you from all your iniquities, I will alſo cauſe you to dwell in the cities, and the waſtes ſhall be builded.

34 And the deſolate land ſhall be tilled, whereas it lay deſolate in the ſight of all that paſſed by.

35 And they ſhall ſay, This land that was deſolate is become like the garden of Eden; and the waſte and deſolate and ruined cities are become fenced, and are inhabited.

36 Then the heathen that are left round about you ſhall know that I the LORD build the ruined places, and plant that that was deſolate: I the LORD have ſpoken it, and I will do it.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; I will yet for this be enquired of by the houſe of Iſrael, to do it for them; I will increaſe them with men like a flock.

38 As the holy flock, as the flock of Jeruſalem in her ſolemn feaſts; ſo ſhall the waſte cities be filled with flocks of men; and they ſhall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 By the reſurrection of dry bones, 11 the dead hope of Iſrael is revived. 21 The promiſes of Chriſt's kingdom.

THE hand of the LORD was upon me, and carried me out in the ſpirit of the LORD, and ſet me down in the midſt of the valley which was full of bones,

2 And cauſed me to paſs by them round about: and behold, there were very many in the open valley; and lo, they were very dry.

3 And he ſaid unto me, Son of man, can theſe bones live? And I anſwered, O Lord GOD, thou knoweſt.

4 Again he ſaid unto me, Propheſy upon theſe bones, and ſay unto them, O ye dry bones, hear the word of the LORD.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD unto theſe bones; proofs of my power and goodneſs, and vindicate my honour from the reproaches with which it has been blaſphemed among the heathen becauſe of your evil doings.

The heathen ſhall know that I am the Lord, &c.] The return of the Jews from the Babyloniſh captivity was remarked by the heathen as a ſignal inſtance of God's providence towards them; and their general converſion will be a much more ſignal proof of my fulfilling the promiſes made to their fathers; ſo that the heathens themſelves will be forced to take notice of it. Lowth.

25 I will ſprinkle clean water upon you.] This alludes to the legal purifications made by ſprinkling water upon the unclean perſons, and denotes the ſacrament of baptiſm.

38 As the holy flock, as the flock of Jeruſalem in her ſolemn feaſts, &c.] The ſheep and the lambs deſigned for the ſacrifices, which were offered at the three ſolemn feaſts, were very numerous, and the beſt of their kind. Lowth.

Notes on the Thirty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Carried me out in the ſpirit.] This was performed either by a local tranſlation of the prophet, or elſe by way of viſion.

Behold, I will cauſe breath to enter into you, and ye ſhall live.

6 And I will lay ſinews upon you, and will bring up fleſh upon you, and cover you with ſkin, and put breath in you; and ye ſhall live, and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD.

7 So I propheſied as I was commanded: and as I propheſied there was a noiſe, and behold, a ſhaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the ſinews and the fleſh came up upon them, and the ſkin covered them above: but there was no breath in them.

9 Then ſaid he unto me, Propheſy unto the wind, propheſy, ſon of man, and ſay to the wind; Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe upon theſe ſlain, that they may live.

10 So I propheſied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived, and ſtood up upon their feet an exceeding great army.

11 ¶ Then he ſaid unto me, Son of man, theſe bones are the whole houſe of Iſrael: behold, they ſay, Our bones are dried, and our hope is loſt; we are cut off for our parts.

12 Therefore propheſy, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, O my people, I will open your graves, and cauſe you to come up out of your graves, and bring you into the land of Iſrael.

13 And ye ſhall know that I am the LORD, when I have opened your graves, O my people, and brought you up out of your graves, 14 And ſhall put my Spirit in you, and ye ſhall live, and I ſhall place you in your own land: then ſhall ye know that I the LORD have ſpoken it, and performed it, ſaith the LORD.

15 ¶ The word of the LORD came again unto me, ſaying,

16 Moreover, thou ſon of man, take thee one ſtick, and write upon it, For Judah, and for the children of Iſrael his companions. Then take another ſtick, and write upon it, For Joſeph, the ſtick of Ephraim, and for all the houſe of Iſrael his companions:

17 And join them one to another into one ſtick; and they ſhall become one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people ſhall ſpeak unto thee, ſaying, Wilt thou not ſhew us what thou meaneſt by theſe?

19 Say unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will take the ſtick of Joſeph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Iſrael his fellows, and put them with him, even with the ſtick of Judah, and make them one ſtick, and they ſhall be one in mine hand.

20 And the ſticks whereon thou writeſt ſhall be in thine hand before their eyes.

21 ¶ And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I will take the children of Iſrael from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and will gather them on every ſide, and bring them into their own land:

22 And I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Iſrael; and one king ſhall be king to them all: and they ſhall

4 O ye dry bones, hear the word of the Lord.] A lively repreſentation of the voice of the ſon of God, which all that are in the graves ſhall hear at the laſt day, and ſhall come forth.

7 There was a noiſe, and behold a ſhaking, &c.] Such a noiſe or commotion as we ſuppoſe the bones of an human body would make upon their meeting together again, after having been ſevered one from another. Lowth.

9 Propheſy unto the wind.] Or rather to the ſpirit, implying that vital principle which unites ſoul and body together, and is mentioned as diſtinct from the four winds in the following words.

Come from the four winds, &c.] The words figuratively repreſent the reſtoration of the Jews nations from the ſeveral countries whither they were diſperſed over the world.

10 An exceeding great army.] To ſignify the great numbers they will amount to, when they return from their ſeveral diſperſions, and unite into one body. Lowth.

11 Theſe bones are the whole houſe of Iſrael, &c.] They repreſent the forlorn and deſperate condition to which the whole nation is reduced. Lowth.

12 I will open your graves, &c.] I will reunite you into one body or nation, who now lie ſcattered and diſperſed as the bones in a charnel houſe.

14 Shall put my ſpirit in you, and ye ſhall live, &c.] That principle of life, expreſſed by breath or ſpirit, not excluding that new ſpirit of grace, which God will at that time plentifully beſtow upon them. Lowth.

16 Take thee one ſtick, and write upon it.] See note on Jer. xiii. 4.

17 Join them, &c.] Which denotes uniting the two kingdoms under one prince.

22 One king ſhall be king to them all, &c.] The Meſſiah, who is that one ſhepherd and prince that ſhall rule over them all, as one nation. He is deſcribed as king of the Jews in moſt of the prophecies of the Old Teſtament. Lowth.

be no more two nations, neither ſhall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all:

23 Neither ſhall they defile themſelves any more with their idols, nor with their deteſtable things, nor with any of their tranſgreſſions: but I will ſave them out of all their dwelling-places wherein they have ſinned, and will cleanſe them: ſo ſhall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And David my ſervant ſhall be king over them: and they all ſhall have one ſhepherd: they ſhall alſo walk in my judgements, and obſerve my ſtatutes, and do them.

25 And they ſhall dwell in the land that I have given unto Jacob my ſervant, wherein your fathers have dwelt; and they ſhall dwell therein, even they and their children, and their children's children for ever: and my ſervant David ſhall be their prince for ever.

26 Moreover I will make a covenant of peace with them; it ſhall be an everlaſting covenant with them: and I will place them, and multiply them, and will ſet my ſanctuary in the midſt of them for evermore.

27 My tabernacle alſo ſhall be with them: yea, I will be their God, and they ſhall be my people.

28 And the heathen ſhall know that I the LORD do ſanctify Iſrael, when my ſanctuary ſhall be in the midſt of them for evermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 The army, 8 and malice of Gog. 14 God's judgement againſt him.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man ſet thy face againſt Gog, the land of Magog, the chief prince of Meſhech and Tubal, and propheſy againſt him.

3 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am againſt thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Meſhech and Tubal.

4 And I will turn thee back, and put hooks into thy jaws, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine army, horſes and horſemen, all of them clothed with all ſorts of armour, even a great company with bucklers and ſhields, all of them handling ſwords:

5 Perſia, Ethiopia, and Libya with them; all of them with ſhield and helmet:

6 Gomer, and all his bands; the houſe of Togarmah of the north-quarters, and all his bands; and many people with thee.

7 Be thou prepared, and prepare for thy ſelf, thou and all thy company that are aſſembled unto thee, and be thou a guard unto them.

8 ¶ After many days thou ſhalt be viſited: in the latter years thou ſhalt come into the land that is brought back from the ſword, and is gathered out of many people, againſt the mountains of Iſrael, which have been always waſte: but it is brought forth out of the nations, and they ſhall dwell ſafely all of them.

9 Thou ſhalt aſcend and come like a ſtorm, thou ſhalt be like a cloud to cover the land, thou and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; It ſhall alſo come to paſs, that at the ſame time ſhall things come into thy mind, and thou ſhalt think an evil thought.

11 And thou ſhalt ſay, I will go up to the land of unwalled villages: I will go to them that are at reſt, that dwell ſafely, all of them

26 I will make a covenant of peace with them.] Theſe words may be underſtood in a ſpiritual ſenſe, that God will be reconciled to them through Chriſt, and admit them into that covenant of peace, of which he is the Mediator.

Will ſet my ſanctuary in the midſt of them for evermore.] God's placing firſt his tabernacle, and then his temple among the Jews, was a pledge and token of his preſence among them, and protection over them.

Notes on the Thirty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Set thy face againſt Gog, the land of Magog, &c.] Magog was the ſon of Japhet, from whom the Scythians are generally ſuppoſed to be derived. Dr. Hyde informs us, that the Mogul Tartars are ſtill called by that name. The Turks therefore, who were originally natives of Tartary, are probably here meant by Gog and Magog. The land of Canaan hath, for ſeveral years, been in poſſeſſion of the Turks; nor was the whole ſtrength of Europe ſufficient to recover that land from the infidels in the holy war: God therefore ſeems to have reſerved that work for himſelf, when that country ſhall be the ſcene of ſome extraordinary event of Providence. Lowth.

6 Gomer, and all his bands, the houſe of Togarmah, &c.] Gomer is joined with Magog, Gen. x. 2. and ſeems to ſignify Galatia, Phrygia, and Bithynia, which, with Cappadocia, denoted by Togarmah, comprehends all the north parts of Aſia Minor, which border on the Euxine ſea. Lowth.

8 After many days, &c.] This judgment ſhall be inflicted by God upon thee, after a ſucceſſion of many generations.

11 The land of unwalled villages.] A deſcription of a people that live ſecurely, without any apprehenſion of danger.

dwelling without walls, and having neither bars nor gates,

12 To take a ſpoil, and take a prey; to turn thine hand upon the deſolate places that are now inhabited, and upon the people that are gathered out of the nations, which have gotten cattle and goods that dwell in the midſt of the land.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarſhiſh, with all the young lions thereof, ſhall ſay unto thee, Art thou come to take a ſpoil? haſt thou gathered thy company to take a prey? to carry away ſilver and gold, to take away cattle and goods, to take a great ſpoil?

14 ¶ Therefore, ſon of man, propheſy and ſay unto Gog, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; In that day when my people of Iſrael dwelleth ſafely, ſhalt thou not know it?

15 And thou ſhalt come from thy place out of the north-parts, thou and many people with thee, all of them riding upon horſes, a great company, and a mighty army.

16 And thou ſhalt come up againſt my people of Iſrael, as a cloud to cover the land: it ſhall be in the latter days, and I will bring thee againſt my land, that the heathen may know me, when I ſhall be ſanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Art thou he of whom I have ſpoken in old time by my ſervants the prophets of Iſrael, which propheſied in thoſe days many years, that I would bring thee againſt them?

18 And it ſhall come to paſs at the ſame time, when Gog ſhall come againſt the land of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord GOD, that my fury ſhall come up in my face.

19 For in my jealouſy, and in the fire of my wrath have I ſpoken, Surely in that day there ſhall be a great ſhaking in the land of Iſrael;

20 So that the fiſhes of the ſea, and the fowls of the heaven, and the beaſts of the field, and all creeping things that creep upon the earth, and all the men that are upon the face of the earth, ſhall ſhake at my preſence, and the mountains ſhall be thrown down, and the ſteep places ſhall fall, and every wall ſhall fall to the ground.

21 And I will call for a ſword againſt him throughout all my mountains, ſaith the Lord GOD: every man's ſword ſhall be againſt his brother.

22 And I will plead againſt him with peſtilence and with blood: and I will rain upon him, and upon his bands, and upon the many people that are with him, an overflowing rain, and great hailſtones, fire, and brimſtone.

23 Thus will I magnify my ſelf, and ſanctify myſelf; and I will be known in the eyes of many nations, and they ſhall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 God's judgement upon Gog. 8 Iſrael's victory. 17 The feaſt of the fowls.

THerefore, thou ſon of man, propheſy againſt Gog, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Behold, I am againſt thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Meſhech and Tubal:

2 And I will turn thee back, and leave but

12 The deſolate places that are now inhabited.] Judea is deſcribed as a country that lay deſolate before the Jews return into it.

In the midſt of the land] In Jeruſalem, nearly in the middle of Judea.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarſhiſh, &c.] Theſe were people who carried on a very large trade; the two former dwelling in the eaſt, and the latter often ſailing from the Spaniſh coaſt into the oriental parts, they traded largely with Tyre, which bordered upon Judea.

The young lions.] Their kings, i. e. their chief merchants, who are deſcribed as ſo many princes.

15 All of them riding upon horſes, &c.] The character here given of this people may properly be applied to the Turks, the chief ſtrength of whoſe armies conſiſts in the cavalry, and the great numbers of them which they bring into the field.

17 Of whom I have ſpoken in old time, &c.] The prophet is here ſpeaking of ſome terrible enemy to God's people, who ſhall be ſubdued by the immediate hand of heaven, which victory ſhould be a prelude to the glorious times of peace and proſperity. Lowth.

20 The fiſhes of the ſea, and the fowls of the heaven, &c.] Every part of the creation ſhall bear its ſhare in this calamity, as if the whole frame of nature was convulſed. The prophets often deſcribe God's judgments upon particular countries or perſons, as if they predicted a diſſolution of the whole world, becauſe his particular judgments are as an earneſt of the general judgment, when this diſſolution ſhall actually happen. Lowth.

The mountains ſhall be thrown down, &c.] By the mountains may be underſtood the walls, towers, and other fortifications, which are diſmantled and demoliſhed in time of war.

Notes on the Thirty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 2 I will leave but the ſixth part of thee.] Others render it, I will ſtrike thee with ſix plagues, mentioned chap. xxxviii. ver. 22.

the ſixth part of thee, and will cauſe thee to come up from the north parts, and will bring thee upon the mountains of Iſrael:

3 And I will ſmite thy bow out of thy left hand, and will cauſe thine arrows to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou ſhalt fall upon the mountains of Iſrael, thou and all thy bands, and the people that is with thee: I will give thee unto the ravenous birds of every ſort, and to the beaſts of the field to be devoured.

5 Thou ſhalt fall upon the open field: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord GOD.

6 And I will ſend a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell careleſly in the iſles: and they ſhall know that I am the LORD.

7 So will I make my holy name known in the midſt of my people Iſrael, and I will not let them pollute my holy name any more: and the heathen ſhall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Iſrael.

8 ¶ Behold, it is come, and it is done, ſaith the Lord GOD: this is the day whereof I have ſpoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Iſrael ſhall go forth, and ſhall ſet on fire and burn the weapons, both the ſhields and the bucklers, the bows and the arrows, and the hand-ſtaves and the ſpears, and they ſhall burn them with fire ſeven years:

10 So that they ſhall take no wood out of the field, neither cut down any out of the foreſts; for they ſhall burn the weapons with fire: and they ſhall ſpoil thoſe that ſpoiled them, and rob thoſe that robbed them, ſaith the Lord GOD.

11 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that I will give unto Gog a place there of graves in Iſrael, the valley of the paſſengers on the eaſt of the ſea; and it ſhall ſtop the noſes of the paſſengers: and there they ſhall bury Gog, and all his multitude: and they ſhall call it, The valley of Hamon-gog.

12 And ſeven months ſhall the houſe of Iſrael be burying of them, that they may cleanſe the land.

13 Yea, and all the people of the land ſhall bury them: and it ſhall be to them a renown the day that I ſhall be glorified, ſaith the Lord GOD.

14 And they ſhall ſever out men of continual employment, paſſing through the land to bury with the paſſengers thoſe that remain upon the face of the earth to cleanſe it: after the end of ſeven months ſhall they ſearch.

15 And the paſſengers that paſs through the land, when any ſeeth a man's bone, then ſhall he ſet up a ſign by it, till the buriers have buried it in the valley of Hamon-gog.

16 And alſo the name of the city ſhall be Hamonah. Thus ſhall they cleanſe the land.

17 ¶ And thou ſon of man, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Speak unto every feathered fowl, and to every beaſt of the field; Aſſemble your ſelves, and come; gather your ſelves on every ſide to my ſacrifice that I do ſacrifice for you, even a great ſacrifice upon the mountains of Iſrael, that ye may eat fleſh and drink blood.

18 Ye ſhall eat the fleſh of the mighty, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of rams, of lambs, and of goats, of bullocks, all of them fatlings of Baſhan.

19 And ye ſhall eat fat till ye be full, and drink blood till ye be drunken, of my ſacrifice which I have ſacrificed for you.

20 Thus ye ſhall be filled at my table with horſes and chariots, with mighty men, and with all men of war, ſaith the Lord GOD.

6 Among them that dwell careleſly in the iſles.] Among them that live ſecurely in the countries on the ſea-coaſts.

8 It is come, and it is done, &c.] The time appointed for this great deſtruction is come; it is the laſt and finiſhing ſtroke of God's juſtice on the enemies of his church and truth.

10 They ſhall take no wood out of the field.] The quantity of theſe weapons will afford ſufficient fuel for all that time.

11 The valley of the paſſengers on the eaſt of the ſea, &c.] i. e. The ſea of Genneſareth; the valley near this ſea or lake, is called the valley of the paſſengers, becauſe it was a great road, by which the merchants and traders from Syria, and other eaſtern countries, went into Egypt.

It ſhall ſtop the noſes.] i. e. The ſtink of the carcaſes.

17 Speak unto every feathered fowl, &c.] It was the cuſtom for perſons that offered ſacrifice to invite their friends to the feaſt that was made of the remainder; ſo here the prophet by God's command, invites the beaſts and fowls to partake of the ſacrifice of his enemies ſlain. Lowth.

18 Of rams, of lambs, and of goats.] Of all ranks and kinds, who ſhall be brought like beaſts unto the ſlaughter.

20 Thus ye ſhall be filled at my table, &c.] The feaſt made upon the peace-offerings, or ſacrifices of thankſgiving, is properly called the table of the Lord. Lowth.

21 And I will ſet my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen ſhall ſee my judgement that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid upon them.

22 So the houſe of Iſrael ſhall know that I am the LORD their God from that day and forward.

23 And the heathen ſhall know that the houſe of Iſrael went into captivity for their iniquity: becauſe they treſpaſſed againſt me, therefore hid I my face from them, and gave them into the hand of their enemies: ſo fell they all by the ſword.

24 According to their uncleanneſs, and according to their tranſgreſſions have I done unto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Now will I bring again the captivity of Jacob, and have mercy upon the whole houſe of Iſrael, and will be jealous for my holy name;

26 After that they have born their ſhame, and all their treſpaſſes whereby they have treſpaſſed againſt me, when they dwelt ſafely in their land, and none made them afraid.

27 When I have brought them again from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am ſanctified in them in the ſight of many nations;

28 Then ſhall they know that I am the LORD their God, which cauſed them to be led into captivity among the heathen: but I have gathered them unto their own land, and have left none of them any more there.

29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I have poured out my Spirit upon the houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XL.

1 The time, manner, and end of Ezekiel's viſion.
6 The deſcription of the temple.

IN the five and twentieth year of our captivity, in the beginning of the year, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after that the city was ſmitten, in the ſelf-ſame day the hand of the LORD was upon me, and brought me thither.

2 In the viſions of God brought he me into the land of Iſrael, and ſet me upon a very high mountain, by which was as the frame of a city on the ſouth.

3 And he brought me thither, and behold, there was a man whoſe appearance was like the appearance of braſs, with a line of flax in his hand, and a meaſuring-reed: and he ſtood in the gate.

4 And the man ſaid unto me, Son of man, behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears, and ſet thine heart upon all that I ſhall ſhew thee: for to the intent that I might ſhew them unto thee art thou brought hither: declare all that thou ſeeſt to the houſe of Iſrael.

5 And behold, a wall on the out-ſide of the houſe round about, and in the man's hand a meaſuring-reed of ſix cubits long, by the cubit,

22 So the houſe of Iſrael ſhall know, that I am the Lord their God, &c.] Both by my acts of mercy in returning their captivity, and by my judgments executed upon their enemies.

29 Neither will I hide my face from them.] I will never draw my favour and protection from them.

For I have poured out my ſpirit upon the houſe of Iſrael, &c.] There ſhall be a new effuſion of God's ſpirit upon the Jews, in order to their converſion.

Notes on the Fortieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The hand of the Lord was upon me, &c.] i. e. The prophet felt ſenſible impreſſions of the power and ſpirit of the Almighty.---God having forſaken the city and temple of Jeruſalem, and given them up to deſtruction for the idolatries and other ſins committed there, he ſhows the prophet, in this and the following chapters, the plan of another temple, of the ſame dimenſions with that built by Solomon. David had the pattern of the temple built by his ſucceſſor revealed to him by God; and Moſes had the model of the tabernacle repreſented to him in a viſion, while he continued in mount Sinai. And here the plan of Solomon's temple is again diſcovered to Ezekiel, who, foretelling the deſtruction of this temple by the Chaldeans, ſhews how highly it was valued by the Jews, when he calls it the dwelling-place of their ſtrength, and the deſire of their eyes, chap. xxiv. 21. They indeed conſidered it as the honour, glory, and ſafe-guard of their nation. This fabrick lying in ruins at the time when Ezekiel had this viſion, the Jews ſtood in need of comfort, inſtruction, and promiſes on this occaſion. They would not have been deſirous of returning home, had they received no promiſe of the reſtoration of the temple as well as of their commonwealth; the temple being the pledge of God's preſence among them. Lowth.

2 Set me upon a very high mountain, &c.] Mount Moriah, whereon the temple was built, which is here called a very high mountain; becauſe it repreſents the ſeat of the Chriſtian church, foretold by the prophets, that it ſhould be eſtabliſhed upon the top of the mountains.

3 Like the appearance of braſs, &c.] Of burniſhed braſs, as we read, chap. i. 7. i. e. of a bright or flaming colour. This ſeems to be an inferior angel, becauſe he is diſtinguiſhed from the Divine glory, or the logos appearing in the Shechinah, chap. xliii. 6. Lowth.

5 Of ſix cubits.] The cubit here meant is generally agreed to be equivalent to eighteen inches of our meaſure.

and an hand-breadth: ſo he meaſured the breadth of the building, one reed; and the height, one reed.

6 ¶ Then came he unto the gate which looketh toward the eaſt, and went up the ſtairs thereof, and meaſured the threſhold of the gate, which was one reed broad; and the other threſhold of the gate which was one reed broad.

7 And every little chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad; and between the little chambers were five cubits: and the threſhold of the gate, by the porch of the gate within, was one reed.

8 He meaſured alſo the porch of the gate within, one reed.

9 Then meaſured he the porch of the gate, eight cubits; and the poſts thereof, two cubits; and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the little chambers of the gate eaſtward were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide; they three were of one meaſure: and the poſts had one meaſure on this ſide, and on that ſide.

11 And he meaſured the breadth of the entry of the gate, ten cubits; and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits.

12 The ſpace alſo before the little chambers was one cubit on this ſide, and the ſpace was one cubit on that ſide: and the little chambers were ſix cubits on this ſide, and ſix cubits on that ſide.

13 He meaſured then the gate from the roof of one little chamber to the roof of another: the breadth was five and twenty cubits, door againſt door.

14 He made alſo poſts, of threeſcore cubits, even unto the poſt of the court round about the gate.

15 And from the face of the gate of the entrance unto the face of the porch of the inner gate were fifty cubits.

16 And there were narrow windows to the little chambers, and to their poſts within the gate round about, and likewiſe to the arches: and windows were round about inward: and upon each poſt were palm-trees.

17 Then brought he me into the outward court, and lo, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about: thirty chambers were upon the pavement.

18 And the pavement by the ſide of the gates over-againſt the length of the gates was the lower pavement.

19 Then he meaſured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate unto the forefront of the inner court without, an hundred cubits eaſt-ward and north-ward.

20 And the gate of the outward court that looked toward the north, he meaſured the length thereof and the breadth thereof.

21 And the little chambers thereof were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide: and the poſts thereof and the arches thereof were after the meaſure of the firſt-gate: the length thereof was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

22 And their windows, and their arches, and their palm-trees, were after the meaſure of the gate that looketh towards the eaſt: and they went up unto it by ſeven ſteps; and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court was over-againſt the gate toward the north, and toward the eaſt: and he meaſured from gate to gate an hundred cubits.

24 Ater that he brought me toward the ſouth, and behold, a gate toward the ſouth: and he meaſured the poſts thereof, and the arches thereof according to theſe meaſures.

11 The length of the gate thirteen cubits, &c.] By the length of the gate, Villalpandus underſtands the height, which he ſuppoſes to have been two reeds, or twelve cubits and a half high. But father Lamy explains the expreſſion of the breadth of the walls on each ſide of the gate, which he ſuppoſes to be ſix cubits and a half. Lowth.

14 He made alſo poſts of threeſcore cubits, &c.] The angel made a delineation of the height of the columns which were to ſupport the ſtories or rooms over the arch of the gate, and theſe were ſixty cubits in height. Lowth.

19 From the forefront of the lower gate, under the forefront of the inner court without, an hundred cubits eaſt-ward, &c.] Septuagint reads, An hundred cubits looking eaſtward: then he brought me to the north.

23 The gate of the inner court was over-againſt the gate toward the north, and toward the eaſt, &c.] The words might be tranſlated more plainly thus; and the gate of the inner court was proportionable to the gate that was towards the north, and towards the eaſt. The Septuagint ſeems to countenance this reading.

25 And there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windows: the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

26 And there were seven steps to go up to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palm-trees, one on this side, and another on that side upon the posts thereof.

27 And there was a gate in the inner court toward the south: and he measured from gate to gate toward the south an hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me to the inner court by the south-gate: and he measured the south-gate according to these measures.

29 And the little chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures: and there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

30 And the arches round about were five and twenty cubits long, and five cubits broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the utter court; and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof: and the going-up to it had eight steps.

32 And he brought me into the inner court toward the east: and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the little chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures: and there were windows therein, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the outward court; and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof on this side, and on that side: and the going-up to it had eight steps.

35 And he brought me to the north-gate, and measured it according to these measures;

36 The little chambers thereof, the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, and the windows to it round about: the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

37 And the posts thereof were toward the utter court; and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof on this side, and on that side: and the going-up to it had eight steps.

38 And the chambers and the entries thereof were by the posts of the gates, where they washed the burnt-offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate were two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, to slay thereon the burnt-offering, and the sin-offering, and the trespass-offering.

40 And at the side without, as one goeth up to the entry of the north-gate, were two tables; and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side, by the side of the gate; eight tables, whereupon they slew their sacrifices.

42 And the four tables were of hewn stone for the burnt-offering, of a cubit and an half long, and a cubit and an half broad, and one cubit high: whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt-offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were hooks, an hand-broad, fastened round about: and upon the tables was the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner-gate were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the north-gate; and their prospect was toward the south: one at the side of the east-gate, having the prospect toward the north.

45 And he said unto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the south, is for the priests the keepers of the charge of the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is towards the north, is for the priests the keepers of the charge of the altar. These are the sons of Zadok among the ſons of Levi, which come near to the LORD to miniſter unto him.

42 A cubit and an half long, a cubit, &c.] Septuagint reads, A cubit and a half broad, and two and a half long.

43 Upon the tables was the flesh of the offering.] Septuagint reads, Over the tables was a covering to keep off rain and heat.

46 These are the sons of Zadok among the sons of Levi, &c.] The high-priesthood properly belonged to the family of Zadok, being the eldest house of the sons of Aaron; though that of Ithamar usurped it for some time from Eli, who was high-priest in the time of Samuel to Abiathar, whom Solomon dispossessed, and restored the high-priesthood to the right line, by placing Zadok in his room. The family of Zadok alone is mentioned in this vision, probably because they continued attached to the worship of the true God, when the priests of Ithamar's line forsook it, and fell into idolatry. Lowth.

47 So he meaſured the court, an hundred cubits long, and an hundred cubits broad, four ſquare; and the altar that was before the houſe.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the houſe, and meaſured each poſt of the porch, five cubits on this ſide, and five cubits on that ſide; and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this ſide, and three cubits on that ſide.

49 The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits: and he brought me by the ſteps whereby they went up to it: and there were pillars by the poſts, one on this ſide, and another on that ſide.

CHAP. XLI.

The meaſures, parts, chambers, and ornaments of the temple.

AFterward he brought me to the temple, and meaſured the poſts, ſix cubits broad on the one ſide, and ſix cubits broad on the other ſide, which was the breadth of the tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the door was ten cubits; and the ſides of the door were five cubits on the one ſide, and five cubits on the other ſide: and he meaſured the length thereof, forty cubits; and the breadth, twenty cubits.

3 Then went he inward, and meaſured the poſt of the door, two cubits; and the door, ſix cubits; and the breadth of the door, ſeven cubits.

4 So he meaſured the length thereof, twenty cubits; and the breadth, twenty cubits before the temple. And he ſaid unto me, This is the moſt holy place.

5 After he meaſured the wall of the houſe, ſix cubits; and the breadth of every ſide-chamber, four cubits, round about the houſe on every ſide.

6 And the ſide-chambers were three, one over another, and thirty in order: and they entered into the wall which was of the houſe for the ſide-chambers round about, that they might have hold, but they had not hold in the wall of the houſe.

7 And there was an enlarging and a winding about ſtill upward to the ſide-chambers: for the winding about of the houſe went ſtill upward round about the houſe: therefore the breadth of the houſe was ſtill upward, and ſo increaſed from the loweſt chamber to the higheſt by the midſt.

8 I ſaw alſo the height of the houſe round about: the foundations of the ſide-chambers were a full reed of ſix great cubits.

9 The thickneſs of the wall which was for the ſide-chamber without, was five cubits: and that which was left, was the place of the ſide-chambers that were within.

10 And between the chambers was the wideneſs of twenty cubits round about the houſe on every ſide.

11 And the doors of the ſide-chambers were toward the place that was left, one door toward the north, and another door toward the ſouth: and the breadth of the place that was left, was five cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the ſe-

48 He meaſured each poſt of the porch.] Septuagint, Alexandrine, and Vulgate read, He meaſured the porch five cubits in breadth one way, and five the other.

Notes on the Forty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 3 Then he went inward, and meaſured the poſt of the door, &c.] There is no underſtanding this without the help of the Septuagint. It is a deſcription of the partition-wall and door between the Holy and Holy of Holies, which according to the Septuagint, was twenty cubits long, viz. the door ſix cubits, and the breadth of the wall on each ſide ſeven cubits, and two thick.

6 They entered into the wall, which was of the houſe for the ſide-chambers round about, &c.] At five cubits height from the ground, the wall or the buttreſſes which ſupported the outward chambers, abated of their thickneſs one cubit; and there was a reſt or a ledge of one cubit's breadth, on which the ends of the rafters of each ſtory were faſtened. Lowth.

They had not hold in the wall of the houſe.] They were not faſtened into the main wall of the houſe, but reſted on the outſide of the wall where it grew narrower.

7 There was an enlarging and a winding about ſtill upward to the ſide-chambers.] The middle ſtory was one cubit larger than the ſecond, and the uppermoſt ſtory two cubits larger than the lower rooms.

12 The building that was before the ſeparate place, at the end towards the weſt, was ſeventy cubits broad.] Lamy underſtands the word tranſlated building, of a wall, which ran along the outſide of the prieſts court, commenſurate with the breadth of the weſtern ſide of the temple, which was ſeventy cubits from north to ſouth, and extended in length from eaſt to weſt ninety cubits, ten cubits ſhorter than the whole area itſelf, and incloſing a void ſpace of five cubits breadth, which lay between the ſide-chambers and the incloſure, which void ſpace he underſtands by the ſeparate place in this verſe and the place which was left. Lowth.

parate place, at the end toward the weſt, was ſeventy cubits broad: and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about, and the length thereof ninety cubits.

13 So he meaſured the houſe, an hundred cubits long; and the ſeparate place, and the building, with the walls thereof, an hundred cubits long.

14 Alſo the breadth of the face of the houſe, and of the ſeparate place toward the eaſt, an hundred cubits.

15 And he meaſured the length of the building over-againſt the ſeparate place which was behind it, and the galleries thereof on the one ſide, and on the other ſide, an hundred cubits, with the inner temple, and the porches of the court.

16 The door-poſts, and the narrow windows, and the galleries round about on their three ſtories, over-againſt the door cieled with wood round about, and from the ground up to the windows, and the windows were covered;

17 To that above the door, even unto the inner houſe and without, and by all the wall round about within and without, by meaſure.

18 And it was made with cherubims and palm-trees, ſo that a palm-tree was between a cherub and a cherub: and every cherub had two faces;

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palm-tree on the one ſide, and the face of a young lion toward the palm-tree on the other ſide: it was made through all the houſe round about.

20 From the ground unto above the door were cherubims and palm-trees made, and on the wall of the temple.

21 The poſts of the temple were ſquared, and the face of the ſanctuary; the appearance of the one as the appearance of the other.

22 The altar of the wood was three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubits: and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the walls thereof were of wood. And he ſaid unto me, This is the table that is before the LORD.

23 And the temple of the ſanctuary had two doors.

24 And the doors had two leaves apiece, two turning leaves; two leaves for the one door, and two leaves for the other door.

25 And there were made on them, on the doors of the temple, cherubims and palm-trees, like as were made upon the walls: and there were thick planks upon the face of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windows and palm-trees on the one ſide and on the other ſide, on the ſides of the porch, and upon the ſide-chambers of the houſe, and thick planks.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The prieſts chambers. 13 The uſe thereof. 19 The outward court meaſured.

THEN he brought me forth into the utter court, the way toward the north: and he brought me into the chamber that was over-againſt the ſeparate place, and which was before the building toward the north.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubits was the north-door, and the breadth was fifty cubits.

3 Over-againſt the twenty cubits which were for the inner court, and over againſt the pavement which was for the utter court, was gallery againſt gallery in three ſtories.

4 And before the chambers was a walk of ten cubits breadth inward, a way of one cubit; and their doors toward the north.

5 Now the upper-chambers were ſhorter: for the galleries were higher than theſe, than the lower, and than the middlemoſt of the building.

14 The breadth of the face of the houſe, &c.] The whole front of the houſe eaſtward was an hundred cubits, which ſome expoſitors thus compute; the breadth of the temple twenty cubits, the thickneſs of the outward walls twelve cubits, the ſide-chambers eight cubits, the walls of thoſe chambers five cubits on each ſide, and the twenty cubits round about the houſe.

22 Three cubits high, &c.] Septuagint reads, Three cubits high, and the length two cubits, and the breadth two cubits; and it had horns: the baſis and ſides of it were wood.

26 And thick planks, &c.] The ſenſe would be plainer, if we tranſlate it, and upon the thick planks; i. e. the figures of palm-trees were carved upon the wainſcot.

Notes on the Forty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 2 Before the length of an hundred cubits was the north-door, &c.] This north-door faced one of the cloiſters, whoſe length was 100 cubits, and its breadth 50, which was the proportion of all the cloiſters.

6 For they were in three ſtories, but had not pillars as the pillars of the courts: therefore the building was ſtraitened more than the loweſt, and the middlemoſt from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without over-againſt the chambers, towards the utter court on the fore-part of the chambers, the length thereof was fifty cubits.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the utter court was fifty cubits: and lo, before the temple were an hundred cubits.

9 And from under theſe chambers was the entry on the eaſt-ſide, as one goeth into them from the utter court.

10 The chambers were in the thickneſs of the wall of the court toward the eaſt, over-againſt the ſeparate place, and over-againſt the building.

11 And the way before them was like the appearance of the chambers which were toward the north, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their goings-out were both according to their faſhions, and according to their doors.

12 And according to the doors of the chambers that were toward the ſouth, was a door in the head of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the eaſt, as one entereth into them.

13 ¶ Then ſaid he unto me, The north-chambers and the ſouth-chambers which are before the ſeparate place, they be holy chambers, where the prieſts that approach unto the LORD ſhall eat the moſt holy things: there ſhall they lay the moſt holy things, and the meat-offering, and the ſin-offering, and the treſpaſs-offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the prieſts enter therein, then ſhall they not go out of the holy place into the utter court, but there they ſhall lay their garments wherein they miniſter; for they are holy; and ſhall put on other garments, and ſhall approach to thoſe things which are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of meaſuring the inner-houſe, he brought me forth toward the gate whoſe proſpect is toward the eaſt, and meaſured it round about.

16 He meaſured the eaſt-ſide with the meaſuring-reed, five hundred reeds, with the meaſuring-reed round about.

17 He meaſured the north-ſide five hundred reeds, with the meaſuring-reed round about.

18 He meaſured the ſouth-ſide five hundred reeds, with the meaſuring-reed.

19 ¶ He turned about to the weſt-ſide, and meaſured five hundred reeds, with the meaſuring-reed.

20 He meaſured it by the four ſides: it had a wall round about, five hundred reeds long, and five hundred broad, to make a ſeparation between the ſanctuary and the profane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The returning of the glory of God into the temple. 7 The ſin of Iſrael hindered God's preſence.

---

6 In three ſtories, but had not pillars, &c.] The two upper ſtories had balconies, ſtanding out of them, the breadth of which was taken out of the rooms themſelves, and rendered them ſo much the narrower, becauſe the weight of the balconies was not ſupported by pillars, as the rooms over the cloiſters of the outward court were, but only by the wall. Lamy.

8 The length of the chambers that were in the utter court was fifty cubits.] The chambers built over the cloiſters were in length fifty cubits. What is called length here is expreſſed by breadth in the ſecond verſe, as that is oppoſed to the length of the outer court, which was an hundred cubits.

Before the temple were an hundred cubits.] The words imply, that the angel conducted the prophet from theſe north chambers to thoſe on the ſouth-ſide; the ſpace of which ground was an hundred cubits.

14 There they ſhall lay their garments, wherein they miniſter, &c.] They ſhall not go into the court of the people in their veſtments, but ſhall lay them up in ſome of theſe chambers. The prieſtly garments were only to be uſed in the time of their miniſtration. The Chriſtian church followed the practice of the Jewiſh in this, as well as in many other cuſtoms. St. Jerom ſays, that the clergy of his age wore a diſtinct habit from the laity, at the time of their performing the public offices of religion. Lowth.

16 He meaſured the eaſt-ſide with the meaſuring-reed, five hundred reeds, &c.] Capellus is of opinion, that inſtead of 500 reeds, we ſhould read 500 cubits. He juſtifies this opinion from the authority of the Septuagint, who read cubits in the 17th and 20th verſes, which reading St. Jerom acknowledges to have been in the Greek copies in his time; and that the Jews formerly underſtood the text in this ſenſe, which imports, that the temple ſtood upon an area or ſquare, containing 500 cubits on each ſide; whereas, according to the preſent reading, the whole compaſs of the area will amount to three miles and an half, which is more than half the circuit of Jeruſalem, in its moſt flouriſhing condition.

20 It had a wall round about, &c.] To defend it from being invaded. The wall was 500 cubits every way, as it compoſed the length and breadth of the temple and its courts.

Notes

AFterward he brought me to the gate, even the gate that looketh toward the east:

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from the way of the east: and his voice was like a noise of many waters: and the earth shined with his glory.

3 And it was according to the appearance of the vision which I saw, even according to the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the city: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar; and I fell upon my face.

4 And the glory of the LORD came into the house by the way of the gate whose prospect is toward the east.

5 So the spirit took me up, and brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house.

6 And I heard him speaking unto me out of the house; and the man stood by me.

7 ¶ And he said unto me, Son of man, the place of my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, where I will dwell in the midst of the children of Israel for ever: and my holy name shall the house of Israel no more defile; neither they, nor their kings, by their whoredom, nor by the carcases of their kings in their high places.

8 In their setting of their threshold by my thresholds, and their post by my posts, and the wall between me and them, they have even defiled my holy name by their abominations that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in mine anger.

9 Now let them put away their whoredom and the carcases of their kings far from me, and I will dwell in the midst of them for ever.

10 Thou son of man, shew the house to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their iniquities; and let them measure the pattern.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they have done, shew them the form of the house, and the fashion thereof, and the goings-out thereof, and the comings-in thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the laws thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keep the whole form thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them.

12 This is the law of the house; Upon the top of the mountain, the whole limit thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the law of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the altar after the cubits. The cubit is a cubit and an hand-breadth: even the bottom shall be a cubit, and the breadth a cubit, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about shall be a span: and this shall be the higher place of the altar.

14 And from the bottom upon the ground even to the lower settle shall be two cubits, and the breadth one cubit; and from the lesser settle even to the greater settle shall be four cubits, and the breadth one cubit.

15 So the altar shall be four cubits; and from the altar and upward shall be four horns.

16 And the altar shall be twelve cubits long, twelve broad, square in the four squares thereof.

17 And the settle shall be fourteen cubits long and fourteen broad in the four squares thereof: and the border about it shall be half

Notes on the Forty-third Chapter.

Ver. 2 The glory of the God of Israel came from the way of the east.] The glory of God, which had departed from this place for so long a time, now returned to it, and fixed its residence among them. The glory of the Lord, when it forsook the temple, is described as departing from the eastern gate of it; afterwards it is represented as quite forsaking the city, and removing to a mountain on the east-side of it; and now it returns by the same way it departed. See chap. x. and xi. Lowth.

Like the voice of many waters.] Great and terrible, either to declare the dreadfulness of God's judgments, or the efficacy of his commands.

7 The place of my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet.] Or, this is the place of my throne, &c. The cherubims were God's throne, from whence he is said to dwell or sit between the cherubims, and the ark was his footstool. Lowth.

I will dwell in the midst of the children of Israel for ever, &c.] The prophet here means the promise formerly made in relation to the tabernacle and temple, alluding to Christ, in whom all the promises of the Old Testament are to have their final accomplishment. Zachary propheses of the Messiah, that he should build the temple of the Lord, and bear the glory; that is, as the spiritual sense of these prophecies is explained in the New Testament, he shall build the Christian church; in him shall all the fulness of the God-head dwell bodily and really, not in types and figures. Lowth.

Nor by the carcases of their kings.] Idols are called carcases of kings, because they have neither life, nor motion; and because the worship of them was encouraged by the idolatrous kings of Judah.

8 The wall between me and them.] The margin gives a better sense, There was but a wall between me and them.

a cubit: and the bottom thereof shall be a cubit about: and his stairs shall look toward the east.

18 And he said unto me, Son of man, thus saith the Lord GOD; These are the ordinances of the altar, in the day when they shall make it, to offer burnt-offerings thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt give to the priests the Levites that be of the seed of Zadok which approach unto me, to minister unto me, saith the Lord GOD, a young bullock for a sin-offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the four horns of it, and on the four corners of the settle, and upon the border round about. Thus shalt thou cleanse and purge it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullock also of the sin-offering, and he shall burn it in the appointed place of the house without the sanctuary.

22 And on the second day thou shalt offer a kid of the goats without blemish for a sin-offering; and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullock.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a young bullock without blemish, and a ram out of the flock without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the LORD, and the priest shall cast salt upon them, and they shall offer them up for a burnt-offering unto the LORD.

25 Seven days shalt thou prepare every day a goat for a sin-offering: they shall also prepare a young bullock; and a ram out of the flock without blemish.

26 Seven days shall they purge the altar, and purify it; and they shall consecrate themselves.

27 And when these days are expired, it shall be that upon the eighth day, and so forward, the priests shall make your burnt-offerings upon the altar, and your peace-offerings: and I will accept you, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XLIV.

1 The east-gate assigned only to the prince. 9 Idolaters uncapable of the priest's office. 17 Ordinances for the priests.

THEN he brought me back the way of the gate of the outward sanctuary which looketh toward the east; and it was shut.

2 Then said the LORD unto me; This gate shall be shut, it shall not be opened, and no man shall enter in by it: because the LORD the God of Israel hath entered in by it, therefore it shall be shut.

3 It is for the prince: the prince, he shall sit in it to eat bread before the LORD: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 Then brought he me the way of the north-gate before the house: and I looked, and behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD: and I fell upon my face.

5 And the LORD said unto me, Son of man, mark well, and behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears all that I say unto thee concerning all the ordinances of the house of the LORD, and all the laws thereof: and mark well the entering-in of the house, with every going-forth of the sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, even to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord GOD; O ye house of Israel, let it suffice you of all your abominations,

7 In that ye have brought into my sanctuary strangers uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my sanctuary, to pollute it, even my house, when ye offer my bread, the fat and the blood, and they have broken my covenant, because of all your abominations.

---

26 Shall consecrate themselves.] This is a wrong translation; the Hebrew expressly says, They shall consecrate it. Pilkington.

Notes on the Forty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 2 This gate shall be shut, &c.] Meaning to the common people, but not to the priests nor the prince.

The Lord, the God of Israel hath entered in by it.] The glory of God is expressed as himself, and is often called by the name of the Lord, or the God of Israel. Lowth.

5 All the laws thereof.] i. e. The laws relating to the admission of certain persons into the temple, or the courts of it, and the suffering none unqualified to attend upon God's service therein.

6 Let it suffice you, &c.] Let the time past be sufficient for you to have provoked me with your abominations.

7 Ye have brought into my sanctuary strangers.] Idolaters of other countries, to teach them their idolatry.

When ye offer my bread, the fat, and the blood.] At the same time

8 And ye have not kept the charge of mine holy things: but ye have ſet keepers of my charge in my ſanctuary for your ſelves.

9 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; No ſtranger uncircumciſed in heart nor uncircumciſed in fleſh ſhall enter into my ſanctuary, of any ſtranger that is among the children of Iſrael.

10 And the Levites that are gone away far from me when Iſrael went aſtray, which went aſtray away from me after their idols; they ſhall even bear their iniquity.

11 Yet they ſhall be miniſters in my ſanctuary, having charge at the gates of the houſe, and miniſtering to the houſe: they ſhall ſlay the burnt-offering, and the ſacrifice for the people, and they ſhall ſtand before them to miniſter unto them.

12 Becauſe they miniſtered unto them before their idols, and cauſed the houſe of Iſrael to fall into iniquity; therefore have I lifted up mine hand againſt them, ſaith the Lord GOD, and they ſhall bear their iniquity.

13 And they ſhall not come near unto me to do the office of a prieſt unto me, nor to come near to any of my holy things in the moſt holy place: but they ſhall bear their ſhame, and their abominations which they have committed.

14 But I will make them keepers of the charge of the houſe for all the ſervice thereof, and for all that ſhall be done therein.

15 But the prieſts the Levites, the ſons of Zadok, that kept the charge of my ſanctuary when the children of Iſrael went aſtray from me, they ſhall come near to me to miniſter unto me, and they ſhall ſtand before me to offer unto me the fat and the blood, ſaith the Lord GOD.

16 They ſhall enter into my ſanctuary, and they ſhall come near to my table to miniſter unto me, and they ſhall keep my charge.

17 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs, that when they enter in at the gates of the inner court, they ſhall be clothed with linen garments; and no wool ſhall come upon them, whiles they miniſter in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They ſhall have linen bonnets upon their heads, and ſhall have linen breeches upon their loins: they ſhall not gird themſelves with any thing that cauſeth ſweat.

19 And when they go forth into the utter court, even into the utter court to the people, they ſhall put off their garments wherein they miniſtered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they ſhall put on other garments: and they ſhall not ſanctify the people with their garments.

20 Neither ſhall they ſhave their heads, nor ſuffer their locks to grow long: they ſhall only poll their heads.

21 Neither ſhall any prieſt drink wine, when they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither ſhall they take for their wives a widow, or her that is put away: but they ſhall take maidens of the ſeed of the houſe of Iſrael, or a widow that had a prieſt before.

23 And they ſhall teach my people the difference between the holy and profane, and cauſe them to diſcern between the unclean and the clean.

24 And in controverſy they ſhall ſtand in judgement; and they ſhall judge it according to my judgements: and they ſhall keep my laws and my ſtatutes in all my aſſemblies; and they ſhall hallow my ſabbaths.

25 And they ſhall come at no dead perſon to defile themſelves: but for father, or for mother, or for ſon, or for daughter, for brother, or for ſiſter, that hath had no huſband, they may defile themſelves.

26 And after he is cleanſed, they ſhall reckon unto him ſeven days.

time that ye offer my ſacrifices upon the altar; or that ye ſuffer heathens to offer at my altar. By bread may be underſtood the meat-offering made of flower. The fat and blood of every ſacrifice were peculiarly appropriated to God. Lowth.

10 The Levites that are gone far from me.] Many of theſe departed from attending upon God's ſervice, and fell into idolatry: firſt, in the general apoſtacy of the ten tribes, afterwards under Ahaz, and other wicked kings of Judah. Theſe ſhall be degraded from attending upon the higher to the inferior offices, viz. to watch and keep the doors; God having particularly threatened to puniſh the ſin of idolatry to the third and fourth generation.

12 I have lift up my hand againſt them.] I have ſworn to puniſh them.

20 Neither ſhall they ſhave their heads.] St. Jerom ſuppoſes, that the Jewiſh prieſts were forbid to ſhave their heads, in order to diſtinguiſh them from ſeveral of the heathen prieſts, particularly the Egyptian prieſts of Iſis and Serapis. Lowth.

27 And in the day that he goeth into the ſanctuary, unto the inner court, to miniſter in the ſanctuary, he ſhall offer his ſin-offering, ſaith the Lord GOD.

28 And it ſhall be unto them for an inheritance: I am their inheritance. And ye ſhall give them no poſſeſſion in Iſrael: I am their poſſeſſion.

29 They ſhall eat the meat-offering, and the ſin-offering, and the treſpaſs-offering; and every dedicated thing in Iſrael ſhall be theirs.

30 And the firſt of all the firſt-fruits of all things, and every oblation of all of every ſort of your oblations ſhall be the prieſts; ye ſhall alſo give unto the prieſt the firſt of your dough, that he may cauſe the bleſſing to reſt in thine houſe.

31 The prieſts ſhall not eat of any thing that is dead of it ſelf, or torn, whether it be fowl or beaſt.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The portion of land for the ſanctuary, 6 for the city, and for the prince.

MOreover, when ye ſhall divide by lot the land for inheritance, ye ſhall offer an oblation unto the LORD, an holy portion of the land: the length ſhall be the length of five and twenty thouſand reeds, and the breadth ſhall be ten thouſand. This ſhall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there ſhall be for the ſanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, ſquare round about; and fifty cubits round about for the ſuburbs thereof.

3 And of this meaſure ſhalt thou meaſure the length of five and twenty thouſand, and the breadth of ten thouſand: and in it ſhall be the ſanctuary and the moſt holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land ſhall be for the prieſts the miniſters of the ſanctuary, which ſhall come near to miniſter unto the LORD: and it ſhall be a place for their houſes, and an holy place for the ſanctuary.

5 And the five and twenty thouſand of length and the ten thouſand of breadth ſhall alſo the Levites the miniſters of the houſe have for themſelves, for a poſſeſſion for twenty chambers.

6 ¶ And ye ſhall appoint the poſſeſſion of the city five thouſand broad and five and twenty thouſand long over-againſt the oblation of the holy portion: it ſhall be for the whole houſe of Iſrael.

7 And a portion ſhall be for the prince on the one ſide and on the other ſide of the oblation of the holy portion and of the poſſeſſion of the city, before the oblation of the holy portion and before the poſſeſſion of the city, from the weſt-ſide weſt-ward, and from the eaſt-ſide eaſt-ward: and the length ſhall be over-againſt one of the portions, from the weſt-border unto the eaſt-border.

8 In the land ſhall be his poſſeſſion in Iſrael: and my princes ſhall no more oppreſs my people; and the reſt of the land ſhall they give to the houſe of Iſrael according to their tribes.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; Let it ſuffice

27 He ſhall offer his ſin-offering.] i. e. A young bullock.

28 Shall be unto them for an inheritance.] Their miniſtry in my ſanctuary, with the perquiſites thereto belonging, ſhall be to them inſtead of lands and cities, of which they ſhall not ſhare with the other tribes, except the portion allotted to them.

30 Ye ſhall give unto your prieſt the firſt of your dough.] The firſt dough that you bake of the new corn every year ſhall belong to the prieſts, in the ſame proportion as in other firſt-fruits, that is, a ſixtieth part. Lowth.

That he may cauſe a bleſſing to reſt in thine houſe.] That the prieſt, whoſe office it is to bleſs the people in God's name, may procure a bleſſing for thee and thy family.

Notes on the Forty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 When ye ſhall divide by lot the land, &c.] The land was divided by lot in the firſt diviſion of it under Joſhua; a particular ſhare of which was to be God's portion, as an acknowledgment of his ſovereign dominion. This practice has been adopted in all wiſe governments, in which the king has appointments of honorary tributes, not in themſelves intrinſic, but marks of obeiſance and homage.

Five and twenty thouſand reeds.] Moſt interpreters expound this place of cubits; for neither reeds nor cubits are in the original: according to the latter, the portion ſet apart will be near ſeven mile ſquare; if we meaſure by reeds it will ariſe to ſix times as much.

6 It ſhall be for the whole houſe of Iſrael.] The capital city to which all the tribes ſhall reſort upon the ſolemn feſtivals, and ſhall have twelve gates, according to the number of the tribes of Iſrael. Lowth.

7 A portion ſhall be for the prince on the one ſide, and on the other, &c.] One half of the prince's portion was to lie on the weſt-ſide of the three portions, laid out for the prieſts and ſanctuary, the Levites, and the city; the other half lay on the eaſt-ſide of it, and parallel to them in breadth from north to ſouth.

9 Let it ſuffice you, O princes.] He ſhows the heads muſt firſt be reformed, before good order can be eſtabliſhed among the people.

12 The

you, O princes of Iſrael: remove violence and ſpoil, and execute judgement and juſtice, take away your exactions from my people, ſaith the Lord GOD.

10 Ye ſhall have juſt balances, and a juſt ephah, and a juſt bath.

11 The ephah and the bath ſhall be of one meaſure, that the bath may contain the tenth part of an homer, and the ephah the tenth part of an homer: the meaſure thereof ſhall be after the homer.

12 And the ſhekel ſhall be twenty gerahs; twenty ſhekels, five and twenty ſhekels, fifteen ſhekels ſhall be your maneh.

13 This is the oblation that ye ſhall offer, the ſixth part of an ephah of an homer of wheat, and ye ſhall give the ſixth part of an ephah of an homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oil, the bath of oil, ye ſhall offer the tenth part of a bath out of the cor, which is an homer of ten baths; for ten baths are an homer:

15 And one lamb out of the flock out of two hundred, out of the fat paſtures of Iſrael; for a meat-offering, and for a burnt-offering, and for peace-offerings, to make reconciliation for them, ſaith the Lord GOD.

16 All the people of the land ſhall give this oblation for the prince of Iſrael.

17 And it ſhall be the prince's part to give burnt-offerings and meat-offerings and drink-offerings in the feaſts and in the new-moons and in the ſabbaths, in all ſolemnities of the houſe of Iſrael: he ſhall prepare the ſin-offering and the meat-offering and the burnt-offering and the peace-offerings, to make reconciliation for the houſe of Iſrael.

18 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; In the firſt month, in the firſt day of the month, thou ſhalt take a young bullock without blemiſh, and cleanſe the ſanctuary.

19 And the prieſt ſhall take of the blood of the ſin-offerings, and put it upon the poſts of the houſe, and upon the four corners of the ſettle of the altar, and upon the poſts of the gate of the inner court.

20 And ſo thou ſhalt do the ſeventh day of the month for every one that erreth, and for him that is ſimple: ſo ſhall ye reconcile the houſe.

21 In the firſt month, in the fourteenth day of the month, ye ſhall have the paſs-over, a feaſt of ſeven days; unleavened-bread ſhall be eaten.

22 And upon that day ſhall the prince prepare for himſelf and for all the people of the land a bullock for a ſin-offering.

23 And ſeven days of the feaſt he ſhall prepare a burnt-offering to the LORD, ſeven bullocks, and ſeven rams without blemiſh, daily the ſeven days: and a kid of the goats daily for a ſin-offering.

24 And he ſhall prepare a meat-offering of an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ram, and an hin of oil for an ephah.

25 In the ſeventh month in the fifteenth day of the month, ſhall he do the like in the feaſt of the ſeven days, according to the ſin-offering, according to the burnt-offering, and according to the meat-offering, and according to the oil.

Notes on the Forty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 2 The prince ſhall enter in by the porch of the gate without.] He ſhall go through the outer gate of that court, and thereby by the poſt of the gate, and the prieſts ſhall prepare his burnt-offering and his peace-offerings, and he ſhall worſhip at the threſhold of the gate: then he ſhall go forth; but the gate ſhall not be ſhut until the evening.

3 Likewiſe the people of the land ſhall worſhip at the door of this gate before the LORD in the ſabbaths and in the new-moons.

4 And the burnt-offering that the prince ſhall offer unto the LORD in the ſabbath-day, ſhall be ſix lambs without blemiſh, and a ram without blemiſh.

5 And the meat-offering ſhall be an ephah for a ram, and the meat-offering for the lambs as he ſhall be able to give, and an hin of oil to an ephah.

6 And in the day of the new-moon it ſhall be a young bullock without blemiſh, and ſix lambs, and a ram: they ſhall be without blemiſh.

7 And he ſhall prepare a meat-offering, an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ram; and for the lambs according as his hand ſhall attain unto, and an hin of oil to an ephah.

8 And when the prince ſhall enter, he ſhall go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he ſhall go forth by the way thereof.

9 ¶ But when the people of the land ſhall come before the LORD in the ſolemn feaſts, he that entereth in by the way of the north-gate to worſhip ſhall go out by the way of the ſouth-gate; and he that entereth by the way of the ſouth-gate ſhall go forth by the way of the north-gate: he ſhall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but ſhall go forth over-againſt it;

10 And the prince in the midſt of them, when they go in, ſhall go in; and when they go forth, ſhall go forth.

11 And in the feaſts and in the ſolemnities the meat-offering ſhall be an ephah to a bullock, and an ephah to a ram, and to the lambs as he is able to give, and an hin of oil to an ephah.

12 Now when the prince ſhall prepare a voluntary burnt-offering or peace-offerings voluntarily unto the LORD, one ſhall then open him the gate that looketh toward the eaſt, and he ſhall prepare his burnt-offering and his peace-offerings as he did on the ſabbath-day: then he ſhall go forth; and after his going forth, one ſhall ſhut the gate.

13 Thou ſhalt daily prepare a burnt-offering unto the LORD of a lamb of the firſt year without blemiſh: thou ſhalt prepare it every morning.

14 And thou ſhalt prepare a meat-offering for it every morning, the ſixth part of an ephah, and the third part of an hin of oil, to temper with the fine flour; a meat-offering continually, by a perpetual ordinance, unto the LORD.

15 Thus ſhall they prepare the lamb, and the meat-offering, and the oil, every morning, for a continual burnt-offering.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD; If the prince give a gift unto any of his ſons, the inheritance thereof ſhall be his ſons, it ſhall be their poſſeſſion by inheritance.

17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his ſervants, then it ſhall be his to the year of liberty; after, it ſhall return to the prince: but his inheritance ſhall be his ſons for them.

18 Moreover, the prince ſhall not take of the people's inheritance by oppreſſion, to thruſt

He ſhall worſhip at the threſhold of the gate.] By bowing his head and his face to the earth.

The gate ſhall not be ſhut until the evening.] Becauſe the people were to pay their ſolemn worſhip in the ſame place.

3 The people of the land ſhall worſhip at the door of this gate.] During the continuance of the tabernacle, they that would offer any ſacrifice were required to bring it to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and there lay their hands upon it; and under the temple they came to the north or ſouth-gate of the inner court, according as the ſacrifice was to be ſlain on the north or ſouth-ſide of the altar, and there preſented their ſacrifice. Lightfoot.

7 As his hand ſhall attain unto.] As he ſhall think good.

8 He ſhall go in by the way, &c.] To go in at the eaſtern gate was the privilege of the prince and prieſts only.

9 He that entereth in by the way of the north-gate to worſhip, &c.] The words imply the reaſon why the people were not to come in at the eaſt-gate; becauſe there being no paſſage or thorough-fare out of the temple weſt-ward, if they had entered in at the eaſt-gate, they muſt have returned back the ſame way they came in, which would have been turning their backs upon God, and the place of his reſidence. Lowth.

17 The year of liberty.] The year of jubilee is called the year of liberty, becauſe it freed men's perſons from the ſervice of their maſters, and their eſtates from any engagements, by which the right of them was transferred from their owners.

19 ¶ After, he brought me through the entry which was at the ſide of the gate, into the holy chambers of the prieſts which looked toward the north: and behold, there was a place on the two ſides weſt-ward.

20 Then ſaid he unto me, This is the place where the prieſts ſhall boil the treſpaſs-offering and the ſin-offering, where they ſhall bake the meat-offering; that they bear them not out into the utter court, to ſanctify the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the utter court, and cauſed me to paſs by the four corners of the court; and behold, in every corner of the court there was a court.

22 In the four corners of the court there were courts joined of forty cubits long, and thirty broad: theſe four corners were of one meaſure.

23 And there was a row of building round about in them, round about them four, and it was made with boiling-places under the rows round about.

24 Then ſaid he unto me, Theſe are the places of them that boil, where the miniſters of the houſe ſhall boil the ſacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The viſion of the holy waters. 6 The virtue of them. 13 The borders of the land.

AFterward he brought me again unto the door of the houſe; and behold, waters iſſued out from under the threſhold of the houſe eaſt-ward: for the forefront of the houſe ſtood toward the eaſt, and the waters came down from under from the right ſide of the houſe, at the ſouth-ſide of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out of the way of the gate north-ward, and led me about the way without unto the utter gate by the way that looketh eaſt-ward; and behold, there ran out waters on the right ſide.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand went forth eaſt-ward, he meaſured a thouſand cubits, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he meaſured a thouſand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees. Again he meaſured a thouſand, and brought me through; the waters were to the loins.

5 Afterward he meaſured a thouſand; and it was a river that I could not paſs over: for the waters were riſen, waters to ſwim in, a river that could not be paſſed over.

6 ¶ And he ſaid unto me, Son of man, haſt thou ſeen this? then he brought me, and cauſed me to return to the brink of the river.

7 Now when I had returned, behold, at the bank of the river were very many trees on the one ſide and on the other.

8 Then ſaid he unto me, Theſe waters iſſue out toward the eaſt-country, and go down into the deſert, and go into the ſea: which being brought forth into the ſea, the waters ſhall be healed.

9 And it ſhall come to paſs, that every thing

24 Theſe are the places of them that boil, &c.] As there was a place in the inner court for boiling the treſpaſs and ſin-offering, ſo theſe might be appointed for boiling the peace-offerings, which were eſteemed inferior in holineſs, and theſe were probably boiled by the Levites; whereas the former were boiled by the prieſts in the court appointed for them.

11 But the miry places thereof and the marishes thereof shall not be healed; they shall be given to salt.

12 And by the river upon the bank thereof on this side and on that side shall grow all trees for meat, whose leaf shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof be consumed: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his months, because their waters they issued out of the sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be for meat, and the leaf thereof for medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord GOD; This shall be the border whereby ye shall inherit the land according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph shall have two portions.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one as well as another; concerning the which I lifted up mine hand to give it unto your fathers: and this land shall fall unto you for inheritance.

17 And the border from the sea shall be Hazar-enan, the border of Damascus, and the north north-ward, and the border of Hamath. And this is the north-side.

18 And the east-side ye shall measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Jordan, from the border unto the east-sea. And this is the east-side.

19 And the south-side south-ward from Tamar, even to the waters of strife in Kadesh, the river, to the great sea. And this is the south-side south-ward.

20 The west-side also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come over-against Hamath. This is the west-side.

21 So shall ye divide this land unto you according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And it shall come to pass, that ye shall divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you, and to the strangers that sojourn among you, which shall beget children among you: and they shall be unto you as born in the country among the children of Israel: they shall have inheritance with you among the tribes of Israel.

23 And it shall come to pass, that in what tribe the stranger sojourneth, there shall ye give him his inheritance, saith the Lord GOD.

13 This shall be the border.] By the captivities of Judah and Israel, the several limits belonging to the inheritance of each tribe were obliterated and forgotten, whereupon here is a new division made of the holy land; a full possession of which they might have expected to enjoy, if their sins had not prevented such a blessing. The places mentioned in the following verses are the bounds of the land, most of which the reader will find in the map of Canaan.

22 To the strangers that sojourn among you.] Foreigners never had before the privilege of purchasing or possessing any inheritance among the Jews; so that this mystically denoted the incorporating the Gentiles into the same church with the Jews, making them fellow-heirs, and of the same body with them by the gospel. Lowth.

Ver. 7 By the border of Reuben—a portion for Judah.] From the first verse to the seventh, the situation of seven of the twelve tribes is described, which were placed on the north-side of the holy portion, the length of Judea from north to south being divided into twelve equal parts. Lowth.

THE

THE BOOK OF DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

Daniel was descended from the royal family of the kings of Judah, and cotemporary with Ezekiel: he was carried captive to Babylon before he was twenty years old. His stile is not so figurative and poetical as that of the other prophets; but it is clear and concise, and his narrations and descriptions simply natural. He was a very extraordinary person, highly favoured of God, and honoured by men beyond any that lived in his time. His prophecies concerning the coming of the Messiah, and the other great events of after-times, are so clear and explicit, that some have thought, they must have been written after the facts were done. Josephus says, that he not only foretold future events as other prophets did, but determined likewise the time when they should come to pass. Sir Isaac Newton observes, That among the old prophets, Daniel is most distinct in order of time, and easiest to be understood, and therefore in those things which relate to the last times, he is the key to the rest. It is generally believed he died in Chaldea, and did not take the permission granted to the Jews by Cyrus, of returning to his own country.

CHAP. I.

1 Jehoiakim's captivity. 8 Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, refusing the king's portion, do prosper with pulse and water.

IN the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon unto Jerusalem, and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God: which he carried into the land of Shinar to the house of his god; and he brought the vessels into the treasure-house of his god.

3 And the king spake unto Ashpenaz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the children of Israel, and of the king's seed, and of the princes;

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well-favoured, and skilful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability in the king's palace, and whom they might teach the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim, &c.] Jeremiah makes the first year of Nebuchadnezzar coincident with the fourth of Jehoiakim, and from thence begins the date of the seventy years captivity. But here Daniel speaks of Nebuchadnezzar as king of Babylon in the third year of Jehoiakim, which difference may be thus adjusted; that Daniel begins his computation from the time that Nebuchadnezzar was sent by his father on the expedition against Pharaoh-necho king of Egypt, which was toward the latter of the third year of Jehoiakim. In the beginning of the following year he conquered the Egyptians, and in the latter end of the same he besieged Jerusalem in the ninth month, according to the Jews account, who, to this day, keep a fast on the 18th day of that month, when their city was taken; at which time Jehoiakim became tributary to the Babylonians, and consequently the seventy years captivity began. Prideaux.

2 Jehoiakim.] He was taken prisoner and put in chains, but having humbled himself, and submitted to become his tributary, was restored to his kingdom.

Into the land of Shinar.] This was the original name of the country about Babylon. See note on Gen. xi. 2.

4 Children in whom was no blemish.] Such as had the best accomplishments both of body and mind: the word rendered children, may refer to more advanced years, or years of manhood; for Daniel must be near twenty at this time, as may be concluded from his being put into considerable posts in the government soon after. Lowth.

The tongue of the Chaldeans.] The same was likewise called the Syriac language. See chap. ii. 4.

5 And the king appointed them a daily provision of the king's meat, and of the wine which he drank: so nourishing them three years, that at the end thereof they might stand before the king.

6 Now among these were of the children of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah:

7 Unto whom the prince of the eunuchs gave names: for he gave unto Daniel the name of Belteshazzar; and to Hananiah, of Shadrach; and to Mishael, of Meshach; and to Azariah, of Abed-nego.

8 ¶ But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself.

9 Now God had brought Daniel into favour and tender love with the prince of the eunuchs.

10 And the prince of the eunuchs said unto Daniel, I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your meat and your drink: for why should he see your faces worse liking than the children which are of your sort? then shall ye make me endanger my head to the king.

11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whom the prince of the eunuchs had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days; and let them give us pulse to eat, and water to drink.

13 Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenance of the children that eat of the portion of the king's meat: and as thou seest, deal with thy servants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proved them ten days.

15 And at the end of ten days their countenances appeared fairer and fatter in flesh than the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat.

16 Thus Melzar took away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drink; and gave them pulse.

17 As for these four children, God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom, and Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams.

18 Now at the end of the days that the king had said he should bring them in, then the prince of the eunuchs brought them in before Nebuchadnezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisdom and understanding that the king enquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and astrologers that were in all his realm.

21 And Daniel continued even unto the first year of king Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

1 Nebuchadnezzar forgetteth his dream, 14 Daniel findeth it: 31 The dream, 36 and interpretation.

AND in the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar dreamed dreams, wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleep brake from him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the magicians, and the astrologers, and the sorcerers, and the Chaldeans, for to shew the king his dreams. So they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king said unto them, I have dreamed a dream, and my spirit was troubled to know the dream.

8 Daniel purposed in his heart, &c.] It was the custom of most heathen nations before their meals, to make an offering of some part of what they were to eat or drink to their gods, as a thankful acknowledgment, that every thing they enjoyed was their gift; so that every entertainment had something in it of the nature of a sacrifice. This practice generally prevailing, made Daniel and his friends look upon the provisions coming from the king's table as no better than meats offered to idols, and, by being so offered, to be accounted unclean. Lowth.

12 Pulse to eat.] The Hebrew word signifies all sorts of roots or herbs.

19 They stood before the king.] Were in continual attendance in the king's court.

21 Daniel continued unto the first year of king Cyrus.] He lived to see the overthrow of the Babylonish monarchy by Cyrus; which made way for the fulfilling of Jeremiah's prophecy, concerning the seventy weeks, in the return of the Jews from their captivity.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 Dreamed dreams.] Though it was but one continued dream, it contained divers scenes of affairs, being a description of the succession of the four monarchies, which were to continue in different forms to the end of the world.

4 Then ſpake the Chaldeans to the king in Syriack, O king, live for ever: tell thy ſervants the dream, and we will ſhew the interpretation.

5 The king anſwered and ſaid to the Chaldeans, The thing is gone from me: if ye will not make known unto me the dream, with the interpretation thereof, ye ſhall be cut in pieces, and your houſes ſhall be made a dunghill.

6 But if ye ſhew the dream, and the interpretation thereof, ye ſhall receive of me gifts and rewards and great honour: therefore ſhew me the dream, and the interpretation thereof.

7 They anſwerd again and ſaid, Let the king tell his ſervants the dream, and we will ſhew the interpretation of it.

8 And the king anſwered and ſaid, I know of certainty that ye would gain the time, becauſe ye ſee the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not make known unto me the dream, there is but one decree for you: for ye have prepared lying and corrupt words to ſpeak before me, till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dream, and I ſhall know that ye can ſhew me the interpretation thereof.

10 The Chaldeans anſwered before the king, and ſaid, There is not a man upon the earth that can ſhew the king's matter: therefore there is no king, lord, nor ruler, that aſked ſuch things at any magician, or aſtrologer, or Chaldean.

11 And it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can ſhew it before the king, except the gods, whoſe dwelling is not with fleſh.

12 For this cauſe the king was angry and very furious, and commanded to deſtroy all the wiſe-men of Babylon.

13 And the decree went forth that the wiſe-men ſhould be ſlain; and they ſought Daniel and his fellows to be ſlain.

14 ¶ Then Daniel anſwered with counſel and wiſdom to Arioch the captain of the king's guard, which was gone forth to ſlay the wiſe-men of Babylon:

15 He anſwered and ſaid to Arioch the king's captain, Why is the decree ſo haſty from the king? Then Arioch made the thing known to Daniel.

16 Then Daniel went in, and deſired of the king that he would give him time, and that he would ſhew the king the interpretation.

17 And Daniel went to his houſe, and made the thing known to Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah his companions;

18 That they would deſire mercies of the God of heaven concerning this ſecret; that Daniel and his fellows ſhould not periſh with the reſt of the wiſe-men of Babylon.

19 Then was the ſecret revealed unto Daniel in a night-viſion. Then Daniel bleſſed the God of heaven:

20 Daniel anſwered and ſaid, Bleſſed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wiſdom and might are his:

21 And he changeth the times and the ſeaſons: he removeth kings, and ſetteth up kings: he giveth wiſdom unto the wiſe, and knowledge to them that know underſtanding:

22 He revealeth the deep and ſecret things: he knoweth what is in the darkneſs, and the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thank thee, and praiſe thee, O thou God of my fathers, who haſt given me wiſdom and might, and haſt made known unto me now what we deſired of thee: for thou haſt now made known unto us the king's matter.

24 Therefore Daniel went in unto Arioch, whom the king had ordained to deſtroy the wiſe-men of Babylon: he went, and ſaid thus unto him, Deſtroy not the wiſe-men of Babylon: bring me in before the king, and I will ſhew unto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought in Daniel before

5 Your houſes ſhall be made a dunghill.] That there may be no remains of their memory.

8 Ye would gain the time, &c.] You only want to protract the time, and delay the execution of the ſentence pronounced againſt you.

11 There is none that can ſhew it before the king, except the gods, &c.] The Chaldeans undertook to foretel future events by their ſkill in the motions of the ſtars, and to explain dreams by natural obſervations.

21 He changeth the times and the ſeaſons, &c.] The great changes of the world are brought to paſs, by removing kings, and tranſlating their dominions to others, by raiſing ſome empires and bringing down others; of this Nebuchadnezzar's dream revealed to Daniel was a ſignal inſtance, which contained the ſucceſſion of the four great monarchies of the world. Lowth.

the king in haſte, and ſaid thus unto him, I have found a man of the captives of Judah that will make known unto the king the interpretation.

26 The king anſwered and ſaid to Daniel, whoſe name was Belteſhazzar, Art thou able to make known unto me the dream which I have ſeen, and the interpretation thereof.

27 Daniel anſwered in the preſence of the king, and ſaid, The ſecret which the king hath demanded cannot the wiſe-men, the aſtrologers, the magicians, the ſoothſayers ſhew unto the king;

28 But there is a God in heaven that revealeth ſecrets, and maketh known to the king Nebuchadnezzar what ſhall be in the latter days. Thy dream and the viſions of thy head upon thy bed, are theſe;

29 As for thee, O king, thy thoughts came into thy mind upon thy bed what ſhould come to paſs hereafter: and he that revealeth ſecrets maketh known unto thee what ſhall come to paſs.

30 But as for me, this ſecret in not revealed to me for any wiſdom that I have more than any living, but for their ſakes that ſhall make known the interpretation to the king, and that thou mighteſt know the thoughts of thy heart.

31 ¶ Thou, O king, ſaweſt, and behold, a great image. This great image, whoſe brightneſs was excellent, ſtood before thee; and the form thereof was terrible.

32 This image's head was of fine gold, his breaſt and his arms of ſilver, his belly and his thighs of braſs.

33 His legs of iron, his feet part of iron and part of clay.

34 Thou ſaweſt till that a ſtone was cut out without hands, which ſmote the image upon his feet that were of iron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the iron, the clay, the braſs, the ſilver and the gold broken to pieces together, and became like the chaff of the ſummer threſhing-floors; and the wind carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the ſtone that ſmote the image became a great mountain, and filled the whole earth.

36 ¶ This is the dream: and we will tell the interpretation thereof before the king.

37 Thou, O king, art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdom, power, and ſtrength, and glory.

38 And whereſoever the children of men dwell, the beaſts of the field and the fowls of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all. Thou art this head of gold.

39 And after thee ſhall ariſe another kingdom inferior to thee, and another third kingdom of braſs, which ſhall bear rule over all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdom ſhall be ſtrong as iron: foraſmuch as iron breaketh in pieces

28 That revealeth ſecrets.] He informs the king, that there is one only God, infinitely ſurpaſſing in knowledge, not only all the wiſe men of the Eaſt, but alſo the falſe gods which they worſhipped.

And maketh known, &c.] And hath made known. Wells.

32 This image's head was of fine gold.] The Babylonian monarchy was arrived at the height of glory under Nebuchadnezzar, and Babylon was deemed the wonder of the world; ſo that this empire might be juſtly compared to a golden head. Lowth.

His breaſt and his arms of ſilver.] The ſecond monarchy, viz. the Perſian, will be inferior to the Babylonian, with reſpect to continuance.

His thighs of braſs, his legs of iron.] Theſe emblems denote the ſtrength of the third and fourth monarchies, (viz. the Grecian and Roman) and the irreſiſtible force with which they ſubdued their enemies. Lowth.

34 A ſtone was cut out without hands, which ſmote the image upon his feet.] In the ſame manner the kingdom of Chriſt ſhall break in pieces the fourth and laſt monarchy, in which the remains of the other three were comprehended; and ſhall at length put an end to all earthly power. Lowth.

35 As chaff of the ſummer threſhing-floors.] There was no ſign left of their former greatneſs.

The ſtone that ſmote the image became a great mountain, &c.] This denotes the increaſe of Chriſt's kingdom, that it ſhould, from ſmall beginnings, proceed to fill the whole earth. Thus Chriſt is repreſented as going forth conquering, and to conquer. This kingdom is deſcribed here under two ſtates or forms, the one may be ſtiled, by way of diſtinction, the kingdom of the ſtone, the other that of the mountain: the firſt commenced upon the erection of the fourth kingdom, while the ſtatue continued on its feet; the other was to be manifeſt under its laſt and weakeſt ſtate. Mede.

39 Another third kingdom of braſs, &c.] The Grecian empire ſhall extend its conqueſts beyond the bounds of all the preceding empires, even to theſe parts of the Eaſt which none of the Perſian monarchs ever attempted to ſubdue. Lowth.

40 The fourth kingdom ſhall be ſtrong as iron.] This fourth kingdom can be no other than the Roman empire. The reaſon why the ſpirit of God takes notice of theſe empires rather than others is, becauſe God's people were ſubject to theſe monarchies as they ſucceeded one another, and in their ſucceſſion, a line is carried and ſubdueth all things: and as iron that breaketh all theſe, ſhall it break in pieces, and bruiſe.

41 And whereas thou ſaweſt the feet and toes part of potters clay and part of iron, the kingdom ſhall be divided; but there ſhall be in it of the ſtrength of the iron, foraſmuch as thou ſaweſt the iron mixed with miry clay.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of iron and part of clay, ſo the kingdom ſhall be partly ſtrong and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou ſaweſt iron mixed with miry clay, they ſhall mingle themſelves with the ſeed of men: but they ſhall not cleave one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay.

44 And in the days of theſe kings ſhall the God of heaven ſet up a kingdom which ſhall never be deſtroyed: and the kingdom ſhall not be left to other people, but it ſhall break in pieces and conſume all theſe kingdoms, and it ſhall ſtand for ever.

45 Foraſmuch as thou ſaweſt that the ſtone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the braſs, the clay, the ſilver, and the gold; the great God hath made known to the king what ſhall come to paſs hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof ſure.

46 Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell upon his face, and worſhipped Daniel, and commanded that they ſhould offer an oblation and ſweet odours unto him.

47 The king anſwered unto Daniel, and ſaid, Of a truth it is that your God is a God of gods, and a Lord of kings, and a revealer of ſecrets, ſeeing thou couldeſt reveal this ſecret.

48 Then the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many great gifts, and made him ruler over the whole province of Babylon, and chief of the governors over all the wiſe-men of Babylon.

49 Then Daniel requeſted of the king, and he ſet Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego over the affairs of the province of Babylon: but Daniel ſat in the gate of the king.

CHAP. III.

1 Nebuchadnezzar dedicateth a golden image in Dura. 8 Shadrach, Meſhach and Abed-nego are accuſed, 19 and delivered.

NEbuchadnezzar the king made an image of gold whoſe height was threeſcore cubits, and the breadth thereof ſix cubits: he ſet it up in the plain of Dura in the province of Babylon.

2 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king ſent to gather together the princes, the governors, and the captains, the judges, the treaſurers, the counſellers, the ſheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which Nebuchadnezzar the king had ſet up.

3 Then the princes, the governors, and captains, the judges, the treaſurers, the counſellers, the ſheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces were gathered together unto the dedication of the image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had ſet up. And they ſtood before the image that Nebuchadnezzar had ſet up.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, To you it is commanded, O people, nations, and languages,

5 That at what time ye hear the ſound of the cornet, flute, harp, ſackbut, pſaltery, dulcimer, and all kinds of muſick, ye fall down and worſhip the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king hath ſet up:

carried on to the coming of Chriſt, who was to appear under the fourth monarchy, and the countries belonging to it were to be the chief ſeat of his kingdom. Mede.

45 The ſtone was cut out of the mountain without hands.] The phraſe, without hands, denotes it to be an act of God's own immediate power, and brought about by a miraculous interpoſition, free from any ſecond cauſes: ſo the heavenly body given to us at the reſurrection is called a building, not made with hands. Lowth.

49 Daniel ſat in the gate of the king.] He was a conſtant attendant at the king's court.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 An image of gold, whoſe height was threeſcore cubits, and the breadth thereof ſix cubits.] This image was probably ſet up in honour of Bel, a tutelar deity, from whom Nebuchadnezzar called Daniel, Belteſhazzar. The proportion of this image ſhows it to have been of a very irregular form; as no man's height is above ſix times his thickneſs. This makes it probable, that the pedeſtal is included in the threeſcore cubits, and then we may ſuppoſe the image to have been thirty-ſix cubits, and the pedeſtal twenty-four. Loweth.

4 O people, nations, and languages.] Whatſoever parts of the empire ye come from, or whatever language ye ſpeak.

5 The ſound of the cornet, flute, harp.] Theſe names give us to underſtand what was meant in general, but will never lead us to determine the particular ſorts of inſtruments.

6 And whoſo falleth not down and worſhippeth, ſhall the ſame hour be caſt into the midſt of a burning fiery furnace.

7 Therefore at that time, when all the people heard the ſound of the cornet, flute, harp, ſackbut, pſaltery, and all kinds of muſick, all the people, the nations, and the languages fell down and worſhipped the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had ſet up.

8 ¶ Wherefore at that time certain Chaldeans came near, and accuſed the Jews.

9 They ſpake and ſaid to the king Nebuchadnezzar, O king live for ever.

10 Thou, O king, haſt made a decree that every man that ſhall hear the ſound of the cornet, flute, harp, ſackbut, pſaltery, and dulcimer, and all kinds of muſick, ſhall fall down and worſhip the golden image:

11 And whoſo falleth not down and worſhippeth, that he ſhall be caſt into the midſt of a burning fiery furnace.

12 There a certain Jews whom thou haſt ſet over the affairs of the province of Babylon, Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego; theſe men, O king, have not regarded thee: they ſerve not thy gods, nor worſhip the golden image which thou haſt ſet up.

13 Then Nebuchadnezzar in his rage and fury commanded to bring Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego. Then they brought theſe men before the king.

14 Nebuchadnezzar ſpake, and ſaid unto them, Is it true, O Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego? do not ye ſerve my gods, nor worſhip the golden image which I have ſet up?

15 Now if ye be ready that at what time ye hear the ſound of the cornet, flute, harp, ſackbut, pſaltery, and dulcimer, and all kinds of muſick, ye fall down and worſhip the image which I have made, well: but if ye worſhip not ye ſhall be caſt the ſame hour into the midſt of a burning fiery furnace: and who is that God that ſhall deliver you out of my hands?

16 Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego anſwered and ſaid to the king, O Nebuchadnezzar, we are not careful to anſwer thee in this matter.

17 If it be ſo, our God, whom we ſerve, is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace, and he will deliver us as out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it known unto thee, O king, that we will not ſerve thy gods, nor worſhip the golden image which thou haſt ſet up.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchadnezzar full of fury, and the form of his viſage was changed againſt Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego: therefore he ſpake, and commanded that they ſhould heat the furnace one ſeven times more than it was wont to be heated.

20 And he commanded the moſt mighty men that were in his army to bind Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego, and to caſt them into the burning fiery furnace.

21 Then theſe men were bound in their coats, their hoſe, and their hats, and their other garments, and were caſt into the midſt of the burning fiery furnace.

22 Therefore becauſe the king's commandment was urgent, and the furnace exceeding hot, the flame of the fire ſlew thoſe men that took up Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego.

23 And theſe three men, Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego, fell down bound into the midſt of the burning fiery furnace.

24 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king was aſtoniſhed, and roſe up in haſte, and ſpake and ſaid unto his counſellers, Did not we caſt three men bound into the midſt of the fire? They anſwered and ſaid unto the king, True, O king.

25 He anſwered and ſaid, Lo, I ſee four men looſe walking in the midſt of the fire, and 6 Shall the ſame hour.] This is the firſt place in the Old Teſtament, where we meet with the diviſion of time into hours. The Greeks aſcribe the invention of hours to Anaximander, who probably received it from the Chaldeans. Lowth.

16 We are not careful to anſwer thee in this matter.] In ſo plain a caſe, there is no room for deliberation: we have an anſwer ready at hand, that we ought to obey God rather than man.

17 Our God whom we ſerve, is able---and he will deliver us out of thine hand.] As we are firmly perſuaded of his power to deliver us, ſo we truſt in his mercy and goodneſs, that he will ſave us from this imminent danger.

25 The form of the fourth is like the ſon of God.] Or, like a ſon of God; i. e. like an angel; for angels are frequently called the ſons of God.

they have no hurt: and the form of the fourth is like the Son of God.

26 Then Nebuchadnezzar came near to the mouth of the burning fiery furnace, and ſpake and ſaid, Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego, ye ſervants of the moſt high God, come forth, and come hither. Then Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego came forth of the midſt of the fire.

27 And the princes, governors and captains, and the king's counſellers being gathered together, ſaw theſe men, upon whoſe bodies the fire had no power, nor was an hair of their head ſinged, neither were their coats changed, nor the ſmell of fire had paſſed on them.

28 Then Nebuchadnezzar ſpake, and ſaid, Bleſſed be the God of Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego, who hath ſent his angel, and delivered his ſervants, that truſted in him, and have changed the king's word, and yielded their bodies, that they might not ſerve nor worſhip any god except their own God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, That every people, nation and language which ſpeak any thing amiſs againſt the God of Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego, ſhall be cut in pieces, and their houſes ſhall be made a dunghill: becauſe there is no other god that can deliver after this ſort.

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego in the province of Babylon.

CHAP. IV.

1 Nebuchadnezzar's dream. 19 Daniel interpreteth it. 28 The ſtory of the event.

NEbuchadnezzar the king unto all people, nations, and languages that dwell in all the earth; Peace be multiplied unto you.

2 I thought it good to ſhew the ſigns and wonders that the high God hath wrought toward me.

3 How great are his ſigns! and how mighty are his wonders! his kingdom is an everlaſting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

4 I Nebuchadnezzar was at reſt in mine houſe, and flouriſhing in my palace:

5 I ſaw a dream which made me afraid, and the thoughts upon my bed and the viſions of my head troubled me.

6 Therefore made I a decree to bring in all the wiſe-men of Babylon before me, that they might make known unto me the interpretation of the dream.

7 Then came in the magicians, the aſtrologers, the Chaldeans, and the ſooth-ſayers: and I told the dream before them; but they did not make known unto me the interpretation thereof.

8 But at the laſt Daniel came in before me, whoſe name was Belteſhazzar, according to the name of my God, and in whom is the ſpirit of the holy gods: and before him I told the dream, ſaying,

9 O Belteſhazzar, maſter of the magicians, becauſe I know that the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no ſecret troubleth thee, tell me the viſions of my dream that I have ſeen, and the interpretation thereof.

10 Thus were the viſions of mine head in my bed; I ſaw, and behold, a tree in the midſt of the earth, and the height thereof was great.

11 The tree grew, and was ſtrong, and the height thereof reached unto heaven, and the ſight thereof to the end of all the earth.

---

26 Ye ſervants of the moſt high God.] This miracle calls to the king's mind the former confeſſion he had made of the true God.

28 Bleſſed be the God of Shadrach.] So Darius offers up his acknowledgments to the God of Daniel, chap. vi. 26. as ſuperior to other gods, but not as the only true God.

Changed the king's word.] Rendered his command of none effect, God himſelf having ſuſpended the execution of it.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Nebuchadnezzar the king, unto all people, nations, &c.] This chapter contains a recital of that edict which Nebuchadnezzar publiſhed after his reſtoration, the better to confirm the truth of the event here related.

4 I Nebuchadnezzar was at reſt in mine houſe, and flouriſhing in my palace.] I thought myſelf ſecure in my enjoyments, and in full eaſe and proſperity in my palace at Babylon. God's particular judgments often reſemble the general one, in their coming ſuddenly and unexpectedly, at the inſtant when men are apt to indulge themſelves in a fatal ſecurity. Lowth.

9 Tell me the viſions of my dream, and the interpretation.] The king immediately tells the dream himſelf: the Septuagint reads right, Hear the viſions of my dream, and tell me the interpretation, &c.

10 Behold, a tree in the midſt of the earth, &c.] Princes are frequently repreſented in ſcripture under the figure of flouriſhing trees.

12 The leaves thereof were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all: the beasts of the field had shadow under it, and the fowls of the heaven dwelt in the boughs thereof, and all flesh was fed of it.

13 I saw in the visions of my head upon my bed, and behold, a watcher, and an holy one came down from heaven;

14 He cried aloud, and said thus, Hew down the tree, and cut off his branches, shake off his leaves, and scatter his fruit: let the beasts get away from under it, and the fowls from his branches.

15 Nevertheless, leave the stump of his roots in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass in the tender grass of the field: and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts in the grass of the earth.

16 Let his heart be changed from man's, and let a beast's heart be given unto him: and let seven times pass over him.

17 This matter is by the decree of the watchers, and the demand by the word of the holy ones: to the intent that the living may know that the most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will, and setteth up over it the basest of men.

18 This dream I king Nebuchadnezzar have seen. Now thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof, forasmuch as all the wise-men of my kingdom are not able to make known unto me the interpretation: but thou art able; for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

19 ¶ Then Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, was astonished for one hour, and his thoughts troubled him. The king spake, and said, Belteshazzar, let not the dream or the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

20 The tree that thou sawest, which grew, and was strong, whose height reached unto the heaven, and the sight thereof to all the earth;

21 Whose leaves were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all; under which the beasts of the field dwelt, and upon whose branches the fowls of the heaven had their habitation:

22 It is thou, O king, that art grown and become strong: for thy greatness is grown, and reacheth unto heaven, and thy dominion to the end of the earth.

23 And whereas the king saw a watcher and an holy one coming down from heaven, and saying, Hew the tree down, and destroy it; yet leave the stump of the roots thereof in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass in the tender grass of the field; and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, till seven times pass over him:

24 This is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the most High, which is come upon my lord the king:

12 The beasts of the field, &c.] All the subjects of that vast empire thought themselves safe under his protection.

13 Behold, a watcher, and an holy one came down from heaven.] Even may be placed here, as the original seems to indicate more strength, and even an holy one: the conjunction being used here by way of explication. The word watcher is understood of some principal angel; the angelical orders are described as attending upon God's throne, to receive and execute his commands: for the same reason they are called the eyes of the Lord. Lowth.

15 Leave the stump of his roots in the earth.] As when the root of a tree is still alive, there is a possibility of its flourishing again, so there should still be hopes of the king's recovering his former dignity.

With a band of iron and brass, in the tender grass of the field.] To denote that, while the king was deprived of his reason, and lived among the beasts of the field, he was bound with chains, as madmen usually are. Lowth.

16 Let his heart be changed from man's, &c.] i. e. Let him lose the use of his reason.

Let seven times pass over him.] i. e. Seven years.

17 This matter is by the decree of the watchers, &c.] It is called the decree of the most High in the twenty-fourth verse. The expression of the text is an allusion to the proceedings of earthly princes, who publish their decrees by the advice of their chief ministers. Thus God is described as summoning all the host of angels, and taking resolutions according to their advice; and Christ is represented as attended with angels and saints, as his assessors at the day of judgment. Lowth.

Setteth up over it the basest of men] This may regard Nebuchadnezzar, with respect to his present condition, whose pride and cruelty rendered him as despicable in the sight of God as his high estate had made appear formidable in the eyes of man; and therefore was justly doomed to so low a degree of debasement. Lowth.

19 Then Daniel—was astonished for one hour.] Both at the surprising circumstance of the judgments pronounced against the king, and from a tender regard for his person, and a grateful acknowledgment of the royal favours conferred on him and his three friends. Lowth.

25 That they ſhall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with the beaſts of the field, and they ſhall make thee to eat graſs as oxen, and they ſhall wet thee with the dew of heaven, and ſeven times ſhall paſs over thee, till thou know that the moſt High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomſoever he will.

26 And whereas they commanded to leave the ſtump of the tree-roots; thy kingdom ſhall be ſure unto thee, after that thou ſhalt have known that the Heavens do rule.

27 Wherefore, O king, let my counſel be acceptable unto thee, and break off thy ſins by righteouſneſs, and thine iniquities by ſhewing mercy to the poor; if it may be a lengthening of thy tranquillity.

28 All this came upon the king Nebuchadnezzar.

29 At the end of twelve months he walked in the palace of the kingdom of Babylon.

30 The king ſpake, and ſaid, Is not this great Babylon, that I have built for the houſe of the kingdom, by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majeſty?

31 While the word was in the king's mouth, there fell a voice from heaven, ſaying, O king Nebuchadnezzar, to thee it is ſpoken: The kingdom is departed from thee.

32 And they ſhall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with the beaſts of the field: they ſhall make thee to eat graſs as oxen, and ſeven times ſhall paſs over thee, until thou know that the moſt High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomſoever he will.

33 The ſame hour was the thing fulfilled upon Nebuchadnezzar: and he was driven from men, and did eat graſs as oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till his hairs were grown like eagles feathers, and his nails like birds claws.

34 And at the end of the days, I Nebuchadnezzar lifted up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine underſtanding returned unto me, and I bleſſed the moſt High, and I praiſed and honoured him that liveth for ever, whoſe dominion is an everlaſting dominion, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

35 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and he doeth according to his will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth: and none can ſtay his hand, or ſay unto him, What doeſt thou?

36 At the ſame time my reaſon returned unto me; and for the glory of my kingdom, mine honour and brightneſs returned unto me; and my counſellers and my lords ſought unto me; and I was eſtabliſhed in my kingdom, and excellent majeſty was added unto me.

37 Now I Nebuchadnezzar praiſe and extol and honour the King of heaven, all whoſe works are truth, and his ways judgement: and thoſe that walk in pride he is able to abaſe.

CHAP. V.

1 Belſhazzar's impious feaſt. 5 A hand-writing troubleth him. 17 Daniel reproveth him, 25 and interpreteth the writing.

BElſhazzar the king made a great feaſt to a thouſand of his lords, and drank wine before the thouſand.

2 Belſhazzar, whiles he taſted the wine, commanded to bring the golden and ſilver veſſels which his father Nebuchadnezzar had taken 25 They ſhall drive thee from men.] This is a deſcription of a very ſevere and mortifying diſtemper of mind. Clark.

26 That the Heavens do rule.] Heaven is here put for God.

30 Is not this great Babylon that I have built?] Though Babylon was one of the oldeſt cities in the world, yet Nebuchadnezzar had very much improved it, on account of its largeneſs and height of its new walls, the temple of Belus, his own palace, and the penſile gardens, the banks of the river, and the canals made for draining it. The words of Nebuchadnezzar here recited ſavour of great pride and arrogance, he is therefore juſtly puniſhed by that judgment pronounced upon him in the following verſes.

34 I Nebuchadnezzar lift up mine eyes unto heaven, &c.] He became ſenſible of his dependence upon God, and lift up his eyes to heaven, in a devout acknowledgment of the ſovereign Majeſty of the King of Kings, the ruler of the earth, whoſe dominion alone is without end, unchangeable and eternal.

35 All the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing.] He diſpoſes of all things both in heaven and in earth, with an irreſiſtible power and authority. Lowth.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Made a great feaſt to a thouſand of his lords.] To his principal lords, i. e. ſuch as were chiliarchs, or rulers of thouſands. This feaſt was made at a time of public rejoicing, being an annual feſtival, when the whole night was ſpent in revelling: which ſeaſon Cyrus took the advantage of to make himſelf maſter of the city, as Herodotus and Xenophon relate, and was foretold by Jeremiah.

2 Belſhazzar---commanded to bring the golden and ſilver veſſels, &c.]

out of the temple which was in Jeruſalem; that the king and his princes, his wives and his concubines might drink therein.

3 Then they brought the golden veſſels that were taken out of the temple of the houſe of God which was at Jeruſalem; and the king and his princes, his wives and his concubines drank in them.

4 They drank wine, and praiſed the gods of gold, and of ſilver, of braſs, of iron, of wood, and of ſtone.

5 ¶ In the ſame hour came forth fingers of a man's hand, and wrote over-againſt the candleſtick upon the plaiſter of the wall of the king's palace: and the king ſaw the part of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the king's countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, ſo that the joints of his loins were looſed, and his knees ſmote one againſt another.

7 The king cried aloud to bring in the aſtrologers, the Chaldeans, and the ſooth-ſayers. And the king ſpake and ſaid to the wiſe-men of Babylon, Whoſoever ſhall read this writing, and ſhew me the interpretation thereof, ſhall be clothed with ſcarlet, and have a chain of gold about his neck, and ſhall be the third ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came in all the king's wiſe-men: but they could not read the writing, nor make known to the king the interpretation thereof.

9 Then was king Belſhazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his lords were aſtoniſhed.

10 Now the queen, by reaſon of the words of the king and his lords, came into the banquet-houſe: and the queen ſpake and ſaid, O king, live for ever: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom in whom is the ſpirit of the holy gods; and in the days of thy father light and underſtanding and wiſdom like the wiſdom of the gods was found in him; whom the king Nebuchadnezzar thy father, the king, I ſay, thy father, made maſter of the magicians, aſtrologers, Chaldeans, and ſooth-ſayers;

12 Foraſmuch as an excellent ſpirit, and knowledge, and underſtanding, interpreting of dreams, and ſhewing of hard ſentences, and diſſolving of doubts were found in the ſame Daniel, whom the king named Belteſhazzar. Now let Daniel be called, and he will ſhew the interpretation.

13 Then was Daniel brought in before the king. And the king ſpake and ſaid unto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel which art of the children of the captivity of Judah, whom the king my father brought out of Jewry?

14 I have even heard of thee that the ſpirit of the gods is in thee, and that light and underſtanding and excellent wiſdom is found in thee.

15 And now the wiſe-men, the aſtrologers, have been brought in before me, that they ſhould read this writing, and make known unto me the interpretation thereof: but they could not ſhew the interpretation of the thing:

16 And I have heard of thee that thou canſt make interpretations, and diſſolve doubts: now if thou canſt read the writing, and make known

---

&c.] Theſe veſſels were carried by Nebuchadnezzar into the temple of his own god, chap. i. 2. and ſet apart for religious uſes. This farther profanation of them was contrary to the rules of their own religion, and may be ſuppoſed to have been committed by Belſhazzar in exceſſive riot of drinking. Without queſtion, the veſſels and other furniture with which Solomon adorned the temple were very magnificent, ſince Nebuchadnezzar thought them worth carrying to Babylon, to furniſh the temple he had built there in honour of Belus, a ſtructure that might be reckoned one of the wonders of the world. Prideaux.

Which his father.] Belſhazzar was in truth grandſon to Nebuchadnezzar, for he was the ſon of Evil-merodach by Nitocris his queen: it is uſual in ſcripture to call the grandfather by the name of father.

4 They praiſed the gods of gold, &c.] They ſung praiſes to their falſe gods, in deriſion of the true God.

5 In the ſame hour came forth fingers of a man's hand.] Next to murder, no ſin is ſo remarkably puniſhed in this world as that of ſacrilege, as appears by many inſtances taken from hiſtory of all ages, of heathens and infidels, as well as of Jews and Chriſtians. Lowth.

Wrote over againſt the candleſtick.] That it might be more conſpicuous: the feaſt was continued till late in the night.

10 The queen, by reaſon of the words of the king, &c.] The king's wives and concubines ſat with him at the feaſt; ſo the perſon here mentioned muſt be the queen-mother Nitocris, a lady of eminent wiſdom, who had the chief direction of public affairs; called the queen by way of eminence. Prideaux.

11 In the days of thy father.] i. e. Thy grandfather.

13 Art thou that Daniel?] Though his grandfather Nebuchadnezzar had promoted Daniel to conſiderable places of honour, yet Belſhazzar knew nothing of him, which argues him to have been a weak and vicious prince, according to the character hiſtorians give of him, and that minding nothing but his pleaſures, he left the care of public buſineſs to his mother. Lowth.

to me the interpretation thereof, thou ſhalt be clothed with ſcarlet, and have a chain of gold about thy neck, and ſhalt be the third ruler in the kingdom.

17 ¶ Then Daniel anſwered and ſaid before the king, Let thy gifts be to thy ſelf, and give thy rewards to another: yet I will read the writing unto the king, and make known to him the interpretation.

18 O thou king, the moſt high God gave Nebuchadnezzar thy father a kingdom, and majeſty, and glory, and honour.

19 And for the majeſty that he gave him, all people, nations and languages, trembled and feared before him: whom he would he ſlew, and whom he would he kept alive, and whom he would he ſet up, and whom he would he put down.

20 But when his heart was lifted up, and his mind hardened in pride, he was depoſed from his kingly throne, and they took his glory from him:

21 And he was driven from the ſons of men, and his heart was made like the beaſts, and his dwelling was with the wild aſſes: they fed him with graſs like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till he knew that the moſt high God ruled in the kingdom of men, and that he appointeth over it whomſoever he will.

22 And thou his ſon, O Belſhazzar, haſt not humbled thine heart, though thou kneweſt all this;

23 But haſt lifted up thy ſelf againſt the Lord of heaven, and they have brought the veſſels of his houſe before thee, and thou and thy lords, thy wives and thy concubines have drunk wine in them, and thou haſt praiſed the gods of ſilver and gold, of braſs, iron, wood, and ſtone, which ſee not, nor hear, nor know: and the God in whoſe hand thy breath is, and whoſe are all thy ways, haſt thou not glorified:

24 Then was the part of the hand ſent from him, and this writing was written.

25 ¶ And this is the writing that was written; MENE, MENE, TEKEL, UPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing: MENE; God hath numbered thy kingdom, and finiſhed it.

27 TEKEL; thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting.

28 PERES; thy kingdom is divided, and given to the Medes and Perſians.

29 Then commanded Belſhazzar, and they clothed Daniel with ſcarlet, and put a chain of gold about his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he ſhould be the third ruler in the kingdom.

30 In that night was Belſhazzar the king of the Chaldeans ſlain.

31 And Darius the Median took the kingdom, being about threeſcore and two years old.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel's preferment. 10 He is caſt into the den of lions, 18 and ſaved.

21 His heart was made like the beaſts, &c.] i. e. His underſtanding was taken from him, and he imagined himſelf to be turned into a beaſt. Clark.

26 MENE; God hath numbered thy kingdom, &c.] The years appointed by God for the continuance of thy reign, and the Babyloniſh monarchy, is finiſhed. The word Mene is repeated in the foregoing verſe, to ſhow that the thing is certain, and eſtabliſhed by God, as Joſeph told Pharaoh in a ſimilar caſe, Gen. xli. 32.

27 TEKEL; thou art weighed in the balances, &c.] Wicked men are frequently compared to ſilver adulterated, and alloyed with baſer metals, which renders it too light, when weighed in the ſcales. The ſame compariſon is uſed by Homer, when Hector's fatal day approached; by Virgil at the death of Turnus; and by Milton, where the ſcale of Lucifer kicks the beam. Lowth.

28 PERES; thy kingdom is divided, &c.] The verb Paras, from whence peres is derived, ſignifies to divide, or break; it is likewiſe the proper name of the Perſians, who were to be ſharers in the diviſion of the Babyloniſh empire. Upharſin, ver. 25, literally ſignifies and they divide it. Lowth.

30 In that night was Belſhazzar king of the Chaldeans ſlain,] He and all his nobles were ſlain together in the midſt of their feaſting and revels, Xenophon relates the ſtory thus: "That "two deſerters, having aſſiſted ſome of the Perſian army to kill "the guards, and ſeize upon the palace, they entered into the "room where the king was, whom they found in a poſture of "defence; but they ſoon diſpatched him and his attendants." Thus the prophecy of Jeremiah was fulfilled, that Babylon ſhould be taken at the time of a public feaſt, while her princes and great men, her captains, her rulers, and mighty men ſhould be drunken, and ſhould ſleep a perpetual ſleep, and not awake. Lowth.

31 Darius the Median took the kingdom.] This Darius is ſuppoſed by the moſt judicious chronologers, to be the ſame with Cyaxares the ſon of Aſtyages: Cyrus made him king of the Chaldeans, as being his uncle by the mother's ſide, and his partner in carrying on the war againſt the Babylonians; he left him the palace of the king of Babylon to live there, whenever he pleaſed. Lowth.

IT pleaſed Darius to ſet over the kingdom an hundred and twenty princes, which ſhould be over the whole kingdom;

2 And over theſe, three preſidents; of whom Daniel was firſt: that the princes might give accounts unto them, and the king ſhould have no damage.

3 Then this Daniel was preferred above the preſidents and princes, becauſe an excellent ſpirit was in him: and the king thought to ſet him over the whole realm.

4 Then the preſidents and princes ſought to find occaſion againſt Daniel concerning the kingdom; but they could find none occaſion nor fault; foraſmuch as he was faithful, neither was there any error or fault found in him.

5 Then ſaid theſe men, We ſhall not find any occaſion againſt this Daniel, except we find it againſt him concerning the law of his God.

6 Then theſe preſidents and princes aſſembled together to the king, and ſaid thus unto him, King Darius, live for ever.

7 All the preſidents of the kingdom, the governors, and the princes, the counſellers, and the captains have conſulted together to eſtabliſh a royal ſtatute, and to make a firm decree, that whoſoever ſhall aſk a petition of any God or man for thirty days, ſave of thee, O king, he ſhall be caſt into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, eſtabliſh the decree, and ſign the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Perſians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius ſigned the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel knew that the writing was ſigned, he went into his houſe; and his windows being open in his chamber toward Jeruſalem, he kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and gave thanks before his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then theſe men aſſembled, and found Daniel praying and making ſupplication before his God.

12 Then they came near, and ſpake before the king concerning the king's decree; Haſt thou not ſigned a decree, that every man that ſhall aſk a petition of any God or man within thirty days, ſave of thee, O king, ſhall be caſt into the den of lions? The king anſwered, and ſaid, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Perſians, which altereth not.

13 Then anſwered they and ſaid before the king, That Daniel which is of the children of the captivity of Judah regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree that thou haſt ſigned, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 Then the king, when he heard theſe words, was ſore diſpleaſed with himſelf, and ſet his heart on Daniel to deliver him: and he laboured till the going down of the ſun to deliver him.

15 Then theſe men aſſembled unto the king, and ſaid unto the king, Know, O king, that the law of the Medes and Perſians is that no decree nor ſtatute which the king eſtabliſheth may be changed.

16 Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and caſt him into the den of lions. Now the king ſpake and ſaid unto Daniel, Thy God whom thou ſerveſt continually, he will deliver thee.

17 And a ſtone was brought and laid upon

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 It pleaſed Darius to ſet over the kingdom an hundred and twenty princes.] According to the number of the provinces which were ſubject to the Medo-Perſian empire: theſe were afterwards enlarged to 127, by the victories of Cambyſes, and Darius Hyſtaſpes. See Eſther i. 1.

2 Over theſe, three preſidents, of whom Daniel was the firſt.] He had been appointed one of the principal officers of ſtate by Belſhazzar. Darius did not dwell at Babylon, but at Ecbatane in Media, whither he ſent for Daniel, that he might be always near him, and where it is likely he received this new advancement.

8 The law of the Medes and Perſians, which altereth not.] After it is once enacted by the king, with the advice of his counſellors.

10 His windows being open in his chamber.] Septuagint reads, In his upper chamber: it ſeems to have been the cuſtom among the devout Jews to ſet apart ſome upper room for their oratories, as places freeſt from noiſe and diſturbance: ſo we read in Tobit, that Sara came down from her upper chamber, and the apoſtles aſſembled in an upper room. Lowth.

Toward Jeruſalem.] According to the petition in Solomon's conſecration-prayer. See 1 Kings, viii. 48.

13 That Daniel which is of the children of the captivity.] This is added to aggravate his fault, that a captive ſhould offer a public affront to the laws of a king whoſe favour and protection he enjoys. Lowth.

14 Was ſore diſpleaſed.] That he had ſigned the decree.

18 ¶ Then the king went to his palace, and paſſed the night faſting: neither were inſtruments of muſick brought before him, and his ſleep went from him.

19 Then the king aroſe very early in the morning, and went in haſte unto the den of lions.

20 And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice unto Daniel; and the king ſpake and ſaid to Daniel, O Daniel, ſervant of the living God, is thy God whom thou ſerveſt continually able to deliver thee from the lions?

21 Then ſaid Daniel to the king, O king, live for ever.

22 My God hath ſent his angel, and hath ſhut the lions mouths, that they have not hurt me: foraſmuch as before him innocency was found in me; and alſo before thee, O king, have I done no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they ſhould take Daniel up out of the den, ſo Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, becauſe he believed in his God.

24 And the king commanded, and they brought thoſe men which had accuſed Daniel, and they caſt them into the den of lions, them, their children, and their wives: and the lions had the maſtery of them, and brake all their bones in pieces or ever they came at the bottom of the den.

25 Then king Darius wrote unto all people, nations, and languages that dwell in all the earth; Peace be multiplied unto you.

27 He delivereth and reſcueth, and he worketh ſigns and wonders in heaven and in earth, who hath delivered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel proſpered in the reign of Darius, and in the reign of Cyrus the Perſian.

CHAP. VII.

1 Daniel's viſion of the four beaſts, 9 of God's kingdom, 15 the interpretation thereof.

IN the firſt year of Belſhazzar king of Babylon Daniel had a dream, and viſions of his head upon his bed. Then he wrote the dream, and told the ſum of the matters.

2 Daniel ſpake, and ſaid, I ſaw in my viſion by night, and behold, the four winds of the heaven ſtrove upon the great ſea.

3 And four great beaſts came up from the ſea, divers one from another.

4 The firſt was like a lion, and had eagle's wings: and I beheld till the wings thereof were plucked, and it was lifted up from the earth, and made ſtand upon the feet as a man, and a man's heart was given to it.

5 And behold, another beaſt, a ſecond, like to a bear, and it raiſed up it ſelf on one ſide, and it had three ribs in the mouth of it be-

22 Before thee, O king, have I done no hurt.] Though I diſobeyed thy decree, it was not done out of contumacy, but purely to preſerve a good conſcience.

24 Them, their children, and their wives.] According to the cruel laws and cuſtoms which prevailed in ſome countries of involving whole families in the puniſhment of particular perſons: in oppoſition to which, that equitable law of Moſes was ordained, that the fathers ſhould not be put to death for the children, nor the children for the fathers.

28 In the reign of Darius, &c.] Xenophon reckons Darius reigned two years, and Cyrus ſeven.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the firſt year of Belſhazzar, &c.] The prophet having related ſome remarkable paſſages that occurred, concerning himſelf and his brethren, and given proofs of his ſkill in explaining other men's dreams, proceeds to give an account of his own viſions; and thereupon goes back to the firſt year of Belſhazzar's reign, which was ſeventeen years before the hiſtory contained in the laſt chapter. Lowth.

2 The four winds of the heaven ſtrove upon the great ſea.] Denoting thoſe commotions of the world, from which empires and kingdoms commonly take their riſe.

4 The firſt was like a lion, and had eagles wings.] Victorious warriors are compared to lions, for their ſtrength and cruelty, and to eagles for the rapidity of their conqueſts.

The wings thereof were plucked, and it was lifted up from the earth.] Rather, as margin, wherewith it was lifted up from the earth. There was a ſtop put to the progreſs of its victories, by the frequent irruptions made by the armies led by Cyrus and Darius againſt the Babylonians for twenty years, before the final overthrow of that empire Lowth.

tween the teeth of it: and they said thus unto it, Arise, devour much flesh.

6 After this I beheld, and lo, another like a leopard, which had upon the back of it four wings of a fowl; the beast had also four heads; and dominion was given to it.

7 After this I saw in the night-visions, and behold, a fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron teeth: it devoured and brake in pieces, and stamped the residue with the feet of it: and it was divers from all the beasts that were before it, and it had ten horns.

8 I considered the horns, and behold, there came up among them another little horn, before whom there were three of the first horns plucked up by the roots; and behold, in this horn were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking great things.

9 ¶ I beheld till the thrones were cast down, and the Ancient of days did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the hair of his head like the pure wool: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels as burning fire.

10 A fiery stream issued and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministered unto him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him: the judgement was set, and the books were opened.

11 I beheld then, because of the voice of the great words which the horn spake: I beheld even till the beast was slain, and his body destroyed, and given to the burning flame.

12 As concerning the rest of the beasts, they had their dominion taken away: yet their lives were prolonged for a season and time.

13 I saw in the night-visions, and behold, one like the Son of man came with the clouds of heaven, and came to the Ancient of days, and they brought him near before him.

14 And there was given him dominion and glory and a kingdom, that all people, nations,

---

5 A second like to a bear, and it raised up itself on one side.] This beast denotes the Persian empire, and its first beginning to advance itself to arrive at dominion. The margin reads, and it raised up one dominion, i. e. it made one empire out of the joint powers of Media and Persia. Lowth.

It had three ribs in the mouth of it.] i. e. Babylon, Lydia, and Egypt; Cyrus conquered Lydia with her king Crœsus, and Egypt was conquered by Nebuchadnezzar, and still continued tributary to Cyrus. Lowth.

They said, Arise, devour much flesh.] Their success made them still more greedy of dominion.

6 Another like a leopard, which had upon the back of it four wings of a fowl.] The third beast denotes the Grecian empire begun by Alexander, and continued in his four successors. The wings signify the swiftness of its conquests.

Four heads.] Some imagine these mean his four chief generals.

Dominion was given to it.] By the swiftness of Alexander's progress, and the victory he obtained by small forces, it appeared that Providence gave him the empire of the world.

7 A fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, &c.] For that reason compared unto iron: this is the Roman empire, which destroyed the Grecian, and became mistress of the world. See chap. ii. 40.

It devoured and brake in pieces, and stamped, &c.] It subdued all the nations who had been subjects of the former empires. The latter part of the sentence alludes to the fury of wild beasts, which stamp upon that part of their prey which they cannot devour. So those conquests, which the Romans could not make use of themselves, they gave as a prey to their allies.

It had ten horns.] It was different from all the beasts and empires that went before it, for its dominion was to be divided into ten kingdoms or principalities, signified here by ten horns, and by the ten toes of the image, chap. ii. Lowth.

9 The Ancient of days did sit, whose garment was white, &c.] The eternal Judge of the world, he that was from the beginning, who covereth himself with light as with a garment. In this Divine representation mention is made of the hair of the head, yet we are not to suppose any determinate shape, like that of a man, was represented: the expressions only import, that this divine Shechinah was of an amazing, inexpressible brightness.

His throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels as burning fire.] His throne is here described in the nature of a triumphal chariot, supported by angels as so many fiery wheels. Lowth.

10 A fiery stream issued.] Lightnings and streams of fire were his harbingers, to give notice of his speedy approach.

Thousand thousands ministered unto him.] His retinue was an innumerable company of angels. Lowth.

The judgement was set.] The court, God as the Supreme Judge, and the saints as assessors, made their appearance.

The books were opened.] The books of God's laws and men's actions, in allusion to the records of the courts of judicature.

12 Their lives were prolonged for a season.] As to the three first monarchies, though the succeeding empire took away the dominion of that which went before, yet it was not done all at once, but by degrees; and the nations where those monarchies were seated, had still a being, though they changed their masters: whereas the destruction of the last empire implied the putting an end to all earthly governments, the kingdom of Christ being then immediately to take place.

13 One like the Son of man.] The reason why our Saviour is here denoted by the title of the Son of man, is with great probability judged to be this, viz. because the kingdom which he is here introduced to receive from the Ancient of days, does not denote the kingdom of Christ as God co-eternal with his father, but the kingdom which was obtained by, and vouchsafed to Christ as man. Wells.

14 There was given him dominion, and glory, &c.] Upon the destruction of antichrist, (the little horn of the fourth beast) the stone which Nebuchadnezzar saw in his first vision, was to become a great mountain, and all the ancient prophecies are to be accomplished, which speak of the uninterrupted glory and universality of Christ's dominion, which will be illustriously displayed at the day of judgment, when all the world shall be summoned to appear before him. Lowth.

and languages ſhould ſerve him: his dominion is an everlaſting dominion, which ſhall not paſs away, and his kingdom that which ſhall not be deſtroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was grieved in my ſpirit in the midſt of my body, and the viſions of my head troubled me.

16 I came near unto one of them that ſtood by, and aſked him the truth of all this. So he told me, and made me know the interpretation of the things.

17 Theſe great beaſts, which are four, are four kings, which ſhall ariſe out of the earth.

18 But the ſaints of the moſt High ſhall take the kingdom, and poſſeſs the kingdom for ever, even for ever and ever.

19 Then I would know the truth of the fourth beaſt, which was divers from all the others, exceeding dreadful, whoſe teeth were of iron, and his nails of braſs; which devoured, brake in pieces, and ſtamped the reſidue with his feet;

20 And of the ten horns that were in his head, and of the other which came up, and before whom three fell; even of that horn that had eyes, and a mouth that ſpake very great things, whoſe look was more ſtout than his fellows.

21 I beheld, and the ſame horn made war with the ſaints, and prevailed againſt them;

22 Until the Ancient of days, came, and judgement was given to the ſaints of the moſt High; and the time came that the ſaints poſſeſſed the kingdom.

23 Thus he ſaid, The fourth beaſt ſhall be the fourth kingdom upon earth, which ſhall be divers from all kingdoms, and ſhall devour the whole earth, and ſhall tread it down, and break it in pieces.

24 And the ten horns out of this kingdom are ten kings that ſhall ariſe: and another ſhall riſe after them, and he ſhall be divers from the firſt, and he ſhall ſubdue three kings.

25 And he ſhall ſpeak great words againſt the moſt High, and ſhall wear out the ſaints of the moſt High, and think to change times and laws: and they ſhall be given into his hand until a time and times and the dividing of time.

26 But the judgement ſhall ſit, and they ſhall take away his dominion, to conſume and to deſtroy it unto the end.

27 And the kingdom and dominion, and 15 In the midſt of my body.] The original is ſheath; the body is metaphorically called the ſheath of the ſoul.

16 I came near unto one of them that ſtood by.] To one of the angels who always attended upon the throne of God.

17 Out of the earth.] Shall be of the earth, earthy; whereas the kingdom of Chriſt is a heavenly kingdom.

18 The ſaints of the moſt High ſhall take the kingdom.] Theſe earthly kingdoms, being taken away or deſtroyed, the ſucceeding kingdom ſhall be that of Chriſt and his ſaints. Lowth.

21 The ſame horn made war, &c.] Antichriſt is deſcribed as making war with the ſaints, and overcoming them for a time, Rev. ch. xi.

23 Diverſe from all kingdoms.] As being managed under different forms of government. Having at firſt the form of a kingdom, then of a common-wealth, then under emperors, and in proceſs of time divided into ten kingdoms or principalities, all of them under one ſpiritual head. Lowth.

24 The ten horns out of this kingdom are ten kings.] An horn is an emblem of ſtrength, ſo it comes to ſignify power and authority, and is thence applied to ſovereignty. Theſe ten horns or kingdoms ſhall ariſe out of the diſſolution of the Roman empire, which came to paſs about the year of Chriſt 476; when it was divided into theſe different kingdoms, 1. Britons. 2. Saxons. 3. Franks. 4. Burgundians. 5. Viſigoths. 6. Suevians and Alans. 7. Vandals. 8. Almons. 9. Oſtrogoths. 10. Greeks. Biſhop Lloyd gives the following liſt— 1. Hunns ſettled in the country from thence called Hungary. 2. Oſtrogoths in the country from Rhetia to Thrace, afterwards in Italy. 3. Viſigoths in part of France and Catalonia. 4. Franks ſeized on part of Germany and Gaul. 5. Vandals ſettled in Spain. 6. Suevians and Alans in the weſtern parts of Spain. 7. Burgundians in that part of Gaul called Burgundy. 8. Herules, Rugians, &c. in Italy. 9. Saxons in Britain. 10. Longobards in part of Germany.

Another ſhall ariſe after them.] Or, behind them, in an unperceived manner. As the papacy took its riſe from the ſame cauſe, but did not arrive at direct ſupremacy till the year 606, when pope Boniface uſurped the title of Univerſal Biſhop, before the other kings were aware of ſuch growing greatneſs till he exceeded them in power. Lowth.

He ſhall be diverſe from the reſt.] His authority will be eccleſiaſtical, yet ſo as to lay claim to temporal power alſo, and to aſſert a right of diſpoſing of ſecular affairs. Lowth.

He ſhall ſubdue three kings.] Or kingdoms. Theſe three are ſuppoſed to be the exarchate of Ravenna, which Charles the Great recovered from the Lombards, and gave to the pope. 2. The kingdom of the Greeks in Italy, of which the emperor Leo Iſaurus was deprived by the popes Gregory II. and III. And, 3dly, the kingdom of the Franks, or German emperors, from whom the popes reſted the election and inveſtiture of themſelves and other biſhops; and by degrees took from them all the juriſdiction they had in Italy, which was the occaſion of grievous wars for ſeveral ages, between the popes and the emperor Henry IV. and his ſucceſſors. Lowth.

25 Times and laws.] Times for things done in time, whereby the times are altered; ſuch as are the alterations of ſtates and governments. Mede.

27 When the greatneſs of the kingdom, &c.] This denotes the kingdom of Chriſt on earth, where his ſaints are deſcribed as reigning with him.

the greatneſs of the kingdom under the whole heaven, ſhall be given to the people of the ſaints of the moſt High; whoſe kingdom is an everlaſting kingdom, and all dominions ſhall ſerve and obey him.

28 Hitherto is the end of the matter. As for me Daniel, my cogitations much troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in my heart.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Daniel's viſion of the ram and he-goat. 13 The two thouſand three hundred days of ſacrifice.

IN the third year of the reign of king Belſhazzar, a viſion appeared unto me, even unto me Daniel, after that which appeared unto me at the firſt.

2 And I ſaw in a viſion; and it came to paſs when I ſaw that I was at Shuſhan in the palace, which is in the province of Elam; and I ſaw in a viſion, and I was by the river of Ulai.

3 Then I lifted up mine eyes, and ſaw, and behold, there ſtood before the river a ram which had two horns: and the two horns were high, but one was higher than the other, and the higher came up laſt.

4 I ſaw the ram puſhing weſt-ward, and north-ward, and ſouth-ward; ſo that no beaſts might ſtand before him, neither was there any that could deliver out of his hand, but he did according to his will, and became great.

5 And as I was conſidering, behold, an he-goat came from the weſt on the face of the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and the goat had a notable horn between his eyes.

6 And he came to the ram that had two horns, which I had ſeen ſtanding before the river, and ran unto him in the fury of his power.

7 And I ſaw him come cloſe unto the ram, and he was moved with choler againſt him, and ſmote the ram, and brake his two horns: and there was no power in the ram to ſtand before him, but he caſt him down to the ground, and ſtamped upon him: and there was none that could deliver the ram out of his hand.

8 Therefore the he-goat waxed very great: and when he was ſtrong, the great horn was broken; and for it came up four notable ones toward the four winds of heaven.

9 And out of one of them came forth a little horn, which waxed exceeding great toward the ſouth, and toward the eaſt, and toward the pleaſant land.

10 And it waxed great even to the hoſt of heaven: and it caſt down ſome of the hoſt and of the ſtars to the ground, and ſtamped upon them.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 2 I was by the river Ulai.] This river divides Suſiana from Elam, properly ſo called; though Elam is often taken in a larger ſenſe, ſo as to comprehend Suſiana under it.

3 A ram which had two horns, &c.] This ram denotes the kingdoms of Media and Perſia united into one government: the ram was the royal enſign of the Perſians, and rams heads with horns, the one higher, and the other lower, are ſtill to be ſeen in the ruins of Perſepolis. Chardin's Travels.

4 Puſhing weſt-ward, north-ward, and ſouth-ward.] Syria lay weſt of Perſia, Iberia, Albania and Armenia to the north and Egypt ſouth.

5 An he-goat came from the weſt.] i. e. Greece; on the face of the whole earth, i. e. carrying all before him as he went; thereby denoting the uninterrupted ſucceſs of Alexander the Great. A goat was, according to Juſtin, the emblem or arms of Macedon, ever ſince their king Caranus. Lowth.

Touched not the ground.] Hereby is ſignified the rapidity of his conqueſts; and for this reaſon he is deſcribed as having four wings of a fowl, having in eight years conquered all the vaſt countries that lay between the Ægean ſea and the river Hypanis in India. Prideaux.

7 He caſt him down to the ground, &c.] This prophecy Jaddus the high-prieſt ſhewed to Alexander the Great in Jeruſalem, and thereby encouraged him to go on in his expedition. Joſephus.

8 When he was ſtrong, the great horn was broken.] Alexander died in the height of his proſperity.

Four notable ones toward the four winds of heaven.] This the angel explains by four kingdoms ſtanding up inſtead of it. The prophecy had its exact completion upon the partition of the Grecian empire after the battle of Ipſus, where Antigonus was killed. It was divided among four kings, 1. Ptolemy king of Egypt, Lybia, Paleſtine, Arabia, and Cœlo-Syria, which may be called the ſouthern part. 2. Caſſander king of Macedonia and Greece, which was the weſtern part of it. 3. Lyſimachus of Thrace and Aſia, the northern part. And, 4. Seleucus of Syria, and the eaſtern countries. Prideaux.

9 Out of one of them came forth a little horn.] From one of theſe four ſucceſſors came forth Antiochus Epiphanes, who was a vile perſon, to whom the honour of the kingdom did not belong, as the angel gives his character, chap. xi. 21; Demetrius, his elder brother's ſon, being the right heir. This little horn, belonging to the third head, is not to be confounded with that belonging to the fourth, chap. vii. 8, 20. though it may be a type of it. Lowth.

Towards the pleaſant land.] i. e. Towards Judea.

10 It waxed great, even to the hoſt of heaven.] The hoſt of heaven means here the Jewiſh church, particularly the prieſts and the Levites, who are called the hoſt of heaven from their continual attendance on God's ſervice in the temple, in imitation of the angelical office.

Caſt

11 Yea, he magnified himself even to the prince of the host, and by him the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast down.

12 And an host was given him against the daily sacrifice by reason of transgression, and it cast down the truth to the ground, and it practised, and prospered.

13 ¶ Then I heard one saint speaking, and another saint said unto that certain saint which spake, How long shall be the vision concerning the daily sacrifice, and the transgression of desolation, to give both the sanctuary and the host to be troden under foot?

14 And he said unto me, Unto two thousand and three hundred days: then shall the sanctuary be cleansed.

15 And it came to pass when I, even I Daniel, had seen the vision, and sought for the meaning, then behold, there stood before me as the appearance of a man.

16 And I heard a man's voice between the banks of Ulai, which called, and said, Gabriel, make this man to understand the vision.

17 So he came near where I stood: and when he came I was afraid; and fell upon my face: but he said unto me, Understand, O son of man: for at the time of the end shall be the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking with me, I was in a deep sleep on my face toward the ground: but he touched me, and set me upright.

19 And he said, Behold, I will make thee know what shall be in the last end of the indignation: for at the time appointed the end shall be.

20 The ram which thou sawest having two horns, are the kings of Media and Persia.

21 And the rough goat is the king of Grecia: and the great horn that is between his eyes, is the first king.

22 Now that being broken, whereas four stood up for it, four kingdoms shall stand up out of the nation, but not in his power.

23 And in the latter time of their kingdom, when the transgressors are come to the full, a king of fierce countenance, and understanding dark sentences, shall stand up.

24 And his power shall be mighty, but not by his own power: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mighty, and the holy people.

Cast down some of the host and of the stars to the ground.] Persons of principal dignity in the church are called stars. The words import, either that Antiochus should put an end to the priests ministration in the service of God, by taking away the daily sacrifice, or else that he should seduce some of them by threats or promises to turn apostates. Lowth.

11 He magnified himself even to the prince of the host.] This may be understood of God himself, or else of Christ the true high-priest over the house of God.

The daily sacrifice was taken away.] The sacrifice which was offered every morning and evening was taken away by Antiochus, who profaned both temple and altar.

12 An host was given him against the daily sacrifice, &c.] Antiochus prospered so far in his attempts against the Jews and their religion, that he built a citadel in the city of David, and placed a garrison of soldiers there, to disturb those that should come to divine worship at the temple. This God permitted as a just punishment for the sins of his people, and particularly of those who were willing to be seduced to idolatry. Lowth.

It cast down the truth to the ground.] He suppressed truth and religion for a time, and hindered the open profession of it.

13 I heard one saint.] i. e. An angel.

14 Unto two thousand and three hundred days.] i. e. About six years and four months, reckoning three hundred and sixty days to a year; for so long under Antiochus was the temple profaned. But since it is generally agreed, that the persecution of Antiochus was a type or an imperfect symbol of a greater desolation, which antichrist should make in the church of God, some extend these days to the end of the times of antichrist, taking each day for a year, according to the genius of the prophetical writers; agreeable to which sense, the three years and an half, chap. vii. 25. and the seventy weeks in the ixth chapter, are explained by most interpreters. Lowth.

17 O son of man, &c.] This is a title given to none of the prophets but Ezekiel and Daniel, either to remind them that they were but flesh and blood; or it may be interpreted as a mark of honour, implying something more than an ordinary man, and highly favoured of God by these heavenly visions. See Ezek. ii. 1.

22 Four kingdoms shall stand up, &c.] Four kingdoms shall be set up by Alexander's generals, of the same nation with him, but not of his posterity; nor shall they have that extent of dominion which he possessed. Lowth.

23 In the latter time of their kingdom.] Greece was the chief province of this empire, from whence it had its original and its name. The bringing this country into subjection to the Roman power was a manifest indication of the declension of the third monarchy, and the advancement of the fourth. This was remarkably brought to pass when Æmilius the Roman consul vanquished Perseus king of Macedon, and thereby brought all Greece under the power of the Romans. Lowth.

When the transgressors are come to the full.] When many of the Jews shall be disposed to cast off the true religion, and embrace idolatry. God spares sinners for a time, to give them an opportunity for repenting, till their iniquities come to their full height, and are ripe for judgment. Lowth.

A king of fierce countenance, and understanding dark sentences.] One of an untractable temper, without compassion, such as Antiochus Epiphanes: understanding dark sentences became a proverb among the Hebrews, to signify the arts of fraud and deceit. Warburton.

24 The mighty and the holy people.] That people, who being

25 And through his policy alſo he ſhall cauſe craft to proſper in his hand; and he ſhall magnify himſelf in his heart, and by peace ſhall deſtroy many: he ſhall alſo ſtand up againſt the Prince of princes: but he ſhall be broken without hand.

26 And the viſion of the evening and the morning which was told is true: wherefore ſhut thou up the viſion; for it ſhall be for many days.

27 And I Daniel fainted and was ſick certain days: afterward I roſe up and did the king's buſineſs: and I was aſtoniſhed at the viſion, but none underſtood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel confeſſeth his ſins, 16 prayeth for the reſtoration of Jeruſalem. 20 Gabriel informeth him of the ſeventy weeks.

IN the firſt year of Darius the ſon of Ahaſuerus, of the ſeed of the Medes, which was made king over the realm of the Chaldeans;

2 In the firſt year of his reign, I Daniel underſtood by books the number of the years whereof the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, the prophet, that he would accompliſh ſeventy years in the deſolations of Jeruſalem.

3 ¶ And I ſet my face unto the Lord God to ſeek by prayer and ſupplications, with faſting, and ſackcloth, and aſhes:

4 And I prayed unto the LORD my God, and made my confeſſion, and ſaid, O LORD, the great and dreadful God, keeping the covenant and mercy to them that love him, and to them that keep his commandments;

5 We have ſinned, and have committed iniquity, and have done wickedly, and have rebelled, even by departing from thy precepts and from thy judgements.

6 Neither have we hearkened unto thy ſervants the prophets, which ſpake in thy name to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O LORD, righteouſneſs belongeth unto thee, but unto us confuſion of faces, as at this day; to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and to all Iſrael, that are near, and that are far off, through all the countries whither thou haſt driven them, becauſe of their treſpaſs that they have treſpaſſed againſt thee.

8 O LORD, to us belongeth confuſion of face, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, becauſe we have ſinned againſt thee.

9 To the LORD our God belong mercies and forgiveneſſes, though we have rebelled againſt him.

10 Neither have we obeyed the voice of the LORD our God, to walk in his laws which he ſet before us by his ſervants the prophets.

11 Yea, all Iſrael have tranſgreſſed thy law, even by departing that they might not obey thy voice: therefore the curſe is poured upon us, and the oath that is written in the law of Moſes the ſervant of God, becauſe we have ſinned againſt him.

12 And he hath confirmed his words which ſet apart for God's ſervice, were under his peculiar protection, by virtue whereof they were formerly victorious over all their enemies. Antiochus, in his firſt invaſion of Judea, ſlew and led captive eighty thouſand Jews: and two years afterwards ſent Apollonius with an army of 22,000 men to deſtroy thoſe that aſſembled in the ſynagogue on the ſabbath. See Macc. i. 29, 30. Lowth.

25 He ſhall alſo ſtand up againſt the Prince of princes.] Againſt God the King of Kings, and Ruler of Princes.

He ſhall be broken without hand.] God ſtruck him with a loathſome diſeaſe, attended with terrible torments of body and horror of mind, 2 Macc. chap. 9.

26 Shut thou up the viſion.] Conceal the ſenſe of it from common underſtandings. So we find ſhutting and opening, ſealing, and unſealing, are oppoſed in the prophetical language, and import the ſame as concealing and revealing, delaying the accompliſhment of a prophecy, and bringing it into effect. Lowth.

27 None underſtood it.] Daniel himſelf had but an imperfect comprehenſion of it, as when men view things at a diſtance, though the angel imparted to him the general meaning.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the firſt year of Darius the ſon of Ahaſuerus.] See chap. v. 31. This is the ſame perſon who is called Cyaxares, the ſon of Aſtyages, by the heathen hiſtorians, with whom Joſephus agrees. His father Aſtyages had the name of Ahaſuerus among the Jews, as appears by a paſſage in Tobit, wherein the taking of Nineveh is aſcribed to Nebuchodonoſer and Aſſuerus, who were the ſame with Nabupolaſſer Nebuchadnezzar's father, and Aſtyages; Nebuchadnezzar being a name common to all the Babylonian kings, as Pharaoh was to the kings of Egypt. Prideaux.

2 I Daniel underſtood by books, &c.] The ſeveral prophecies of Jeremiah are called ſo many books. We may obſerve from hence, that the later prophets ſtudied the writings of the former, for the more perfect underſtanding of the times, when their prophecies were to be fulfilled. Lowth.

Seventy years.] Theſe are to be dated from the beginning of the fourth year of Jehoiakim, which is coincident with the firſt of Nebuchadnezzar. See note on Jer. xxv. 11.

15 Who

he ſpake againſt us, and againſt our judges that judged us, by bringing upon us a great evil: for under the whole heaven hath not been done as hath been done upon Jeruſalem.

13 As it is written in the law of Moſes, all this evil is come upon us: yet made we not our prayer before the LORD our God, that we might turn from our iniquities, and underſtand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the LORD watched upon the evil and brought it upon us: for the LORD our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth: for we obeyed not his voice.

15 And now, O LORD our God, that haſt brought thy people forth out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and haſt gotten thee renown as at this day; we have ſinned, we have done wickedly.

16 ¶ O LORD, according to all thy righteouſneſs, I beſeech thee, let thine anger and thy fury be turned away from thy city Jeruſalem, thy holy mountain: becauſe for our ſins and for the iniquities of our fathers Jeruſalem and thy people are become a reproach to all that are about us.

17 Now therefore, O our God, hear the prayer of thy ſervant, and his ſupplications, and cauſe thy face to ſhine upon thy ſanctuary that is deſolate, for the LORD's ſake.

18 O my God, incline thine ear, and hear; open thine eyes, and behold our deſolations, and the city which is called by thy name: for we do not preſent our ſupplications before thee for our righteouſneſs, but for thy great mercies.

19 O LORD, hear; O LORD, forgive; O LORD, hearken, and do; defer not, for thine own ſake, O my God: for thy city and thy people are called by thy name.

20 ¶ And whiles I was ſpeaking, and praying, and confeſſing my ſin and the ſin of my people Iſrael, and preſenting my ſupplication before the LORD my God for the holy mountain of my God:

21 Yea, whiles I was ſpeaking in prayer, even the man Gabriel, whom I had ſeen in the viſion at the beginning, being cauſed to fly ſwiftly, touched me about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and ſaid, O Daniel, I am now come forth to give thee ſkill and underſtanding.

23 At the beginning of thy ſupplications the commandment came forth, and I came to ſhew thee: for thou art greatly beloved: therefore underſtand the matter, and conſider the viſion.

24 Seventy weeks are determined upon thy people, and upon thy holy city, to finiſh the tranſgreſſion, and to make an end of ſins, and to make reconcilation for iniquity, and to bring in everlaſting righteouſneſs, and to ſeal up the viſion and prophecy, and to anoint the moſt Holy.

15 Who haſt brought thy people out of Egypt.] A form of ſupplication, whereby devout perſons intreat God to continue his favours, by recounting his former mercies to them; in Latin it is called obſecratio: of which kind is that form of ſupplication uſed in our Litany, By the myſtery of the holy incarnation, &c. which ſome men's ignorance or prejudice has miſinterpreted, as if it were a ſort of conjuration. Lowth.

16 Righteouſneſs] This word is in many places of ſcripture equivalent to mercy. See 1 Sam. xii. 7. Pſal. xxxi. 1.---cxliii. 1.

19 Defer not, for thine own ſake.] The ſeventy years of our captivity are near being expired; defer not the accompliſhment of the promiſe thou haſt made to reſtore us to our own country and the free exerciſe of our religion.

21 The man Gabriel.] An angel in the ſhape of a man.

The time of the evening oblation.] There were three hours of prayer; but the two moſt ſolemn ſeaſons of it were at the time of the morning and evening oblation, at the third and ninth hours of the day, i. e. at nine in the morning, and three in the evening. But upon their ſolemn days of humiliation, they continued their devotions from the time of the morning ſacrifice, till that of the evening was finiſhed. Such was this of Daniel, and that of Cornelius.

23 The commandment came forth.] God's command to inſtruct thee in what ſhould hereafter befal the city and temple of Jeruſalem.

Greatly beloved.] Learned men have obſerved a near affinity between the prophecy of Daniel and the revelations of St. John. Much the ſame title is given to them both; a man greatly beloved to Daniel, the diſciple whom Jeſus loved to St. John.

Underſtand the matter, and conſider the viſion.] Attend with care, for this prophecy contains truth of the laſt importance.

24 Seventy weeks are determined upon thy people, and upon the holy city.] This is juſtly allowed to be one of the nobleſt prophecies in the Old Teſtament, as it is one of the ſtrongeſt proofs againſt the Jews, in favour of Chriſtianity; ſince it determines the very time Chriſt was to come into the world, enter into his miniſtry, and be cut off for the ſins of the people. Soon after was to follow the deſtruction of the Jews; or, as the prophet ſtiles it, their ceaſing to be a people, with the promulgation of the goſpel, or the new covenant in and by that Meſſiah.

The ſyſtem moſt univerſally received, is that which begins the prophecy from the going forth of the commandment to rebuild the temple, at the commencement of its execution, which was not done till Nehemiah's coming to Jeruſalem to ſee it punctually performed, and the end of it at the death of the Meſſiah, which interval makes up the four hundred and ninety years here foretold;

25 Know therefore and understand, that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Jerusalem unto the Messiah the Prince, shall be seven weeks, and threescore and two weeks the street shall be built again, and the wall, even in troublous times.

26 And after threescore and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off, but not for himself; and the people of the prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood, and unto the end of the war desolations are determined.

27 And he shall confirm the covenant with many for one week: and in the midst of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the overspreading of abominations he shall make it desolate, even until the consummation, and that determined, shall be poured upon the desolate.

CHAP. X.

1 Daniel having humbled himself, seeth a vision.
10 Being troubled with fear, he is comforted by the angel.

IN the third year of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was revealed unto Daniel, whose told; for Nehemiah found the work obstructed at his coming, which he immediately dispatched and finished. This command was given in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes' reigning jointly with his father, or the tenth of his reigning singly. In the conclusion the prophet is told, that after the cutting off the Messiah, the temple and city shall be destroyed by a strange nation: all which foreshews the Roman eagles being set up in the temple, or what the prophet calls the desolation of the abomination, and which Christ alludes to by the words, casting a trench about the city, and one stone's not being left upon another. Lastly, those who had thus rejected and put to death the Messiah, were to cease to be a people; all which the Jews have felt. The lasting desolation of the city and temple was to be the finishing stroke of the Christian evidence against the Jews; who have meanly endeavoured to evade the famous prophecy of Jacob, that the sceptre should not depart from Judah; at the expence of common sense and chronology: there seemed therefore still wanting a more irrefragable proof, if not to convince, at least to silence, that infatuated nation, as to the Messiah's coming at the appointed time, and to expose the stubborn vanity of those who still expect him; and this was the prophecy of his coming during the standing of the second temple, and rendering it more glorious by his presence than that of Solomon, notwithstanding its great disparity in other respects. When therefore this temple was destroyed with their city, and when they see themselves a dispersed people upwards of 1700 years, it is not sufficient to convince them that he is come, as his disciples and apostles affirmed, even though there had been a new one built; how much more when all attempts for the rebuilding it have been frustrated? Moreover, though the total destruction of the city and temple, and the dispersion of the Jews did not immediately follow the crucifixion of the Messiah, yet they became obnoxious to the sentence; and God seems only to have protracted the execution, to give them an opportunity of repenting that atrocious crime, which, St. Peter says, they had committed through ignorance: accordingly we find several thousands did repent and were converted, while the more obdurate refusing to acknowledge that crime, and embrace the offered mercy, were thereupon dispersed, to be standing examples of the truth of the scriptures and prophecies, and of judicial blindness of heart. Univers. Hist. 8vo. vol. X. p. 446.

To finish the transgression.] This the Messiah did by making an atonement for sin, and absolving men from the guilt of it.

To seal up the vision and prophecy.] To fulfil the prophecies of preceding ages, concerning the Messiah, and to confirm them, by making the event answer the prediction, as the setting a seal confirms the authenticity of a writing.

To anoint the most holy.] The word anoint plainly alludes to the name of Messiah, which signifies, in Hebrew, anointed, and is translated Christ in Greek. To anoint, is here the same thing as to consecrate the Messiah to be a priest, prophet, and king, all which offices were conveyed by the ceremony of anointing. The Messiah is stiled the most holy, on account of his unspotted original, and unblameable life. Lowth.

25 Unto Messiah.] The name of Messiah, or Anointed, was, in an eminent manner, appropriated to him that was sanctified, or set apart, and sent into the world, as the redeemer of it. By this name he was commonly known to the Jews.

Shall be seven weeks, and threescore and two weeks.] A colon should be put at the end of this sentence, which is wrong placed in the middle of it in our English Bibles; and then read thus, Seven weeks and threescore and two weeks: the street shall be built, and which numbers put together, make sixty-nine weeks of years, or five hundred and eighty-three years. As the cutting off the Messiah is appropriated to the period of threescore and two weeks in the following verse; so the seven weeks, or forty-nine years, must, in all probability, be assigned to the building of the street and the wall, whether we understand it literally or metaphorically, for the restoring and settling the Jewish church and state. Prideaux.

The street shall be built again, and the wall, even in troublous times.] i. e. When the Jews were sorely afflicted by their enemies, who opposed them in rebuilding the city, and fortifying it with a new wall. These words, taking in their obvious sense, plainly fix the date of this prophecy to the twentieth year of Artaxerxes, who then gave Nehemiah a commission to repair the city, and raise up the walls and ramparts: before which time, the Jews that returned from captivity lived in the cities of their inheritance. Lowth.

26 After threescore and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off.] The common acceptation of this passage is, that, in the seventieth or last week, the Messiah should be put to death. The Hebrew word, translated cut off, is, by the Jewish rabbins, interpreted of a death, inflicted by the sentence of a judge. Our Saviour plainly refers to this text in Luke xxiv. 26—46. Lowth.

But not for himself.] The just suffering for the unjust.

The people of the prince that shall come, &c.] The Romans, under the conduct of Vespasian, and his son Titus, who were the generals in that war, and both dignified with the title of Cæsar. The people are the Romans and their empire, which was the seat of the Christian church. Lowth.

27 He shall cause the sacrifices and the oblation to cease.] Christ, by his one oblation of himself once offered, shall put an end to all the sacrifices and oblations made in the Jewish temple.

Until the consummation.] 'Till God's indignation be fulfilled.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the third year of Cyrus.] Daniel must now have been name was called Belteſhazzar; and the thing was true, but the time appointed was long: and he underſtood the thing, and had underſtanding of the viſion.

2 In thoſe days I Daniel was mourning three full weeks.

3 I ate no pleaſant bread, neither came fleſh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint myſelf at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled.

4 And in the four and twentieth day of the firſt month, as I was by the ſide of the great river, which is Hiddekel;

5 Then I lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, a certain man clothed in linen, whoſe loins were girded with fine gold of Uphaz:

6 His body alſo was like the beryl, and his face as the appearance of lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his arms and his feet like in colour to poliſhed braſs, and the voice of his words like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone ſaw the viſion: for the men that were with me ſaw not the viſion; but a great quaking fell upon them, ſo that they fled to hide themſelves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and ſaw this great viſion, and there remained no ſtrength in me: for my comelineſs was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no ſtrength.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, then was I in a deep ſleep on my face, and my face toward the ground.

10 ¶ And behold, an hand touched me, which ſet me upon my knees, and upon the palms of my hands.

11 And he ſaid unto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloved, underſtand the words that I ſpeak unto thee, and ſtand upright; for unto thee am I now ſent. And when he had ſpoken this word unto me, I ſtood trembling.

12 Then ſaid he unto me, Fear not, Daniel: for from the firſt day that thou didſt ſet thine heart to underſtand, and to chaſten thy ſelf before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words.

13 But the prince of the kingdom of Perſia withſtood me one and twenty days: but lo, Michael one of the chief princes came to help me; and I remained there with the kings of Perſia.

14 Now I am come to make thee underſtand what ſhall befall thy people in the latter days: for yet the viſion is for many days.

15 And when he had ſpoken ſuch words unto me, I ſet my face toward the ground, and I became dumb.

16 And behold, one like the ſimilitude of the ſons of men touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and ſpake, and ſaid unto him that ſtood before me, O my Lord, by the viſion my ſorrows are turned upon me, and I have retained no ſtrength.

17 For how can the ſervant of this my lord, talk with this my lord? for as for me, ſtraightway there remained no ſtrength in me, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came again and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he ſtrengthened me.

been above 90 years old: he could not be much leſs than 20 when he was carried away captive, and that was 73 years before the date of this viſion, which was the laſt Daniel ſaw.

Had underſtanding of the viſion.] He had a clear view of the ſucceſſion of the Perſian and Grecian monarchies, and of the ſeries of the kings of Syria and Egypt, under the latter of them; although the remaining parts of the viſion were obſcure, eſpecially with reſpect to the final event. Lowth.

2 Was mourning full three weeks.] Becauſe the adverſaries of the Jews obſtructed the building of the temple.

4 Which is Hiddekel.] Or, Tigris, near Shuſhan.

5 Clothed in linen, whoſe loins were girded with fine gold of Uphaz.] The habit of a high-prieſt. The meaning is, that all the body of him that appeared, was like the pureſt and beſt poliſhed gold. The deſcription St. John gives of Chriſt as high-prieſt of the church, Rev. i. 15. ſeems to be taken from this place of Daniel, which proves, that the perſon here deſcribed could be no other than the Son of God.

7 A great quaking fell upon them, &c.] They were ſeized with terror, and fled from ſuch an amazing ſight.

10 An hand touched me.] Probably the angel Gabriel, ch. viii. 17, 18.

12 From the firſt day that thou didſt ſet thine heart, &c.] As God graciouſly anſwered thoſe prayers thou madeſt in thy former humiliations, ſo now is he pleaſed to ſend me to inform thee what ſhall be the ſtate of the Jews in after-times.

13 The prince of the kingdom of Perſia withſtood me.] Suppoſed to be the tutelar angel of that country. The four ſpirits mentioned in Zechariah, ch. vi. 5. ſeem to be the guardian angels of the four great empires. Every heathen nation thought, not only their country but themſelves, to be protected by ſome tutelar deity, and looked upon the God of the Jews to be no other than the deity who preſided over that nation. Lowth.

Michael one of the chief princes.] He is ſtiled an archangel by St. Jude.

19 And said, O man greatly beloved, fear not; peace be unto thee, be strong, yea, be strong. And when he had spoken unto me, I was strengthened, and said, Let my lord speak: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherefore I come unto thee? and now will I return to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, lo, the prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is noted in the scripture of truth; and there is none that holdeth with me in these things but Michael your prince.

CHAP. XI.

1 The overthrow of Persia by the king of Grecia.
5 Kings of the north and south.

ALSO I in the first year of Darius the Mede, even I, stood to confirm and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the truth. Behold, there shall stand up yet three kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be far richer than they all: and by his strength through his riches he shall stir up all against the realm of Grecia.

3 And a mighty king shall stand up, that shall rule with great dominion and do according to his will.

4 And when he shall stand up, his kingdom shall be broken, and shall be divided toward the four winds of heaven; and not to his posterity, nor according to his domnion which he ruled: for his kingdom shall be plucked up, even for others besides those.

5 ¶ And the king of the south shall be strong, and one of his princes: and he shall be strong above him, and have dominion; his dominion shall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of years they shall join themselves together: for the king's daughter of the south shall come to the king of the north

---

20 Will I return to fight, &c.] The original word signifies also any other sort of opposition, as arguing or pleading for different parties, and in this latter sense it is most proper to be here understood. Wells.

When I am gone forth, lo, the prince of Grecia shall come.] When I am gone forth from the divine presence, the tutelar angel of the Grecian empire will appear in the court of heaven, and offer his reasons for translating the empire of the Persians to the Greeks, that the Jews may enjoy the benefit of their dominion; as a government that will be more favourable to them than the Persian were. Alexander and some of his successors conferred many favours upon the Jews according to Josephus. Lowth.

21 There is none that holdeth with me, &c.] None of the guardian angels who have the care over other nations, join with me in defending the cause of the Jews, but Michael, your protector.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the first year of Darius the Mede, I stood to confirm and strengthen him.] This verse should have been joined to the last chapter. The angel goes on to add, that as he now joins with Michael to defend the cause of the Jewish nation; so, at the time of the overthrow of the Babylonish empire, he assisted Michael in advancing Darius to the succession, which was the occasion of restoring the Jews from captivity. Lowth.

2 There shall stand up yet three kings in Persia.] After Cyrus shall succeed Cambyses, the son of Cyrus; Smerdis, the Magian; and Darius the son of Hystaspes, who married the daughter of Cyrus.

The fourth shall be far richer than they all.] This means Xerxes, who brought together an army consisting, according to Herodotus, of five millions, two hundred eighty three thousand, two hundred and twenty men, to over-run all Greece. These wars carried on by the successors of Xerxes ended at last in the conquest of the Persian monarchy by Alexander. Upon this account the angel passes over the rest of the Persian kings, proceeds immediately to relate the success of Alexander, and to foretel the translation of the empire from the Persians to the Greeks.

3 A mighty king shall stand up.] Alexander the Great, whose successes no prince was able to put a stop to.

4 When he shall stand up.] In the height of his prosperity. chap. viii 8.

Not to his posterity.] Alexander had a brother Aridæus, and two sons, Alexander and Hercules, who were all cut off in a few years after his death, to make way for his generals, who divided his empire between them. Lowth.

5 The king of the south shall be strong, &c] The king of Egypt, the king of the north being Syria. These two came at length to have the greatest share of Alexander's dominions, and made the greatest figure of all his successors: and were alone concerned in the affairs of the Jews. The king of the south means here Ptolemy the first, the son of Lagus, called Ptolemy Soter. He shall be strong, says the angel: he had all Egypt, and the adjacent parts of Libya, besides Palestine, Cœlo-Syria, and most of the maritime provinces of the lesser Asia.

One of his princes, &c.] i. e. Seleucus Nicator the first king of the north or Syria: he had under his dominion all the countries of the east, from mount Taurus to the river Indus; thence westward to the Egean sea; and therefore was reckoned the most potent of Alexander's successors.

6 In the end of years they shall join themselves together.] In process of time the successors of those two kings shall enter into an alliance together: these two are Ptolemy Philadelphus, son of the former Ptolemy, and Antiochus Theus, king of Syria, grandson of Seleucus Nicator.

The king's daughter of the south.] A league shall be concluded by the marriage of Berenice, daughter of Ptolemy Philadelphus, with Antiochus Theus, although he had another wife Laodice.

She shall not retain the power of the arm.] She shall not be able to keep her interest with Antiochus; who, as soon as her father Ptolemy was dead, divorced her, and recalled his former wife Laodice, and her children. Lowth.

Neither shall he stand, nor his arm] Nor shall Antiochus himself long survive; for Laodice being jealous of his fickle temper, to make an agreement: but ſhe ſhall not retain the power of the arm; neither ſhall he ſtand, nor his arm: but ſhe ſhall be given up, and they that brought her, and he that begat her, and he that ſtrengthened her in theſe times.

7 But out of a branch of her roots ſhall one ſtand up in his eſtate, which ſhall come with an army, and ſhall enter into the fortreſs of the king of the north, and ſhall deal againſt them, and ſhall prevail;

8 And ſhall alſo carry captives into Egypt, their gods with their princes, and with their precious veſſels of ſilver and of gold: and he ſhall continue more years than the king of the north.

9 So the king of the ſouth ſhall come into his kingdom, and ſhall return into his own land.

10 But his ſons ſhall be ſtirred up, and ſhall aſſemble a multitude of great forces: and one ſhall certainly come, and overflow, and paſs through: then ſhall he return, and be ſtirred up even to his fortreſs.

11 And the king of the ſouth ſhall be moved with choler, and ſhall come forth and fight with him, even with the king of the north: and he ſhall ſet forth a great multitude; but the multitude ſhall be given into his hand.

12 And when he hath taken away the multitude, his heart ſhall be lifted up, and he ſhall caſt down many ten thouſands; but he ſhall not be ſtrengthened by it.

13 For the king of the north ſhall return, and ſhall ſet forth a multitude greater than the former, and ſhall certainly come after certain years with a great army and with much riches.

14 And in thoſe times there ſhall many ſtand up againſt the king of the ſouth: alſo the robbers of thy people ſhall exalt themſelves to eſtabliſh the viſion; but they ſhall fall.

15 So the king of the north ſhall come, and caſt up a mount, and take the moſt fenced cities: and the arms of the ſouth ſhall not withſtand, neither his choſen people, neither ſhall there be any ſtrength to withſtand.

16 But he that cometh againſt him ſhall do according to his own will, and none ſhall ſtand before him: and he ſhall ſtand in the glorious land, which by his hand ſhall be conſumed.

17 He ſhall alſo ſet his face to enter with the ſtrength of his whole kingdom, and upright ones with him; thus ſhall he do: and he ſhall give him the daughter of women, corrupting her: but ſhe ſhall not ſtand on his ſide, neither be for him.

18 After this ſhall he turn his face unto the iſles, and ſhall take many: but a prince for his own behalf ſhall cauſe the reproach offered by him to ceaſe; without his own reproach he ſhall cauſe it to turn upon him.

per, procured him to be poiſoned, and concealed his death till her ſon Seleucus had ſecured the ſucceſſion. Lowth.

She ſhall be given up, and they that brought her.] Berenice, after ſhe had ſhut herſelf up in the aſylum, or place of ſanctuary of Daphne, was betrayed into her enemy's hands, and baſely murdered, with all who attended her out of Egypt.

He that begat her.] The ſenſe ſhould be, He whom ſhe brought forth; ſo the margin reads.

He that ſtrengthened her in thoſe times.] Her father Ptolemy, who ſhould have ſupported her in thoſe difficulties, died a little before. All theſe particulars are minutely confirmed by profane hiſtorians, which confirms the proof of this prophecy.

8 Shall alſo carry captives into Egypt, their gods with their princes.] Ptolemy her brother, ſucceeded his father, and revenged his ſiſter's quarrel by invading the frontiers of Seleucus. He made himſelf maſter of all Syria and Cilicia, and paſſing over the Euphrates, conquered as far as Babylon, and carried back into Egypt immenſe plunder, with 2500 idols, which Cambyſes had, upon his conqueſt of Egypt, long before carried into Babylon. Hence the Egyptians gave him the title of Euergetes, or Benefactor.

10 One ſhall certainly come, and overflow, and paſs through.] Antiochus ſhall over-run Judea, and Cœlo-Syria, with other provinces belonging to Egypt; taking the advantage of Ptolemy Euergetes' death, and the ſucceſſion of his ſon Ptolemy Philopater, a weak and profligate prince. Seleucus died at the beginning of this enterprize. Lowth.

11 The king of the ſouth ſhall be moved with choler.] Ptolemy Philopater, the young king of Egypt, being enraged at the attempts of Antiochus, ſhall advance againſt him with a great army, and overcome him.

13 The king of the north ſhall return.] Fourteen years after the concluſion of the former war, upon the death of Philopater, and the ſucceeding of his infant ſon Ptolemy Epiphanes, Antiochus the king of the north ſhall return into Cœlo-Syria and Paleſtine, for the recovery of thoſe provinces, and ſhall bring with him a greater army than he had in the former war. Lowth.

14 The robbers of thy people ſhall exalt themſelves to eſtabliſh the viſion.] The apoſtates from the Jewiſh law ſhall exalt themſelves under the favour of the king of Egypt and his miniſters, to accompliſh what is ſaid in the writings of the prophets concerning the perſecutions that ſhall befal the people of God, and the puniſhments that ſhould at length overtake thoſe that forſake the truth. Accordingly theſe apoſtates did fall upon the people, and were cut off by Antiochus: for, in the ninth year of the reign of Epiphanes, Antiochus made himſelf maſter of Jeruſalem, and cut off or drove from thence all thoſe Jews who were of Ptolemy's party, and beſtowed particular favours upon thoſe that perſevered in the obſervance of the law. Lowth.

15 Shall caſt up a mount.] More properly, Shall play an engine.

17 He ſhall give him the daughter of women.] His daughter Cleopatra, that ſhe might betray her huſband, and Antiochus by that means become maſter of Egypt—She is called daughter of women by way of excellence.

19 Then he ſhall turn his face towards the fort of his own land: but he ſhall ſtumble, and fall, and not be found.

20 Then ſhall ſtand up in his eſtate a raiſer of taxes in the glory of the kingdom: but within few days he ſhall be deſtroyed: neither in anger, nor in battle.

21 And in his eſtate ſhall ſtand up a vile perſon, to whom they ſhall not give the honour of the kingdom: but he ſhall come in peacebly, and obtain the kingdom by flatteries.

22 And with the arms of a flood ſhall they be overflown from before him, and ſhall be broken; yea, alſo the prince of the covenant.

23 And after the league made with him he ſhall work deceitfully: for he ſhall come up, and ſhall become ſtrong with a ſmall people.

24 He ſhall enter peaceably even upon the fatteſt places of the province: and he ſhall do that which his fathers have not done, nor his fathers fathers; he ſhall ſcatter among them the prey and ſpoil, and riches: yea, and he ſhall forecaſt his devices againſt the ſtrong holds, even for a time.

25 And he ſhall ſtir up his power and his courage againſt the king of the ſouth with a great army: and the king of the ſouth ſhall be ſtirred up to battle with a very great and mighty army; but he ſhall not ſtand: for they ſhall forecaſt devices againſt him.

26 Yea, they that feed of the portion of his meat ſhall deſtroy him, and his army ſhall overflow; and many ſhall fall down ſlain.

27 And both theſe kings hearts ſhall be to do miſchief, and they ſhall ſpeak lyes at one table; but it ſhall not proſper: for yet the end ſhall be at the time appointed.

28 Then ſhall he return into his land with great riches; and his heart ſhall be againſt the holy covenant: and he ſhall do exploits, and return to his own land.

29 At the time appointed he ſhall return, and come toward the ſouth; but it ſhall not be as the former, or as the latter.

30 For the ſhips of Chittim ſhall come againſt him: therefore he ſhall be grieved and return, and have indignation againſt the holy covenant: ſo ſhall he do, he ſhall even return, and have intelligence with them that forſake the holy covenant.

31 And arms ſhall ſtand on his part, and they ſhall pollute the ſanctuary of ſtrength, and ſhall take away the daily ſacrifice, and they ſhall place the abomination that maketh deſolate.

32 And ſuch as do wickedly againſt the covenant ſhall he corrupt by flatteries: but the people that do know their God ſhall be ſtrong, and do exploits.

33 And they that underſtand among the people ſhall inſtruct many: yet they ſhall fall by the ſword, and by flame, by captivity, and by ſpoil many days.

34 Now when they ſhall fall, they ſhall be holpen with a little help: but many ſhall cleave to them with flatteries.

35 And ſome of them of underſtanding ſhall

19 He ſhall turn his face towards the fort of his own land, &c.] Antiochus was defeated at mount Sipylus, by Lucius Scipio the Roman conſul; after which he returned back to Antioch, the chief ſeat and fortreſs of his kingdom. From whence, going into the eaſtern provinces to raiſe the money he had agreed to pay the Romans, and attempting to rob the temple at Elymais for that purpoſe, he was ſlain there, and never again returned into Syria. Lowth.

20 A raiſer of taxes.] Seleucus Philopater, the ſon of Antiochus, whoſe chief buſineſs it was to raiſe the money upon his ſubjects, which his father had obliged himſelf to pay to the Romans---within a few days, or years, for the Hebrew ſignifies both.

Neither in anger nor battle.] By treaſon, for he was poiſoned.

21 A vile perſon.] i. e. Antiochus Epiphanes.

22 The prince of the covenant.] Probably Ptolemy Philometer, for he it was with whom the league was made: ſome underſtand this of the high-prieſt of the Jews.

30 Ships of Chittim.] Popillius the Roman ambaſſador, having ſailed from Italy, and touched at Greece, ſhall come to him, and oblige him to deſiſt from making war againſt Egypt.

31 Arms ſhall ſtand on his part, and they ſhall pollute the ſanctuary of ſtrength:] Sir Iſaac Newton and ſome of the moſt learned interpreters underſtand this of the Romans, who had lately conquered the kingdom of Macedon, and thereby begun to put an end to the reign of Daniel's third beaſt.

They ſhall place the abomination that maketh deſolate.] Idols are often called abomination in ſcripture: the meaning is, the Romans built a temple to Jupiter Capitolinus, where the temple of God in Jeruſalem had ſtood. It is ſaid to make deſolate, becauſe the true worſhippers of God were baniſhed from the temple and city.

33 They that underſtand among the people, ſhall inſtruct many.] They that are zealous in doing their duty, will arm others againſt the temptations, whereby the wicked ſhall perſuade them to forſake the true religion. Lowth.

They ſhall fall by the ſword.] Thoſe that obſerve not the law ſhall be put to death.

34 They ſhall be holpen with a little help.] Meaning probably Conſtantine, who put a ſtop to the perſecution begun by Dioclefian, after it had raged ten years; and by that means afforded the church a little help. Conſtantine was the firſt Roman emperor that profeſſed chriſtianity. T. Newton.

fall to try them, and to purge, and to make them white, even to the time of the end: because it is yet for a time appointed.

36 And the king shall do according to his will; and he shall exalt himself, and magnify himself above every god, and shall speak marvellous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the indignation be accomplished: for that that is determined shall be done.

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desire of women, nor regard any god: for he shall magnify himself above all.

38 But in his estate shall he honour the God of forces: and a god whom his fathers knew not, shall he honour with gold and silver, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall he do in the most strong holds with a strange god, whom he shall acknowledge and increase with glory: and he shall cause them to rule over many, and shall divide the land for gain.

40 And at the time of the end shall the king of the south push at him: and the king of the north shall come against him like a whirlwind, with chariots, and with horsemen, and with many ships: and he shall enter into the countries, and shall overflow and pass over.

41 He shall enter also into the glorious land, and many countries shall be overthrown: but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom, and Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hand also upon the countries: and the land of Egypt shall not escape;

43 But he shall have power over the treasures of gold and of silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt: and the Libyans and the Ethiopians shall be at his steps.

44 But tidings out of the east and out of the north shall trouble him: therefore he shall go forth with great fury to destroy, and utterly to make away many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the glorious holy mountain; yet he shall come to his end, and none shall help him.

CHAP. XII.

1 Michael shall deliver Israel from their troubles.
5 Daniel is informed of the times.

AND at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince which standeth for the children of thy people: and there shall be a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book.

2 And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame, and everlasting contempt.

3 And they that be wise shall shine as the 36 The king shall do according to his will.] Antiochus was a type of antichrist; so here the angel makes a sudden transition from the type to the description of antichrist himself.

He shall exalt himself, &c.] St. Paul describes antichrist almost in the same words, 2 Thess. ii. 4.

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers.] The Roman state shall cast off the Pagan deities which were worshipped in that empire, or shall corrupt the true worship of God. Clark.

Nor the desire of women.] i. e. Discouraging marriage.

38 In his estate shall he honour the God of forces.] Mr. Mede and several other learned commentators translate and interpret this verse thus, Together with God in his seat shall he honour Mahuzzim: which last word is retained in several translations, and signifies protectors or guardians; and therefore will naturally denote saints and angels which are invoked and adored by the church of Rome, as patrons and guardians of mankind.

39 Shall divide the land for gain.] i. e. The bishops, priests, monks, and religious orders; which is a fact that has been verified in a very remarkable manner. T. Newton.

40 At the time of the end shall the king of the south, &c.] i. e. In the latter days of the Roman empire, the Saracens, who were of Arabia, and came from the south, under the conduct of their false prophet Mohammed and his successors, with amazing rapidity made themselves masters of Egypt, Syria, and many other fine provinces.

The king of the north.] i. e. The Turks, who were originally Scythians.

41 The glorious land.] Judea, which has long been in the hands of the Turks.

44 Tidings out of the east and north.] It is thought this part of the prophecy is not yet fulfilled, but may mean Persia and Russia; which hereafter may become instruments of Providence in the restoration of the Jews. T. Newton.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 2. Many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake.] A plain description of the general resurrection both of the just and unjust: the belief of which St. Paul mentions, as founded on the writing of the law and the prophets, and there is no text in the Old Testament so full to that purpose, as this before us. The word many is often equivalent to all, and should have been so translated in this passage. Lowth.

3 They that be wise, shall shine as the brightness of the firmament.] They who have been the great lights of the world, who have instructed others by their doctrine, and confirmed them in the truth by their sufferings and example, as the apostles and martyrs, brightneſs of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteouſneſs, as the ſtars for ever and ever.

4 But thou, O Daniel, ſhut up the words, and ſeal the book, even to the time of the end: many ſhall run to and fro, and knowledge ſhall be increaſed.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there ſtood other two, the one on this ſide of the bank of the river, and the other on that ſide of the bank of the river.

6 And one ſaid to the man clothed in linen, which was upon the waters of the river, How long ſhall it be to the end of theſe wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was upon the waters of the river, when he held up his right hand and his left hand unto heaven, and ſware by him that liveth for ever, that it ſhall be for a time, times, and an half; and when he ſhall have accompliſhed to ſcatter the power of the holy people, all theſe things ſhall be finiſhed.

8 And I heard, but I underſtood not. Then ſaid, I, O my Lord, what ſhall be the end of theſe things?

9 And he ſaid, Go thy way, Daniel: for the words are cloſed up and ſealed till the time of the end.

10 Many ſhall be purified and made white and tried; but the wicked ſhall do wickedly: and none of the wicked ſhall underſtand; but the wiſe ſhall underſtand.

11 And from the time that the daily ſacrifice ſhall be taken away, and the abomination that maketh deſolate ſet up, there ſhall be a thouſand two hundred and ninety days.

12 Bleſſed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thouſand three hundred and five and thirty days.

13 But go thou thy way till the end be: for thou ſhalt reſt, and ſtand in thy lot at the end of the days.

martyrs, ſhall have a reward eminently glorious at the day of judgment. Lowth.

4 Many ſhall run to and fro.] The original word ſignifies not only to run to and fro with reſpect to the body, but alſo with reſpect to the mind, i. e. to reaſon or exerciſe one's reaſonings. Many ſhall be inquiſitive after truth, and keep a correſpondence with others for their better information: and the gradual completion of this, and other prophecies ſhall direct obſerving readers to form a judgment concerning thoſe particulars which are yet to be fulfilled.

From hence we may learn the obſcurity of ſeveral prophecies in ſcripture: and it may be obſerved, that generally thoſe prophecies are moſt obſcure, the time of whoſe completion is fartheſt off. For the ſame reaſon, in interpreting the prophecies relating to the latter times of the world, the judgment of the latter writers is to be preferred before that of the ancients; becauſe the moderns living nearer the times when the events were to be fulfilled had ſurer marks to guide them in their expoſitions. Lowth.

7 A time, times, and a half.] Or, as it is expreſſed in the Chaldee, the dividing of time, i. e. three years and a half; during which time the public ſacrifices and worſhip were diſcontinued by the perſecution of Antiochus.

When he ſhall have accompliſhed to ſcatter the power of the holy people, all theſe things ſhall be finiſhed.] When the Jewiſh diſperſions ſhall be ended, then the moſt remarkable events in this prophecy ſhall be fulfilled. The reſtoration of the Jewiſh nation is foretold by the prophets, as one of thoſe ſignal events which will be brought to paſs in the latter days. This paſſage is parallel with the following words of our bleſſed Saviour, Jeruſalem ſhall be troden down of the Gentiles, until the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled, Luke xxi. 24. i. e. till the times of the fourth monarchy be expired.

8 I heard, but I underſtood not.] I did not underſtand what time was allotted for bringing to paſs this event.

9 Go thy way, Daniel: for the words are cloſed up.] Be content with what hath been revealed to thee; for the fuller explication of this prophecy is deferred till the time of its accompliſhment draweth near.

13 Thou ſhalt reſt, and ſtand in thy lot at the end of the days.] The prophet was now ninety years of age at leaſt: and therefore could not expect to live much longer. Accordingly the angel here tells him, that after this mortal life was ended, he ſhould reſt in peace with the ſouls of the righteous, and, at the reſurrection, obtain a ſhare of that happineſs which is reſerved for the faithful ſervants of God, which ſhall actually be conferred upon them at the concluſion of the times here mentioned. Lowth.

HOSEA.

THE ARGUMENT.

Hoſea is the firſt of the leſſer Prophets: He lived in the kingdom of Samaria, and propheſied under the reign of Jeroboam II. and his ſucceſſors, kings of Iſrael; and at the time when Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah reigned in Judah. His aim is to expoſe the groſs idolatries of the people of Iſrael and Judah, to denounce God's vengeance againſt them, and particularly to foretel their being carried captive into Aſſyria. The ſtile of Hoſea is pathetic, and full of ſhort and lively ſentences.

CHAP. I.

1 Hoſea, to ſhew God's judgement for ſpiritual whoredom, taketh Gomer, 4 and hath by her Jezreel, &c.

THE word of the LORD that came unto Hoſea the ſon of Beeri, in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the ſon of Joaſh king of Iſrael.

2 The beginning of the word of the LORD by Hoſea. And the LORD ſaid to Hoſea, Go, take unto thee a wife of whoredoms and children of whoredoms: for the land hath committed great whoredom, departing from the LORD.

3 So he went and took Gomer the daughter of Diblaim; which conceived, and bare him a ſon.

4 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto him, Call his name Jezreel: for yet a little while and I will avenge the blood of Jezreel upon the houſe of Jehu, and will cauſe to ceaſe the kingdom of the houſe of Iſrael.

5 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day that I will break the bow of Iſrael in the valley of Jezreel.

6 And ſhe conceived again, and bare a daughter. And God ſaid unto him, Call her name Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more have mercy upon the houſe of Iſrael; but I will utterly take them away.

7 But I will have mercy upon the houſe of Judah, and will ſave them by the LORD their God, and will not ſave them by bow, nor by ſword, nor by battle, by horſes, nor by horſemen.

8 Now when ſhe had weaned Lo-ruhamah, ſhe conceived, and bare a ſon.

9 Then ſaid God, Call his name Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people, and I will not be your God.

10 Yet the number of the children of Iſrael ſhall be as the ſand of the ſea, which can-

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 2 Go, take unto thee a wife of whoredoms, &c.] The author of the Eſſay for a New Tranſlation of the Bible ſays this ſhould be rendered, Go, take unto thee a wife that has been addicted to whoredom, &c. to ſhow the Iſraelites, that they were indiſpenſibly obliged to alter their wicked way of living, if they hoped for the favour of God.

4 I will avenge the blood of Jezreel.] Though God had commanded Jehu to do execution on the houſe of Ahab, which he did at Jezreel, yet as he did it with a wicked heart and not for the glory of God, it was imputed a blood.

5 It ſhall come to paſs at that day.] Soon after the extinction of Jehu's family. At that day in the prophets, generally ſignifies a ſeaſon marked out by Providence for ſome extraordinary act of God's judgments or mercy.

I will break the bow of Jezreel.] I will deſtroy the armies or ſtrength of Jezreel. This is commonly underſtood of the invaſion of Iſrael by Tiglath-Pileſer, when he ſubdued a great part of the kingdom, and carried the inhabitants away captive.

9 I will not be your God.] Since you have diſowned the covenant-relation I had to you, I will no more own you for my people, nor continue my protection over you.

10 The children of Iſrael ſhall be as the ſand, &c.] Though God caſts off the ten tribes, yet he will, in due time, ſupply their loſs, by bringing in great number of true Iſraelites into the church, not only of the Jews, but alſo of the Gentiles.

not be measured nor numbered: and it shall come to pass, that in the place where it was said unto them, Ye are not my people, there it shall be said unto them, Ye are the sons of the living God.

11 Then shall the children of Judah and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint themselves one head, and they shall come up out of the land: for great shall be the day of Jezreel.

CHAP. II.

1 The idoltary of the people. 6 God's judgements against them. 14 His promises of reconciliation with them.

SAY ye unto your brethren, Ammi; and to your sisters, Ruhamah.

2 Plead with your mother, plead: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: let her therefore put away her whoredoms out of her sight, and her adulteries from between her breasts;

3 Lest I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was born, and make her as a wilderness, and set her like a dry land, and slay her with thirst.

4 And I will not have mercy upon her children; for they be the children of whoredoms.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: she that conceived them hath done shamefully: for she said, I will go after my lovers, that give me my bread and my water, my wool and my flax, mine oil and my drink.

6 ¶ Therefore behold, I will hedge up thy way with thorns, and make a wall, that she shall not find her paths.

7 And she shall follow after her lovers, but she shall not overtake them; and she shall seek them, but shall not find them: then shall she say, I will go and return to my first husband; for then was it better with me than now.

8 For she did not know that I gave her corn and wine and oil, and multiplied her silver and gold, which they prepared for Baal.

9 Therefore will I return, and take away my corn in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recover my wool and my flax given to cover her nakedness.

10 And now will I discover her lewdness in the sight of her lovers, and none shall deliver her out of mine hand.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast-days, her new-moons, and her sabbaths, and all her solemn feasts.

12 And I will destroy her vines, and her fig-trees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my lovers have given me: and I will make them a forest, and the beasts of the field shall eat them.

13 And I will visit upon her the days of 11 The children of Israel shall be gathered together.] Viz. when they returned from captivity; but this is chiefly referred to the time of Christ, who shall be the head both of Jews and Gentiles.

Great shall be the day of Jezreel.] God will signally exert his arm, and shew his power in the restoration of his ancient people, and subduing their enemies: and thence a numerous offspring of of the seed of Abraham shall be added to the church. Lowth.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 Say ye unto your brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah.] Several interpreters join this verse with the foregoing chapter, and make the sense as follows: when the general restoration of the Jews shall be accomplished, you may alter your manner of speaking to those of your brethren and sisters, whom I had before disowned, and you may call them my people, and such as have obtained mercy. Lowth.

2 Plead with your mother, plead.] These words are directed to those pious persons who still remained among the ten tribes, and who were required to use their best endeavours to reform that general corruption which the nation had contracted by its idolatry: whereby they brake the covenant made with their God, which occasioned him to forsake them.

3 Lest I strip her naked, &c.] The punishment commonly inflicted upon harlots was to strip them naked, and expose them to the world. In the same manner God threatens to deliver the kingdom of Israel into the hands of her enemies, who shall strip her of all her wealth and ornaments, and carry her away naked into captivity. Lowth.

5 I will go after my lovers that give me my bread and my water.] By lovers are meant both the idols with whom the Israelites committed spiritual fornication; and also the idolatrous nations, whose alliance they courted, and, in order to procure it, practised their idolatries. They ascribed all the plenty they enjoyed to the idols they worshipped; placed their confidence in the confederacies they had made with their neighbouring idolaters, and believed the peace they enjoyed was chiefly owing to their alliance. Lowth.

6 I will hedge up her way with thorns.] I will bring her into such calamities, that she shall not know which way to turn herself.

7 I will go and return to my first husband.] Her afflictions will bring her to a sense of her duty, and the happiness she enjoyed, while she cleaved stedfastly unto God.

8 She did not know that I gave her corn and wine.] She did not consider that all the necessaries she enjoyed, as well as her riches and ornaments, were my gift, which yet she ungratefully bestowed on the service of her idols. Lowth.

13 I will visit upon her the days of Baalim.] I will punish her for all the idolatries she had committed, from the days of Jeroboam, who set up the worship of false gods.

Baalim, wherein she burned incense to them, and she decked herself with her ear-rings and her jewels, and she went after her lovers, and forgat me, saith the LORD.

14 ¶ Therefore behold, I will allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speak comfortably unto her.

15 And I will give her her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor for a door of hope; and she shall sing there as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when she came up out of the land of Egypt.

16 And it shall be at that day, saith the LORD, that thou shalt call me Ishi; and shalt call me no more Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall no more be remembered by their name.

18 And in that day will I make a covenant for them with the beasts of the field, and with the fowls of heaven, and with the creeping things of the ground: and I will break the bow and the sword and the battle out of the earth, and will make them to lie down safely.

19 And I will betroth thee unto me for ever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgement, and in loving-kindness, and in mercies.

20 I will even betroth thee unto me in faithfulness: and thou shalt know the LORD.

21 And it shall come to pass in that day; I will hear, saith the LORD, I will hear the heavens; and they shall hear the earth;

22 And the earth shall hear the corn, and the wine, and the oil; and they shall hear Jezreel.

23 And I will sow her unto me in the earth, and I will have mercy upon her that had not obtained mercy; and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people; and they shall say, Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

1 By the expiation of an adultereſs, 4 is ſhewed the deſolation of Iſrael before their reſtoration.

THEN said the LORD unto me, Go yet, love a woman beloved of her friend, yet an adultereſs, according to the love of the LORD toward the children of Iſrael, who look to other gods, and love flagons of wine.

2 So I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of silver, and for an homer of barley, and an half-homer of barley:

3 And I said unto her, Thou shalt abide for me many days; thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt not be for another man: so will I also be for thee.

4 For the children of Iſrael shall abide many days without a king, and without a prince,

---

14 Therefore behold, I will allure her.] Here is a plain alteration of ſtile from threatnings to promiſes: ſo the firſt word of this verſe ſhould have been tranſlated nevertheleſs.

15 The valley of Achor for a door of hope.] As at the Iſraelites firſt entrance into Canaan, their taking poſſeſſion of the fruitful valley of Achor, Iſaiah lxv. 10. gave them encouragement to hope they ſhould become maſters of the whole land flowing with milk and honey; ſo the ſame auſpicious tokens of the Divine favour ſhould accompany them at their return to their own country. Lowth.

She ſhall ſing there as in the days of her youth.] She ſhall expreſs her joy in God, as her fore-fathers did at their coming out of Egypt.

16 Thou ſhalt call me Iſhi; and no more Baali.] Iſhi, i. e. my huſband; and not Baali, i. e. my Lord; which had been greatly profaned by giving it to idols.

18 I will make a covenant with the beaſts, &c.] I will protect them from the violence of wild beaſts, and birds of prey and venemous creatures.

I will break the bow, and the ſword, and the battle, &c.] An univerſal peace is mentioned by the prophets as a concomitant of that flouriſhing ſtate of the church, which ſhall commence at the reſtoration of the Jews, and the coming-in of the Gentiles.

21, 22 I will hear the heavens, and they ſhall hear the earth.] The heavens ſhall anſwer the wants of the earth, in ſending down ſeaſonable ſhowers; and the earth ſhall anſwer the wants of mankind, in bringing forth all the neceſſaries of life.

They ſhall hear Jezreel.] This new ſtate of the church, increaſed by a numerous acceſſion both of Jews and Gentiles, is very properly called by the name of Jezreel, as that word imports both the ſeed and the arm of God. Lowth.

23 I will ſow her unto me in the earth.] Here is a plain alluſion to the word Jezreel mentioned in the preceding note; the prophet foretels a plentiful increaſe of true believers from this ſeed of God, under the ſimilitude of corn ſown in the earth.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Go yet, love a woman, beloved of her friend, &c.] This is probably the ſame woman mentioned, chap. i.

According to the love of the Lord toward the children of Iſrael.] The dealing of Hoſea with regard to his wife was exactly ſimilar to the favour which the Almighty ſhewed towards the Iſraelites; who, notwithſtanding all their obligations to him, retained an incurable propenſity to idolatry, often ſtiled ſpiritual whoredom. Lowth.

2 So I bought her, &c.] Alluding to the antient cuſtom of men's buying their wives. An homer was about ten buſhels, which ſhows of how little value the Iſraelites were in the ſight of God, ſince their apoſtacy.

4 The children of Iſrael ſhall abide many days without a king.] This threatning was fulfilled upon the ten tribes, when they were carried away captive by Salmaneſer, and afterwards upon the and without a ſacrifice, and without an image, and without an ephod, and without teraphim.

5 Afterward ſhall the children of Iſrael return, and ſeek the LORD their God, and David their king; and ſhall fear the LORD and his goodneſs in the latter days.

CHAP. IV.

1 God's judgements againſt the ſins of the people, 6 and of the prieſts. 15 Judah is exhorted to take warning by Iſrael's calamity.

HEAR the word of the LORD, ye children of Iſrael: for the LORD hath a controverſy with the inhabitants of the land, becauſe there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By ſwearing, and lying, and killing, and ſtealing, and committing adultery, they break out, and blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore ſhall the land mourn, and every one that dwelleth therein ſhall languiſh, with the beaſts of the field, and with the fowls of heaven; yea, the fiſhes of the ſea alſo ſhall be taken away.

4 Yet let no man ſtrive, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that ſtrive with the prieſt.

5 Therefore ſhalt thou fall in the day, and the prophet alſo ſhall fall with thee in the night, and I will deſtroy thy mother.

6 ¶ My people are deſtroyed for lack of knowledge: becauſe thou haſt rejected knowledge, I will alſo reject thee, that thou ſhalt be no prieſt to me: ſeeing thou haſt forgotten the law of thy God, I will alſo forget thy children.

7 As they were increaſed, ſo they ſinned againſt me: therefore will I change their glory into ſhame.

8 They eat up the ſin of my people, and they ſet their heart on their iniquity.

9 And there ſhall be like people, like prieſt: and I will puniſh them for their ways, and reward them their doings.

10 For they ſhall eat, and not have enough: they ſhall commit whoredom, and ſhall not increaſe: but they have left off to take heed to the LORD.

11 Whoredom, and wine, and new wine take away the heart.

12 My people aſk counſel at their ſtocks, and their ſtaff declareth unto them: for the ſpirit of whoredoms hath cauſed them to err, and they have gone a whoring from under their God.

13 They ſacrifice upon the tops of the mountains, and burn incenſe upon the hills, under oaks, and poplars, and elms, becauſe the ſhadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters ſhall commit whoredom, and your ſpouſes ſhall commit adultery.

14 I will not puniſh your daughters when they commit whoredom, nor your ſpouſes when they commit adultery: for themſelves are ſeparated with whores, and they ſacrificed with harlots: therefore the people that doth not underſtand ſhall fall.

15 ¶ Though thou, Iſrael, play the harlot, the two remaining tribes, at the deſtruction of their temple and common-wealth, during the Babyloniſh captivity: but in a more remarkable manner upon the whole nation at the deſtruction of Jeruſalem by Veſpaſian. From that time, they have had neither republic nor civil government of their own, but live every where like ſo many exiles only upon ſufferance: they have had neither prieſts nor ſacrifices, their temple being deſtroyed, where only they were permitted to offer ſacrifices; and yet, the want of a place to perform the moſt ſolemn part of their public worſhip does not tempt them to commit any kind of idolatry, the epidemical ſin of their fore-fathers. Lowth.

5 Afterward ſhall the children of Iſrael return, &c.] They ſhall be touched with a true remorſe for their former errors, eſpecially that of rejecting the Meſſiah, and deſire to be inſtructed in the knowledge of the truth.

And David their king.] The Meſſiah is often called David by the prophets, as being the perſon in whom all the promiſes made to that powerful prince were to be fulfilled.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The Lord hath a controverſy with the inhabitants of the land.] Here God is repreſented as entering into judgment with the inhabitants of the ten tribes for their impieties, as being ſo many injuries to his honour, for which he demands ſatisfaction.

3 The land ſhall mourn, and every one that dwelleth therein ſhall languiſh.] Theſe civil wars and commotions cauſe the land to wear a melancholy aſpect: the inhabitants are either deſtroyed, or forced to leave their habitations, and languiſh under the want of all things.

5 I will kill thy mother.] i. e. The whole kingdom of Iſrael.

6 My people are deſtroyed for lack of knowledge.] The ignorance of the true principles of religion, which prevails among the people of the ten tribes, is the occaſion of theſe ſins which draw down ſuch heavy judgments upon them. Lowth.

8 They eat up the ſin of my people.] i. e. The ſin-offerings, which by the law were appointed to be conſumed by fire. Pilkington.

11 Take away the heart.] i. e. Deprive men of their judgment, and darken their underſtanding.

15 Come ye not unto Gilgal, neither go ye up to Beth-aven, &c.] Gilgal was a place remarkable for renewing the rite of circumciſion; yet let not Judah offend: and come not ye unto Gilgal, neither go ye up to Beth-aven, nor ſwear, The LORD liveth.

16 For Iſrael ſlideth back as a backſliding heifer: now the LORD will feed them as a lamb in a large place.

17 Ephraim is joined to idols: let him alone.

18 Their drink is ſour: they have committed whoredom continually: her rulers with ſhame do love, Give ye.

19 The wind hath bound her up in her wings, and they ſhall be aſhamed becauſe of their ſacrifices.

CHAP. V.

1 God's judgements againſt the prieſts, the people, and the princes of Iſrael for their manifold ſins, 15 until they repent.

HEAR ye this, O prieſts; and hearken, ye houſe of Iſrael: and give ye ear, O houſe of the king; for judgement is toward you, becauſe ye have been a ſnare on Mizpah, and a net ſpread upon Tabor.

2 And the revolters are profound to make ſlaughter, though I have been a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Iſrael is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou committeſt whoredom, and Iſrael is defiled.

4 They will not frame their doings to turn unto their God: for the ſpirit of whoredoms is in the midſt of them, and they have not known the LORD.

5 And the pride of Iſrael doth teſtify to his face: therefore ſhall Iſrael and Ephraim fall in their iniquity; Judah alſo ſhall fall with them.

6 They ſhall go with their flocks and with their herds to ſeek the LORD; but they ſhall not find him: he hath withdrawn himſelf from them.

7 They have dealt treacherouſly againſt the LORD: for they have begotten ſtrange children: now ſhall a month devour them with their portions.

8 Blow ye the cornet in Gibeah, and the trumpet in Ramah: cry aloud at Beth-aven, after thee, O Benjamin.

9 Ephraim ſhall be deſolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Iſrael have I made known that which ſhall ſurely be.

10 The princes of Judah were like them that remove the bound: therefore I will pour out my wrath upon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppreſſed and broken in judgement, becauſe he willingly walked after the commandment.

12 Therefore will I be unto Ephraim as a moth, and to the houſe of Judah as rottenneſs.

13 When Ephraim ſaw his ſickneſs, and Judah ſaw his wound, then went Ephraim to the Aſſyrian, and ſent to king Jareb: yet could he not heal you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be unto Ephraim as a lion, and as a young lion to the houſe of Judah: I, even I, will tear, and go away; I will take away, and none ſhall reſcue him.

15 I will go and return to my place, till they ciſion; and after Jeroboam ſet up idolatry, it was noted for the worſhip of falſe gods. It is joined with Bethel, noted alſo for the worſhip of Jeroboam's calves, called here Beth-aven. The word Bethel ſignifies the houſe of God, and was ſo called by Jacob, becauſe of God's appearing to him there; but when it became the ſeat of idolatry, it was called Beth-aven, i. e. the houſe of vanity.

17 Ephraim.] Ephraim here ſignifies the ſame as Iſrael.

18 They love, Give ye.] They love bribes.

19 The wind hath bound her up in her wings.] The words threaten them with going into captivity; the anger of God is often repreſented under the ſimilitude of a tempeſtuous wind. This wind is here ſaid to carry them away out of their country: and then they will have ſufficient reaſon to be aſhamed of their idolatrous ſacrifices, which have brought ſuch ſevere judgments upon them. Lowth.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 A ſnare on Mizpah, and Tabor.] The prieſts and princes caught the poor in their ſnares, as hunters did their prey on theſe mountains.

5 The pride of Iſrael doth teſtify to his face.] Their indecent behaviour towards God, whoſe worſhip they deſpiſe, ſufficiently diſcovers itſelf in every part of their behaviour; and convicts them of the juſt deſert of their ſins. Lowth.

8 Blow ye the cornet in Gibeah, and the trumpet in Ramah.] This imports the ſounding an alarm, to give notice of the approaching enemy, which threatens to invade the kingdom of Judah; theſe towns lying on the frontiers of that kingdom.

10 The princes of Judah were like them that remove the bound.] They have violated the moſt ſacred laws of God, upon which not only the ordinances of his worſhip, but alſo the rights and properties of men depend; and are become guilty of the ſame injuſtice and confuſion with thoſe that remove the ancient landmarks. Lowth.

12 As a moth.] My judgments ſhall conſume them as a moth fretteth a garment.

15 I will go and return to my place, till they acknowledge their offence, and ſeek my face.] I will withdraw myſelf from them, till by a ſincere humiliation they implore my favour.

acknowledge their offence, and ſeek my face: in their affliction they will ſeek me early.

CHAP. VI.

1 An exhortation to repentance. 4 A complaint of their untowardneſs and iniquity.

COME, and let us return unto the LORD: for he hath torn; and he will heal us; he hath ſmitten, and he will bind us up.

2 After two days will he revive us, in the third day he will raiſe us up, and we ſhall live in his ſight.

3 Then ſhall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he ſhall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth.

4 ¶ O Ephraim, what ſhall I do unto thee? O Judah, what ſhall I do unto thee? for your goodneſs is as a morning cloud, and as the early dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore have I hewed them by the prophets: I have ſlain them by the words of my mouth: and thy judgements are as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I deſired mercy, and not ſacrifice; and the knowledge of God, more than burnt-offerings.

7 But they like men have tranſgreſſed the covenant: there have they dealt treacherouſly againſt me.

8 Gilead is a city of them that work iniquity, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as troops of robbers wait for a man, ſo the company of prieſts murder in the way by conſent: for they commit lewdneſs.

10 I have ſeen an horrible thing in the houſe of Iſrael: there is the whoredom of Ephraim, Iſrael is defiled.

11 Alſo, O Judah, he hath ſet an harveſt for thee, when I returned the captivity of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 A reproof of manifold ſins. 11 God's wrath againſt the people for their hypocriſy.

WHEN I would have healed Iſrael, then the iniquity of Ephraim was diſcovered, and the wickedneſs of Samaria: for they commit falſhood; and the thief cometh in, and the troop of robbers ſpoileth without.

2 And they conſider not in their hearts that I remember all their wickedneſs: now their own doings have beſet them about; they are before my face.

3 They make the king glad with their wickedneſs, and the princes with their lyes.

4 They are all adulterers, as an oven heated by the baker, who ceaſeth from raiſing after he hath kneaded the dough, until it be leavened.

5 In the day of our king the princes have made him ſick with bottles of wine: he ſtretched out his hand with ſcorners.

6 For they have made ready their heart like an oven, whiles they lie in wait; their baker ſleepeth all the night; in the morning it burneth as a flaming fire.

7 They are all hot as an oven, and have de-

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Come and let us return, &c.] A form of ſupplication which the prophet dictates to them, as very proper for the occaſion.

2 After two days will he revive us, and the third day he will raiſe us up.] A deliverance from ſuch miſeries or calamities, from whence men deſpair of a recovery is often repreſented as reſtoring to them to life after death. If we take the expreſſion in its true and natural ſenſe, it is a plain prediction of our Saviour's reſurrection; and is accordingly referred to by St. Paul, as a prophecy of that great event, 1 Cor. xv. 4.

3 His going forth is prepared as the morning, &c.] The comforts of the goſpel are here expreſſed by two particulars, very proper to enliven and exhilirate our ſpirits, namely, a fair morning, and a kindly ſeaſon, wherein the earth plentifully yields her increaſe, by a proper intermixture of rain and ſun-ſhine. Lowth.

5 Thy judgements are as the light that goeth forth.] Almoſt all the antient verſions read, my judgment; the true tranſlation then will be, My judgment ſhall go forth as the light. Kennicott.

6 I deſired mercy, and not ſacrifice.] It ſhould have been rendered, I deſired mercy rather than ſacrifice. I am better pleaſed with true goodneſs, than with the exacteſt obſervance of the external duties of religion.

7 They like men.] The Hebrew is, Like Adam.

9 Prieſts.] The word rendered prieſts, ſignifies alſo princes.

Lewdneſs.] The margin reads with better ſenſe, enormity.

11 O Judah, he hath ſet an harveſt for thee.] Thou haſt, by thine iniquities, rendered thyſelf ripe for deſtruction.

When I returned, &c.] It ſhould have been rendered, When I would have turned away the captivity, &c. i. e. When I would, on their repentance, have averted my judgments, which will end in their captivity.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 3 Their princes with lies.] The word lies ſometimes ſignifies idols, which ſenſe will do very well in this place.

4 They are all adulterers.] This expreſſions ſeems to be metaphorical; implying that they were apoſtates from God.

7 They

voured their judges; all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth unto me.

8 Ephraim, he hath mixed himſelf among the people: Ephraim is a cake not turned.

9 Strangers have devoured his ſtrength, and he knoweth it not: yea, gray hairs are here and there upon him, yet he knoweth it not.

10 And the pride of Iſrael teſtifieth to his face; and they do not return to the LORD their God, nor ſeek him for all this.

11 ¶ Ephraim alſo is like a ſilly dove without heart: they call to Egypt, they go to Aſſyria.

12 When they ſhall go, I will ſpread my net upon them; I will bring them down as the fowls of heaven: I will chaſtiſe them as their congregation hath heard.

13 Wo unto them! for they have fled from me: deſtruction unto them! becauſe they have tranſgreſſed againſt me: though I have redeemed them, yet they have ſpoken lyes againſt me.

14 And they have not cried unto me with their heart when they howled upon their beds: they aſſemble themſelves for corn and wine, and they rebel againſt me.

15 Though I have bound and ſtrengthened their arms, yet they do imagine miſchief againſt me.

16 They return, but not to the moſt High: they are like a deceitful bow: their princes ſhall fall by the ſword for the rage of their tongue. This ſhall be their deriſion in the land of Egypt.

CHAP. VIII.

1, 12 Deſtruction is threatened for their impiety, 5 and idolatry.

SET the trumpet to thy mouth. He ſhall come as an eagle againſt the houſe of the LORD, becauſe they have tranſgreſſed my covenant, and treſpaſſed againſt my law.

2 Iſrael ſhall cry unto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Iſrael hath caſt off the thing that is good: the enemy ſhall purſue him.

4 They have ſet up kings, but not by me: they have made princes, and I knew it not: of their ſilver and their gold have they made them idols; that they may be cut off.

5 ¶ Thy calf, O Samaria, hath caſt thee off; mine anger is kindled againſt them: how long will it be ere they attain to innocency?

6 For from Iſrael was it alſo; the workman made it; therefore it is not God: but the calf of Samaria ſhall be broken in pieces.

7 For they have ſown the wind, and they ſhall reap the whirlwind: it hath no ſtalk: the bud ſhall yield no meal: if ſo be it yield, the ſtrangers ſhall ſwallow it up.

8 Iſrael is ſwallowed up: now ſhall they be among the Gentiles as a veſſel wherein is no pleaſure.

9 For they are gone up to Aſſyria, a wild aſs alone by himſelf: Ephraim hath hired lovers.

10 Yea, though they have hired among the

---

7 They are all hot as an oven, and have devoured their judges, &c.] The flame of civil diſcord is ſpread among the people in general; and this hath proved the deſtruction both of their king and inferior magiſtrates. Lowth.

8 Ephraim is a cake not turned.] Baked on one ſide: that is, ſerving God only by halves, and halting between his ſervice and the worſhip of idols. Lowth.

9 Gray hairs are upon him.] He is grown old in affliction.

11 Ephraim is like a ſilly dove without heart, &c.] Like an unwary dove that falls into a ſnare; ſo the Iſraelites fly from refuge to their enemies: ſometimes they apply to the king of Egypt for aſſiſtance; and at other times to the king of Aſſyria. Lowth.

14 They aſſembled themſelves for corn and wine, and they rebel againſt me.] When they aſſembled themſelves to deprecate a famine, they ſtill retained the ſame diſobedient temper towards me.

16 Like a deceitful bow.] That never ſends the arrow to the mark.

This ſhall be their deriſion in the land of Egypt.] Their blaſphemies and other enormities ſhall be a juſt cauſe of reproach to them, when they are exiles in Egypt.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 He ſhall come as an eagle.] This probably denotes Sennacherib's invaſion, 2 Kings, xviii. 17.

2 Iſrael ſhall cry unto me, My God, we know thee.] The ſenſe is, That the ten tribes ſtill acknowledged Jehovah for their God, and pretended they had not forſaken him, but worſhipped him at Dan and Beth-el, though under ſenſible repreſentations. Lowth.

5 Thy calf, O Samaria, hath caſt thee off.] It cannot deliver thee from the evils coming upon thee.

7 They have ſown the wind, and ſhall reap the whirlwind.] A proverbial expreſſion, to ſignify, that the reward of men will be always proportionable to their works: that they who ſow iniquity, ſhall reap vanity.

9 A wild aſs by himſelf.] As a wild aſs and the particle as is underſtood.

10 They ſhall ſorrow a little for the burden of the king of princes.] They ſhall feel the oppreſſions laid upon them by the king of Aſſyria, who ſtiles himſelf king of kings, as having kings and princes his tributaries. Lowth.

nations, now will I gather them, and they ſhall ſorrow a little for the burden of the king of princes.

11 Becauſe Ephraim hath made many altars to ſin, altars ſhall be unto him to ſin.

12 I have written to him the great things of my law, but they were counted as a ſtrange thing.

13 They ſacrifice fleſh for the ſacrifices of mine offerings, and eat it; but the LORD accepteth them not; now will he remember their iniquity, and viſit their ſins: they ſhall return to Egypt.

14 For Iſrael hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth temples; and Judah hath multiplied fenced cities: but I will ſend a fire upon his cities, and it ſhall devour the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

The diſtreſs and captivity of Iſrael for their ſins and Idolatry.

REjoice not, O Iſrael, for joy, as other people: for thou haſt gone a whoring from thy God, thou haſt loved a reward upon every corn-floor.

2 The floor and the wine-preſs ſhall not feed them, and the new wine ſhall fail in her.

3 They ſhall not dwell in the LORD's land; but Ephraim ſhall return to Egypt, and they ſhall eat unclean things in Aſſyria.

4 They ſhall not offer wine-offerings to the LORD, neither ſhall they be pleaſing unto him: their ſacrifices ſhall be unto them as the bread of mourners; all that eat thereof ſhall be polluted: for their bread for their ſoul ſhall not come into the houſe of the LORD.

5 What will ye do in the ſolemn day, and the day of the feaſt of the LORD?

6 For lo, they are gone becauſe of deſtruction: Egypt ſhall gather them up, Mephis ſhall bury them: the pleaſant places for their ſilver, nettles ſhall poſſeſs them: thorns ſhall be in their tabernacles.

7 The days of viſitation are come, the days of recompenſe are come; Iſrael ſhall know it: the prophet is a fool, the ſpiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity, and the great hatred.

8 The watchman of Ephraim was with my God: but the prophet is a ſnare of a fowler in all his ways, and hatred in the houſe of his God.

9 They have deeply corrupted themſelves as in the days of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquity, he will viſit their ſins.

10 I found Iſrael like grapes in the wilderneſs; I ſaw your fathers as the firſt-ripe in the fig-tree at her firſt time: but they went to Baal-peor, and ſeparated themſelves unto that ſhame; and their abominations were according as they loved.

11 As for Ephraim, their glory ſhall fly away like a bird; from the birth, and from the womb, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring up their children, yet will I bereave them that there ſhall not be a man left: yea, wo alſo to them when I depart from them!

13 Ephraim, as I ſaw Tyrus, is planted in a pleaſant place: but Ephraim ſhall bring forth his children to the murderer.

---

11 Altars ſhall be to him to ſin.] Or, a puniſhment for his ſin.

13 They ſhall return into Egypt.] Or, into a ſecond bondage: going into Egypt was a proverb for extreme miſery.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Rejoice not, O Iſrael, for joy, as other people.] The joy here mentioned may properly mean the rejoicings made among all people at the end of harveſt, when the Gentiles offered ſacrifices of thankſgiving for the plenty they enjoyed. The prophet here tells the Iſraelites, that they had more highly offended God by their apoſtacy than the Gentiles by their ignorance. Lowth.

2 The floor and the wine-preſs ſhall not feed them.] I will take away their plenty of corn and wine.

6 Lo they are gone, becauſe of deſtruction: Egypt ſhall gather them up.] A great number of the Iſraelites retired into Egypt, for fear of captivity: but the prophet threatens them, that they ſhall have no better fate than their brethren, who were carried away into Aſſyria; for they ſhould die there, and never return to their own country.

7 The prophet is a fool, and the ſpiritual man is mad.] The falſe prophets, who pretend to ſpeak by the ſpirit of God, and foretel nothing but peace, ſhall be convinced of their folly and madneſs, when they ſee the events happen contrary to what they had foretold. Lowth.

8 The prophet is a ſnare of a fowler.] The words of a falſe prophet reſemble a ſnare laid by the fowler; they hurry men into deſtruction.

9 As in the day of Gibeah.] See Judges ch. xix.

10 Like grapes in the wilderneſs.] Their obedience was as grateful as early grapes, or ripe figs to a thirſty traveller.

13 Ephraim, as I ſaw Tyrus, is planted in a pleaſant place.] The ſituation of Ephraim, and particularly of the royal city of Samaria, built in that tribe, is as pleaſant as that of Tyre.

14 Give them, O LORD: what wilt thou give? give them a miscarrying womb, and dry breasts.

15 All their wickedness is in Gilgal: for there I hated them: for the wickedness of their doings I will drive them out of mine house, I will love them no more: all their princes are revolters.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their root is dried up, they shall bear no fruit; yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay even the beloved fruit of their womb.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not hearken unto him: and they shall be wanderers among the nations.

CHAP. X.

Israel is reproved and threatened for their impiety and idolatry.

ISrael is an empty vine, he bringeth forth fruit unto himself: according to the multitude of his fruit he hath increased the altars; according to the goodness of his land they have made goodly images.

2 Their heart is divided; now shall they be found faulty: he shall break down their altars, he shall spoil their images.

3 For now they shall say, We have no king, because we feared not the LORD; what then should a king do to us;

4 They have spoken words, swearing falsly in making a covenant: thus judgement springeth up as hemlock in the furrows of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall fear because of the calves of Beth-aven: for the people thereof shall mourn over it, and the priests thereof that rejoiced on it, for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also carried into Assyria for a present to king Jareb: Ephraim shall receive shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his own counsel.

7 As for Samaria, her king is cut off as the foam upon the water.

8 The high places also of Aven, the sin of Israel shall be destroyed: the thorn and the thistle shall come up on their altars: and they shall say to the mountains, Cover us; and to the hills, Fall on us.

9 O Israel, thou hast sinned from the days of Gibeah: there they stood: the battle in Gibeah against the children of iniquity did not overtake them.

10 It is in my desire that I should chastise them: and the people shall be gathered against them when they shall bind themselves in their two furrows.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer that is taught, and loveth to tread out the corn; but I passed over upon her fair neck: I will make Ephraim to ride; Judah shall plow, and Jacob shall break his clods.

12 Sow to your selves in righteousness, reap in mercy; break up your fallow-ground: for it is time to seek the LORD, till he come and rain righteousness upon you.

13 Ye have plowed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity; ye have eaten the fruit of lyes: because thou didst trust in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men.

14 Therefore shall a tumult rise among thy people, and all thy fortresses shall be spoiled, as Shalman spoiled Beth-arbel in the day of battle: the mother was dashed in pieces upon her children.

---

15 All their princes are revolters.] They revolt from my worship, and break all the rules of justice and honesty.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Israel is an empty vine.] The word rendered empty, sometimes signifies flourishing, so the sense seems to be, that though Israel, like a flourishing vine, abounded with plenty of all things, yet he brought forth no fruit unto God, but abused his blessings to the encouragement of sin and idolatry. Lowth.

2 Their heart is divided.] Between God and their idols.

3 We have no king, because we feared not the Lord.] This was spoken in the time of anarchy, which continued almost nine years. See 2 Kings, xvii. vi. 7.

4 Judgement springeth up as hemlock in the furrows of the field.] Injustice increases as bitter and poisonous weeds spring up in a field, where there is no care taken to destroy them.

6 King Jareb.] This was probably Shalmaneser, who took the Israelites into his protection by making them tributaries.

8 They shall say to the mountains, cover us, &c.] These words express the great consternation of the wicked, when the judgments of the Almighty shall overtake them.

10 When they shall bind themselves in their two furrows.] The Septuagint gives a much plainer sense, When I shall chastise them for their two iniquities, viz. the calves of Dan and Bethel.

12 Sow to yourselves in righteousness, &c.] Employ yourselves in works of righteousness; and then, through God's mercy, you may still hope to reap the fruits of your repentance.

13 The fruit of lies.] i. e. Of idolatry.

14 As Shalman spoiled Beth-arbel in the day of battle.] The 15 So shall Beth-el do unto you because of your great wickedness: in a morning shall the king of Israel utterly be cut off.

CHAP. XI.

1 The ingratitude of Israel unto God for his benefits. 5 Their judgement.

WHEN Israel was a child, then I loved him, and called my son out of Egypt.

2 As they called them, so they went from them: they sacrificed unto Baalim, and burned incense to graven images.

3 I taught Ephraim also to go, taking them by their arms; but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I drew them with cords of a man, with bands of love; and I was to them as they that take off the yoke on their jaws, and I laid meat unto them.

5 He shall not return into the land of Egypt, but the Assyrian shall be his king, because they refused to return.

6 And the sword shall abide on his cities, and shall consume his branches, and devour them, because of their own counsels.

7 And my people are bent to backsliding from me: though they called them to the most High, none at all would exalt him.

8 How shall I give thee up, Ephraim? how shall I deliver thee, Israel? how shall I make thee as Admah? how shall I set thee as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me, my repentings are kindled together.

9 I will not execute the fierceness of mine anger, I will not return to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man; the Holy One in the midst of thee: and I will not enter into the city.

10 They shall walk after the LORD: he shall roar like a lion: when he shall roar, then the children shall tremble from the west.

11 They shall tremble as a bird out of Egypt, and as a dove out of the land of Assyria: and I will place them in their houses, saith the LORD.

12 Ephraim compasseth me about with lyes, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Judah yet ruleth with God, and is faithful with the saints.

CHAP. XII.

1 A reproof of Ephraim, Judah, and Jacob. 3 An exhortation to repentance.

EPhraim feedeth on wind, and followeth after the east-wind: he daily increaseth lyes and desolation: and they do make a covenant with the Assyrians, and oil is carried into Egypt.

2 The LORD hath also a controversy with Judah, and will punish Jacob according to his ways; according to his doings will he recompense him.

3 ¶ He took his brother by the heel in the womb, and by his strength he had power with God:

---

prophet compares the destruction of Samaria with another terrible desolation, which the same Salmaneser called here Shalmon, made at Beth-arbel, a place in Assyria, where all the inhabitants were put to the sword, without any regard to age or sex. Lowth.

15 In a morning.] i. e. Suddenly and unexpectedly.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 When Israel was a child.] In the patriarchal times, and during their heavy bondage in Egypt, then I loved them.

Called my son out of Egypt.] Israel is here called the son of God, and in other places of scripture his first-born; and therefore was an eminent type of the Messiah, in whom all the promises of the Almighty are fulfilled.

2 As they called them, so they went from them.] The more the prophets called upon them to cleave stedfastly to God, the more they were bent to depart from him to the worship of idols.

4 I drew them with the cords of a man, &c.] I made use of the gentlest methods of loving-kindness and good-will.

7 My people are bent to back-sliding.] Some translate the words thus, My people are in suspense because of their back-sliding; i. e. irresolute and halt between God and their idols.

8 How shall I give thee up, Ephraim? how shall I deliver thee, Israel?] God's mercy is here pathetically represented as contending with his justice, to show that he does not willingly afflict or grieve the children of men. Lowth.

Admah-Zeboim.] Two cities destroyed with Sodom, Deut. xxix. 23.

10 He shall roar like a lion.] The voice of God is elsewhere compared to the roaring of a lion, because of the terror with which it is accompanied. Lowth.

The children shall tremble from the west.] The sense of the passage is this: At the efficacious call of God, the remnant of Israel, who shall be accounted his children, and heirs of the promises made to their fathers, shall come in haste from the several places of their dispersions, and particularly from the western parts of the world.

11 They shall tremble.] i. e. Fly with haste.

12 Judah yet ruleth with God.] Keeps close to that kingly government established in David's family, and faithfully observes those ordinances which God gave to his saints.

Notes

4 Yea, he had power over the angel, and prevailed: he wept, and made ſupplication unto him: he found him in Beth-el, and there he ſpake with us.

5 Even the LORD God of hoſts; the LORD is his memorial.

6 Therefore turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgement, and wait on thy God continually.

7 He is a merchant, the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loveth to oppreſs.

8 And Ephraim ſaid, Yet I am become rich, I have found me out ſubſtance: in all my labours they ſhall find none iniquity in me, that were ſin.

9 And I that am the LORD thy God from the land of Egypt will yet make thee to dwell in tabernacles, as in the days of the ſolemn feaſt.

10 I have alſo ſpoken by the prophets, and I have multiplied viſions, and uſed ſimilitudes by the miniſtery of the prophets.

11 Is there iniquity in Gilead? ſurely they are vanity: they ſacrifice bullocks in Gigal; yea, their altars are as heaps in the furrows of the fields.

12 And Jacob fled in the country of Syria, and Iſrael ſerved for a wife, and for a wife he kept ſheep.

13 And by a prophet the LORD brought Iſrael out of Egypt, and by a prophet was he preſerved.

14 Ephraim provoked him to anger moſt bitterly: therefore ſhall he leave his blood upon him, and his reproach ſhall his Lord return unto him.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Ephraim's glory, by reaſon of idolatry, vaniſheth. 5 God's anger for their unkindneſs. 9 A promiſe of God's mercy. 15 A judgement for rebellion.

WHEN Ephraim ſpake trembling, he exalted himſelf in Iſrael; but when he offended in Baal, he died.

2 And now they ſin more and more, and have made them molten images of their ſilver, and idols according to their own underſtanding, all of it the work of the craftſmen. They ſay of them, Let the men that ſacrifice kiſs the calves.

3 Therefore they ſhall be as the morning cloud, and as the early dew that paſſeth away, as the chaff that is driven with the whirlwind out of the floor, and as the ſmoke out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the LORD thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou ſhalt know no God but me: for there is no ſaviour beſide me.

5 ¶ I did know thee in the wilderneſs, in the land of great drought.

6 According to their paſture, ſo were they filled; they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore have they forgotten me.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 4 He wept, and made ſupplication unto him, &c.] Jacob's wreſtling with the angel, mentioned in the foregoing verſes, was not only a corporal, but a ſpiritual conflict. From bodily wreſtling, he had recourſe to ſpiritual weapons; he poured forth tears with earneſt ſupplications, and ſtrove not ſo much for victory as for a bleſſing; the only method by which a feeble and impotent creature can prevail over his Maker. Lowth.

7 He is a merchant.] He loves thoſe frauds which are too commonly practiſed in buying and ſelling.

9 Will yet make thee to dwell in tabernacles, &c.] I will in after-times give thee again quiet poſſeſſion of thine own land, where thou ſhalt thankfully acknowledge thy former delivery from Egypt, and thy ſettlement in the promiſed land; which was the intent of keeping the feaſt of tabernacles.

10 I have alſo ſpoken by the prophets, and I have multiplied viſions, and uſed ſimilitudes.] Here are three ſpecies of prophecy, or divine revelation diſtinctly mentioned: 1. Immediate ſuggeſtion or inſpiration, when God dictates the very words to the prophet to deliver. 2. Viſions, or a repreſentation made of external objects to the imagination, in as lively a manner as if they were conveyed by the ſenſes. 3. Parables, or apt reſemblances. Lowth.

11 Is there iniquity in Gilead?] It may be rendered, Is there not iniquity in Gilead?

12 Jacob fled, &c.] Was only a ſervant and fugitive.

13 By a prophet the Lord brought, &c.] When his poſterity were in miſerable bondage in Egypt, God delivered them by the hand of Moſes.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 When Ephraim ſpake, trembling, he exalted himſelf in Iſrael; but when he offended in Baal, he died.] While he behaved with obedience towards God, he was reckoned among the principal tribes of Iſrael: but when he gave himſelf up to idolatry, his ſtrength immediately declined, and exhibited evident ſymptoms of deſtruction. Lowth.

2 Let the men that ſacrifice kiſs the calves.] It was antiently the cuſtom of idolaters to kiſs the images which they worſhipped, as appears from the deſcription Cicero gives of Hercules's image which Verres had taken away, Act IV. in Verrem, and from Lucretius, Book I. We may ſuppoſe the prieſts put thoſe who offered ſacrifices in mind to kiſs, or worſhip the calves.

5 I did know thee, &c.] Septuagint reads, I fed thee.

7 Therefore I will be unto them as a lion: as a leopard by the way will I observe them.

8 I will meet them as a bear that is bereaved of her whelps, and will rend the caul of their heart, and there will I devour them like a lion: the wild beast shall tear them.

9 ¶ O Israel, thou hast destroyed thy self; but in me is thine help.

10 I will be thy king: where is any other that may save thee in all thy cities? and thy judges, of whom thou saidst, Give me a king and princes?

11 I gave thee a king in mine anger, and took him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is bound up; his sin is hid.

13 The sorrows of a travailing woman shall come upon him: he is an unwise son; for he should not stay long in the place of the breaking-forth of children.

14 I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction: repentance shall be hid from mine eyes.

15 ¶ Though he be fruitful among his brethren, an east-wind shall come, the wind of the LORD shall come up from the wilderness, and his spring shall become dry, and his fountain shall be dried up: he shall spoil the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

16 Samaria shall become desolate; for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with child shall be ripped up.

CHAP. XIV.

1 An exhortation to repentance. 4 A promise of God's blessing.

O Israel, return unto the LORD thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity.

2 Take with you words, and turn to the LORD: say unto him, Take away all iniquity, and receive us graciously: so will we render the calves of our lips.

3 Asshur shall not save us; we will not ride upon horses; neither will we say any more to the work of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherless findeth mercy.

4 ¶ I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

5 I will be as the dew unto Israel: he shall grow as the lily, and cast forth his roots as Lebanon.

6 His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive-tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

7 They that dwell under his shadow shall return; they shall revive as the corn, and grow as the vine: the scent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

8 Ephraim shall say, What have I to do any more with idols? I have heard him, and observed him: I am like a green fir-tree; from me is thy fruit found.

9 Who is wise, and he shall understand these things? prudent, and he shall know them? for the ways of the LORD are right, and the just shall walk in them: but the transgressors shall fall therein.

9 Thou hast destroyed thyself, but in me is thine help.] Thy own sins have brought down destruction upon thee; and it is from me only thou canst expect any help.

14 O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction.] This passage has been corrupted; it should have run thus, O death, where is thy victory? and thy sting, O Hades? As appears from St. Paul's quotation of it; and from several versions.—The word δικη, judgment, as in the Septuagint, is an easy corruption from νικη, victory, as in 1. Cor. xv. 55.

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2. Take with you words, and turn unto the Lord; say unto him.] The prophet prescribes them a form of confession, very proper to be used upon their repentance and conversion, beseeching the Almighty to pardon their former sins, and receive them graciously upon their repentance.

The calves of our lips.] Instead of the sacrifices of calves, or bullocks, we will offer to thee the sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving; which is the fruits of our lips, and our reasonable service.

5. I will be as the dew unto Israel.] This and the following verses contain gracious promises of God's favour and blessings, upon Israel's conversion, represented by different metaphors; in this sentence it is described by the refreshment which copious dews give to the grass in the heats of summer.

7 They that dwell under his shadow.] Those who join themselves to this people shall be blessed.

JOEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

Joel is thought to be the moſt antient of the leſſer prophets, except Jonah: he was a prophet to the kingdom of Judah in the reign of Uzziah, and was cotemporary with Hoſea and Iſaiah, though ſuppoſed to be older. His ſtile is elegant, clear and copious; full of ſublimity and true poetical ſpirit. He exclaims againſt the idolatry of the nation; and foretels the calamities they ſhould ſuffer, as a puniſhment for their ſins: but endeavours to ſupport them with the comfortable reflection, that, on their ſincere repentance and reformation, their miſeries ſhould have an end, and they ſhould enjoy every earthly and heavenly bleſſing. The very learned and ingenious Dr. Warburton, the preſent Biſhop of Glouceſter, judiciouſly obſerves, that Joel's is a DOUBLE PROPHECY; for in his prediction of an approaching doſolation by Locuſts, he foretells likewiſe, in the ſame words, a ſucceeding one by the Aſſyrian army; the Locuſts in the primary ſenſe, the Aſſyrian army in the ſecondary. He further takes notice, that the fine contexture of this prophecy is remarkable: The Locuſts are deſcribed as a people; but that we may underſtand what is the primary ſenſe, their ravages are the ravages of inſects: the hoſtile people are deſcribed as Locuſts, As the morning ſpread upon the mountains, &c. but that we may underſtand what is the ſecondary ſenſe, they are compared to a mighty army: both ſenſes muſt of neceſſity be taken in; for in ſome places, Dearth by inſects, muſt needs be underſtood, in others Deſolation by war: And this art in the diſpoſition of the prophecy is admirable, and gives the higheſt elegance to the whole.

CHAP. I.

1 Joel declaring ſundry judgements of God, exhorteth to obſerve them, 8 and to mourn. 14 He preſcribeth a faſt.

THE word of the LORD that came to Joel the ſon of Pethuel.

2 Hear this, ye old men; and give ear, all ye inhabitants of the land. Hath this been in your days, or even in the days of your fathers?

3 Tell ye your children of it, and let your children tell their children, and their children another generation.

4 That which the palmer-worm hath left, hath the locuſt eaten; and that which the locuſt hath left, hath the canker-worm eaten; and that which the canker-worm hath left, hath the caterpiller eaten.

5 Awake, ye drunkards, and weep; and howl, all ye drinkers of wine, becauſe of the new wine; for it is cut off from your mouth.

6 For a nation is come up upon my land, ſtrong, and without number, whoſe teeth are the teeth of a lion, and he hath the cheek-teeth of a great lion.

7 He hath laid my vine waſte, and barked my fig-tree: he hath made it clean bare, and caſt it away, the branches thereof are made white.

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 Hear this, ye old men, and give ear all ye inhabitants of the land.] The prophet ſhows how terrible the famine coming upon the land, by a long drought, and the locuſts, will be, by appealing to the memory of the aged, and the obſervations of the preſent generation, whether they ever knew any thing like it; ſo that it deſerved to be recorded as a warning to after-times.

6 A nation is come upon my land, ſtrong, and without number.] A poetical deſcription of a multitude of inſects which are deſcribed as a people marching in order under their leaders, both by ſacred and profane writers; becauſe of their power to do miſchief, and their being irreſiſtible by human ſtrength or art.

8 ¶ Lament like a virgin girded with ſackcloth for the huſband of her youth.

9 The meat-offering and the drink-offering is cut off from the houſe of the LORD: the prieſts the LORD's miniſters mourn.

10 The field is waſted, the land mourneth; for the corn is waſted: the new wine is dried up, the oil languiſheth.

11 Be ye aſhamed, O ye huſbandmen; howl, O ye vine-dreſſers, for the wheat and for the barley; becauſe the harveſt of the field is periſhed.

12 The vine is dried up, and the fig-tree languiſheth, the pomegranate-tree, the palm-tree alſo, and the apple-tree, even all the trees of the field, are withered: becauſe joy is withered away from the ſons of men.

13 Gird your ſelves, and lament, ye prieſts: howl, ye miniſters of the altar: come, lie all night in ſackcloth, ye miniſters of my God: for the meat-offering and the drink-offering is with-holden from the houſe of your God.

14 ¶ Sanctify ye a faſt, call a ſolemn aſſembly, gather the elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the houſe of the LORD your God, and cry unto the LORD;

15 Alas for the day! for the day of the LORD is at hand, and as a deſtruction from the Almighty ſhall it come.

16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes, yea, joy and gladneſs from the houſe of our God?

17 The ſeed is rotten under their clods; the garners are laid deſolate, the barns are broken down: for the corn is withered.

18 How do the beaſts groan! the herds of cattle are perplexed, becauſe they have no paſture; yea, the flocks of ſheep are made deſolate.

19 O LORD, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath devoured the paſtures of the wilderneſs, and the flame hath burned all the trees of the field.

20 The beaſts of the field cry alſo unto thee: for the rivers of waters are dried up, and the fire hath devoured the paſtures of the wilderneſs.

CHAP. II.

1 The terribleneſs of God's judgement. 12 He exhorteth to repentance, 15 preſcribeth a faſt, 18 and promiſeth a bleſſing thereon.

BLOW ye the trumpet in Zion, and ſound an alarm in my holy mountain: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the LORD cometh, for it is nigh at hand;

2 A day of darkneſs and of gloomineſs, a day of clouds and of thick darkneſs, as the morning ſpread upon the mountains: a great people and a ſtrong: there hath not been ever the like, neither ſhall be any more after it, even to the years of many generations.

3 A fire devoureth before them, and behind them a flame burneth: the land is as the garden of Eden before them, and behind them a deſolate wilderneſs; yea, and nothing ſhall eſcape them.

4 The appearance of them is as the appearance of horſes; and as horſemen, ſo ſhall they run.

---

8 Lament like a virgin, &c.] The prophet puts the land of Judea in mind, that ſhe ought to be deeply affected with theſe heavy ſtrokes of divine vengeance, and expreſs her inward ſenſe of them with the ſame external marks of mourning as a young virgin who had loſt the huſband of her youth. Lowth.

12 The vine is dried up, &c.] Dr. Shaw obſerves, that in Barbary in the month of June, the locuſts collect themſelves into compact bodies, a furlong or more in ſquare; and afterwards marching directly forward towards the ſea, let nothing eſcape them; eating up every thing that is green and juicy, not only the leſſer kind of vegetables, but alſo the trees mentioned in this verſe.

15 Alas for the day! for the day of the Lord is at hand.] We have juſt cauſe to lament our ſins which have brought theſe judgments upon us, which, if not averted by our repentance, will terminate in our utter deſtruction.

19 The fire hath devoured the paſtures of the wilderneſs.] The fiery drought has burnt up all the paſtures.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 Blow ye the trumpet in Zion, and ſound an alarm in my holy mountain.] The prophet, in the preceding chapter, deſcribes the locuſts and caterpillars as the army of God; and now, in purſuance of the ſame metaphor, exhorts the people to prepare to meet them, in the ſame terms as if they were alarmed to oppoſe an enemy, which was always done by the ſounding of a trumpet: and this is the ſecondary ſenſe, as was obſerved in the argument, in which this paſſage is to be underſtood.

2 A day of darkneſs—as the morning ſpread upon the mountains.] The locuſt will intercept the light of the ſun, and diffuſe a darkneſs over the land in as ſwift a manner as light ſpreads itſelf in a morning. Unleſs we carry on the ſenſe with the Septuagint and Chaldee Paraphraſe, which will give us a moſt noble repreſentation of the extent and glitter of the Aſſyrian army.

3 A fire devoureth—behind them a deſolate wilderneſs.] A moſt noble and true deſcription of the dreadful havock made by ſwarms of locuſts; or of the deſolation conſequent on the march of an hoſtile army.

8 Neither

5 Like the noiſe of chariots on the tops of mountains ſhall they leap, like the noiſe of a flame of fire that devoureth the ſtubble, as a ſtrong people ſet in battle array.

6 Before their face the people ſhall be much pained: all faces ſhall gather blackneſs.

7 They ſhall run like mighty men, they ſhall climb the wall like men of war; and they ſhall march every one on his ways, and they ſhall not break their ranks.

8 Neither ſhall one thruſt another, they ſhall walk every one in his path: and when they fall upon the ſword, they ſhall not be wounded.

9 They ſhall run to and fro in the city; they ſhall run upon the wall, they ſhall climb up upon the houſes; they ſhall enter in at the windows like a thief.

10 The earth ſhall quake before them, the heavens ſhall tremble; the ſun and the moon ſhall be dark, and the ſtars ſhall withdraw their ſhining;

11 And the LORD ſhall utter his voice before his army: for his camp is very great: for he is ſtrong that executeth his word: for the day of the LORD is great and very terrible; and who can abide it?

12 ¶ Therefore alſo now, ſaith the LORD, Turn ye even to me with all your heart, and with faſting, and with weeping, and with mourning:

13 And rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the LORD your God: for he is gracious and merciful, ſlow to anger, and of great kindneſs, and repenteth him of the evil.

14 Who knoweth if he will return and repent, and leave a bleſſing behind him, even a meat-offering and a drink-offering unto the LORD your God?

15 ¶ Blow the trumpet in Zion, ſanctify a faſt, call a ſolemn aſſembly:

16 Gather the people, ſanctify the congregation, aſſemble the elders: gather the children, and thoſe that ſuck the breaſts: let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her cloſet.

17 Let the prieſts, the miniſters of the LORD, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them ſay, Spare thy people, O LORD, and give not thine heritage to reproach, that the heathen ſhould rule over them: wherefore ſhould they ſay among the people, Where is their God?

18 ¶ Then will the LORD be jealous for his land, and pity his people.

19 Yea, the LORD will anſwer, and ſay unto his people, Behold, I will ſend you corn, and wine, and oil, and ye ſhall be ſatisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen:

20 But I will remove far off from you the northern army, and will drive him into a land barren and deſolate, with his face toward the eaſt-ſea, and his hinder part towards the utmoſt ſea: and his ſtink ſhall come up, and his ill ſavour ſhall come up, becauſe he hath done great things.

8 Neither ſhall one thruſt another.] Travellers tell us, that locuſts keep their ranks as exactly as ſoldiers drawn up and marching to battle.

10 The earth ſhall quake before them, &c.] The inhabitants of the earth ſhall be ſeized with an horrible dread at their approach. The heavens ſhall put on the appearance of fear, by looking dark and diſmal. We are not to underſtand theſe expreſſions literally, but as heightened by the pomp of the oriental ſtile.

11 The day of the Lord is great, and very terrible.] The time of God's peculiar vengeance, as well as that of his general judgment, is commonly expreſſed by the day of the Lord, the former being an imperfect repreſentation of the latter. Lowth.

13 Rent your hearts, and not your garments.] Rending of the garments was cuſtomary in times of great ſorrow and affliction. The ſenſe of this paſſage is, Rend your hearts rather than your garments.

16 Let the bridegroom go out of his chamber, &c.] Let not even the new-married couple obſerve the uſual time of keeping within and feaſting, but come forth on this occaſion and join in acts of public worſhip and humiliation. The time allowed for the marriage-feaſt was ſeven days: ſee note on Gen. xxix. 27.

17 Let them ſay, ſpare thy people, O Lord, &c.] It was uſual to preſcribe certain forms of prayer or praiſe to the prieſts in their public miniſtrations. Such was this delivered by the prophet; wherein they beſeech God to deliver his people, not for any merit of theirs, but for the glory of his own name, leſt the heathen round about them ſhould take occaſion to blaſpheme his name, as if he were not able to protect his people. Lowth.

18 Then will the Lord be jealous of his land.] He will be concerned for the honour of that land which he hath made the lot of his own inheritance. Lowth.

20 I will remove far off from you the northern army.] The locuſts are here ſtiled the northern army, becauſe they entered the land at Hamath, one of the northern borders of it, and paſt quite through it, till they came to the ſouthern parts, about the Dead Sea, where they periſhed in the waters. The northern army may be applied likewiſe to the Aſſyrians.

21 Fear not, O land; be glad and rejoice: for the LORD will do great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beaſts of the field: for the paſtures of the wilderneſs do ſpring, for the tree beareth her fruit, the fig-tree and the vine do yield their ſtrength.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice in the LORD your God: for he hath given you the former rain moderately, and he will cauſe to come down for you the rain, the former rain, and the latter rain in the firſt month.

24 And the floors ſhall be full of wheat, and the fats ſhall overflow with wine and oil.

25 And I will reſtore to you the years that the locuſt hath eaten, the canker-worm, and the caterpiller, and the palmer-worm, my great army, which I ſent among you.

26 And ye ſhall eat in plenty, and be ſatisfied, and praiſe the name of the LORD your God, that hath dealt wonderouſly with you: and my people ſhall never be aſhamed.

27 And ye ſhall know that I am in the midſt of Iſrael, and that I am the LORD your God, and none elſe: and my people ſhall never be aſhamed.

28 And it ſhall come to paſs afterward, that I will pour out my Spirit upon all fleſh, and your ſons and your daughters ſhall propheſy, your old men ſhall dream dreams, your young men ſhall ſee viſions:

29 And alſo upon the ſervants and upon the handmaids in thoſe days will I pour out my Spirit.

30 And I will ſhew wonders in the heavens and in the earth, blood and fire and pillars of ſmoke.

31 The ſun ſhall be turned into darkneſs, and the moon into blood, before the great and the terrible day of the LORD come.

32 And it ſhall come to paſs, that whoſoever ſhall call on the name of the LORD ſhall be delivered: for in mount Zion and in Jeruſalem ſhall be deliverance, as the LORD hath ſaid, and in the remnant whom the LORD ſhall call.

CHAP. III.

1 God's judgement againſt the enemies of his people. 18 His bleſſing upon the church.

FOR behold, in thoſe days and in that time, when I ſhall bring again the captivity of Judah and Jeruſalem.

2 I will alſo gather all nations, and will bring them down into the valley of Jehoſhaphat, and will plead with them there for my people and for my heritage Iſrael, whom they have ſcattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they have caſt lots for my people; and have given a boy for a harlot, and ſold a girl for wine, that they might drink.

4 Yea, and what have ye to do with me, O Tyre and Zidon, and all the coaſts of Paleſtine? will ye render me a recompenſe? and if ye recompenſe me, ſwiftly and ſpeedily will I return your recompenſe upon your own head;

5 Becauſe ye have taken my ſilver and my gold, and have carried into your temples my goodly pleaſant things:

6 The children alſo of Judah and the children of Jeruſalem have ye ſold unto the Grecians, that ye might remove them far from their border:

---

23 The former and the latter rain.] The ſeaſon for the former was in October, for the latter in March.

25 I will reſtore you the years, &c.] i. e. The fruits of thoſe years.

28 I will pour out my ſpirit upon all fleſh, &c.] The plentiful effuſion of the holy ſpirit is mentioned by the prophets as the peculiar character of the goſpel-ſtate: and in ſeveral other parts of the ſcripture, it is compared to the pouring waters upon a thirſty land, whereby it is rendered fruitful. Lowth.

Your daughters ſhall propheſy.] We read in Acts xxi. 9, of four daughters of Philip the Evangeliſt who propheſied.

30 I will ſhew wonders in the heavens, and in the earth.] This, and the following verſe, principally point out the deſtruction of the city and temple of Jeruſalem by the Romans; a judgment juſtly inflicted on the Jewiſh nation for their reſiſting the holy ſpirit, and contempt of the means of grace. The prophet here takes notice of the extraordinary ſigns which ſhould precede that deſtruction. Lowth.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 I ſhall bring again the captivity of Judah and Jeruſalem.] This is to be underſtood of that reſtoration of the Jews and their capital city which ſhall happen in the laſt ages of the world.

2 The valley of Jehoſhaphat.] Where Jehoſhaphat obtained a compleat victory; called alſo the valley of Berachah; it was nigh Jeruſalem.

3 Have given a boy for a harlot.] Have ſold their ſlaves to ſupply their wanton luſts.

7 Behold, I will raiſe them out of the place whither ye have ſold them, and will return your recompenſe upon your own head:

8 And I will ſell your ſons and your daughters into the hand of the children of Judah, and they ſhall ſell them to the Sabeans, to a people far off: for the LORD hath ſpoken it.

9 Proclaim ye this among the Gentiles: prepare war, wake up the mighty men, let all the men of war draw near, let them come up.

10 Beat your plow-ſhares into ſwords, and your pruning-hooks into ſpears; let the weak ſay, I am ſtrong.

11 Aſſemble your ſelves, and come all ye heathen, and gather your ſelves together round about: thither cauſe thy mighty ones to come down, O LORD.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come up to the valley of Jehoſhaphat: for there will I ſit to judge all the heathen round about.

13 Put ye in the ſickle; for the harveſt is ripe: come, get ye down; for the preſs is full, the fats overflow; for their wickedneſs is great.

14 Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of deciſion: for the day of the LORD is near in the valley of deciſion.

15 The ſun and the moon ſhall be darkened, and the ſtars ſhall withdraw their ſhining.

16 The LORD alſo ſhall roar out of Zion, and utter his voice from Jeruſalem; and the heavens and the earth ſhall ſhake: but the LORD will be the hope of his people, and the ſtrength of the children of Iſrael.

17 So ſhall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion my holy mountain: then ſhall Jeruſalem be holy, and there ſhall no ſtrangers paſs through any more.

18 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the mountains ſhall drop down new wine, and the hills ſhall flow with milk, and all the rivers of Judah ſhall flow with waters, and a fountain ſhall come forth of the houſe of the LORD, and ſhall water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt ſhall be a deſolation, and Edom ſhall be a deſolate wilderneſs, for the violence againſt the children of Judah, becauſe they have ſhed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Judah ſhall dwell for ever, and Jeruſalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanſe their blood, that I have not cleanſed: for the LORD dwelleth in Zion.

10 Beat your plow-ſhares into ſwords, &c.] Let your huſbandmen and vine-dreſſers alſo prepare for war.

13 Put ye in the ſickle, for the harveſt is ripe.] God will give his commands to the angels, who are the reapers, to cut off the wicked by a ſpeedy deſtruction; for their iniquities are come to maturity, and ripe for judgment. Lowth.

18 The mountains ſhall drop down new wine, and the hills ſhall flow with milk.] In the times of the milennian ſtate, there ſhall be plenty of all things. Vines are uſually planted upon hills; and theſe ſhall yield ſuch plenty of wine, as if the mountains flowed down with it; and at the ſame time the flocks and the herds that feed upon the hills ſhall afford the ſame plenty of milk. Lowth.

A fountain ſhall come forth of the houſe of the Lord.] The ſupplies of grace are often repreſented by rivers and plentiful ſtreams, both upon account of their cleanſing quality, and their enriching the ground, and rendering it fruitful.

21 I will cleanſe their blood that I have not cleanſed.] I will thoroughly cleanſe them from their ſins and pollutions; neither ſhall they riſe up any more in judgment againſt them. The words chiefly import, that God will pardon the Jews the great crime of ſhedding the blood of the Meſſiah, on their ſincere repentance; the guilt of which they imprecated on themſelves and their poſterity; and accordingly felt the viſible effects of God's diſpleaſure on that account for ſeveral ages. Lowth.

AMOS.

THE ARGUMENT.

Amos was cotemporary with Hoſea, though probably he did not live ſo long. He was called to the prophetical office from being a herdſman of Tekoa, a town in the tribe of Judah about twelve miles ſouth of Jeruſalem; and ſent to call the people of Iſrael to repentance. It is obſervable that he begins his prophecies with denunciations of God's judgements againſt ſeveral nations before he comes to the people of Judah and Iſrael, and concludes with the comfortable promiſes of reſtoring the tabernacle of David, and erecting the kingdom of Chriſt. St. Jerome calls him (what St. Paul modeſtly owns of himſelf) rude in ſpeech, yet not in knowledge: whoſe authority has induced many to think his ſtile quite ruſtic and unembelliſhed; but let the impartial peruſe him with attention, and (as the ingenious Dr. Lowth, in his excellent Prælections, obſerves) they will find him equal to the greateſt prophets in loftineſs of ſentiment, and not inferior in the ſplendor of his diction and the elegance of his compoſition. For the ſame celeſtial Spirit which inſpired Iſaiah and Daniel in the palace, animated the breaſts of David and Amos in the paſtoral cottage; always making choice of proper interpreters of the Divine Will, and out of the mouth of babes perfecting praiſe. It is true indeed, that Amos borrows his compariſons and alluſions from rural life, and therefore I think he may not improperly be ſtiled the Theocritus of the Prophets.

CHAP. I.

1 God's judgements upon Syria. 6 The Philiſtines, 9 Tyrus, 11 Edom, 13 and Ammon.

THE words of Amos, who was among the herdmen of Tekoa which he ſaw concerning Iſrael in the days of Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of Jereboam the ſon of Joaſh king of Iſrael, two years before the earthquake.

2 And he ſaid, The LORD will roar from Zion, and utter his voice from Jeruſalem; and the habitations of the ſhepherds ſhall mourn, and the top of Carmel ſhall wither.

3 Thus ſaith the LORD; For three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for four, I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof; becauſe they have threſhed Gilead with threſhing-inſtruments of iron:

4 But I will ſend a fire into the houſe of Hazael, which ſhall devour the palaces of Benhadad.

5 I will break alſo the bar of Damaſcus, and cut off the inhabitant from the plain of Aven, and him that holdeth the ſcepter from the houſe of Eden: and the people of Syria ſhall go into captivity unto Kir, ſaith the LORD.

6 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD: For three tranſ-

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 Carmel ſhall wither.] Carmel was a mountainous tract of ground which ran between the tribes of Iſſachar and Zebulon, and was very fruitful.

3 For three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for four, &c.] The prophet firſt threatens Syria, whoſe capital city was Damaſcus, for the ſeveral tranſgreſſions they had committed, which he calls three and four; it being a common form of ſpeech to uſe a certain for an uncertain number.

They have threſhed Gilead with threſhing, &c.] This denotes the cruelties exerciſed by Hazael and Benhadad, kings of Syria, 2 Kings, x. 32. xiii. 7.

5 The plain of Aven.] Or, as it may be interpreted, the plain of vanity; probably a place famous for idolatry.

The houſe of Eden.] Or, the houſe of pleaſure; which may denote one of the pleaſant palaces of the king of Syria, deſcribed by him that holdeth the ſceptre. Lowth.

6 Gaza.] This city belonged to the Philiſtines, and was ſituated on the borders of Canaan. The inhabitants frequently invaded the Jews, and carried away much ſpoil.

9 The

greſſions of Gaza, and for four, I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof; becauſe they carried away captive the whole captivity, to deliver them up to Edom:

7 But I will ſend a fire on the wall of Gaza, which ſhall devour the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Aſhdod, and him that holdeth the ſcepter from Aſhkelon, and I will turn mine hand againſt Ekron; and the remnant of the Philiſtines ſhall periſh, ſaith the Lord GOD.

9 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD: for three tranſgreſſions of Tyrus, and for four, I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof; becauſe they delivered up the whole captivity to Edom, and remembered not the brotherly covenant:

10 But I will ſend a fire on the wall of Tyrus, which ſhall devour the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD; For three tranſgreſſions of Tyrus, and for four, I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof; becauſe he did purſue his brother with the ſword, and did caſt off all pity, and his anger did tear perpetually, and he kept his wrath for ever:

12 But I will ſend a fire upon Teman, which ſhall devour the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD; For three tranſgreſſions of the children of Ammon, and for four, I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof; becauſe they ripped up the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border:

14 But I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it ſhall devour the palaces thereof, with ſhouting in the day of battle, with a tempeſt in the day of the whirlwind:

15 And their king ſhall go into captivity, he and his princes together, ſaith the LORD.

CHAP. II.

1 God's wrath againſt Moab, 4 Judah, 6 and Iſrael. 9 God complaineth of his people's unthankfulneſs.

THUS ſaith the LORD; For three tranſgreſſions of Moab, and for four, I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof; becauſe he burned the bones of the king of Edom into lime;

2 But I will ſend a fire upon Moab, and it ſhall devour the palaces of Kirrioth: and Moab ſhall die with tumult, with ſhouting, and with the ſound of the trumpet:

3 And I will cut off the judge from the midſt thereof, and will ſlay all the princes thereof with him, ſaith the LORD.

4 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD; For three tranſgreſſions of Judah, and for four, I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof; becauſe they have deſpiſed the law of the LORD, and have not kept his commandments, and their lyes cauſed them to err, after the which their fathers have walked:

5 But I will ſend a fire upon Judah, and it ſhall devour the palaces of Jeruſalem.

6 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD; For three tranſgreſſions of Iſrael, and for four, I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof; becauſe they ſold the righteous for ſilver, and the poor for a pair of ſhoes;

7 That pant after the duſt of the earth on the head of the poor, and turn aſide the way of the meek: and a man and his father will go-in unto the ſame maid, to profane my holy name.

8 And they lay themſelves down upon clothes laid to pledge by every altar, and they drink the wine of the condemned in the houſe of their god.

9 The brotherly covenant.] That ſtrict league and friendſhip begun between David and Hiram king of Tyre, 2 Sam. v. 11. and renewed by Solomon, 1 Kings, v. 12.

12 I will ſend a fire upon Teman, which ſhall devour the palaces of Bozrah.] Teman and Bozrah were two principal cities of Idumea. This expreſſion imports their entire conqueſt and deſtruction, according to the predictions of ſeveral prophets. The ancient country of the Edomites was that afterwards called Arabia Petræa, from whence they were expelled by the Nabatheans, and never could recover their country, but were forced to ſettle themſelves in the ſouthern parts of Judea. Prideaux.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 He burned the bones of the king of Edom into lime.] To plaiſter the walls of his houſe with it, as the Chaldee paraphraſes it; which was a cruel inſult on the dead: when this happened is uncertain; the prophets allude to many events the hiſtory of which we have loſt.

7 That pant after the duſt of the earth on the head of the poor.] Or, as the words might be better rendered, Who tread down the heads of the poor into the duſt of the earth. Vulgate.

8 They lay themſelves down upon clothes laid to pledge, &c.] The prophet not only reproves them for partaking of things offered to idols, but likewiſe for making uſe of other men's furniture, left in their hands as a pledge. Lowth.

9 ¶ Yet deſtroyed I the Amorite before them, whoſe height was like the height of the cedars, and he was ſtrong as the oaks: yet I deſtroyed his fruit from above, and his roots from beneath.

10 Alſo I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and led you forty years through the wilderneſs, to poſſeſs the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raiſed up of your ſons for prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not even thus, O ye children of Iſrael? ſaith the LORD.

12 But ye gave the Nazarites wine to drink; and commanded the prophets, ſaying, Propheſy not.

13 Behold, I am preſſed under you as a cart is preſſed that is full of ſheaves.

14 Therefore the flight ſhall periſh from the ſwift, and the ſtrong ſhall not ſtrengthen his force, neither ſhall the mighty deliver himſelf;

15 Neither ſhall he ſtand that handleth the bow, and he that is ſwift of foot ſhall not deliver himſelf, neither ſhall he that rideth the horſe deliver himſelf:

16 And he that is couragious among the mighty ſhall flee away naked in that day, ſaith the LORD.

CHAP. III.

1 The neceſſity of God's judgement againſt Iſrael.
9 The publication and cauſes of it.

HEAR this word that the LORD hath ſpoken againſt you, O children of Iſrael, againſt the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, ſaying,

2 You only have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will puniſh you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walk together, except they be agreed?

4 Will a lion roar in the foreſt when he hath no prey? will a young lion cry out of his den if ye have taken nothing?

5 Can a bird fall in a ſnare upon the earth where no gin is for him? ſhall one take up a ſnare from the earth, and have taken nothing at all?

6 Shall a trumpet be blown in the city, and the people not be afraid? ſhall there be evil in a city, and the LORD hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing, but he revealeth his ſecret unto his ſervants the prophets.

8 The lion hath roared, who will not fear? the Lord GOD hath ſpoken, who can but propheſy?

9 ¶ Publiſh in the palaces at Aſhdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and ſay, Aſſemble your ſelves upon the mountains of Samaria, and behold the great tumults in the midſt thereof, and the oppreſſed in the midſt thereof.

10 For they know not to do right, ſaith the LORD, who ſtore up violence and robbery in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; An adverſary there ſhall be even round about the land: and he ſhall bring down thy ſtrength from thee, and thy palaces ſhall be ſpoiled.

12 Thus ſaith the LORD; As the ſhepherd taketh out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an ear; ſo ſhall the children of Iſrael be taken out that dwell in Samaria, in the corner of a bed, and in Damaſcus in a couch.

9 The height of the cedars, &c.] The hyperbole here appears in its fulleſt ſtrength and beauty, and adds great dignity to the expreſſion.

11 Nazarites.] See notes on Numb. vi. 2, 5.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 2 You only have I known of all the families of the earth.] Your puniſhment ſhall be exemplary, becauſe you have ſinned againſt the cleareſt light and the higheſt obligations.

6 Shall a trumpet be blown in the city, and the people not be afraid?] The ſounding of the trumpet was the ſignal of war, and conſequently muſt ſtrike terror into the inhabitants. The warnings God gives his people by the prophets of the judgments hanging over their heads ought equally to affect them.

7 He revealeth his ſecret unto his ſervants the prophets.] There was a ſucceſſion of prophets from Samuel to the captivity: the people conſulted them on extraordinary occaſions, and they inſtructed them in what was proper to be done. The want of this prophetical gift was greatly lamented in the times of the captivity, Ezek. vii. 26.

9 Publiſh in the palaces at Aſhdod, and of the land of Egypt.] God calls upon the heathen to be witneſſes of his judgments upon his own people, that they may take warning thereby: particularly he gives notice to the Philiſtines and Egyptians, the inveterate enemies of the Jews, that they may behold the oppreſſions which their inſulting adverſaries will bring upon the kingdom of Iſrael, whoſe capital city was Samaria. Lowth.

12 As the ſhepherd taketh out of the mouth of a lion, &c.] The leaſt part ſaved would be a proof of its being torn, and conſequently the ſhepherd would not be anſwerable for it, Exodus xxii. 13.

13 Hear ye, and teſtify in the houſe of Jacob, ſaith the Lord God the God of hoſts, 14 That in the day that I ſhall viſit the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael upon him, I will alſo viſit the altars of Beth-el: and the horns of the altar ſhall be cut off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will ſmite the winter-houſe with the ſummer-houſe: and the houſes of ivory ſhall periſh, and the great houſes ſhall have an end, ſaith the LORD.

CHAP. IV.

1 He reproveth Iſrael for oppreſſion, 4 for idolatry, 6 and for their incorrigibleneſs.

HEAR this word, ye kine of Baſhan, that are in the mountain of Samaria, which oppreſs the poor, which cruſh the needy, which ſay to their maſters, Bring, and let us drink.

2 The Lord GOD hath ſworn by his holineſs, that lo, the days ſhall come upon you, that he will take you away with hooks, and your poſterity with fiſh-hooks.

3 And ye ſhall go out at the breaches, every cow at that which is before her, and ye ſhall caſt them into the palace, ſaith the LORD.

4 ¶ Come to Beth-el and tranſgreſs; at Gilgal multiply tranſgreſſion; and bring your ſacrifices every morning, and your tithes after three years:

5 And offer a ſacrifice of thankſgiving with leaven, and proclaim and publiſh the free-offerings: for this liketh you, O ye children of Iſrael, ſaith the LORD GOD.

6 ¶ And I alſo have given you cleanneſs of teeth in all your cities, and want of bread in all your places: yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the LORD.

7 And alſo I have with-holden the rain from you, when there were yet three months to the harveſt; and I cauſed it to rain upon one city, and cauſed it not to rain upon another city: one piece was rained upon, and the piece whereupon it rained not withered.

8 So two or three cities wandered unto one city, to drink water: but they were not ſatisfied; yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the LORD.

9 I have ſmitten you with blaſting and mildew; when your gardens and your vineyards and your fig-trees and your olive-trees increaſed, the palmer-worm devoured them: yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the LORD.

10 I have ſent among you the peſtilence after the manner of Egypt: your young men have I ſlain with the ſword, and have taken away your horſes; and I have made the ſtink of your camps to come up unto your noſtrils: yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the LORD.

11 I have overthrown ſome of you as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, and ye were as a firebrand plucked out of the burning: yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the LORD.

12 Therefore thus will I do unto thee, O Iſrael: and becauſe I will do this unto thee, prepare to meet thy God, O Iſrael.

13 For lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkneſs, and treadeth upon the high places of

---

14 I will alſo viſit the altars of Beth-el.] In the general deſtruction of the ten tribes, God's judgments ſhould be particularly viſible upon the places dedicated to idolatry, eſpecially Beth-el, the principal place of that kind. Lowth.

15 The houſes of ivory ſhall periſh.] Ahab made an houſe of ivory, 1 Kings, xxii. 39; i. e. wainſcotted it with ivory: and it is probable, from this paſſage, that the great men followed his example in adorning their houſes in that coſtly manner.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Hear this word, ye kine of Baſhan.] The luxury and inſolence of oppreſſors is often compared to the wantonneſs of full-fed cattle. Baſhan was remarkable for the richneſs of its paſtures, and its breed of cattle.

3 Ye ſhall go out at the breaches:] Ye ſhall eſcape at the ſeveral breaches which ſhall be made in the walls of Samaria.

4 Come to Beth-el, and tranſgreſs.] A permiſſion ſpoken by way of irony, ſharply upbraiding them as incorrigible by all the admonitions that have been given them.

5 With leaven.] i. e. With leavened bread, Lev. vii. 13.

6 I alſo have given you cleanneſs of teeth in all your cities.] Or, For this cauſe I have given you cleanneſs of teeth in all your cities. The famine I have ſent upon Iſrael hath not brought you to a ſenſe of your ſins, or any ſincere purpoſes of amendment.

10 I have made the ſtink of your camps come up into your noſtrils.] When diſeaſes ſpread in their camps, the noiſome ſmell of the carcaſſes produced a peſtilence. Lowth.

11 Ye were as a firebrand plucked out of the burning.] Thoſe that remained eſcaped with difficulty. A proverbial expreſſion to ſignify a narrow eſcape out of an imminent danger.

12 Prepare to meet thy God.] The phraſe may import the neceſſity of humiliation and repentance, in order to avert God's anger before it be too late, and it actually breaks forth upon the tranſgreſſors.

the earth; The LORD the GOD of hoſts is his name.

CHAP. V.

1 A lamentation for Iſrael. 4 An exhortation to repentance. 21 God rejecteth their hypocritical ſervice.

HEAR ye this word which I take up againſt you, even a lamentation, O houſe of Iſrael.

2 The virgin of Iſrael is fallen, ſhe ſhall no more riſe: ſhe is forſaken upon her land, there is none to raiſe her up.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord GOD; The city that went out by a thouſand ſhall leave an hundred, and that which went forth by an hundred ſhall leave ten to the houſe of Iſrael.

4 ¶ For thus ſaith the LORD unto the houſe of Iſrael, Seek ye me, and ye ſhall live:

5 But ſeek not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and paſs not to Beer-ſheba: for Gilgal ſhall ſurely go into captivity, and Beth-el ſhall come to nought.

6 Seek the LORD, and ye ſhall live; leſt he break out like fire in the houſe of Joſeph, and devour it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 Ye who turn judgement to wormwood, and leave off righteouſneſs in the earth,

8 Seek him that maketh the ſeven ſtars and Orion, and turneth the ſhadow of death into the morning, and maketh the day dark with night; that calleth for the waters of the ſea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth: The LORD is his name:

9 That ſtrengtheneth the ſpoiled againſt the ſtrong, ſo that the ſpoiled ſhall come againſt the fortreſs.

10 They hate him that rebuketh in the gate, and they abhor him that ſpeaketh uprightly.

11 Foraſmuch therefore as your treading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of wheat; ye have built houſes of hewn ſtone, but ye ſhall not dwell in them; ye have planted pleaſant vineyards, but ye ſhall not drink wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold tranſgreſſions, and your mighty ſins: they afflict the juſt, they take a bribe, and they turn aſide the poor in the gate from their right.

13 Therefore the prudent ſhall keep ſilence in that time; for it is an evil time.

14 Seek good, and not evil; that ye may live: and ſo the LORD the God of hoſts ſhall be with you, as ye have ſpoken.

15 Hate the evil, and love the good, and eſtabliſh judgement in the gate: it may be that the LORD God of hoſts will be gracious unto the remnant of Joſeph.

16 Therefore the LORD, the God of hoſts, the Lord ſaith thus: Wailing ſhall be in all ſtreets; and they ſhall ſay in all the highways, Alas! alas! and they ſhall call the huſbandmen to mourning; and ſuch as are ſkilful of lamentation, to wailing.

17 And in all vineyards ſhall be wailing: for I will paſs through thee, ſaith the LORD.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 2 The virgin of Iſrael is fallen.] She that was never conquered by any is fallen from her glory, and ſhall never be reſtored to her former ſtate, as a kingdom.

3 The city that went out by a thouſand, ſhall leave an hundred.] Only one in ten of her ſoldiers ſhall eſcape the ſword and other chances of war. Lowth.

5 Paſs not to Beer-ſheba.] A place remarkable for being the dwelling of Abraham, and his planting a grove there for the worſhip of God: probably the grove ſtill continued, and was abuſed to idolatry.

7 That turn judgement into wormwood.] That pervert the law, which was deſigned to protect the innocent, and under colour of it exerciſe the greateſt oppreſſion.

8 Seek him that maketh the ſeven ſtars and Orion.] Theſe and other conſtellations were thought to have a great influence upon the ſeaſons: and thence their riſing and ſetting uſed to be carefully obſerved by huſbandmen and ſhepherds; whoſe employments lying abroad in the fields, made them more obſervant of the heavenly appearances: this conſequently is an inſtance of Providence very proper to be mentioned by a perſon of Amos's profeſſion.

Turneth the ſhadow of death into the morning, and maketh the day dark with night.] The viciſſitudes of day and night, and the lights iſſuing out of darkneſs, are juſt matter of admiration, and would aſtoniſh a rational being, did not the conſtant return of them leſſen the wonder. Pindar has a paſſage to the ſame purpoſe, which may be thus tranſlated:

> Almighty God creates the light,
> And makes it ſpring from darkeſt night;
> And when he covers o'er the day,
> The darkneſs chaſes light away.

10 They hate him that rebuketh in the gate.] i. e. Magiſtrates who executed their office, ſitting at the gates of the cities.

15 It may be that the Lord God of hoſts will be gracious unto the remnant of Joſeph.] Your caſe is not ſo deſperate, but repentance may avert the judgments of God, and he may yet be gracious to the ſmall remnant of the ten tribes.

18 Wo unto you that desire the day of the LORD! to what end is it for you? the day of the LORD is darkness, and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him; or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the LORD be darkness, and not light? even very dark, and no brightness in it?

21 ¶ I hate, I despise your feast-days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies.

22 Though ye offer me burnt-offerings and your meat-offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace-offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the noise of thy songs: for I will not hear the melody of thy viols.

24 But let judgement run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.

25 Have ye offered unto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty years, O house of Israel?

26 But ye have born the tabernacle of your Moloch and Chiun your images, the star of your god, which ye made to your selves:

27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captivity beyond Damascus, saith the LORD, whose name is, The God of hosts.

CHAP. VI.

1 The wantonness of Israel, 7 shall be plagued with desolation, 12 and their incorrigibleness.

WO to them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountain of Samaria, which are named chief of the nations, to whom the house of Israel came!

2 Pass ye unto Calneh, and see; and from thence go ye to Hamath the great: then go down to Gath of the Philistines: be they better than these kingdoms? or their border greater than your border?

3 Ye that put far away the evil day, and cause the seat of violence to come near;

4 That lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch themselves upon their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall;

5 That chant to the sound of the viol, and invent to themselves instruments of musick, like David;

6 That drink wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief ointments: but they are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph.

7 ¶ Therefore now shall they go captive with the first that go captive, and the banquet of them that stretched themselves shall be removed.

8 The Lord GOD hath sworn by himself,

---

18 Wo unto you that desire the day of the Lord.] Infidels made a mock of the prophets, when they told them the day of the Lord was at hand: and from a principle of unbelief expressed their desire of seeing this day, that they might be convinced of the truth of such predictions by ocular demonstration.

To what end is it for you?] To what purpose should you desire to see the day of the Lord? It will certainly be a very uncomfortable time, when evils shall succeed each other so fast, that he who endeavours to avoid one, shall fall into another.

19 Or went into a house.] To avoid the severity of the weather.

24 Let judgement run down as waters.] Have its free course.

26 Ye have born the tabernacle of your Moloch, and Chiun your images.] It has been thought that the idolatry here mentioned was practised by the Israelites in the wilderness: but there is nothing in the text to fix it down to that time: it is much more likely to have been the sin of the Israelites that lived in Amos's days; for which in the last verse he threatens them with that captivity which afterwards befel the ten tribes: for why should he denounce this punishment on them for the sins of their ancestors, and not rather for their own sins? The tabernacle of Moloch was a shrine containing the image of that deity. Chiun is generally supposed to be the same with Saturn. The same idol was called Rempham, or Rephan by the Egyptians; though Lamy thinks that Chiun signifies nothing but the portable pedestals, on which the Pagans placed their Gods when they went abroad.

The star of your god, &c.] A noble figurative expression to signify the image of your god: for a star being employed in hieroglyphics to signify God, it is used here with great elegance to signify the material image of a god. Warburton.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo to them that are at ease in Zion.] Or, as the margin, are secure in Zion: who live fearless of God's judgments, and resolve to indulge themselves in their voluptuousness.

2 Pass ye unto Calneh, and see, &c.] Calneh was a city in the land of Shinar, or the territory of Babylon. Hamath, St. Jerom supposes this city to be the same that was afterwards called Antioch.

4 That lie upon beds of ivory.] This and the two following verses are an elegant description of the ill use men too often make of a plentiful fortune. It excludes reflection, renders them void of compassion towards the miserable, and regardless of every thing but the present gratification of their senses.

6 Are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph.] Many of the Israelites were already carried into captivity. The words allude to the sufferings of Joseph, when he was sold by his brethren into Egypt.

8 I abhor the excellency of Jacob, and hate his palaces, &c.] What-ſaith the LORD the God of hoſts, I abhor the excellency of Jacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city, with all that is therein.

9 And it ſhall come to paſs, if there remain ten men in one houſe, that they ſhall die.

10 And a man's uncle ſhall take him up, and he that burneth him, to bring out the bones out of the houſe, and ſhall ſay unto him that is by the ſides of the houſe, Is there yet any with thee? And he ſhall ſay, No. Then ſhall he ſay, Hold thy tongue: for we may not make mention of the name of the LORD.

11 For behold, the LORD commandeth, and he will ſmite the great houſe with breaches, and the little houſe with clefts.

12 ¶ Shall horſes run upon the rock? will one plow there with oxen? for ye have turned judgement into gall, and the fruit of righteouſneſs into hemlock.

13 Ye which rejoice in a thing of nought, which ſay, Have we not taken to us horns by our own ſtrength?

14 But behold, I will raiſe up againſt you a nation, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the LORD the God of hoſts; and they ſhall afflict you from the entring-in of Hamath unto the river of the wilderneſs.

CHAP. VII.

1 The judgements of the graſhoppers, 4 and of the fire, are diverted by the prayer of Amos. 16 Amaziah's judgement.

THUS hath the Lord GOD ſhewed unto me: and behold, he formed graſhoppers in the beginning of the ſhooting-up of the latter growth; and lo, it was the latter growth after the king's mowings.

2 And it came to paſs, that when they had made an end of eating the graſs of the land, then I ſaid, O Lord GOD, forgive, I beſeech thee: by whom ſhall Jacob ariſe? for he is ſmall.

3 The LORD repented for this. It ſhall not be, ſaith the LORD.

4 ¶ Thus hath the Lord GOD ſhewed unto me: and behold, the Lord GOD called to contend by fire, and it devoured the great deep, and did eat up a part.

5 Then ſaid I, O Lord GOD, ceaſe, I beſeech thee: by whom ſhall Jacob ariſe? for he is ſmall.

6 The LORD repented for this. This alſo ſhall not be, ſaith the Lord GOD.

7 Thus he ſhewed me: and behold, the Lord ſtood upon a wall made by a plumb-line with a plumb-line in his hand.

8 And the LORD ſaid unto me, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, A plumb-line. Then ſaid the LORD, Behold, I will ſet a plumb-line in the midſt of my people Iſrael: I will not again paſs by them any more.

9 And the high places of Iſaac ſhall be deſolate, and the ſanctuaries of Iſrael ſhall be laid waſte; and I will riſe againſt the houſe of Jeroboam with the ſword.

Whatever the kingdoms of Iſrael and Judah value themſelves for, is hateful to me, as having been abuſed by them, and made inſtrumental in diſhonouring me.

10 He that burns him.] It does not appear that the antient Jews burnt dead bodies, ſee Chron. xvi. 14. unleſs perhaps during a peſtilence, as the caſe was here, to prevent the ſpreading of the infection. The Septuagint has nothing of burning.

Hold thy tongue, &c.] It is in vain to implore the aſſiſtance of God in our afflictions. An expreſſion indicating deſpair, as well as impenitency.

14 From the entering in of Hamath, to the, &c.] i. e. From one end of the land to the other: Hamath was the northern boundary, and the river of the wilderneſs, the Nile.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 He formed graſhoppers in the beginning of the ſhooting up of the latter growth.] This probably relates to thoſe tumults and commotions which happened after Jeroboam's death, during an anarchy which laſted eleven years, from that time till his ſon's ſettlement on the throne. This was cutting Iſrael ſhort, after the kingdom had begun to flouriſh under the proſperous reign of Jeroboam; and therefore might be very appoſitely repreſented by the graſhoppers devouring the ſecond growth of the graſs. Lowth.

2 By whom ſhall Jacob ariſe? for he is ſmall.] If thou ſuffereſt theſe calamities to proceed to extremity, by what means ſhall the ſmall remainder of the riches and ſtrength of the kingdom be reſcued from utter deſtruction? Lowth.

4 It devoured the great deep, and did eat up a part.] This repreſents a ſorer judgment than the former, and in the opinion of moſt expoſitors, denotes the invaſion of Tiglath-Pileſer, king of Aſſyria, who carried away great part of Iſrael captive; and therefore was properly repreſented by a raging fire, which conſumed the ſea, by turning the water into vapours, and then devoured a great part of the land. Lowth.

7 The Lord ſtood upon a wall made by a plumb-line.] God's judgments are ſometimes repreſented by a line and plummet, to denote that they are meaſured out by the exacteſt rules of juſtice.

13 It

10 ¶ Then Amaziah the prieſt of Beth-el ſent to Jeroboam king of Iſrael, ſaying, Amos hath conſpired againſt thee in the midſt of the houſe of Iſrael: the land is not able to bear all his words.

11 For thus Amos ſaith, Jeroboam ſhall die by the ſword, and Iſrael ſhall ſurely be led away captive out of their own land.

12 Alſo Amaziah ſaid unto Amos, O thou ſeer, go, flee the way into the land of Judah, and there eat bread, and propheſy there:

13 But propheſy not again any more at Beth-el: for it is the king's chapel, and it is the king's court.

14 Then anſwered Amos, and ſaid to Amaziah, I was no prophet, neither was I a prophet's ſon; but I was an herdman, and a gatherer of ſycomore-fruit.

15 And the LORD took me as I followed the flock, and the LORD ſaid unto me, Go, propheſy unto my people Iſrael.

16 ¶ Now therefore hear thou the word of the LORD; thou ſayeſt, Propheſy not againſt Iſrael, and drop not thy word againſt the houſe of Iſaac.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD; Thy wife ſhall be an harlot in the city, and thy ſons and thy daughters ſhall fall by the ſword, and thy land ſhall be divided by line; and thou ſhalt die in a polluted land; and Iſrael ſhall ſurely go into captivity forth of his land.

CHAP. VIII.

1 By a baſket of ſummer-fruit is ſhewed Iſrael's end. 4 Oppreſſion reproved. 11 A famine of the word threatened.

THUS hath the Lord GOD ſhewed unto me: and behold, a baſket of ſummer-fruit.

2 And he ſaid, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, A baſket of ſummer-fruit. Then ſaid the LORD unto me, The end is come upon my people of Iſrael: I will not again paſs by them any more.

3 And the ſongs of the temple ſhall be howlings in that day, ſaith the Lord GOD: there ſhall be many dead bodies in every place; they ſhall caſt them forth with ſilence.

4 ¶ Hear this, O ye that ſwallow up the needy, even to make the poor of the land to fail,

5 Saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may ſell corn? and the ſabbath, that we may ſet forth wheat, making the ephah ſmall, and the ſhekel great, and falſifying the balances by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poor for ſilver, and the needy for a pair of ſhoes; yea, and ſell the refuſe of the wheat?

7 The LORD hath ſworn by the excellency of Jacob, Surely I will never forget any of their works.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn that dwelleth therein? and it ſhall riſe up wholly as a flood; and it ſhall be caſt out and drowned, as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the Lord GOD, that I will cauſe the ſun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day:

10 And I will turn your feaſts into mourning, and all your ſongs into lamentation; and I will bring up ſackcloth upon all loins, and baldneſs upon every head; and I will make it as the mourning of an only ſon, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 ¶ Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord GOD, that I will ſend a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirſt for water, but of hearing the words of the LORD.

13 It is the king's chapel, and it is the king's court.] It is the place where the king performs his religious worſhip in perſon, and often reſides there with his court.

14 I was no prophet, neither was I a prophet's ſon.] I was not a prophet by profeſſion, nor bred up in the ſchools of the prophets, as thoſe uſually were who take that office upon them.

Sycomore-fruit.] Lamy ſays, they gave this fruit to their cattle.

17 Thou ſhalt die in a polluted land.] Thou ſhalt be carried captive out of thine own country, and die in a land where the inhabitants are idolaters.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Behold, a baſket of ſummer-fruit.] The baſket of ripe ſummer-fruit, which the prophet ſaw in a viſion, was to denote, that the ſins of Iſrael were now ripe for judgment. Lowth.

8 By the flood of Egypt.] Rather, by the river of Egypt; the land ſhall be ſwallowed up as Egypt is by the inundation of the Nile.

9 I will cauſe the ſun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day.] Times of calamity are expreſſed by the failing of the light of the ſun, and the day's being overſpread with darkneſs.

12 And they ſhall wander from ſea to ſea, and from the north even to the eaſt, they ſhall run to and fro to ſeek the word of the LORD, and ſhall not find it.

13 In that day ſhall the fair virgins and young men faint for thirſt.

14 They that ſwear by the ſin of Samaria, and ſay, thy god, O Dan, liveth; and, The manner of Beer-ſheba liveth; even they ſhall fall, and never riſe up again.

CHAP. IX.

1 The certainty of the deſolation. 11 The reſtoring of the tabernacle of David.

I Saw the Lord ſtanding upon the altar: and he ſaid, Smite the lintel of the door, that the poſts may ſhake: and cut them in the head of them all; and I will ſlay the laſt of them with the ſword: he that fleeth of them ſhall not flee away, and he that eſcapeth of them ſhall not be delivered.

2 Though they dig into hell, thence ſhall mine hand take them; though they climb up to heaven, thence will I bring them down:

3 And though they hide themſelves in the top of Carmel, I will ſearch and take them out thence; and though they be hid from my ſight in the bottom of the ſea, thence will I command the ſerpent, and he ſhall bite them:

4 And though they go into captivity before their enemies, thence will I command the ſword, and it ſhall ſlay them: and I will ſet mine eyes upon them for evil, and not for good.

5 And the Lord GOD of hoſts is he that toucheth the land, and it ſhall melt, and all that dwell therein ſhall mourn: and it ſhall riſe up wholly like a flood: and ſhall be drowned, as by the flood of Egypt.

6 It is he that buildeth his ſtories in the heaven, and hath founded his troop in the earth: he that calleth for the waters of the ſea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth; The LORD is his name.

7 Are ye not as children of the Ethiopians unto me, O children of Iſrael? ſaith the LORD. Have I not brought up Iſrael out of the land of Egypt? and the Philiſtines from Caphtor, and the Syrians from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord GOD are upon the ſinful kingdom, and I will deſtroy it from off the face of the earth; ſaving that I will not utterly deſtroy the houſe of Jacob, ſaith the LORD.

9 For lo, I will command, and I will ſift the houſe of Iſrael among all nations, like as corn is ſifted in a ſieve, yet ſhall not the leaſt grain fall upon the earth.

10 All the ſinners of my people ſhall die by the ſword, which ſay, The evil ſhall not overtake nor prevent us.

11 ¶ In that day will I raiſe up the tabernacle of David that is fallen, and cloſe up the breaches thereof; and I will raiſe up his ruins, and I will build it as in the days of old:

12 That they may poſſeſs the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, which are called by my name, ſaith the LORD, that doeth this.

13 Behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD,

14 They that ſwear by the ſin of Samaria.] The calf ſet up at Beth-el by Jeroboam. The antient idolaters uſed to ſwear by their idols, as the papiſts now do by theirs.

The manner of Beer-ſheba.] i. e. The idol worſhipped there.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 I ſaw the Lord ſtanding upon the altar.] Which was at Jeruſalem, for he did not appear in the idolatrous places of Iſrael: God's ſtanding upon the altar denotes the deſtruction of the idolaters themſelves, as ſo many victims ſlain to atone the divine vengeance.

2 Though they dig into hell, thence ſhall mine hand take them.] Though they hide themſelves in the deepeſt caverns of the earth, or take refuge in the higheſt fortreſſes, they ſhall not eſcape my vengeance. Lowth.

6 It is he that buildeth his ſtories in the heaven.] An awful deſcription of God's irreſiſtible power, diſcovering itſelf in the works of creation, particularly in his appointing ſeveral regions of the air as ſo many apartments that lead to the higheſt heavens, the ſeat of his glory. Lowth.

7 Are ye not as children of the Ethiopians to me?] Are ye not under a curſe as the Ethiopians, the poſterity of Ham, were by reaſon of the multitude of your ſins and apoſtaſies?

Caphtor.] See notes on Deut. ii. 23. and Jer. xlvii. 4.

11 In that day will I raiſe up the tabernacle of David that is fallen down.] In the latter days I will reſtore the kingdom to the houſe and family of David, in the perſon of the Meſſiah, ſo often ſtiled in the prophets, the ſeed or offspring of David, and known by that title among the Jews, at the time of our Saviour's appearance. And as that family had been for ſeveral years reduced to a mean and obſcure condition, it ſhall then recover its ancient ſplendor and dignity. Lowth.

13 The plow-man ſhall overtake the reaper.] This and the following verſes relate to the happy ſtate of the milennium, which may be ſuppoſed to begin on the reſtoration of the Jews to their own country; when there ſhall be ſuch an increaſe of the fruits of the earth, that, as ſoon as the harveſt is over, it will be time to plow for the next year; which was not uſual in thoſe hot that the plow-man shall overtake the reaper, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seed; and the mountains shall drop sweet wine, and all the hills shall melt.

14 And I will bring again the captivity of my people of Israel, and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and drink the wine thereof; they shall also make gardens, and eat the fruit of them.

15 And I will plant them upon their land, and they shall no more be pulled up out of their land which I have given them, saith the LORD thy God.

hot countries, where the corn was ripe early in the summer, namely in the month of May, or June at fartheſt. Lowth.

14 I will bring again the captivity of Iſrael.] I will reſtore them to their own country, and ſettle them in the land I gave to their fathers. Lowth.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Obadiah, it is generally conjectured, propheſied about the time of the taking of Jeruſalem: and thereupon in foretelling the deſtruction of Edom, he uſes ſeveral expreſſions which Jeremiah had done before him, ſpeaking on the ſame ſubject; Compare Obadiah ver. 1, 8, 9, with Jer. xlix. 7 and 10. The reaſon for the judgements threatened againſt the Edomites, was their inſulting over the Jews in the time of their diſtreſs.

1 The deſtruction of Edom, 3 for their pride, 10 and wrong unto Jacob. 17 The ſalvation and victory of Jacob.

THE viſion of Obadiah. Thus ſaith the Lord GOD concerning Edom; We have heard a rumour from the LORD, and an ambaſſador is ſent among the heathen, Ariſe ye, and let us riſe up againſt her in battle.

2 Behold, I have made thee ſmall among the heathen: thou art greatly deſpiſed.

3 ¶ The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee: thou that dwelleſt in the clefts of the rock, whoſe habitation is high; that ſaith in his heart, Who ſhall bring me down to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy ſelf as the eagle, and though thou ſet thy neſt among the ſtars, thence will I bring thee down, ſaith the LORD.

5 If thieves came to thee, if robbers by night, (how art thou cut off!) would they not have ſtolen till they had enough? if the grape-gatherers came to thee, would they not leave ſome grapes?

6 How are the things of Eſau ſearched out! how are his hidden things ſought up!

7 All the men of thy confederacy have brought thee even to the border: the men that were at peace with thee have deceived thee,

Notes on the Propheſy of Obadiah.

Ver. 1 We have heard a rumour from the Lord, &c.] The prophets ſometimes repreſent God as ſummoning armies, and ſetting them in array of battle againſt thoſe people he purpoſes to deſtroy. And here, according to the cuſtom of earthly princes, he is deſcribed as ſending ambaſſadors to invite the nations to join in a confederacy againſt the Idumeans. Lowth.

3 In the clefts of the rock.] St. Jerom obſerves that the Edomites dwelt in caves dug out of the rocks.

10 Thou

and prevailed against thee; they that eat thy bread have laid a wound under thee: there is none understanding in him.

8 Shall I not in that day, saith the LORD, even destroy the wise men out of Edom, and understanding out of the mount of Esau?

9 And thy mighty men, O Teman, shall be dismayed; to the end that every one of the mount of Esau may be cut off by slaughter.

10 ¶ For thy violence against thy brother Jacob shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off for ever.

11 In the day that thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers carried away captive his forces, and foreigners entered into his gates, and cast lots upon Jerusalem, even thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not have looked on the day of thy brother in the day that he became a stranger; neither shouldest thou have rejoiced over the children of Judah in the day of their destruction; neither shouldest thou have spoken proudly in the day of distress.

13 Thou shouldest not have entered into the gate of my people in the day of their calamity; yea, thou shouldest not have looked on their affliction in the day of their calamity, nor have laid hands on their substance in the day of their calamity.

14 Neither shouldest thou have stood in the cross-way, to cut off those of his that did escape; neither shouldest thou have delivered up those of his that did remain in the day of distress.

15 For the day of the LORD is near upon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done unto thee: thy reward shall return upon thine own head.

16 For as ye have drunk upon my holy mountain, so shall all the heathen drink continually, yea, they shall drink, and they shall swallow down, and they shall be as though they had not been.

17 ¶ But upon mount Zion shall be deliverance, and there shall be holiness: and the house of Jacob shall possess their possessions.

18 And the house of Jacob shall be a fire, and the house of Joseph a flame, and the house of Esau for stubble, and they shall kindle in them, and devour them; and there shall not be any remaining of the house of Esau: for the LORD hath spoken it.

19 And they of the south shall possess the mount of Esau; and they of the plain, the Philistines: and they shall possess the fields of Ephraim and the fields of Samaria: and Benjamin shall possess Gilead.

20 And the captivity of this host of the children of Israel shall possess that of the Canaanites, even unto Zerephath; and the captivity of Jerusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possess the cities of the south.

21 And saviours shall come upon mount Zion to judge the mount of Esau: and the kingdom shall be the LORD's.

---

10 Thou shalt be cut off for ever.] See note on Amos i. 12.

16 As ye have drunk.] i. e. Of the cup of my wrath.

18 The house of Jacob shall be a fire.] To consume all their enemies.

20 The captivity of Jerusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possess the cities of the south.] In the former part of this verse the prophet mentioned the re-settlement of the ten tribes after their restoration: here he mentions that of Judah, under the name of Jerusalem. Commentators are not agreed with regard to the meaning of the word Sepharad. It is generally translated thus, The captivity of Jerusalem shall possess that which is in Sepharad, which literally implies a border; and therefore may denote that part of Arabia which borders on the south of Judea, or the cities of the south. Lowth.

21 Saviours shall come upon mount Zion to judge the mount of Esau.] The preachers of salvation shall publish the glad tidings of the gospel from mount Zion, and endeavour to convert all unbelievers and aliens to the common-wealth of Israel.

JONAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Jonah was the moſt antient of all the Prophets whoſe writings are preſerved in Scripture canon. Biſhop Lloyd ſuppoſes him to have propheſied in the latter end of Jehu's or the beginning of Jehoahaz's reign. He was of Gath-hepher, a town in the tribe of Zebulun, not far from Dio-Cæſaria, as St. Jerome aſſures us, who adds that Jonah's ſepulchre was ſhown there in his time. He was ſent to Nineveh, to denounce deſtruction to that city, within forty days time, if they repented not. But they complying with the ſummons of the Prophet, God deferred the execution of his judgments, till the encreaſe of their iniquities made them ripe for deſtruction, about 150 years afterwards.

CHAP. I.

1 Jonah ſent to Nineveh, fleeth to Tarſhiſh. 4 He is diſcovered by a tempeſt, 11 thrown into the ſea, and ſwallowed by a fiſh.

NOW the word of the LORD came unto Jonah the ſon of Amittai, ſaying,

2 Ariſe, go to Nineveh that great city, and cry againſt it; for their wickedneſs is come up before me.

3 But Jonah roſe up to flee unto Tarſhiſh from the preſence of the LORD, and went down to Joppa: and he found a ſhip going to Tarſhiſh: ſo he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it to go with them unto Tarſhiſh from the preſence of the LORD.

4 ¶ But the LORD ſent out a great wind into the ſea, and there was a mighty tempeſt in the ſea, ſo that the ſhip was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god, and caſt forth the wares that were in the ſhip into the ſea, to lighten it of them. But Jonah was gone down into the ſides of the ſhip; and he lay, and was faſt aſleep.

6 So the ſhip-maſter came to him, and ſaid unto him, What meaneſt thou, O ſleeper? ariſe, call upon thy God, if ſo be that God will think upon us, that we periſh not.

7 And they ſaid every one to his fellow, Come, and let us caſt lots, that we may know for whoſe cauſe this evil is upon us. So they caſt lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah.

8 Then ſaid they unto him, Tell us, we pray thee, for whoſe cauſe this evil is upon us: what is thine occupation? and whence comeſt thou? what is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And he ſaid unto them, I am an Hebrew: and I fear the LORD the God of heaven, which hath made the ſea and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid,

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 Their wickedneſs is come up before me.] Septuagint reads, The cry of their wickedneſs; hence heinous offences are called crying ſins.

3 Jonah roſe up to flee unto Tarſhiſh from the preſence of the Lord, &c.] He might think, that the internal impulſe of the prophets might not exert itſelf in any other place but in the land of Judea: or he might fly from his country by a ſudden fear; as our firſt parents hid themſelves from the preſence of God among the trees of the garden.

Tarſhiſh.] Probably Tarteſſus in Spain.

5 The mariners were afraid, &c.] They invoked their ſeveral idols, as being heathens, and ignorant of the true God.

7 Let us caſt lots.] This was the uſual method of referring things to the appointment or diſcovery of Providence.

9 I fear the Lord, the God of heaven.] Rather, Jehovah, the God of heaven; Jehovah being the peculiar name of the true God, by which he was diſtinguiſhed from thoſe who had the names of gods and lords among the heathen.

10 Why haſt thou done this?] Thou haſt been guilty of a great profanation, to diſobey the command of that Being whom thou thyſelf acknowledgeſt to be the Lord and Maker of all things.

and ſaid unto him, Why haſt thou done this? for the men knew that he fled from the preſence of the LORD; becauſe he had told them.

11 ¶ Then ſaid they unto him, What ſhall we do unto thee, that the ſea may be calm unto us? for the ſea wrought, and was tempeſtuous.

12 And he ſaid unto them, Take me up, and caſt me forth into the ſea; ſo ſhall the ſea be calm unto you; for I know that for my ſake this great tempeſt is upon you.

13 Nevertheleſs, the men rowed hard to bring it to the land; but they could not: for the ſea wrought, and was tempeſtuous againſt them.

14 Wherefore they cried unto the LORD, and ſaid, We beſeech thee, O LORD, we beſeech thee, let us not periſh for this man's life, and lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O LORD, haſt done as it pleaſed thee.

15 So they took up Jonah, and caſt him forth into the ſea: and the ſea ceaſed from her raging.

16 Then the men feared the LORD exceedingly, and offered a ſacrifice unto the LORD, and made vows.

17 Now the LORD had prepared a great fiſh to ſwallow up Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fiſh three days and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 The prayer of Jonah. 10 He is delivered from the fiſh.

THEN Jonah prayed unto the LORD his God out of the fiſh's belly,

2 And ſaid, I cried by reaſon of mine affliction unto the LORD, and he heard me: out of the belly of hell cried I, and thou heardeſt my voice.

3 For thou hadſt caſt me into the deep, in the midſt of the ſeas; and the floods compaſſed me about: all thy billows and thy waves paſſed over me.

4 Then I ſaid, I am caſt out of thy ſight; yet I will look again toward thy holy temple.

5 The waters compaſſed me about even to the ſoul, the depth cloſed me round about, the weeds were wrapped about my head.

6 I went down to the bottoms of the mountains: the earth with her bars was about me for ever: yet haſt thou brought up my life from corruption, O LORD my God.

7 When my ſoul fainted within me, I remembered the LORD: and my prayer came in unto thee, into thine holy temple.

8 They that obſerve lying vanities forſake their own mercy.

9 But I will ſacrifice unto thee with the voice of thankſgiving; I will pay that that I have vowed. Salvation is of the LORD.

10 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto the fiſh, and it vomited out Jonah upon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

1 Jonah ſent again preacheth to the Ninevites. 5 Upon their repentance, 10 God repenteth.

16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, &c.] They were convinced of the power and greatneſs of that God which Jonah worſhipped, which appeared both in raiſing this ſtorm, and in ſo ſuddenly laying it.

17 The Lord had prepared a great fiſh.] Naturaliſts give an account of ſome ſort of fiſh which are large enough to ſwallow a man; particularly the canis charcarias, or dog-fiſh, called by ſome writers lamia. The Septuagint renders this by a word which is commonly tranſlated a whale; but the naturaliſts inform us, that the make of a whale will not permit him to ſwallow a human body.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 Jonah prayed unto the Lord his God out of the fiſh's belly.] Thoſe devout thoughts which he had at that time, he afterwards digeſted into the following prayer; and added a thankſgiving for his deliverance at the concluſion of it. Several of David's pſalms were probably compoſed in the ſame manner, namely, after the trouble was over; but in a ſtile ſuitable to the thoughts he had at the time of his affliction, and with a grateful ſenſe of God's mercies for his deliverance. Lowth.

2 Out of the belly of hell cried I, &c.] The word here tranſlated hell, ſignifies the ſtate of the dead; and therefore ſhould have been rendered the grave, as the margin has it: the belly of the fiſh was to Jonah inſtead of a grave. Lowth.

4 Then I ſaid, I am caſt out of thy ſight; yet will I look again toward thy holy temple.] My firſt apprehenſions were that as I had juſtly forfeited thy favour for my diſobedience, ſo thou wouldſt caſt me out of thy protection: but upon recollecting myſelf, I thought it my duty not to deſpair of thy mercy, but to direct my prayer towards thy heavenly habitation.

6 I went down to the bottoms of the mountains.] I went down to the bottom of the ſea, where the foundations of the mountains lie.

The earth with her bars was about me for ever.] It ſhould have been rendered, The earth with her everlaſting bars was about me. Clark.

7 My prayer came in unto thee, in thine holy temple.] My prayer reached unto heaven, the place of thy peculiar reſidence.

8 Lying vanities.] Idols, often called by the name of vanity.

10 The Lord ſpake unto the fiſh.] Huetius ſuppoſes that Jonah's deliverance from the whale's belly, gave occaſion to the Greek ſtory of Arion, who after he was caſt into the ſea, was conveyed by a dolphin to the port of Corinth.

Notes

AND the word of the LORD came unto Jonah the ſecond time, ſaying,

2 Ariſe, go unto Nineveh that great city, and preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee.

3 So Jonah aroſe, and went unto Nineveh, according to the word of the LORD. Now Nineveh was an exceeding great city of three days journey.

4 And Jonah began to enter into the city a day's journey, and he cried, and ſaid, Yet forty days and Nineveh ſhall be overthrown.

5 ¶ So the people of Nineveh believed God, and proclaimed a faſt, and put on ſackcloth, from the greateſt of them even to the leaſt of them.

6 For word came unto the king of Nineveh, and he aroſe from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with ſackcloth, and ſat in aſhes.

7 And he cauſed it to be proclaimed, and publiſhed through Nineveh, by the decree of the king and his nobles, ſaying, Let neither man nor beaſt, herd nor flock, taſte any thing; let them not feed, nor drink water.

8 But let man and beaſt be covered with ſackcloth, and cry mightily unto God: yea, let them turn every one from his evil way, and from the violence that is in their hands.

9 Who can tell if God will turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, that we periſh not?

10 ¶ And God ſaw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God repented of the evil that he had ſaid that he would do unto them, and he did it not.

CHAP. IV.

1 Jonah repining at God's mercy, is reproved by the type of a gourd.

BUT it diſpleaſed Jonah exceedingly, and he was very angry.

2 And he prayed unto the LORD, and ſaid, I pray thee, O LORD, was not this my ſaying when I was yet in my country? therefore I fled before unto Tarſhiſh: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and merciful, ſlow to anger, and of great kindneſs, and repenteſt thee of the evil.

3 Therefore now, O LORD, take, I beſeech thee, my life from me: for it is better for me to die than to live.

4 ¶ Then ſaid the LORD, Doeſt thou well to be angry?

5 So Jonah went out of the city, and ſat on the eaſt-ſide of the city, and there made him a booth, and ſat under it in the ſhadow, till he might ſee what would become of the city.

6 And the LORD God prepared a gourd, and made it to come up over Jonah, that it might be a ſhadow over his head to deliver him from his grief. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 3 Nineveh was an exceeding great city, of three days journey.] Diodorus Siculus informs us, that Nineveh was four hundred and eighty furlongs, or ſixty of our miles in compaſs; ſo that it was larger than Babylon, and agrees with the prophet's account, namely, that it was three days journey in compaſs, twenty miles being the common computation of a day's journey for a foot-traveller in the eaſtern countries. Cauſaubon on Strabo.

4 Yet forty days, &c.] God was pleaſed to allow them ſufficient time to repent, and give ſome proof of their reformation.

5 The people of Nineveh believed God, &c.] The fame of the wonderful works which God had wrought for the Jews was ſpread over the eaſtern parts of the world. This might induce the Ninevites to hearken to a man of that nation, that came to them as ſent from God; eſpecially as he doubtleſs gave them an account of the miraculous circumſtances which attended his own miſſion. But certainly a ſenſe of their own guilt, and their deſerving whatever puniſhment heaven could inflict, was a principal reaſon that moved them to have a regard for his meſſage. And, by the men of Nineveh's repenting at the preaching of Jonah, God deſigned to upbraid the ſtubbornneſs of his own people, and ſhame them as it were into repentance, leſt the men of Nineveh ſhould riſe up in judgment againſt them, as our Saviour ſpeaks of the Iſraelites in his own time. Lowth.

8 Let man and beaſt be covered with ſackcloth.] The covering horſes and mules with ſackcloth adds to the ſolemnity of a funeral: in like manner, their mouraful garb was an affecting circumſtance in this public humiliation. Lowth.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 It diſpleaſed Jonah exceedingly.] God's mercy in ſparing the Ninevites was very diſpleaſing to Jonah; and he expreſſed the greateſt impatience under it, leſt he ſhould be eſteemed a falſe prophet, and treated as ſuch. Lowth.

3 O Lord, take, I beſeech thee, my life from me.] I had rather die than live under the imputation of being a falſe prophet.

5 Jonah went out of the city.] It ſhould have been rendered, Jonah had gone out of the city.

6 The Lord God prepared a gourd, &c.] What kind of plant this could be was a queſtion before St. Jerom's time, as appears by his commentary on the place. He tranſlates it ivy, not that he thought the gourd here mentioned was the ivy, but, in compliance, as he tells us, with ſome ancient interpreters; though the 7 But God prepared a worm when the morning roſe the next day, and it ſmote the gourd that it withered.

8 And it came to paſs when the ſun did ariſe, that God prepared a vehement eaſt-wind; and the ſun beat upon the head of Jonah that he fainted, and wiſhed in himſelf to die, and ſaid, It is better for me to die than to live.

9 And God ſaid to Jonah, Doeſt thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he ſaid, I do well to be angry even unto death.

10 Then ſaid the LORD, Thou haſt had pity on the gourd, for the which thou haſt not laboured, neither madeſt it grow: which came up in a night, and periſhed in a night:

11 And ſhould not I ſpare Nineveh that great city, wherein are more than ſixſcore thouſand perſons that cannot diſcern between their right hand and their left hand, and alſo much cattle?

the Septuagint and all the eaſtern verſions agree in tranſlating it a gourd. Lowth.

That it might be a ſhadow over his head, &c.] From the burning heat of the ſun, which ſtill added to his former vexation; the booth which he made at firſt being withered by the heat.

11 Should not I ſpare Nineveh that great city, wherein are more than ſixſcore thouſand perſons, &c.] Surely the lives of ſo many perſons are much more valuable than a ſingle plant, which flouriſhes a few days, and then withers and dies. Theſe reaſons ſeem to have ſilenced Jonah's complaints, and made him ſenſible of his fault in repining at God's mercies. Lowth.

Alſo much cattle.] God's providence extends its care to beaſts as well as men.

MICAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah propheſied in the kingdom of Judah before the Babyloniſh captivity, viz. in the reigns of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah. He is cited by Jeremiah, which ſhows that he preceded that Prophet. Dr. Lowth in his book De ſacra poeſi Heb. obſerves, that Micah is commonly conciſe, compreſſed, and acute; ſometimes reſembling Hoſea in obſcurity: yet often much elevated, and extremely poetical.

CHAP. I.

1 Micah ſheweth the wrath of God againſt Jacob for idolatry. 10 He exhorteth to mourning.

THE word of the LORD that came to Micah the Moraſthite in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Judah, which he ſaw concerning Samaria and Jeruſalem.

2 Hear, all ye people; hearken, O earth, and all that therein is: and let the Lord GOD be witneſs againſt you, the Lord from his holy temple.

3 For behold, the LORD cometh forth out of his place, and will come down, and tread upon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountains ſhall be molten under

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 Let the Lord be witneſs againſt you.] I call God to witneſs that I have forewarned you of the judgments that hang over your heads, and will inevitably fall upon you, unleſs you ſpeedily repent. And he himſelf will become a witneſs againſt you, and convince you of your ſins in ſuch a manner that you ſhall not be able to deny the charge. Lowth.

3 The Lord cometh forth out of his place.] God is deſcribed as coming from heaven to judgment, becauſe of the viſible effects of his power and preſence upon earth. Lowth.

4 The mountains ſhall be molten under him, and the vallies ſhall be him, and the valleys ſhall be cleft; as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are poured down a ſteep place.

5 For the tranſgreſſion of Jacob is all this, and for the ſins of the houſe of Iſrael. What is the tranſgreſſion of Jacob? is it not Samaria? and what are the high places of Judah? are they not Jeruſalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heap of the field, and as plantings of a vineyard: and I will pour down the ſtones thereof into the valley, and I will diſcover the foundations thereof.

7 And all the graven images thereof ſhall be beaten to pieces, and all the hires thereof ſhall be burned with the fire, and all the idols thereof will I lay deſolate: for ſhe gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they ſhall return to the hire of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will wail and howl, I will go ſtripped and naked: I will make a wailing like the dragons, and mourning as the owls.

9 For her wound is incurable: for it is come unto Judah: he is come unto the gate of my people, even to Jeruſalem.

10 ¶ Declare ye it not at Gath, weep ye not at all: in the houſe of Aphrah roll thy ſelf in the duſt.

11 Paſs ye away, thou inhabitant of Saphir, having thy ſhame naked: the inhabitant of Zaanan came not forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel; he ſhall receive of you his ſtanding.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited carefully for good: but evil came down from the LORD unto the gate of Jeruſalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachiſh, bind the chariot to the ſwift beaſt: ſhe is the beginning of the ſin to the daughter of Zion: for the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael were found in thee.

14 Therefore ſhalt thou give preſents to Moreſheth-gath: the houſes of Achzib ſhall be a lye to the kings of Iſrael.

15 Yet will I bring an heir unto thee, O inhabitant of Mareſhah: he ſhall come unto Adullam the glory of Iſrael.

16 Make thee bald, and poll thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldneſs as the eagle: for they are gone into captivity from thee.

CHAP. II.

1 Againſt oppreſſion. 4 A lamentation. 7 A reproof of injuſtice and idolatry. 12 A promiſe of reſtoring Jacob.

WO to them that deviſe iniquity and work evil upon their beds! when the morn-be cleft.] This alludes to God's deſcent on mount Sinai, when thunder and lightning ſhook the mountain, and violent rains, which accompanied this tempeſt, made the hills appear as if they were melted down.

5 What is the tranſgreſſion of Jacob? is it not Samaria?] Is it not Samaria, that has ſet up the idolatry of the golden calves, and made it the eſtabliſhed religion of the kingdom? Lowth.

What are the high places of Judah? are they not in Jeruſalem?] Doth not the idolatrous worſhip practiſed in the high places, receive its chief encouragement from Ahaz, and the great men that join with him in that idolatry?

7 All the hires thereof.] The gifts which they gained by wicked practices.

Hire of an harlot.] What is wickedly gotten, and vilely and ſpeedily ſpent.

8 I will wail and howl, I will go ſtripped and naked.] I will ſympathize with my countrymen in their calamities; I will dreſs myſelf in the habit of mourning, and, like thoſe who bewail the dead, go without my upper garment, in order to denote the naked condition to which the ten tribes will be reduced by their enemies. Lowth.

As the owls.] Bochart ſays it ſhould be tranſlated, the oſtriches: and Dr. Shaw obſerves, that in Arabia he has often heard oſtriches groan as if they were in the greateſt agonies; which is beautifully alluded to in this paſſage of Micah.

9 Her wound is incurable, for it is come unto Judah, &c.] The deſolation of the ten tribes cannot be prevented, becauſe they perſiſt in their impieties; nor can any relief be applied to it, becauſe it will terminate in their utter deſtruction. At the ſame time one aggravating circumſtance attends it, as being the forerunner of thoſe evils that will come upon Jeruſalem, whoſe gates Senacherib ſhall attempt to force, in order to make himſelf maſter of that city, and the whole kingdom of Judah. Lowth.

11 Inhabitant of Saphir, having thy ſhame naked.] The word Saphir imports a fair and delightful habitation, and denotes either Samaria or Jeruſalem. The prophet threatens the inhabitants of this place, that they ſhall go into captivity in a manner very unſuitable to their former ſoftneſs and luxury; even without ſo much as a covering to hide their nakedneſs. Lowth.

The inhabitant of Zaanan came not forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel.] The inhabitants of Zaanan were ſo much concerned to provide for their own ſecurity, that they took no notice of the mournful condition of their neighbours: ſo Beth-ezel ſignifies. Grotius ſuppoſes Zaanan to denote Zion, and Beth-ezel, Beth-el.

He ſhall receive of you his ſtanding.] i. e. Zaanan ſhall judge of its own fate by that of Beth-ezel.

16 As the eagle.] Dr. Shaw ſays, the word rendered eagle is applied by the Arabs to the vultur only; and from the baldneſs here aſcribed to it, the vultur is moſt probably here intended; which has no feathers, but a little white down only upon the head and neck.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo to them that work evil upon their beds.] Wo to thoſe ing is light, they practiſe it, becauſe it is in the power of their hand.

2 And they covet fields, and take them by violence; and houſes, and take them away: ſo they oppreſs a man and his houſe, even a man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD; Behold, againſt this family do I deviſe an evil, from which ye ſhall not remove your necks; neither ſhall ye go haughtily: for this time is evil.

4 ¶ In that day ſhall one take up a parable againſt you, and lament with a doleful lamentation, and ſay, We be utterly ſpoiled: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he removed it from me! turning away he hath divided our fields.

5 Therefore thou ſhalt have none that ſhall caſt a cord by lot in the congregation of the LORD.

6 Propheſy ye not, ſay they to them that propheſy: they ſhall not propheſy to them, that they ſhall not take ſhame.

7 ¶ O thou that art named, The houſe of Jacob, is the Spirit of the LORD ſtraitened? are theſe his doings? do not my words do good to him that walketh uprightly?

8 Even of late my people is riſen up as an enemy: ye pull off the robe with the garment from them that paſs by ſecurely, as men averſe from war.

9 The women of my people have ye caſt out from their pleaſant houſes; from their children have ye taken away my glory for ever.

10 Ariſe ye, and depart; for this is not your reſt: becauſe it is polluted, it ſhall deſtroy you even with a ſore deſtruction.

11 If a man walking in the ſpirit and falſehood do lye, ſaying, I will propheſy unto thee of wine and of ſtrong drink, he ſhall even be the prophet of this people.

12 ¶ I will ſurely aſſemble, O Jacob, all of thee: I will ſurely gather the remnant of Iſrael, I will put them together as the ſheep of Bozrah, as the flock in the midſt of their fold: they ſhall make great noiſe by reaſon of the multitude of men.

13 The breaker is come up before them: they have broken up, and have paſſed through the gate, and are gone out by it: and their king ſhall paſs before them, and the LORD on the head of them.

CHAP. III.

1 The cruelty of the princes. 5 The falſhood of the prophets. 8 The ſecurity of them both.

AND I ſaid, Hear, I pray you, O heads of Jacob, and ye princes of the houſe of Iſrael: Is it not for you to know judgement?

2 Who hate the good, and love the evil; who pluck off their ſkin from off them, and their fleſh from off their bones;

3 Who alſo eat the fleſh of my people, and flay their ſkin from off them, and they break their bones, and chop them in pieces as for the pot, and as fleſh within the caldron.

4 Then ſhall they cry unto the LORD, but thoſe whoſe thoughts are big with miſchief, ſo that they contrive ſchemes of wickedneſs upon their beds, in order to put them in practice when they riſe in the morning. Lowth.

5 Thou ſhalt have none that ſhall caſt a cord by lot.] Iſrael were the Lord's people, and he divided their land among them by lot: but the prophet declares they ſhall be utterly expelled out of it, and ſent captives into a foreign country. Lowth.

7 Is the ſpirit of the Lord ſtraitened?] Is the hand of the Lord ſhortened? Are the judgments he brings upon you the genuine effects of his power and goodneſs? Are they not rather the ſtripes which your ſins in a manner compel him to lay on you? Certainly both his laws, and meſſages ſent to you by his prophets, would turn to your good, if you would obey them.

8 Ye pull off the robe, &c.] Theſe words allude to the Iſraelites invading the land of Judah, which had given them no provocation.

9 The women of my people, &c.] This relates to the abovementioned invaſion, when the Iſraelites carried away captive of their brethren, two hundred thouſand women, ſons and daughters, 2 Chron. xxviii 8.

10 Ariſe ye, and depart, for this is not your reſt.] The prophet ſtill directs his diſcourſe to the Iſraelites that invaded Judea; and tells them, that, as a puniſhment for their oppreſſing their brethren, they ſhould be carried captive out of their land, where God had promiſed to give them reſt.

11 If a man walking in the ſpirit and falſhood, &c.] The meaning is, if a prophet pretend to foretel all manner of plenty and proſperity, he ſhall be hearkened to by this people, though it be never ſo unlikely to come to paſs.

12 I will ſurely gather the remnant of Iſrael.] Here follows a promiſe of mercy, ſuch as is often ſubjoined to the threatnings of impending judgments.

As the ſheep of Bozrah.] Bozrah was a place in Idumea, remarkable for its large flocks of ſheep. Lowth.

13 The breaker is come up, &c.] i. e. He that ſhall break the bonds of their captivity.

Their king ſhall paſs before them, and the Lord on the head of them.] The Meſſiah, who is both their God and their king, ſhall lead them as their captain and general. Lowth.

Notes

he will not hear them: he will even hide his face from them at that time, as they have behaved themselves ill in their doings.

5 ¶ Thus saith the LORD concerning the prophets that make my people err, that bite with their teeth, and cry, Peace; and he that putteth not into their mouths, they even prepare war against him:

6 Therefore night shall be unto you, that ye shall not have a vision; and it shall be dark unto you, that ye shall not divine; and the sun shall go down over the prophets, and the day shall be dark over them.

7 Then shall the seers be ashamed, and the diviners confounded; yea, they shall all cover the lips, for there is no answer of God.

8 ¶ But truly I am full of power by the Spirit of the LORD, and of judgement, and of might, to declare unto Jacob his transgression, and to Israel his sin.

9 Hear this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Jacob, and princes of the house of Israel, that abhor judgement, and pervert all equity.

10 They build up Zion with blood, and Jerusalem with iniquity.

11 The heads thereof judge for reward, and the priests thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof divine for money: yet will they lean upon the LORD, and say, Is not the LORD among us? none evil can come upon us.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be plowed as a field, and Jerusalem shall become heaps, and the mountain of the house as the high places of the forest.

CHAP. IV.

1 The glory, 3 peace, 8 kingdom, 11 and victory of the church.

BUT in the last days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the house of the LORD shall be established in the top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills; and people shall flow unto it.

2 And many nations shall come, and say, Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, and to the house of the God of Jacob, and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for the law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.

3 ¶ And he shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plow-shares, and their spears into pruning-hooks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.

4 But they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig-tree; and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the LORD of hosts hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walk every one in the name of his god, and we will walk in the name of the LORD our God for ever and ever.

6 In that day, saith the LORD, will I assemble her that halteth, and I will gather

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 6. Night shall be unto you.] As ye have loved darkness, and to prophesy lies, God shall reward you with blindness and ignorance.

The sun shall go down over the prophets, and the day shall be dark over them.] As they shall have no light or revelation from heaven, so dark days or dismal calamities shall overtake them, as a just punishment for their frauds and impostures. Lowth.

7 They shall cover their lips.] Men used to cover their mouths when they were under any great affliction.

8 I am full of power by the spirit of the Lord.] I, who am a true prophet, and moved by the spirit of God, have the honesty and courage to reprove the crying sins of the nation, though practised and encouraged by the greatest men; contrary to the base flatterings of the false prophets.

11 The priests teach for hire.] It was the duty of the priests to instruct the people, as well as to attend upon the service of the temple; and accordingly they had cities allotted them in all parts of Judea: but not content with that plentiful revenue which the law allowed them, they made a corrupt gain of their office, and sold their instructions for money. Lowth.

12 Zion shall be plowed as a field.] Which was fulfilled in the final destruction of the city and temple by the Romans.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the last days.] i. e. In the times of the Messiah. See Isaiah ii. 2.

That the mountain of the house of the Lord.] The temple standing on mount Moriah, is often called God's holy mountain; and from thence the phrase is taken to denote the Christian church, in the prophetical writings.

3 He shall judge among many people—and they shall beat their swords into plow-shares, &c.] This text is parallel to another in Isaiah. See note on Isaiah, ii. 4. It is observable that our Saviour was born at a time when there was peace over all the earth; Augustus having put an end to the civil wars, had shut up the temple of Janus, in token of his having procured a settled peace. Lowth.

4 Every man under his vine, &c.] See 1 Kings, iv. 25.

5 We will walk in the name of the Lord.] i. e. We will continue stedfast in his true religion and worship. Clark.

her that is driven out, and her that I have afflicted:

7 And I will make her that halted, a remnant, and her that was cast far off, a strong nation; and the LORD shall reign over them in mount Zion from henceforth even for ever.

8 ¶ And thou, O tower of the flock, the strong hold of the daughter of Zion, unto thee shall it come, even the first dominion: the kingdom shall come to the daughter of Jerusalem.

9 Now why dost thou cry out aloud? is there no king in thee? is thy counseller perished? for pangs have taken thee as a woman in travail.

10 Be in pain, and labour to bring forth, O daughter of Zion, like a woman in travail: for now shalt thou go forth out of the city, and thou shalt dwell in the field, and thou shalt go even to Babylon: there shalt thou be delivered; there the LORD shall redeem thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 ¶ Now also many nations are gathered against thee, that say, Let her be defiled, and let our eye look upon Zion.

12 But they know not the thoughts of the LORD, neither understand they his counsel: for he shall gather them as the sheaves into the floor.

13 Arise, and thresh, O daughter of Zion: for I will make thine horn iron, and I will make thy hoofs brass; and thou shalt beat in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their gain unto the LORD, and their substance unto the Lord of the whole earth.

CHAP. V.

1 The birth of Christ. 4 His kingdom. 8 His conquest.

NOW gather thy self in troops, O daughter of troops: he hath laid siege against us; they shall smite the judge of Israel with a rod upon the cheek.

2 But thou, Beth-lehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me, that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting.

3 Therefore will he give them up until the time that she which travaileth hath brought

---

7 I will make her that halted, a remnant.] To this remnant many promises are made, which may, in some degree, be applied to the state of the Jews, after their return from captivity; but are chiefly to be understood of those who were to be called by the gospel, when the main body of the Jewish nation were rejected. Lowth.

Her that was cast far off, a strong nation.] The Jews, when they return from their several dispersions, shall be victorious over all their enemies.

The Lord shall reign over them in mount Zion, &c.] God will dwell and reign among his saints in the new Jerusalem that comes down from heaven; and then the kingdoms of the earth shall become the kingdoms of the Lord and his Christ, and he shall reign for ever and ever. Rev.

8 O tower of the flock, the strong hold of the daughter of Zion, unto thee shall it come, even the first dominion, &c.] The church, of which the earthly Jerusalem was but a figure, shall be the seat of this sovereign dominion, which God shall render conspicuous to the whole earth. The Chaldee paraphrast expounds the words of the Messiah, in whom the ancient kingdom is revived, i. e. the kingdom of David the Bethlemite: it is called the tower of the flock, because the shepherds there watched their sheep, being situated near Bethlehem. Lowth.

9 Why dost thou cry out aloud? is there no king in thee?] Why dost thou cry out as if God himself thy king, and thy counsellor, had forsaken thee?

13 Arise and thresh, O daughter of Zion; for I will make thine horn iron, and thy hoofs brass.] The expression alludes to the manner of treading out the corn in the eastern countries, which was done by the feet of oxen.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now gather thyself in troops, O daughter of troops, &c.] This verse is to be understood of some foreign invasion of Judea by a nation that had numerous troops; and may relate to the conquest of that kingdom by the Babylonians.

2 Thou, Beth-lehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah] Among the Jews were appointed captains and governors over fifties and hundreds, and thousands, and therefore Lamy thinks the sense here is, though Beth-lehem is not considerable enough to be reckoned among those cities that are governed by chiliarchs, yet, &c. Ephratah was another name for Beth-lehem in the tribe of Judah; and both names are joined together to distinguish it from another Beth-lehem in the tribe of Zebulon. Both the house and city of David were reduced to a mean condition, at the time of our Saviour's birth; and therefore the blessed virgin, in her song, thankfully commemorates the extraordinary favour of the most High, in honouring that low estate to which they were reduced, with the birth of the Messiah.

Yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me, that is to be ruler in Israel.] The Scribes and Pharisees understood this prophecy of the birth of the Messiah, as is plain from Matt. ii. 5, 6. as did also the generality of the Jews of that age, who speak of it as an undoubted truth, that Christ was to come of the seed of David, and of the town of Beth-lehem, where David was, John vii. 42. The Chaldee paraphrast agrees with their sentiments, and applies this prophecy expressly to the Messiah. Accordingly our blessed Saviour was, by a peculiar act of Providence, born at Beth-lehem, that this prophecy might be plainly fulfilled. Lowth.

Whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting.] These words plainly allude to the divine nature of our blessed Saviour, as existing from all eternity.

3 Therefore will he give them up, until the time that, &c.] The particle rendered therefore, should have been translated nevertheless: the sense of the passage is as follows: Notwithstanding the forth; then the remnant of his brethren ſhall return unto the children of Iſrael.

4 ¶ And he ſhall ſtand and feed in the ſtrength of the LORD, in the majeſty of the name of the LORD his God; and they ſhall abide: for now ſhall he be great unto the ends of the earth.

5 And this man ſhall be the peace, when the Aſſyrian ſhall come into our land: and when he ſhall tread in our palaces, then ſhall we raiſe againſt him ſeven ſhepherds, and eight principal men:

6 And they ſhall waſte the land of Aſſyria with the ſword, and the land of Nimrod in the entrances thereof: thus ſhall he deliver us from the Aſſyrian, when he cometh into our land, and when he treadeth within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Jacob ſhall be in the midſt of many people as a dew from the LORD, as the ſhowers upon the graſs, that tarrieth not for man, nor waiteth for the ſons of men.

8 ¶ And the remnant of Jacob ſhall be among the Gentiles in the midſt of many people as a lion among the beaſts of the foreſt, as a young lion among the flocks of ſheep: who, if he go through, both treadeth down, and teareth in pieces, and none can deliver.

9 Thine hand ſhall be lifted up upon thine adverſaries, and all thine enemies ſhall be cut off.

10 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the LORD, that I will cut off thy horſes out of the midſt of thee, and I will deſtroy thy chariots:

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land and throw down all thy ſtrong holds:

12 And I will cut off witchcrafts out of thine hand; and thou ſhalt have no more ſoothſayers:

13 Thy graven images alſo will I cut off, and thy ſtanding images out of the midſt of thee; and thou ſhalt no more worſhip the work of thine hands:

14 And I will pluck up thy groves out of the midſt of thee; ſo will I deſtroy thy cities.

15 And I will execute vengeance in anger and fury upon the heathen, ſuch as they have not heard.

CHAP. VI.

1 God's controverſy for unkindneſs, 6 for ignorance, 10 for injuſtice, 16 and for idolatry.

HEAR ye now what the LORD ſaith; Ariſe, contend thou before the mountains, and let the hills hear thy voice.

2 Hear ye, O mountains, the LORD's controverſy, and ye foundations of the earth: for the LORD hath a controverſy with his people, and he will plead with Iſrael.

3 O my people, what have I done unto thee? and wherein have I wearied thee? teſtify againſt me.

4 For I brought thee up out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the houſe of ſervants; and I ſent before thee Moſes, Aaron, and Miriam.

the promiſe of ſo great a bleſſing, God will give up his people into the hands of their enemies, or leave them to be exerciſed with troubles and afflictions till the appointed time of their deliverance arrives, which ſhall be much greater than that from Babylon.

4 He ſhall ſtand and feed in the ſtrength of the Lord, &c.] Chriſt ſhall diligently perform the office of a ſhepherd, or governor over his church; and it ſhall appear by the ſucceſs which attends him, that God is with him, and is glorified in and by him.

5 This man ſhall be the peace.] This title is peculiar to the Meſſiah, and is mentioned as a bleſſing attending his kingdom.

When the Aſſyrian ſhall come into our land, &c.] The very name of Aſſyrian carried terror with it, ever ſince the time of the invaſion of Senacherib, who was eſteemed the moſt formidable enemy of the Jews; and therefore the prophet uſed the name here, to ſignify that ſome remarkable enemy to God and his truth ſhould be deſtroyed before the conſummation of all things. Lowth.

6 Seven ſhepherds, and eight principal men.] Or rulers: ſhepherds are equivalent to princes; ſeven and eight are uſed as an indefinite number.

7 The remnant of Jacob ſhall be in the midſt of many people, as a dew from the Lord.] The remnant of Iſrael ſhall be the inſtruments of converting thoſe Gentiles among whom they live; and therefore may be very properly repreſented by the dews and rains which come from heaven, and render the earth fruitful. Lowth.

10 I will cut off thine horſes, &c.] I will deſtroy all things wherein thou putteſt thy confidence.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Ariſe, contend thou before the mountains, &c.] God often appeals to inanimate objects for the juſtice of his proceedings, in order to upbraid the ſtupidity of men. Lowth.

5 O my people, remember, &c.] Remember how Balak ſent for Balaam to curſe Iſrael, and he, contrary to his own intentions, bleſſed them.

Gilgal; that ye may know the righteousness of the LORD.

6 ¶ Wherewith shall I come before the LORD, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt-offerings, with calves of a year old?

7 Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousands of rivers of oil? shall I give my first-born for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good: and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?

9 The LORD's voice crieth unto the city, and the man of wisdom shall see thy name: hear ye the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 ¶ Are there yet the treasures of wickedness in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

11 Shall I count them pure with the wicked balances, and with the bag of deceitful weights?

12 For the rich men thereof are full of violence, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lyes, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sick in smiting thee, in making thee desolate because of thy sins.

14 Thou shalt eat, but not be satisfied; and thy casting down shall be in the midst of thee: and thou shalt take hold, but shalt not deliver: and that which thou deliverest will I give up to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sow, but thou shalt not reap: thou shalt tread the olives, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oil; and sweet wine, but shalt not drink wine.

16 ¶ For the statutes of Omri are kept, and all the works of the house of Ahab, and ye walk in their counsels: that I should make thee a desolation, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall bear the reproach of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 The church complaining of her small number, 3 and the general corruption, 5 putteth her confidence in God.

WO is me! for I am as when they have gathered the summer-fruits, as the grape-gleanings of the vintage: there is no cluster to eat: my soul desired the first-ripe fruit.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none upright among men: they they all lie in wait for blood; they hunt every man his brother with a net.

3 ¶ That they may do evil with both hands earnestly, the prince asketh, and the judge asketh for a reward; and the great man he uttereth his mischievous desire: so they wrap it up.

4 The best of them is as a brier, the most upright is sharper than a thorn-hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation cometh: now shall be their perplexity.

5 ¶ Trust ye not in a friend, put ye not confidence in a guide: keep the doors of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosom.

6 For the son dishonoureth the father, the 6 Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow myself before the high God? &c.] After the above reproof of the people's ingratitude, they are introduced by the prophet, as anxiously inquisitive how they may propitiate the displeasure of God, and avert his judgments: they declare themselves ready to offer any expiatory sacrifices, however costly, for that purpose. Representing exactly the temper of hypocrites and habitual sinners, who hope to obtain God's favour, by performing the external duties of religion; and are willing to purchase their own pardon upon any terms, except that of reforming their lives. Lowth.

7 Ten thousands of rivers of oil.] Septuagint reads, Fat kids.

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, &c.] Both the dictates of reason, and the laws of God, sufficiently inform men what are the substantial parts of their duty: namely, the practice of justice and mercy, a reverend behaviour towards God, and a looking up to him as their Lord and Maker. This is an infinitely more acceptable service, than the most costly sacrifice. Lowth.

14 Thy casting down shall be in the midst of thee.] The miseries that bring thee low shall be like an incurable disease in thy bowels.

16 The statutes of Omri, &c.] It is said of Omri, that he did worse than all that were before him, 1 Kings, xvi. 25. And Ahab added the worship of Baal to the idolatry of the golden calves.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo is me, for I am as when they have gathered the summer-fruits.] Good men are become exceeding scarce like a gleaning after the harvest or vintage.

4 The best of them is as a briar, &c.] Sinners are elsewhere compared to thorns and briars, both on account of their unfruitfulness, and their hurtful qualities.

daughter riſeth up againſt her mother, the daughter-in-law againſt her mother-in-law: a man's enemies are the men of his own houſe.

7 Therefore I will look unto the LORD; I will wait for the God of my ſalvation: my God will hear me.

8 Rejoice not againſt me, O mine enemy: when I fall, I ſhall ariſe; when I ſit in darkneſs, the LORD ſhall be a light unto me.

9 I will bear the indignation of the LORD, becauſe I have ſinned againſt him, until he plead my cauſe, and execute judgement for me: he will bring me forth to the light, and I ſhall behold his righteouſneſs.

10 Then ſhe that is mine enemy ſhall ſee it, and ſhame ſhall cover her; which ſaid unto me, Where is the LORD thy God? mine eyes ſhall behold her: now ſhall ſhe be troden down as the mire of the ſtreets.

11 In the day that thy walls are to be built, in that day ſhall the decree be far removed.

12 In that day alſo he ſhall come even to thee from Aſſyria, and from the fortified cities, and from the fortreſs even to the river, and from ſea to ſea, and from mountain to mountain.

13 Notwithſtanding, the land ſhall be deſolate, becauſe of them that dwell therein, for the fruit of their doings.

14 Feed thy people with thy rod, the flock of thine heritage, which dwell ſolitarily in the wood, in the midſt of Carmel: let them feed in Baſhan and Gilead, as in the days of old.

15 According to the days of thy coming out of the land of Egypt will I ſhew unto him marvellous things.

16 The nations ſhall ſee, and be confounded at all their might: they ſhall lay their hand upon their mouth, their ears ſhall be deaf.

17 They ſhall lick the duſt like a ſerpent, they ſhall move out of their holes like worms of the earth: they ſhall be afraid of the LORD our God, and ſhall fear becauſe of thee.

18 Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and paſſeth by the tranſgreſſion of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, becauſe he delighteth in mercy.

19 He will turn again, he will have compaſſion upon us; he will ſubdue our iniquities; and thou wilt caſt all their ſins into the depths of the ſea.

20 Thou wilt perform the truth to Jacob, and the mercy to Abraham, which thou haſt ſworn unto our fathers from the days of old.

---

10 She that is mine enemy.] The Babyloniſh empire.

11 In the day that thy walls are to be built, in that day ſhall the decree be far removed.] When God ſhall viſit his people, and repair their decayed eſtate, then the tyrannical edicts of their perſecutors ſhall be utterly aboliſhed.

12 He ſhall come unto thee from Aſſyria, &c.] The Chaldee paraphraſe reads, He ſhall come unto thee from Aſſyria, even to the cities of Egypt, and from Egypt even to the river, i. e. the Euphrates. The words imply, that the Jews ſhall return from their ſeveral diſperſions.

13 Notwithſtanding the land, &c.] The margin is better ſenſe, After that the land hath been deſolate, &c.

14 Feed thy people with thy rod, &c.] Margin reads, Rule thy people.] Theſe words contain the prophet's earneſt prayer to God, that he would ſend the Meſſiah to perform the office of the good ſhepherd, in feeding and protecting his flock the remnant of the true Iſraelites.

15 According to the days, &c.] Theſe words contain God's promiſe to be favourable to his people.

16 The nations ſhall ſee, and be confumed at all their might.] The heathen ſhall feel the ſame confuſion, as men do under a great diſappointment, when they ſhall ſee that power defeated which they had gathered together to oppoſe the people of God, and hinder them from enjoying the quiet poſſeſſion of their land. Lowth.

17 They ſhall lick the duſt like a ſerpent.] They ſhall be humble and ſubmiſſive, and ready to fall down at their feet.

18 Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and paſſeth by the tranſgreſſion of the remnant of his heritage?] The remnant of God's heritage are thoſe Jews who are reſerved to be partakers of the benefits which ſhall be made good to that nation, upon their being converted and reſtored to their own land. Lowth.

NAHUM.

THE ARGUMENT.

There is no certain character of the time of Nahum's prophecy, except that it muſt be before the deſtruction of Nineveh, which it foretels. This once famous city was taken by Nebuchodonoſer and Aſſuerus, who are ſuppoſed to be the ſame as Nebupolaſſar, father of Nebuchadnezzar and Cyaxares, ſee Dan. ch. ix. 1. in the year of the world 3378, and 622 before Chriſt: about the 29*th year of the reign of king* Joſiah, and the 24*th before the deſtruction of* Jeruſalem. Dr. Lowth on Hebrew poetry obſerves, that none of the minor prophets ſeem to equal Nahum in ſublimity, and boldneſs of ſpirit: beſides, his prophecy is a compleat and juſt poem: The exordium is magnificent; and the deſcription of the fall of Nineveh is painted in the moſt glowing colours, and has an admirable effect.

CHAP. I.

The majeſty of God in goodneſs to his people, and ſeverity againſt his people.

THE burden of Nineveh: the book of the viſion of Nahum the Elkoſhite.

2 God is jealous, and the LORD revengeth; the LORD revengeth, and is furious; the LORD will take vengeance on his adverſaries, and he reſerveth wrath for his enemies.

3 The LORD is ſlow to anger, and great in power, and will not at all acquit the wicked: the LORD hath his way in the whirlwind and in the ſtorm, and the clouds are the duſt of his feet.

4 He rebuketh the ſea, and maketh it dry, and drieth up all the rivers: Baſhan languiſheth, and Carmel, and the flower of Lebanon languiſheth.

5 The mountains quake at him, and the hills melt, and the earth is burned at his preſence, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

6 Who can ſtand before his indignation? and who can abide in the fierceneſs of his anger? his fury is poured out like fire, and the rocks are thrown down by him.

7 The LORD is good, a ſtrong hold in the day of trouble; and he knoweth them that truſt in him.

8 But with an over-running flood he will make an utter end of the place thereof, and darkneſs ſhall purſue his enemies.

9 What do ye imagine againſt the LORD? he will make an utter end: affliction ſhall not riſe up the ſecond time.

10 For while they be folden together as thorns, and while they are drunken as drunkards, they ſhall be devoured as ſtubble fully dry.

11 There is one come out of thee that imagineth evil againſt the LORD, a wicked counſeller.

12 Thus ſaith the LORD; Though they be quiet, and likewiſe many, yet thus ſhall they be cut down, when he ſhall paſs through. Though I have afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now will I break his yoke from off thee, and will burſt thy bonds in ſunder.

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 2 God is jealous, and the Lord revengeth.] As God is very jealous of his honour, ſo he will not fail to execute his judgments on thoſe that offend him.

3 The Lord hath his way in the whirlwind, and in the ſtorm, and the clouds are the duſt of his feet.] A lofty deſcription of the appearance of God, alluding to his deſcent on mount Sinai, when darkneſs and tempeſts ſurrounded him. Lowth.

4 He rebuketh the ſea, and maketh it dry.] The rivers and the ſea itſelf are dried up at his rebuke, as the Red-Sea and Jordan were of old.

10 Drunken as drunkards.] Diodorus Siculus relates, that Nineveh was aſſaulted while the inhabitants were feaſting in the night, and quite negligent and drunken. Newton.

14 And the LORD hath given a commandment concerning thee, that no more of thy name be ſown: out of the houſe of thy gods will I cut off the graven image and the molten image: I will make thy grave; for thou art vile.

15 Behold upon the mountains the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publiſheth peace: O Judah, keep thy ſolemn feaſts, perform thy vows: for the wicked ſhall no more paſs through thee; he is utterly cut off.

CHAP. II.

The fearful and victorious armies of God againſt Nineveh.

HE that daſheth in pieces is come up before thy face: keep the munition, watch the way, make thy loins ſtrong, fortify thy power mightily.

2 For the LORD hath turned away the excellency of Jacob, as the excellency of Iſrael: for the emptiers have emptied them out, and marred their vine-branches.

3 The ſhield of his mighty men is made red, the valiant men are in ſcarlet: the chariots ſhall be with flaming torches in the day of his preparation, and the fir-trees ſhall be terribly ſhaken.

4 The chariots ſhall rage in the ſtreets, they ſhall juſtle one againſt another in the broad ways: they ſhall ſeem like torches, they ſhall run like the lightnings.

5 He ſhall recount his worthies: they ſhall ſtumble in their walk; they ſhall make haſte to the wall thereof, and the defence ſhall be prepared.

6 The gates of the rivers ſhall be opened, and the palace ſhall be diſſolved.

7 And Huzzab ſhall be led away captive, ſhe ſhall be brought up, and her maids ſhall lead her as with the voice of doves, tabering upon their breaſts.

8 But Nineveh is of old like a pool of water: yet they ſhall flee away. Stand, ſtand, ſhall they cry; but none ſhall look back.

9 Take ye the ſpoil of ſilver, take the ſpoil of gold; for there is none end of the ſtore, and glory out of all the pleaſant furniture.

10 She is empty, and void, and waſte: and the heart melteth, and the knees ſmite together, and much pain is in all loins, and the faces of them all gather blackneſs.

11 Where is the dwelling of the lions, and the feeding-place of the young lions, where the lion, even the old lion, walked, and the lion's whelp, and none made them afraid?

12 The lion did tear in pieces enough for his whelps, and ſtrangled for his lioneſſes, and

---

14 No more of thy name ſhall be ſown.] This is ſpoken of Senacherib, who ſhall have no more children.

15 Behold upon the mountains, &c.] See Iſaiah, ch. lii. and vii. Lamy looks upon this paſſage as a prophecy of our Saviour.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 He that daſheth in pieces is come up before thy face.] An enemy that will break down thy walls, and deſtroy thine inhabitants, O Nineveh, is come to beſiege thee. Lowth.

2 The Lord hath turned away the excellency of Jacob, as the excellency of Iſrael.] The paſſage might have been better tranſlated, The Lord hath returned, or will revenge the pride againſt Jacob, and the pride againſt Iſrael; i. e. the Lord will requite the injuries and oppreſſions which Senacherib and Salmaneſer, the kings of Aſſyria, exerciſed upon Judah and Iſrael.

The emptiers have emptied them out, and marred their vine-branches.] The Aſſyrian conquerors have plundered all their wealth, and bereaved them of their children, who are often in ſcripture compared to branches. Lowth.

3 The fir-trees ſhall be terribly ſhaken.] i. e. The ſpears and lances made of fir, which were ſo long and large, that they looked like ſo many trees.

4 They ſhall ſeem like torches, they ſhall run like lightnings.] They ſhall reſemble flames or lightning in their ſwiftneſs, and their wheels continually ſtriking fire out of the ſtones and pavements of the ſtreets. See chap. iii. 2.

5 They ſhall ſtumble.] Through drunkenneſs.

6 The gates of the rivers.] It ſhould be tranſlated, The mouth of the river Tigris. Eſſay for a New Tranſlation.

7 Huzzab ſhall be led away captive.] The word Huzzab imports an impregnable fortreſs; and therefore very juſtly repreſents Nineveh, the fortifications of which were remarkably ſtrong.

Her maids ſhall lead her as with the voice of doves, tabering upon their breaſts.] Nineveh is deſcribed as a great princeſs carried away captive, with her maids of honour attending her, and bewailing both her's and their own condition, by beating their breaſts, and other expreſſions of lamentation. Her maids denote the leſſer cities of the Aſſyrian kingdom, that ſhould ſhare with the capital in the ſame calamities. The ſentiment here is evidently the ſame, as the Latin, Greek, and Chaldee verſions give it, That the maids of her that was led away captive ſhould mourn as doves, and beat upon their breaſts, as perſons in the utmoſt diſtreſs: tabering was certainly very injudiciouſly put for ſmiting, which is the word in the Geneva Bible. Pilkington.

11, 12 Where is the dwelling-place of the lion, and the feeding-place of the young lions?] What is become of the ſtately palaces of the king and princes of Nineveh, who, like ſo many lions, preyed upon the neighbouring countries, and enriched their cities with the ſpoil they took from others? Lowth.

filled his holes with prey, and his dens with ravin.

13 Behold, I am againſt thee, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, and I will burn her chariots in the ſmoke, and the ſword ſhall devour thy young lions: and I will cut off thy prey from the earth, and the voice of thy meſſengers ſhall no more be heard.

CHAP. III.

The miſerable ruin of Nineveh.

WO to the bloody city! it is all full of lyes and robbery; the prey departeth not.

2 The noiſe of a whip, and the noiſe of the rattling of the wheels, and of the prancing horſes, and of the jumping chariots.

3 The horſeman lifteth up both the bright ſword and the glittering ſpear: and there is a multitude of ſlain, and a great number of carcaſes: and there is none end of their corpſes; they ſtumble upon their corpſes:

4 Becauſe of the multitude of the whoredoms of the well-favoured harlot, the miſtreſs of witchcrafts, that ſelleth nations through her whoredoms, and families through her witchcrafts.

5 Behold, I am againſt thee, ſaith the LORD of hoſts: and I will diſcover thy ſkirts upon thy face, and I will ſhew the nations thy nakedneſs, and the kingdoms thy ſhame.

6 And I will caſt abominable filth upon thee, and make thee vile, and will ſet thee as a gazing-ſtock.

7 And it ſhall come to paſs, that all they that look upon thee ſhall flee from thee, and ſay, Nineveh is laid waſte: who will bemoan her? whence ſhall I ſeek comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better than populous No, that was ſituate among the rivers, that had the waters round about it, whoſe rampart was the ſea, and her wall was from the ſea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her ſtrength, and it was infinite; Put and Lubim were thy helpers.

10 Yet was ſhe carried away, ſhe went into captivity: her young children alſo were daſhed in pieces at the top of all the ſtreets: and they caſt lots for her honourable men, and all her great men were bound in chains.

11 Thou alſo ſhalt be drunken: thou ſhalt be hid, thou alſo ſhalt ſeek ſtrength becauſe of the enemy.

12 All thy ſtrong holds ſhall be like fig-trees with the firſt ripe figs: if they be ſhaken, they ſhall even fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Behold, thy people in the midſt of thee are women: the gates of thy land ſhall be ſet wide open unto thine enemies: the fire ſhall devour thy bars.

14 Draw thee waters for the ſiege, fortify thy ſtrong holds: go into clay, and tread the morter, make ſtrong the brick-kiln.

15 There ſhall the fire devour thee; the ſword ſhall cut thee off, it ſhall eat thee up like the canker-worm: make thy ſelf many as the canker-worm, make thy ſelf many as the locuſts.

16 Thou haſt multiplied thy merchants above the ſtars of heaven: the canker-worm ſpoileth, and fleeth away.

17 Thy crowned are as the locuſts, and thy captains are as the great graſshoppers, which camp in the hedges in the cold day, but when the ſun ariſeth they flee away, and their place is not known where they are.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wo to the bloody city, &c.] Where the great men ſhed innocent blood to enrich themſelves with the ſpoil of the ſlain.

4 The miſtreſs of witchcrafts.] Luxury is called witchcraft, becauſe it has a ſort of charm to faſcinate others.

Families.] Families are here equivalent to kingdoms.

7 Who will bemoan her? &c.] The paſſage alludes to the lamentations made at funerals, performed by perſons hired for that purpoſe. The ſenſe of the words is, that if we ſeek for any mourners to perform this office over Nineveh, none will be found to undertake the taſk; every one rejoicing over her deſtruction. Lowth.

8 Art thou better than populous No?] A celebrated city in Egypt, ſuppoſed to be the ſame with Thebes: See Ezek. ch. xxx. 15. This famous city was ſacked, and its inhabitants made captives, as the prophet obſerves in the following verſes.

14 Tread the morter, make ſtrong the brick-kiln.] In thoſe countries they uſed brick inſtead of ſtone.

17 Thy crowned are as the locuſts, &c.] The word rendered crowned, properly ſignifies the Nazarites, a title often given to perſons remarkable for their youth and beauty; and therefore may not improperly be applied to the officers in the Ninevites army: theſe the prophet compares to locuſts and graſshoppers, both for their number, and becauſe they ſhun the heat of battle, as graſshoppers do the heat of the ſun. Lowth.

19 Thy

18 Thy ſhepherds ſlumber, O king of Aſſyria: thy nobles ſhall dwell in the duſt: thy people is ſcattered upon the mountains, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy bruiſe; thy wound is grievous: all that hear the bruit of thee: for upon whom hath not thy wickedneſs paſſed continually.

19 The bruit of thee.] The rumour; ſee Jer. x. 22.

HABAKKUK.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Habakkuk was probably cotemporary with Jeremiah, and propheſied in the reign of Joſiah; for they both foretold the deſtruction of Judah and Jeruſalem by the Chaldeans, for their heinous ſins and provocations. The third chapter is a ſong or prayer to God, whoſe majeſty the prophet deſcribes with the utmoſt grandeur and ſublimity of expreſſion.

CHAP. I.

1 Unto Habakkuk complaining of the iniquity of the land, 5 is ſhewed the fearful vengeance by the Chaldeans.

THE burden which Habakkuk the prophet did ſee.

2 O LORD, how long ſhall I cry, and thou wilt not hear! even cry out unto thee of violence, and thou wilt not ſave!

3 Why doſt thou ſhew me iniquity, and cauſe me to behold grievance? for ſpoiling and violence are before me: and there are that raiſe up ſtrife and contention.

4 Therefore the law is ſlacked, and judgement doth never go forth: for the wicked doth compaſs about the righteous; therefore wrong judgement proceedeth.

5 ¶ Behold ye among the heathen, and regard, and wonder marvelouſly: for I will work a work in your days, which ye will not believe though it be told you.

6 For lo, I raiſe up the Chaldeans, that bitter and haſty nation, which ſhall march through the breadth of the land to poſſeſs the dwelling-places that are not their's.

7 They are terrible and dreadful: their judgement and their dignity ſhall proceed of themſelves.

8 Their horſes alſo are ſwifter than the leopards, and are more fierce than the evening wolves: and their horſemen ſhall ſpread themſelves, and their horſemen ſhall come from far; they ſhall fly as the eagle that haſteth to eat.

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 How long ſhall I cry unto—thee of violence, &c.] The prophet here propoſes the common objections againſt Providence, drawn from the proſperity of the wicked, and the oppreſſion of the righteous, which have proved a ſtumbling-block even to good men. Lowth.

5 Behold ye among the heathen, and regard, and wonder marvelouſly.] Or, as the words might be rendered, Behold ye deſpiſers, and wonder and periſh. For a puniſhment to ſuch exorbitant practices, behold God will make the heathen, viz. the Chaldeans, the inſtruments of his vengeance: this is a judgment you deſpiſers of God's prophets will hardly credit, becauſe, at preſent, the Chaldeans are your friends and confederates. Lowth.

8 Their horſes are ſwifter than leopards, &c.] The hyperbole appears here in its full ſtrength and beauty.

9 Their

9 They ſhall come all for violence: their faces ſhall ſup up as the eaſt-wind, and they ſhall gather the captivity as the ſand.

10 And they ſhall ſcoff at the kings, and the princes ſhall be a ſcorn unto them: they ſhall deride every ſtrong hold; for they ſhall heap duſt and take it.

11 Then ſhall his mind change, and he ſhall paſs over, and offend, imputing this his power unto his god.

12 Art thou not from everlaſting, O LORD my God, mine Holy one? we ſhall not die. O LORD, thou haſt ordained them for judgement; and, O mighty God, thou haſt eſtabliſhed them for correction.

13 Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canſt not look on iniquity: wherefore lookeſt thou upon them that deal treacherouſly, and holdeſt thy tongue when the wicked devoureth the man that is more righteous than he?

14 And makeſt men as the fiſhes of the ſea? as the creeping things, that have no ruler over them.

15 They take up all of them with the angle, they catch them in their net, and gather them in their drag: therefore they rejoice and are glad.

16 Therefore they ſacrifice unto their net, and burn incenſe unto their drag; becauſe by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore empty their net, and not ſpare continually to ſlay the nations?

CHAP. II.

1 Unto Habakkuk, waiting for an anſwer, is ſhewed that he muſt wait by faith. 5 The judgement upon the Chaldeans.

I Will ſtand upon my watch, and ſet me upon the tower, and will watch to ſee what he will ſay unto me, and what I ſhall anſwer when I am reproved.

2 And the LORD anſwered me, and ſaid, Write the viſion, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it.

3 For the viſion is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it ſhall ſpeak, and not lye: though it tarry, wait for it; becauſe it will ſurely come, it will not tarry.

4 Behold his ſoul which is lifted up is not upright in him: but the juſt ſhall live by his faith.

5 ¶ Yea alſo, becauſe he tranſgreſſeth by wine, he is a proud man, neither keepeth at home, who enlargeth his deſire as hell, and is as death, and cannot be ſatisfied, but gathereth unto him all nations, and heapeth unto him all people:

6 Shall not all theſe take up a parable againſt him, and a taunting proverb againſt him, and ſay, Wo to him that encreaſeth that which is not his! how long? and to him that ladeth himſelf with thick clay!

7 Shall they not riſe up ſuddenly that ſhall bite thee, and awake that ſhall vex thee, and thou ſhalt be for booties unto them?

8 Becauſe thou haſt ſpoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people ſhall ſpoil thee;

9 Their faces ſhall ſup up as the eaſt-wind.] They ſhall deſtroy every thing where they march, as the eaſt-wind blaſts the fruits of the earth. Our tranſlation is an unaccountable expreſſion: the Syriac is much better, Their aſpect is very fierce; and the Latin, Their faces are a burning wind.

12 Art not thou from everlaſting?—we ſhall not die.] Thou that liveſt for ever, and whoſe word is as unchangeable as thyſelf, wilt preſerve us from utter deſtruction. Lowth.

14 Makeſt men as the fiſhes, &c.] Suffereſt the Chaldeans to treat them no better than fiſhes, who become a prey to the net.

16 They ſacrifice to their net, &c.] They impute all their victories to their own ſtrength and ſkill.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 I will ſtand upon my watch, &c.] Alluding to the buſineſs of a watchman in time of war, who was to obſerve from an eminence what meſſengers were coming, and to publiſh the meſſage as ſoon as poſſible.

2 Write the viſion, and make it plain upon tables, &c.] This viſion being of great importance, is ordered by God to be written in ſuch legible characters as were uſed in public tables, hung up in temples and market-places, that every perſon might read the contents. Lowth.

3 It will not tarry.] The biſhops Bible reads, It will not ſtay, i. e. though it is ſlow in coming it will not ſtand ſtill, but will come at its appointed time.

6 Wo to him that increaſeth that which is not his: how long?] Wo to him that is continually increaſing his own dominions by invading his neighbours; ſurely he will not continue long to do ſo, without ſome remarkable check from Providence; ſo then what he increaſeth will not be for himſelf, but for others, namely, the Medes and Perſians, who ſhall conquer him, and enrich themſelves with his ſpoil. Lowth.

Thick clay.] His gold and ſilver, which was originally nothing but earth or clay.

becauſe of men's blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein.

9 Wo to him that coveteth an evil covetouſneſs to his houſe that he may ſet his neſt on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil!

10 Thou haſt conſulted ſhame to thy houſe, by cutting off many people, and haſt ſinned againſt thy ſoul.

11 For the ſtone ſhall cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the timber ſhall anſwer it.

12 Wo to him that buildeth a town with blood, and ſtabliſheth a city by iniquity!

13 Behold, is it not of the LORD of hoſts, that the people ſhall labour in the very fire, and the people ſhall weary themſelves for very vanity?

14 For the earth ſhall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the ſea.

15 Wo unto him that giveth his neighbour drink! that putteſt thy bottle to him, and makeſt him drunken alſo, that thou mayeſt look on their nakedneſs!

16 Thou art filled with ſhame for glory: drink thou alſo, and let thy foreſkin be uncovered: the cup of the LORD's right hand ſhall be turned unto thee, and ſhameful ſpewing ſhall be on thy glory.

17 For the violence of Lebanon ſhall cover thee, and the ſpoil of beaſts, which made them afraid, becauſe of men's blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the graven image, that the maker thereof hath graven it? the molten image, and a teacher of lyes, that the maker of his work truſteth therein, to make him dumb idols?

19 Wo unto him that ſaith to the wood, Awake; to the dumb ſtone, Ariſe, it ſhall teach! Behold, it is laid over with gold and ſilver, and there is no breath at all in the midſt of it.

20 But the LORD is in his holy temple: let all the earth keep ſilence before him.

CHAP. III.

1 Habakkuk in his prayer trembleth at God's majeſty. 17 The confidence of his faith.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the prophet upon Shigionoth.

2 O LORD, I have heard thy ſpeech, and was afraid: O LORD, revive thy work in the midſt of the years, in the midſt of the years make known: in wrath remember mercy.

3 God came from Teman, and the Holy One from mount Paran. Selah. His glory covered the heavens, and the earth was full of his praiſe.

4 And his brightneſs was as the light; he had horns coming out of his hand: and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the peſtilence, and burning coals went forth at his feet.

6 He ſtood, and meaſured the earth: he be-

11 The ſtone ſhall cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the timber ſhall anſwer it.] The houſes and towns which have been deſtroyed by the Chaldeans ſhall cry for vengeance againſt the deſtroyers. Lowth.

15 That thou mayeſt look on their nakedneſs.] The king of Babylon intoxicated the minds of his neighbours by the arts of policy, in order to diſcover the weakneſs of their government, called the nakedneſs of the land, that he might deſtroy them.

17 The violence of Lebanon ſhall cover thee.] God ſhall execute his vengeance upon thee for the violence thou haſt offered to the temple at Jeruſalem.

20 The Lord is in his holy temple.] God hath his throne in heaven, the place of his peculiar reſidence.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 A prayer of Habakkuk the prophet upon Shigionoth.] Or, according to the tunes called in Hebrew, ſigionoth, which were muſical compoſitions uſed in the ſervice of the temple. Lowth.

2 O Lord, I have heard thy ſpeech and was afraid, &c.] I have heard, O Lord, what thou haſt revealed unto me concerning thy judgments upon this people: the terribleneſs of them ſtrikes me with a reverential awe; yet I earneſtly beg of thee, if it be thy gracious will, to exert thy power, and renew thy former wonders for the deliverance of thy people, before the ſeventy years determined for their captivity be expired, and, in the midſt of judgment, to remember mercy. Lowth.

3 God came from Teman, and the holy One from mount Paran, &c.] The prophet, to encourage the faithful ſtill to truſt in God, recounts ſome of the remarkable acts his protection afforded their fore-fathers in the wilderneſs, where they were deſtitute of all viſible means of ſuſtaining themſelves. Lowth.

4 His brightneſs was as the light, &c.] This verſe may be better rendered thus, His brightneſs was as the ſun; the ſplendors iſſuing forth from his hand, for there was the manifeſtation of his power. Kennicott.

5 Burning coals.] The margin reads better, burning diſeaſes, Deut. xxxii. 24.

6 He drove as under the nations.] He ſcattered the former inhabitants of Canaan, and gave their land to the Iſraelites.

held, and drove aſunder the nations; and the everlaſting mountains were ſcattered, the perpetual hills did bow: his ways are everlaſting.

7 I ſaw the tents of Cuſhan in affliction: and the curtains in the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the LORD diſpleaſed againſt the rivers? was thine anger againſt the rivers? was thy wrath againſt the ſea, that thou didſt ride upon thine horſes, and thy chariots of ſalvation?

9 Thy bow was made quite naked, according to the oaths of the tribes, even thy word. Selah. Thou didſt cleave the earth with rivers.

10 The mountains ſaw thee, and they trembled: the overflowing of the water paſſed by: the deep uttered his voice, and lifted up his hands on high.

11 The ſun and moon ſtood ſtill in their habitation: at the light of thine arrows they went, and at the ſhining of thy glittering ſpear.

12 Thou didſt march through the land in indignation, thou didſt threſh the heathen in anger.

13 Thou wenteſt forth for the ſalvation of thy people, even for ſalvation with thine anointed: thou woundedſt the head out of the houſe of the wicked, by diſcovering the foundation unto the neck. Selah.

14 Thou didſt ſtrike through with his ſtaves the head of his villages: they came out as a whirlwind to ſcatter me: their rejoicing was as to devour the poor ſecretly.

15 Thou didſt walk through the ſea with thine horſes, through the heap of great waters.

16 When I heard, my belly trembled; my lips quivered at the voice: rottenneſs entred into my bones, and I trembled in my ſelf, that I might reſt in the day of trouble: when he cometh up unto the people, he will invade them with his troops.

17 ¶ Although the fig-tree ſhall not bloſſom, neither ſhall fruit be in the vines; the labour of the olive ſhall fail, and the fields ſhall yield no meat; the flock ſhall be cut off from the fold, and there ſhall be no herd in the ſtalls:

18 Yet I will rejoice in the LORD, I will joy in the God of my ſalvation.

19 The Lord GOD is my ſtrength, and he will make my feet like hinds feet, and he will make me to walk upon mine high places. To the chief ſinger on my ſtringed inſtruments.

---

7 The tents of Cuſhan.] Not Ethiopians, as generally interpreted, but Arabians.

9 Thy bow was made quite naked, according to the oaths of the tribes, even thy word.] In cardinal Barberini's copy this verſe runs thus, When thou wenteſt forward thy bow was ready bent; thou didſt ſatiate the arrows of thy quiver: which is much better ſenſe.

11 At the light of thine arrows they went.] The margin reads, Thine arrows walked in the light, &c. which Mr. Hervey thus paraphraſes, In the light thy arrows walked on their lawful errand; in the clear ſhining of the day, lengthened out for this purpoſe, thy glittering ſpear, launched by thy people, but guided by thy hand, ſprung on its prey.

16 That I might reſt in the day of trouble, &c.] Or, as Noldius renders the paſſage, Yet I ſhall reſt in the day of trouble, when he ſhall come up againſt the people, even he who ſhall invade them with his troops. The prophet ſpeaks in the perſon of the pious man, comforting himſelf with the aſſurance, that he ſhould reſt ſecurely under the Divine Protection, when the Chaldean army invaded Judea.

17 Although the fig-tree, &c.] An ingenious friend of mine has happily introduced this beautiful paſſage in an excellent Poem on Truſt in God, which the reader will be pleaſed to ſee.

Although the promis'd fruit ſhould fail the vine,
The fig-tree ſicken, and its bloom decline;
The labour of the olive be in vain,
And flocks infected periſh on the plain;
Tho' corn, and oil, and wine at once decreaſe,
The fields grown barren, and the harveſts ceaſe;
Tho' baffled hinds their fruitleſs toil deplore,
And vales unchearful laugh and ſing no more;
Yet ſtill with gladneſs will I ſerve the Lord,
Adore his wiſdom, and obey his word.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Zephaniah lived in the reign of Josiah, as he himself informs us, and prophesied chiefly against Judah, which continued very corrupt, notwithstanding the king's pious zeal for reformation, and the good example he gave to his subjects. The stile of this prophet resembles that of Jeremiah, of whom St. Isidore observes, he seems to be the abbreviator.

CHAP. I.

God's severe judgement against Judah for divers sins.

THE word of the LORD which came unto Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hizkiah, in the days of Josiah the son of Amon king of Judah.

2 I will utterly consume all things from off the land, saith the LORD.

3 I will consume man and beast; I will consume the fowls of the heaven, and the fishes of the sea, and the stumbling-blocks with the wicked; and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the LORD.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the priests;

5 And them that worship the host of heaven upon the house-tops; and them that worship and that swear by the LORD, and that swear by Malcham;

6 And them that are turned back from the LORD; and those that have not sought the LORD, nor enquired for him.

7 Hold thy peace at the presence of the Lord GOD: for the day of the LORD is at hand: for the LORD hath prepared a sacrifice, he hath bid his guests.

8 And it shall come to pass in the day of the LORD's sacrifice, that I will punish the princes, and the king's children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparel.

9 In the same day also will I punish all those that leap on the threshold, which fill their masters houses with violence and deceit.

10 And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the LORD, that there shall be the noise of a cry from the fish-gate, and an howling from the second, and a great crashing from the hills.

11 Howl, ye inhabitants of Maktesh, for all the merchant people are cut down; all they that bear silver are cut off.

12 And it shall come to pass at that time, that I will search Jerusalem with candles, and punish the men that are settled on their lees;

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 2, 3 I will utterly consume all things from off the land, &c.] A general desolation is threatened by enumerating the particulars that shall be involved in it, Hosea iv. 3. Stumbling-blocks are idols.

5 That swear by the Lord, &c] That join the worship of idols to that of the true God.

7 Hold thy peace at the presence of the Lord God, &c.] Keep silence in token of an awful reverence towards God, for he is coming to execute his judgments upon the land; nor murmur at his corrections which thy sins so justly deserve.

8 In the day of the Lord's sacrifice, &c.] A Cambridge MS has this remarkable reading, And it shall come to pass in that day, saith Jehovah, that I will visit the princes, &c. Kennicott.

9 In the same day also will I punish all those that leap on the threshold.] Rather, that leap over the threshold. The expression probably alludes to some idolatrous rite, like that practised by the Philistines in the temple of their god Dagon, where the priests did not tread upon the threshold, 1 Sam. v. 5. And accordingly the Chaldee paraphrast interprets it of those who observe the rites of the Philistines.

Which fill their master's houses.] Septuagint, Which fill the Lord's house.

11 Howl, ye inhabitants of Maktesh.] A part of Jerusalem; the Chaldee understands it of those who dwelt near the brook Kidron.

12 That are settled on their lees.] That live securely.

that ſay in their heart, The LORD will not do good, neither will he do evil.

13 Therefore their goods ſhall become a booty, and their houſes a deſolation: they ſhall alſo build houſes, but not inhabit them; and they ſhall plant vineyards, but not drink the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the LORD is near, it is near, and haſteth greatly, even the voice of the day of the LORD: the mighty man ſhall cry there bitterly.

15 That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and diſtreſs, a day of waſteneſs and deſolation, a day of darkneſs and gloomineſs, a day of clouds and thick darkneſs,

16 A day of the trumpet and alarm againſt the fenced cities and againſt the high towers.

17 And I will bring diſtreſs upon men, that they ſhall walk like blind men, becauſe they have ſinned againſt the LORD: and their blood ſhall be poured out as duſt, and their fleſh as the dung.

18 Neither their ſilver nor their gold ſhall be able to deliver them in the day of the LORD's wrath; but the whole land ſhall be devoured by the fire of his jealouſy: for he ſhall make even a ſpeedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

1 An exhortation to repentance. 4 The judgement of the Philiſtines, 8 of Moab and Ammon, 12 of Ethiopia and Aſſyria.

GAther yourſelves together, yea, gather together, O nation not deſired;

2 Before the decree bring forth, before the day paſs as the chaff, before the fierce anger of the LORD come upon you, before the day of the LORD's anger come upon you.

3 Seek ye the LORD, all ye meek of the earth, which have wrought his judgement; ſeek righteouſneſs, ſeek meekneſs: it may be ye ſhall be hid in the day of the LORD's anger.

4 ¶ For Gaza ſhall be forſaken, and Aſhkelon a deſolation: they ſhall drive out Aſhdod at the noon day, and Ekron ſhall be rooted up.

5 Wo unto the inhabitants of the ſea-coaſts, the nation of the Cherethites! the word of the LORD is againſt you; O Canaan, the land of the Philiſtines, I will even deſtroy thee, that there ſhall be no inhabitant.

6 And the ſea-coaſt ſhall be dwellings and cottages for ſhepherds, and folds for flocks.

7 And the coaſt ſhall be for the remnant of the houſe of Judah; they ſhall feed thereupon: in the houſes of Aſhkelon ſhall they lie down in the evening: for the LORD their God ſhall viſit them, and turn away their captivity.

8 ¶ I have heard the reproach of Moab, and the revilings of the children of Ammon, whereby they have reproached my people, and magnified themſelves againſt their border.

9 Therefore as I live, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Surely Moab ſhall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of nettles, and ſalt-pits, and a perpetual deſolation: the reſidue of my people ſhall ſpoil them, and the remnant of my people ſhall poſſeſs them.

10 This ſhall they have for their pride, becauſe they have reproached and magnified themſelves againſt the people of the LORD of hoſts.

11 The LORD will be terrible unto them: for he will famiſh all the gods of the earth; and men ſhall worſhip him, every one from his place, even all the iſles of the heathen.

12 ¶ Ye Ethiopians alſo, ye ſhall be ſlain by my ſword.

13 And he will ſtretch out his hand againſt the north, and deſtroy Aſſyria; and will make Nineveh a deſolation; and dry like a wilderneſs.

14 And flocks ſhall lie down in the midſt

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 O nation not deſired.] Or, as the words may be rendered, O nation that will not receive inſtruction, and cannot be amended but by the diſcipline of God's judgments.

5 The nation of the Cherethites.] The word is rendered Cretians by the LXX. They are ſuppoſed to have been a colony removed from Crete to Paleſtine. See 2 Sam. viii. 18.

9 The reſidue of my people ſhall ſpoil them, &c.] Judas Maccabæus and his brethren ſubdued the Ammonites. But this and the ſeventh verſe will receive their full completion at the general reſtoration of the Jews.

11 He will famiſh all the gods of the earth.] Will deprive them of their ſacrifices, which the Gentiles thought the food of their gods.

14 The cormorant and the bittern ſhall lodge in the upper lintels of it.] Theſe birds, which frequent deſolate places, ſhall take up their habitation in the ruinous ſtructures of that once flouriſhing city.

of her, all the beasts of the nations: both the cormorant and the bittern shall lodge in the upper lintels of it; their voice shall sing in the windows; desolation shall be in the thresholds: for he shall uncover the cedar-work.

15 This is the rejoicing city that dwelt carelessly, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none beside me: how is she become a desolation, a place for beasts to lie down in! every one that passeth by her shall hiss and wag his hand.

CHAP. III.

1 A sharp reproof of Jerusalem for divers sins. 8 An exhortation to wait for the restoration of Israel, 14 and to rejoice for their salvation by God.

WO to her that is filthy and polluted, to the oppressing city!

2 She obeyed not the voice, she received not correction: she trusted not in the LORD, she drew not near to her God.

3 Her princes within her are roaring lions; her judges are evening wolves, they gnaw not the bones till the morrow.

4 Her prophets are light and treacherous persons: her priests have polluted the sanctuary, they have done violence to the law.

5 The just LORD is in the midst thereof; he will not do iniquity: every morning doth he bring his judgement to light, he faileth not; but the unjust knoweth no shame.

6 I have cut off the nations: their towers are desolate; I made their streets waste, that none passeth by: their cities are destroyed, so that there is no man, that there is none inhabitant.

7 I said, Surely thou wilt fear me, thou wilt receive instruction; so their dwelling should not be cut off, howsoever I punished them: but they rose early, and corrupted all their doings.

8 ¶ Therefore wait ye upon me, saith the LORD, until the day that I rise up to the prey: for my determination is to gather the nations, that I may assemble the kingdoms, to pour upon them mine indignation, even all my fierce anger; for all the earth shall be devoured with the fire of my jealousy.

9 For then will I turn to the people a pure language, that they may all call upon the name of the LORD, to serve him with one consent.

10 From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia my suppliants, even the daughter of my dispersed, shall bring mine offering.

11 In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for all thy doings wherein thou hast transgressed against me: for then I will take away out of the midst of thee them that rejoice in thy pride, and thou shalt no more be haughty because of my holy mountain.

12 I will also leave in the midst of thee an afflicted and poor people, and they shall trust in the name of the LORD.

13 The remnant of Israel shall not do iniquity, nor speak lyes; neither shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth: for they shall feed and lie down, and none shall make them afraid.

14 ¶ Sing, O daughter of Zion; shout, O Israel; be glad and rejoice with all the heart, O daughter of Jerusalem.

15 The LORD hath taken away thy judgements, he hath cast out thine enemy: the

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 4 Her prophets are light and treacherous persons.] This is to be understood of the false prophets, who seduced the people by lying pretences to inspiration.

Her priests have polluted the sanctuary, &c.] They have presumed to attend upon my service in the temple, after they have polluted themselves with idolatry, and thereby have profaned my holy place.

5 Every morning doth he bring his judgments to light, &c.] He doth not fail to give us every day fresh evidences of his justice, though the wicked continue hardened in their sins. Lowth.

7 They rose and corrupted themselves.] They still increased their corruptions, notwithstanding all the advances king Josiah made towards a general reformation.

8 Wait ye upon me, saith the Lord, until the day that I rise up to the prey.] Notwithstanding these provocations, I exhort the godly among you to expect the accomplishment of the promises I have made of restoring the Jewish nation to my wonted favour, in the last ages of the world; in order to which, I will execute remarkable judgments upon the unbelievers and disobedient. Lowth.

10 From beyond the river of Ethiopia, &c.] The Jews, who are dispersed in the most distant countries, such as the farthest parts of Ethiopia, shall come into the Christian church, and there pay their adorations to the God of their fathers. Lowth.

13 They shall feed and lie down, &c.] Messiah, the great shepherd, shall feed and protect them.

14 Sing, O daughter of Zion, &c.] These hymns of joy properly belong to the times of the gospel.

King of Iſrael, even the LORD, is in the midſt of thee: thou ſhalt not ſee evil any more.

16 In that day it ſhall be ſaid to Jeruſalem, Fear thou not: and to Zion, Let not thine hands be ſlack.

17 The LORD thy God in the midſt of thee is mighty: he will ſave, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will reſt in his love, he will joy over thee with ſinging.

18 I will gather them that are ſorrowful for the ſolemn aſſembly, who are of thee, to whom the reproach of it was a burden.

19 Behold, at that time I will undo all that afflict thee: and I will ſave her that halteth, and gather her that was driven out; and I will get them praiſe and fame in every land where they have been put to ſhame.

20 At that time will I bring you again, even in the time that I gather you: for I will make you a name and a praiſe among all people of the earth, when I turn back your captivity before your eyes, ſaith the LORD.

16 Let not thine hands be ſlack.] The prophet here comforts thoſe whoſe ſpirits are ſunk under their former afflictions; and exhorts them to perform their duty with chearfulneſs and diligence, as being aſſured of the aſſiſtance and protection of God. Lowth.

17 He will reſt in his love.] Will take ſatisfaction in continuing his favour toward thee.

18 I will gather them that are ſorrowful for the ſolemn aſſembly, &c.] I will aſſemble thoſe Iſraelites who are diſperſed in their ſeveral captivities, who mourn for the loſs of the public aſſemblies, and are grieved at the reproaches of their enemies, who upbraided them as if they were utterly forſaken of God. Lowth.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGUMENT.

Of what family Haggai was is uncertain: He propheſied in the ſixth year of Darius Hyſtaſpes: the occaſion of this prophecy was the ſtop that was put to the building of the temple, after the foundation had been laid, according to the commandment of Cyrus, about ſeventeen years before.

CHAP. I.

1 Haggai reproving the people's negligence, 7 inciteth them to build the houſe, 12 and promiſeth God's aſſiſtance therein.

IN the ſecond year of Darius the king, in the ſixth month, in the firſt day of the month, came the word of the LORD by Haggai the prophet unto Zerubbabel the ſon of Shealtiel governor of Judah, and to Joſhua the ſon of Joſedech the high prieſt, ſaying,

2 Thus ſpeaketh the LORD of hoſts, ſaying, This people ſay, The time is not come, the time that the LORD's houſe ſhould be built.

3 Then came the word of the LORD by Haggai the prophet, ſaying,

4 Is it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your cieled houſes, and this houſe lie waſte?

5 Now therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Conſider your ways.

6 Ye have ſown much, and bring in little;

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 This people ſay, the time is not come—that the Lord's houſe ſhould be built.] They pretended they had not the encouragement and protection of the king of Perſia. This prophecy ſeems to have been delivered before Darius had granted his decree for building the temple. Lowth.

4 Is it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your cieled houſes? &c.] You complain of the times; yet they have not been ſo difficult, but you have found means to build fine houſes for yourſelves, though you are content to let the houſe of the moſt High lie in ruins.

5, 6 Ye have ſown much, and bring in little, &c.] Conſider both your ingratitude in neglecting to reſtore my houſe and worſhip, ye eat, but ye have not enough; ye drink, but ye are not filled with drink: ye clothe you, but there is none warm; and he that earneth wages, earneth wages to put it into a bag with holes.

7 ¶ Thus saith the LORD of hosts; Consider your ways.

8 Go up to the mountains, and bring wood, and build the house; and I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified, saith the LORD.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to little; and when ye brought it home, I did blow upon it. Why? saith the LORD of hosts. Because of mine house that is waste, and ye run every man unto his own house.

10 Therefore the heaven over you is stayed from dew, and the earth is stayed from her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought upon the land, and upon the mountains, and upon the corn, and upon the new wine, and upon the oil, and upon that which the ground bringeth forth, and upon men, and upon cattle, and upon all the labour of the hands.

12 ¶ Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua the son of Josedech the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him; and the people did fear before the LORD.

13 Then spake Haggai the LORD's messenger in the LORD's message unto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the LORD.

14 And the LORD stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the son of Josedech the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; and they came and did work in the house of the LORD of hosts their God;

15 In the four and twentieth day of the sixth month, in the second year of Darius the king.

CHAP. II.

1 He encourageth the people to the work by promise of greater glory to the second temple than was in the first. 10 He sheweth that their sins hindered the work. 20 God's promise to Zerubbabel.

IN the seventh month, in the one and twentieth day of the month, came the word of the LORD by the prophet Haggai, saying,

2 Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Josedech the high priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

3 Who is left among you that saw this house in her first glory? and how do ye see it now? is it not in your eyes in comparison of it as nothing?

4 Yet now be strong, O Zerubbabel, saith the LORD; and be strong, O Joshua son of Josedech the high priest; and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the LORD, and work: for I am with you, saith the LORD of hosts:

5 According to the word that I covenanted with you when ye came out of Egypt, so my Spirit remaineth among you; fear ye not.

6 For thus saith the LORD of hosts; Yet once, it is a little while, and I will shake the heavens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land;

7 And I will shake all nations, and the de-worship, and what you have acquired by your dealings; for none of your undertakings are successful: nor do you enjoy the fruits of your labour. Lowth.

He earneth wages to put it into a bag with holes.] His gains are followed by such losses, that they leave him no richer than he was before.

9 Ye run every man to his own house.] Ye make haste to build your own, and leave my house in ruins.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 3 Who is left among you that saw this house in her first glory, &c.] When the foundation of the house was laid in the second year of Cyrus, many of the ancient men, who had seen the first house, wept to see how much the latter temple would fall short of the glory of the first, Ezra iii. 12.

6 I will shake the heavens and the earth, &c.] The Hebrews have no word whereby to express the world, and therefore they do it by an enumeration of the principal parts of it. By this expression may be meant earthquakes; and the most terrible one they had ever known in Judea, was just before our Saviour's coming. Josephus.

7 The desire of all nations shall come.] Rather, the expectation: the Messiah shall come to this house; he that shall answer the desires of mankind, by supplying all those defects that hindered them in the performance of their duty. Such a guide as the wisest men among the heathens wished for, and whose coming was ſire of all nations ſhall come: and I will fill this houſe with glory, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

8 The ſilver is mine, and the gold is mine, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

9 The glory of this latter houſe ſhall be greater than of the former, ſaith the LORD of hoſts: and in this place will I give peace, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

10 ¶ In the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, in the ſecond year of Darius, came the word of the LORD by Haggai the prophet, ſaying,

11 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Aſk now the prieſts concerning the law, ſaying, 12 If one bear holy fleſh in the ſkirt of his garment, and with his ſkirt do touch bread, or pottage, or wine, or oil, or any meat, ſhall it be holy? And the prieſts anſwered, and ſaid, No.

13 Then ſaid Haggai, If one that is unclean by a dead body touch any of theſe, ſhall it be unclean? And the prieſts anſwered, and ſaid, It ſhall be unclean.

14 Then anſwered Haggai, and ſaid, So is this people, and ſo is this nation before me, ſaith the LORD, and ſo is every work of their hands: and that which they offer there is unclean.

15 And now, I pray you, conſider from this day and upward, from before a ſtone was laid upon a ſtone in the temple of the LORD:

16 Since thoſe days were when one came to an heap of twenty meaſures, there were but ten: when one came to the preſs-fat for to draw out fifty veſſels out of the preſs, there were but twenty.

17 I ſmote you with blaſting, and with mildew, and with hail, in all the labours of your hands; yet ye turned not to me, ſaith the LORD.

18 Conſider now from this day and upward, from the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, even from the day that the foundation of the LORD's temple was laid, conſider it.

19 Is the ſeed yet in the barn? yea, as yet the vine, and the fig-tree, and the pomegranate and the olive-tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bleſs you.

20 ¶ And again the word of the LORD came unto Haggai in the four and twentieth day of the month, ſaying,

21 Speak to Zerubbabel governor of Judah, ſaying, I will ſhake the heavens and the earth;

22 And I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will deſtroy the ſtrength of the kingdoms of the heathen; and I will overthrow the chariots, and thoſe that ride in them; and the horſes and their riders ſhall come down, every one by the ſword of his brother.

23 In that day, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my ſervant, the ſon of Shealtiel, ſaith the LORD, and will make thee as a ſignet: for I have choſen thee, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

was the hope of Iſrael, and completion of all the promiſes made to their fathers. Lowth.

I will fill this houſe with glory.] Though it wants the cloud of glory overſhadowing the mercy-ſeat, which was a ſymbol of the Divine Preſence peculiar to the temple of Solomon, yet I will honour this ſecond temple with a much greater glory, namely, the preſence of the Meſſiah, in whom ſhall dwell all the fullneſs of the godhead bodily. Lowth.

9 The glory of this latter houſe ſhall be greater than the former.] The glory of this ſecond temple ſhall exceed that of the former, not in riches or coſtly ornaments, but in this reſpect, that there the Prince of peace ſhall make his appearance, and there the goſpel of peace ſhall be publiſhed. If this Prince of peace is not likewiſe God himſelf, with what propriety can it be ſaid, that this latter houſe is more glorious than the former? ſince in the firſt the preſence of God was manifeſt by the appearance of the cloud; and the victims that were offered there were conſumed by fire which fell from heaven.

21, 22 I will ſhake the heavens and the earth, and I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, &c.] This prophecy plainly relates to the ſecond coming of the Meſſiah, or to that illuſtrious appearance of his kingdom, which ſhall put a period to the nations of the world, and the kingdoms of the earth ſhall become the kingdom of the Lord and his Chriſt. Lowth.

23 In that day---will I take thee, O Zerubbabel, my ſervant, &c.] I will inveſt thee with my power and authority, as the head of my church, and judge of the world. This could not be fulfilled in Zerubbabel, who did not, in all probability, live many years after the finiſhing of the temple; and conſequently could not ſee any of the great changes here foretold; the Meſſiah therefore muſt be here deſcribed under the name of Zerubbabel, as he is elſewhere under that of David. Lowth.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Zechariah prophesied at the same time with Haggai, some years before the return from the captivity; he was sent to the Jews on the same message, namely, to reprove them for their backwardness in erecting the temple, and restoring the divine worship; but especially for their disorderly lives and manners, which could not fail of calling down the judgements of God upon them. At the same time he endeavours, by several noble visions and types, to confirm their faith, and establish their assurance concerning the providence of God over them: and as a proof and demonstration of this, he interspersses the most comfortable promises of the coming, the kingdom, and the temple, the priesthood, and the glory of Christ, whom he stiles the Branch: nor does he forget to assure them of the ruin of Babylon, their most implacable enemy. He likewise foretels the successful propagation of the gospel; the wonderful efficacy of the Holy Spirit in those days; the rejection of the unbelieving Jews; the utter destruction of their city, temple, and whole nation by the Romans, for their crucifying the Messiah; and other particulars relating to the times of the gospel, which none of the lesser prophets before him mention. He is the most obscure of all the lesser prophets: his stile being interrupted, and without connection.

CHAP. I.

1 Zechariah exhorteth to repentance. 7 The vision of the horses. 12 Comfortable promises are made to Jerusalem.

IN the eighth month, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the LORD unto Zechariah the son of Barachiah the son of Iddo the prophet, saying,

2 The LORD hath been sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou unto them, Thus saith the LORD of hosts; Turn ye unto me, saith the LORD of hosts, and I will turn unto you, saith the LORD of hosts.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, unto whom the former prophets have cried, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts; Turn ye now from your evil ways, and from your evil doings; but they did not hear, nor hearken unto me, saith the LORD.

5 Your fathers, where are they? and the prophets, do they live for ever.

6 But my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants the prophets, did they not take hold of your fathers? and they returned, and said, Like as the LORD of hosts thought to do unto us, according to our ways and according to our doings, so hath he dealt with us.

7 ¶ Upon the four and twentieth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Sebat, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the LORD unto Zechariah the son of Barachiah the son of Iddo the prophet, saying,

8 I saw by night, and behold, a man riding

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 2 The Lord hath been sore displeased with your fathers.] Though God hath been justly displeased with your fathers, and punished them and their children with seventy years captivity, yet now he declares himself willing to be reconciled to you on your repentance. Lowth.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, &c.] Such exhortations, the former prophets, particularly Jeremiah, gave your fathers: do not imitate them in their obstinacy. Lowth.

5, 6 Your fathers, where are they? and the prophets, &c.] Though your fathers be dead, yet God's judgments in punishing them ought to be still before your eyes; and though the prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for ever.

8 I saw by night, and behold, a man riding on a red horse.] A red horse is an emblem of war and bloodshed. The man or angel riding upon him, denotes the Son of God, appearing as the captain of the armies of the Almighty.

upon a red horſe, and he ſtood among the myrtle-trees that were in the bottom; and behind him were there red horſes, ſpeckled, and white.

9 Then ſaid I, O my lord, what are theſe? And the angel that talked with me ſaid unto me, I will ſhew thee what theſe be.

10 And the man that ſtood among the myrtle-trees anſwered, and ſaid, Theſe are they whom the LORD hath ſent to walk to and fro through the earth.

11 And they anſwered the angel of the LORD that ſtood among the myrtle-trees, and ſaid, We have walked to and fro through the earth, and behold, all the earth ſitteth ſtill, and is at reſt.

12 ¶ Then the angel of the LORD anſwered and ſaid, O LORD of hoſts, how long wilt thou not have mercy on Jeruſalem and on the cities of Judah, againſt which thou haſt had indignation theſe threeſcore and ten years?

13 And the LORD anſwered the angel that talked with me with good words and comfortable words.

14 So the angel that communed with me, ſaid unto me, Cry thou, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; I am jealous for Jeruſalem and for Zion with a great jealouſy.

15 And I am very ſore diſpleaſed with the heathen that are at eaſe; for I was but a little diſpleaſed, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD: I am returned to Jeruſalem with mercies: my houſe ſhall be built in it, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, and a line ſhall be ſtretched forth upon Jeruſalem.

17 Cry yet, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; My cities through proſperity ſhall yet be ſpread abroad; and the LORD ſhall yet comfort Zion, and ſhall yet chooſe Jeruſalem.

18 ¶ Then I lifted up mine eyes, and ſaw, and behold, four horns.

19 And I ſaid unto the angel that talked with me, What be theſe? And he anſwered me, Theſe are the horns which have ſcattered Judah, Iſrael, and Jeruſalem.

20 And the LORD ſhewed me four carpenters.

21 Then ſaid I, What come theſe to do? And he ſpake, ſaying, Theſe are the horns which have ſcattered Judah, ſo that no man did lift up his head: but theſe are come to fray them, to caſt out the horns of the Gentiles, which lifted up their horn over the land of Judah to ſcatter it.

CHAP. II.

1 God in his care of Jeruſalem, ſendeth to meaſure it. 6 The redemption of Zion.

I Lifted up mine eyes again, and looked, and behold, a man with a meaſuring-line in his hand.

2 Then ſaid I, Whither goeſt thou? And he ſaid unto me, To meaſure Jeruſalem, to ſee what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And behold, the angel that talked with me went forth, and another angel went out to meet him,

4 And ſaid unto him, Run, ſpeak to this young man, ſaying, Jeruſalem ſhall be inhabited as towns without walls for the multitude of men and cattle therein.

He ſtood among the myrtle-trees that were in the bottom.] As if he and his companions were refreſhing themſelves in a ſhady valley, after the fatigues of war. The viſion denotes the peace that enſued after Darius had executed the vengeance of God upon the inhabitants of Babylon, and made himſelf maſter of their city.

Red horſes ſpeckled and white.] This denotes the various offices of his angels.

10 To walk to and fro, &c.] To theſe the Lord hath committed the adminiſtration of all human affairs.

15 I am very ſore diſpleaſed with the heathen that are at eaſe.] This may be underſtood of the Babylonians, Samaritans, and other neighbours of the Jews, who had not been made ſuch terrible examples of God's vengeance as the Jews. Lowth.

16 I am returned to Jeruſalem with mercies.] I will remove all former marks of my diſpleaſure, and cauſe the temple to be rebuilt in Jeruſalem for the place of my reſidence, which I had for ſome time forſaken.

A line ſhall be ſtretched.] In order to rebuild the ſtreets.

18 Behold, four horns.] The four horns may denote their enemies in general, among whom they were diſperſed to the four winds of heaven.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1, 2 Behold, a man with a meaſuring-line in his hand.] An angel in a human form, having a meaſuring-line in his hand to take the dimenſions of the city, in order to its being rebuilt.

4 Jeruſalem ſhall be inhabited as towns without walls, &c.] The inhabitants of Jeruſalem will multiply ſo faſt, that the houſes within the walls will not be ſufficient to contain them, and their cattle will increaſe in proportion. Lowth.

5 For I, ſaith the LORD, will be unto her a wall of fire round about, and will be the glory in the midſt of her.

6 ¶ Ho, ho, come forth, and flee from the land of the north, ſaith the LORD: for I have ſpread you abroad as the four winds of the heaven, ſaith the LORD.

7 Deliver thy ſelf, O Zion, that dwelleſt with the daughter of Babylon.

8 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; After the glory hath he ſent me unto the nations which ſpoiled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the apple of his eye.

9 For behold, I will ſhake mine hand upon them, and they ſhall be a ſpoil to their ſervants: and ye ſhall know that the LORD of hoſts hath ſent me.

10 Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion: for lo, I come, and I will dwell in the midſt of thee, ſaith the LORD.

11 And many nations ſhall be joined to the LORD in that day, and ſhall be my people: and I will dwell in the midſt of thee, and thou ſhalt know that the LORD of hoſts hath ſent me unto thee.

12 And the LORD ſhall inherit Judah his portion in the holy land, and ſhall chooſe Jeruſalem again.

13 Be ſilent, O all fleſh, before the LORD: for he is raiſed up out of his holy habitation.

CHAP. III.

Under the type of Joſhua, the reſtoration of the church is promiſed.

AND he ſhewed me Joſhua the high prieſt ſtanding before the angel of the LORD, and Satan ſtanding at his right hand to reſiſt him.

2 And the LORD ſaid unto Satan, The LORD rebuke thee, O Satan: even the LORD that hath choſen Jeruſalem, rebuke thee: is not this a brand plucked out of the fire?

3 Now Joſhua was clothed with filthy garments, and ſtood before the angel.

4 And he anſwered and ſpake unto thoſe that ſtood before him, ſaying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And unto him he ſaid, Behold, I have cauſed thine iniquity to paſs from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I ſaid, Let them ſet a fair miter upon his head. So they ſet a fair miter upon his head, and clothed him with garments. And the angel of the LORD ſtood by.

6 And the angel of the LORD proteſted unto Joſhua, ſaying,

7 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; If thou

5 I, the Lord, will be unto her a wall of fire round about.] I the Lord will defend her by my angels, as ſo many flames of fire ſurrounding her, and my ſpecial preſence ſhall be her protection. This prophecy will receive its utmoſt completion in the new Jeruſalem, when the glory of the Lord and the Lamb ſhall be the light thereof. Lowth.

6 Flee from the north.] He exhorts the Jews, who are in Babylon and the country adjacent, to return.

8 He that toucheth you, toucheth the apple of his eye.] God is very ſenſible of the injury offered to his people; it is like hurting the eye, which is the moſt tender and ſenſible part of the body. And though he made the Babylonians inſtruments of his vengeance, yet now he will call them to an account for exceeding their commiſſion. Lowth.

9 They ſhall be a ſpoil to their ſervants.] I will deliver them and their riches into the hand of the Perſians, who were formerly their ſervants.

11 Many nations ſhall be joined to the Lord in that day, &c.] The church ſhall be enlarged when, upon the converſion of the Jews, the fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall be brought in.

12 The Lord ſhall inherit Judah his portion in the holy land, &c.] God ſhall give viſible tokens that the land of Judah and its inhabitants are his peculiar people, according to that covenant he made with their fathers. Lowth.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 He ſhewed me Joſhua the high-prieſt, ſtanding before the Lord.] The angel that talked with me repreſented to me a new viſion, namely, that of Joſhua ſtanding before the angel of the Lord, that is, before the Son of the moſt High.

Satan ſtanding at his right hand to reſiſt him.] i. e. To be his accuſer, as he is ſtiled, Rev. xii. 10. ſo here he is repreſented as aggravating the faults of Joſhua, the repreſentative of the whole body of the Jews, in order to prevail on God to permit the Jews to be ſtill under the power of their adverſaries. It was the cuſtom in courts of judicature for the accuſed to ſtand at the right hand of the accuſer. As ſatan ſignifies any adverſary or falſe accuſer, and the viſion evidently relates to the rebuilding of the temple, may not ſome chief adverſary of the Jews be here meant, ſuch as Rehum, or Shimſhai? Ezra iv. 8.

2 The Lord ſaid unto Satan, &c.] The Son of God ſaid to ſatan, the Lord, even God the Father, rebuke thee, and not ſuffer thy miſchievous imaginations againſt Jeruſalem and the temple to proſper: he that hath choſen that place for his ſpecial reſidence. Lowth.

Is not this a brand plucked out of the fire?] Is not this ſmall remnant returned from captivity miraculouſly ſaved? And can it be thought that God will not preſerve them?

3 Joſhua was clothed with filthy garments.] Denoting the ſins of the people, of whom he was the repreſentative.

4 I will clothe thee with change of raiment.] In token of my pardoning the public and national ſins of the Jews, and that I will reſtore them to a more proſperous condition.

7 I will give thee places to walk among theſe that ſtand by.]

I will

wilt walk in my ways, and if thou wilt keep my charge, then thou ſhalt alſo judge my houſe, and ſhalt alſo keep my courts, and I will give thee places to walk among theſe that ſtand by.

8 Hear now, O Joſhua the high prieſt, thou, and thy fellows that ſit before thee: for they are men wondered at: for behold, I will bring forth my ſervant The BRANCH.

9 For behold, the ſtone that I have laid before Joſhua; upon one ſtone ſhall be ſeven eyes: behold, I will engrave the graving thereof, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, and I will remove the iniquity of that land in one day.

10 In that day, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, ſhall ye call every man his neighbour under the vine and under the fig-tree.

CHAP. IV.

1 By the golden candleſtick is foreſhewn the good ſucceſs of Zerubbabel's foundation. 11 By the two olive-trees, the two anointed ones.

AND the angel that talked with me came again, and waked me, as a man that is wakened out of his ſleep,

2 And ſaid unto me, What ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, I have looked, and behold, a candleſtick all of gold, with a bowl upon the top of it, and his ſeven lamps thereon, and ſeven pipes to the ſeven lamps which are upon the top thereof;

3 And two olive-trees by it, one upon the right ſide of the bowl, and the other upon the left ſide thereof.

4 So I anſwered, and ſpake to the angel that talked with me, ſaying, What are theſe my lord?

5 Then the angel that talked with me, anſwered and ſaid unto me, Knoweſt thou not what theſe be? And I ſaid, No my, lord.

6 Then he anſwered, and ſpake unto me, ſaying, This is the word of the LORD unto Zerubbabel, ſaying, Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

7 Who art thou, O great mountain? before Zerubbabel thou ſhalt become a plain: and he ſhall bring forth the head-ſtone thereof with ſhoutings, crying, Grace, grace unto it.

8 Moreover, the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this houſe; his hands ſhall alſo finiſh it: and thou ſhalt know that the LORD of hoſts hath ſent me unto you.

10 For who hath deſpiſed the day of ſmall things? for they ſhall rejoice, and ſhall ſee the plummet in the hand of Zerubbabel with thoſe ſeven; they are the eyes of the LORD, which run to and fro through the whole earth.

11 ¶ Then anſwered I, and ſaid unto him, What are theſe two olive-trees, upon the right ſide of the candleſtick, and upon the left ſide thereof?

I will hereafter give thee a place in heaven, among theſe angels my attendants, where thou ſhalt enjoy eternal happineſs.

8 I will bring forth my ſervant the Branch.] I will foretel the coming of the Meſſiah into the world, as a perſon altogether diſtinct from Joſhua, or any other preſent among you, and I will make him known to you under the name of the Branch: a title often given to the Meſſiah by the prophets, as deſcending from the ſtock of David. Lowth.

9 The ſtone that I have laid before Joſhua.] I have ordered a principal ſtone to be laid before Joſhua, denoting the Meſſiah, repreſented by the former prophets, as a corner-ſtone, a foundation elect and precious. Lowth.

Upon one ſtone ſhall be ſeven eyes: behold, I will engrave the graving thereof.] As it is uſual to adorn the principal ſtones of a building with carvings and hieroglyphics; ſo I will perform in reality, what artiſts do in imagery: I will appoint ſeven angels of the higheſt orders to attend upon the Meſſiah, repreſented by this corner-ſtone, to execute his commands in every part of the earth, for the good of his church. Lowth.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 2 I have looked, and behold, a candleſtick all of gold.] This repreſented the temple-ſervice, and the whole polity of the Jewiſh conſtitution, which depended on the reſtoration of the temple. Lowth.

3 Two olive-trees by it.] Which imperceptibly conveyed oil to ſupply the lamps.

6 Not by power but by my ſpirit.] Not by human power, but by the ſecret aſſiſtance of Providence, as the lamps are inviſibly ſupplied with oil.

7 Who art thou, O great mountain? before Zerubbabel thou ſhalt become a plain.] Removing mountains, is a proverbial expreſſion to denote our overcoming the greateſt difficulties: ſo the angel here encourages Zerubbabel to go on with his undertaking, aſſuring him that nothing ſhould withſtand him.

He ſhall bring forth the head-ſtone thereof with ſhoutings, &c.] He ſhall place the top or finiſhing ſtone upon the walls of the temple; which action, the ſpectators ſhall accompany with their wiſhes and prayers, that God's grace and favour may protect that holy place ſo happily brought to perfection. The head-ſtone myſtically repreſents the Meſſiah, and implies, that God ſhall bring him into the world as the finiſhing ornament and perfection of the church.

10 With thoſe ſeven, they are the eyes of the Lord, which run to and fro through the whole earth.] i. e. God hath ſeven eyes, meaning a continual providence.

12 The

12 And I answered again, and said unto him, What be these two olive-branches, which through the two golden pipes empty the golden oil out of themselves?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two anointed ones that stand by the LORD of the whole earth.

CHAP. V.

1 By the flying roll is shewed the curse of thieves and swearers. 5 Babylon's ruin.

THEN I turned, and lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, a flying roll.

2 And he said unto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying roll; the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof ten cubits.

3 Then said he unto me, This is the curse that goeth forth over the face of the whole earth: for every one that stealeth, shall be cut off as on this side, according to it; and every one that sweareth shall be cut off as on that side, according to it.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the LORD of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thief, and into the house of him that sweareth falsly by my name: and it shall remain in the midst of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and the stones thereof.

5 ¶ Then the angel that talked with me went forth, and said unto me, Lift up now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an ephah that goeth forth. He said moreover, This is their resemblance through all the earth.

7 And behold, there was lifted up a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the midst of the ephah.

8 And he said, This is Wickedness. And he cast it into the midst of the ephah; and he he cast the weight of lead upon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lifted I up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings; for they had wings like the wings of a stork: and they lifted up the ephah between the earth and the heaven.

10 Then said I to the angel that talked with me, Whither do these bear the ephah?

11 And he said unto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar: and it shall be established and set there upon her own base.

CHAP. VI.

1 The vision of the four chariots. 9 By the crowns of Joshua are shewed the temple and kingdom of Christ the Branch.

AND I turned, and lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there came four chariots out from between two mountains: and the mountains were mountains of brass.

2 In the first chariot were red horses; and in the second chariot, black horses;

---

12 The golden oil.] All translations but the English apply the epithet golden to the vessels.

14 These are the two anointed ones.] Namely, Zerubbabel and Joshua.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 A flying roll.] A roll of a book: it is described flying, to denote the swiftness of God's judgments.

3 Over the face of the whole earth.] Or rather, of the whole land, meaning the land of Judah.

Every one that stealeth.] That injures his neighbour, and transgresses the second table, or that sweareth, and transgresses the first table.

6 An Ephah.] About the size of a bushel; this being the measure of dry goods, denotes the Jews unjust dealings in buying and selling.

8 He said, this is wickedness, &c.] As corrupt societies are expressed by harlots, and women of lewd characters; so here the corrupt state of the Jews is figured by a wicked woman.

9 Two women.] Probably Assyria and Babylon; wind in their wings denotes their swift conquests; and lifting up the ephah, carrying the Jews into captivity.

11 To build it an house in the land of Shinar.] The removing the Jews to Babylon, was a proverbial expression for utter ruin and desolation.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 There came four chariots from between two mountains, &c.] The four chariots denote the four great empires, which subdued the principal part of the then known world. And they are represented as coming between two mountains, because mountains are the natural barriers, which divide kingdoms, which are here, though as strong as brass, supposed to be broken through by those that invade and conquer their neighbours. Lowth.

2 Red horses.] To signify the bloody cruelties of the Babylonish empire, especially towards the Jews.

Black horses.] The second chariot represented the Persian monarchy: black denotes the melancholy state of the Jews under the successors of Cyrus in the Persian empire, when their ene-

3 And in the third chariot, white horſes; and in the fourth chariot, griſled and bay horſes.

4 Then I anſwered, and ſaid unto the angel that talked with me, What are theſe, my lord?

5 And the angel anſwered and ſaid unto me, Theſe are the four ſpirits of the heavens, which go forth from ſtanding before the LORD of all the earth.

6 The black horſes which are therein go forth into the north-country; and the white go forth after them: and the griſled go forth toward the ſouth-country.

7 And the bay went forth, and ſought to go that they might walk to and fro through the earth: and he ſaid, Get ye hence, walk to and fro through the earth. So they walked to and fro through the earth.

8 Then cried he upon me, and ſpake unto me, ſaying, Behold, theſe that go toward the north-country have quieted my ſpirit in the north-country.

9 ¶ And the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

10 Take of them of the captivity, even of Heldai, of Tobijah, and of Jedaiah, which are come from Babylon, and come thou the ſame day, and go into the houſe of Joſiah the ſon of Zephaniah;

11 Then take ſilver and gold, and make crowns, and ſet them upon the head of Joſhua the ſon of Joſedech the high prieſt;

12 And ſpeak unto him, ſaying, Thus ſpeaketh the LORD of hoſts, ſaying, Behold, the man whoſe name is The BRANCH: and he ſhall grow up out of his place, and he ſhall build the temple of the LORD:

13 Even he ſhall build the temple of the LORD; and he ſhall bear the glory, and ſhall ſit and rule upon his throne; and he ſhall be a prieſt upon his throne: and the counſel of peace ſhall be between them both.

14 And the crowns ſhall be to Helem, and to Tobijah, and to Jedaiah, and to Hen the ſon of Zephaniah, for a memorial in the temple of the LORD.

15 And they that are far off ſhall come and build in the temple of the LORD, and ye ſhall know that the LORD of hoſts hath ſent me unto you. And this ſhall come to paſs if ye will diligently obey the voice of the LORD your God.

CHAP. VII.

1 The captives enquire of faſting. 4 Zechariah reproveth their faſting. 8 Sin, the cauſe of their captivity.

AND it came to paſs in the fourth year of king Darius, that the word of the LORD came unto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth month, even in Chiſleu;

2 When they had ſent unto the houſe of God Sherezer and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the LORD, mies forged calumnies againſt them, and thereby put a ſtop to the building of the temple, and the whole nation was on the point of being deſtroyed by the intereſt of Haman in the Perſian court. Lowth.

---

3 White horſes.] Signifying the victories of Alexander, the third great monarch, and his kindneſs to the Jews in confirming their religion, laws, and liberties.

Griſled and bay horſes.] This chariot denoted the Roman empire; and the various colours of the horſes, the various forms of the Roman government.

5 Theſe are the four ſpirits of the heavens.] The angels which preſide over theſe four monarchies, who receive their commiſſions from God to govern the affairs of theſe empires according to his direction.

6 The black horſes, &c.] Theſe may ſignify the Perſians that conquered the Babylonians; the white may ſignify Alexander, that conquered the Perſians; and the griſled the Romans; who ſubdued Egypt.

8 Have quieted my ſpirit.] Have appeaſed my wrath, by executing that vengeance upon the Babylonians, which they deſerved for their cruelty towards my people.

11 Make crowns, and ſet them upon the head of Joſhua, &c.] Two crowns of gold are ordered to be placed upon the head of Joſhua, to ſignify that the Meſſiah, the BRANCH, mentioned in the following verſe, of whom Joſhua was a type, ſhould be both a king and a prieſt, and therefore ſhould have a right to wear both theſe crowns. Lowth.

12 Behold the man, whoſe name is the BRANCH.] See in the perſon of Joſhua the high-prieſt, the type or repreſentation of the man whoſe name is the Meſſiah. Lowth.

He ſhall build the temple of the Lord.] Zerubbabel built the material temple; but the building of the ſpiritual, the church, was a work reſerved for the Meſſiah. Lowth.

13 He ſhall bear the glory, and ſhall ſit and rule upon his throne, and he ſhall be a prieſt upon his throne.] This is a plain deſcription of the Meſſiah, who was foretold to be both a king and a prieſt, who ſhould bear the glory of a king, and, at the ſame time, perform the office of a prieſt. Lowth.

The counſel of peace ſhall be between them both.] i. e. Between the BRANCH and Jehovah. Lud. de Dieu.

15 They that are far off ſhall come and build in the temple of the Lord.] The Gentiles ſhall be added to the church.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 In Chiſleu.] This month contains part of November and part of December.

2 When they had ſent into the houſe of God, Sherezer, &c.] Theſe probably

3 And to ſpeak unto the prieſts which were in the houſe of the LORD of hoſts, and to the prophets, ſaying, Should I weep in the fifth month, ſeparating my ſelf, as I have done theſe ſo many years?

4 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD of hoſts unto me, ſaying,

5 Speak unto all the people of the land, and to the prieſts, ſaying, When ye faſted and mourned in the fifth and ſeventh month, even thoſe ſeventy years, did ye at all faſt unto me, even to me?

6 And when ye did eat, and when ye did drink, did not ye eat for your ſelves, and drink for your ſelves?

7 Should ye not hear the words which the LORD hath cried by the former prophets, when Jeruſalem was inhabited and in proſperity, and the cities thereof round about her, when men inhabited the ſouth and the plain?

8 ¶ And the word of the LORD came unto Zechariah, ſaying,

9 Thus ſpeaketh the LORD of hoſts, ſaying, Execute true judgement, and ſhew mercy and compaſſions every man to his brother:

10 And oppreſs not the widow, nor the fatherleſs, the ſtranger, nor the poor; and let none of you imagine evil againſt his brother in your heart.

11 But they refuſed to hearken, and pulled away the ſhoulder, and ſtopped their ears, that they ſhould not hear.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant-ſtone, leſt they ſhould hear the law, and the words which the LORD of hoſts hath ſent in his Spirit by the former prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the LORD of hoſts.

13 Therefore it is come to paſs, that as he cried and they would not hear, ſo they cried and I would not hear, ſaith the LORD of hoſts:

14 But I ſcattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations whom they knew not. Thus the land was deſolate after them, that no man paſſed through nor returned: for they laid the pleaſant land deſolate.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Jeruſalem's reſtoration. 9 They are encouraged to the building by God's favour.

AGain the word of the LORD of hoſts came to me, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; I was jealous for Zion with great jealouſy, and I was jealous for her with great fury.

3 Thus ſaith the LORD; I am returned unto Zion, and will dwell in the midſt of Jeruſalem: and Jeruſalem ſhall be called, A city of truth; and the mountain of the LORD of hoſts, The holy mountain.

4 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; There ſhall yet old men and old women dwell in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, and every man with his ſtaff in his hand for very age.

5 And the ſtreets of the city ſhall be full of boys and girls playing in the ſtreets thereof.

6 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; If it be marvellous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in theſe days, ſhould it alſo be marvellous in mine eyes? ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

7 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Behold, I will ſave my people from the eaſt-country, and from the weſt-country;

8 And I will bring them, and they ſhall dwell in the midſt of Jeruſalem: and they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God in truth and in righteouſneſs.

probably were perſons of ſome note among the Jews that ſtill continued at Babylon, and either came of their own accord, or were ſent by the exiles there to the temple at Jeruſalem, to offer ſacrifices on the altar, and make prayers for themſelves and their friends in the temple, which was building with good ſucceſs. Lowth.

3 Should I weep in the fifth month?] Anſwering to our July; in this month the city and temple were burnt by the Chaldeans, on which account the Jews at Babylon had kept a ſolemn faſt: as likewiſe on the ſeventh month, for the murder of Gedaliah.

7 The ſouth and the plain.] The ſouth was the wilderneſs of Judea; and the plain, the plains of Jericho.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 2 I was jealous for Zion with great jealouſy.] I have had a great concern for the welfare of this city, and expreſſed it by the ſevere puniſhments I brought upon the Babylonians their oppreſſors.

3 Jeruſalem ſhall be called the city of truth.] Shall be again the ſeat of truth and juſtice, her magiſtrates being reſtored to execute their authority in the midſt of her.

7 From the eaſt-country, and from the weſt-country.] The original may be literally tranſlated, from the riſing to the going down of the ſun: i. e. from all parts of the world. This paſſage relates to the general reſtoration of the Jews from their ſeveral diſperſions.

9 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Let your hands be ſtrong, ye that hear in theſe days theſe words by the mouth of the prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the houſe of the LORD of hoſts was laid, that the temple might be built.

10 For before theſe days there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beaſt; neither was there any peace to him that went out, or came in, becauſe of the affliction: for I ſet all men every one againſt his neighbour.

11 But now I will not be unto the reſidue of this people as in the former days, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

12 For the ſeed ſhall be proſperous: the vine ſhall give her fruit, and the ground ſhall give her increaſe, and the heavens ſhall give their dew: and I will cauſe the remnant of this people to poſſeſs all theſe things.

13 And it ſhall come to paſs, that as ye were a curſe among the heathen, O houſe of Judah, and houſe of Iſrael; ſo will I ſave you, and ye ſhall be a bleſſing: fear not, but let your hands be ſtrong.

14 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; As I thought to puniſh you, when your fathers provoked me to wrath, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, and I repented not.

15 So again have I thought in theſe days to do well unto Jeruſalem and to the houſe of Judah: fear ye not.

16 Theſe are the things that ye ſhall do; Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbour; execute the judgement of truth and peace in your gates;

17 And let none of you imagine evil in your hearts againſt his neighbour; and love no falſe oath: for all theſe are things that I hate, ſaith the LORD.

18 And the word of the LORD of hoſts came unto me, ſaying,

19 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; The faſt of the fourth month, and the faſt of the fifth, and the faſt of the ſeventh, and the faſt of the tenth ſhall be to the houſe of Judah joy and gladneſs, and cheerful feaſts: therefore love the truth and peace.

20 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; It ſhall yet come to paſs, that there ſhall come people, and the inhabitants of many cities:

21 And the inhabitants of one city ſhall go to another, ſaying, Let us go ſpeedily to pray before the LORD, and to ſeek the LORD of hoſts: I will go alſo.

22 Yea, many people and ſtrong nations ſhall come to ſeek the LORD of hoſts in Jeruſalem, and to pray before the LORD.

23 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; In thoſe days it ſhall come to paſs, that ten men ſhall take hold out of all languages of the nations, even ſhall take hold of the ſkirt of him that is a Jew, ſaying, We will go with you; for we have heard that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 God defendeth his Church. 9 Zion is exhorted to rejoice for the coming of Chriſt.

THE burden of the word of the LORD in the land of Hadrach, and Damaſcus ſhall be the reſt thereof: when the eyes of man, as of all the tribes of Iſrael, ſhall be toward the LORD.

2 And Hamath alſo ſhall border thereby; Tyrus and Zidon, though it be very wiſe.

3 And Tyrus did build herſelf a ſtrong hold, and heaped up ſilver as the duſt, and fine gold as the mire of the ſtreets.

4 Behold, the Lord will caſt her out, and 10 There was no hire for man.] Or, reward; i. e. the fruits of the earth would not pay the labour of thoſe that manured it.

13 Ye were a curſe among the heathen.] A ſtanding monument of God's vengeance; ſo that the heathen uſed this as a common form of imprecation, God do ſo to me as he did to the Jews.

19 Love the truth and peace.] God values an upright converſation more than the exacteſt care of external performances. Theſe inſtructions prepared the minds of men for receiving the goſpel, whoſe laws chiefly recommend purity of heart and life.

23 Ten men---out of all languages of the nations, &c.] Chriſtians are ſometimes called by the name of Jews, as being thoſe to whom the promiſes made to the fathers of the Jewiſh nation chiefly belong: and, in this ſenſe, the word is here to be taken. The ſenſe of the paſſage therefore is, That the heathen ſhall apply themſelves to the Chriſtian miniſters for inſtruction, in order to qualify themſelves for being admitted into the church. Lowth.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the land of Hadrach.] Hadrach was ſome part of Syria, of which Damaſcus was the capital city.

2 Zidon, though it be very wiſe.] The Zidonians valued themſelves as being the firſt inventors of letters and the ſciences, and were famous for their ſkill in navigation. Lowth.

5 Aſh-

he will ſmite her power in the ſea; and ſhe ſhall be devoured with fire.

5 Aſhkelon ſhall ſee it, and fear; Gaza alſo ſhall ſee it, and be very ſorrowful, and Ekron; for her expectation ſhall be aſhamed; and the king ſhall periſh from Gaza, and Aſhkelon ſhall not be inhabited.

6 And a baſtard ſhall dwell in Aſhdod; and I will cut off the pride of the Philiſtines:

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abomnations from between his teeth: but he that remaineth, even he, ſhall be for our God, and he ſhall be as a governor in Judah, and Ekron as a Jebuſite.

8 And I will encamp about mine houſe, becauſe of the army, becauſe of him that paſſeth by, and becauſe of him that returneth: and no oppreſſor ſhall paſs through them any more: for now have I ſeen with mine eyes.

9 ¶ Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; ſhout, O daughter of Jeruſalem. Behold, thy King cometh unto thee: he is juſt, and having ſalvation; lowly, and riding upon an aſs, and upon a colt the fole of an aſs.

10 And I will cut off the chariot from Ephraim, and the horſe from Jeruſalem, and the battle-bow ſhall be cut off: and he ſhall ſpeak peace unto the heathen: and his dominion ſhall be from ſea even to ſea, and from the river even to the ends of the earth:

11 As for thee alſo, by the blood of thy covenant I have ſent forth thy priſoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turn ye to the ſtrong-hold, ye priſoners of hope: even to-day do I declare that I will render double unto thee:

13 When I have bent Judah for me, filled the bow with Ephraim, and raiſed up thy ſons, O Zion, againſt thy ſons O Greece, and made thee as the ſword of a mighty man:

14 And the LORD ſhall be ſeen over them, and his arrow ſhall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord GOD ſhall blow the trumpet, and ſhall go with whirlwinds of the ſouth.

15 The LORD of hoſts ſhall defend them: and they ſhall devour, and ſubdue with ſling-ſtones; and they ſhall drink, and make a noiſe as through wine; and they ſhall be filled like bowls, and as the corners of the altar.

16 And the LORD their God ſhall ſave them in that day as the flock of his people; for they ſhall be as the ſtones of a crown, lifted up as an enſign upon his land.

17 For how great is his goodneſs, and how great is his beauty! corn ſhall make the young men cheerful, and new wine the maids.

CHAP. X.

1 God is to be ſought unto, and not idols. 5 The reſtoration of Judah propheſied.

ASK ye of the LORD rain in the time of the latter rain; ſo the LORD ſhall make 5 Aſhkelon ſhall ſee it and fear, &c.] The cities of the Philiſtines, Aſhkelon, Gaza, and Ekron, ſhall be very much terrified at the news of Tyre's being deſtroyed, from whence they hoped for ſuccour againſt the enemy. Lowth.

The king ſhall periſh from Gaza.] That city was taken by Alexander after a ſiege of two months, 10,000 of the inhabitants being ſlain, and the governor dragged round the city till he expired.

6 A baſtard ſhall dwell in Aſhdod.] i. e. Aſhdod ſhall be inhabited by ſtrangers, or ſuch as were not natives of the place.

7 He that remaineth, even he ſhall be for our God.] Many of the Philiſtines became proſelytes to the Jewiſh religion.

8 I will encamp about mine houſe, becauſe of the army, &c.] During theſe commotions, the angels, ſtiled God's hoſt, ſhall encamp around the temple in Jeruſalem; and I will turn the heart of Alexander, that he ſhould ſhew favour towards the Jews, when he intended to humble them, and ſhall offer ſacrifices to me in my temple. Prideaux.

9 Behold, thy king cometh unto thee.] He, the Meſſiah, ſhall certainly come at the time appointed.

Riding upon an aſs, and upon a colt the fole of an aſs.] Or, even upon a colt the fole of an aſs; the copulative particle being ſometimes uſed by way of explanation. This prophecy was literally fulfilled by the bleſſed Jeſus, when he entered Jeruſalem ſitting on an aſs, affecting the primitive ſimplicity of the patriarchs and judges of old.

10 His dominion ſhall be from ſea even to ſea, &c.] A figurative deſcription of the kingdom of the Meſſiah, which, in the latter days, ſhall extend over all the earth. Lowth.

11 By the blood of thy covenant, I have ſent forth thy priſoner out of the pit, &c.] The words import the deliverance of mankind from the bondage of ſin and ſatan, by virtue of the covenant ſealed by the blood of Chriſt.

12 Turn ye to the ſtrong hold, ye priſoners of hope.] Ye that are under any bondage or oppreſſion, do not deſpair, but rely upon the promiſes of God for deliverance. Lowth.

I will render double unto thee.] I will make you abundant amends for all the evils ye have ſuffered.

17 Corn ſhall make the young man chearful, and new wine the maids.] New wine is put here for the grapes: the words may be underſtood to import that plenty which ſome of the prophets ſpeak of as a concomitant of the reign of the Meſſiah.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Aſk ye of the Lord rain in the time of the latter rain, &c.] The fulfilling of the promiſe of fruitful ſeaſons depends upon bright clouds, and give them ſhowers of rain, to every one graſs in the field.

2 For the idols have ſpoken vanity, and the diviners have ſeen a lye, and have told falſe dreams; they comfort in vain: therefore they went their way as a flock, they were troubled, becauſe there was no ſhepherd.

3 Mine anger was kindled againſt the ſhepherds, and I puniſhed the goats: for the LORD of hoſts hath viſited his flock the houſe of Judah, and hath made them as his goodly horſe in the battle.

4 Out of him came forth the corner, out of him the nail, out of him the battle-bow, out of him every oppreſſor together.

5 ¶ And they ſhall be as mighty men, which tread down their enemies in the mire of the ſtreets in the battle: and they ſhall fight, becauſe the LORD is with them, and the riders on horſes ſhall be confounded.

6 And I will ſtrengthen the houſe of Judah, and I will ſave the houſe of Joſeph, and I will bring them again to place them: for I have mercy upon them: and they ſhall be as though I had not caſt them off: for I am the LORD their God, and will hear them.

7 And they of Ephraim ſhall be like a mighty man, and their heart ſhall rejoice as through wine: yea, their children ſhall ſee it, and be glad; their heart ſhall rejoice in the LORD.

8 I will hiſs for them, and gather them: for I have redeemed them, and they ſhall increaſe as they have increaſed.

9 And I will ſow them among the people: and they ſhall remember me in far countries, and they ſhall live with their children, and turn again.

10 I will bring them again alſo out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Aſſyria; and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon; and place ſhall not be found for them.

11 And he ſhall paſs through the ſea with affliction, and ſhall ſmite the waves in the ſea, and all the deeps of the river ſhall dry up; and the pride of Aſſyria ſhall be brought down, and the ſcepter of Egypt ſhall depart away.

12 And I will ſtrengthen them in the LORD, and they ſhall walk up and down in his name, ſaith the LORD.

CHAP. XI.

1 The deſtruction of Jeruſalem. 10 The ſtaves, Beauty and Bands.

OPEN thy doors, O Lebanon, that the fire may devour thy cedars.

2 Howl, fir-tree; for the cedar is fallen; becauſe the mighty are ſpoiled: howl, O ye oaks of Baſhan; for the foreſt of the vintage is come down.

3 There is a voice of the howling of the ſhepherds; for their glory is ſpoiled: a voice of the roaring of young lions; for the pride of Jordan is ſpoiled.

4 Thus ſaith the LORD my God; Feed the flock of the ſlaughter;

5 Whoſe poſſeſſors ſlay them, and hold themſelves not guilty; and they that ſell them, ſay, Bleſſed be the LORD; for I am rich: and their own ſhepherds pity them not.

---

upon the people's aſking them from God, who will hear their petitions, and give them both the former and latter rain in its ſeaſon.

Bright clouds.] Margin reads, lightnings, which are uſually accompanied by great rains.

2 They went their way as a flock.] They went into captivity, and came into great diſtreſs, as ſheep are driven away and ſcattered, that have no ſhepherd to protect them.

4 The corner and the nail.] The corner is the ſupport of a building, and ſignifies a chief; the nail may ſignify any perſon on whom others have a dependence.

Oppreſſor.] Is ſometimes taken in a general ſenſe for a prince or governor.

6 I will ſtrengthen the houſe of Judah, and I will ſave the houſe of Joſeph.] This promiſe probably relates to the general reſtoration of the Jews, upon their converſion, in which both Judah and Iſrael ſhall be equal ſharers in the bleſſing.

9 Turn again.] Shall return into their own country.

10 Place ſhall not be found for them.] They ſhall multiply ſo faſt.

11 He ſhall paſs through the ſea with affliction.] Rather, it ſhall paſs through the ſtreights of the ſea. The words allude to the paſſage of the Iſraelites over an arm of the Red-Sea, when they came out of Egypt; and imports, that God would again do as great things for them as he did formerly for their fathers.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Open thy doors, O Lebanon, &c.] By Lebanon, moſt interpreters underſtand the temple, whoſe ſtately buildings reſembled the tall cedars of that foreſt. But the paſſage may alſo denote the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, often ſtiled a foreſt by the prophets, becauſe her loftly buildings reſembled the ſtately ranks of trees in a foreſt. Lowth.

2 Howl, fir-tree, for the cedar is fallen.] If the mighty are fallen, how ſhould the weaker ſtand?

5 Whoſe poſſeſſors ſlay them, and hold themſelves not guilty.] Whoſe rulers deal with their flock as ſo many butchers, and ſlay them without remorſe of conſcience.

6 For I will no more pity the inhabitants of the land, ſaith the LORD; but lo, I will deliver the men every one into his neighbour's hand, and into the hand of his king: and they ſhall ſmite the land, and out of their hand I will not deliver them.

7 And I will feed the flock of ſlaughter, even you, O poor of the flock. And I took unto me two ſtaves; the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands; and I fed the flock.

8 Three ſhepherds alſo I cut off in one month: and my ſoul lothed them, and their ſoul alſo abhorred me.

9 Then ſaid I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die; and that that is to be cut off, let it be cut off: and let the reſt eat, every one the fleſh of another.

10 ¶ And I took my ſtaff, even Beauty, and cut it aſunder, that I might break my covenant which I had made with all the people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and ſo the poor of the flock that waited upon me knew that it was the word of the LORD.

12 And I ſaid unto them, If ye think good, give me my price; and if not, forbear. So they weighed for my price thirty pieces of ſilver.

13 And the LORD ſaid unto me, Caſt it unto the potter: a goodly price that I was priſed at of them. And I took the thirty pieces of ſilver, and caſt them to the potter in the houſe of the LORD.

14 Then I cut aſunder mine other ſtaff, even Bands, that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Iſrael.

15 And the LORD ſaid unto me, Take unto thee yet the inſtruments of a fooliſh ſhepherd.

16 For lo, I will raiſe up a ſhepherd in the land which ſhall not viſit thoſe that be cut off, neither ſhall ſeek the young one, nor heal that that is broken, nor feed that that ſtandeth ſtill: but he ſhall eat the fleſh of the fat, and tear their claws in pieces.

17 Wo to the idol ſhepherd that leaveth the flock! the ſword ſhall be upon his arm, and upon his right eye: his arm ſhall be clean dried up, and his right eye ſhall be utterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jeruſalem a cup of trembling, 3 and a burdenſome ſtone to her adverſaries. 6 The victorious reſtoring of Judah.

THE burden of the word of the LORD for Iſrael, ſaith the LORD, which ſtretcheth forth the heavens, and layeth the foundation of the earth, and formeth the ſpirit of man within him.

7 I will feed the flock of ſlaughter, &c.] The prophet, repreſenting the perſon of Chriſt, ſaith, he entered upon his office, and undertook the care of the ſlaughtered flock, chiefly out of a regard to the meek and humble among them; for to ſuch are the benefits of the goſpel peculiarly promiſed.

I took unto me two ſtaves; the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands.] Theſe two ſtaves repreſent the new covenant. The one he called beauty or delight; i. e. his favour, or kindneſs towards his people; this was remarkably fulfilled in our Saviour, whoſe gracious words, and beneficial labours, were conſpicuous through the whole courſe of his life: the other he called bands, by which he meant that bond of the new covenant, whereby he intended to unite both the kingdoms of Iſrael and Judah under himſelf, as their head and king, and then afterwards to unite the Jews and Gentiles into one church. Lowth.

8 Three ſhepherds I cut off in one month.] Probably theſe three ſhepherds ſignify the chief-prieſts, ſcribes, and elders of the Jews. Chriſt expoſed theſe as blind guides, and thereby leſſened their authority among the people, which greatly contributed to the ſpreading of the goſpel.

10 I took my ſtaff, even Beauty, and cut it aſunder.] Thus the covenant which I had made with the Jews was broken, and I excluded them from having any benefit in the ſecond covenant, namely, that of the goſpel.

12 If ye think good, give me my price, &c.] Chriſt ſtill perſiſts to act the part of a good ſhepherd, and, in a humble manner, demands of the Jews what price they put upon his labour.

So they weighed for my price thirty pieces of ſilver.] They valued me at no more than the price of the meaneſt ſlave, Mat. xxvi. 15.

13 The Lord ſaid unto me, Caſt it unto the potter, &c.] God commanded the prophet in a viſion, as perſonating the Meſſiah, to caſt the money in a contemptuous manner to the potter, as a reward ſuitable to his labour, and a price fit for wares of the meaneſt value. See Mat. xxvii 9, 10.

I took the thirty pieces of ſilver, and caſt them, &c.] I caſt them back into the treaſury of the temple, where they were afterwards laid out for the uſe of the potter. This whole tranſaction performed by Zechariah in a viſion was deſigned to be an exact repreſentation of the ſeveral circumſtances that attended the betraying of the Meſſiah by Judas, the price the chief prieſts put upon him, and the uſe to which the money was applied. This is one of thoſe prophecies whoſe literal ſenſe is fulfilled in our bleſſed Saviour, and cannot be applied to any other perſon, but in a very improper ſenſe. Lowth.

14 I cut aſunder mine other ſtaff, even Bands, &c.] As they refuſed to be united under me their head, ſo in breaking the other ſtaff I foreſhewed the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, the band and cement of all their tribes, being the center both of their civil power, and of the divine worſhip.

16 I will raiſe up a ſhepherd in the land, &c.] Since the Jews rejected the true ſhepherd, God threatens to leave them in the hands of ſuch a ſucceſſion of ſhepherds, as ſhall be notorious for their negligence and avarice, their cruelty and oppreſſion: a threatening which that unhappy people have often ſeverely felt.

Notes

2 Behold, I will make Jeruſalem a cup of trembling unto all the people round about, when they ſhall be in the ſiege both againſt Judah and againſt Jeruſalem.

3 ¶ And in that day will I make Jeruſalem a burdenſome ſtone for all people: all that burden themſelves with it ſhall be cut in pieces, though all the people of the earth be gathered together againſt it.

4 In that day, ſaith the LORD, I will ſmite every horſe with aſtoniſhment, and his rider with madneſs: and I will open mine eyes upon the houſe of Judah, and will ſmite every horſe of the people with blindneſs.

5 And the governors of Judah ſhall ſay in their heart, The inhabitants of Jeruſalem ſhall be my ſtrength in the LORD of hoſts their God.

6 ¶ In that day will I make the governors of Judah like a hearth of fire among the wood, and like a torch of fire in a ſheaf; and they ſhall devour all the people round about, on the right hand and on the left: and Jeruſalem ſhall be inhabited again in her own place, even in Jeruſalem.

7 The LORD alſo ſhall ſave the tents of Judah firſt, that the glory of the houſe of David, and the glory of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem do not magnify themſeves againſt Judah.

8 In that day ſhall the LORD defend the inhabitants of Jeruſalem: and he that is feeble among them at that day ſhall be as David; and the houſe of David ſhall be as God, as the angel of the LORD before them.

9 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that I will ſeek to deſtroy all the nations that come againſt Jeruſalem.

10 And I will pour upon the houſe of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, the ſpirit of grace and of ſupplications: and they ſhall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they ſhall mourn for him as one mourneth for his only ſon, and ſhall be in bitterneſs for him as one that is in bitterneſs for his firſt-born.

11 In that day ſhall there be a great mourning in Jeruſalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the land ſhall mourn, every family apart: the family of the houſe of David apart, and their wives apart; the family of the houſe of Nathan apart, and their wives apart;

13 The family of the houſe of Levi apart, and their wives apart; the family of Shimei apart, and their wives apart;

14 All the families that remain, every family apart, and their wives apart.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Jeruſalem's purgation from idolatry, and falſe prophecy. 7 The death of Chriſt, and the trial of a third part.

IN that day there ſhall be a fountain opened to the houſe of David, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, for ſin and for uncleanneſs.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 5 The inhabitants of Jeruſalem ſhall be my ſtrength.] The margin reads better, There is ſtrength to me and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, &c.

7 The Lord ſhall ſave the tents of Judah firſt.] The Lord ſhall firſt give ſucceſs to the body of the Jewiſh nation that encamp in the open field, that the valour of the houſe of David, and of the people that defend the walls of Jeruſalem may not eclipſe the valour of the people without the walls. Lowth.

10 I will pour upon the houſe, &c.] I will beſtow a plentiful ſhare of grace upon the deſcendants of David's family, and the reſt of the Jews, whereby they ſhall be brought to a deep humiliation of their own ſins, and a compunction of heart for thoſe of their fathers, in crucifying their Lord and Saviour.

They ſhall look upon me whom they have pierced.] The Erfurth MS reads, They ſhall look upon him whom they have pierced: which muſt be the right reading, as it makes it conformable with St. John, chap. xix. 37, who quotes this very paſſage.

11 In that day there ſhall be a great mourning in Jeruſalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.] Joſiah was ſlain at or near Megiddo, and probably, the place where the battle was fought was called Hadadrimmon. There the lamentations for that good prince began, and was continued from thence to Jeruſalem, whither his body was carried to be interred in the ſepulchre of his fathers, and there all Judah and Jeruſalem mourned for him, and appointed the day to be annually obſerved with lamentations. See 2 Chron. xxxv. 25. So that the mourning for Joſiah became a proverb for a public and ſolemn mourning: and ſuch a national faſt and lamentation ſhall the Jews obſerve for their crucifying the Meſſiah. Lowth.

12 The houſe of David apart, and their wives apart.] The houſe of David ſhall mourn in a moſt ſolemn manner: even huſbands and wives ſhall abſtain from each other's company, as is uſual in times of ſolemn humiliation.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 There ſhall be a fountain opened to the houſe of David, &c.] The houſe of David with other inhabitants of Jeruſalem, upon their ſolemn humiliation and believing in him whom they have crucified and rejected, ſhall obtain a full pardon of all their ſins, being admitted into the church of Chriſt by baptiſm. Lowth.

2 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, that I will cut off the names of the idols out of the land, and they ſhall no more be remembered: and alſo I will cauſe the prophets and the unclean ſpirit to paſs out of the land.

3 And it ſhall come to paſs, that when any ſhall yet propheſy, then his father and his mother, that begat him, ſhall ſay unto him, Thou ſhalt not live; for thou ſpeakeſt lies in the name of the LORD: and his father and his mother, that begat him, ſhall thruſt him through when he propheſieth.

4 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the prophets ſhall be aſhamed every one of his viſion, when he hath propheſied; neither ſhall they wear a rough garment to deceive:

5 But he ſhall ſay, I am no prophet, I am an huſbandman: for man taught me to keep cattle from my youth.

6 And one ſhall ſay unto him, What are theſe wounds in thine hands? Then he ſhall anſwer, Thoſe with which I was wounded in the houſe of my friends.

7 ¶ Awake, O ſword, againſt my ſhepherd, and againſt the man that is my fellow, ſaith the LORD of hoſts: ſmite the ſhepherd, and the ſheep ſhall be ſcattered: and I will turn mine hand upon the little ones.

8 And it ſhall come to paſs, that in all the land, ſaith the LORD, two parts therein ſhall be cut off, and die; but the third ſhall be left therein.

9 And I will bring the third part through the fire, and will refine them as ſilver is refined, and will try them as gold is tried: they ſhall call on my name, and I will hear them: I will ſay, It is my people; and they ſhall ſay, The LORD is my God.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The deſtroyers of Jeruſalem deſtroyed. 4 The coming of Chriſt, and the graces of his kingdom.

BEhold, the day of the LORD cometh, and thy ſpoil ſhall be divided in the midſt of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations againſt Jeruſalem to battle: and the city ſhall be taken, and the houſes rifled, and the women raviſhed: and half of the city ſhall go forth into captivity, and the reſidue of the people ſhall not be cut off from the city.

3 Then ſhall the LORD go forth, and fight againſt thoſe nations, as when he fought in the day of battle.

4 ¶ And his feet ſhall ſtand in that day upon the mount of Olives, which is before Jeruſalem on the eaſt: and the mount of Olives ſhall cleave in the midſt thereof toward the eaſt and toward the weſt, and there ſhall be a very great valley: and half of the mountain ſhall remove toward the north, and half of it toward the ſouth.

5 And ye ſhall flee to the valley of the mountains; for the valley of the mountains ſhall

---

2 I will cut off the names of the idols out of the land.] When idolatry ſhould be utterly extirpated, the names of the idols ſhould be buried in oblivion.

4 Neither ſhall they wear a rough garment.] Or, a garment of hair.

5 He ſhall ſay, I am no prophet, I am an huſbandman.] To ſave themſelves from puniſhment, each of theſe falſe prophets ſhall profeſs huſbandry, and ſay, that his employment from a child had been to look after cattle, or till the ground. Lowth.

6 What are theſe wounds in thy hands?] It was an antient cuſtom for maſters to ſet a mark upon their ſlaves; and a particular character was ſometimes imprinted upon the worſhippers of idols.

7 Awake, O ſword, againſt my ſhepherd, &c.] Here a new prophecy begins, importing that the Meſſiah, the great Shepherd, though in his divine nature, he be equal to God the father, ſhall be delivered up to death by God's determinate counſel and appointment. Lowth.

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 I will gather all nations againſt Jeruſalem to battle.] The Romans being lords of the known world had the ſtrength of all nations united in their forces.

4 His feet ſhall ſtand in that day upon the mount of Olives.] The glory of the Lord, when it departed from the city and temple, reſted on the mount of Olives, Ezek. xi. 23. ſo when God ſhall return to Jeruſalem, and make it the ſeat of his preſence, it ſhall return by the ſame way it departed. We may add, that when our bleſſed Saviour aſcended from the mount of Olives, the angels told his diſciples, he ſhould come again in like manner; i. e. in a viſible and glorious appearance at the ſame place.

The mount of Olives ſhall cleave in the midſt thereof, &c.] This ſhall be done by an earthquake, by which the middle of mount Olivet ſhall cleave aſunder, and ſink into a deep valley; ſo as to leave the two points or tops of the hill north and ſouth, ſtill ſtanding. Mount Olivet had three tops or eminencies, one on the north, one on the ſouth, and one in the middle, whence our bleſſed Saviour aſcended, and where Chriſtians in after-times erected a croſs to point out the place of this great tranſaction. Maundrell.

5 The Lord my God ſhall come, and all the ſaints with thee.] The words are a deſcription of Chriſt's coming to judgment, attended with all the holy angels. Septuagint and Vulgate read, with him, not with thee.

reach unto Azal: yea, ye ſhall flee like as ye fled from before the earthquake in the days of Uzziah king of Judah: and the LORD my God ſhall come, and all the ſaints with thee.

6 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the light ſhall not be clear nor dark:

7 But it ſhall be one day which ſhall be known to the LORD, not day, nor night: but it ſhall come to paſs, that at evening-time it ſhall be light.

8 And it ſhall be in that day, that living waters ſhall go out from Jeruſalem; half of them toward the former ſea, and half of them toward the hinder ſea: in ſummer and in winter ſhall it be.

9 And the LORD ſhall be King over all the earth: in that day ſhall there be one LORD, and his name One.

10 All the land ſhall be turned as a plain from Geba to Rimmon, ſouth of Jeruſalem: and it ſhall be lifted up, and inhabited in her place, from Benjamin's gate unto the place of the firſt-gate, unto the corner-gate, and from the tower of Hananeel unto the king's wine-preſſes.

11 And men ſhall dwell in it, and there ſhall be no more utter deſtruction; but Jeruſalem ſhall be ſafely inhabited.

12 And this ſhall be the plague wherewith the LORD will ſmite all the people that have fought againſt Jeruſalem; Their fleſh ſhall conſume away while they ſtand upon their feet, and their eyes ſhall conſume away in their holes, and their tongue ſhall conſume away in their mouth.

13 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that a great tumult from the LORD ſhall be among them; and they ſhall lay hold every one on the hand of his neighbour, and his hand ſhall riſe up againſt the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Judah alſo ſhall fight at Jeruſalem; and the wealth of all the heathen round about ſhall be gathered together, gold, and ſilver, and apparel in great abundance.

15 And ſo ſhall be the plague of the horſe, of the mule, of the camel, and of the aſs, and of all the beaſts that ſhall be in theſe tents, as this plague.

16 And it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that is left of all the nations which came againſt Jeruſalem, ſhall even go up from year to year to worſhip the King the LORD of hoſts, and to keep the feaſt of tabernacles.

17 And it ſhall be, that whoſo will not come up of all the families of the earth unto Jeruſalem to worſhip the King the LORD of hoſts, even upon them ſhall be no rain.

18 And if the family of Egypt go not up, and come not, that have no rain; there ſhall be the plague wherewith the LORD will ſmite the heathen that come not up to keep the feaſt of tabernacles.

19 This ſhall be the puniſhment of Egypt, and the puniſhment of all nations that come not up to keep the feaſt of tabernacles.

20 In that day ſhall there be upon the bells of the horſes, HOLINESS UNTO THE LORD; and the pots in the LORD's houſe ſhall be like the bowls before the altar.

21 Yea, every pot in Jeruſalem and in Judah ſhall be Holineſs unto the LORD of hoſts: and all they that ſacrifice ſhall come and take of them, and ſeethe therein: and in that day there ſhall be no more the Canaanite in the houſe of the LORD of hoſts.

---

6 The light ſhall not be clear, nor dark.] It ſhall not be clear in ſome places, and dark in other parts of the world; i. e. there ſhall not be that ſucceſſion of day and night as there is at preſent.

7 At evening time it ſhall be light.] At the conſummation of all things, there ſhall not be any viciſſitude of day and night, but one uninterrupted day.

8 Living waters ſhall go out from Jeruſalem.] The ſupplies of grace are often repreſented in ſcripture by rivers and ſtreams of water, which both cleanſe and make fruitful the ground through which they flow. Theſe words intimate that the church is the ſpring from whence all the means of grace are communicated to believers. Lowth.

20 In that day ſhall there be upon the bells of the horſes, HOLINESS UNTO THE LORD.] This and the following verſe ſeem to imply the promiſe of an univerſal peace, a bleſſing often mentioned in the prophets, as a concomitant of the flouriſhing ſtate of Chriſt's kingdom. The meaning of the paſſage therefore is, that the bells or furniture of war belonging to the horſes, ſhall no more be applied to their former uſe, but ſhall be looked upon as ſacred, and laid up in the armoury of the temple of the Lord, as a memorial of the remarkable ſucceſs he had given his people. Lowth.

21 There ſhall be no more the Canaanite in the houſe of the Lord of hoſts.] There ſhall be no hypocrite or unclean perſon among the ſociety of the faithful. Nor ſhall any foreign enemy give the ſervants of the Lord any annoyance. Lowth.

MALACHI.

THE ARGUMENT.

Malachi was most probably cotemporary with Nehemiah: his prophecy supposes the temple to be built, and the worship of God settled there; but blames the priests and Levites for not attending upon the public worship; and the people for offering beasts that were lame and blind. The words of Malachi, ch. iv. 4, 5. import that after him, the Jews were not to expect a succession of prophets; he therefore exhorts them carefully to observe the law of Moses, and to look for no other prophet, till Elias, i. e. John Baptist, the forerunner of the Messias, should come.

CHAP. I.

1 Malachi complaineth of Israel's unkindness, 6 irreligion, 12 and profaneness.

THE burden of the word of the LORD to Israel by Malachi.

2 I have loved you, saith the LORD. Yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loved us? Was not Esau Jacob's brother? saith the LORD: yet I loved Jacob,

3 And I hated Esau, and laid his mountains and his heritage waste for the dragons of the wilderness.

4 Whereas Edom saith, We are impoverished, but we will return and build the desolate places; thus saith the LORD of hosts, They shall build, but I will throw down; and they shall call them, The border of wickedness, and, The people against whom the LORD hath indignation for ever.

5 And your eyes shall see, and ye shall say, The LORD will be magnified from the border of Israel.

6 ¶ A son honoureth his father, and a servant his master: if then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my fear? saith the LORD of hosts unto you, O priests, that despise my name: and ye say, Wherein have we despised thy name?

7 Ye offer polluted bread upon mine altar. And ye say, Wherein have we polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the LORD is contemptible.

8 And if ye offer the blind for sacrifice, is it not evil? and if ye offer the lame and sick, is it not evil? offer it now unto thy governor, will he be pleased with thee, or accept thy person? saith the LORD of hosts.

9 And now I pray you, beseech God, that he will be gracious unto us: this hath been by your means: will he regard your persons? saith the LORD of hosts.

10 Who is there even among you that would shut the doors for nought? neither do ye kindle fire on mine altar for nought. I have no pleasure in you, saith the LORD of hosts, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sun even unto

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 2, 3 I loved Jacob, and I hated Esau.] These propositions are not to be understood asunder, but to be taken together as one; I have loved Jacob more than Esau. Clark.

6 A son honoureth his father, and a servant his master.] Those degrees of respect that are due to human authority, are, in a more eminent manner, to be paid to the supreme Lord of all: so the priests who are dedicated to my service in a peculiar manner, behave themselves very undutifully, in that disrespect which they shew to my name and worship. Lowth.

8 If ye offer the blind.] Beasts to be sacrificed were required to be perfect and without blemish.

11 In every place incense shall be offered unto my name, and a pure offering.] The prophet describes the Christian sacrifice of prayer and thanksgiving by the external rites of the Jewish worship. Incense was considered as a figure or emblem of prayer by the Jews themselves. This spiritual service, the prophet saith, shall be offered up in every place, whereas the Jewish worship was confined to the temple. The following words of our blessed Saviour are a commentary on this passage: The hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor at Jerusalem worship the Father;

the going-down of the ſame my name ſhall be great among the Gentiles: and in every place incenſe ſhall be offered unto my name, and a pure offering: for my name ſhall be great among the heathen, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

12 ¶ But ye have profaned it, in that ye ſay, The table of the LORD is polluted; and the fruit thereof, even his meat, is contemptible.

13 Ye ſaid alſo, Behold, what a wearineſs is it! and ye have ſnuffed at it, ſaith the LORD of hoſts: and ye brought that which was torn, and the lame, and the ſick; thus ye brought an offering: ſhould I accept this of your hands? ſaith the LORD.

14 But curſed be the deceiver, which hath in his flock a male, and voweth and ſacrificeth unto the LORD a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, and my name is dreadful among the heathen.

CHAP. II.

1 He reproveth the prieſts for neglecting their covenant, 11 and the people for idolatry, 14 adultery, 17 and infidelity.

AND now, O ye prieſts, this commandment is for you.

2 If ye will not hear, and if ye will not lay it to heart, to give glory unto my name, ſaith the LORD of hoſts; I will even ſend a curſe upon you, and I will curſe your bleſſings: yea, I have curſed them already, becauſe ye do not lay it to heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt your ſeed, and ſpread dung upon your faces, even the dung of your ſolemn feaſts; and one ſhall take you away with it.

4 And ye ſhall know that I have ſent this commandment unto you, that my covenant might be with Levi, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

5 My covenant was with him of life and peace; and I gave them to him, for the fear wherewith he feared me, and was afraid before my name.

6 The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity.

7 For the prieſt's lips ſhould keep knowledge, and they ſhould ſeek the law at his mouth: for he is the meſſenger of the LORD of hoſts.

8 But ye are departed out of the way; ye have cauſed many to ſtumble at the law; ye have corrupted the covenant of Levi, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

9 Therefore have I alſo made you contemptible and baſe before all the people, according as ye have not kept my ways, but have been partial in the law.

10 Have we not all one father? hath not one God created us? why do we deal treacherouſly every man againſt his brother, by profaning the covenant of our fathers?

11 ¶ Judah hath dealt treacherouſly, and an abomination is committed in Iſrael and in Jeruſalem: for Judah hath profaned the holineſs of the LORD which he loved, and hath married the daughter of a ſtrange god.

12 The LORD will cut off the man that doeth this, the maſter and the ſcholar out of the tabernacles of Jacob, and him that offereth an offering unto the LORD of hoſts.

13 And this have ye done again, covering the altar of the LORD with tears, with weeping, and with crying-out, inſomuch that he regard-

Father; but the true worſhippers ſhall worſhip the Father in ſpirit and in truth, John iv. 21, 22. Lowth.

12 Ye have profaned it, in that ye ſay, The table of the Lord is polluted.] Ye have profaned mine altar, and in your careleſs performance of my ſervice there, you ſufficiently intimate, that there is no difference between what is offered upon it, and common meats: thus you render my ſacrifices contemptible in the ſight of the people. Lowth.

13 What a wearineſs is it?] Ye have complained that the conſtant attendance on my altar was a wearifome employment.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 2 I will curſe your bleſſings.] i. e. I will turn your bleſſings into curſes.

3 I will corrupt your ſeed.] The ſeed wherewith you ſow your ground, ſo that there will not be wherewith to furniſh the meat-offerings requiſite for the daily ſacrifices.

7 The prieſts lips ſhould keep knowledge, &c.] The prieſts ſhould underſtand the law, and the people reſort to them for inſtruction.

8 Ye have cauſed many to ſtumble at the law.] You have either perverted the ſenſe of the law, or encouraged others to break it by your example. Lowth.

10 Have we not all one father?] Here the prophet puts the Jews in mind, that they owned one God and father, in oppoſition to the idols of the heathen, and therefore ſhould dwell with one another as brethren, being nearly allied by ſpiritual as well as fleſhly relation. Lowth.

eth not the offering any more, or receiveth it with good will at your hand.

14 ¶ Yet ye ſay, Wherefore? Becauſe the LORD hath been witneſs between thee and the wife of thy youth, againſt whom thou haſt dealt treacherouſly: yet is ſhe thy companion and the wife of thy covenant.

15 And did not he make one? yet had he the reſidue of the ſpirit. And wherefore one? That he might ſeek a godly ſeed. Therefore take heed to your ſpirit, and let none deal treacherouſly againſt the wife of his youth.

16 For the LORD the God of Iſrael ſaith, That he hateth putting away: for one covereth violence with his garment, ſaith the LORD of hoſts: therefore take heed to your ſpirit, that ye deal not treacherouſly.

17 ¶ Ye have wearied the LORD with your words. Yet ye ſay, Wherein have we wearied him? When ye ſay, Every one that doeth evil is good in the ſight of the LORD, and he delighteth in them; or, Where is the God of judgement?

CHAP. III.

1 Of the meſſenger, majeſty, and grace of Chriſt. 7 Of the rebellion, 8 ſacrilege, 13 and infidelity of the people.

BEhold, I will ſend my meſſenger, and he ſhall prepare the way before me: and the Lord whom ye ſeek ſhall ſuddenly come to his temple, even the meſſenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in; behold, he ſhall come, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

2 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who ſhall ſtand when he appeareth? for he is like a refiner's fire, and like fuller's ſope.

3 And he ſhall ſit as a refiner and purifier of ſilver: and he ſhall purify the ſons of Levi, and purge them as gold and ſilver, that they may offer unto the LORD, an offering in righteouſneſs.

4 Then ſhall the offering of Judah and Jeruſalem be pleaſant unto the LORD, as in the days of old, and as in former years.

5 And I will come near to you to judgement; and I will be a ſwift witneſs againſt the ſorcerers, and againſt the adulterers, and againſt falſe ſwearers, and againſt thoſe that oppreſs the hireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherleſs, and that turn aſide the ſtranger from his right, and fear not me, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

6 For I am the LORD, I change not; therefore ye, ſons of Jacob, are not conſumed.

7 ¶ Even from the days of your fathers ye

14 The wife of thy youth, againſt whom, &c.] The wife whom thou haſt now forſaken, was one whom thou madeſt choice of in the prime of thine age.

17 Every one that doth evil is good in the ſight of the Lord.] A repetition of the old objection againſt Providence, taken from the proſperity of the wicked, which implied, as they thought, that either their works were pleaſing to God, or that he diſregarded human affairs, and would never call men to an account for their actions. Lowth.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Behold I will ſend my meſſenger, and he ſhall prepare the way before me.] The meſſenger or prophet here foretold to be the Lord's harbinger, was to be as much inferior to the Lord himſelf, as ſervants are to a great perſon they give notice of: this John the Baptiſt often confeſſed.

The Lord whom ye ſeek, ſhall ſuddenly come to his temple: even the meſſenger of the covenant whom ye delight in.] A remarkable character given of the Meſſiah is, that he is the perſon ye delight in, whoſe coming is ſo much deſired, the time of it being the ſubject of your ſearch and enquiry, and the expectation of it your comfort and delight. This great perſon, ſays the prophet, ſhall come to his temple, which you have deſpiſed and profaned, and make the glory of the latter houſe greater than that of the former. He ſhall chuſe this place to publiſh his doctrine, and work many miracles. Lowth.

2 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who ſhall ſtand when he appeareth?] The coming of Chriſt here, and in ſeveral other places, comprehends all the effects and conſequences of his coming, and denotes not only a time of mercy to thoſe who embrace the goſpel, but alſo a time of judgment upon the diſobedient. In the ſame manner John the Baptiſt deſcribes the coming of the Meſſiah. Who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?—Whoſe fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge his floor---and burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire, Mat. iii. 7, 12. Lowth.

He is like a refiner's fire.] The divine judgments are often called a fiery trial, ſuch as ſeparates the pure metal from the droſs, purifies the former, and conſumes the latter.

4 As in the days of old.] As in the days before idolatry prevailed.

5 I will come near to you to judgment.] In anſwer to the demand of the wicked, Where is the God of judgment? chap. ii. 17. God tells them that he will haſten the day of judgment, and it ſhall come ſpeedily upon thoſe whoſe ſins are become epidemical among them; and, if they refuſe to repent on the preaching of the goſpel, he will proceed to deſtroy the nation utterly.

I will be a ſwift witneſs againſt the ſorcerers.] i. e. Againſt all teachers of artificial methods to make men religious without true virtue. Clark.

6 I change not: therefore ye ſons of Jacob are not conſumed.] I am the ſame to-day and for ever, and am true to my former promiſes, therefore you ſtill continue a people, and are not conſumed as your iniquities deſerve. Lowth.

are gone away from mine ordinances, and have not kept them. Return unto me, and I will return unto you, ſaith the LORD of hoſts. But ye ſay, Wherein ſhall we return?

8 Will a man rob God? yet ye have robbed me. But ye ſay, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are curſed with a curſe: for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the ſtorehouſe, that there may be meat in mine houſe, and prove me now herewith, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a bleſſing, that there ſhall not be room enough to receive it.

11 And I will rebuke the devourer for your ſakes, and he ſhall not deſtroy the fruits of your ground: neither ſhall your vine caſt her fruit before the time in the field, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

12 And all nations ſhall call you bleſſed: for ye ſhall be a delightſome land, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

13 ¶ Your words have been ſtout againſt me, ſaith the LORD. Yet ye ſay, What have we ſpoken ſo much againſt thee?

14 Ye have ſaid, It is vain to ſerve God: and what profit is it that we have kept his ordinance, and that we have walked mournfully before the LORD of hoſts.

15 And now we call the proud happy: yea, they that work wickedneſs are ſet up; yea, they that tempt God are even delivered.

16 Then they that feared the LORD ſpake often one to another: and the LORD hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the LORD, and that thought upon his name.

17 And they ſhall be mine, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, in that day when I make up my jewels; and I will ſpare them as a man ſpareth his own ſon that ſerveth him.

18 Then ſhall ye return, and diſcern between the righteous and the wicked, between him that ſerveth God and him that ſerveth him not.

CHAP. IV.

1 God's judgement on the wicked, 2 and his bleſſing on the good. 5 He telleth of Elijah's coming.

FOR behold, the day cometh that ſhall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, ſhall be ſtubble: and the day that cometh ſhall burn them up, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, that it ſhall leave them neither root nor branch.

2 ¶ But unto you that fear my name ſhall the Sun of righteouſneſs ariſe with healing in his wings; and ye ſhall go forth and grow up as calves of the ſtall.

3 And ye ſhall tread down the wicked: for they ſhall be aſhes under the ſoles of your feet, in the day that I ſhall do this, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

4 Remember ye the law of Moſes my ſervant, which I commanded unto him in Horeb for all Iſrael, with the ſtatutes and judgements.

5 ¶ Behold, I will ſend you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD:

---

13 Your words have been ſtout, &c.] Impudent, or blaſphemous.

14 Ye have ſaid, it is in vain to ſerve God.] The proſperity of the wicked made them conclude, that it was to no purpoſe to govern their lives by the laws of God, or to humble themſelves for their offences againſt him.

16 They that feared the Lord, ſpake often one to another.] By their pious diſcourſes they confirmed one another in goodneſs, and armed themſelves againſt the impreſſions which any wicked ſuggeſtions might make upon their minds. Lowth.

A book of remembrance was written before him.] It was as ſafely laid up in his memory as if it had been entered in a regiſter, in order to be produced at the day of judgment to their praiſe and honour.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Behold, the day cometh that ſhall burn as an oven.] God is deſcribed by Moſes as a conſuming fire, when he comes to execute his judgments. And this was remarkably verified, when, upon the taking the city and temple of Jeruſalem by the Roman army under Titus Veſpaſian, they were both deſtroyed, by ſuch flames as no induſtry could quench. Joſephus.

2 The ſun of righteouſneſs ariſe with healing in his wings.] Chriſt is here called the ſun of righteouſneſs with healing in his wings, or, in his rays; to ſignify that his light conſiſts in clearing up the underſtanding of men, and withdrawing the veil of darkneſs from their minds; whoſe rays and kindly warmth will heal all the diſeaſes of their ſouls. Lowth.

Ye ſhall go forth and grow up as calves of the ſtall.] You ſhall be warned of God to leave Jeruſalem before it is ſurrounded by the Roman army; by which means you ſhall be reſcued from the common deſtruction that ſhall fall on the heads of the unbelievers. Lowth.

5 Behold, I will ſend you Elijah the prophet.] The ſame perſon who is called the meſſenger or forerunner of the Meſſiah, chap. iii.

6 And he ſhall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, leſt I come and ſmite the earth with a curſe.

iii. 1. It was the unanimous ſenſe of the Jews, that Elijah ſhould firſt come and reſtore all things: and to this day they pray for the coming of Elijah, hoping that the Meſſiah will immediately follow him. Our Saviour has told us, that the prophet here meant, was John the Baptiſt, who came in the ſtrength and power of Elias. He reſembled him in his office of reproving the Jews, and exhorting them to repentance, and alſo in the auſterity of his life. Lowth.

Before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord.] Before the general diſſolution of all things.

6 He ſhall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers.] It will be his office to put an end to thoſe religious differences which divide neareſt relations from one another, and to make them all join in the duties of repentance and reformation, and thereby prepare them for the reception of the Meſſiah. Lowth.

Leſt I come and ſmite the earth with a curſe.] Or rather, Leſt I come and ſmite the land of Judea with utter deſtruction. The utter deſtruction of the Jewiſh nation is here threatened upon their rejecting the preaching of John the Baptiſt, and refuſing to hearken to his teſtimony concerning the Meſſiah that ſhould come after him. Lowth.

THE ARGUMENT.

Those Books of Scripture which are ſtiled Apocryphal were not received by general conſent, nor read and expounded publickly in the church, nor admitted to prove any point of doctrine, except where they are conformable to the other Scriptures. The term is Greek, and derived from αποκρυπτω, to hide; probably, becauſe the authors of theſe books are generally unknown. The firſt book of Eſdras, (ſay the Authors of the Univerſal Hiſtory) is no other than the firſt book of Ezra, with a variety of fabulous circumſtances, particularly that of the three young men of Darius's guard; who for their exquiſite wiſdom in anſwering his queſtions, are there pretended to have obtained, among other marks of his favour, the liberty of returning to Jeruſalem, and of rebuilding the temple. The Greek church is the only one that holds it among the canonical books. Dr. Prideaux ſays this book is for the moſt part a bundle of fables, too abſurd even for the papiſts, who reject it, though they receive Judith and Tobit: and therefore many notes will not be neceſſary.

CHAP. I.

1 Joſias his charge to the prieſts and Levites. 7 A great paſſover is kept. 32 His death is much lamented. 34 His ſucceſſors. 53 The temple, city, and people are deſtroyed. 56 The reſt are carried unto Babylon.

AND Joſias held the feaſt of the paſſover in Jeruſalem unto his Lord, and offered the paſſover the fourteenth day of the firſt month,

2 Having ſet the prieſts according to their daily courſes; being arayed in long garments, in the temple of the Lord.

3 And he ſpake unto the Levites the holy miniſters of Iſrael, that they ſhould hallow themſelves unto the Lord, to ſet the holy ark of the Lord in the houſe that king Solomon the ſon of David had built:

4 And ſaid, Ye ſhall no more bear the ark

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 Joſias held the feaſt, &c.] This prince is called Joſiah by the ſacred writers, and their account of this feaſt may be be ſeen, 2 Kings, xxiii. 21. 2 Chron. xxxv. 1.

upon your ſhoulders: now therefore ſerve the Lord your God, and miniſter unto his people Iſrael, and prepare you after your families and kindreds,

5 According as David the king of Iſrael preſcribed, and according to the magnificence of Solomon his ſon: and ſtanding in the temple according to the ſeveral dignity of the families of you the Levites, who miniſter in the preſence of your brethren the children of Iſrael,

6 Offer the paſſover in order, and make ready the ſacrifices for your brethren, and keep the paſſover according to the commandment of the Lord, which was given unto Moſes.

7 And unto the people that was found there, Joſias gave thirty thouſand lambs, and kids, and three thouſand calves: theſe things were given of the king's allowance, according as he promiſed to the people, to the prieſts, and to the Levites.

8 And Helkias, Zacharias, and Syelus, the governors of the temple, gave to the prieſts for the paſſover, two thouſand and ſix hundred ſheep, and three hundred calves.

9 And Jeconias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and Aſſabias, and Ochiel, and Joram, captains over thouſands, gave to the Levites for the paſſover five thouſand ſheep, and ſeven hundred calves.

10 And when theſe things were done, the prieſts and Levites having the unleavened bread, ſtood in very comely order according to the kindreds,

11 And according to the ſeveral dignities of the fathers before the people, to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the book of Moſes: and thus did they in the morning.

12 And they roaſted the paſſover with fire, as appertaineth: as for the ſacrifices, they ſod them in braſs pots, and pans, with a good ſavour,

13 And ſet them before all the people: and afterwards they prepared for themſelves, and for the prieſts their brethren the ſons of Aaron.

14 For the prieſts offered the fat until night: and the Levites prepared for themſelves, and the prieſts their brethren, the ſons of Aaron.

15 The holy ſingers alſo, the ſons of Aſaph, were in their order according to the appointment of David, to wit, Aſaph, Zacharias, and Jeduthun, who was of the king's retinue.

16 Moreover, the porters were at every gate, it was not lawful for any to go from his ordinary ſervice: for their brethren the Levites prepared for them.

17 Thus were the things that belonged to the ſacrifices of the Lord accompliſhed in that day, that they might hold the paſſover,

18 And offer ſacrifices upon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of king Joſias.

19 So the children of Iſrael which were preſent, held at the paſſover at that time, and the feaſt of ſweet bread ſeven days.

20 And ſuch a paſſover was not kept in Iſrael ſince the time of the prophet Samuel.

21 Yea, all the kings of Iſrael held not ſuch a paſſover as Joſias, and the prieſts and the Levites, and the Jews held with all Iſrael that were found dwelling at Jeruſalem.

22 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Joſias was this paſſover kept.

23 And the works of Joſias were upright before his Lord, with an heart full of godlineſs.

24 As for the things that came to paſs in his time, they were written in former times, concerning thoſe that ſinned, and did wickedly againſt the Lord above all people and kingdoms, and how they grieved him exceedingly, ſo that the words of the Lord roſe up againſt Iſrael.

25 Now after all theſe acts of Joſias, it came to paſs that Pharaoh the king of Egypt came to raiſe war at Carchamis upon Euphrates: and Joſias went out againſt him.

26 But the king of Egypt ſent to him, ſaying, What have I to do with thee, O king of Judea?

27 I am not ſent out from the Lord God againſt thee: for my war is upon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with me, yea, the Lord is with me, haſting me forward: depart from me, and be not againſt the Lord.

28 Howbeit Joſias did not turn back his chariot from him, but undertook to fight with him, not regarding the words of the prophet Jeremy ſpoken by the mouth of the Lord:

29 But joined battle with him in the plain of Magiddo, and the princes came againſt king Joſias.

30 Then ſaid the king unto his ſervants, Carry me away out of the battle, for I am very weak: aud immediately his ſervants took him away out of the battle.

31 Then gat he up upon his ſecond chariot, and being brought back to Jeruſalem, died, and was buried in his father's ſepulchre.

32 And in all Jewry they mourned for Joſias, yea, Jeremy the prophet lamented for Joſias, and the chief men with the women made lamentation for him unto this day: and this was given out for an ordinance to be done continually in all the nation of Iſrael.

33 Theſe things are written in the book of the ſtories of the kings of Judah, and every one of the acts that Joſias did, and his glory, and his underſtanding in the law of the Lord, and the things that he had done before, and the things now recited, are reported in the book of the kings of Iſrael and Judea.

34 And the people took Joachaz the ſon of Joſias, and made him king inſtead of Joſias his father, when he was twenty and three years old.

35 And he reigned in Judea and in Jeruſalem three months: and then the king of Egypt depoſed him from reigning in Jeruſalem.

36 And he ſat a tax upon the land of an hundred talents of ſilver, and one talent of gold.

37 The king of Egypt alſo made king Joacim his brother king of Judea and Jeruſalem.

38 And he bound Joacim and the nobles: but Zaraces his brother he apprehended, and brought him out of Egypt.

39 Five and twenty years old was Joacim when he was made king in the land of Judea and Jeruſalem, and he did evil before the Lord.

40 Wherefore againſt him Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon came up, and bound him with a chain of braſs, and carried him unto Babylon.

41 Nabuchodonoſor alſo took of the holy veſſels of the Lord, and carried them away, and ſet them in his own temple at Babylon.

42 But thoſe things that are recorded of him, and of his uncleanneſs, and impiety, are written in the chronicles of the kings.

43 And Joacim his ſon reigned in his ſtead: he was made king being eighteen years old;

44 And reigned but three months and ten days in Jeruſalem, and did evil before the Lord.

45 So after a year Nabuchodonoſor ſent and cauſed him to be brought into Babylon, with the holy veſſels of the Lord,

46 And made Zedechias king of Judea and Jeruſalem, when he was one and twenty years old, and he reigned eleven years:

47 And he did evil alſo in the ſight of the Lord, and cared not for the words that were ſpoken unto him by the prophet Jeremy from the mouth of the Lord.

48 And after that king Nabuchodonoſor had made him to ſwear by the name of the Lord, he forſwore himſelf, and rebelled, and hardening his neck, and his heart, he trangreſſed the laws of the Lord God of Iſrael.

49 The governors alſo of the people and of the prieſts did many things againſt the laws, and paſſed all the pollutions of all nations, and defiled the temple of the Lord, which was ſanctified in Jeruſalem.

50 Nevertheleſs, the God of their fathers ſent by his meſſenger to call them back, becauſe he ſpared them, and his tabernacle alſo.

51 But they had his meſſengers in deriſion; and look, when the Lord ſpake unto them, they made a ſport of his prophets;

52 So far forth, that he being wroth with his people for their great ungodlineſs, commanded the kings of the Chaldees to come up againſt them;

34 Joachaz.] Rather, Jehoahaz. See 2 Kings, xxiii. 31.
43 Joacim.] His name was Eliakim, but called Jehoiakim by Pharaoh Nechoh, who made him king inſtead of Jehoahaz, carrying the latter with him to Egypt.

53 Who ſlew the young men with the ſword, yea, even within the compaſs of their holy temple, and ſpared neither young man nor maid, old man nor child among them, for he delivered all into their hands.

54 And they took all the holy veſſels of the Lord, both great and ſmall, with the veſſels of the ark of God, and the king's treaſures, and carried them away into Babylon.

55 As for the houſe of the Lord, they burnt it, brake down the walls of Jeruſalem, ſet fire upon her towers:

56 And as for her glorious things, they never ceaſed till they had conſumed and brought them all to nought: and the people that were not ſlain with the ſword, he carried unto Babylon:

57 Who became ſervants to him and his children, till the Perſians reigned, to fulfil the word of the Lord ſpoken by the mouth of Jeremy:

58 Until the land had enjoyed her ſabbaths, the whole time of her deſolation ſhall ſhe reſt, until the full term of ſeventy years.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus is moved by God to build the temple, 5 and giveth leave to the Jews to return and contribute to it.

IN the firſt year of Cyrus king of the Perſians, that the word of the Lord might be accompliſhed that he had promiſed by the mouth of Jeremy;

2 The Lord raiſed up the ſpirit of Cyrus the king of the Perſians, and he made proclamation through all his kingdom, and alſo by writing,

3 Saying, Thus ſaith Cyrus king of the Perſians, The Lord of Iſrael, the moſt high Lord, hath made me king of the whole world,

4 And commanded me to build him an houſe at Jeruſalem, in Jewry.

5 If therefore there be any of you that are of his people, let the Lord, even his Lord be with him, and let him go up to Jeruſalem that is in Judea, and build the houſe of the Lord of Iſrael: for he is the Lord that dwelleth in Jeruſalem.

6 Whoſoever then dwell in the places about, let them help him (thoſe, I ſay, that are his neighbours) with gold and with ſilver,

7 With gifts, with horſes, and with cattel, and other things, which have been ſet forth by vow for the temple of the Lord at Jeruſalem.

8 ¶ Then the chief of the families of Judea, and of the tribes of Benjamin, ſtood up: the prieſts alſo and the Levites, and all they whoſe mind the Lord had moved to go up, and to build an houſe for the Lord at Jeruſalem,

9 And they that dwelt round about them, and helped them in all things with ſilver and gold, with horſes, and cattle, and with very many free gifts of a great number, whoſe minds were ſtirred up thereto.

10 King Cyrus alſo brought forth the holy veſſels which Nabuchodonoſor had carried away from Jeruſalem, and had ſet up in his temple of idols.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Perſians had brought them forth, he delivered them to Mithridates his treaſurer:

12 And by him they were delivered to Sanabaſſar the governor of Judea.

13 And this was the number of them, A thouſand golden cups, and a thouſand of ſilver, cenſers of ſilver twenty nine, vials of gold thirty, and of ſilver two thouſand four hundred and ten, and a thouſand other veſſels.

14 So all the veſſels of gold and of ſilver, which were carried away, were five thouſand four hundred threeſcore and nine.

15 Theſe were brought back by Sanabaſſar, together with them of the captivity, from Babylon to Jeruſalem.

58 Until the land had enjoyed her ſabbaths, &c.] i. e. During the full term of ſeventy years, at which time Cyrus the Great mounted the Perſian throne.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the firſt year of Cyrus king of the Perſians, &c.] Cyrus ſucceeded Cambyſes in the kingdom of Perſia, and Darius the Mede in the kingdom of the Medes and empire of Babylon. The prophets had frequently foretold the coming of Cyrus, and century before he was born. See Ezra, i. 1, and the notes.

12 They were delivered to Sanabaſſar, &c.] Rather, Shaſhbazzar: the firſt part of the word is corruptly joined to that preceding it. See Ezra, chap. i 8.

13 Two thouſand four hundred and ten, &c.] The number mentioned is four hundred and ten, Ezra i. 10.

14 Five thouſand four hundred threeſcore and nine.] The number is five thouſand four hundred in Ezra i. 11.

16 But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Perſians, Belemus, and Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, Beeltethmus, and Semellius the ſecretary, with others that were in commiſſion with them, dwelling in Samaria, and other places, wrote unto him againſt them that dwelt in Judea and Jeruſalem theſe letters following;

17 To king Artaxerxes our Lord, thy ſervants Rathumus the ſtory-writer, and Semellius the ſcribe, and the reſt of their council, and the judges that are in Celoſyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now known to the lord the king, that the Jews that are come up from you to us, being come into Jeruſalem (that rebellious and wicked city) do build the market-places, and repair the walls of it, and do lay the foundation of the temple.

19 Now if this city, and the walls thereof, be made up again, they will not only refuſe to give tribute, but alſo rebel againſt kings.

20 And foraſmuch as the things pertaining to the temple are now in hand, we think it meet not to neglect ſuch a matter.

21 But to ſpeak unto our lord the king, to the intent, that if it be thy pleaſure, it may be ſought out in the books of thy fathers:

22 And thou ſhalt find in the chronicles what is written concerning theſe things, and ſhalt underſtand that that city was rebellious, troubling both kings and cities:

23 And that the Jews were rebellious, and raiſed always wars therein; for the which cauſe even this city was made deſolate.

24 Wherefore now we do declare unto thee (O lord the king) that if this city be built again, and the walls thereof ſet up anew, thou ſhalt from henceforth have no paſſage into Celoſyria and Phenice.

25 Then the king wrote back again to Rathumus the ſtory-writer, to Beeltethmus, to Semellius the ſcribe, and to the reſt that were in commiſſion, and dwellers in Samaria, and Syria, and Phenice, after this manner;

26 I have read the epiſtle which ye have ſent unto me: therefore I commanded to make diligent ſearch, and it hath been found, that that city was from the beginning practiſing againſt kings.

27 And the men therein were given to rebellion, and war, and that mighty kings and fierce were in Jeruſalem, who reigned and exacted tributes in Celoſyria and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I have commanded to hinder thoſe men from building the city, and heed to be taken that there be no more done in it:

29 And that thoſe wicked workers proceed no further to the annoyance of kings.

30 Then king Artaxerxes his letters being read, Rathumus, and Semellius the ſcribe, and the reſt that were in commiſſion with them, removing in haſte towards Jeruſalem with a troop of horſemen, and a multitude of people in battle aray, began to hinder the builders; and the building of the temple in Jeruſalem ceaſed until the ſecond year of the reign of Darius king of the Perſians.

CHAP. III.

4 Three ſtrive to excel each other in wiſe ſpeeches: 9 They refer themſelves to the judgement of the king. 18 The firſt declareth the ſtrength of wine.

NOW when Darius reigned, he made a great feaſt unto all his ſubjects, and unto all his houſhold, and unto all the princes of Media and Perſia.

2 And to all the governors and captains, and lieutenants, that were under him, from India unto Ethiopia, of an hundred and twenty, and ſeven provinces,

3 And when they had eaten and drunken, and being ſatisfied were gone home, then Darius the king went into his bed-chamber, and ſlept, and ſoon after awaked.

4 Then three young men that were of the

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 4 Three young men, &c.] Joſephus has given a large account of this tranſaction, in which are ſeveral particulars not mentioned by the author of the book of Eſdras.

guard, that kept the king's body, ſpake one to another,

5 Let every one of us ſpeak a ſentence: he that ſhall overcome, and whoſe ſentence ſhall ſeem wiſer than the others, unto him ſhall the king Darius give great gifts, and great things, in token of victory:

6 As, to be clothed in purple, to drink in gold, and to ſleep upon gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, and an head-tire of fine linen, and a chain about his neck:

7 And he ſhall ſit next to Darius, becauſe of his wiſdom, and ſhall be called Darius his couſin.

8 And then every one wrote his ſentence, ſealed it, and laid it under king Darius his pillow,

9 And ſaid, that when the king is riſen, ſome will give him the writings, and of whoſe ſide the king and the three princes of Perſia ſhall judge, that his ſentence is the wiſeſt, to him ſhall the victory be given, as was appointed.

10 The firſt wrote, Wine is the ſtrongeſt.

11 The ſecond wrote, The king is the ſtrongeſt.

12 The third wrote, Women are ſtrongeſt: but above all things, truth beareth away the victory.

13 ¶ Now when the king was riſen up, they took their writings, and delivered them unto him, and ſo he read them.

14 And ſending forth, he called all the princes of Perſia and Media, and the governors, and the captains, and the lieutenants, and the chief officers,

15 And ſat him down in the royal ſeat of judgment, and the writings were read before them:

16 And he ſaid, Call the young men, and they ſhall declare their own ſentences. So they were called, and came in.

17 And he ſaid unto them, Declare unto us your mind concerning the writings. Then began the firſt, who had ſpoken of the ſtrength of wine;

18 And he ſaid thus, O ye men, how exceeding ſtrong is wine! it cauſeth all men to err that drink it:

19 It maketh the mind of the king, and of the fatherleſs child to be all one: of the bondman and of the freeman, of the poor man and of the rich:

20 It turneth alſo every thought into jollity and mirth, ſo that a man remembereth neither ſorrow nor debt:

21 And it maketh every heart rich, ſo that a man remembereth neither king nor governor; and it maketh to ſpeak all things by talents:

22 And when they are in their cups, they forget their love both to friends and brethren, and a little after draw out ſwords:

23 But when they are from the wine, they remember not what they have done.

24 O ye men, is not wine the ſtrongeſt, that enforceth to do thus? And when he had ſo ſpoken, he held his peace.

CHAP. IV.

1 The ſecond declareth the power of a king. 14 The third the force of women, 33 and of truth. 41 The third is judged to be the wiſeſt, 47 and obtaineth letters of the king to build Jeruſalem. 58 He praiſeth God, and ſheweth his brethren what he had done.

THEN the ſecond that had ſpoken of the ſtrength of the king, began to ſay,

2 O ye men, do not men excel in ſtrength, that bear rule over ſea and land, and all things in them?

3 But yet the king is more mighty: for he is lord of all theſe things, and hath dominion over them, and whatſoever he commandeth them, they do:

4 If he bid them make war one againſt the other, they do it: if he ſend them out againſt the enemies, they go, and break down mountains, walls, and towers.

5 They ſlay and are ſlain, and tranſgreſs not the king's commandment: if they get the victory, they bring all to the king, as well the ſpoil, as all things elſe.

10 The firſt wrote, Wine is the ſtrongeſt.] Joſephus tells us, that the queſtions recorded in this and the two following verſes, were propoſed by Darius himſelf to three of his body guards, promiſing at the ſame time a reward to him who ſhould make the wiſeſt and trueſt anſwer.

6 Likewiſe for thoſe that are no ſoldiers, and have not to do with wars, but uſe huſbandry, when they have reaped again that which they had ſown, they bring it to the king, and compel one another to pay tribute unto the king.

7 And yet he is but one man: if he command to kill, they kill; if he command to ſpare, they ſpare:

8 If he command to ſmite, they ſmite; if he command to make deſolate, they make deſolate; if he command to build, they build:

9 If he command to cut down, they cut down; if he command to plant, they plant.

10 So all his people, and his armies obey him: furthermore he lieth down, he eateth and drinketh, and taketh his reſt:

11 And theſe keep (watch) round about him, neither may any one depart, and do his own buſineſs, neither diſobey they him in any thing.

12 O ye men, how ſhould not the king be mightieſt, when in ſuch ſort he is obeyed? And he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third, who had ſpoken of women, and of the truth (this was Zorobabel) began to ſpeak.

14 O ye men, it is not the great king, nor the multitude of men, neither is it wine that excelleth; who is it then that ruleth them, or hath the lordſhip over them? are they not women?

15 Women have born the king and all the people, that bear rule by ſea and land.

16 Even of them came they: and they nouriſhed them up that planted the vineyards from whence the wine cometh.

17 Theſe alſo make garments for men, theſe bring glory unto men; and without women cannot men be.

18 Yea, and if men have gathered together gold and ſilver, or any other goodly thing, do they not love a woman, which is comely in favour and beauty?

19 And letting all thoſe things go, do they not gape, and even with open mouth fix their eyes faſt on her; and have not all men more deſire unto her, than unto ſilver or gold, or any goodly thing whatſoever?

20 A man leaveth his own father that brought him up, and his own country, and cleaveth unto his wife.

21 He ſticks not to ſpend his life with his wife, and remembereth neither father nor mother, nor country.

22 By this alſo you muſt know, that women have dominion over you: do ye not labour and toil, and give and bring all to the woman?

23 Yea, a man taketh his ſword, and goeth his way to rob, and to ſteal, to ſail upon the ſea, and upon rivers;

24 And looketh upon a lion, and goeth in the darkneſs; and when he hath ſtolen, ſpoiled and robbed, he bringeth it to his love.

25 Wherefore a man loveth his wife better than father or mother.

26 Yea, many there be that have run out of their wits for women, and become ſervants for their ſakes.

27 Many alſo have periſhed, have erred, and ſinned for women.

28 And now do ye not believe me? is not the king great in his power? do not all regions fear to touch him?

29 Yet did I ſee him, and Apame the king's concubine, the daughter of the admirable Battacus, ſitting at the right hand of the king,

30 And taking the crown from the king's head, and ſetting it upon her own head; ſhe alſo ſtruck the king with her left hand.

31 And yet for all this the king gaped and gazed upon her with open mouth: if ſhe laughed upon him, he laughed alſo: but if ſhe took any diſpleaſure at him, the king was fain to flatter, that ſhe might be reconciled to him again.

32 O ye men, how can it be but women ſhould be ſtrong, ſeeing they do thus?

33 Then the king and the princes looked one upon another: ſo he began to ſpeak of the truth.

34 O ye men, are not women ſtrong? great

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 34, 35 O ye men, &c.] Joſephus tells us, that Zorobabel reaſoned on truth in the following manner: 'I have already ſhewn the great power of women; yet both they and a king are very is the earth, high is the heaven, ſwift is the ſun in his courſe, for he compaſſeth the heavens round about, and fetcheth his courſe again to his own place in one day.

35 Is he not great that maketh theſe things? therefore great is the truth, and ſtronger than all things.

36 All the earth calleth upon the truth, and the heaven bleſſeth it, all works ſhake and tremble at it, and with it is no unrighteous thing.

37 Wine is wicked, the king is wicked, women are wicked, all the children of men are wicked, and ſuch are all their wicked works, and there is no truth in them; in their unrighteouſneſs alſo they ſhall periſh.

38 As for the truth, it endureth and is always ſtrong, it liveth and conquereth for evermore.

39 With her there is no accepting of perſons, or rewards, but ſhe doeth the things that are juſt, and refraineth from all unjuſt and wicked things, and all men do well like of her works.

40 Neither in her judgment is any unrighteouſneſs, and ſhe is the ſtrength, kingdom, power, and majeſty of all ages. Bleſſed be the God of truth.

41 And with that he held his peace: and all the people then ſhouted, and ſaid, Great is truth, and mighty above all things.

42 Then ſaid the king unto him, Aſk what thou wilt more than is appointed in the writing, and we will give it thee, becauſe thou art found wiſeſt, and thou ſhalt ſit next me, and ſhall be called my couſin.

43 Then ſaid he unto the king, Remember thy vow which thou haſt vowed, to build Jeruſalem, in the day when thou cameſt to thy kingdom.

44 And to ſend away all the veſſels that were taken away out of Jeruſalem, which Cyrus ſet apart, when he vowed to deſtroy Babylon, and to ſend them again thither.

45 Thou alſo haſt vowed to build up the temple which the Edomites burnt, when Judea was made deſolate by the Chaldees.

46 And now, O lord the king, this is that which I require, and which I deſire of thee, and this is the princely liberality proceeding from thyſelf: I deſire therefore, that thou make good thy vow, the performance whereof with thine own mouth thou haſt vowed to the King of heaven.

47 Then Darius the king ſtood up, and kiſſed him, and wrote letters for him unto all the treaſurers, and lieutenants, and captains, and governors, that they ſhould ſafely convey on their way both him, and all thoſe that go up with him to build Jeruſalem.

48 He wrote letters alſo unto the lieutenants that were in Celoſyria and Phenice, and unto them in Libanus, that they ſhould bring cedar-wood from Libanus unto Jeruſalem, and that they ſhould build the city with him.

49 Moreover, he wrote for all the Jews that went out of his realm up into Jewry, concerning their freedom, that no officer, no ruler, no lieutenant, nor treaſurer, ſhould forcibly enter into their doors;

50 And that all the country which they hold, ſhould be free without tribute; and that the Edomites ſhould give over the villages of the Jews, which then they held:

51 Yea, that there ſhould be yearly given twenty talents to the building of the temple, until the time that it were built;

52 And other ten talents yearly, to maintain the burnt-offerings upon the altar every day (as they had a commandment to offer ſeventeen)

53 And that all they that went from Babylon to build the city, ſhould have free liberty, as well they as their poſterity, and all the prieſts that went away.

54 He wrote alſo concerning the charges, and the prieſts veſtments wherein they miniſter;

55 And likewiſe for the charges of the Levites, to be given them, until the day that the houſe were finiſhed, and Jeruſalem builded up.

very weak when oppoſed to truth; for the earth is large, and the heaven is high, and the ſun ſwift in his courſe; and all theſe are moved by the will of the Almighty, who is truth and righteouſneſs, and againſt whom no iniquity can prevail. Many things which ſeem ſtrong and powerful are not permanent: they are ſubject to decay; but truth is eternal, and flouriſhes for ever. Truth beſtows upon us things not liable to be corrupted by time, or ſuch riches as fortune cannot take away; juſtice and equity are the gifts of truth, and by theſe we diſcern good from evil, and direct our way by their precepts.'

Notes

56 And he commanded to give to all that kept the city, penſions and wages.

57 He ſent away alſo all the veſſels from Babylon that Cyrus had ſet apart, and all that Cyrus had given in commandment, the ſame charged he alſo to be done, and ſent unto Jeruſalem.

58 Now when this young man was gone forth, he lifted up his face to heaven towards Jeruſalem, and praiſed the King of heaven.

59 And ſaid, from thee cometh victory, from thee cometh wiſdom, and thine is the glory, and I am thy ſervant.

60 Bleſſed art thou who haſt given me wiſdom: for to thee I give thanks, O Lord of our fathers.

61 And ſo he took the letters, and went out, and came unto Babylon, and told it all his brethren.

62 And they praiſed the God of their fathers, becauſe he had given them freedom and liberty.

63 To go up and to build Jeruſalem, and the temple which is called by his name: and they feaſted with inſtruments of muſick and gladneſs ſeven days.

35 All the miniſters of the temple, and the ſons of the ſervants of Solomon, were three hundred ſeventy and two.

36 Theſe came up from Thermeleth, and Thelerſas, Charaathalar leading them, and Aalar.

37 Neither could they ſhew their families, nor their ſtock, how they were of Iſrael: the ſons of Ladan, the ſons of Ban, the ſons of Necodan, ſix hundred fifty and two.

38 And of the prieſts that uſurped the office of the prieſthood, and were not found, the ſons of Obdia: the ſons of Accoz, the ſons of Addus, who married Augia, one of the daughters of Berzelus, and was named after his name.

39 And when the deſcription of the kindred of theſe men was ſought in the regiſter, and was not found, they were removed from executing the office of the prieſthood.

40 For unto them ſaid Nehemias and Atharias, that they ſhould not be partakers of the holy things, till there aroſe up an high-prieſt, clothed with doctrine and truth.

41 So of Iſrael, from them of twelve years old and upward they were all in number forty thouſand, beſides men-ſervants and women-ſervants, vants, two thouſand three hundred and ſixty.

42 Their men-ſervants and hand-maids were ſeven thouſand three hundred forty and ſeven: the ſinging-men and ſinging women, two hundred forty and five.

43 Four hundred thirty and five camels, ſeven thouſand thirty and ſix horſes, two hundred forty and five mules, five thouſand five hundred twenty and five beaſts uſed to the yoke.

44 And certain of the chief of their families, when they came to the temple of God that is in Jeruſalem, vowed to ſet up the houſe again in his own place, according to their ability;

45 And to give into the holy treaſury of the works, a thouſand pounds of gold, five thouſand of ſilver, an hundred prieſtly veſtments.

46 And ſo dwelt the prieſts and the Levites, and the people in Jeruſalem, and in the country: the ſingers alſo and the porters, and all Iſrael in their villages.

47 But when the ſeventh month was at hand, and when the children of Iſrael were every man in his own place, they came altogether with one conſent into the open place of the firſt gate which is towards the eaſt.

48 Then ſtood up Jeſus the ſon of Joſedec, and his brethren the prieſts, and Zorobabel the ſon of Salathiel, and his brethren, and made ready the altar of the God of Iſrael, 49 To offer burnt-ſacrifices upon it, according as it is expreſly commanded in the book of Moſes the man of God.

50 And there were gathered unto them out of the other nations of the land, and they erected the altar upon his own place, becauſe all the nations of the land were at enmity with them, and oppreſſed them, and they offered ſacrifices according to the time, and burnt-offerings to the Lord both morning and evening.

51 Alſo they held the feaſt of tabernacles, as it is commanded in the law, and offered ſacrifices daily, as was meet:

52 And after that, the continual oblations, and the ſacrifice of the ſabbaths, and of the new moons, and of all holy feaſts.

53 And all they that had made any vow to God, began to offer ſacrifices to God from the firſt day of the ſeventh month, although the temple of the Lord was not yet built.

54 And they gave unto the maſons and carpenters, money, meat, and drink, with chearfulneſs.

55 Unto them of Sidon alſo and Tyre, they gave calves, that they ſhould bring cedar-trees from Libanus, which ſhould be brought by flotes to the haven of Joppe, according as it was commanded them by Cyrus king of the Perſians.

56 And in the ſecond year and ſecond month, after his coming to the temple of God at Jeruſalem, began Zorobabel the ſon of Salathiel, and Jeſus the ſon of Joſedec, and their brethren, and the prieſts and the Levites, and all they that were come unto Jeruſalem, out of the captivity:

57 And they laid the foundation of the houſe of God in the firſt day of the ſecond month, in the ſecond year after they were come to Jewry and Jeruſalem.

58 And they appointed the Levites from twenty years old, over the works of the Lord. Then ſtood up Jeſus and his ſons and brethren, and Cadmiel his brother, and the ſons of Mediabun, with the ſons of Joda the ſon of Eliadun, with their ſons and brethren, all Levites, with one accord ſetters forward of the buſineſs, labouring to advance the works in the houſe of 56 In the ſecond year, &c.] Joſephus gives the following account of this tranſaction: 'In the ſeventh month after their departure from Babylon, Jeſus the high-prieſt, and Zorobabel the prince, ſent meſſengers round the adjacent countries, to aſſemble the whole nation at Jeruſalem. They obeyed the ſummons with great alacrity, and erected an altar on the very ſpot where it had ſtood before the captivity, with a reſolution to perform ſacrifices thereon to God, according to the law of Moſes. But while they were intent upon this good deſign, the neighbouring nations, who were their inveterate enemies, were incenſed againſt them. They alſo celebrated the feaſt of tabernacles as Moſes had appointed, and offered up their daily oblations and burnt-ſacrifices, their ſacrifice of ſabbaths, and obſerved all their other feſtivals; and they who performed their vows, made them at the ſacrifice of the new moon of the ſeventh month. Moreover, they ſet about building the temple, beſtowing large ſums of money upon maſons and ſmiths, and furniſhing the people who brought materials with proviſions; for the Sidonians very readily felled cedars, and brought them from mount Libanus, and conveyed them thence by ſea to the haven of Joppa; for Cyrus had given this command, and Darius now ordered it to be put in execution.'

God. So the workmen built the temple of the Lord.

59 And the prieſts ſtood arrayed in their veſtments with muſical inſtruments, and trumpets, and the Levites the ſons of Aſaph had cymbals, 60 Singing ſongs of thankſgiving, and praiſing the Lord, according as David the king of Iſrael had ordained.

61 And they ſung with loud voices ſongs to the praiſe of the Lord: becauſe his mercy and glory is for ever in all Iſrael.

62 And all the people ſounded trumpets, and ſhouted with a loud voice ſinging ſongs of thankſgiving unto the Lord, for the rearing up of the houſe of the Lord.

63 Alſo of the prieſts and Levites, and of the chief of their families, the ancients who had ſeen the former houſe, came to the building of this with weeping and great crying.

64 But many with trumpets and joy ſhouted with loud voice,

65 Inſomuch that the trumpets might not be heard for the weeping of the people: yet the multitude ſounded marvelouſly, ſo that it was heard afar off.

66 Wherefore when the enemies of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what that noiſe of trumpets ſhould mean.

67 And they perceived, that they that were of the captivity did build the temple unto the Lord God of Iſrael.

68 So they went to Zorobabel and Jeſus, and to the chief of the families, and ſaid unto them, We will build together with you.

69 For we likewiſe, as you, do obey your Lord, and do ſacrifice unto him from the days of Azbazareth the king of the Aſſyrians, who brought us hither.

70 Then Zorobabel and Jeſus, and the chief of the families of Iſrael, ſaid unto them, It is not for us and you to build together an houſe unto the Lord our God.

71 We ourſelves alone will build unto the Lord of Iſrael, according as Cyrus the king of the Perſians hath commanded us.

72 But the heathen of the land lying heavy upon the inhabitants of Judea, and holding them ſtrait, hindered their building:

73 And by their ſecret plots, and popular perſuaſions and commotions, they hindered the finiſhing of the building all the time that king Cyrus lived: ſo they were hindered from building for the ſpace of two years, until the reign of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 The prophets ſtir up the people to build the temple: 8 Darius is ſolicited to hinder it: 27 But he doth further it by all means.

NOW in the ſecond year of the reign of Darius, Aggeus, and Zacharias the ſon of Addo, the prophets propheſied unto the Jews in Jewry and Jeruſalem, in the name of the Lord God of Iſrael which was upon them.

2 Then ſtood up Zorobabel the ſon of Salathiel, and Jeſus the ſon of Joſedec, and began to build the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem, the prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 At the ſame time came unto them Siſinnes the governor of Syria and Phenice, with Sathrabuzanes, and his companions, and ſaid unto them,

4 By whoſe appointment do you build this houſe and this roof, and perform all the other things? and who are the workmen that perform theſe things?

5 Nevertheleſs, the elders of the Jews obtained favour: becauſe the Lord had viſited the captivity.

6 And they were not hindred from building, until ſuch time as ſignification was given unto Darius concerning them, and an anſwer received.

7 The copy of the letters which Siſinnes governor of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabuzanes, with their companions, rulers in Syria and Phenice, wrote and ſent unto Darius; To king Darius greeting.

8 Let all things be known unto our lord the king, that being come into the country of Judea, and entered into the city of Jeruſalem, we found in the city of Jeruſalem, the ancients of the Jews that were of the captivity,

9 Building an houſe unto the Lord, great and new, of hewn and coſtly ſtones, and the timber already laid upon the walls.

10 And thoſe works are done with great ſpeed, and the work goeth on proſperouſly in their hands, and with all glory and diligence is it made.

11 Then aſked we theſe elders, ſaying, By whoſe commandment build ye this houſe, and lay the foundations of theſe works?

12 Therefore to the intent that we might give knowledge unto thee by writing, we demanded of them who were the chief doers, and we required of them the names in writing of their principal men.

13 So they gave us this anſwer, We are the ſervants of the Lord, which made heaven and earth.

14 And as for this houſe, it was builded many years ago by a king of Iſrael, great and ſtrong, and was finiſhed.

15 But when our fathers provoked God unto wrath, and ſinned againſt the Lord of Iſrael, which is in heaven, he gave them over into the power of Nebuchodonoſor king of Babylon, of the Chaldees:

16 Who pulled down the houſe, and burnt it, and carried away the people captives unto Babylon.

17 But in the firſt year that king Cyrus reigned over the country of Babylon, Cyrus the king wrote to build up this houſe.

18 And the holy veſſels of gold and of ſilver, that Nabuchodonoſor had carried away out of the houſe at Jeruſalem, and had ſet them in his own temple, thoſe Cyrus the king brought forth again out of the temple at Babylon, and they were delivered to Zorobabel, and to Sanabaſſarus the ruler,

19 With commandment, that he ſhould carry away the ſame veſſels, and put them in the temple at Jeruſalem, and that the temple of the Lord ſhould be built in his place.

20 Then the ſame Sanabaſſarus being come hither, laid the foundations of the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem, and from that time to this, being ſtill a building, it is not yet fully ended.

21 Now therefore, if it ſeem good unto the king, let ſearch be made among the records of king Cyrus:

22 And if it be found that the building of the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem hath been done with the conſent of king Cyrus, and if our lord the king be ſo minded, let him ſignify unto us thereof.

23 Then commanded king Darius to ſeek among the records at Babylon: and ſo at Ecbatana the palace, which is in the country of Media, there was found a roll, wherein theſe things were recorded.

24 In the firſt year of the reign of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded that the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem ſhould be built again, where they do ſacrifice with continual fire.

25 Whoſe height ſhall be ſixty cubits, and the breadth ſixty cubits, with three rows of hewn ſtones, and one row of new wood of that country, and the expences thereof to be given out of the houſe of king Cyrus.

26 And that the holy veſſels of the houſe of the Lord, both of gold and ſilver, that Nabuchodonoſor took out of the houſe at Jeruſalem, and brought to Babylon, ſhould be reſtored to the houſe at Jeruſalem, and be ſet in the place where they were before.

27 And alſo he commanded that Siſinnes the governor of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabuzanes, and their companions, and thoſe which were appointed rulers in Syria and Phenice, ſhould be careful not to meddle with the place, but ſuffer Zorobabel the ſervant of the Lord, and governor of Judea, and the elders of the Jews, to build the houſe of the Lord in that place.

28 I have commanded alſo to have it built up whole again, and that they look diligently to help thoſe that be of the captivity of the Jews, till the houſe of the Lord be finiſhed.

29 And out of the tribute of Celoſyria and Phenice, a portion carefully to be given theſe men for the ſacrifices of the Lord, that is, to Zorobabel the governor, for bullocks, and rams, and lambs:

30 And alſo corn, ſalt, wine, and oil, and that that continually every year without further queſtion, according as the prieſts that be in Jeruſalem ſhall ſignify to be daily ſpent:

31 That offerings may be made to the moſt high God, for the king and for his children, and that they may pray for their lives.

32 And he commanded, that whoſoever ſhould tranſgreſs, yea, or make light of any thing afore ſpoken or written, out of his own houſe ſhould a tree be taken, and he thereon be hanged, and all his goods ſeized for the king.

33 The Lord therefore, whoſe name is there called upon, utterly deſtroy every king and nation that ſtretcheth out his hand to hinder or endamage that houſe of the Lord in Jeruſalem.

34 I Darius the king have ordained, that according unto theſe things it be done with diligence.

CHAP. VII.

1 Siſinnes and others help forward the building. 5 The temple is finiſhed, and dedicated. 10 The paſſover is kept.

THEN Siſinnes the governor of Celoſyria and Phenice, and Sathrabuzanes, with their companions, following the commandments of king Darius,

2 Did very carefully overſee the holy works, aſſiſting the antients of the Jews and governors of the temple.

3 And ſo the holy works proſpered, when Aggeus and Zacharias the prophets propheſied.

4 And they finiſhed theſe things by the commandment of the Lord God of Iſrael, and with the conſent of Cyrus, Darius and Artaxerxes, kings of Perſia.

5 And thus was the holy houſe finiſhed in the three and twentieth day of the month Adar, in the ſixth year of Darius, king of the Perſians.

6 And the children of Iſrael, the prieſts and the Levites, and others that were of the captivity, that were added unto them, did according to the things written in the book of Moſes.

7 And to the dedication of the temple of the Lord, they offered an hundred bullocks, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs;

8 And twelve goats for the ſin of all Iſrael, according to the number of the chief of the tribes of Iſrael,

9 The prieſts alſo and the Levites ſtood arrayed in their veſtments, according to their kindreds, in the ſervices of the Lord God of Iſrael, according to the book of Moſes: and the porters at every gate.

10 And the children of Iſrael that were of the captivity, held the paſſover the fourteenth day of the firſt month, after that the prieſts and the Levites were ſanctified.

11 They that were of the captivity were not all ſanctified together: but the Levites were all ſanctified together.

12 And ſo they offered the paſſover for all them of the captivity, and for their brethren the prieſts, and for themſelves.

13 And the children of Iſrael that came out of the captivity did eat, even all they that had ſeparated themſelves from the abominations of the people of the land, and ſought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feaſt of unleavened bread ſeven days, making merry before the Lord:

15 For that he had turned the counſel of the king of Aſſyria towards them to ſtrengthen their hands in the works of the Lord God of Iſrael.

2 The ſon of Sadduc, the ſon of Achitob, the ſon of Amarias, the ſon of Ezias, the ſon of Memeroth, the ſon of Zaraias, the ſon of Savias, the ſon of Boccas, the ſon of Abyſum, the ſon of Phinees, the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron the chief prieſt.

3 This Eſdras went up from Babylon as a ſcribe, being very ready in the law of Moſes, that was given by the God of Iſrael.

4 And the king did him honour: for he found grace in his ſight, in all his requeſts.

5 There went up with him alſo certain of the children of Iſrael, of the prieſts, of the Levites, of the holy ſingers, porters and miniſters of the temple, unto Jeruſalem,

6 In the ſeventh year of the reign of Artaxerxes, in the fifth month (this was the king's ſeventh year) for they went from Babylon in the firſt day of the firſt month, and came to Jeruſalem, according to the proſperous journey which the Lord gave them.

7 For Eſdras had very great ſkill, ſo that he omitted nothing of the law and commandments of the Lord, but taught all Iſrael the ordinances and judgments.

8 Now the copy of the commiſſion which was written from Artaxerxes the king, and came to Eſdras the prieſt, and reader of the law of the Lord, is this that followeth:

9 King Artaxerxes unto Eſdras the prieſt, and reader of the law of the Lord, ſendeth greeting.

10 Having determined to deal graciouſly, I have given order that ſuch of the nation of the Jews, and of the prieſts and Levites, being within our realm, as are willing and deſirous, ſhould go with thee unto Jeruſalem.

11 As many therefore as have a mind thereunto, let them depart with thee, as it hath ſeemed good both to me, and my ſeven friends the counſellors;

12 That they may look unto the affairs of Judea and Jeruſalem, agreeably to that which is in the law of the Lord;

13 And carry the gifts unto the Lord of Iſrael to Jeruſalem, which I and my friends have vowed, and all the gold and ſilver that in the country of Babylon can be found, to the Lord in Jeruſalem,

14 With that alſo which is given of the people for the temple of the Lord their God at Jeruſalem: and that ſilver and gold may be collected for bullocks, rams, and lambs, and things thereunto appertaining.

15 To the end that they may offer ſacrifices unto the Lord, upon the altar of the Lord their God which is in Jeruſalem.

16 And whatſoever thou and thy brethren will do with the ſilver and gold, that do according to the will of thy God.

17 And the holy veſſels of the Lord, which are given thee for the uſe of the temple of thy God which is in Jeruſalem, thou ſhalt ſet before thy God in Jeruſalem.

18 And whatſoever thing elſe thou ſhalt remember for the uſe of the temple of thy God, thou ſhalt give it out of the king's treaſury.

19 And I king Artaxerxes have alſo commanded the keepers of the treaſures in Syria and Phenice, that whatſoever Eſdras the prieſt and the reader of the law of the moſt high God ſhall ſend for, they ſhould give it him with ſpeed,

20 To the ſum of an hundred talents of ſilver, likewiſe alſo of wheat, even to an hundred cors, and an hundred pieces of wine, and other things in abundance.

21 Let all things be performed after the law of God diligently, unto the moſt high God, that wrath come not upon the kingdom of the king, and his ſons.

22 I command you alſo, that ye require no tax, nor any other impoſition of any of the prieſts or Levites, or holy ſingers, or porters, or miniſters of the temple, or of any that have doings in this temple, and that no man have authority to impoſe any thing upon them.

23 And thou, Eſdras, according to the wiſdom of God, ordain judges and juſtices, that they may judge in all Syria and Phenice, all thoſe that know the law of thy God: and thoſe that know it not, thou ſhalt teach.

24 And whoſoever ſhall tranſgreſs the law of thy God, and of the king, ſhall be puniſhed diligently, whether it be by death or other puniſhment, by penalty of money, or by impriſonment.

25 ¶ Then ſaid Eſdras the ſcribe, Bleſſed be the only Lord God of my fathers, who hath put theſe things into the heart of the king, to glorify his houſe that is in Jeruſalem:

26 And hath honoured me in the ſight of the king and his counſellors, and all his friends and nobles.

27 Therefore was I encouraged by the help of the Lord my God, and gathered together men of Iſrael to go up with me.

28 And theſe are the chief according to their families, and ſeveral dignities that went up with me from Babylon in the reign of king Artaxerxes.

29 Of the ſons of Phinees, Gerſon: of the ſons of Ithamar, Gamael: of the ſons of David, Lettus the ſon of Sechenias:

30 Of the ſons of Pharez, Zacharias; and with him were counted an hundred and fifty men:

31 Of the ſons of Pahath Moab, Eliaonias the ſon of Zarias, and with him two hundred men:

32 Of the ſons of Zathoe, Sechenias the ſon of Jezelus, and with him three hundred men: of the ſons of Adin, Obeth the ſon of Jonathan, and with him two hundred and fifty men:

33 Of the ſons of Elam, Joſias ſon of Gotholias, and with him ſeventy men:

34 Of the ſons of Saphatias, Zaraias ſon of Michael, and with him threeſcore and ten men:

35 Of the ſons of Joab, Abadias ſon of Jezelus, and with him two hundred and twelve men:

36 Of the ſons of Banid, Aſſalimoth ſon of Joſaphias, and with him an hundred and threeſcore men:

37 Of the ſons of Babi, Zacharias ſon of Bebai, and with him twenty and eight men:

38 Of the ſons of Aſtath, Joannes ſon of Acatan, and with him an hundred and ten men:

39 Of the ſons of Adonicam the laſt, and theſe are the names of them, Eliphalet, Juel, and Semaias, and with them ſeventy men:

40 Of the ſons of Bago, Uthi the ſon of Iſtalcurus, and with him ſeventy men.

41 And theſe I gathered together to the river called Theras, where we pitched our tents three days; and then I ſurveyed them.

42 But when I had found there none of the prieſts and Levites,

43 Then ſent I unto Eleazar, and Iduel, and Maſman,

44 And Alnathan, and Mamaias, and Joribas, and Nathan, Eunatan, Zacharias, and Moſollamon, principal men and learned.

45 And I bade them that they ſhould go unto Saddeus the captain, who was in the place of the treaſury:

46 And commanded them that they ſhould ſpeak unto Daddeus, and to his brethren, and to the treaſurers in that place, to ſend us ſuch men as might execute the prieſt's office in the houſe of the Lord.

47 And by the mighty hand of our Lord, they brought unto us ſkilful men of the ſons of Moli, the ſon of Levi, the ſon of Iſrael, Aſebebia, and his ſons and his brethren, who were eighteen:

48 And Aſebia, and Annuus, and Oſaias, his brother, of the ſons of Channuneus, and their ſons were twenty men.

49 And of the ſervants of the temple, whom David had ordained, and the principal men for the ſervice of the Levites (to wit) the ſervants of the temple, two hundred and twenty, the catalogue of whoſe names were ſhewed.

50 And there I vowed a faſt unto the young men before our Lord, to deſire of him a proſ-perous journey both for us and them that were with us, for our children, and for the cattle:

51 For I was aſhamed to aſk the king footmen and horſemen, and conduct for ſafeguard againſt our adverſaries.

52 For we had ſaid unto the king, that the power of the Lord our God ſhould be with them that ſeek him, to ſupport them in all ways.

53 And again we beſought our Lord, as touching theſe things, and found him favourable unto us.

54 Then I ſeparated twelve of the chief of the prieſts, Eſebrias, and Aſſanius, and ten men of their brethren with them.

55 And I weighed them the gold and the ſilver, and the holy veſſels of the houſe of our Lord, which the king and his council, and the princes, and all Iſrael, had given.

56 And when I had weighed it, I delivered unto them ſix hundred and fifty talents of ſilver, and ſilver veſſels of an hundred talents, and an hundred talents of gold, 57 And twenty golden veſſels, and twelve veſſels of braſs, even of fine braſs glittering like gold.

58 And I ſaid unto them, Both you are holy unto the Lord, and the veſſels are holy, and the gold and the ſilver is a vow unto the Lord, the Lord of our fathers.

59 Watch ye, and keep them till ye deliver them to the chief of the prieſts and Levites, and to the principal men of the families of Iſrael in Jeruſalem, into the chambers of the houſe of our God.

60 So the prieſts and the Levites, who had received the ſilver and the gold, and the veſſels, brought them unto Jeruſalem into the temple of the Lord.

61 And from the river Theras we departed the twelfth day of the firſt month, and came to Jeruſalem by the mighty hand of our Lord, which was with us: and from the beginning of our journey the Lord delivered us from every enemy, and ſo we came to Jeruſalem.

62 And when we had been there three days, the gold and ſilver that was weighed, was delivered into the houſe of our Lord, on the fourth day unto Marmoth, the prieſt, the ſon of Iri.

63 And with him was Eleazar the ſon of Phinees, and with them were Joſabad the ſon of Jeſu, and Moeth the ſon of Sabban, Levites: all was delivered them by number and weight.

64 And all the weight of them was written up the ſame hour.

65 Moreover, they that were come out of the captivity offered ſacrifice unto the Lord God of Iſrael, even twelve bullocks, for all Iſrael, fourſcore and ſixteen rams,

66 Threeſcore and twelve ſambs, goats for a peace-offering twelve, all of them a ſacrifice to the Lord.

67 And they delivered the king's commandments unto the king's ſtewards, and to the governors of Celoſyria and Phenice, and they honoured the people, and the temple of God.

68 Now when theſe things were done, the rulers came unto me, and ſaid,

69 The nation of Iſrael, the princes, the prieſts, and Levites, have not put away from them the ſtrange people of the land, nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, Hittites, Pherefites, Jebuſites, and the Moabites, Egyptians, and Edomites.

70 For both they and their ſons have married with their daughters, and the holy ſeed is mixed with the ſtrange people of the land; and from the beginning of this matter, the rulers and the great men had been partakers of this iniquity.

71 And as ſoon as I had heard theſe things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and pulled off the hair from off my head and beard, and ſat me down ſad and very heavy.

72 So all they that were then moved at the word of the Lord God of Iſrael, aſſembled unto me, whilſt I mourned for the iniquity: but I ſat ſtill, full of heavineſs, until the evening ſacrifice.

73 Then riſing up from the faſt, with my clothes and the holy garment rent, and bowing my knees, and ſtretching forth my hands unto the Lord.

74 I ſaid, O Lord, I am confounded, and aſhamed before thy face;

75 For

75 For our ſins are multiplied above our heads, and our ignorances have reached up unto heaven.

76 For ever ſince the time of our fathers, we have been and are in great ſin, even unto this day.

77 And for our ſins and our fathers, we with our brethren, and our kings, and our prieſts, were given up unto the kings of the earth, to the ſword, and to captivity, and for a prey, with ſhame unto this day.

78 And now in ſome meaſure hath mercy been ſhewed unto us from thee, O Lord, that there ſhould be left us a root and a name in the place of thy ſanctuary;

79 And to diſcover unto us a light in the houſe of the Lord our God, and to give us food in the time of our ſervitude.

80 Yea, when we were in bondage, we were not forſaken of our Lord; but he made us gracious before the kings of Perſia, ſo that they gave us food;

81 Yea, and honoured the temple of our Lord, and raiſed up the deſolate Sion, that they had given us a ſure abiding in Jewry and Jeruſalem.

82 And now, O Lord, what ſhall we ſay, having theſe things? for we have tranſgreſſed thy commandments, which thou gaveſt by the hand of thy ſervants the prophets, ſaying, 83 That the land which ye enter into to poſſeſs as an heritage, is a land polluted with the pollutions of the ſtrangers of the land, and they have filled it with their uncleanneſs.

84 Therefore now ſhall ye not join your daughters unto their ſons, neither ſhall ye take their daughters unto your ſons.

85 Moreover, you ſhall never ſeek to have peace with them, that ye may be ſtrong, and eat the good things of the land, and that ye may leave the inheritance of the land unto your children for evermore.

86 And all that is befallen, is done unto us for our wicked works, and great ſins: for thou, O Lord, didſt make our ſins light.

87 And didſt give unto us ſuch a root: but we have turned back again to tranſgreſs thy law, and to mingle ourſelves with the uncleanneſs of the nations of the land.

88 Mighteſt not thou be angry with us to deſtroy us, till thou hadſt left us neither root, ſeed, nor name?

89 O Lord of Iſrael, thou art true: for we are left a root this day.

90 Behold, now are we before thee in our iniquities, for we cannot ſtand any longer, by reaſon of theſe things before thee.

91 And as Eſdras in his prayer made his confeſſion, weeping and lying flat upon the ground before the temple, there gathered unto him from Jeruſalem, a very great multitude of men, and women, and children: for there was great weeping among the multitude.

92 Then Jechonias the ſon of Jeelus, one of the ſons of Iſrael, called out and ſaid, O Eſdras, we have ſinned againſt the Lord God, we have married ſtrange women of the nations of the land, and now is all Iſrael aloft.

93 Let us make an oath to the Lord, that we will put away all our wives which we have taken of the heathen, with their children,

94 Like as thou haſt decreed, and as many as do obey the law of the Lord.

95 Ariſe, and put in execution: for to thee doth this matter appertain, and we will be with thee: do valiantly.

96 So Eſdras aroſe, and took an oath of the chief of the prieſts and Levites of all Iſrael, to do after theſe things; and ſo they ſware.

CHAP. IX.

1 Eſdras aſſembleth all the people: 10 They promiſe to put away the ſtrange wives. 40 The law of Moſes is read and declared.

THEN Eſdras riſing from the court of the temple, went to the chamber of Joanan, the ſon of Eliaſib,

2 And remained there, and did eat no meat

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then Eſdras riſing from the court, &c.] In this and the following verſes, we have an account of a proclamation publiſhed for all the Jews of the captivity to aſſemble in two or three days at Jeruſalem, on pain of their cattle being ſeized for the ſervice of the temple, and themſelves caſt out from among their brethren. See Ezra x.

nor drink water, mourning for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Jewry and Jeruſalem, to all them that were of the captivity, that they ſhould be gathered together at Jeruſalem:

4 And that whoſoever met not there within two or three days, according as the elders that bare rule appointed, their cattle ſhould be ſeized to the uſe of the temple, and himſelf caſt out from them that were of the captivity.

5 And in three days were all they of the tribe of Juda and Benjamin gathered together at Jeruſalem, the twentieth day of the ninth month.

6 And all the multitude ſat trembling in the broad court of the temple, becauſe of the preſent foul weather.

7 So Eſdras aroſe up, and ſaid unto them, Ye have tranſgreſſed the law in marrying ſtrange wives, thereby to increaſe the ſins of Iſrael.

8 And now by confeſſion give glory unto the Lord God of our fathers,

9 And do his will, and ſeparate yourſelves from the heathen of the land, and from the ſtrange women.

10 Then cried the whole multitude, and ſaid with a loud voice, Like as thou haſt ſpoken, ſo will we do.

11 But foraſmuch as the people are many, and it is foul weather, ſo that we cannot ſtand without, and this is not a work of a day or two, ſeeing our ſin in theſe things is ſpread far:

12 Therefore let the rulers of the multitude ſtay, and let all them of our habitations that have ſtrange wives, come at the time appointed,

13 And with them the rulers and judges of every place, till we turn away the wrath of the Lord from us for this matter.

14 Then Jonathan the ſon of Azael, and Ezechias the ſon of Theocanus, accordingly took this matter upon them: and Moſollam, and Levis, and Sabbatheus helped them.

15 And they that were of the captivity did according to all theſe things.

16 And Eſdras the prieſt choſe unto him the principal men of their families all by name: and in the firſt day of the tenth month they ſat together to examine the matter.

17 So their cauſe that held ſtrange wives was brought to an end, in the firſt day of the firſt month.

18 And of the prieſts that were come togegether, and had ſtrange wives, there were found:

19 Of the ſons of Jeſus the ſon of Joſedec, and his brethren; Matthelas, and Eleazar, and Joribus, and Joadanus.

20 And they gave their hands to put away their wives, and to offer rams, to make reconcilement for their errors.

21 And of the ſons of Emmer; Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Eanes, and Sameius, and Hiereel, and Azarias.

22 And of the ſons of Phaiſur; Elionas, Maſſias, Iſmael, and Nathanael, and Ocidelus, and Talſas.

23 And of the Levites; Jozabad, and Semis, and Colius, who was called Calitas, and Patheus, and Judas, and Jonas.

24 Of the holy ſingers; Eleazurus, Bacchurus.

25 Of the porters; Sallumus, and Tolbanes.

26 Of them of Iſrael, of the ſons of Phoros; Hiermas, and Eddias, and Melchias, and Maelus, and Eleazer, and Aſibias, and Baanias.

27 Of the ſons of Ela; Matthanias, Zacharias, and Hierielus, and Hieremoth, and Aedias.

28 And of the ſons of Zamoth; Eliadas, Eliſimus, Othonias, Jerimoth, and Sabatus, and Sardeus.

29 Of the ſons of Bebai; Johannes, and Ananias, and Joſabad, and Amatheis.

30 Of the ſons of Mani; Olamus, Mamuchus, Jedeus, Jaſubus, Jaſael, and Hieremoth.

31 And of the ſons of Addi; Naathus, and Mooſias, Lacunus, and Naidus, and Mathanias, and Seſthell, Balnuus, and Manaſſeas.

32 And of the ſons of Annas; Elionas, and Aſeas, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon Choſameus.

33 And of the ſons of Aſom; Altaneus, and Matthias, and Bannaia, Eliphalat, and Manaſſes, and Semei.

34 And of the ſons of Maani; Jeremias,

Momdis, Omaerus, Juel, Mabdai, and Pelias, and Anos, Carabaſion, and Euaſibus, and Mamnitanaimus, Eliaſis, Bannus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias: and of the ſons of Ozora; Seſis, Eſril, Azaelus, Samatus, Zambis, Joſiphus.

35 And of the ſons of Ethma; Mazitias, Zabadaias, Edes, Juel, Banaias.

36 All theſe had taken ſtrange wives, and they put them away with their children.

37 And the prieſts and Levites, and they that were of Iſrael, dwelt in Jeruſalem, and in the country, in the firſt day of the ſeventh month: ſo the children of Iſrael were in their habitations.

38 And the whole multitude came together with one accord, into the broad place of the holy porch toward the eaſt.

39 And they ſpake unto Eſdras the prieſt and reader, that he would bring the law of Moſes, that was given of the Lord God of Iſrael.

40 So Eſdras the chief prieſt brought the law unto the whole multitude from man to woman, and to all the prieſts, to hear the law, in the firſt day of the ſeventh month.

41 And he read in the broad court before the holy porch from morning unto mid-day, before both men and women; and all the multitude gave heed unto the law.

42 And Eſdras the prieſt, and the reader of the law, ſtood up upon a pulpit of wood which was made for that purpoſe.

43 And there ſtood up by him Matathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Urias, Ezecias, Balaſamus, upon the right hand.

44 And upon his left hand ſtood Phaldaius, Miſael, Milchias, Lothaſubus, and Nabarias.

45 Then took Eſdras the book of the law before the multitude: for he ſat honourably in the firſt place in the ſight of them all.

46 And when he opened the law, they ſtood all ſtraight up. So Eſdras bleſſed the Lord God moſt high, the God of hoſts Almighty.

47 And all the people anſwered, Amen; and lifting up their hands, they fell to the ground, and worſhipped the Lord.

48 Alſo Jeſus, Anus, Serabias, Adinus, Jacubus, Sabatteas, Aureas, Maianeas, and Calitas, Azarias, and Joazabdus, and Ananias, Biatas, the Levites, taught the law of the Lord, making them withal to underſtand it.

49 Then ſpake Attharates unto Eſdras the chief prieſt and reader, and to the Levites that taught the multitude, even to all, ſaying,

50 This day is holy unto the Lord; (for they all wept when they heard the law)

51 Go then and eat the fat, and drink the ſweet, and ſend part to them that have nothing.

52 For this day is holy unto the Lord, and be not ſorrowful; for the Lord will bring you to honour.

53 So the Levites publiſhed all things to the people, ſaying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not ſorrowful.

54 Then went they their way, every one to eat and drink, and make merry, and to give part to them that had nothing, and to make great chear.

55 Becauſe they underſtood the words wherein they were inſtructed, and for the which they had been aſſembled.

37 The prieſts and the Levites, &c.] The ſimilar paſſage from this verſe to the end of the chapter is in Nehem. viii. 1, to 13.

38 The whole multitude came together, &c.] Joſephus has given us the following account of this tranſaction.

"On the ſeventh month, when the feaſt of tabernacles was celebrated, and all the people were met together in a place near the gate facing the eaſt, which opens into the capacious area of the temple, they deſired Eſdras to read to them the law of Moſes. Accordingly he placed himſelf in the midſt of the audience, and continued reading unto them from morning until noon. And when they had heard the law, they not only learned to follow juſtice for the preſent, and the future, but alſo lamented what was paſt, and with eyes drowned in tears, heavily mourned at this conſideration, that if they had paid a due regard to the laws, they ſhould not have ſuffered the misfortune they had undergone. When Eſdras ſaw their mournful condition, he commanded them to repair to their reſpective habitations, and leave off weeping; for the day was a feſtival, and therefore a very improper time to ſhew any ſigns of ſorrow. He exhorted them to rejoice, as being more agreeable to the time; adding, that he hoped their ſorrow and repentance for their paſt offences would be a ſecurity againſt any future tranſgreſſions. The requeſt of Eſdras had the deſired effect. The people began the feaſt, which continued eight days in their tents, and then returned to the places of their dwelling, giving thanks and praiſes to God, and acknowledging their great obligations to Eſdras, who had piouſly taught them every part of their dut/."

THE SECOND BOOK OF ESDRAS.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book, say the Authors of the Universal History, is acknowledged by neither Jews nor Christians. It is falsely pretended to have been written by Ezra himself, though filled partly with Rabbinical Fables, such as the account of the six days creation, particularly of Behemoth and Leviathan, two monstrous creatures, designed for a feast, to the elect after the resurrection, and partly with some gospel notions, corrupted and fitted to the author's taste. Of this sort are the nearness of the day of judgement, the appearance of the Son of God to him, and many more not worth repeating. This book is not now extant in Greek, nor ever was in Hebrew; but is printed in Latin in many editions of the Bible.

CHAP. I.

1 Esdras is commanded to reprove the people.
24 God threateneth to cast them off.

THE second book of the prophet Esdras, the son of Saraias, the son of Azarias, the son of Helchias, the son of Sadamias, the son of Sadoc, the son of Achitob,

2 The son of Achias, the son of Phinees, the son of Heli, the son of Amarias, the son of Aziei, the son of Marimoth, the son of Arna, the son of Ozias, the son of Borith, the son of Abisei, the son of Phinees, the son of Eleazar.

3 The son of Aaron, of the tribe of Levi: which was captive in the land of the Medes, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of the Persians.

4 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

5 Go thy way, and shew my people their sinful deeds, and their children their wickedness which they have done against me; that they may tell their children's children.

6 Because the sins of their fathers are increased in them: for they have forgotten me, and have offered unto strange gods.

7 Am not I even he that brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage? but they have provoked me unto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the hair of thy head, and cast all evil upon them, for they have not been obedient unto my law, but it is a rebellious people.

9 How long shall I forbear them, unto whom I have done so much good?

10 Many kings have I destroyed for their sakes; Pharaoh with his servants, and all his power have I smitten down.

11 All the nations have I destroyed before them, and in the east I have scattered the people of two provinces, even of Tyrus and Sidon, and have slain all their enemies.

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 5 Go thy way, and shew my people, &c.] Esdras is ordered in this chapter to set before the people their numberless sins, iniquities, and idolatries, which far exceeded those of their fore-fathers. He also recites the wonderful works which God had done for that stiff-necked people, who, though he had used them with the greatest indulgence, they still continued hardened and impenitent; for which reason God declares he will utterly abandon them, and give their habitations to a strange people, who should worship and adore his holy name, with a contrite heart and true spirit.

12 Speak thou therefore unto them, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord,

13 I led you through the ſea, and in the beginning gave you a large and ſafe paſſage; I gave you Moſes for a leader, and Aaron for a prieſt.

14 I gave you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders have I done among you, yet have you forgotten me, ſaith the Lord.

15 Thus ſaith the Almighty Lord, The quails were as a token for you, I gave you tents for your ſafeguard: nevertheleſs ye murmured there,

16 And triumphed not in my name for the deſtruction of your enemies, but ever to this day do ye yet murmur.

17 Where are the benefits that I have done for you? when you were hungry and thirſty in the wilderneſs, did you not cry unto me,

18 Saying, Why haſt thou brought us into this wilderneſs, to kill us? it had been better for us to have ſerved the Egyptians, than to die in this wilderneſs.

19 Then had I pity upon your mournings, and gave you manna to eat; ſo ye did eat angels bread.

20 When ye were thirſty, did I not cleave the rock, and waters flowed out to your fill? for the heat I covered you with the leaves of the trees.

21 I divided among you a fruitful land; I caſt out the Canaanites, the Pherezites, and the Philiſtines before you: what ſhall I yet do more for you? ſaith the Lord.

22 Thus ſaith the Almighty Lord, When you were in the wilderneſs, in the river of the Amorites, being a thirſt, and blaſpheming my name, 23 I gave you not fire for your blaſphemies, but caſt a tree in the water, and made the river ſweet.

24 What ſhall I do unto thee, O Jacob? thou, Juda, wouldeſt not obey me: I will turn me to other nations, and unto thoſe will I give my name, that they may keep my ſtatutes.

25 Seeing ye have forſaken me, I will forſake you alſo; when ye deſire me to be gracious unto you, I ſhall have no mercy upon you.

26 Whenſoever ye ſhall call upon me, I will not hear you: for ye have defiled your hands with blood, and your feet are ſwift to commit man-ſlaughter.

27 Ye have not as it were forſaken me, but your ownſelves, ſaith the Lord.

28 Thus ſaith the Almighty Lord, Have I not prayed you as a father his ſons, as a mother her daughters, and her nurſe her young babes;

29 That ye would be my people, and I ſhould be your God; that ye would be my children, and I ſhould be your father?

30 I gathered you together as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings: but now what ſhall I do unto you? I will caſt you out from my face.

31 When you offer unto me, I will turn my face from you: for your ſolemn feaſt-days, your new-moons, and your circumciſions, have I forſaken.

32 I ſent unto you my ſervants the prophets, whom ye have taken and ſlain, and torn their bodies in pieces, whoſe blood I will require of your hands, ſaith the Lord.

33 Thus ſaith the Almighty Lord, your houſe is deſolate, I will caſt you out as the wind doth ſtubble.

34 And your children ſhall not be fruitful; for they have deſpiſed my commandment, and done the thing that is evil before me.

35 Your houſes will I give to a people that ſhall come; which not having heard of me, yet ſhall believe me; to whom I have ſhewed no ſigns, yet they ſhall do that I have commanded them.

36 They have ſeen no prophets, yet they ſhall call their ſins to remembrance, and acknowledge them.

37 I take to witneſs the grace of the people to come, whoſe little ones rejoice in gladneſs: and though they have not ſeen me with bodily eyes, yet in ſpirit they believe the thing that I ſay.

22 In the river of the Amorites, &c.] i. e. At the bitter waters, or waters of Marah. See Exod. xv. 23.

38 And now, brother, behold what glory; and ſee the people that cometh from the eaſt:
39 Unto whom I will give for leaders, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, Oſeas, Amos, and Micheas, Joel, Abdias, and Jonas.
40 Nahum, and Abacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharie, and Malachie, which is called alſo an angel of the Lord.

CHAP. II.

1 God complaineth of his people; 10 yet Eſdras is willed to comfort them.

THUS ſaith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage, and I gave them my commandments by my ſervants the prophets; whom they would not hear, but deſpiſed my counſels.
2 The mother that bare them ſaith unto them, Go your way, ye children, for I am a widow, and forſaken.
3 I brought you up with gladneſs, but with ſorrow and heavineſs have I loſt you: for ye have ſinned before the Lord your God, and done that thing that is evil before him.
4 But what ſhall I now do unto you? I am a widow and forſaken: go your way, O my children, and aſk mercy of the Lord.
5 As for me, O father, I call upon thee for a witneſs over the mother of theſe children, which would not keep my covenant,
6 That thou bring them to confuſion, and their mother to a ſpoil, that there may be no offspring of them.
7 Let them be ſcattered abroad among the heathen, let their names be put out of the earth: for they have deſpiſed my covenant.
8 Woe be unto thee, Aſſur, that thou hideſt the unrighteous in thee; O thou wicked people, remember what I did unto Sodom and Gomorrha;
9 Whoſe land lieth in clods of pitch, and heaps of aſhes: even ſo alſo will I do unto them that hear me not, ſaith the Almighty Lord.
10 Thus ſaith the Lord unto Eſdras, Tell my people that I will give them the kingdom of Jeruſalem, which I would have given unto Iſrael.
11 Their glory alſo will I take unto me, and give theſe the everlaſting tabernacles which I had prepared for them.
12 They ſhall have the tree of life for an ointment of ſweet ſavour, they ſhall neither labour, nor be weary.
13 Go, and ye ſhall receive: pray for few days unto you, that they may be ſhortened: the kingdom is already prepared for you: watch.
14 Take heaven and earth to witneſs; for I have broken the evil in pieces, and created the good: for I live, ſaith the Lord.
15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them up with gladneſs, make their feet as faſt as a pillar: for I have choſen thee, ſaith the Lord.
16 And thoſe that be dead, will I raiſe up again from their places, and bring them out of their graves: for I have known my name in Iſrael.
17 Fear not, thou mother of the children: for I have choſen thee, ſaith the Lord.
18 For thy help will I ſend my ſervants Eſay and Jeremy, after whoſe counſel I have ſanctified and prepared for thee twelve trees laden with divers fruits,
19 And as many fountains flowing with milk and honey, and ſeven mighty mountains whereupon there grow roſes and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with joy.
20 Do right to the widow, judge for the fatherleſs, give to the poor, defend the orphan, clothe the naked, 21 Heal the broken and the weak, laugh not a lame man to ſcorn, defend the maimed, and let the blind man come into the ſight of my clearneſs.
22 Keep the old and young within thy walls.
23 Whereſoever thou findeſt the dead take them and bury them, and I will give thee the firſt place in my reſurrection.
24 Abide ſtill, O my people, and take thy reſt, for thy quietneſs ſhall come.
25 Nouriſh thy children, O thou good nurſe; ſtabliſh their feet.
26 As for the ſervants whom I have given thee, there ſhall not one of them periſh; for

Notes on the Second Chapter.
Ver. 15 Bring them up with gladneſs.] Margin reads, Bring them up with gladneſs as a dove.

I will require them from among thy number.

27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heavineſs cometh, others ſhall weep and be ſorrowful, but thou ſhalt be merry, and have abundance.

28 The heathen ſhall envy thee, but they ſhall be able to do nothing againſt thee, ſaith the Lord.

29 My hands ſhall cover thee, ſo that thy children ſhall not ſee hell.

30 Be joyful, O thou mother, with thy children; for I will deliver thee, ſaith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that ſleep, for I ſhall bring them out of the ſides of the earth, and ſhew mercy unto them: for I am merciful, ſaith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children until I come, and ſhew mercy unto them: for my wells run over, and my grace ſhall not fail.

33 I Eſdras received a charge of the Lord upon the mount Oreb, that I ſhould go unto Iſrael; but when I came unto them, they ſet me at nought, and deſpiſed the commandment of the Lord.

34 And therefore I ſay unto you, O ye heathen that hear and underſtand, Look for your Shepherd, he ſhall give you everlaſting reſt; for he is nigh at hand, that ſhall come in the end of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdom, for the everlaſting light ſhall ſhine upon you for evermore.

36 Flee the ſhadow of this world, receive the joyfulneſs of your glory: I teſtify my Saviour openly.

37 O receive the gift that is given you, and be glad, giving thanks unto him that hath called you to the heavenly kingdom.

38 Ariſe up, and ſtand, behold the number of thoſe that be ſealed in the feaſt of the Lord,

39 Which are departed from the ſhadow of the world, and have received glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number O Sion, and ſhut up thoſe of thine that are clothed in white, which have fulfilled the law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longedſt for, is fulfilled: beſeech the power of the Lord, that thy people which have been called from the beginning may be hallowed.

42 I Eſdras ſaw upon the mount Sion a great people, whom I could not number, and they all praiſed the Lord with ſongs.

43 And in the midſt of them there was a young man of a high ſtature, taller than all the reſt, and upon every one of their heads he ſet crowns, and was more exalted; which I marvelled at greatly.

44 So I aſked the angel, and ſaid, Sir, what are theſe?

45 He anſwered and ſaid unto me, Theſe be they that have put off the mortal clothing, and put on the immortal, and have confeſſed the name of God; now are they crowned, and receive palms.

46 Then ſaid I unto the angel, What young perſon is it that crowneth them, and giveth them palms in their hands?

47 So he anſwered and ſaid unto me, It is the Son of God whom they have confeſſed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them that ſtood ſo ſtiffly for the name of the Lord.

48 Then the angel ſaid unto me, Go thy way, and tell my people what manner of things, and how great wonders of the Lord thy God thou haſt ſeen.

CHAP. III.

1 Eſdras is troubled, 13 and acknowledgeth the ſins of the people; 28 yet complaineth of the heathen.

IN the thirtieth year, after the ruin of the city, I was in Babylon, and lay troubled 42 I Eſdras ſaw upon mount Sion a great people, &c.] Eſdras in this and the following verſes gives an account of a viſion, wherein he ſees the Son of God, and thoſe he is pleaſed to honour with a crown of glory. See Rev. vii. 9.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the thirtieth year, &c.] Eſdras relates the troubles of his ſpirit at beholding the afflictions of his people; on which he offers up his prayers to the Almighty, acknowledging he gave mankind a being by Adam, who tranſgreſſed the divine command. He then proceeds to recite the unbounded mercies of God in ſaving Noah from the waters of the flood, whereby the generations of ſinners were deſtroyed from the face of the earth.

upon my bed, and my thoughts came up over my heart.

2 For I ſaw the deſolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 And my ſpirit was ſore moved, ſo that I began to ſpeak words full of fear to the moſt High, and ſaid,

4 O Lord, who beareſt rule, thou ſpakeſt at the beginning, when thou didſt plant the earth (and that thyſelf alone) and commandedſt the people,

5 And gaveſt a body unto Adam without ſoul, which was the workmanſhip of thine hands, and didſt breathe into him the breath of life, and he was made living before thee.

6 And thou leddeſt him into paradiſe, which thy right hand had planted, before ever the earth came forward.

7 And unto him thou gaveſt commandment to love thy way: which he tranſgreſſed, and immediately thou appointedſt death in him, and in his generations, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kindreds, out of number.

8 And every people walked after their own will, and did wonderful things before thee, and deſpiſed thy commandments.

9 And again, in proceſs of time, thou broughteſt the flood upon thoſe that dwelt in the world, and deſtroyedſt them.

10 And it came to paſs in every of them, that as death was to Adam, ſo was the flood to theſe.

11 Nevertheleſs, one of them thou lefteſt, namely, Noah with his houſhold, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And it happened, that when they that dwelt upon the earth began to multiply, and had gotten them many children, and were a great people, they began again to be more ungodly than the firſt.

13 Now, when they lived ſo wickedly before thee, thou didſt chooſe thee a man from among them, whoſe name was Abraham.

14 Him thou loveſt, and unto him only thou ſhewedſt thy will:

15 And madeſt an everlaſting covenant with him, promiſing him that thou wouldeſt never forſake his ſeed.

16 And unto him thou gaveſt Iſaac, and unto Iſaac alſo thou gaveſt Jacob and Eſau. As for Jacob thou didſt chooſe him to thee, and put by Eſau: and ſo Jacob became a great multitude.

17 And it came to paſs, that when thou leddeſt his ſeed out of Egypt, thou broughteſt them up to the mount Sina.

18 And bowing the heavens, thou didſt ſet faſt the earth, movedſt the whole world, and madeſt the depths to tremble, and troubledſt the men of that age.

19 And thy glory went through four gates, of fire, and of earthquake, and of wind, and of cold; that thou mighteſt give the law unto the ſeed of Jacob, and deliverance unto the generation of Iſrael.

20 And yet tookeſt thou not away from them a wicked heart, that thy law might bring forth fruit in them.

21 For the firſt Adam bearing a wicked heart, tranſgreſſed, and was overcome; and ſo be all they that are born of him.

22 Thus infirmity was made permanent; and the law (alſo) in the heart of the people with the malignity of the root; ſo that the good departed away, and the evil abode ſtill.

23 So the times paſſed away, and the years were brought to an end: then didſt thou raiſe thee up a ſervant, called David:

24 Whom thou commandedſt to build a city unto thy name, and to offer incenſe and oblations unto thee therein.

25 When this was done many years, then they that inhabited the city forſook thee.

26 And in all things did even as Adam, and all his generations had done: for they alſo had a wicked heart.

27 And ſo thou gaveſt thy city over into the hands of thine enemies.

earth. And though the deſcendants of Noah were afterwards wicked and rebellious, yet it pleaſed God to chuſe Abraham, and to make with him an everlaſting covenant, with a promiſe to protect and defend his ſeed. He next recites the deliverance from the Egyptian bondage, and the great mercy of God in calling David to build a city unto his glorious name, where oblations and ſacrifices might be offered; but the inhabitants having hearts filled with wickedneſs, were deprived of their city and temple by their enemies.

28 Are their deeds then any better that inhabit Babylon, that they ſhould therefore have the dominion over Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and had ſeen impieties without number, then my ſoul ſaw many evil-doers in this thirtieth year, ſo that my heart failed me.

30 For I have ſeen how thou ſuffereſt them ſinning, and haſt ſpared wicked-doers: and haſt deſtroyed thy people, and haſt preſerved thine enemies, and haſt not ſignified it.

31 I do not remember how this way may be left: Are they then of Babylon better than they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee beſides Iſrael? or what generation hath ſo believed thy covenants as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I have gone here and there through the heathen, and I ſee that they flow in wealth, and think not upon thy commandments.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickedneſs now in the balance, and theirs alſo that dwell in the world; and ſo ſhall thy name no where be found but in Iſrael.

35 Or when was it, that they which dwell upon the earth have not ſinned in thy ſight? or what people hath ſo kept thy commandments?

36 Thou ſhalt find that Iſrael by name hath kept thy precepts; but not the heathen.

CHAP. IV.

1 The angel declareth the ignorance of Eſdras in God's judgments, 13 and adviſeth him not to meddle with things above his reach.

AND the angel that was ſent unto me, whoſe name was Uriel, gave me an anſwer,

2 And ſaid, Thy heart hath gone too far in this world, and thinkeſt thou to comprehend the way of the moſt High?

3 Then ſaid I, Yea, my lord: and he anſwered me, and ſaid, I am ſent to ſhew thee three ways, and to ſet forth three ſimilitudes before thee:

4 Whereof if thou canſt declare me one, I will ſhew thee alſo the way that thou deſireſt to ſee, and I will ſhew thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I ſaid, Tell on, my lord. Then ſaid he unto me, Go thy way, weigh me the weight of the fire, or meaſure me the blaſt of the wind, or call me again the day that is paſt.

6 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, What man is able to do that, that thou ſhouldeſt aſk ſuch things of me?

7 And he ſaid unto me, If I ſhould aſk thee how great dwellings are in the midſt of the ſea, or how many ſprings are in the beginning of the deep, or how many ſprings are above the firmament, or which are the outgoings of paradiſe:

8 Peradventure thou wouldeſt ſay unto me, I never went down into the deep, nor as yet into hell, neither did I ever climb up into heaven.

9 Nevertheleſs, now have I aſked thee but only of the fire, and wind, and of the day where through thou haſt paſſed, and of things from which thou canſt not be ſeparated, and yet canſt thou give me no anſwer of them.

10 He ſaid moreover unto me, Thine own things, and ſuch as are grown up with thee. canſt thou not know;

11 How ſhould thy veſſel then be able to comprehend the way of the Higheſt, and the world being now outwardly corrupted, to underſtand the corruption that is evident in my ſight?

12 Then ſaid I unto him, It were better that we were not at all, than that we ſhould ſtill live in wickedneſs, and to ſuffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 He anſwered me, and ſaid, I went into a foreſt into a plain, and the trees took counſel,

14 And ſaid, Come, let us go and make war againſt the ſea, that it may depart away before us, and that we may make us more woods.

15 The floods of the ſea alſo in like manner took counſel, and ſaid, Come, let us go up and

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The angel that was ſent unto me, &c.] The prophet having ſpoken too haſtily, the angel was ordered to give him an anſwer: this he accordingly does, and reproves him for endeavouring to comprehend divine myſteries, which was above the reach of human underſtanding.

Notes

ſubdue the woods of the plain, that there alſo we may make us another country.

16 The thought of the wood was in vain, for the fire came and conſumed it.

17 The thought of the floods of the ſea came likewiſe to nought, for the ſand ſtood up and ſtopped them.

18 If thou wert judge now betwixt theſe two, whom wouldſt thou begin to juſtify? or whom wouldſt thou condemn?

19 I anſwered and ſaid, Verily it is a fooliſh thought that they have both deviſed; for the ground is given unto the wood, and the ſea alſo hath his place to bear his floods.

20 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, Thou haſt given a right judgement, but why judgeſt thou not thyſelf alſo?

21 For like as the ground is given unto the wood, and the ſea to his floods: even ſo they that dwell upon the earth may underſtand nothing, but that which is upon the earth: and he that dwelleth above the heavens, may only underſtand the things that are above the height of the heavens.

22 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, I beſeech thee, O Lord, let me have underſtanding.

23 For it was not my mind to be curious of the high things, but of ſuch as paſs by us daily, namely, wherefore Iſrael is given up as a reproach to the heathen, and for what cauſe the people whom thou haſt loved, is given over unto ungodly nations, and why the law of our forefathers is brought to nought, and the written covenants come to none effect,

24 And we paſs away out of the world as graſhoppers, and our life is aſtoniſhment and fear, and we are not worthy to obtain mercy.

25 What will he then do unto his name, whereby we are called? of theſe things have I aſked.

26 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, The more thou ſearcheſt, the more thou ſhalt marvel, for the world haſteth faſt to paſs away,

27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promiſed to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of unrighteouſneſs and infirmities.

28 But as concerning the things whereof thou aſkeſt me, I will tell thee; for the evil is ſown, but the deſtruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If therefore that which is ſown be not turned upſide down, and if the place where the evil is ſown paſs not away, then cannot it come that is ſown with good.

30 For the grain of evil ſeed hath been ſown in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much ungodlineſs hath it brought up unto this time? and how much ſhall it yet bring forth until the time of threſhing come?

31 Ponder now by thyſelf how great fruit of wickedneſs the grain of evil ſeed hath brought forth.

32 And when the ears ſhall be cut down which are without number, how great a floor ſhall they fill?

33 Then I anſwered and ſaid, How, and when ſhall theſe things come to paſs? wherefore are our years few and evil?

34 And he anſwered me, ſaying, Do not thou haſten above the moſt Higheſt: for thy haſte is in vain to be above him, for thou haſt much exceeded.

35 Did not the ſouls alſo of the righteous aſk queſtion of theſe things in their chambers, ſaying, How long ſhall I hope on this faſhion? when cometh the fruit of the floor of our reward?

36 And unto theſe things Uriel the archangel gave them anſwer, and ſaid, Even when the number of ſeeds is filled in you: for he hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 By meaſure hath he meaſured the times, and by number hath he numbered the times; and he doth not move, nor ſtir them, until the ſaid meaſure be fulfilled.

38 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, O Lord, that beareſt rule, even we all are full of impiety.

39 And for our ſakes peradventure it is that the floors of the righteous are not filled, becauſe of the ſins of them that dwell upon the earth.

40 So he anſwered me, and ſaid, Go thy way to a woman with child, and aſk of her, when ſhe hath fulfilled her nine months, if her womb may keep the birth any longer within her.

41 Then ſaid I, No, Lord, that can ſhe not. And he ſaid unto me, In the grave the chambers of ſouls are like the womb of a woman:

42 For like as a woman that travaileth, maketh haſte to eſcape the neceſſity of the travail: even ſo do theſe places haſte to deliver thoſe things that are committed unto them.

43 From the beginning look what thou deſireſt to ſee, it ſhall be ſhewed thee.

44 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, If I have found favour in thy ſight, and if it be poſſible, and if I be meet therefore,

45 Shew me then, whether there be more to come than is paſt, or more paſt than is to come.

46 What is paſt I know, but what is for to come I know not.

47 And he ſaid unto me, Stand up upon the right ſide, and I ſhall expound the ſimilitude unto thee.

48 So I ſtood and ſaw, and behold, an hot burning oven paſſed by before me: and it happened, that when the flame was gone by, I looked, and behold, the ſmoke remained ſtill.

49 After this, there paſſed by before me a watery cloud, and ſent down much rain with a ſtorm, and when the ſtormy rain was paſt, the drops remained ſtill.

50 Then ſaid he unto me, Conſider with thyſelf; as the rain is more than the drops, and as the fire is greater than the ſmoke: but the drops and the ſmoke remain behind: ſo the quantity which is paſt did more exceed.

51 Then I prayed, and ſaid, May I live, thinkeſt thou, until that time? or what ſhall happen in thoſe days?

52 He anſwered me, and ſaid, As for the tokens whereof thou aſkeſt me, I may tell thee of them in part: but as touching thy life, I am not ſent to ſhew thee, for I do not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 The ſigns of the times to come: 23 He aſketh why God, chooſing but one people, did caſt them off.

NEvertheleſs, as concerning the tokens, behold, the days ſhall come, that they which dwell upon earth ſhall be taken in a great number, and the way of truth ſhall be hidden, and the land ſhall be barren of faith.

2 But iniquity ſhall be increaſed above that which now thou ſeeſt, or that thou haſt heard long ago.

3 And the land that thou ſeeſt now to have root, ſhalt thou ſee waſted ſuddenly.

4 But if the moſt High grant thee to live, thou ſhall ſee after the third trumpet, that the ſun ſhall ſuddenly ſhine again in the night, and the moon thrice in the day.

5 And blood ſhall drop out of the wood, and the ſtone ſhall give his voice, and the people ſhall be troubled.

6 And even he ſhall rule, whom they look not for that dwell upon the earth, and the fowls ſhall take their flight away together.

7 And the Sodomitiſh ſea ſhall caſt out fiſh, and make a noiſe in the night, which many have not known: but they ſhall all hear the voice thereof.

8 There ſhall be a confuſion alſo in many places, and the fire ſhall be oft ſent out again, and the wild beaſts ſhall change their places, and menſtruous women ſhall bring forth monſters.

9 And ſalt waters ſhall be found in the ſweet; and all friends ſhall deſtroy one another; then ſhall wit hide itſelf, and underſtanding withdraw itſelf into his ſecret chamber,

10 And ſhall be ſought of many, and yet not be found: then ſhall unrighteouſneſs and incontinency be multiplied upon earth.

11 One land alſo ſhall aſk another, and ſay,

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 As concerning the tokens, &c.] Juſtice and truth being wholly baniſhed from the land, God gives tokens of his vengeance to come. This the prophet ſaw in a viſion, and was exceedingly terrified, but is ſupported and comforted by an angel. And hence we ſhould learn under all kinds of tribulation whatever, to truſt ſolely on the mercy and goodneſs of the Almighty, and repoſe ourſelves under the ſhadow of his wings. Then may we ſmile at deſtruction when it cometh, and behold without terror the ravages of the wide waſting peſtilence that walketh in darkneſs, and the devaſtations of the ſword that deſtroyeth at noon-day.

Is righteouſneſs that maketh a man righteous gone through thee? And it ſhall ſay, No.

12 At the ſame time ſhall men hope, but nothing obtain: they ſhall labour, but their ways ſhall not proſper.

13 To ſhew thee ſuch tokens I have leave; and if thou wilt pray again, and weep as now, and faſt ſeven days, thou ſhalt hear yet greater things.

14 Then I awaked, and an extreme fearfulneſs went through all my body, and my mind was troubled, ſo that it fainted.

15 So the angel that was come to talk with me, held me, comforted me, and ſet me up upon my feet.

16 And in the ſecond night it came to paſs, that Salathiel the captain of the people came unto me, ſaying, Where haſt thou been, and why is thy countenance ſo heavy?

17 Knoweſt thou not that Iſrael is committed unto thee, in the land of their captivity?

18 Up then, and eat bread, and forſake us not, as the ſhepherd that leaveth his flock in the hands of cruel wolves.

19 Then ſaid I unto him, Go thy ways from me, and come not nigh me. And he heard what I ſaid, and went from me.

20 And ſo I faſted ſeven days mourning and weeping, like as Uriel the angel commanded me.

21 And after ſeven days ſo it was, that the thoughts of my heart were very grievous unto me again.

22 And my ſoul recovered the ſpirit of underſtanding, and I began to talk with the moſt High again,

23 And ſaid, O Lord, that beareſt rule of every wood of the earth, and of all the trees thereof, thou haſt choſen thee one only vine:

24 And of all lands of the whole world, thou haſt choſen thee one pit: and of all the flowers thereof, one lily:

25 And of all the depths of the ſea, thou haſt filled thee one river: and of all builded cities, thou haſt hallowed Sion unto thyſelf:

26 And of all the fowls that are created, thou haſt named thee one dove: and of all the cattle that are made, thou haſt provided thee one ſheep:

27 And among all the multitude of peoples, thou haſt gotten thee one people: and unto this people whom thou lovedſt, thou gaveſt a law that is approved of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why haſt thou given this one people over unto many? and upon the one root haſt thou prepared others, and why haſt thou ſcattered thy only one people among many?

29 And they which did gainſay thy promiſes, and believed not thy covenants, have troden them down.

30 If thou didſt ſo much hate thy people, yet ſhouldſt thou puniſh them with thine own hands.

31 Now when I had ſpoken theſe words, the angel that came to me the night afore, was ſent unto me,

32 And ſaid unto me, Hear me, and I will inſtruct thee; hearken to the thing that I ſay, and I ſhall tell thee more.

33 And I ſaid, Speak on, my lord: then ſaid he unto me, Thou art ſore troubled in mind for Iſrael's ſake: loveſt thou that people better than he that made them?

34 And I ſaid, No, Lord, but of very grief have I ſpoken: for my reins pain me every hour, while I labour to comprehend the way of the moſt High, and to ſeek out part of his judgement.

35 And he ſaid unto me, Thou canſt not: and I ſaid, wherefore, Lord? whereunto was I born then? or why was not my mother's womb then my grave, that I might not have ſeen the travail of Jacob, and the weariſome toil of the ſtock of Iſrael?

36 And he ſaid unto me, Number me the things that are not yet come, gather me together the drops that are ſcattered abroad, make me the flowers green again that are withered,

20 I faſted ſeven days, &c.] Eſdras continued his faſt ſeven days, mourning and bewailing the unhappy lot of the ſtock of Jacob; at the end of which term his underſtanding returned, and he aſked why Jehovah, who had choſen the ſeed of Abraham for his own people, ſhould utterly reject them, and make them a ſcorn to the heathen? This being an improper queſtion, he is reproved by the angel, and informed, that the myſteries and judgments of the Almighty are far above the comprehenſion of ſinful mortals.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me forth the winds that in them are shut up, shew me the image of a voice: and then I will declare to thee the thing that thou laboures to know.

38 And I said, O Lord, that beares rule, who may know these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 As for me, I am unwise: how may I then speak of these things whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he unto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things that I have spoken of, even so canst thou not find out my judgement, or in the end the love that I have promised, unto my people.

41 And I said, Behold, O Lord, yet art thou nigh unto them that be reserved till the end: and what shall they do that have been before me, or we (that be now) or they that shall come after us?

42 And he said unto me, I will liken my judgement unto a ring: like as there is no slackness of the last, even so there is no swiftness of the first.

43 So I answered and said, Couldest thou not make those that have been made, and be now, and that are for to come, at once; that thou mightest shew thy judgement the sooner?

44 Then answered he me, and said, The creature may not haste above the maker, neither may the world hold them at once that shall be created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast said unto thy servant, that thou which givest life to all, hast given life at once to the creature that thou hast created, and the creature bare it: even so it might now also bear them that now be present at once.

46 And he said unto me, Ask the womb of a woman, and say unto her, If thou bringest forth children, why dost thou it not together, but one after another? pray her therefore to bring forth ten children at once.

47 And I said, She cannot: but must do it by distance of time.

48 Then said he unto me, Even so have I given the womb of the earth to those that be sown in it, in their times.

49 For like as a young child may not bring forth the things that belong to the aged, even so have I disposed the world which I created.

50 And I asked and said, Seeing thou hast now given me the way, I will proceed to speak before thee: for our mother, of whom thou hast told me that she is young, draweth now nigh unto age.

51 He answered me, and said, Ask a woman that beareth children, and she shall tell thee.

52 Say unto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before, but less of stature?

53 And she shall answer thee, They that be born in the strength of youth are of one fashion, and they that are born in the time of age (when the womb faileth) are otherwise.

54 Consider thou therefore also, how that ye are less of stature than those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you less than ye, as the creatures which now begin to be old, and have passed over the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I have found favour in thy sight, shew thy servant by whom thou visitest thy creature.

CHAP. VI.

1 God's purpose is eternal. 8 The next world shall follow this immediately. 13 What shall fall out at the last.

AND he said unto me, In the beginning, when the earth was made, before the borders of the world stood, or ever the winds blew,

2 Before it thundered and lightened, or ever the foundations of paradise were laid,

3 Before the fair flowers were seen, or ever the moveable powers were established, before the innumerable multitude of angels were gathered together,

4 Or ever the heights of the air were lifted up, before the measures of the firmament were named, or ever the chimnies in Sion were hot,

5 And ere the present years were sought out, and and or ever the inventions of them that now ſin, were turned, before they were ſealed that have gathered faith for a treaſure:

6 Then did I conſider theſe things, and they all were made through me alone, and through none other: by me alſo they ſhall be ended, and by none other.

7 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, What ſhall be the parting aſunder of the times? or when ſhall be the end of the firſt, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And he ſaid unto me, From Abraham unto Iſaac, when Jacob and Eſau were born of him, Jacob's hand held firſt the heel of Eſau.

9 For Eſau is the end of the world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heel and the hand: other queſtion, Eſdras, aſk thou not.

11 ¶ I anſwered then, and ſaid, O Lord, that beareſt rule, if I have found favour in thy ſight, 12 I beſeech thee, ſhew thy ſervant the end of thy tokens, whereof thou ſhewedſt me part the laſt night.

13 So he anſwered and ſaid unto me, Stand up upon thy feet, and hear a mighty ſounding voice.

14 And it ſhall be as it were a great motion, but the place where thou ſtandeſt ſhall not be moved.

15 And therefore when it ſpeaketh, be not afraid: for the word is of the end, and the foundation of the earth is underſtood.

16 And why? becauſe the ſpeech of theſe things trembleth, and is moved: for it knoweth that the end of theſe things muſt be changed.

17 And it happened that when I had heard it, I ſtood up upon my feet, and hearkened, and behold, there was a voice that ſpake, and the ſound of it was like the ſound of many waters.

18 And it ſaid, Behold the days come, that I will begin to draw nigh, and to viſit them that dwell upon the earth, 19 And will begin to make inquiſition of them, what they be that have hurt unjuſtly with their unrighteouſneſs, and when the affliction of Sion ſhall be fulfilled.

20 And when the world that ſhall begin to vaniſh away, ſhall be finiſhed, then will I ſhew theſe tokens: the books ſhall be opened before the firmament, and they ſhall ſee all together.

21 And the children of a year old ſhall ſpeak with their voices, the women with child ſhall bring forth untimely children, of three or four months old, and they ſhall live and be raiſed up.

22 And ſuddenly ſhall the ſown places appear unſown, the full ſtore-houſes ſhall ſuddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet ſhall give a ſound, which when every man heareth, they ſhall be ſuddenly afraid.

24 At that time ſhall friends fight one againſt another like enemies, and the earth ſhall ſtand in fear with thoſe that dwell therein, the ſprings of the fountains ſhall ſtand ſtill, and in three hours they ſhall not run.

25 Whoſoever remaineth from all theſe that I have told thee, ſhall eſcape, and ſee my ſalvation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are received ſhall ſee it, who have not taſted death from their birth: and the heart of the inhabitants ſhall be changed, and turned into another meaning.

27 For evil ſhall be put out, and deceit ſhall be quenched.

28 As for faith it ſhall flouriſh, corruption ſhall be overcome, and the truth which hath been ſo long without fruit, ſhall be declared.

29 And when he talked with me, behold, I looked by little and little upon him before whom I ſtood.

30 And theſe words ſaid he unto me, I am come to ſhew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray yet more, and faſt ſeven days again, I ſhall tell thee greater things by day than I have heard.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 18 Behold the days come, &c.] The prophet is here informed, that the next world, the new heaven, and the new earth, ſhall ſucceed this immediately, and what aſtoniſhing things ſhall happen, when this world ſhall be diſſolved, and time ſhall give place to eternity.

32 For thy voice is heard before the moſt High: for the Mighty hath ſeen thy righteous dealing, he hath ſeen alſo thy chaſtity, which thou haſt had ever ſince thy youth.

33 And therefore hath he ſent me to ſhew thee all theſe things, and to ſay unto thee, Be of good comfort, and fear not.

34 And haſten not with the times that are paſt, to think vain things, that thou mayeſt not haſten from the latter times.

35 And it came to paſs after this, that I wept again, and faſted ſeven days in like manner, that I might fulfil the three weeks which he told me.

36 And in the eighth night was my heart vexed within me again, and I began to ſpeak before the moſt High.

37 For my ſpirit was greatly ſet on fire, and my ſoul was in diſtreſs.

38 And I ſaid, O Lord, thou ſpakeſt from the beginning of the creation, even the firſt day, and ſaidſt thus, Let heaven and earth be made; and thy word was a perfect work.

39 And then was the ſpirit, and darkneſſes and ſilence were on every ſide; the ſound of man's voice was not yet formed.

40 Then commandedſt thou a fair light to come forth of thy treaſures, that thy work might appear.

41 Upon the ſecond day thou madeſt the ſpirit of the firmament, and commandedſt it to part aſunder, and to make a diviſion betwixt the waters, that the one part might go up, and the other remain beneath.

42 Upon the third day thou didſt command that the waters ſhould be gathered in the ſeventh part of the earth: ſix parts haſt thou dried up, and kept them, to the intent that of theſe, ſome being planted of God, and tilled, might ſerve thee.

43 For as ſoon as thy word went forth, the work was made.

44 For immediately there was great and innumerable fruit, and many and divers pleaſures for the taſte, and flowers of unchangeable colour, and odours of wonderful ſmell: and this was done the third day.

45 Upon the fourth day thou commandedſt that the ſun ſhould ſhine, and the moon give her light, and the ſtars ſhould be in order:

46 And gaveſt them a charge to do ſervice unto man, that was to be made.

47 Upon the fifth day thou ſaidſt unto the ſeventh part, where the waters were gathered, that it ſhould bring forth living creatures, fowls and fiſhes: and ſo it came to paſs.

48 For the dumb water, and without life, brought forth living things at the commandment of God, that all people might praiſe thy wonderous works.

49 Then didſt thou ordain two living creatures, the one thou calledſt Enoch, and the other Leviathan;

50 And didſt ſeparate the one from the other: for the ſeventh part (namely, where the water was gathered together) might not hold them both.

51 Unto Enoch thou gaveſt one part, which was dried up the third day, that he ſhould dwell in the ſame part wherein are a thouſand hills.

52 But unto Leviathan thou gaveſt the ſeventh part, namely, the moiſt, and haſt kept him to be devoured of whom thou wilt, and when.

53 Upon the ſixth day thou gaveſt commandment unto the earth, that before thee it ſhould bring forth beaſts, cattle, and creeping things:

54 And after theſe, Adam alſo, whom thou madeſt lord of all thy creatures: of him come we all, and the people alſo whom thou haſt choſen.

55 All this have I ſpoken before thee, O Lord, becauſe thou madeſt the world for our ſakes.

56 As for the other people which alſo come of Adam, thou haſt ſaid that they are nothing,

38 O Lord, thou ſpakeſt from the beginning of the creation, &c.] The prophet here recounts the ſeven days works of the creation, and complains in the moſt pathetic terms, that neither himſelf nor the reſt of the ſmall remnant of the ſeed of Jacob have any comfort, becauſe of the exultation of their enemies, who had laid the courts of Sion waſte, trodden down Jeruſalem, and carried her ſons and daughters into captivity.

49 Enoch.] Margin reads Behemoth.

but be like unto ſpittle, and haſt likened the abundance of them unto a drop that falleth from a veſſel.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, theſe heathen, which have ever been reputed as nothing, have begun to be lords over us, and to devour us.

58 But we thy people (whom thou haſt called thy firſt-born, thy only begotten, and thy fervent lover) are given into their hands.

59 If the world now be made for our ſakes, why do we not poſſeſs an inheritance with the world? how long ſhall this endure?

CHAP. VII.

4 The way is narrow: 12 When it was made narrow. 28 All ſhall die, and riſe again. 33 Chriſt ſhall ſit in judgment.

AND when I had made an end of ſpeaking theſe words, there was ſent unto me the angel which had been ſent unto me the nights afore.

2 And he ſaid unto me, Up, Eſdras, and hear the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I ſaid, Speak on, my God. Then ſaid he unto me, The ſea is ſet in a wide place, that it might be deep and great.

4 But put the caſe the entrance were narrow, and like a river,

5 Who then could go into the ſea to look upon it, and to rule it? if he went not through the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is alſo another thing. A city is builded and ſet upon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and is ſet in a dangerous place to fall, like as if there were a fire on the right hand, and on the left a deep water:

8 And one only path between them both, even between the fire and water, ſo ſmall that there could but one man go there at once.

9 If this city now were given unto a man for an inheritance, if he never ſhall paſs the danger ſet before it, how ſhall he receive this inheritance?

10 And I ſaid, It is ſo, Lord. Then ſaid he unto me, Even ſo alſo is Iſrael's portion.

11 Becauſe for their ſakes I made the world: and when Adam tranſgreſſed my ſtatutes, then was decreed that now is done.

12 Then were the entrances of this world made narrower, full of ſorrow and travail: they are but few and evil, full of perils, and very painful.

13 For the entrances of the elder world were wide and ſure, and brought immortal fruit.

14 If then they that live, labour not to enter theſe ſtrait and vain things, they can never receive thoſe that are laid up for them.

15 Now therefore why diſquieteſt thou thyſelf, ſeeing thou art but a corruptible man? and why art thou moved, whereas thou art but mortal?

16 Why haſt thou not conſidered in thy mind this thing that is to come, rather than that which is preſent?

17 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, O Lord, that beareſt rule, thou haſt ordained in thy law, that the righteous ſhould inherit theſe things, but that the ungodly ſhould periſh.

18 Nevertheleſs, the righteous ſhall ſuffer ſtrait things, and hope for wide: for they that have done wickedly, have ſuffered the ſtrait things, and yet ſhall not ſee the wide.

19 And he ſaid unto me, There is no judge above God, and none that hath underſtanding above the Higheſt.

20 For there be many that periſh in this life, becauſe they deſpiſe the law of God, that is ſet before them.

21 For God hath given ſtrait commandment to ſuch as came, what they ſhould do to live, even as they came, and what they ſhould obſerve to avoid puniſhment.

22 Nevertheleſs they were not obedient unto him; but ſpake againſt him, and imagined vain things,

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 3 The ſea is ſet in a wide place, &c.] The prophet is informed, under the ſimilitude of a narrow paſſage into the ſea, and the ſtrait entrance into a city, of the portion of Iſrael, and why the entrances into this world are narrow, and the days of man are few and evil, full of ſorrow and travail.

23 And deceived themſelves by their wicked deeds, and ſaid of the moſt High, that he is not, and knew not his ways:

24 But his law have they deſpiſed, and denied his covenants; in his ſtatutes have they not been faithful, and have not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Eſdras, for the empty are empty things, and for the full are the full things.

26 Behold, the time ſhall come, that theſe tokens which I have told thee ſhall come to paſs, and the bride ſhall appear, and ſhe coming forth, ſhall be ſeen, that now is withdrawn from the earth.

27 And whoſoever is delivered from the foreſaid evils, ſhall ſee my wonders.

28 For my ſon Jeſus ſhall be revealed with thoſe that be with him, and they that remain ſhall rejoice within four hundred years.

29 After theſe years ſhall my ſon Chriſt die, and all men that have life.

30 And the world ſhall be turned into the old ſilence ſeven days, like as in the former judgments: ſo that no man ſhall remain.

31 And after ſeven days, the world that yet awaketh not, ſhall be raiſed up, and that ſhall die that is corrupt.

32 And the earth ſhall reſtore thoſe that are aſleep in her, and ſo ſhall the duſt thoſe that dwell in ſilence, and the ſecret places ſhall deliver thoſe ſouls that were committed unto them.

33 And the moſt High ſhall appear upon the ſeat of judgment, and miſery ſhall paſs away, and the long-ſuffering ſhall have an end.

34 But judgment only ſhall remain, truth ſhall ſtand, and faith ſhall wax ſtrong:

35 And the work ſhall follow, and the reward ſhall be ſhewed, and the good deeds ſhall be of force, and wicked deeds ſhall bear no rule.

36 Then ſaid I, Abraham prayed firſt for the Sodomites, and Moſes for the fathers that ſinned in the wilderneſs:

37 And Jeſus after him for Iſrael in the time of Achan:

38 And Samuel and David for the deſtruction: and Solomon for them that ſhould come to the ſanctuary:

39 And Helias for thoſe that received rain, and for the dead, that he might live:

40 And Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib: and many for many.

41 Even ſo now, ſeeing corruption is grown up, and wickedneſs increaſed, and the righteous have prayed for the ungodly: wherefore ſhall it not be ſo now alſo?

42 He anſwered me and ſaid, This preſent life is not the end where much glory doth abide; therefore have they prayed for the weak.

43 But the day of doom ſhall be the end of this time, and the beginning of the immortality for to come, wherein corruption is paſt.

44 Intemperancy is at end, infidelity is cut off, righteouſneſs is grown, and truth is ſprung up.

45 Then ſhall no man be able to ſave him that is deſtroyed, nor to oppreſs him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I anſwered then, and ſaid, This is my firſt and laſt ſaying, that it had been better not to have given the earth unto Adam: or elſe, when it was given him, to have reſtrained him from ſinning.

47 For what profit is it for men, now in this preſent time, to live in heavineſs, and after death to look for puniſhment?

48 O thou Adam, what haſt thou done? for though it was thou that ſinned, thou art not fallen alone, but we all that come of thee.

49 For what profit is it unto us, if there be promiſed us an immortal time, whereas we have done the works that bring death?

50 And that there is promiſed us an everlaſting hope, whereas ourſelves being moſt wicked are made vain?

51 And that there are laid up for us dwellings of health and ſafety, whereas we have lived wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the moſt High is 37 Achan.] Or, Achor.

48 O thou Adam, what haſt thou done? &c.] Eſdras laments the ſtate of man and his fall, and ſays, It had been better for him if he had never been created. But the angel ſhews him that it is in a man's own power to be happy, by following the precepts, and obeying the commands of the Hoſt Migh; whereas thoſe that deſpiſe his offers of mercy, and follow the wide path that leadeth to deſtruction, will ſurely reap the fruits of their doings, and plunge themſelves into perdition.

52 A wary life.] Or, a chaſte life.

kept to defend them which have led a wary life, whereas we have walked in the moſt wicked ways of all?

53 And that there ſhould be ſhewed a paradiſe, whoſe fruit endureth for ever, wherein is ſecurity and medicine, ſith we ſhall not enter into it;

54 (For we have walked in unpleaſant places)

55 And that the faces of them which have uſed abſtinence ſhall ſhine above the ſtars, whereas our faces ſhall be blacker than darkneſs?

56 For while we lived and committed iniquity, we conſidered not that we ſhould begin to ſuffer for it after death.

57 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, This is the condition of the battle, which man that is born upon the earth ſhall fight;

58 That if he be overcome, he ſhall ſuffer as thou haſt ſaid: but if he get the victory, he ſhall receive the thing that I ſay.

59 For this is the life whereof Moſes ſpake unto the people while he lived, ſaying, Chooſe thee life that thou mayeſt live.

60 Nevertheleſs they believed not him, nor yet the prophets after him, no nor me which have ſpoken unto them,

61 That there ſhould not be ſuch heavineſs in their deſtruction, as ſhall be joy over them that are perſuaded to ſalvation.

62 I anſwered then, and ſaid, I know, Lord, that the moſt High is called merciful, in that he hath mercy upon them which are not yet come into the world.

63 And upon thoſe alſo that turn to his law;

64 And that he is patient, and long ſuffereth thoſe that have ſinned, as his creatures;

65 And that he is bountiful, for he is ready to give where it needeth;

66 And that he is of great mercy, for he multiplieth more and more mercies to them that are preſent, and that are paſt, and alſo to them which are to come.

67 For if he ſhall not multiply his mercies, the world would not continue with them that inherit therein.

68 And he pardoneth; for if he did not ſo of his goodneſs, that they which have committed iniquities might be eaſed of them; the ten thouſandth part of men ſhould not remain living.

69 And being judge, if he ſhould not forgive them that are cured with his word, and put out the multitude of contentions,

70 There ſhould be very few left peradventure in an innumerable multitude,

CHAP. VIII.

1 Many created, but few ſaved: 6 He aſketh why God deſtroyeth his own work; 26 and prayeth God to look upon the people which only ſerve him.

AND he anſwered me, ſaying, The moſt High hath made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a ſimilitude, Eſdras; As when thou aſkeſt the earth, it ſhall ſay unto thee, that it giveth much mould whereof earthen veſſels are made, but little duſt that gold cometh of: even ſo is the courſe of this preſent world.

3 There be many created, but few ſhall be ſaved.

4 So anſwered I, and ſaid, Swallow then down, O my ſoul, underſtanding, and devour wiſdom.

5 For thou haſt agreed to give ear, and art willing to propheſy: for thou haſt no longer ſpace than only to live.

6 O Lord, if thou ſuffer not thy ſervant that we may pray before thee, and thou give us ſeed unto our heart, and culture to our underſtanding, that there may come fruit of it; how ſhall each man live that is corrupt, who beareth the place of a man?

7 For thou art alone, and we all one workmanſhip of thine hands, like as thou haſt ſaid.

8 For when the body is faſhioned now in the mother's womb, and thou giveſt it mem-

69 That are cured.] Or, created: and contentions, contempts.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The moſt High hath made this world for many, &c.] The angel here informs Eſdras that there are many created, but few ſaved. The prophet is ſurpriſed at this, and aſks, with ſome earneſtneſs, why God, who ſo curiouſly faſhioned man in the womb, ſhould deſtroy the work of his own hand?

bers, thy creature is preſerved in fire and water, and nine months doth thy workmanſhip endure thy creature which is created in her.

9 But that which keepeth, and is kept, ſhall both be preſerved: and when the time cometh, the womb preſerved, delivereth up the things that grew in it.

10 For thou haſt commanded out of the parts of the body, that is to ſay, out of the breaſts, milk to be given, which is the fruit of the breaſts,

11 That the thing which is faſhioned may be nouriſhed for a time, till thou diſpoſeſt it to thy mercy.

12 Thou broughteſt it up with thy righteouſneſs, and nurturedſt it in thy law, and reformedſt it with thy judgment.

13 And thou ſhalt mortify it as thy creature, and quicken it as thy work.

14 If therefore thou ſhalt deſtroy him, which with ſo great labour was faſhioned, it is an eaſy thing to be ordained by thy commandment, that the thing which was made might be preſerved.

15 Now therefore, Lord, I will ſpeak (touching man in general, thou knoweſt beſt) but touching thy people for whoſe ſake I am ſorry;

16 And for thine inheritance, for whoſe cauſe I mourn; and for Iſrael, for whom I am heavy; and for Jacob, for whoſe ſake I am troubled:

17 Therefore will I begin to pray before thee, for myſelf and for them: for I ſee the falls of us that dwell in the land.

18 But I have heard the ſwiftneſs of the judge which is to come.

19 Therefore hear my voice, and underſtand my words, and I ſhall ſpeak before thee: this is the beginning of the words of Eſdras, before he was taken up; and I ſaid,

20 O Lord, thou that dwelleſt in everlaſtingneſs, which beholdeſt from above things in the heaven, and in the air,

21 Whoſe throne is ineſtimable, whoſe glory may not be comprehended, before whom the hoſts of angels ſtand with trembling,

22 (Whoſe ſervice is converſant in wind and fire) whoſe word is true, and ſayings conſtant, whoſe commandment is ſtrong, and ordinance fearful,

23 Whoſe look drieth up the depths, and indignation maketh the mountains to melt away, which the truth witneſſeth:

24 O hear the prayer of thy ſervant, and give ear to the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I live, I will ſpeak, and ſo long as I have underſtanding, I will anſwer.

26 O look not upon the ſins of thy people: but on them which ſerve thee in truth.

27 Regard not the wicked inventions of the heathen, but the deſire of thoſe that keep thy teſtimonies in afflictions.

28 Think not upon thoſe that have walked feignedly before thee: but remember them which, according to thy will, have known thy fear.

29 Let it not be thy will to deſtroy them which have lived like beaſts; but to look upon them that have clearly taught thy law.

30 Take thou no indignation at them which are deemed worſe than beaſts: but love them that alway put their truſt in thy righteouſneſs and glory.

31 For we and our fathers do languiſh of ſuch diſeaſes: but becauſe of us ſinners thou ſhalt be called merciful.

32 For if thou haſt a deſire to have mercy upon us, thou ſhalt be called merciful, to us namely, that have no works of righteouſneſs.

33 For the juſt, which have many good works laid up with thee, ſhall out of their own deeds receive reward.

34 For what is man, that thou ſhouldeſt take diſpleaſure at him? or what is a corruptible generation, that thou ſhouldeſt be ſo bitter toward it?

35 For in truth, there is no man among them that be born, but he hath dealt wickedly, and among the faithful there is none which hath not done amiſs.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteouſneſs

20 O Lord, thou that dwelleſt in everlaſtingneſs, &c.] Eſdras prays for the Iſraelites, being ſenſible of approaching judgments, and begs God not to look upon the ſins of the people, but on them who ſerve him in ſincerity and truth.

and thy goodneſs ſhall be declared, if thou be merciful unto them which have not the confidence of good works.

37 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, Some things haſt thou ſpoken aright, and according unto thy words it ſhall be.

38 For indeed, I will not think on the diſpoſition of them which have ſinned before death, before judgment, before deſtruction.

39 But I will rejoice over the diſpoſition of the righteous, and I will remember alſo their pilgrimage, and the ſalvation, and the reward that they ſhall have.

40 Like as I have ſpoken now, ſo ſhall it come to paſs.

41 For as the huſbandman ſoweth much ſeed upon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet the thing that is ſown good in his ſeaſon cometh not up, neither doth all that is planted take root: even ſo is it of them that are ſown in the world, they ſhall not all be ſaved.

42 I anſwered then, and ſaid, If I have found grace, let me ſpeak.

43 Like as the huſbandman's ſeed periſheth, if it come not up, and receive not thy rain in due ſeaſon, or if there come too much rain and corrupt it:

44 Even ſo periſheth man alſo which is formed with thy hands, and is called thine own image, becauſe thou art like unto him, for whoſe ſake thou haſt made all things, and likened him unto the huſbandman's ſeed.

45 Be not wroth with us, but ſpare thy people, and have mercy upon thine own inheritance: for thou art merciful unto thy creature.

46 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, Things preſent are for the preſent, and things to come, for ſuch as be to come.

47 For thou comeſt far ſhort, that thou ſhouldeſt be able to love my creature more than I: but I have oft-times drawn nigh unto thee, and unto it, but never to the unrighteous.

48 In this alſo thou art marvellous before the moſt High:

49 In that thou haſt humbled thyſelf, as it becometh thee, and haſt not judged thyſelf worthy to be much glorified among the righteous.

50 For many great miſeries ſhall be done to them that in the latter time ſhall dwell in the world, becauſe they have walked in great pride.

51 But underſtand thou for thyſelf, and ſeek out the glory for ſuch as be like thee.

52 For unto you is paradiſe opened, the tree of life is planted, the time to come is prepared, plenteouſneſs is made ready, a city is builded, and reſt is allowed, yea, perfect goodneſs and wiſdom.

53 The root of evil is ſealed up from you, weakneſs and the moth is hid from you, and corruption is fled into hell to be forgotten:

54 Sorrows are paſſed, and in the end is ſhewed the treaſure of immortality.

55 And therefore aſk thou no more queſtions concerning the multitude of them that periſh.

56 For when they had taken liberty, they deſpiſed the moſt High, thought ſcorn of his law, and forſook his ways.

57 Moreover, they have trodden down his righteous,

58 And ſaid in their heart, that there is no God; yea, and that, knowing they muſt die.

59 For as the things aforeſaid ſhall receive you, ſo thirſt and pain are prepared for them: for it was not his will that men ſhould come to nought.

60 But they which be created, have defiled the name of him that made them, and were unthankful unto him which prepared life for them.

61 And therefore is my judgment now at hand.

62 Theſe things have I not ſhewed unto all men, but unto thee, and a few like thee. Then anſwered I, and ſaid, 63 Behold, O Lord, now haſt thou ſhewed me the multitude of the wonders which thou wilt begin to do in the laſt times: but at what time thou haſt not ſhewed me.

---

43 Like as the huſbandman's ſeed periſheth, &c.] Eſdras implores God to be merciful to his people, and ſpare the remnant of his inheritance.

46 Things preſent are for the preſent, &c.] The angel tells Eſdras, that becauſe he was of an humble heart, and lowly ſpirit, and worſhipped his God in ſincerity and truth, that the gates of Paradiſe would be open to him and all believers.

CHAP. IX.

7 Who ſhall be ſaved, and who not. 19 All the world is now corrupted: 33 He complaineth that thoſe periſh which keep God's law; 38 and ſeeth a woman lamenting in a field.

HE anſwered me then, and ſaid, Meaſure thou the time diligently in itſelf: and when thou ſeeſt part of the ſigns paſt, which I have told thee before,

2 Then ſhalt thou underſtand that it is the very ſame time wherein the Higheſt will begin to viſit the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there ſhall be ſeen earthquakes and uproars of the people in the world:

4 Then ſhalt thou well underſtand, that the moſt High ſpake of thoſe things from the days that were before thee, even from the beginning.

5 For like as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning, and an end, and the end is manifeſt:

6 Even ſo the times alſo of the Higheſt have plain beginnings, in wonders and powerful works, and endings in effects and ſigns.

7 And every one that ſhall be ſaved, and ſhall be able to eſcape by his works, and by faith, whereby ye have believed,

8 Shall be preſerved from the ſaid perils, and ſhall ſee my ſalvation, in my land, and within my borders: for I have ſanctified them for me from the beginning.

9 Then ſhall they be in pitiful caſe, which now have abuſed my ways: and they that have caſt them away deſpitefully, ſhall dwell in torments.

10 For ſuch as in their life have received benefits, and have not known me;

11 And they that have lothed my law, while they had yet liberty, and when as yet place of repentance was open unto them, underſtood not, but deſpiſed it;

12 The ſame muſt know it after death by pain.

13 And therefore be thou not curious how the ungodly ſhall be puniſhed, and when: but enquire how the righteous ſhall be ſaved, whoſe the world is, and for whom the world is created.

14 Then anſwered I, and ſaid,

15 I have ſaid before, and now do ſpeak, and will ſpeak it alſo hereafter; that there be many more of them which periſh, than of them which ſhall be ſaved:

16 Like as a wave is greater than a drop.

17 And he anſwered me, ſaying, Like as the field is, ſo is alſo the ſeed; as the flowers be, ſuch are the colours alſo; ſuch as the workman is, ſuch alſo is the work; and as the huſbandman is himſelf, ſo is his huſbandry alſo: for it was the time of the world.

18 And now, when I prepared the world which was not yet made, even for them to dwell in that now live, no man ſpake againſt me.

19 For then every one obeyed, but now the manners of them which are created in this world that is made, are corrupted by a perpetual ſeed, and by a law which is unſearchable, rid themſelves.

20 So I conſidered the world, and behold, there was peril, becauſe of the devices that were come into it.

21 And I ſaw, and ſpared it greatly, and have kept me a grape of the cluſter, and a plant of a great people.

22 Let the multitude periſh then, which was born in vain, and let my grape be kept, and my plant: for with great labour have I made it perfect.

23 Nevertheleſs, if thou wilt ceaſe yet ſeven days more (but thou ſhalt not faſt in them, 24 But go into a field of flowers, where no houſe is builded, and eat only the flowers of the field; taſte no fleſh, drink no wine, but eat flowers only)

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Meaſure thou the time, &c.] The prophet is in this chapter informed who ſhall be ſaved, and the conditions on which they ſhall enter the regions of happineſs in the heavenly Canaan. He is alſo informed that the wicked, after they have paſſed the valley of the ſhadow of death, ſhall certainly be puniſhed.

13 Be thou not curious to know, &c.] Men are not to be too curious in enquiring into the ſecret acts of Providence, as he who ſpake the world into exiſtence, has thought proper to conceal them from the ſons of men.

19 Then every one obeyed, &c.] Eſdras is here informed, that a general corruption has overſpread the world; but God in his infinite mercy will ſave a remnant.

25 And pray unto the Higheſt continually, then will I come and talk with thee.

26 So I went my way into the field which is called Ardath, like as he commanded me; and there I ſat amongſt the flowers, and did eat of the herbs of the field, and the meat of the ſame ſatisfied me.

27 After ſeven days I ſat upon the graſs, and my heart was vexed within me like as before.

28 And I opened my mouth, and began to talk before the moſt High, and ſaid, 29 O Lord, thou that ſheweſt thyſelf unto us, thou waſt ſhewed unto our fathers in the wilderneſs, in a place where no man treadeth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt.

30 And thou ſpakeſt, ſaying, Hear me, O Iſrael; and mark my words, thou ſeed of Jacob.

31 For behold, I ſow my law in you, and it ſhall bring fruit in you, and ye ſhall be honoured in it for ever.

32 But our fathers which received the law, kept it not, and obſerved not thy ordinances: and though the fruit of thy law did not periſh, neither could it, for it was thine;

33 Yet they that received it periſhed, becauſe they kept not the thing that was ſown in them.

34 And lo, it is a cuſtom, when the ground hath received ſeed, or the ſea a ſhip, or any veſſel meat or drink, that, that being periſhed wherein it was ſown, or caſt into;

35 That thing alſo which was ſown or caſt therein, or received, doth periſh, and remaineth not with us: but with us it hath not happened ſo.

36 For we that have received the law, periſh by ſin, and our heart alſo which received it.

37 Notwithſtanding, the law periſheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 And when I ſpake theſe things in my heart, I looked back with mine eyes, and upon the right ſide I ſaw a woman, and behold, ſhe mourned and wept with a loud voice, and was much grieved in heart, and her clothes were rent, and ſhe had aſhes upon her head.

39 Then let I my thoughts go that I was in, and turned me unto her,

40 And ſaid unto her, Wherefore weepeſt thou? why art thou ſo grieved in thy mind?

41 And ſhe ſaid unto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewail myſelf, and add unto my ſorrow, for I am ſore vexed in my mind, and brought very low.

42 And I ſaid unto her, What aileth thee? tell me.

43 She ſaid unto me, I thy ſervant have been barren, and had no child, though I had an huſband thirty years.

44 And thoſe thirty years I did nothing elſe day and night, and every hour, but make my prayer to the Higheſt.

45 After thirty years God heard me thine handmaid, looked upon my miſery, conſidered my trouble, and gave me a ſon: and I was very glad of him, ſo was my huſband alſo, and all my neighbours, and we gave great honour unto the Almighty.

46 And I nouriſhed him with great travail.

47 So when he grew up, and came to the time that he ſhould have a wife, I made a feaſt.

CHAP. X.

6 He comforteth the woman in the field: 27 She vaniſheth away, and a city appeareth in her place. 40 The angel declareth theſe viſions in the field.

AND it came to paſs, that when my ſon was entered into his wedding chamber, he fell down and died.

2 Then we all overthrew the lights, and all my neighbours roſe up to comfort me: ſo I took my reſt unto the ſecond day at night.

3 And it came to paſs, when they had all left off to comfort me, to the end I might be quiet: then roſe I up by night and fled, and came hither into this field, as thou ſeeſt.

4 And I do now purpoſe not to return into the city, but here to ſtay, and neither to eat 33 They that received it periſhed, &c.] The prophet complains that ſome of the people who kept the law, periſhed; and that all their righteouſneſs could not ſhield them from deſtruction.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 It came to paſs, &c.] The beginning of this chapter belongs to the laſt, it being the concluſion of the woman's melancholy ſtory.

nor drink, but continually to mourn and to faſt until I die.

5 Then left I the meditations wherein I was, and ſpake to her in anger, ſaying,

6 Thou fooliſh woman above all other, ſeeſt thou not our mourning, and what happeneth unto us?

7 How that Sion our mother is full of all heavineſs, and much humbled, mourning very ſore?

8 And now ſeeing we all mourn, and are ſad, for we are all in heavineſs, art thou grieved for one ſon?

9 For aſk the earth, and ſhe ſhall tell thee, that it is ſhe which ought to mourn for the fall of ſo many that grow upon her.

10 For out of her came all at the firſt, and out of her ſhall all others come, and behold, they walk almoſt all into deſtruction, and a multitude of them is utterly rooted out.

11 Who then ſhould make more mourning than ſhe that hath loſt ſo great a multitude, and not thou which art ſorry but for one?

12 But if thou ſayeſt unto me, My lamentation is not like the earth's becauſe I have loſt the fruit of my womb, which I brought forth with pains, and bare with ſorrows;

13 But the earth not ſo: for the multitude preſent in it, according to the courſe of the earth, is gone as it came.

14 Then ſay I unto thee, Like as thou haſt brought forth with labour: even ſo the earth alſo hath given her fruit, namely man, ever ſince the beginning, unto him that made her.

15 Now therefore keep thy ſorrow to thyſelf, and bear with a good courage that which hath befallen thee.

16 For if thou ſhalt acknowledge the determination of God to be juſt, thou ſhalt both receive thy ſon in time, and ſhalt be commended amongſt women.

17 Go thy way then into the city, to thine huſband.

18 And ſhe ſaid unto me, That will I not do: I will not go into the city, but here will I die.

19 So I proceeded to ſpeak further unto her, and ſaid,

20 Do not ſo, but be counſelled by me: for how many are the adverſities of Sion? be comforted in regard of the ſorrow of Jeruſalem.

21 For thou ſeeſt that our ſanctuary is laid waſte, our altar broken down, our temple deſtroyed:

22 Our pſaltery is laid on the ground, our ſong is put to ſilence, our rejoicing is at an end, the light of our candleſtick is put out, the ark of our covenant is ſpoiled, our holy things are defiled, and the name that is called upon us is almoſt profaned: our children are put to ſhame, our prieſts are burnt, our Levites are gone into captivity, our virgins are defiled, and our wives raviſhed, our righteous men carried away, our little ones deſtroyed, our young men are brought in bondage, and our ſtrong men are become weak:

23 And which is the greateſt of all, the ſeal of Sion hath now loſt her honour: for ſhe is delivered into the hands of them that hate us.

24 And therefore ſhake off thy great heavineſs, and put away the multitude of ſorrows, that the Mighty may be merciful unto thee again, and the Higheſt ſhall give thee reſt and eaſe from thy labour.

25 And it came to paſs, while I was talking with her, behold, her face upon a ſudden ſhined exceedingly, and her countenance gliſtered, ſo that I was afraid of her, and muſed what it might be.

26 And behold, ſuddenly ſhe made a great cry, very fearful: ſo that the earth ſhook at the noiſe of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared unto me no more, but there was a city builded, and a large place ſhewed itſelf from the foundation: then was I afraid, and cried with a loud voice, and ſaid,

6 Thou fooliſh woman above all other, &c.] The prophet here ſets before the eyes of the woman the folly of her grief; becauſe it is not permitted for the children of the duſt to call in queſtion the proceedings of the Almighty; on the contrary, it is their duty to ſubmit to his determination, and conſider all his decrees as juſt.

13 But the earth not ſo, &c.] Margin reads, but the earth after the manner of the earth, whereinto the preſent multitude is gone again as it came out.

27 The woman appeared unto me no more.] The woman making a ſudden and fearful cry vaniſhed, and an angel appeared, to the great aſtoniſhment of the prophet.

28 Where is Uriel the angel, who came unto me at the firſt? for he hath cauſed me to fall into many trances, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was ſpeaking theſe words, behold, he came unto me, and looked upon me.

30 And lo, I lay as one that had been dead, and mine underſtanding was taken from me: and he took me by the right hand, and comforted me, and ſet me upon my feet, and ſaid unto me,

31 What aileth thee? and why art thou ſo diſquieted? and why is thine underſtanding troubled, and the thoughts of thine heart?

32 And I ſaid, Becauſe thou haſt forſaken me, and yet I did according to thy words, and I went into the field, and lo, I have ſeen, and yet ſee, that I am not able to expreſs.

33 And he ſaid unto me, Stand up manfully, and I will adviſe thee.

34 Then ſaid I, Speak on, my lord, in me; only forſake me not, leſt I die fruſtrate of my hope.

35 For I have ſeen that I knew not, and hear that I do not know.

36 Or is my ſenſe deceived, or my ſoul in a dream?

37 Now therefore, I beſeech thee, that thou wilt ſhew thy ſervant of this viſion.

38 He anſwered me then, and ſaid, Hear me, and I ſhall inform thee, and tell thee, wherefore thou art afraid: for the Higheſt will reveal many ſecret things unto thee.

39 He hath ſeen that thy way is right: for that thou ſorroweſt continually for thy people, and makeſt great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the meaning of the viſion which thou lately ſaweſt:

41 Thou ſaweſt a woman mourning, and thou beganſt to comfort her:

42 But now ſeeſt thou the likeneſs of the woman no more, but there appeared unto thee a city builded.

43 And whereas ſhe told thee of the death of her ſon, this is the ſolution:

44 This woman whom thou ſaweſt is Sion: and whereas ſhe ſaid unto thee (even ſhe whom thou ſeeſt as a city builded)

45 Whereas, I ſay, ſhe ſaid unto thee, that ſhe hath been thirty years barren: thoſe are the thirty years wherein there was no offering made in her.

46 But after thirty years Solomon builded the city, and offered offerings: and then bare the barren a ſon.

47 And whereas ſhe told thee, that ſhe nouriſhed him with labour: that was the dwelling in Jeruſalem.

48 But whereas ſhe ſaid unto thee, That my ſon coming into his marriage-chamber, happened to have a fall, and died: this was the deſtruction that came to Jeruſalem.

49 And behold, thou ſaweſt her likeneſs, and becauſe ſhe mourned for her ſon, thou beganſt to comfort her: and of theſe things which have chanced, theſe are to be opened unto thee.

50 For now the moſt High ſeeth that thou art grieved unfeignedly, and ſuffereſt from thy whole heart for her, ſo hath he ſhewed thee the brightneſs of her glory, and the comelineſs of her beauty:

51 And therefore I bade thee remain in the field, where no houſe was builded.

52 For I knew that the Higheſt would ſhew this unto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to go into the field where no foundation of any building was.

54 For in the place wherein the Higheſt beginneth to ſhew his city, there can no man's building be able to ſtand.

55 And therefore fear not, let not thine heart be affrighted, but go thy way in, and ſee the beauty and greatneſs of the building, as much as thine eyes be able to ſee.

56 And then thou ſhalt hear as much as thine ears may comprehend.

57 For thou art bleſſed above many other, and art called with the Higheſt, and ſo are but few.

58 But to-morrow night thou ſhalt remain here.

28 Into many trances.] Margin, Into the multitude in a trance.

40 This is the meaning of the viſion, &c.] The angel explains the meaning of the viſion: the woman repreſented Sion, and the death of her ſon, the deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

59 And ſo ſhall the Higheſt ſhew the viſions of the high things, which the moſt High will do unto them that dwell upon earth in the laſt days. So I ſlept that night and another, like as he commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 He ſeeth in his dream an eagle coming out of the ſea, 37 and a lion out of a wood talking to the eagle.

THEN ſaw I a dream, and behold, there came up from the ſea an eagle, which had twelve feathered wings, and three heads.

2 And I ſaw, and behold, ſhe ſpread her wings over all the earth, and all the winds of the air blew on her, and were gathered together.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers there grew other contrary feathers; and they became little feathers and ſmall.

4 But her heads were at reſt: the head in the midſt was greater than the other, yet reſted it with the reſidue.

5 Moreover, I beheld, and lo, the eagle flew with her feathers, and reigned upon earth, and over them that dwelt therein.

6 And I ſaw that all things under heaven were ſubject unto her, and no man ſpake againſt her, no, not one creature upon earth.

7 And I beheld, and lo, the eagle roſe upon her talons, and ſpake to her feathers, ſaying,

8 Watch not all at once: ſleep every one in his own place, and watch by courſe.

9 But let the heads be preſerved for the laſt.

10 And I beheld, and lo, the voice went not out of her heads, but from the midſt of her body.

11 And I numbered her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold, on the right ſide there aroſe one feather, and reigned over all the earth;

13 And ſo it was, that when it reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more, ſo the next following ſtood up, and reigned, and had a great time;

14 And it happened that when it reigned, the end of it came alſo, like as the firſt, ſo that it appeared no more.

15 Then came there a voice unto it, and ſaid,

16 Hear, thou that haſt borne rule over the earth ſo long: this I ſay unto thee, before thou beginneſt to appear no more,

17 There ſhall none after thee attain unto thy time, neither unto the half thereof.

18 Then aroſe the third, and reigned as the other before, and appeared no more alſo.

19 So went it with all the reſidue one after another, as that every one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I beheld, and lo, in proceſs of time, the feathers that followed ſtood up upon the right ſide, that they might rule alſo, and ſome of them ruled; but within a while they appeared no more:

21 For ſome of them were ſet up, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and behold, the twelve feathers appeared no more, nor the two little feathers:

23 And there was no more upon the eagle's body, but three heads that reſted, and ſix little wings.

24 Then ſaw I alſo, that two little feathers divided themſelves from the ſix, and remained under the head that was upon the right ſide; for the four continued in their place.

25 And I beheld, and lo, the feathers that were under the wing thought to ſet up themſelves, and to have the rule.

26 And I beheld, and lo, there was one ſet up, but ſhortly it appeared no more.

27 And the ſecond was ſooner away than the firſt.

28 And I beheld, and lo the two that remained thought alſo in themſelves to reign:

29 And when they ſo thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads that were at reſt, namely, it that was in the midſt, for that was greater than the two other heads.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then ſaw I a dream, &c.] Two nights, by the direction of the angel, the prophet had ſlept, and in the mean time had two viſions. In the firſt, he ſaw an eagle of an enormous ſize coming out of the ſea, whoſe feathers reigned in their courſe, over all the earth.

30 And then I ſaw that the two other heads were joined with it.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them that were with it, and did eat up the two feathers under the wing that would have reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in fear, and bare rule in it over all thoſe that dwelt upon the earth, with much oppreſſion; and it had the governance of the world more than all the wings that had been.

33 And after this I beheld, and lo, the head that was in the midſt ſuddenly appeared no more like as the wings.

34 But there remained the two heads, which alſo in like ſort ruled upon the earth, and over thoſe that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld and lo, the head upon the right ſide devoured it that was upon the left ſide.

36 Then I heard a voice, which ſaid unto me, Look before thee, and conſider the thing that thou ſeeſt.

37 And I beheld, and lo, as it were a roaring lion chaſed out of the wood: and I ſaw that he ſent out a man's voice unto the eagle, and ſaid,

38 Here thou, I will talk with thee, and the Higheſt ſhall ſay unto thee,

39 Art not thou it that remaineſt of the four beaſts, whom I made to reign in my world, that the end of their times might come through them?

40 And the fourth came, and overcame all the beaſts that were paſt, and had power over the world, with great fearfulneſs, and over the whole compaſs of the earth with much wicked oppreſſion; and ſo long time dwelt he upon the earth with deceit.

41 For the earth haſt thou not judged with truth.

42 For thou haſt afflicted the meek, thou haſt hurt the peaceable, thou haſt loved liars, and deſtroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and haſt caſt down the walls of ſuch as did thee no harm.

43 Therefore is thy wrongful dealing come up unto the Higheſt, and thy pride unto the Mighty.

44 The Higheſt alſo hath looked upon the proud times, and behold, they are ended, and his abominations are fulfilled.

45 And therefore appear no more, thou eagle, nor thy horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, nor thy hurtful claws, nor all thy vain body:

46 That all the earth may be refreſhed, and may return, being delivered from thy violence, and that ſhe may hope for the judgement and mercy of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

1 The eagle which he ſaw is deſtroyed. 10 The viſion is interpreted: 37 He is bid to write his viſions.

AND it came to paſs, whiles the lion ſpake theſe words unto the eagle, I ſaw,

2 And behold, the head that remained, and the four wings appeared no more, and the two went unto it and ſet themſelves up to reign, and their kingdom was ſmall and full of uprore.

3 And I ſaw, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the eagle was burnt, ſo that the earth was in great fear: then awaked I out of the trouble and trance of my mind, and from great fear, and ſaid unto my ſpirit,

4 Lo, this haſt thou done unto me, in that thou ſearcheſt out the ways of the Higheſt.

5 Lo, yet am I weary in my mind, and very weak in my ſpirit; and little ſtrength is there in me, for the great fear wherewith I was affrighted this night.

6 Therefore will I now beſeech the Higheſt, that he will comfort me unto the end.

37 A roaring lion, &c.] In the ſecon viſion, the prophet ſaw a roaring lion coming out of a wood, and talking to the eagle in a human voice, forbidding the eagle to appear any more, becauſe God had decreed the earth ſhould be freed from the violence of the eagle.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 1 While the lion ſpake, &c.] Before the lion had done ſpeaking, the eagle was conſumed with fire; on which the prophet came out of his viſion, and with great heavineſs of ſpirit, intreated God to ſhow him the interpretation of the viſion.

7 And I ſaid, Lord that beareſt rule, If I have found grace before thy ſight, and if I am juſtified with thee, before many others, and if my prayer indeed be come up before thy face:

8 Comfort me then, and ſhew me thy ſervant the interpretation, and plain difference of this fearful viſion, that thou mayeſt perfectly comfort my ſoul.

9 For thou haſt judged me worthy to ſhew me the laſt times.

10 And he ſaid unto me, This is the interpretation of the viſion:

11 The eagle whom thou ſaweſt come up from the ſea, is the kingdom which was ſeen in the viſion of thy brother Daniel.

12 But it was not expounded unto him, therefore now I declare it unto thee.

13 Behold, the days will come that there ſhall riſe up a kingdom upon earth, and it ſhall be feared above all the kingdoms that were before it.

14 In the ſame ſhall twelve kings reign one after another:

15 Whereof the ſecond ſhall begin to reign, and ſhall have more time than any of the twelve.

16 And this do the twelve wings ſignify, which thou ſaweſt.

17 As for the voice which thou heardeſt ſpeak, and that thou ſaweſt not to go out from the heads, but from the midſt of the body thereof, this is the interpretation:

18 That after the time of that kingdom, there ſhall ariſe great ſtrivings, and it ſhall ſtand in peril of falling: nevertheleſs it ſhall not then fall, but ſhall be reſtored again to his beginning.

19 And whereas thou ſaweſt the eight ſmall under feathers ſticking to her wings, this is the interpretation:

20 That in him there ſhall ariſe eight kings, whoſe time ſhall be but ſmall, and their years ſwift.

21 And two of them ſhall periſh: the middle time approaching, four ſhall be kept until their end begin to approach: but two ſhall be kept unto the end.

22 And whereas thou ſaweſt three heads reſting, this is the interpretation:

23 In his laſt days ſhall the moſt High raiſe up three kingdoms, and renew many things therein, and they ſhall have the dominion of the earth.

24 And of thoſe that dwell therein, with much oppreſſion, above all thoſe that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the eagle.

25 For theſe are they that ſhall accompliſh his wickedneſs, and that ſhall finiſh his laſt end.

26 And whereas thou ſaweſt that the great head appeared no more, it ſignifieth that one of them, ſhall die upon his bed, and yet with pain.

27 For the two that remain ſhall be ſlain with the ſword.

28 For the ſword of the one ſhall devour the other: but at the laſt ſhall he fall through the ſword himſelf.

29 And whereas thou ſaweſt two feathers under the wings paſſing over the head that is on the right ſide;

30 It ſignifieth, that theſe are they whom the Higheſt hath kept unto their end: this is the ſmall kingdom, and full of trouble, as thou ſaweſt.

31 And the lion whom thou ſaweſt riſing up out of the wood, and roaring, and ſpeaking to the eagle, and rebuking her for her unrighteouſneſs, with all the words which thou haſt heard;

32 This is the anointed which the Higheſt hath kept for them, and for their wickedneſs unto the end: he ſhall reprove them, and ſhall upbraid them with their cruelty.

33 For he ſhall ſet them before him alive in judgement, and ſhall rebuke them, and correct them.

34 For the reſt of my people ſhall he deliver with mercy, thoſe that have been preſerved upon my borders, and he ſhall make them joyful until the coming of the day of judgement, whereof I have ſpoken unto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dream that thou ſaweſt, and theſe are the interpretations.

36 Thou

36 Thou only haſt been meet to know this ſecret of the Higheſt.

37 Therefore write all theſe things that thou haſt ſeen in a book, and hide them.

38 And teach them to the wiſe of the people, whoſe hearts thou knoweſt may comprehend and keep theſe ſecrets.

39 But wait thou here thyſelf yet ſeven days more, that it may be ſhewed thee whatſoever it pleaſeth the Higheſt to declare unto thee. And with that he went his away.

40 And it came to paſs, when all the people ſaw that the ſeven days were paſt, and I not come again into the city, they gathered them all together, from the leaſt unto the greateſt, and came unto me, and ſaid, 41 What have we offended thee? and what evil have we done againſt thee, that thou forſakeſt us, and ſitteſt here in this place?

42 For of all the prophets thou only art left us as a cluſter of the vintage, and as a candle in a dark place, and as a haven or ſhip preſerved from the tempeſt.

43 Are not the evils which are come to us ſufficient?

44 If thou ſhalt forſake us, how much better had it been for us, if we alſo had been burnt in the midſt of Sion?

45 For we are not better than they that died there. And they wept with a loud voice. Then anſwered I them, and ſaid,

46 Be of good comfort, O Iſrael, and be not heavy, thou houſe of Jacob:

47 For the Higheſt hath you in remembrance, and the Mighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me, I have not forſaken you, neither am I departed from you: but am come into this place, to pray for the deſolation of Sion, and that I might ſeek mercy for the low eſtate of your ſanctuary.

49 And now go your way home every man, and after theſe days will I come unto you.

50 So the people went their way into the city, like as I commanded them:

51 But I remained ſtill in the field ſeven days, as the angel commanded me; and did eat only in thoſe days of the flowers of the field, and had my meat of the herbs.

CHAP. XIII.

1 He ſeeth in his dream a man coming out of the ſea: 25 The declaration of his dream: 54 He is praiſed, and promiſed to ſee more.

AND it came to paſs after ſeven days, I dreamed a dream by night.

2 And lo, there aroſe a wind from the ſea, that it moved all the waves thereof.

3 And I beheld, and lo, that man waxed ſtrong with the thouſands of heaven: and when he turned his countenance to look, all the things trembled that were ſeen under him.

4 And whenſoever the voice went out of his mouth, all they burnt that heard his voice, like as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 And after this I beheld, and lo, there was gathered together a multitude of men, out of number, from the four winds of the heaven, to ſubdue the man that came out of the ſea.

6 But I beheld, and lo, he had graved himſelf a great mountain, and flew up upon it.

7 But I would have ſeen the region or place whereout the hill was graven, and I could not.

8 And after this I beheld, and lo, all they which were gathered together to ſubdue him, were ſore afraid, and yet durſt fight.

9 And lo, as he ſaw the violence of the multitude that came, he neither liſted up his hand, nor held ſword, nor any inſtrument of war.

37 Write all theſe things, &c.] After the interpretation was finiſhed, the prophet is commanded to commit his viſions to writing, that he might communicate them to the heads of the people; he is alſo commanded to ſtay ſeven days and faſt, that he may ſee more viſions.

40 When all the people ſaw, &c.] The people finding the prophet delayed to come among them, they repaired to him with one accord, weeping before him, as thinking God had forgotten them, and caſt off for ever the remnant of his people.

46 Be of good comfort, &c.] The prophet aſſures the people, that their fears of being forſaken by God were vain; who ſtill conſidered them as his people, and would protect his heritage: adding, that when he had done what he was commanded by a meſſage from on high, he would return to them; upon which the people and he remained in the field ſeven days, living upon the ſpontaneous productions of nature.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 I dreamed, &c.] The prophet in a dream ſees a man coming out of the ſea, and relates many wonderful particulars about him; but is ignorant of the intent and meaning of it.

2 There aroſe a wind.] Margin, A certain man as the wind.

3 With the thouſands of heaven.] Junius reads, With the clouds.

10 But only I ſaw that he ſent out of his mouth, as it had been a blaſt of fire, and out of his lips a flaming breath, and out of his tongue he caſt out ſparks and tempeſts.

11 And they were all mixt together; the blaſt of fire, the flaming breath, aud the great tempeſt; and fell with violence upon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them up every one, ſo that upon a ſudden, of an innumerable multitude, nothing was to be perceived, but only duſt and ſmell of ſmoke: when I ſaw this, I was afraid.

12 Afterward I ſaw the ſame man come down from the mouutain, and call unto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came much people unto him, whereof ſome were glad, ſome were ſorry, ſcme of them were bound, and other ſome brought of them that were offered: then was I ſick through great fear, and I awaked, and ſaid,

14 Thou haſt ſhewed thy ſervant theſe wonders from the beginning, and haſt counted me worthy that thou ſhouldeſt receive my prayer:

15 Shew me now yet the interpretation of this dream,

16 For as I conceive in mine underſtanding, woe unto them that ſhall be left in thoſe days; and much more woe unto them that are not leſt behind.

17 For they that were not left were in heavineſs.

18 Now underſtand I the things that are laid up in the latter days, which ſhall happen unto them, and to thoſe that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils, and many neceſſities, like as theſe dreams declare.

20 Yet it is eaſier for him that is in danger to come into theſe things, than to paſs away as a cloud out of the world, and not to ſee the things that happen in the laſt days. And he anſwered unto me, and ſaid,

21 The interpretation of the viſion ſhall I ſhew thee, and I will open unto thee the thing that thou haſt required.

22 Whereas thou haſt ſpoken of them that are leſt behind, this is the interpretation:

23 He that ſhall endure the peril in that time, hath kept himſelf: they that be fallen into danger are ſuch as have works, and faith towards the Almighty.

24 Know this therefore, that they which be left behind are more bleſſed than they that be dead.

25 This is the meaning of the viſion, Whereas thou ſaweſt a man coming up from the midſt of the ſea:

26 The ſame is he whom God the Higheſt hath kept a great ſeaſon, which by his own ſelf ſhall deliver his creature: and he ſhall order them that are left behind.

27 And whereas thou ſaweſt, that out of his mouth there came as a blaſt of wind, and fire, and ſtorm;

28 And that he held neither ſword, nor any inſtrument of war, but that the ruſhing in of him deſtroyed the whole multitude that came to ſubdue him; this is the interpretation:

29 Behold, the days come, when the moſt High will begin to deliver them that are upon the earth.

30 And he ſhall come, to the aſtoniſhment of them that dwell on the earth.

31 And one ſhall undertake to fight againſt another, one city againſt another, one place againſt another, one people againſt another, and one realm againſt another.

32 And the time ſhall be when theſe things ſhall come to paſs, and the ſigns ſhall happen which I ſhewed thee before, and then ſhall my Son be declared, whom thou ſaweſt as a man aſcending.

33 And when all the people hear his voice, every man ſhall in their own land leave the battle they have one againſt another.

34 And an innumerable multitude ſhall be gathered together, as thou ſaweſt them willing to come, and to overcome him by fighting.

35 But he ſhall ſtand upon the top of the mount Sion.

13 Of them that were offered.] Junius reads, Of things that were offered.

36 And Sion ſhall come, and ſhall be ſhewed to all men, being prepared and builded like as thou ſaweſt the hill graven without hands.

37 And this my Son ſhall rebuke the wicked inventions of the nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempeſt;

38 And ſhall lay before them their evil thoughts, and the torments wherewith they ſhall begin to be tormented, which are like unto a flame: and he ſhall deſtroy them without labour, by the law which is like unto fire.

39 And whereas thou ſaweſt that he gathered another peaceable multitude unto him;

40 Thoſe are the ten tribes which were carried away priſoners out of their own land, in the time of Oſea the king, whom Salmanaſar the king of Aſſyria led away captive, and he carried them over the waters, and ſo came they into another land.

41 But they took this counſel among themſelves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and go forth into a further country, where never mankind dwelt;

42 That they might there keep their ſtatutes, which they never kept in their own land.

43 And they entered into Euphrates by the narrow paſſages of the river.

44 For the moſt High then ſhewed ſigns for them, and held ſtill the flood, till they were paſſed over.

45 For through that country, there was a great way to go; namely, of a year and a half: and the ſame region is called Arſareth.

46 Then dwelt they there until the latter time; and now when they ſhall begin to come.

47 The Higheſt ſhall ſtay the ſprings of the ſtream again, that they may go through: therefore ſaweſt thou the multitude with peace.

48 But thoſe that be left behind of thy people, are they that are found within my borders.

49 Now when he deſtroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he ſhall defend his people that remain.

50 And then ſhall he ſhew them great wonders.

51 Then ſaid I, O Lord that beareſt rule, ſhew me this: Wherefore have I ſeen the man coming up from the midſt of the ſea?

52 And he ſaid unto me, Like as thou canſt neither ſeek out, nor know the things that are in the deep of the ſea: even ſo can no man upon the earth ſee my Son, or thoſe that be with him, but in the day-time.

53 This is the interpretation of the dream which thou ſaweſt, and whereby thou only art here lightened.

54 For thou haſt forſaken thine own way, and applied thy diligence unto my law, and ſought it.

55 Thy life haſt thou ordered in wiſdom, and haſt called underſtanding thy mother.

56 And therefore have I ſhewed thee the treaſures of the Higheſt: After other three days I will ſpeak other things unto thee, and declare unto thee mighty and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth into the field, giving praiſe and thanks greatly unto the moſt High, becauſe of his wonders which he did in time, 58 And becauſe he governeth the ſame, and ſuch things as fall in their ſeaſons: and there I ſat three days.

CHAP. XIV.

1 A voice out of a buſh calleth Eſdras, 10 and telleth him that the world waxeth old.

AND it came to paſs upon the third, I ſat under an oak, and behold, there came a voice out of a buſh over againſt me, and ſaid, Eſdras, Eſdras.

2 And I ſaid, Here am I, Lord; and I ſtood upon my feet.

3 Then ſaid he unto me, In the buſh I did manifeſtly reveal myſelf unto Moſes, and talked with him, when my people ſerved in Egypt.

45 Arſareth.] Or, Ararath.

54 Thou haſt forſaken thine own way, &c.] As the prophet had applied himſelf to the keeping of the law of the Lord, and took heed to walk ſtedfaſtly in his ways, God declares he was well pleaſed with him, and would ſhow him yet more wonderful things.

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 There came a voice out of a buſh over againſt me, &c.] Eſdras, from a voice out of a buſh, is informed that the world was greatly decayed, and ſhould ſtill continue to wax weaker and weaker, becauſe truth was fled from the earth.

4 And I ſent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him up to the mount of Sinai, where I held him by me a long ſeaſon.

5 And told him many wonderous things, and ſhewed him the ſecrets of the times, and the end: and commanded him, ſaying,

6 Theſe words ſhalt thou declare, and theſe ſhalt thou hide.

7 And now I ſay unto thee,

8 That thou lay up in thine heart the ſigns that I have ſhewed, and the dreams that thou haſt ſeen, and the interpretations which thou haſt heard:

9 For thou ſhalt be taken away from all, and from henceforth thou ſhalt remain with my Son, and with ſuch as be like thee, until the times be ended.

10 For the world hath loſt his youth, and the times begin to wax old.

11 For the world is divided into twelve parts, and the ten parts of it are gone already, and half of a tenth part.

12 And there remaineth that which is after the half of the tenth part.

13 Now therefore ſet thine houſe in order, and reprove thy people, comfort ſuch of them as be in trouble, and now renounce corruption.

14 Let go from thee mortal thoughts, caſt away the burdens of man, put off now the weak nature,

15 And ſet aſide the thoughts that are moſt heavy unto thee, and haſte thee to flee from theſe times,

16 For yet greater evils than thoſe which thou haſt ſeen happen, ſhall be done hereafter.

17 For look how much the world ſhall be weaker through age, ſo much the more ſhall evils increaſe upon them that dwell therein.

18 For the truth is fled far away, and leaſing is hard at hand: for now haſteth the viſion to come which thou haſt ſeen.

19 Then anſwered I before thee, and ſaid,

20 Behold, Lord, I will go as thou haſt commanded me, and reprove the people which are preſent: but they that ſhall be born afterward, who ſhall admoniſh them? thus the world is ſet in darkneſs, and they that dwell therein are without light.

21 For thy law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that ſhall begin.

22 But if I have found grace before thee, ſend the Holy Ghoſt into me, and I ſhall write all that hath been done in the world ſince the beginning, which were written in thy law, that men may find thy path, and that they which will live in the latter days, may live.

23 And he anſwered me, ſaying, Go thy way, gather the people together, and ſay unto them, that they ſeek thee not for forty days.

24 But look thou prepare thee many box-trees, and take with thee Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Aſiel, theſe five which are ready to write ſwiftly.

25 And come hither, and I ſhall light a candle of underſtanding in thine heart, which ſhall not be put out, till the things be performed which thou ſhalt begin to write.

26 And when thou haſt done, ſome things ſhalt thou publiſh, and ſome things ſhalt thou ſhew ſecretly to the wiſe: to-morrow this hour ſhalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commanded, and gathered all the people together, and ſaid, 28 Hear theſe words, O Iſrael.

29 Our fathers at the beginning were ſtrangers in Egypt, from whence they were delivered:

30 And received the law of life, which they kept not, which ye alſo have tranſgreſſed after them.

31 Then was the land, even the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers, and ye yourſelves have done unrighteouſneſs, and have not kept the ways which the Higheſt commanded you.

32 And foraſmuch as he is a righteous Judge, he took from you in time the thing that he had given you.

22 Send the Holy Ghoſt into me, &c.] The prophet preſents his ſupplication to God, that he might by divine inſpiration write the law; becauſe, the roll which contained it was burnt with fire.

23 Go thy way, &c.] God hearkened to the voice of the prophet, and accordingly, writing tables and five ready writers were ordered to be procured; which being performed, both Eſdras and his companions are all filled with the ſpirit of underſtanding, and write the law.

24 Box-trees.] Margin, Box-tables to write on.

33 And now are you here, and your brethren amongſt you.

34 Therefore, if ſo be that you will ſubdue your own underſtanding, and reform your hearts, ye ſhall be kept alive, and after death ye ſhall obtain mercy.

35 For after death ſhall judgment come, when we ſhall live again: and then ſhall the names of the righteous be manifeſt, and the works of the ungodly ſhall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come unto me now, nor ſeek after me theſe forty days.

37 So I took the five men, as he commanded, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 And the next day, behold, a voice called me, ſaying, Eſdras, open thy mouth, and drink that I give thee to drink.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, he reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water, but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I took it and drank: and when I had drunk of it, my heart uttered underſtanding, and wiſdom grew in my breaſt, for my ſpirit ſtrengthened my memory.

41 And my mouth was opened, and ſhut no more.

42 The Higheſt gave underſtanding unto the five men, and they wrote the wonderful viſions of the night that were told, which they knew not: and they ſat forty days, and they wrote in the day, and at night they ate bred.

43 As for me, I ſpake in the day, and I held not my tongue by night.

44 In forty days they wrote two hundred and four books.

45 And it came to paſs when the forty days were fulfilled, that the Higheſt ſpake, ſaying, The firſt that thou haſt written, publiſh openly, that the worthy and unworthy may read it,

46 But keep the ſeventy laſt, that thou mayeſt deliver them only to ſuch as be wiſe among the people,

47 For in them is the ſpring of underſtanding, the fountain of wiſdom, and the ſtream of knowledge.

48 And I did ſo.

CHAP. XV.

1 This prophecy is certain. 5 God will take vengeance upon the wicked. 28 An horrible viſion.

BEHOLD, ſpeak thou in the ears of my people the words of prophecy which I will put in thy mouth, ſaith the Lord,

2 And cauſe them to be written in paper: for they are faithful and true.

3 Fear not the imaginations againſt thee, let not the incredulity of them trouble thee, that ſpeak againſt thee.

4 For all the unfaithful ſhall die in their unfaithfulneſs.

5 Behold, ſaith the Lord, I will bring plagues upon the world: the ſword, famine, death and deſtruction.

6 For wickedneſs hath exceedingly polluted the whole earth, and their hurtful works are fulfilled.

7 Therefore ſaith the Lord,

8 I will hold my tongue no more as touching their wickedneſs, which they profanely commit, neither will I ſuffer them in thoſe things, in which they wickedly exerciſe themſelves; behold, the innocent and righteous blood crieth unto me, and the ſouls of the juſt complain continually.

9 And therefore, ſaith the Lord, I will ſurely avenge them, and receive unto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is led as a flock to the ſlaughter: I will not ſuffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt.

11 But I will bring them with a mighty hand, and a ſtretched-out arm, and ſmite Egypt with plagues, as before, and will deſtroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt ſhall mourn, and the foundation of it ſhall be ſmitten with the plague and puniſhment that God ſhall bring upon it.

44 Two hundred.] Margin, Nine hundred and four.

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Speak thou in the ears of my people, &c.] Eſdras is commanded by God to denounce the moſt heavy judgments upon the wicked, particularly upon the Egyptians, whoſe land was devoted to deſtruction, becauſe of their unaccountable pride; and to ſhew, that the event ſhould be conformable to the prophecy, he is ordered to record it in writing.

13 They that till the ground ſhall mourn; for their ſeeds ſhall fail, through the blaſting, and hail, and with a fearful conſtellation.

14 Woe to the world, and them that dwell therein.

15 For the ſword and their deſtruction draweth nigh; and one people ſhall ſtand up to fight againſt another, and ſwords in their hands.

16 For there ſhall be ſedition among men, and invading one another; they ſhall not regard their kings nor princes, and the courſe of their actions ſhall ſtand in their power.

17 A man ſhall deſire to go into a city, and ſhall not be able.

18 For becauſe of their pride the cities ſhall be troubled, the houſes ſhall be deſtroyed, and men ſhall be afraid.

19 A man ſhall have no pity upon his neighbour, but ſhall deſtroy their houſes with the ſword, and ſpoil their goods, becauſe of the lack of bread, and for great tribulation.

20 Behold, ſaith God, I will call together all the kings of the earth to reverence me, which are from the riſing of the ſun, from the ſouth, from the eaſt, and Libanus: to turn themſelves one againſt another, and repay the things that they have done to them.

21 Like as they do yet this day unto my choſen, ſo will I do alſo, and recompenſe in their boſom. Thus ſaith the Lord God, 22 My right hand ſhall not ſpare the ſinners, and my ſword ſhall not ceaſe over them that ſhed innocent blood upon the earth.

23 The fire is gone forth from his wrath, and hath conſumed the foundations of the earth, and the ſinners, like the ſtraw that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that ſin, and keep not my commandments, ſaith the Lord:

25 I will not ſpare them: go your way, ye children, from the power, defile not my ſanctuary.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that ſin againſt him, and therefore delivereth he them unto death and deſtruction.

27 For now are the plagues come upon the whole earth, and ye ſhall remain in them: for God ſhall not deliver you, becauſe ye have ſinned againſt him.

28 Behold, an horrible viſion, and the appearance thereof from the eaſt:

29 Where the nations of the dragons of Arabia ſhall come out with many chariots, and the multitude of them ſhall be carried as the wind upon earth, that all they which hear them, may fear and tremble.

30 Alſo the Carmanians raging in wrath ſhall go forth as the wild boars of the wood, and with great power ſhall they come, and join battle with them, and ſhall waſte a portion of the land of the Aſſyrians.

31 And then ſhall the dragons have the upper hand, remembering their nature; and if they ſhould turn themſelves, conſpiring together in great power, to perſecute them,

32 Then theſe ſhall be troubled, and keep ſilence through their power, and ſhall flee.

33 And from the land of the Aſſyrians ſhall the enemy beſiege them, and conſume ſome of them, and in their hoſt ſhall be fear and dread, and ſtrife among their kings.

34 Behold, clouds from the eaſt, and from the north, unto the ſouth, and they are very horrible to look upon, full of wrath and ſtorm.

35 They ſhall ſmite one upon another, and they ſhall ſmite down a great multitude of ſtars upon the earth, even their own ſtar; and blood ſhall be from the ſword unto the belly.

36 And dung of men unto the camel's hough.

37 And there ſhall be great fearfulneſs and trembling upon earth: and they that ſee the wrath ſhall be afraid, and trembling ſhall come upon them.

38 And then there ſhall come great ſtorms from the ſouth, and from the north, and another part from the weſt.

39 And ſtrong winds ſhall ariſe from the eaſt, and ſhall open it, and the cloud which he raiſed up in wrath, and the ſtar, ſtirred to cauſe fear toward the eaſt and weſt winds, ſhall be deſtroyed.

28 An horrible viſion, &c.] The prophet ſees in a frightful viſion, the deſtruction of many nations, which ſhall make the earth tremble, and the foundations thereof ſhake; for the cities, walls, mountains, hills, trees, graſs, and corn, were all to be deſtroyed.

40 The great and mighty clouds ſhall be lifted up full of wrath, and the ſtar, that they may make all the earth afraid, and them that dwell therein; and they ſhall pour out over every high and eminent place, an horrible ſtar.

41 Fire and hail, and flying ſwords, and many waters, that all fields may be full, and all rivers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they ſhall break down the cities and walls, mountains and hills, trees of the wood, and graſs of the meadows, and their corn.

43 And they ſhall go ſtedfaſtly unto Babylon, and make her afraid.

44 They ſhall come to her, and beſiege her, the ſtar and all wrath ſhall they pour out upon her, then ſhall the duſt and ſmoke go up unto the heaven, and all they that be about her ſhall bewail her.

45 And they that remain under her ſhall do ſervice unto them that have put her in fear.

46 And thou, Aſia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and art the glory of her perſon:

47 Woe be unto thee, thou wretch, becauſe thou haſt made thyſelf like unto her; and haſt deckt thy daughters in whoredom, that they might pleaſe and glory in thy lovers, which have alway deſired to commit whoredom with thee.

48 Thou haſt followed her that is hated in all her works and inventions: therefore ſaith God, 49 I will ſend plagues upon thee; widowhood, poverty, famine, ſword, and peſtilence, to waſte thy houſes with deſtruction and death.

50 And the glory of thy power ſhall be dried up as a flower, when the heat ſhall ariſe that is ſent over thee.

51 Thou ſhalt be weakened as a poor woman with ſtripes, and as one chaſtiſed with wounds, ſo that the mighty and lovers ſhall not be able to receive thee.

52 Would I with jealouſy have ſo proceeded againſt thee, ſaith the Lord,

53 If thou hadſt not always ſlain my choſen, exalting the ſtroke of thine hands, and ſaying over their dead, when thou waſt drunken,

54 Set forth the beauty of thy countenance?

55 The reward of thy whoredom ſhall be in thy boſom, therefore ſhalt thou receive recompenſe.

56 Like as thou haſt done unto my choſen, ſaith the Lord, even ſo ſhall God do unto thee, and ſhall deliver thee unto miſchief.

57 Thy children ſhall die of hunger, and thou ſhalt fall through the ſword: thy cities ſhall be broken down, and all thine ſhall periſh with the ſword in the field.

58 They that be in the mountains ſhall die of hunger, and eat their own fleſh, and drink their own blood, for very hunger of bread, and thirſt of water.

59 Thou as unhappy ſhalt come through the ſea, and receive plagues again.

60 And in the paſſage they ſhall ruſh on the idle city, and ſhall deſtroy ſome portion of thy land, and conſume part of thy glory, and ſhall return to Babylon, that was deſtroyed.

61 And thou ſhalt be caſt down by them as ſtubble, and they ſhall be unto thee as fire:

62 And ſhall conſume thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountains; all thy woods and thy fruitful trees ſhall they burn up with fire.

63 Thy children ſhall they carry away captive, and look what thou haſt, they ſhall ſpoil it, and mar the beauty of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Babylon and other places threatened. 40 The ſervants of the Lord muſt look for troubles, &c.

WOE be unto thee, Babylon and Aſia: woe be unto thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Gird up yourſelves with clothes of ſack

43 They ſhall go ſtedfaſtly unto Babylon, &c.] Babylon and Aſia, for their whoredoms and idolatrous inventions, are next threatened with poverty, famine, ſword and peſtilence, deſtruction and death; their children were to be carried into captivity, and their land totally laid waſte.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Woe be unto thee, Babylon and Aſia, &c.] God threatens to ſend grievous plagues upon Babylon, and the neighbouring nations; declares the fury of his wrath ſhall conſume them like a burning fire; and that famine, plagues, anguiſh, grief, and deſolation ſhould be his ſcourges.

and hair, bewail your children, and be ſorry; for your deſtruction is at hand.

3 A ſword is ſent upon you, and who may turn it back?

4 A fire is ſent among you, and who may quench it?

5 Plagues are ſent unto you, and what is he that may drive them away?

6 May man drive away an hungry lion in the wood? or may any one quench the fire in ſtubble, when it hath begun to burn?

7 May any one turn again the arrow that is ſhot of a ſtrong archer?

8 The mighty Lord ſendeth the plagues, and who is he that can drive them away?

9 A fire ſhall go forth from his wrath, and who is he that may quench it?

10 He ſhall caſt lightnings, and who ſhall not fear? he ſhall thunder, and who ſhall not be afraid?

11 The Lord ſhall threaten, and who ſhall not be utterly beaten to powder at his preſence?

12 The earth quaketh, and the foundations thereof, the ſea ariſeth up with waves from the deep, and the waves of it are troubled, and the fiſhes thereof alſo before the Lord, and before the glory of his power.

13 For ſtrong is his right hand that bendeth the bow, his arrows that he ſhooteth are ſharp, and ſhall not miſs when they begin to be ſhot into the ends of the world.

14 Behold, the plagues are ſent, and ſhall not return again, until they come upon the earth.

15 The fire is kindled, and ſhall not be put out, till it conſume the foundation of the earth.

16 Like as an arrow which is ſhot of a mighty archer, returneth not backward: even ſo the plagues that ſhall be ſent upon earth ſhall not return again.

17 Woe is me, woe is me, who will deliver me in thoſe days?

18 The beginning of ſorrows and great mournings; the beginning of famine and great death; the beginning of wars, and the powers ſhall ſtand in fear: the beginning of evils: what ſhall I do when theſe evils ſhall come?

19 Behold, famine and plague, tribulation and anguiſh, are ſent as ſcourges for amendment.

20 But for all theſe things they ſhall not turn from their wickedneſs, nor be alway mindful of thy ſcourges.

21 Behold, victuals ſhall be ſo good, cheap upon earth, that they ſhall think themſelves to be in good caſe, and even then ſhall evils grow upon earth, ſword, famine, and great confuſion.

22 For many of them that dwell upon earth ſhall periſh of famine; and the other that eſcape the hunger, ſhall the ſword deſtroy.

23 And the dead ſhall be caſt out as dung, and there ſhall be no man to comfort them: for the earth ſhall be waſted, and the cities ſhall be caſt down.

24 There ſhall be no man left to till the earth, and to ſow it.

25 The trees ſhall give fruit, and who ſhall gather them?

26 The grapes ſhall ripen, and who ſhall tread them? for all places ſhall be deſolate of men:

27 So that one man ſhall deſire to ſee another, and to hear his voice.

28 For of a city there ſhall be ten left, and two of the field, which ſhall hide themſelves in the thick groves, and in the clefts of the rocks.

29 As in an orchard of olives, upon every tree there are left three or four olives;

30 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left ſome cluſters of them that diligently ſeek through the vineyard:

31 Even ſo in thoſe days there ſhall be three or four left by them that ſearch their houſes with the ſword.

32 And the earth ſhall be laid waſte, and the fields thereof ſhall wax old, and her ways and all her paths ſhall grow full of thorns, becauſe no man ſhall travail therethrough.

33 The virgins ſhall mourn, having no bridegrooms; the women ſhall mourn, having no huſbands; their daughters ſhall mourn, having no helpers.

34 In the wars ſhall their bridegrooms be

21 Evils grow upon earth.] Margin, Plague.

deſtroyed, and their huſbands ſhall periſh of famine.

35 Hear now theſe things, and underſtand them, ye ſervants of the Lord.

36 Behold the word of the Lord, receive it: believe not the Gods of whom the Lord ſpake.

37 Behold, the plagues draw nigh, and are not ſlack.

38 As when a woman with child, in the ninth month bringeth forth her ſon, within two or three hours of her birth great pains compaſs her womb, which pains, when the child cometh forth, they ſlack not a moment:

39 Even ſo ſhall not the plagues be ſlack to come upon the earth, and the world ſhall mourn, aud ſorrows ſhall come upon it on every ſide.

40 O my people, hear my word: make you ready to the battle, and in thoſe evils, be even as pilgrims upon the earth.

41 He that ſelleth, let him be as he that fleeth away: and he that buyeth, as one that will loſe:

42 He that occupieth merchandiſe, as he that had no profit by it: and he that buildeth, as he that ſhall not dwell therein:

43 He that ſoweth, as if he ſhould not reap: ſo alſo he that planteth the vineyard, as he that ſhall not gather the grapes:

44 They that marry, as they that ſhall get no children; and they that marry not, as the widowers.

45 And therefore they that labour, labour in vain.

46 For ſtrangers ſhall reap their fruits, and ſpoil their goods, overthrow their houſes, and take their children captives, for in captivity and famine ſhall they get children.

47 And they that occupy their merchandiſe with robbery, the more they deck their cities, their houſes, their poſſeſſions, and their own perſons:

48 The more will I be angry with them for their ſins, ſaith the Lord.

49 Like as an whore envieth a right honeſt and virtuous woman:

50 So ſhall righteouſneſs hate iniquity, when ſhe decketh herſelf, and ſhall accuſe her to her face, when he cometh that ſhall defend him that diligently ſearcheth out every ſin upon earth.

51 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the works thereof.

52 For yet a little, and iniquity ſhall be taken away out of the earth, and righteouſneſs ſhall reign among you.

53 Let not the ſinner ſay that he hath not ſinned; for God ſhall burn coals of fire upon his head, which ſaith before the Lord God and his glory, I have not ſinned.

54 Behold, the Lord knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts, and their hearts.

55 Which ſpake but the word, Let the earth be made, and it was made: Let the heaven be made, and it was created.

56 In his word were the ſtars made, and he knoweth the number of them.

57 He ſearcheth the deep, and the treaſures thereof; he hath meaſured the ſea, and what it containeth.

58 He hath ſhut the ſea in the midſt of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth upon the waters.

59 He ſpreadeth out the heavens like a vault, upon the waters hath he founded it.

60 In the deſart hath he made ſprings of water, and pools upon the tops of the mountains, that the floods might pour down from the high rocks, to water the earth.

61 He made man, and put his heart in the midſt of the body, and gave him breath, life, and underſtanding.

62 Yea, and the Spirit of Almighty God, which made all things, and ſearcheth out all hidden things in the ſecrets of the earth,

40 O my people, hear my word, &c.] The true worſhippers of the Moſt High, being only pilgrims in this vale of miſery, muſt expect to go through troubles and afflictions; no man is without ſin, no man ſhould therefore endeavour to conceal it; but by a confeſſion of his faults to the Almighty, and a ſincere repentance, endeavour to leave their ſins; and then they may be aſſured that God will deliver them from all their afflictions; and at the ſame time certainly puniſh the obdurate wretch, the obſtinate, unrepenting ſinner.

63 Surely he knoweth your inventions, and what you think in your hearts, even them that ſin, and would hide their ſin.

64 Therefore hath the Lord exactly ſearched out all your works, and he will put you all to ſhame.

65 And when your ſins are brought forth, ye ſhall be aſhamed before men, and your own ſins ſhall be your accuſers in that day.

66 What will ye do? or how will you hide your ſins before God and his angels?

67 Behold, God himſelf is the Judge, fear him: leave off from your ſins, and forget your iniquities, to meddle no more with them for ever; ſo ſhall God lead you forth, and deliver you from all trouble.

68 For behold, the burning wrath of a great multitude is kindled over you, and they ſhall take away certain of you, and feed you, being idle, with things offered unto idols.

69 And they that conſent unto them ſhall be had in deriſion, and in reproach, and troden under foot.

70 For there ſhall be in every place, and in the next cities, a great inſurrection upon thoſe that fear the Lord.

71 They ſhall be like madmen, ſparing none, but ſtill ſpoiling and deſtroying thoſe that fear the Lord.

72 For they ſhall waſte and take away their goods, aud caſt them out of their houſes.

73 Then ſhall they be known who are my choſen, and they ſhall be tried as the gold in the fire.

74 Hear, O ye my beloved, ſaith the Lord: behold, the days of trouble are at hand, but I will deliver you from the ſame.

75 Be ye not afraid, neither doubt, for God is your guide,

76 And the guide of them who keep my commandments and precepts, ſaith the Lord God: let not your ſins weigh you down, and let not your iniquities lift up themſelves.

77 Woe be unto them that are bound with their ſins, and covered with their iniquities: like as a field is covered over with buſhes, and the path thereof covered with thorns, that no man may travel through.

78 It is left undreſſed, and is caſt into the fire to be conſumed therewith.

TOBIT.

TOBIT.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Book of Tobit was never esteemed as canonical, except by a decree of the council of Trent: the Jews never received it into their canon, and therefore it was not admitted into that of the antient Christians. The former part of the book is supposed to have been written by Tobit in Chaldee, and the latter by his son: at least it is presumed they left behind them some memoirs of their family, which some later author might digest into proper order. Fagius pretends that the book of Tobit is not a true history, but a pious fiction only, wherein under borrowed names, the characters of a father and a son, truly pious, are delineated; and our learned Prideaux seems to go farther when he tells us, "That there are some matters in it which are not so reconcilable to a rational credibility, which look indeed more like the fictions of Homer than the writings of a sacred historian, and gives such an objection against the book, as does not lie against any other." However he confesses, "that it is of great use to represent to us the duties of charity and patience, in the example of Tobit's ready helping his brethren in their distress to the utmost of his power; and his bearing, with a pious submission, the calamities of his captivity, poverty and blindness, as long as they were inflicted on him."

CHAP. I.

1 Tobit's stock and devotion in his youth: 9 His marriage, 10 and captivity: 13 His preferment, 16 alms, and charity in burying the dead.

THE book of the words of Tobit, son of Tobiel, the son of Ananiel, the son of Aduel, the son of Gabael, of the seed of Asael, of the tribe of Nephthali:

2 Who in the time of Enemessar king of the Assyrians, was led captive out of Thisbe, which is at the right hand of that city, which is called properly Nephthali, in Galilee above Aser.

3 I Tobit have walked all the days of my life in the way of truth and justice, and I did many alms-deeds to my brethren, and my nation, who came with me to Nineve, into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine own country in the land of Israel, being but young, all the tribe of Nephthali my father fell from the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the temple of the habitation of the most High was consecrated and built for all ages.

5 Now all the tribes which together revolted, and the house of my father Nephthali, sacrificed unto the heifer Baal.

6 But I alone went often to Jerusalem at the feasts, as it was ordained unto all the people of Israel by an everlasting decree, having the first-fruits and tenths of increase, with that which was first shorn; and them gave I at the altar, to the priests the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part of all increase I gave to the sons of Aaron, who ministred at Jerusalem: another tenth part I sold away, and went and spent it every year at Jerusalem:

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 1 The book of the words of Tobit, &c.] Or, of the acts of Tobit: Tobit in this chapter gives an account of his family and tribe; and adds, that he had continued all the days of his life to walk in the ways of truth and justice, and to shew all the kindness in his power for the children of his people, who groaned under the weighty hand of affliction.

2 Enemessar.] Or, Shalmaneser.

6 I alone went often to Jerusalem, &c.] Tobit in the midst of a degenerate people, still maintained his integrity, and worshipped the God of his fathers in the place which he had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there.

8 And the third I gave unto them to whom it was meet, as Debora my father's mother had commanded me, becauſe I was left an orphan by my father.

9 Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of mine own kindred, and of her I begat Tobias.

10 And when we were carried away captives to Nineve, all my brethren, and thoſe that were of my kindred, did eat of the bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept myſelf from eating;

12 Becauſe I remembered God with all my heart.

13 And the moſt High gave me grace and favour before Enemeſſar, ſo that I was his purveyor.

14 And I went into Media, and left in truſt with Gabael, the brother of Gabrias, at Rages a city of Media, ten talents of ſilver.

15 Now when Enemeſſar was dead, Sennacherib his ſon reigned in his ſtead; whoſe eſtate was troubled, that I could not go into Media.

16 And in the time of Enemeſſar, I gave many alms to my brethren, and gave my bread to the hungry,

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I ſaw any of my nation dead, or caſt above the walls of Nineve, I buried him.

18 And if the king Sennacherib had ſlain any, when he was come and fled from Judea, I buried them privily (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found, when they were ſought for of the king.

19 And when one of the Ninevites went and complained of me to the king, that I buried them, and hid myſelf; underſtanding that I was ſought for to be put to death, I withdrew myſelf for fear.

20 Then all my goods were forcibly taken away, neither was there any thing left me, beſides my wife Anna, and my ſon Tobias.

21 And there paſſed not five and fifty days before two of his ſons killed him, and they fled into the mountains of Ararath, and Sarchedonus his ſon reigned in his ſtead: who appointed over his father's accounts, and over all his affairs, Achiacharus my brother Anael's ſon.

22 And Achiacharus intreating for me, I returned to Nineve: now Achiacharus was cup-bearer and keeper of the ſignet, and ſteward and overſeer of the accounts: and Sarchedonus appointed him near unto him: and he was my brother's ſon.

CHAP. II.

1 Tobit leaveth his meat to bury the dead, 10 and becometh blind.

NOW when I was come home again, and my wife Anna was reſtored unto me, with my ſon Tobias, in the feaſt of Pentecoſt, which is the holy feaſt of ſeven weeks, there was a good dinner prepared me, in the which I ſat down to eat.

2 And when I ſaw abundance of meat, I ſaid to my ſon, Go and bring what poor man ſoever thou ſhalt find out of our brethren, who is mindful of the Lord; and lo, I tarry for thee.

3 But he came again, and ſaid, Father, one of our nation is ſtrangled, and is caſt out in the market-place.

4 Then before I had taſted of any meat, I ſtarted up, and took him up into a room until the going down of the ſun.

5 Then I returned and waſhed myſelf, and ate my meat in heavineſs,

6 Remembering that prophecy of Amos, as he ſaid, Your feaſts ſhall be turned into mourning, and all your mirth into lamentation.

7 Therefore I wept: and after the going

14 Rages a city of Media, &c.] Rages was ſituated among the mountains that ſeparate Media from Parthia, and about a day's journey from Ecbatane.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 4 Before I had taſted any meat, &c.] We have here a very remarkable inſtance of humanity. Tobit on hearing that an Iſraelite was ſlain, would not taſte any meat till he had taken up the body and conveyed it to his chamber, in order to bury it during the darkneſs of the night. He well knew what he had to expect from the king of Nineveh, ſhould he be informed of this tranſaction; but danger could not deter him from performing an act of charity; and he rather choſe to expoſe himſelf to the reſentment of an incenſed monarch, than ſuffer the dead body of one of his brethren to remain expoſed in the ſtreets.

6 Your feaſts ſhall be turned into mourning, &c.] See Amos viii. 10. Tobit here applies the words of Amos to the afflictions of the ſeed of Jacob, and acknowledges that they ſuffered no more than what their ſins had merited.

down of the ſun, I went and made a grave, and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and ſaid, This man is not yet afraid to be put to death for this matter: who fled away; and yet lo, he burieth the dead again.

9 The ſame night alſo I returned from the burial, and ſlept by the wall of my court-yard, being polluted, and my face was uncovered:

10 And I knew not that there were ſparrows in the wall, and mine eyes being open, the ſparrows muted warm dung into mine eyes, and a whiteneſs came in mine eyes, and I went to the phyſicians, but they helped me not: moreover, Achiacharus did nouriſh me, until I went into Elymais.

11 And my wife Anna did take women's works to do.

12 And when ſhe had ſent them home to the owners they paid her wages, and gave her alſo beſides a kid.

13 And when it was in my houſe, and began to cry, I ſaid unto her, From whence is this kid? is it not ſtolen? render it to the owners, for it is not lawful to eat any thing that is ſtolen.

14 But ſhe replied upon me, It was given for a gift more than the wages: howbeit, I did not believe her, but bade her render it to the owners: and I was abaſhed at her. But ſhe replied upon me, Where are thine alms, and thy righteous deeds? behold, thou and all thy works are known.

CHAP. III.

1 Tobit grieved with his wife's taunts, prayeth. 11 Sara reproached by her father's maids, prayeth alſo. 17 An angel is ſent to help them both.

THEN I being grieved, did weep, and in my ſorrow prayed, ſaying,

2 O Lord thou art juſt, and all the works and all thy ways are mercy and truth, and thou judgeſt truly and juſtly for ever.

3 Remember me, and look on me, puniſh me not for my ſins and ignorances, and the ſins of my fathers, who have ſinned before thee:

4 For they obeyed not thy commandments; wherefore thou haſt delivered us for a ſpoil, and unto a captivity, and unto death, and for a proverb of reproach to all the nations among whom we are diſperſed.

5 And now thy judgments are many and true; deal with me according to my ſins, and my fathers; becauſe we have not kept thy commandments, neither have walked in truth before thee.

6 Now therefore deal with me as ſeemeth beſt unto thee, and command thy ſpirit to be taken from me, that I may be diſſolved, and become earth; for it is profitable for me to die rather than to live, becauſe I have heard falſe reproaches, and have much ſorrow: command therefore that I may now be delivered out of this diſtreſs, and go into the everlaſting place; turn not thy face away from me.

7 It came to paſs the ſame day, that in Ecbatane a city of Media, Sara the daughter of Raguel was alſo reproached by her father's maids;

8 Becauſe that ſhe had been married to ſeven huſbands, whom Aſmodeus the evil ſpirit had

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 7 Ecbatane, a city of Media, &c.] Herodotus ſays expreſly, that the city of Ecbatane was built by Dejoces the firſt king of the Medes. It was ſituated on a ſpacious eminence, and into it Dejoces had brought together the whole nation of the Medes, who ever before had lived in caves and huts, diſperſed up and down the country; and this great concourſe of people rendered it very large and populous. It was incompaſſed with ſeven walls, at equal diſtances from each other. The firſt was the loweſt, and equal in circumference with the walls of Athens, that is, according to Thucydides, an hundred and ſeventy-eight furlongs. The reſt roſe gradually, and overlooked each other about the height of a battlement. Theſe walls made a very elegant appearance from their battlements being of different colours. The firſt were white, the ſecond black, the third of a purple colour, the fourth blue, the fifth of a deep orange, the ſixth of a ſilver, and the ſeventh of a gold colour. The royal palace and treaſury ſtood within the ſeventh wall; and the former alone, according to Polybius, was ſeven furlongs in circumference, and built with all the coſt and ſkill requiſite in a ſtately fabric; for ſome of its beams were ſaid to have been of ſilver, and the reſt of cedar ſtrengthened with plates of gold. Univerſal Hiſtory.

8 Aſmodeus.] This word is probably derived from a Hebrew word, which ſignifies to exterminate; ſo that nothing more is meant by Aſmodeus than the deſtroying an exterminating angel.

killed, before they had lien with her. Doſt thou not know, ſaid they, that thou haſt ſtrangled thine huſbands? thou haſt had already ſeven huſbands, neither waſt thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doſt thou beat us for them? if they be dead, go thy ways after them, let us never ſee of thee either ſon or daughter.

10 When ſhe heard theſe things, ſhe was very ſorrowful, ſo that ſhe thought to have ſtrangled herſelf; and ſhe ſaid, I am the only daughter of my father, and if I do this it ſhall be a reproach unto him, and I ſhall bring his old age with ſorrow unto the grave.

11 Then ſhe prayed toward the window, and ſaid, Bleſſed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine only and glorious name is bleſſed and honourable for ever: let all thy works praiſe thee for ever.

12 And now, O Lord, I ſet mine eyes and my face toward thee,

13 And ſay, Take me out of the earth, that I may hear no more the reproach.

14 Thou knoweſt, Lord, that I am pure from all ſin with man.

15 And that I never polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captivity: I am the only daughter of my father, neither hath he any child to be his heir, neither any near kinſman, nor any ſon of his alive, to whom I may keep myſelf for a wife: my ſeven huſbands are already dead, and why ſhould I live? but if it pleaſe not thee that I ſhould die, command ſome regard to be had of me, and pity taken of me, that I hear no more reproach.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the majeſty of the great God.

17 And Raphael was ſent to heal them both, that is, to ſcale away the whiteneſs of Tobit's eyes, and to give Sara the daughter of Raguel, for a wife to Tobias the ſon of Tobit; and to bind Aſmodeus the evil ſpirit, becauſe ſhe belonged to Tobias by right of inheritance. The ſelf-ſame time came Tobit home, and entered into his houſe, and Sara the daughter of Raguel came down from her upper chamber.

CHAP. IV.

3 Tobit giveth inſtructions to his ſon Tobias, 20 and telleth him of money left with Gabael in Media.

IN that day Tobit remembered the money which he had committed to Gabael in Rages of Media,

2 And ſaid with himſelf, I have wiſhed for death; wherefore do I not call for my ſon Tobias, that I may ſignify to him of the money before I die?

3 And when he had called him, he ſaid, My ſon, when I am dead, bury me, and deſpiſe not thy mother, but honour her all the days of thy life, and do that which ſhall pleaſe her, and grieve her not.

4 Remember, my ſon, that ſhe ſaw many dangers for thee, when thou waſt in her womb; and when ſhe is dead, bury her by me in one grave.

5 My ſon, be mindful of the Lord our God all thy days, and let not thy will be ſet to ſin, or to tranſgreſs his commandments: do uprightly all thy life long, and follow not the ways of unrighteouſneſs.

6 For if thou deal truly, thy doings ſhall proſperouſly ſucceed to thee, and to all them that live juſtly.

7 Give alms of thy ſubſtance: and when thou giveſt alms, let not thine eye be envious, neither turn thy face from any poor, and the face of God ſhall not be turned away from thee.

8 If thou haſt abundance, give alms accordingly: if thou have but a little, be not afraid to give according to that little.

9 For thou layeſt up a good treaſure for thyſelf againſt the day of neceſſity.

10 Becauſe that alms do deliver from death, and ſuffereth not to come into darkneſs.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 3 My ſon, when I am dead, bury me, and deſpiſe not thy mother, &c.] Theſe inſtructions of Tobit to his ſon ſhould be read with attention, and imprinted on the memory of every youth; for they contain directions that cannot fail of conducting him through the world with ſafety and applauſe. They will teach him the duties he owes to his parents and fellow mortals, and direct him to obſerve the precepts of religion, and obey the commands of the Moſt High.

11 For alms is a good gift unto all that give it, in the sight of the most High.

12 Beware of all whoredom, my son, and chiefly take a wife of the seed of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy father's tribe: for we are the children of the prophets, Noe, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: remember, my son, that our fathers from the beginning even that they all married wives of their own kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seed shall inherit the land.

13 Now therefore, my son, love thy brethren, and despise not in thy heart thy brethren, the sons and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction and much trouble, and in lewdness is decay and great want: for lewdness is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tarry with thee, but give him it out of hand: for if thou serve God, he will also repay thee: be circumspect, my son, in all things thou doest, and be wise in all thy conversation.

15 Do that to no man which thou hatest: drink not wine to make thee drunken; neither let drunkenness go with thee in thy journey.

16 Give of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked; and according to thine abundance, give alms; and let not thine eye be envious when thou givest alms.

17 Pour out thy bread on the burial of the just, but give nothing to the wicked.

18 Ask counsel of all that are wise, and despise not any counsel that is profitable.

19 Bless the Lord thy God alway, and desire of him that thy ways may be directed, and that all the paths and counsels may prosper: for every nation hath not counsel, but the Lord himself giveth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will; now therefore, my son, remember my commandments, neither let them be put out of thy mind.

20 And now I signify this to thee, that I committed ten talents to Gabael the son of Gabrias at Rages in Media,

21 And fear not, my son, that we are made poor: for thou hast much wealth, if thou fear God, and depart from all sin, and do that which is pleasing in his sight.

CHAP. V.

6 The angel goeth with Tobias into Media: 17 His mother is grieved for his departure.

TOBIAS then answered, and said, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receive the money, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gave him the hand-writing, and said, unto him, Seek thee a man which may go with thee whiles I yet live, and I will give him wages: and go and receive the money.

4 Therefore when he went to seek a man, he found Raphael that was an angel.

5 But he knew not; and he said unto him, Canst thou go with me to Rages? and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the angel said, I will go with thee, and I know the way well: for I have lodged with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said unto him, Tarry for me till I tell my father.

8 Then he said unto him, Go, and tarry not: so he went in and said to his father, Behold I have found one which will go with me. Then he said, Call him unto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be a trusty man to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said unto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Dost thou seek for a

19 Bless the Lord thy God alway, &c.] Tobit could not conclude his excellent admonitions without repeating what he had before delivered in other terms, namely, that it is from the Lord all our happiness flows; it is he that causeth our undertakings to prosper, and blesseth the labours of our hands.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 4 He found Raphael that was an angel.] Tobias obeyed the directions of his father, and went out to find a man to accompany him in his journey. And as he was passing through the street, the angel Raphael appeared to him in the form of a young Israelite, and offered to conduct him to his father's friend Gabael at Rages, at whose house he had lodged.

tribe or family, or an hired man to go with thy ſon? Then Tobit ſaid unto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and name.

12 Then he ſaid, I am Azarias, the ſon of Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit ſaid, Thou art welcome, brother, be not now angry with me, becauſe I have enquired to know thy tribe, and thy family, for thou art my brother, of an honeſt and good ſtock: for I know Ananias and Jonathas, ſons of that great Samaias: as we went together to Jeruſalem to worſhip, and offered the firſt-born, and the tenths of the fruits, and they were not ſeduced with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a good ſtock.

14 But tell me, what wages ſhall I give thee? wilt thou a drachm a day, and things neceſſary, as to mine own ſon?

15 Yea, moreover, if ye return ſafe, I will add ſomething to thy wages.

16 So they were well pleaſed. Then ſaid he to Tobias, Prepare thyſelf for the journey, and God ſend you a good journey. And when his ſon had prepared all things for the journey, his father ſaid, Go thou with this man, and God, which dwelleth in heaven, proſper your journey, and the angel of God keep you company. So they went forth both, and the young man's dog with them.

17 But Anna his mother wept, and ſaid to Tobit, Why haſt thou ſent away our ſon? is he not the ſtaff of our hand, in going in and out before us?

18 Be not greedy (to add) money to money: but let it be as refuſe in reſpect of our child.

19 For that which the Lord hath given us to live with, doth ſuffice us.

20 Then ſaid Tobit to her, Take no care, my ſiſter; he ſhall return in ſafety, and thine eyes ſhall ſee him.

21 For the good angel will keep him company, and his journey ſhall be proſperous, and he ſhall return ſafe.

22 Then ſhe made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

4 The angel biddeth Tobias to take the liver, heart, and gall out of a fiſh; 16 and teacheth how to drive the wicked ſpirit away.

AND as they went on their journey, they came in the evening to the river Tigris, and they lodged there.

2 And when the young man went down to waſh himſelf, a fiſh leaped out of the river, and would have devoured him.

3 Then the angel ſaid unto him, Take the fiſh: and the young man laid hold of the fiſh, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the angel ſaid, Open the fiſh, and take the heart, and the liver, and the gall, and put them up ſafely.

5 So the young man did as the angel commanded him; and when they had roaſted the fiſh, they did eat it: then they both went on their way, till they drew near to Ecbatane.

6 Then the young man ſaid to the angel, Brother Azarias, to what uſe is the heart, and the liver, and the gall of the fiſh?

7 And he ſaid unto him, Touching the heart and the liver, if a devil or an evil ſpirit trouble any, we muſt make a ſmoke thereof before the man or the woman, and the party ſhall be no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, it is good to anoint a man that hath whiteneſs in his eyes, and he ſhall be healed.

9 And when they were come near to Rages,

10 The angel ſaid unto the young man, Brother, to-day we ſhall lodge with Raguel, who is thy couſin; he alſo hath one only daughter, named Sara; I will ſpeak for her, that ſhe may be given thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doth the right of her appertain, ſeeing thou only art of her kindred.

12 And the maid is fair and wiſe: now therefore hear me, and I will ſpeak to her fa-

19 For that which the Lord hath given us to live with, &c.] Margin. So long as God hath granted us to live, this is ſufficient.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 8 As for the gall, &c.] This fiſh, according to Bochart, is that river-fiſh which the Latins call Silurus: it is found only in great rivers; and is the boldeſt and moſt voracious of any freſh-water fiſh whatever: its throat is very large, its teeth very ſharp, and phyſicians ſay, its gall is good for any diſtemper in the eyes. Lamy.

ther; and when we return from Rages, we will celebrate the marriage: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another, according to the law of Moſes, but he ſhall be guilty of death, becauſe the right of inheritance doth rather appertain to thee than to any other.

13 Then the young man anſwered the angel, I have heard, brother Azarias, that this maid hath been given to ſeven men, who all died in the marriage-chamber.

14 And now I am the only ſon of my father, and I am afraid, leſt, if I go in unto her, I die as the other before; for a wicked ſpirit loveth her, which hurteth no body, but thoſe which come unto her; wherefore I alſo fear leſt I die, and bring my father's and my mother's life (becauſe of me) to the grave with ſorrow: for they have no other ſon to bury them.

15 Then the angel ſaid unto him, Doſt thou not remember the precepts which thy father gave thee, that thou ſhouldeſt marry a wife of thine own kindred? wherefore hear me, O my brother, for ſhe ſhall be given thee to wife; and make thou no reckoning of the evil ſpirit; for this ſame night ſhall ſhe be given thee in marriage.

16 And when thou ſhalt come into the marriage-chamber, thou ſhalt take the aſhes of perfume, and ſhalt lay upon them ſome of the heart and liver of the fiſh, and ſhalt make a ſmoke with it:

17 And the devil ſhall ſmell it, and flee away, and never come again any more: but when thou ſhalt come to her, riſe up both of you, and pray to God which is merciful, who will have pity on you, and ſave you: fear not, for ſhe is appointed unto thee from the beginning; and thou ſhalt preſerve her, and ſhe ſhall go with thee: moreover I ſuppoſe that ſhe ſhall bear thee children. Now when Tobias had heard theſe things, he loved her, and his heart was effectually joined to her.

CHAP. VII.

11 Raguel giveth Tobias his daughter in marriage: 17 She is conveyed to her chamber, and weepeth: 18 Her mother comforteth her.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the houſe of Raguel, and Sara met them: and after they had ſaluted one another, ſhe brought them into the houſe.

2 Then ſaid Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this young man to Tobit my couſin!

3 And Raguel aſked them, From whence are you, brethren? To whom they ſaid, We are of the ſons of Nephthalim, which are captives in Nineve.

4 Then he ſaid to them, Do ye know Tobit our kinſman? And they ſaid, We know him. Then ſaid he, Is he in good health?

5 And they ſaid, He is both alive, and in good health: And Tobias ſaid, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped up and kiſſed him, and wept,

7 And bleſſed him, and ſaid unto him, Thou art the ſon of an honeſt and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blind, he was ſorrowful and wept.

8 And likewiſe Edna his wife and Sara his daughter wept. Moreover, they entertained them chearfully; and after that they had killed a ram of the flock, they ſet ſtore of meat on the table. Then ſaid Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, ſpeak of thoſe things of which thou didſt talk in the way, and let this buſineſs be diſpatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel: and Raguel ſaid to Tobias, Eat and drink, and make merry:

10 For it is meet that thou ſhouldeſt marry my daughter: nevertheleſs, I will declare unto thee the truth.

15 Doſt thou not remember the precepts which thy father gave thee? &c.] The angel, to remove the fears of Tobias, told him that the perſons over whom the evil ſpirits had power, were ſuch as married without the fear of God, and only to ſatisfy their brutal appetites; but that if he followed his inſtructions, he would be able to drive the evil ſpirit from the houſe.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 8 A ram.] A ſucking ram or lamb. Junius.

10 For it is meet that thou ſhouldeſt marry my daughter: nevertheleſs, I will declare unto thee the truth.] In this tranſaction between Raguel and Tobias, in relation to the intended marriage, we may obſerve the honeſty of Raguel in acquainting Tobias before the ceremony was performed of the terrible conſequences which would in all probability follow their nuptials, from what had befallen her former huſbands. But Tobias, confiding in, and reſolving to obey the directions which had been given him

for

11 I have given my daughter in marriage to seven men, who died that night they came in unto her: nevertheless, for the present be merry. But Tobias said, I will eat nothing here, till we agree, and swear one to another.

12 Raguel said, Then take her from henceforth according to the manner, for thou art her cousin, and she is thine, and the merciful God give you good success in all things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sara, and she came to her father, and he took her by the hand, and gave her to be wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the law of Moses, and lead her away to thy father: and he blessed them;

14 And called Edna his wife, and took paper, and did write in an instrument of covenants, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eat.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said unto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as he had bidden her, she brought her thither; and she wept, and she received the tears of her daughter, and said unto her,

18 Be of good comfort, my daughter; the Lord of heaven and earth give thee joy for this thy sorrow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

3 Tobias driveth the wicked spirit away: 4 He and his wife rise up to pray.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in unto her.

2 And as he went, he remembered the words of Raphael, and took the ashes of the perfumes, and put the heart and liver of the fish thereupon, and made a smoke therewith.

3 The which smell when the evil spirit had smelled, he fled into the utmost parts of Egypt, and the angel bound him.

4 And after that they were both shut in together, Tobias rose out of the bed, and said, Sister, arise and let us pray, that God would have pity on us.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thy holy and glorious name for ever; let the heavens bless thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gavest him Eve his wife for an helper and stay: of them came mankind: thou hast said, It is not good that man should be alone; let us make unto him an aid like unto himself.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for lust, but uprightly: therefore mercifully ordain, that we may become aged together.

8 And she said with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night. And Raguel arose, and went and made a grave,

10 Saying, I fear lest he also be dead.

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He said unto his wife Edna, Send one of the maids, and let her see whether he be alive: if he be not, that we may bury him, and no man know it.

13 So the maid opened the door, and went in, and found them both asleep,

14 And came forth, and told them that he was alive.

15 Then Raguel praised God, and said, O God, thou art worthy to be praised with all pure and holy praise; therefore let thy saints praise thee with all thy creatures; and let all thine angels and thine elect praise thee for ever.

16 Thou art to be praised, for thou hast made me joyful; and that is not come to me, which I suspected; but thou hast dealt with us according to thy great mercy.

17 Thou art to be praised, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the only-begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercy, O Lord, and finish their life in health, with joy and mercy.

18 Then Raguel bade his servants to fill the grave.

for his conduct and behaviour on this occasion, refused to eat or drink till Raguel had absolutely agreed to give him his daughter in marriage.

12 According to the manner.] Margin, Or law.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 5 Blessed art thou, O God of my fathers, &c.] This prayer which Tobias offered to the Almighty is very pious and well adapted to the occasion; nor is it an improper form to be used by every new married couple, even in our days.

19 And he kept the wedding-feaſt fourteen days.

20 For before the days of the marriage were finiſhed, Raguel had ſaid unto him by an oath, that he ſhould not depart till the fourteen days of the marriage were expired,

21 And then he ſhould take the half of his goods, and go in ſafety to his father; and ſhould have the reſt, when I and my wife be dead.

CHAP. IX.

1 Tobias ſendeth the angel unto Gabael for the money: 6 The angel bringeth it and Gabael to the wedding.

THEN Tobias called Raphael, and ſaid unto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a ſervant and two camels, and go to Rages of Media, to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath ſworn that I ſhall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the days, and if I tarry long, he will be very ſorry.

5 So Raphael went out, and lodged with Gabael, and gave him the hand-writing; who brought forth bags which were ſealed up, and gave them to him.

6 And early in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding, and Tobias bleſſed his wife.

CHAP. X.

Tobit and his wife long for their ſon: 7 She will not be comforted by her huſband.

NOW Tobit his father counted every day: and when the days of the journey were expired, and they came not,

2 Then Tobit ſaid, Are they detained? or is Gabael dead, and there is no man to give him the money?

3 Therefore he was very ſorry.

4 Then his wife ſaid unto him, My ſon is dead, ſeeing he ſtayeth long; and ſhe began to bewail him, and ſaid,

5 Now I care for nothing, my ſon, ſince I have let thee go, the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit ſaid, Hold thy peace, take no care, for he is ſafe.

7 But ſhe ſaid, Hold thy peace, and deceive me not; my ſon is dead: and ſhe went out every day into the way which they went, and did eat no meat on the day-time, and ceaſed not whole nights to bewail her ſon Tobias, until the fourteen days of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had ſworn that he ſhould ſpend there. Then Tobias ſaid to Raguel, Let me go, for my father and my mother look no more to ſee me.

8 But his father-in-law ſaid unto him, Tarry with me, and I will ſend to thy father, and they ſhall declare unto him, how things go with thee.

9 But Tobias ſaid, No, but let me go to my father.

10 Then Raguel aroſe, and gave him Sara his wife, and half his goods, ſervants, and cattle, and money:

11 And he bleſſed them, and ſent them away, ſaying, The God of heaven give you a proſperous journey, my children.

12 And he ſaid to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother-in-law, which are now thy parents, that I may hear good report of thee: and he kiſſed her. Edna alſo ſaid to Tobias, The Lord of heaven reſtore thee, my dear brother, and grant that I may ſee thy children of my daughter Sara before I die, that I

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then Tobias called Raphael, &c.] Tobias, that he might not ſeem to neglect his father's affairs while he was feaſting with his father-in-law, intreated the angel to go to Rages, and receive from Gabael the money due to his father. The angel went and received the money, told Gabael what had happened to Tobias, and conducted him to the wedding.

In this chapter, the filial duty and tender regard of Tobias for his aged parents is very remarkable. Not the kind entertainment, the feaſting and rejoicing, with which his father-in-law endeavoured to amuſe him; nor even the delight which he doubtleſs took in the company of his new bride, could baniſh from his thoughts the care and concern, in which he reaſonably imagined his aged parents were involved on his account.

6 Tobias bleſſed his wife.] Junius reads, Gabael bleſſed Tobias, and his wife.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 11 He bleſſed them, and ſent them away, &c.] The concluſion of this chapter exhibits a remarkable inſtance of that endearing affection which nature has implanted in the hearts of parents for their children, eſpecially when Providence thinks proper to ſeparate them from each other.

may rejoice before the Lord: behold, I commit my daughter unto thee of ſpecial truſt; wherefore do not entreat her evil.

CHAP. XI.

6 Tobias's mother ſpieth her ſon coming: 17 His father welcometh his daughter-in-law.

AFTER theſe things Tobias went his way, praiſing God that he had given him a proſperous journey, and bleſſed Raguel, and Edna his wife, and went on his way, till they drew near unto Nineve.

2 Then Raphael ſaid to Tobias, Thou knoweſt, brother, how thou didſt leave thy father.

3 Let us haſte before thy wife, and prepare the houſe:

4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fiſh. So they went their way, and the dog went after them.

5 Now Anna ſat looking about towards the way for her ſon.

6 And when ſhe eſpied him coming, ſhe ſaid to his father, Behold, thy ſon cometh, and the man that went with him.

7 Then ſaid Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father will open his eyes.

8 Therefore anoint thou his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he ſhall rub, and the whiteneſs ſhall fall away, and he ſhall ſee thee.

9 Then Anna ran forth, and fell upon the neck of her ſon, and ſaid unto him, Seeing I have ſeen thee, my ſon, from henceforth I am content to die; and they wept both.

10 Tobit alſo went forth toward the door, and ſtumbled: but his ſon ran unto him,

11 And took hold of his father; and he ſtrake off the gall on his father's eyes, ſaying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to ſmart, he rubbed them;

13 And the whiteneſs pelled away from the corner of his eyes: and when he ſaw his ſon, he fell upon his neck.

14 And he wept, and ſaid, Bleſſed art thou, O God, and bleſſed is thy name for ever; and bleſſed are all thine holy angels:

15 For thou haſt ſcourged, and haſt taken pity on me: for behold, I ſee my ſon Tobias. And his ſon went in rejoicing, and told his father the great things that had happened to him in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter-in-law, at the gate of Nineve, rejoicing and praiſing God: and they which ſaw him go marvelled, becauſe he had received his ſight.

17 But Tobit gave thanks before them, becauſe God had mercy on him. And when he came near to Sara his daughter-in-law, he bleſſed her, ſaying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be bleſſed, which hath brought thee unto us, and bleſſed be thy father and thy mother. And there was joy amongſt all his brethren which were at Nineve.

18 And Achiacharus, and Naſbas his brother's ſon came,

19 And Tobias's wedding was kept ſeven days with great joy.

CHAP. XII.

5 Tobit offereth half to the angel for his pains: But he calleth them both aſide, and exhorteth them, 15 and telleth them that he was an angel.

THEN Tobit called his ſon Tobias, and ſaid unto him, My ſon, ſee that the man have his wages which went with thee, and thou muſt give him more.

2 And Tobias ſaid unto him, O father, it is no harm to me to give him half of thoſe things which I have brought.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 After theſe things Tobias went his way, praiſing God, &c.] The pious hiſtorian has taken care in every tranſaction he has recorded, to render the whole honour to God; and it would be of the greateſt advantage to us, if we imitated his example. And ſurely when it is remembered that every good gift cometh from above, we ſhall be very ungrateful to receive the benefit, and not be thankful to the giver. It is to him we owe our creation, preſervation, and all the happineſs we enjoy, and therefore ſhould be careful to render him our conſtant tribute of praiſe and thankſgiving.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then Tobit called his ſon Tobias, &c.] Tobit conſidering the great trouble Azarias had taken, and being deſirous to reward him in proportion to the greatneſs of his ſervice, offered him half the riches they had acquired in their journey; an inſtance of juſtice and benevolence that merits attention, and ſhews that Tobit and his ſon delighted in the works of liberality.

3 For he hath brought me again to thee in ſafety, and made whole my wife, and brought me the money, and likewiſe healed thee.

4 Then the old man ſaid, It is due unto him.

5 So he called the angel, and he ſaid unto him, Take half of all that ye have brought, and go away in ſafety.

6 Then he took them both apart, and ſaid unto them, Bleſs God, praiſe him, and magnify him, and praiſe him for the things which he hath done unto you in the ſight of all that live. It is good to praiſe God, and exalt his name, and honourably to ſhew forth the works of God; therefore be not ſlack to praiſe him.

7 It is good to keep cloſe the ſecrets of a king, but it is honourable to reveal the works of God: do that which is good, and no evil ſhall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with faſting, and alms, and righteouſneſs: a little with righteouſneſs is better than much with unrighteouſneſs: it is better to give alms than to lay up gold:

9 For alms doth deliver from death, and ſhall purge away all ſin. Thoſe that exerciſe alms and righteouſneſs ſhall be filled with life:

10 But they that ſin are enemies to their own life:

11 Surely I will keep cloſe nothing from you. For I ſaid, It was good to keep cloſe the ſecrets of a king, but that it was honourable to reveal the works of God.

12 Now therefore, when thou didſt pray, and Sara thy daughter-in-law, I did bring the remembrance of your prayers before the Holy One; and when thou didſt bury the dead, I was with thee likewiſe.

13 And when thou didſt not delay to riſe up, and leave thy dinner to go and cover the dead, thy good deed was not hid from me: but I was with thee.

14 And now God hath ſent me to heal thee, and Sara thy daughter-in-law.

15 I am Raphael, one of the ſeven holy angels, which preſent the prayers of the ſaints, and which go in and out before the glory of the Holy One.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell upon their faces: for they feared.

17 But he ſaid unto them, Fear not, for it ſhall go well with you; praiſe God therefore.

18 For not of any favour of mine, but by the will of our God I came; wherefore praiſe him for ever.

19 All theſe days I did appear unto you; but I did neither eat nor drink, but you did ſee a viſion.

20 Now therefore give God thanks: for I go up to him that ſent me, but write all things which are done in a book.

21 And when they aroſe, they ſaw him no more.

22 Then they confeſſed the great and wonderful works of God, and how the angel of the Lord had appeared unto them.

CHAP. XIII.

The thankſgiving unto God which Tobit wrote.

THEN Tobit wrote a prayer of rejoicing, and ſaid, Bleſſed be God that liveth for ever, and bleſſed be his kingdom.

2 For he doth ſcourge, and hath mercy: he leadeth down to hell, and bringeth up again, neither is there any that can avoid his hand.

3 Confeſs him before the Gentiles, ye children of Iſrael: for he hath ſcattered us among them.

4 There declare his greatneſs, and extol him before all the living: for he is our Lord, and he is the God our Father for ever.

5 And he will ſcourge us for our iniquities, and will have mercy again, and will gather us out of all nations, among whom he hath ſcattered us.

---

6 Then he took them both apart, &c.] This account of the angel, whether true or fictitious, affords this excellent moral, That obedience to God, and a tender and dutiful regard to parents, are pleaſing to the Almighty, and will ſooner or later be ſurely rewarded by the great Creator of the univerſe.

13 To go and cover.] Margin, To go and bury.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter,

Ver. 1 Tobit wrote a prayer of rejoicing, &c.] Tobit having received ſo many mercies, could not conceal his gratitude; but wrote a prayer of thankſgiving, wherein he diſplays the wonderful power of God, and calls upon the Iſraelites to extol his name before all people, adviſing ſinners to repent, and turn to the Lord, in order to avert his judgments, and obtain mercy for their manifold tranſgreſſions; concluding with an exhortation to praiſe the everlaſting King.

6 If you turn to him with your whole heart, and with your whole mind, and deal uprightly before him, then will he turn unto you, and will not hide his face from you. Therefore ſee what he will do with you, and confeſs him with your whole mouth, and praiſe the Lord of might, and extol the everlaſting King. In the land of my captivity do I praiſe him, and declare his might and majeſty to a ſinful nation: O ye ſinners, turn and do juſtice before him: who can tell if he will accept you, and have mercy on you?

7 I will extol my God, and my ſoul ſhall praiſe the King of Heaven, and ſhall rejoice in his greatneſs.

8 Let all men ſpeak, and let all praiſe him for his righteouſneſs.

9 O Jeruſalem the holy city, he will ſcourge thee for thy children's works, and will have mercy again on the ſons of the righteous.

10 Give praiſe to the Lord, for he is good: and praiſe the everlaſting King, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee again with joy, and let him make joyful there in thee thoſe that are captives, and love in thee for ever thoſe that are miſerable.

11 Many nations ſhall come from far to the name of the Lord God, with gifts in their hands, even gifts to the King of heaven; all generations ſhall praiſe thee with great joy.

12 Curſed are all they which hate thee, and bleſſed ſhall all be which love thee for ever.

13 Rejoice and be glad for the children of the juſt: for they ſhall be gathered together, and ſhall bleſs the Lord of the juſt.

14 O bleſſed are they which love thee, for they ſhall rejoice in thy peace: bleſſed are they which have been ſorrowful for all thy ſcourges; for they ſhall rejoice for thee, when they have ſeen all thy glory, and ſhall be glad for ever.

15 Let my ſoul bleſs God the great King.

16 For Jeruſalem ſhall be built up with ſapphires, and emeralds, and precious ſtones: thy walls, and towers, and battlements, with pure gold.

17 And the ſtreets of Jeruſalem ſhall be paved with beryl, and carbuncle, and ſtones of Ophir.

18 And all her ſtreets ſhall ſay, Alleluia; and they ſhall praiſe him, ſaying, Bleſſed be God which hath extolled it for ever.

CHAP. XIV.

3 Tobit giveth inſtructions to his ſon: He and his wife die. 14 Tobias dieth at Ecbatane, after he had heard of the deſtruction of Nineve.

SO Tobit made an end of praiſing God.

2 And he was eight and fifty years old when he loſt his ſight, which was reſtored to him after eight years: and he gave alms, and he increaſed in the fear of the Lord God, and praiſed him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his ſon, and the ſix ſons of his ſon, and ſaid to him, My ſon, take thy children; for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life.

4 Go into Media, my ſon, for I ſurely believe thoſe things which Jonas the prophet ſpake of Nineve; that it ſhall be overthrown, and that for a time peace ſhall rather be in Media; and that our brethren ſhall lie ſcattered in the earth from that good land; and Jeruſalem ſhall be deſolate and the houſe of God in it ſhall be burned, and ſhall be deſolate for a time;

5 And that again, God will have mercy on them, and bring them again into the land, where they ſhall build a temple, but not like to the firſt, until the time of that age be fulfilled; and afterward they ſhall return from all places of their captivity, and build up Jeruſalem gloriouſly, and the houſe of God ſhall be built in it for ever, with a glorious building, as the prophets have ſpoken thereof.

6 And all nations ſhall turn and fear the Lord God truly, and ſhall bury their idols.

9 He will ſcourge thee for thy children's works, &c.] Or, as it is in the original, he will lay a ſcourge upon the works of thy children.

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 He was eight and fifty years old, &c.] In this chapter, we have an account of the great age of Tobit and his ſon, and of the great proſperity they enjoyed during the latter part of their lives; ſo that their good works were rewarded even in this life; and ſhould teach us to put our truſt in that benevolent Being who inſpired us with life, and who continually directs and governs the operations of nature.

5 For ever.] This is not in the Roman copy.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confess God, and the Lord shall exalt his people; and all those which love the Lord God in truth and justice, shall rejoice, Jonas shewing mercy to our brethren.

8 And now, my son, depart out of Nineve, because that those things which the prophet spake, shall surely come to pass.

9 But keep thou the law and the commandments, and shew thyself merciful and just, that it may go well with thee.

10 And bury me decently, and thy mother with me; but tarry no longer at Nineve. Remember, my son, how Aman handled Achiacarus, that brought him up; how out of light he brought him into darkness, and how he rewarded him again: yet Achiacarus was saved, but the other had his reward: for he went down into darkness. Manasses gave alms, and escaped the snares of death which they had set for him: but Aman fell into the snare, and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my son, consider what alms doeth, and how righteousness doeth deliver. When he had said these things, he gave up the ghost in the bed, being an hundred and eight and fifty years old, and he buried him honourably.

12 And when Anna his mother was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias departed with his wife and children to Ecbatane, to Raguel his father-in-law, 13 Where he became old with honour, and he buried his father and mother-in-law honourably, and he inherited their substance, and his father Tobit's.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundred and seven and twenty years old.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineve, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus: and before his death he rejoiced over Nineve.

8 Depart out of Nineve, &c.] Tobit, when he drew near his end, cautioned his son to leave Nineve, assuring him that the prophecy of Jonas would be certainly fulfilled, and the superb buildings of that magnificent city blended with the dust. Tobias obeyed the voice of his father, retired into Media, and saw the destruction of Nineve.

JUDITH.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Book of Judith, says Dr. Prideaux, was originally written in the Chaldee language by some Jew of Babylon, and from thence was by St. Jerome translated into the Latin tongue, which is the translation that is now extant in the vulgar Latin edition of the Bible. There are two other translations, one in Greek, and the other in Syriac. Whether the book be a true or a feigned history, is what learned men are not agreed in: The Romanists will have it to be all true, for they have received it into the canon of divine writ: But abundance of learned writers among the protestants, agree with Grotius, that this book is rather a parabolical than a real history, made for the instructing and comforting of the people of the Jews, and not to give them a narrative of any thing really done: and their reason for it is, that they think it utterly inconsistent with all times, where it has been endeavoured to be placed, either before or after the captivity of the Jews.

CHAP. I.

2 Arphaxad fortifieth Ecbatane: 5 Nabuchodonosor warreth against him, 15 and killeth him.

IN the twelfth year of the reign of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineve the great city (in the days of Arphaxad which reigned over the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane walls round about, of stones hewn three cubits broad, and six cubits long, and made the height of the wall seventy cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits:

3 And set the towers thereof upon the gates of it, an hundred cubits high, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubits.

4 And he made the gates thereof, even gates that were raised to the height of seventy cubits, and the breadth of them was forty cubits, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in array of his footmen)

5 Even in those days king Nabuchodonosor made war with king Arphaxad in the great plain, which is the plain in the borders of Ragau.

6 And there came unto him all they that dwelt in the hill-country, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tigris, and Hydaspe, and the plain of Arioch, the king of the Elymeans, and very many nations of the sons of Chelod, assembled themselves to the battle.

7 Then Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians sent unto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt westward, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt upon the sea-coast,

8 And to those amongst the nations that were of Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galilee, and the great plain of Esdrelom,

9 And to all that were in Samaria and the cities thereof, and beyond Jordan unto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chellus, and Kades, and the river of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Gesem,

10 Until you come beyond Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, until you come to the borders of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of the land made light of the commandment of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither went they with him to the battle: for they were not afraid of him: yea he was before them as one man, and they sent away his ambassadors from them without effect, and with disgrace.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this country, and sware by his throne and kingdom, that he would surely be avenged upon all those coasts of Cilicia, and Damascus, and Syria; and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and all that were in Egypt, till you come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battle-array with his power against king Arphaxad in the seventeenth year, and he prevailed in his battle: for he overthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horsemen, and all his chariots,

14 And became lord of his cities, and came unto Ecbatane, and took the towers, and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame.

15 He took also Arphaxad in the mountains of Ragau, and smote him through with his darts, and destroyed him utterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Nineve, both he and all his company of sundry nations, being a very great multitude of men of war, and there he took his ease, and banqueted, both he and his army, an hundred and twenty days.

CHAP. II.

4 Holofernes is appointed general, 11 and charged to spare none that will not yield.

AND in the eighteenth year, the two and twentieth day of the first month, there was talk in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should, as he said, avenge himself on all the earth.

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the twelfth year of the reign of Nabuchodonosor, &c.] This Nabuchodonosor is the same prince whom Herodotus calls Saosduchinus, who, after the death of Esarhaddon, succeeded to his acquisitions; and the reason why the author of the book of Judith, who certainly wrote either in Babylon, or some other part of Chaldee, calls him Nabuchodonosor is, because this was the common name of the kings of the country.

Notes

2 So he called unto him all his officers, and all his nobles, and communicated with them his ſecret counſel, and concluded the afflicting of the whole earth out of his own mouth.

3 Then they decreed to deſtroy all fleſh that did not obey the commandment of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counſel, Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians called Holofernes the chief captain of his army, which was next unto him, and ſaid unto him,

4 Thus ſaith the great king, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou ſhalt go forth from my preſence, and take with thee men that truſt in their own ſtrength, of footmen an hundred and twenty thouſand; and the number of horſes with their riders, twelve thouſand.

6 And thou ſhalt go againſt all the weſt country, becauſe they diſobeyed my commandment.

7 And thou ſhalt declare unto them, that they prepare for me earth and water: for I will go forth in my wrath againſt them, and will cover the whole face of the earth with the feet of mine army, and I will give them for a ſpoil unto them:

8 So that their ſlain ſhall fill their vallies and brooks, and the river ſhall be filled with their dead, till it overflow.

9 And I will lead them captives to the utmoſt parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore ſhalt go forth, and take beforehand for me all their coaſts: and if they will yield themſelves unto thee, thou ſhalt reſerve them for me till the day of their puniſhment.

11 But concerning them that rebel, let not thine eyes ſpare them; but put them to the ſlaughter, and ſpoil them whereſoever thou goeſt.

12 For as I live, and by the power of my kingdom, whatſoever I have ſpoken, that will I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou heed that thou tranſgreſs none of the commandments of thy lord, but accompliſh them fully, as I have commanded thee, and defer not to do them.

14 Then Holofernes went forth from the preſence of his lord, and called all the governors and captains, and the officers of the army of Aſſur,

15 And he muſtered the choſen men for the battle, as his lord had commanded him, unto an hundred and twenty thouſand, and twelve thouſand archers on horſeback.

16 And he ranged them as a great army is ordered for the war.

17 And he took camels and aſſes for their carriages, a very great number; and ſheep, and oxen, and goats without number, for their proviſion:

18 And plenty of victual for every man of the army, and very much gold and ſilver out of the king's houſe.

19 Then he went forth, and all his power to go before king Nabuchodonoſor in the voyage, and to cover all the face of the earth weſtward with their chariots, and horſemen, and their choſen footmen.

20 A great multitude alſo of ſundry countries came with them like locuſts, and like the ſand of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineve, three days journey toward the plain of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth near the mountain which is at the left hand of the upper Cilicia.

22 Then he took all his army, his footmen, and horſemen, and chariots, and went from thence into the hill-country;

23 And deſtroyed Phud and Lud, and ſpoiled all the children of Raſſes, and the children of Iſmael, which were toward the wilderneſs, at the ſouth of the land of the Chellians.

24 Then he went over Euphrates, and went

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 4 Holofernes the chief captain of his army, &c.] Some commentators are of opinion, that the word Holofernes is of Perſian extract; but others think that this general was a native either of Pontus, or Cappadocia. Polybius mentions one of this name, who having conquered Cappadocia, ſoon loſt it again, becauſe he was for changing the ancient cuſtoms of the country, and introducing drunkenneſs, together with feaſts and ſongs to Bacchus; and hence Caſaubon conjectures, that this was the ſame Holofernes who commanded Nabuchodonoſor's army, as his riot and debauchery, as well as the rapidity of his conqueſts, ſeem to form a ſtrong reſemblance with thoſe of the conqueror of Cappadocia.

Notes

through Meſopotamia, and deſtroyed all the high cities that were upon the river Arbonai till you come to the ſea.

25 And he took the borders of Cilicia, and killed all that reſiſted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were toward the ſouth, over againſt Arabia.

26 He compaſſed alſo all the children of Madian, and burnt up their tabernacles, and ſpoiled their ſheep-cotes.

27 Then he went down into the plain of Damaſcus in the time of wheat-harveſt, and burnt up all their fields, and deſtroyed their flocks and herds, alſo he ſpoiled their cities, and utterly waſted their countries, and ſmote all their young men with the edge of the ſword.

28 Therefore the fear and dread of him fell upon all the inhabitants of the ſea-coaſts, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur, and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Jemnaan; and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Aſcalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

1 They of the ſea-coaſts intreat for peace: 7 Holofernes is received there: 8 He deſtroyeth their gods.

SO they ſent ambaſſadors unto him, to treat of peace, ſaying,

2 Behold, we the ſervants of Nabuchodonoſor the great king lie before thee; uſe us as ſhall be good in thy ſight.

3 Behold, our houſes, and all our places, and all our fields of wheat, and flocks, and herds, and all the lodges of our tents, lie before thy face; uſe them as it pleaſeth thee.

4 Behold, even our cities, and the inhabitants thereof, are thy ſervants; come and deal with them as ſeemeth good unto thee.

5 So the men came to Holofernes, and declared unto him after this manner.

6 Then came he down toward the ſea-coaſt, both he and his army, and ſet garriſons in the high cities, and took out of them choſen men for aid.

7 So they and all the country round about received them with garlands, with dances, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he did caſt down their frontiers, and cut down their groves; for he had decreed to deſtroy all the gods of the land, that all nations ſhould worſhip Nabuchodonoſor only, and that all tongues and tribes ſhould call upon him as god.

9 Alſo he came over againſt Eſdraelon, near unto Judea, over-againſt the great ſtrait of Judea.

10 And he pitched between Geba and Scythopolis, and there he tarried a whole month, that he might gather together all the carriages of his army.

CHAP. IV.

1 The Jews are afraid of Holofernes, 5 and fortify the hills. 9 All Iſrael fall to faſting and prayer.

NOW the children of Iſrael, that dwelt in Judea, heard all that Holofernes the chief captain of Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians had done to the nations, and after what manner he had ſpoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they were exceedingly afraid of him, and were troubled for Jeruſalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God:

3 For they were newly returned from the

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 They ſent ambaſſadors to him.] The prodigious ſtrength of his army, and the horrid actions they had committed on the inhabitants of thoſe countries who had oppoſed their progreſs, induced the others to ſue for peace; and that their offers might be accepted, ſubmitted themſelves wholly to the mercy of the conqueror.

6 Then came he down toward the ſea-coaſt, &c.] The ſubmiſſive manner in which the inhabitants received Holofernes, mitigated his wrath, and induced him to grant them the peace they deſired; but he took the precaution of demoliſhing their fortifications and ſtrong holds, leſt on his departure, they ſhould break the treaty, and join the enemy.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The children of Iſrael, that dwelt in Judea, &c.] The deſcendants of Jacob, hearing of the terrible deſtruction of thoſe countries, through which the army of Holofernes had paſſed, and being deſirous of preſerving their liberty and religion, took poſſeſſion of the ſtreight paſſes of the mountains, the only ways that led to their country, in order to ſtop the progreſs of the enemy, and preſerve the temple at Jeruſalem, ſo lately purified, from being deſtroyed, and polluted by the hands of the heathen.

captivity, and all the people of Judea were lately gathered together: and the veſſels, and the altar, and the houſe were ſanctified after the profanation.

4 Therefore they ſent into all the coaſts of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoron, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Eſora, and to the valley of Salem:

5 And poſſeſſed themſelves before-hand of all the tops of the high mountains, and fortified the villages that were in them, and laid up victuals for the proviſion of war: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Alſo Joacim the high prieſt which was in thoſe days in Jeruſalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia, and Betomeſtham, which is over againſt Eſdraelon toward the open country, near to Dothaim,

7 Charging them to keep the paſſages of the hill-country: for by them there was an entrance into Judea, and it was eaſy to ſtop them that would come up, becauſe the paſſage was ſtrait for two men at the moſt.

8 And the children of Iſrael did as Joacim the high prieſt had commanded them, with the ancients of all the people of Iſrael which dwelt at Jeruſalem.

9 Then every man of Iſrael cried to God with great fervency, and with great vehemency did they humble their ſouls:

10 Both they and their wives, and their children, and their cattle, and every ſtranger and hireling, and their ſervants bought with money, put ſackcloth upon their loins.

11 Thus every man and woman, and the little children, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem fell before the temple, and caſt aſhes upon their heads, and ſpread out their ſackcloth before the face of the Lord: alſo they put ſackcloth about the altar,

12 And cried to the God of Iſrael all with one conſent earneſtly, that he would not give their children for a prey, and their wives for a ſpoil, and the cities of their inheritance to deſtruction, and the ſanctuary to profanation and reproach, and for the nations to rejoice at.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked upon their afflictions: for the people faſted many days in all Judea and Jeruſalem, before the ſanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Joacim the high prieſt, and all the prieſts that ſtood before the Lord, and they which miniſtered unto the Lord, had their loins girt with ſackcloth, and offered the daily burnt offerings, with the vows and free-gifts of the people,

15 And had aſhes on their mitres, and cried unto the Lord with all their power, that he would look upon all the houſe of Iſrael graciouſly.

CHAP. V.

5 Achior telleth Holofernes what the Jews are,
8 and what their God had done for them.

THEN was it declared to Holofernes, the chief captain of the army of Aſſur, that the children of Iſrael had prepared for war, and had ſhut up the paſſages of the hill-country, and had fortified all the tops of the high hills, and had laid impediments in the champain countries.

2 Wherewith he was angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captains of Ammon, and all the governors of the ſea-coaſt,

3 And he ſaid unto them, Tell me now, ye ſons of Chanaan, who this people is that dwelleth in the hill-country, and what are the cities that they inhabit, and what is the multitude of their army, and wherein is the power and ſtrength, and what king is ſet over them, or captain of their army.

4 And why have they determined not to come and meet me, more than all the inhabitants of the weſt?

5 Then ſaid Achior the captain of all the ſons of Ammon, Let my lord now hear a word

6 Bethulia, &c.] The ſcripture mentions a place in the tribe of Simeon, named Bethul, or Bethuel, Joſh. xix. 4. a place dependent upon Gaza of the Philiſtines, and famous for its temples: it is highly probable that this was the place; ſince the other which travellers mention in the tribe of Zebulun, muſt be of too modern a date to be the city intended here, becauſe we find neither Joſhua, Joſephus, Euſebius, nor St. Jerome, make any mention of it.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 5 Achior.] Achior, from his being a native of the country bordering on Canaan, was well acquainted with the government from the mouth of thy ſervant, and I will declare unto thee the truth concerning this people which dwelleth near thee, and inhabiteth the hill-countries: and there ſhall no lie come out of the mouth of thy ſervant.

6 This people are deſcended of the Chaldeans:

7 And they ſojourned heretofore in Meſopotamia, becauſe they would not follow the gods of their fathers which were in the land of Chaldea.

8 For they left the way of their anceſtors, and worſhipped the God of heaven, the God whom they knew: ſo they caſt them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Meſopotamia, and ſojourned there many days.

9 Then their God commanded them to depart from the place where they ſojourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan: where they dwelt, and were increaſed with gold and ſilver, and with very much cattle.

10 But when a famine covered all the land of Chanaan, they went down into Egypt, and ſojourned there, while they were nouriſhed, and became there a great multitude, ſo that one could not number their nation.

11 Therefore the king of Egypt roſe up againſt them, and dealt ſubtilly with them, and brought them low, with labouring in brick, and made them ſlaves.

12 Then they cried unto their God, and he ſmote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: ſo the Egyptians caſt them out of their ſight.

13 And God dried the Red-ſea before them,

14 And brought them to mount Sina, and Cades Barne, and caſt forth all that dwelt in the wilderneſs.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they deſtroyed by their ſtrength all them of Eſebon, and paſſing over Jordan, they poſſeſſed all the hill-country.

16 And they caſt forth before them the Chanaanite, the Pherezite, the Jebuſite, and the Sychemite, and all the Gergeſites, and they dwelt in that country many days.

17 And whilſt they ſinned not before their God, they proſpered, becauſe the God that hateth iniquity was with them.

18 But when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were deſtroyed in many battles very ſore, and were led captives into a land that was not theirs, and the temple of their God was caſt to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But now are they returned to their God, and are come up from the places where they were ſcattered, and have poſſeſſed Jeruſalem, where their ſanctuary is, and are ſeated in the hill-country, for it was deſolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and governor, if there be any error in this people, and they ſin againſt their God, let us conſider that this ſhall be their ruin, and let us go up, and we ſhall overcome them.

21 But if there be no iniquity in their nation, let my lord now paſs by, leſt their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproach before all the world.

22 And when Achior had finiſhed theſe ſayings, all the people ſtanding round about the tent murmured, and the chief men of Holofernes, and all that dwelt by the ſea-ſide, and in Moab, ſpake that he ſhould kill him.

23 For, ſay they, we will not be afraid of the face of the children of Iſrael: for lo, it is a people that have no ſtrength nor power for a ſtrong battle.

24 Now therefore, lord Holofernes, we will go up, and they ſhall be a prey to be devoured of all thine army.

CHAP. VI.

1 Holofernes deſpiſeth God: 7 He threateneth Achior, and ſendeth him away: 14 The Bethulians receive him.

AND when the tumult of men that were about the council was ceaſed, Holofernes and religion of the Iſraelites. Their hiſtory was too ſingular to be forgotten by the inhabitants of thoſe kingdoms that lay near the inheritance of the ſons of Jacob, and the many miracles wrought by God in their favour too evident to be denied. Accordingly Achior gave a conciſe account of them, and enumerated ſome of the facts in which the hand of Omnipotence had been remarkably conſpicuous.

the chief captain of the army of Assur said unto Achior and all the Moabites, before all the company of other nations,

2 And who art thou, Achior, and the hirelings of Ephraim, that thou hast prophesied amongst us as to-day, and hast said, that we should not make war with the people of Israel, because their God will defend them? and who is God, but Nabuchodonosor?

3 He will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliver them: but we his servants will destroy them as one man; for they are not able to sustain the power of our horses.

4 For with them we will tread them under foot, and their mountains shall be drunken with their blood, and their fields shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not be able to stand before us, for they shall utterly perish, saith king Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth; for he said, None of my words shall be in vain.

5 And thou, Achior, an hireling of Ammon, which hast spoken these words in the day of thine iniquity, shalt see my face no more from this day, until I take vengeance of this nation that came out of Egypt.

6 And then shall the sword of mine army, and the multitude of them that serve me, pass through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slain, when I return.

7 Now therefore my servants shall bring thee back into the hill-country, and shall set thee in one of the cities of the passages.

8 And thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou persuade thyself in thy mind, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I have spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vain.

10 Then Holofernes commanded his servants that waited in his tent to take Achior, and bring him to Bethulia, and deliver him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his servants took him, and brought him out of the camp into the plain, and they went from the midst of the plain into the hill-country, and came unto the fountains that were under Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the city saw them, they took up their weapons, and went out of the city to the top of the hill: and every man that used a sling kept them from coming up, by casting of stones against them.

13 Nevertheless, having gotten privily under the hill, they bound Achior, and cast him down, and left him at the foot of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 But the Israelites descended from their city, and came unto him, and loosed him, and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the governors of the city:

15 Which were in those days, Ozias the son of Micha of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the son of Gothoniel, and Charmis the son of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the ancients of the city, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly, and they set Achior in the midst of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared unto them the words of the council of Holofernes, and all the words that he had spoken in the midst of the princes of Assur, and whatsoever Holofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell down and worshipped God, and cried unto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heaven, behold their pride, and pity the low estate of our nation, and look upon the face of those that are sanctified unto thee this day.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias took him out of the assembly unto his house, and made a feast to the elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for help.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 14 The Israelites descended from their city, &c.] Achior being left by the Assyrians, the inhabitants of Bethulia took him, and presented him to the governors of the city, who received him with joy, and promised him protection.

CHAP. VII.

1 Holofernes beſieges Bethulia, 7 and ſtoppeth the water from them: 22 They murmur and faint.

THE next day Holofernes commanded all his army, and all his people which were come to take his part, that they ſhould remove their camp againſt Bethulia, to take aforehand the aſcents of the hill-country, and to make war againſt the children of Iſrael.

2 Then their ſtrong men removed their camps in that day, and the army of the men of war was an hundred and ſeventy thouſand footmen, and twelve thouſand horſemen, beſide the baggage and other men that were a foot amongſt them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the valley near unto Bethulia, by the fountain, and they ſpread themſelves in breadth over Dothaim, even to Belmaim, and in length from Bethulia unto Cyamon, which is over againſt Eſdraelom.

4 Now the children of Iſrael, when they ſaw the multitude of them, were greatly troubled, and ſaid every one to his neighbour, Now will theſe men lick up the face of the earth; for neither the high mountains, nor the vallies, nor the hills, are able to bear their weight.

5 Then every man took up his weapons of war, and when they had kindled fires upon their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the ſecond day Holofernes brought forth all his horſemen, in the ſight of the children of Iſrael which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the paſſages up to the city, and came to the fountains of their waters, and took them, and ſet garriſons of men of war over them, and he himſelf removed towards his people.

8 Then came unto him all the chief of the children of Eſa, and all the governors of the people of Moab, and the captains of the ſea-coaſt, and ſaid,

9 Let our lord now hear a word, that there be not an overthrow in thine army.

10 For this people of the children of Iſrael do not truſt in their ſpears, but in the height of the mountains wherein they dwell, becauſe it is not eaſy to come up to the tops of their mountains.

11 Now therefore, my lord, fight not againſt them in battle-array, and there ſhall not ſo much as one man of thy people periſh.

12 Remain in thy camp, and keep all the men of thine army, and let thy ſervants get into their hands the fountain of water which iſſueth forth of the foot of the mountain:

13 (For all the inhabitants of Bethulia have their water thence) ſo ſhall thirſt kill them, and they ſhall give up their city, and we and our people ſhall go up to the tops of the mountains that are near, and will camp upon them, to watch that none go out of the city.

14 So they, and their wives, and their children ſhall be conſumed with famine, and before the ſword come againſt them, they ſhall be overthrown in the ſtreets where they dwell.

15 Thus ſhalt thou render them an evil reward: becauſe they rebelled and met not thy perſon peaceably.

16 And theſe words pleaſed Holofernes, and all his ſervants, and he appointed to do as they had ſpoken.

17 So the camp of the children of Ammon departed, and with them five thouſand of the Aſſyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and took the waters, and the fountains of the waters of the children of Iſrael.

18 Then the children of Eſau went up with the children of Ammon, and camped in the hill-country over againſt Dothaim: and they ſent ſome of them toward the ſouth and toward the eaſt, over againſt Ekrebel, which is near unto Chuſi, that is upon the brook Mochmur; and the reſt of the army of the Aſſyrians camped in the plain, and covered the face of the whole land; and their tents and carriages were pitched to a very great multitude.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 The next day Holofernes commanded all his army, &c.] Holofernes now moved againſt Bethulia, and in order to terrify the inhabitants, cauſed his army to be drawn up in their ſight. This had the deſired effect; the inhabitants were ſtruck with the greateſt terror at the ſight of ſo prodigious a multitude. But he ſhould have remembered that though he could by his numbers terrify men, yet he that ſitteth on the heavens was able to defeat all his ſchemes, and confound his numerous army.

19 The

19 Then the children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord their God, becauſe their heart failed, for all their enemies had compaſſed them round about, and there was no way to eſcape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Aſſur remained about them, both their footmen, chariots, and horſemen, four and thirty days, ſo that all their veſſels of water failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the ciſterns were emptied, and they had not water to drink their fill for one day; for they gave them drink by meaſure.

22 Therefore their young children were out of heart, and their women and young men fainted for thirſt, and fell down in the ſtreets of the city, and by the paſſages of the gates, and there was no longer any ſtrength in them.

23 Then all the people aſſembled to Ozias, and to the chief of the city, both young men and women, and children, and cried with a loud voice, and ſaid before all the elders, 24 God be judge between us and you: for you have done us great injury, in that you have not required peace of the children of Aſſur.

25 For now we have no helper: but God hath ſold us into their hands, that we ſhould be thrown down before them with thirſt and great deſtruction.

26 Now therefore call them unto you, and deliver the whole city for a ſpoil to the people of Holofernes, and to all his army.

27 For it is better for us to be made a ſpoil unto them, than to die for thirſt: for we will be his ſervants, that our ſouls may live, and not ſee the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wives nor our children to die.

28 We take to witneſs againſt you, the heaven and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers, which puniſheth us according to our ſins, and the ſins of our fathers, that he do not according as we have ſaid this day.

29 Then there was great weeping with one conſent in the midſt of the aſſembly, and they cryed unto the Lord God with a loud voice.

30 Then ſaid Ozias unto them, Brethren be of good courage, let us yet endure five days, in the which ſpace the Lord our God may turn his mercy towards us; for he will not forſake us utterly.

31 And if theſe days paſs, and there come no help unto us, I will do according to your word.

32 And he diſperſed the people every one to their own charge; and they went unto the walls and towers of their city, and ſent the women and children into their houſes: and they were very low brought in the city.

CHAP. VIII.

12 Judith blameth the governors for their promiſe to yield, 17 and adviſeth them to truſt in God.

NOW at that time Judith heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari, the ſon of Ox, the ſon of Joſeph, the ſon of Oziel, the ſon of Elcia, the ſon of Ananias, the ſon of Gedeon, the ſon of Raphaim, the ſon of Acitho, the ſon of Eliu, the ſon of Eliab, the ſon of Nathanael, the ſon of Samael, the ſon of Salaſadai, the ſon of Iſrael.

2 And Manaſſes was her huſband, of her tribe and kindred, who died in the barley harveſt.

3 For as he ſtood overſeeing them that bound ſheaves in the field, the heat came upon his head, and he fell on his bed, and died in the city of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field between Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Judith was a widow in her houſe three years and four months.

5 And ſhe made her a tent upon the top of her houſe, and put on ſackcloth upon her loins, and ware her widow's apparel.

6 And ſhe faſted all the days of her widowhood, ſave the eves of the ſabbaths, and the ſabbaths, and the eves of the new moons, and the new moons, and the feaſts, and ſolemn days of the houſe of Iſrael.

19 The children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord their God, &c.] The Iſraelites well knew that they were of themſelves unable to oppoſe ſo great a multitude, and therefore applied for help to him that was able to ſave; to that tremendous Being who had ſo often preſerved their fathers from deſtruction, and would always have rendered the deſigns of their enemies abortive, had they been careful to obſerve his laws, and worſhip him in ſpirit and in truth.

28 That he do not.] Margin, Leſt he do, meaning Holofernes.

7 She was alſo of a goodly countenance, and very beautiful to behold: and her huſband Manaſſes had left her gold and ſilver, and men-ſervants, and maid-ſervants, and cattle, and lands, and ſhe remained upon them.

8 And there was none that gave her an ill word; for ſhe feared God greatly.

9 Now when ſhe heard the evil words of the people againſt the governor, that they fainted for lack of water (for Judith had heard all the words that Ozias had ſpoken unto them, and that he had ſworn to deliver the city unto the Aſſyrians after five days)

10 Then ſhe ſent her waiting-woman that had the government of all things that ſhe had, to call Ozias, and Chabris, and Charmis, the ancients of the city.

11 And they came unto her, and ſhe ſaid unto them, Hear me now, O ye governors of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that you have ſpoken before the people this day are not right, touching this oath which ye made and pronounced between God and you, and have promiſed to deliver the city to our enemies, unleſs within theſe days the Lord turn to help you.

12 And now, who are you that have tempted God this day, and ſtand inſtead of God amongſt the children of men?

13 And now try the Lord Almighty, but you ſhall never know any thing.

14 For you can not find the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceive the things that he thinketh: then how can you ſearch out God that hath made all theſe things, and know his mind, or comprehend his purpoſe; Nay, my brethren, provoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he will not help us within theſe five days, he hath power to defend us when he will, even every day, or to deſtroy us before our enemies.

16 Do not bind the counſels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man, that he may be threatned; neither is he as the ſon of man, that he ſhould be wavering.

17 Therefore let us wait for ſalvation of him, and call upon him to help us, and he will hear our voice, if it pleaſe him.

18 For there aroſe none in our age, neither is there any now in theſe days, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor city, among us, which worſhip gods made with hands, as hath been afore-time.

19 For the which cauſe our fathers were given to the ſword, and for a ſpoil, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other god, therefore we truſt that he will not deſpiſe us, nor any of our nation.

21 For if we be taken ſo, all Judea ſhall lie waſte, and our ſanctuary ſhall be ſpoiled, and he will require the prophanation thereof at our mouth.

22 And the ſlaughter of our brethren, and the captivity of the country, and the deſolation of our inheritance, will he turn upon our heads among the Gentiles, whereſoever we ſhall be in bondage, and we ſhall be an offence and a reproach to all them that poſſeſs us.

23 For our ſervitude ſhall not be directed to favour: but the Lord our God ſhall turn it to diſhonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let us ſhew an example to our brethren, becauſe their hearts depend upon us, and the ſanctuary, and the houſe, and the altar reſt upon us.

25 Moreover, let us give thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth us, even as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things he did to Abraham, and how he tried Iſaac, and what happened to Jacob in Meſopotamia of Syria, when he kept the ſheep of Laban his mother's brother.

27 For he hath not tried us in the fire, as he

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 8 She remained upon them.] Margin, She kept them.

11 Hear me now, O ye governors of the inhabitants of Bethulia, &c.] Judith here expoſtulates with the governors of the city, for the raſh promiſe they had made to the people of delivering Bethulia to the enemy in five days, if they were not relieved. She juſtly told them, that they ought to have relied on the Lord their God, and waited their deliverance from his hand.

18 Nor people.] Margin, Nor town.

did them, for the examination of their hearts, neither hath he taken vengeance on us: but the Lord doth ſcourge them that come near unto him to admoniſh them.

28 Then ſaid Ozias to her, All that thou haſt ſpoken, haſt thou ſpoken with a good heart, and there is none that may gainſay thy words.

29 For this is not the firſt day wherein thy wiſdom is manifeſted; but from the beginning of thy days all the people have known thy underſtanding, becauſe the diſpoſition of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirſty, and compelled us to do unto them as we have ſpoken, and to bring an oath upon our ſelves, which we will not break.

31 Therefore now pray thou for us, becauſe thou art a godly woman, and the Lord will ſend us rain to fill our ciſterns, and we ſhall faint no more.

32 Then ſaid Judith unto them, Hear me, and I will do a thing which ſhall go throughout all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You ſhall ſtand this night in the gate, and I will go forth with my waiting woman: and within the days that you have promiſed to deliver the city to our enemies, the Lord will viſit Iſrael by mine hand.

34 But enquire not you of mine act: for I will not declare it to you until the things be finiſhed that I do.

35 Then ſaid Ozias and the princes unto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Judith humbleth herſelf, 2 and prayeth God to proſper her purpoſe againſt the enemies of his ſanctuary.

THEN Judith fell upon her face, and put aſhes upon her head, and uncovered the ſackcloth wherewith ſhe was clothed; and about the time that the incenſe of that evening was offered in Jeruſalem, in the houſe of the Lord, Judith cried with a loud voice, and ſaid,

2 O Lord God of my father Simeon, to whom thou gaveſt a ſword to take vengeance of the ſtrangers, who looſened the girdle of a maid to defile her, and diſcovered the thigh to her ſhame, and polluted her virginity to her reproach (for thou ſaidſt, it ſhall not be ſo, and yet they did ſo)

3 Wherefore thou gaveſt their rulers to be ſlain, ſo that they died their bed in blood, being deceived, and ſmoteſt the ſervants with their lords, and the lords upon their thrones;

4 And haſt given their wives for a prey, and their daughters to be captives, and all their ſpoils to be divided amongſt thy dear children; which were moved with thy zeal, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called upon thee for aid: O God, O my God, hear me alſo a widow.

5 For thou haſt wrought not only thoſe things, but alſo the things which fell out before, and which enſued after; thou haſt thought upon the things which are now, and which are to come.

6 Yea, what things thou didſt determine were ready at hand, and ſaid, Lo, we are here: for all thy ways are prepared, and thy judgments are in thy foreknowledge.

7 For behold, the Aſſyrians are multiplied in their power; they are exalted with horſe and man; they glory in the ſtrength of their footmen; they truſt in ſhield, and ſpear, and bow, and ſling; and know not that thou art the Lord that breakeſt the battles: the Lord is thy name.

8 Throw down their ſtrength in thy power, and bring down their force in thy wrath: for they have purpoſed to defile thy ſanctuary, and to pollute the tabernacle, where thy glorious name reſteth, and to caſt down with ſword the horn of thy altar.

32 Hear me, and I will do a thing, &c.] After telling them their fault in not relying on the Lord for help, ſhe declared that ſhe would herſelf undertake the deliverance of the city; but at the ſame time enjoined them not to aſk, or endeavour to diſcover the manner in which ſhe propoſed to perform it, being determined to keep the ſecret inviolable in her own breaſt.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then Judith fell upon her face, &c.] Before Judith entered on this important action, ſhe proſtrated herſelf before God, and implored from him that aſſiſtance which ſhe well knew it could not be expected from man.

9 Behold, their pride, and ſend thy wrath upon their heads: give into mine hand, which am a widow, the power that I have conceived.

10 Smite by the deceit of my lips the ſervant with the prince, and the prince with the ſervant: break down their ſtatelineſs by the hand of a woman.

11 For thy power ſtandeth not in multitude, nor thy might in ſtrong men: for thou art a God of the afflicted, an helper of the oppreſſed, an upholder of the weak, a protector of the forlorn, a ſaviour of them that are without hope.

12 I pray thee, I pray thee, O God of my father, and God of the inheritance of Iſrael, Lord of the heavens and earth, Creator of the waters, King of every creature, hear thou my prayer:

13 And make my ſpeech and deceit to be their wound and ſtripe, who have purpoſed cruel things againſt thy covenant, and thy hallowed houſe, and againſt the top of Sion, and againſt the houſe of the poſſeſſion of thy children.

14 And make every nation and tribe to acknowledge that thou art the God of all power and might, and that there is none other that protecteth the people of Iſrael, but thou.

CHAP. X.

3 Judith doth ſet forth herſelf. 10 She and her maid go forth into the camp.

NOW after that ſhe had ceaſed to cry unto the God of Iſrael, and had made an end of all theſe words,

2 She roſe where ſhe had fallen down, and called her maid, and went down into the houſe, in the which ſhe abode in the ſabbath-days, and in her feaſt-days,

3 And pulled off the ſackcloth which ſhe had on, and put off the garments of her widowhood, and waſhed her body all over with water, and anointed herſelf with precious ointment, and braided the hair of her head, and put on attire upon it, and put on her garments of gladneſs, wherewith ſhe was clad during the life of Manaſſes her huſband.

4 And ſhe took ſandals upon her feet, and put about her bracelets, and her chains, and her rings, and her ear-rings, and all her ornaments, and decked herſelf bravely, to allure the eyes of all men that ſhould ſee her.

5 Then ſhe gave her maid a bottle of wine, and a cruſe of oil, and filled a bag with parched corn, and lumps of figs, and with fine bread; ſo ſhe folded all theſe things together, and laid them upon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found ſtanding there Ozias, and the antients of the city, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they ſaw her, that her countenance was altered, and her apparel was changed, they wondered at her beauty very greatly, and ſaid unto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers give thee favour, and accompliſh thine enterpriſes to the glory of the children of Iſrael, and to the exaltation of Jeruſalem: then they worſhipped God.

9 And ſhe ſaid unto them, Command the gates of the city to be opened unto me, that I may go forth to accompliſh the things whereof you have ſpoken with me: ſo they commanded the young men to open unto her, as ſhe had ſpoken.

10 And when they had done ſo, Judith went out, ſhe and her maid with her, and the men of the city looked after her, until ſhe was gone down the mountain, and till ſhe had paſſed the valley, and could ſee her no more.

11 Thus they went ſtraight forth in the

---

11 Thy power ſtandeth not in multitude, &c.] Thou, O worſhip of Iſrael, haſt no occaſion for the arm of fleſh; before thee the multitude of an hoſt, and all the inſtruments of war are vain. It is to thee the afflicted fly for ſuccour, and the weak for defence againſt the tyranny of man. Hear therefore, O Almighty God of Jacob, the prayer of thy ſervant, and protect thine handmaid in this her daring attempt to reſcue thine inheritance from the hands of ſtrangers, and prevent thine holy temple from being defiled by the pollutions of the heathen.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver 10 Her maid.] The word in ancient tranſlations which we render maid is Abra, which ſignifies a companion, or maid of honour, rather than a ſervant; for the ſame word in the Septuagint is applied to the women that attended Pharaoh's daughter, Exod. ii. 5. and alſo to thoſe that waited upon Eſther, chap. iv. 4.

11 They went ſtraight forth into the valley, &c.] The city of Bethulia was ſituated on the top of a mountain, and the hoſt of the Aſſyrians were incamped in the vallies below; ſo that Judith and her attendant ſoon reached the advanced guards of the enemy, who were ſtationed at the very foot of the mountain.

valley: and the first watch of the Assyrians met her;

12 And took her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she said, I am a woman of the Hebrews, and am fled from them: for they shall be given you to be consumed:

13 And I am coming before Holofernes the chief captain of your army, to declare words of truth, and I will shew him a way whereby he shall go and win all the hill-country without losing the body or life of any one of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beauty, and said unto her,

15 Thou hath saved thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come down to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, and some of us shall conduct thee, until they have delivered thee to his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shew unto him according to thy word, and he will entreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundred men to accompany her and her maid, and they brought her to the tent of Holofernes.

18 Then was there a concourse throughout all the camp: for her coming was noised among the tents, and they came about her as she stood without the tent of Holofernes, till they told him of her.

19 And they wondered at her beauty, and admired the children of Israel because of her, and every one said to his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that have among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left, who being let go, might deceive the whole earth.

20 And they that lay near Holofernes went out, and all his servants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Holofernes rested upon his bed under a canopy, which was woven with purple and gold, and emeralds and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and he came out before his tent, with silver lamps going before him.

23 And when Judith was come before him and his servants, they all marvelled at the beauty of her countenance; and she fell down upon her face, and did reverence unto him: and his servants took her up.

CHAP. XI.

3 Holofernes asketh Judith the cause of her coming: 20 He is much pleased with her wisdom and beauty.

THEN said Holofernes unto her, Woman, be of good comfort, fear not in thine heart: for I never hurt any that was willing to serve Nebuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

2 Now therefore, if thy people that dwelleth in the mountains had not set light by me, I would not have lifted up my spear against them: but they have done these things to themselves.

3 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come unto us: for thou art come for safeguard; be of good comfort, thou shalt live this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreat thee well, as they do the servants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Judith said unto him, Receive the words of thy servant, and suffer thine handmaid to speak in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmaid, God will bring the thing perfectly to pass by thee, and my lord shall not fail of his purposes.

7 As Nabuchodonosor king of all the earth liveth, and as his power liveth, who hath sent thee for the upholding of every living thing: for not only men shall serve him by thee, but also the beasts of the field, and the cattle, and the fowls of the air shall live by thy power, under Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then said Holofernes unto her, &c.] The general of Nabuchodonosor was charmed with the beauty of Judith, and encouraged her to tell him the reason of her coming, at the same time assuring her that she had nothing to fear in the Assyrian camp; for orders should be given for treating her in all respects as if she had been a subject of his lord, and not like a captive.

8 For we have heard of thy wisdom, and thy policies, and it is reported in all the earth, that thou only art excellent in all the kingdom, and mighty in knowledge, and wonderful in feats of war.

9 Now as concerning the matter which Achior did speak in thy council, we have heard his words; for the men of Bethulia saved him, and he declared unto them all that he had spoken unto thee.

10 Therefore, O lord and governor, reject not his word; but lay it up in thine heart, for it is true: for our nation shall not be punished, neither can the sword prevail against them, except they sin against their God.

11 And now, that my lord be not defeated, and frustrate of his purpose, even death is now fallen upon them, and their sin hath overtaken them, wherewith they will provoke their God to anger, whensoever they shall do that which is not fit to be done:

12 For their victuals fail them, and all their water is scant, and they have determined to lay hands upon their cattle, and purposed to consume all those things that God hath forbidden them to eat by his laws:

13 And are resolved to spend the first fruits of the corn, and the tenths of wine and oil, which they had sanctified and reserved for the priests that serve in Jerusalem, before the face of our God, the which things it is not lawful for any of the people so much as to touch with their hands.

14 For they have sent some to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there have done the like, to bring them a licence from the senate.

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will forthwith do it, and they shall be given thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore, I thine handmaid, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to work things with thee, whereat all the earth shall be astonished, and whosoever shall hear it.

17 For thy servant is religious, and serveth the God of heaven day and night: now therefore my lord, I will remain with thee, and thy servant will go out by night into the valley, and I will pray unto God, and he will tell me when they have committed their sins:

18 And I will come and shew it unto thee: then thou shalt go forth with all thine army, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will lead thee through the midst of Judea, until thou come before Jerusalem; and I will set thy throne in the midst thereof, and thou shalt drive them as sheep that have no shepherd, and a dog shall not so much as open his mouth at thee: for these things were told me according to my foreknowledge, and they were declared unto me, and I am sent to tell thee.

20 Then her words pleased Holofernes, and all his servants, and they marvelled at her wisdom, and said,

21 There is not such a woman from one end of the earth to the other, both for beauty of face, and wisdom of words.

22 Likewise Holofernes said unto her, God hath done well to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, and destruction upon them that lightly regard my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautiful in thy countenance, and witty in thy words: surely, if thou do as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of king Nabuchodonosor, and shalt be renowned through the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Judith will not eat of Holofernes meat: 7 She tarrieth three days in the camp.

9 Concerning the matter which Achior did speak, &c.] Judith confirms what Achior had before told Holofernes, namely, that the Jews could not be conquered, unless they forsook the God of their fathers: but added, that they would soon lay their hands on the things dedicated to God, who would then forsake them, and they would fall an easy prey to his victorious army.

19 These things were told me.] Margin, These things have I spoken.

Notes

THEN he commanded to bring her on, where his plate was set, and bade that they should prepare for her of his own meats, and that she should drink of his own wine.

2 And Judith said, I will not eat therof, lest there be an offence: but provision shall be made for me of the things that I have brought.

3 Then Holofernes said unto her, If thy provision should fail, how should we give thee the like? for there be none with us of thy nation.

4 Then said Judith unto him, As thy soul liveth, my lord, thine handmaid shall not spend those things that I have, before the Lord work by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the servants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept till midnight, and she arose when it was towards the morning watch,

6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord now command that thine hand-maid may go forth unto prayer.

7 Then Holofernes commanded his guard, that they should not stay her: thus she abode in the camp three days, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed herself in a fountain of water by the camp.

8 And when she came out, she besought the Lord God of Israel to direct her way, to the raising up of the children of her people.

9 So she came in clean, and remained in the tent, until she did eat her meat at evening.

10 And in the fourth day Holofernes made a feast to his own servants only, and called none of the officers to the banquet.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge over all that he had, Go now and persuade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that she come unto us, and eat and drink with us.

12 For lo, it will be a shame for our person, if we shall let such a woman go, not having had her company: for if we draw her not unto us, she will laugh us to scorn.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, and came to her, and he said, Let not this fair damsel fear to come to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and drink wine, and be merry with us, and be made this day as one of the daughters of the Assyrians, which serve in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Judith unto him, Who am I now, that I should gainsay my lord? surely whatsoever pleaseth him I will do speedily, and it shall be my joy unto the day of my death.

15 So she arose, and decked herself with her apparel, and all her woman's attire, and her maid went and laid soft skins on the ground for her, over against Holofernes, which she had received of Bagoas for her daily use, that she might sit and eat upon them.

16 Now when Judith came in and sat down, Holofernes his heart was ravished with her, and his mind was moved, and he desired greatly her company; for he waited a time to deceive her, from the day that he had seen her.

17 Then said Holofernes unto her, Drink now, and be merry with us.

18 So Judith said, I will drink now, my lord, because my life is magnified in me this day, more than all the days since I was born.

19 Then she took, and ate and drank before him what her maid had prepared.

23 And Holofernes took great delight in her, and drank much more wine than he had drunk at any time in one day, since he was born.

CHAP. XIII.

2 Judith is left alone with Holofernes in his tent:
7 She cuts off his head while he slept.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 2 I will not eat thereof, &c.] There was no law that prohibited the Jews from eating several things, that the Gentiles made use of. Bread, wine, fruit, and the like, were allowed them in common with other people; but either some tradition then prevailing among the Jews, or some religious vow, that Judith might have bound herself under, probably hindered her from accepting the offer made her by the general of provisions from his table.

7 Went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, &c.] As prayer, no doubt, is best performed in places of retirement, Judith had a good pretence to request of the general the liberty of retiring out of the camp to perform her devotions, which she foresaw would be a means to favour her escape, after she had executed the design for which she left her city, and ventured to put herself into the enemy's hand.

NOW when the evening was come, his ſervants made haſte to depart, and Bagoas ſhut his tent without, and diſmiſſed the waiters from the preſence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all weary, becauſe the feaſt had been long.

2 And Judith was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes lying along upon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

3 Now Judith had commanded her maid to ſtand without her bed-chamber, and to wait for her coming forth, as ſhe did daily: for ſhe ſaid ſhe would go forth to her prayers, and ſhe ſpake to Bagoas according to the ſame purpoſe.

4 So all went forth, and none was left in the bed-chamber, neither little nor great. Then Judith ſtanding by his bed, ſaid in her heart, O Lord God of all power, look at this preſent upon the works of mine hands for the exaltation of Jeruſalem.

5 For now is the time to help thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterpriſes, to the deſtruction of the enemies which are riſen againſt us.

6 Then ſhe came to the pillar of the bed, which was at Holofernes head, and took down his faulchion from thence,

7 And approached to his bed, and took of the hair of his head, and ſaid, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Iſrael, this day.

8 And ſhe ſmote twice upon his neck with all her might, and ſhe took away his head from him,

9 And tumbled his body down from the bed, and pulled down the canopy from the pillars, anon after ſhe went forth, and gave Holofernes his head to her maid:

10 And ſhe put it in her bag of meat: ſo they twain went together, according to their cuſtom unto prayer: and when they had paſſed the camp, they compaſſed the valley, and went up the mountain of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 Then ſaid Judith afar off to the watchmen at the gate, Open, open now the gate: God, even our God is with us to ſhew his power yet in Jeruſalem, and his forces againſt the enemy, as he hath even done this day.

12 Now when the men of her city heard her voice, they made haſte to go down to the gate of their city, and they called the elders of the city.

13 And then they ran all together, both ſmall and great, for it was ſtrange unto them that ſhe was come: ſo they opened the gate, and received them, and made a fire for a light, and ſtood round about them.

14 Then ſaid ſhe to them with a loud voice, Praiſe, praiſe God, praiſe God (I ſay) for he hath not taken away his mercy from the houſe of Iſrael, but hath deſtroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So ſhe took the head out of the bag, and ſhewed it, and ſaid unto them, Behold the head of Holofernes the chief captain of the army of Aſſur, and behold the canopy wherein he did lie in his drunkenneſs; and the Lord hath ſmitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liveth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance had deceived him to his deſtruction, and yet hath he not committed ſin with me, to defile and ſhame me.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully aſtoniſhed, and bowed themſelves, and worſhipped God, and ſaid with one accord, Bleſſed be thou, O our God, which haſt this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then ſaid Ozias unto her, O daughter, bleſſed art thou of the moſt high God, above all the women upon the earth; and bleſſed be the Lord God, which hath created the heavens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chief of our enemies.

19 For this thy confidence ſhall not depart from the heart of men, which remember the power of God for ever.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 3 Judith had commanded her maid to ſtand without, &c.] It does not appear from the hiſtory, that the maid knew any thing of Judith's deſign; and even the laſt night, when the action was performed, ſhe ſeems only to have waited the return of her miſtreſs, in order to their going into the valley to perform their accuſtomed devotions. Indeed a ſcheme of this kind required the greateſt ſecrecy; and therefore Judith wiſely determined to keep it concealed.

Notes

20 And God turn these things to thee for a perpetual praise, to visit thee in good things, because thou hast not spared thy life for the affliction of our nation, but hast revenged our ruin, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Judith's advice. 11 The head of Holofernes is hanged up: 15 He is found dead, and lamented.

THEN said Judith unto them, Hear me now, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it upon the highest place of your walls.

2 And so soon as the morning shall appear, and the sun shall come forth upon the earth, take you every one his weapons and go forth every valiant man out of the city, and set you a captain over them, as though you would go down into the field toward the watch of the Assyrians, but go not down.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shall go into their camp, and raise up the captains of the army of Assur, and they shall run to the tent of Holofernes, but shall not find him: then fear shall fall upon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you, and all that inhabit the coast of Israel, shall pursue them, and overthrow them as they go.

5 But before you do these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to us as it were to his death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias; and when he was come and saw the head of Holofernes in a man's hand in the assembly of the people, he fell down on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had recovered him, he fell at Judith's feet, and reverenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Juda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name shall be astonished.

8 Now therefore tell me all the things that thou hast done in these days. Then Judith declared unto him in the midst of the people, all that she had done from the day that she went forth, until that hour she spake unto them.

9 And when she had left off speaking, the people shouted with a loud voice, and made a joyful noise in the city.

10 And when Achior had seen all that the God of Israel had done, he believed in God greatly, and circumcised the flesh of his foreskin, and was joined unto the house of Israel unto this day.

11 And as soon as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Holofernes upon the wall, and every man took his weapons, and they went forth by bands unto the straits of the mountain.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their leaders, which came to their captains, and tribunes, and to every one of their rulers.

13 So they came to Holofernes tent, and said to him that had the charge of all things, Waken now our lord: for the slaves have been bold to come down against us to battle, that they may be utterly destroyed.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the door of the tent, for he thought that he had slept with Judith.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the bed-chamber, and found him cast upon the floor dead, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and sighing, and a mighty cry, and rent his garments.

17 After he went into the tent where Judith lodged: and when he found her not, he leaped out to the people, and cried,

18 These slaves have dealt treacherously;

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Hear me now, my brethren, &c.] Judith, well knowing the consternation into which the sudden death of Holofernes would throw the Assyrian army, advised the Bethulians to take advantage of it, arm themselves, pursue, and destroy these invaders of their country.

11 As soon as the morning arose, &c.] To encourage the besieged to fight for their country and religion, Judith caused the head of Holofernes to be hung upon the wall in sight of the enemy, that it might at once serve to animate the courage of the former, and strike a panic into the minds of the latter.

one woman of the Hebrews hath brought ſhame upon the houſe of king Nabuchodonoſor: for behold, Holofernes lieth upon the ground without a head.

19 When the captains of the Aſſyrians army heard theſe words, they rent their coats, and their minds were wonderfully troubled, and there was a cry, and a very great noiſe throughout the camp.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Aſſyrians are chaſed and ſlain. 13 The women crown Judith with a garland.

AND when they that were in the tents heard, they were aſtoniſhed at the thing that was done.

2 And fear and trembling fell upon them, ſo that there was no man that durſt abide in the ſight of his neighbour, but ruſhing out all together, they fled into every way of the plain, and of the hill-country.

3 They alſo that had camped in the mountains round about Bethulia, fled away. Then the children of Iſrael, every one that was a warrior among them, ruſhed out upon them.

4 Then ſent Ozias to Betomaſthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Cola, and to all the coaſts of Iſrael, ſuch as ſhould tell the things that were done, and that all ſhould ruſh forth upon their enemies to deſtroy them.

5 Now when the children of Iſrael heard it, they all fell upon them with one conſent, and ſlew them unto Chobai: likewiſe alſo they that came from Jeruſalam, and from all the hill-country (for men had told them what things were done in the camp of their enemies) and they that were in Galaad and in Galilee, chaſed them with a great ſlaughter, until they were paſt Damaſcus, and the borders thereof.

6 And the reſidue that dwelt at Bethulia fell upon the camp of Aſſur, and ſpoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Iſrael that returned from the ſlaughter, had that which remained; and the villages, and the cities that were on the mountains and in the plain, gat many ſpoils: for the multitude was very great.

8 Then Joacim the high prieſt, and the ancients of the children of Iſrael that dwelt in Jeruſalem, came to behold the good things that God had ſhewed to Iſrael, and to ſee Judith, and to ſalute her.

9 And when they came unto her, they bleſſed her with one accord, and ſaid unto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jeruſalem, thou art the great glory of Iſrael, thou art the great rejoicing of our nation.

10 Thou haſt done all theſe things by thine hand: thou haſt done much good to Iſrael, and God is pleaſed therewith: bleſſed be thou of the Almighty Lord for ever more: and all the people ſaid, So be it.

11 And the people ſpoiled the camp the ſpace of thirty days: and they gave unto Judith Holofernes his tent, and all his plate, and beds, and veſſels, and all his ſtuff: and ſhe took it and laid it on her mule: and made ready her carts, and laid them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Iſrael ran together to ſee her, and bleſſed her, and made a dance among them for her: and ſhe took branches in her hand, and gave alſo to the women that were with her.

13 And they put a garland of olive upon her, and her maid that was with her, and ſhe went before all the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Iſrael followed in their armour with garlands, and with ſongs in their mouths.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The ſong of Judith: 23 She died at Bethulia a widow of great honour: 24 All Iſrael lament her death.

THEN Judith began to ſing this thankſgiving in all Iſrael, and all the people ſang after her this ſong of praiſe.

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Fear and trembling fell upon them, &c.] The Bethulians took the advantage of this diſorder of their enemies, and attacked them in ſmall parties from different quarters, and were aſſiſted by all the neighbouring countries; by which means the army of the Aſſyrians was totally overthrown.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Judith began to ſing, &c.] This ſong of Judith is truly poetical, and deſerves a place among the oriental writings of this kind. The way of ſinging alternately was a very common and ancient practice. See note on Exod. xv. 21.

2 And Judith ſaid, Begin unto my God with timbrels, ſing unto my Lord with cymbals: tune unto him a new pſalm: exalt him, and call upon his name.

3 For God breaketh the battles: for amongſt the camps in the midſt of the people he hath delivered me out of the hands of them that preſecuted me.

4 Aſſur came out of the mountains from the north, he came with ten thouſands of his army, the multitude whereof ſtopped the torrents, and their horſemen have covered the hills.

5 He bragged that he would burn up my borders, and kill my young men with the ſword, and daſh the ſucking children againſt the ground, and make mine infants as a prey, and my virgins as a ſpoil.

6 But the almighty Lord hath diſappointed them by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mighty one did not fall by the young men, neither did the ſons of the Titans ſmite him, nor high giants ſet upon him: but Judith the daughter of Merari weakened him with the beauty of her countenance.

8 For ſhe put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of thoſe that were oppreſſed in Iſrael, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound her hair in a tire, and took a linen garment to deceive him.

9 Her ſandals raviſhed his eyes, her beauty took his mind priſoner, and the fauchion paſſed through his neck.

10 The Perſians quaked at her boldneſs, and the Medes were daunted at her hardineſs.

11 Then my afflicted ſhouted for joy, and my weak ones cried aloud; but they were aſtoniſhed: theſe lifted up their voices, but they were overthrown.

12 The ſons of the damſels have pierced them through, and wounded them as fugitives children; they periſhed by the battle of the Lord.

13 I will ſing unto the Lord a new ſong: O Lord, thou art great and glorious, wonderful in ſtrength, and invincible.

14 Let all creatures ſerve thee: for thou ſpakeſt, and they were made, thou didſt ſend forth thy ſpirit, and it created them, and there is none that can reſiſt thy voice.

15 For the mountains ſhall be moved from their foundations with the waters, the rocks ſhall melt as wax at thy preſence: yet thou art merciful to them that fear thee.

16 For all ſacrifice is too little for a ſweet ſavour unto thee, and all the fat is not ſufficient for thy burnt-offering: but he that feareth the Lord is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that riſe up againſt my kindred: the Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of judgement, in putting fire and worms in their fleſh; and they ſhall feel them, and weep for ever.

18 Now as ſoon as they entered into Jeruſalem, they worſhipped the Lord; and as ſoon as the people were purified, they offered their burnt-offerings and their free-offerings, and their gifts.

19 Judith alſo dedicated all the ſtuff of Holofernes, which the people had given her, and gave the canopy which ſhe had taken out of his bed-chamber, for a gift unto the Lord.

20 So the people continued feaſting in Jeruſalem before the ſanctuary, for the ſpace of three months, and Judith remained with them.

21 After this time every one returned to his own inheritance, and Judith went to Bethulia, and remained in her own poſſeſſion, and was in her time honourable in all the country.

22 And many deſired her, but none knew her all the days of her life, after that Manaſſes her huſband was dead, and was gathered to his people.

23 But ſhe increaſed more and more in honour, and waxed old in her huſband's houſe, being an hundred and five years old, and made her hand-maid free; ſo ſhe died in Bethulia:

19 Judith dedicated all the ſtuff of Holofernes, &c.] Nothing was more common both among the Jews and Gentiles, than to dedicate the ſpoils taken in war to God, in acknowledgment of his goodneſs, and to commemorate the victory, which, by his favour and aſſiſtance, was then obtained.

and they buried her in the cave of her husband Manasses.

24 And the house of Israel lamented her seven days: and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were nearest of kindred to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the nearest of her kindred.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the days of Judith, nor a long time after her death.

THE ARGUMENT.

As some of the following Chapters, which are added by way of Supplement to the authentic book of Esther, are preserved by Josephus in his history, they are doubtless of an antient date: but as we find in them manifest contradictions, and a stile very different from the canonical writings, we cannot but conclude that the compilers of the sacred canon had sufficient reason for placing them among the Apocryphal Compositions.

Mardocheus remembereth and expoundeth his dream of the river and two dragons.

THEN Mardocheus said, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dream which I saw concerning these matters, and nothing thereof hath failed.

6 A little fountain became a river, and there was light, and the sun, and much water: this river is Esther, whom the king married, and made queen.

7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the nations were those that were assembled to destroy the name of the Jews:

9 And my nation is this Israel, which cried to God, and were saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath delivered

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 4 Mardocheus said, &c.] In order to connect this additional history with the book of Esther, of which it is said to be the remainder, we are to remember that by the interposition of Mordecai, or as he is here called Mardocheus, and the assistance of queen Esther, the Jews obtained a signal deliverance from the plot laid against them by Hamon their mortal enemy. Mordecai, to perpetuate so wonderful an instance of the divine favour to his nation, instituted an annual festival, to be observed on the fourteenth and fifteenth of the month Adar, for ever. See note on Esther ix. 21.

5 I dreamed a dream which I saw, &c.] Mordecai is confirmed in his opinion, that these events were brought about by the interposition of Providence, on recollecting a dream he formerly had, which, after comparing with the late wonderful revolution, he declares to have been a true and particular prediction of what afterwards came to pass.

us from all those evils, and God hath wrought signs and great wonders, which have not been done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lots came at the hour, and time, and day of judgment, before God amongst all nations.

12 So God remembered his people, and justified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those days shall be unto them in the month Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the same month, with an assembly, and joy, and with gladness, before God, according to the generations for ever among his people.

CHAP. XI.

2 The stock and quality of Mardocheus: 6 He dreameth of two dragons.

IN the fourth year of the reign of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who said he was a priest and Levite, and Ptolemeus his son, brought this epistle of Phurim, which they said was the same, and that Lysimachus the son of Ptolemeus, that was in Jerusalem, had interpreted it.

2 In the second year of the reign of Artaxerxes the Great, in the first day of the month Nisan, Mardocheus the son of Jairus, the son of Semei, the son of Cisai, of the tribe of Benjamin, had a dream;

3 Who was a Jew, and dwelt in the city of Susa, a great man, being a servitor in the king's court.

4 He was also one of the captives which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon carried from Jerusalem, with Jechonias king of Judea, and this was his dream:

5 Behold, a noise of a tumult, with thunder, and earthquakes, and uproar in the land:

6 And behold, two great dragons came forth ready to fight, and their cry was great.

7 And at their cry all nations were prepared to battle, that they might fight against the righteous people.

8 And lo, a day of drakness and obscurity: tribulation and anguish, affliction, and great uproar upon the earth.

9 And the whole righteous nation was troubled, fearing their own evils, and were ready to perish.

10 Then they cried unto God, and upon their cry, as it were from a little fountain, was made a great flood, even much water.

11 The light and the sun rose up, and the lowly were exalted, and devoured the glorious.

12 Now when Mardocheus, who had seen this dream, and what God had determined to do, was awake, he bare this dream in mind, and until night by all means was desirous to know it

CHAP. XII.

2 The two eunuchs conspiracy discovered by Mardocheus, 5 for which the king rewarded him.

AND Mardocheus took his rest in the court with Gabatha and Tharra, the two eunuchs of the king, and keepers of the palace.

2 And he heard their devices and searched out their purposes, and learned that they were about to lay hands upon Artaxerxes the king, and so he certified the king of them.

3 Then the king examined the two eunuchs, and after that they had confessed it, they were strangled.

4 And the king made a record of these things, and Mardocheus also wrote thereof.

5 So the king commanded Mardocheus to serve in the court, and for this he rewarded him.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the fourth year of the reign of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra, &c.] In this verse we have an account of these additional chapters to the book of Esther, called the Epistle of Phurim; and it is the general opinion of the learned, that the Lysimachus mentioned here was the author of them.

2 Mardocheus the son of Jairus, &c.] Here the author gives a particular account of Mardocheus, his family, his residence at Susa, and the reason of his being there.

12 He bare this dream in mind, &c.] The intention of this dream was to predict the great distresses which his countrymen the Jews would feel, and the signal deliverance, which, by their prayer to the Almighty, they should obtain from all the cruel attempts of their implacable adversaries.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 5 For this he rewarded him.] This is a manifest contradiction to the account we have of this affair in the book of Esther,

6 Howbeit Aman the ſon of Amadathus the Agagite, who was in great honour with the king, ſought to moleſt Mardocheus and his people, becauſe of the two eunuchs of the king.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copy of the king's letters to deſtroy the Jews: 8 The prayer of Mardocheus for them.

THE copy of the letters was this: The great king Artaxerxes writeth theſe things to the princes and governors, that are under him from India unto Ethiopia, in an hundred and ſeven and twenty provinces,

2 After that I became lord over many nations, and had dominion over the whole world, not lifted up with preſumption of my authority, but carrying myſelf alway with equity and mildneſs, I purpoſed to ſettle my ſubjects continually in a quiet life, and making my kingdom peaceable, and open for paſſage to the utmoſt coaſts, to renew peace, which is deſired of all men.

3 Now when I aſked my counſellors how this might be brought to paſs, Aman, that excelled in wiſdom among us, and was approved for his conſtant good will, and ſtedfaſt fidelity, and had the honour of the ſecond place in the kingdom,

4 Declared unto us, that in all nations throughout the world there was ſcattered a certain malicious people, that had laws contrary to all nations, and continually deſpiſed the commandments of kings, ſo as the uniting of our kingdoms, honourably intended by us, cannot go forward.

5 Seeing then we underſtand that this people alone is continually in oppoſition unto all men, differing in the ſtrange manner of their laws, and evil affected to our ſtate, working all the miſchief they can, that our kingdom may not be firmly ſtabliſhed:

6 Therefore have we commanded that all they that are ſignified in writing unto you by Aman (who is ordained over the affairs, and is next unto us) ſhall all with their wives and children be utterly deſtroyed by the ſword of their enemies, without all mercy and pity, the fourteenth day of the twelfth month Adar of this preſent year:

7 That they, who of old, and now alſo are malicious, may in one day with violence go into the grave, and ſo ever hereafter cauſe our affairs to be well ſettled, and without trouble.

8 Then Mardocheus thought upon all the works of the Lord, and made his prayer unto him,

9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King Almighty: for the whole world is in thy power, and if thou haſt appointed to ſave Iſrael, there is no man that can gainſay thee.

10 For thou haſt made heaven and earth, and all the wonderous thing under the heaven.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can reſiſt thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knoweſt all things, and thou knoweſt, Lord, that it was neither in contempt nor pride, nor for any deſire of glory, that I did not bow down to proud Aman.

13 For I could have been content, with good will, for the ſalvation of Iſrael, to kiſs the ſoles of his feet.

14 But I did this, that I might not preſer the glory of man above the glory of God: neither will I worſhip any but thee, O God, neither will I do it in pride.

15 And now, O Lord God, and King, ſpare thy people: for their eyes are upon us to bring us to nought; yea, they deſire to deſtroy the inheritance that hath been thine from the beginning.

16 Deſpiſe not the portion which thou haſt delivered out of Egypt for thine own ſelf.

Eſther, chap. vi. 3. where, on the king's enquiring what had been done for Mordecai, it is ſaid, Nothing had been done for him. Indeed the tranſaction itſelf plainly ſhews that this was really the caſe; for it was wholly owing to his not being rewarded for his diſcovery, that Haman was ordered to honour him in ſo remarkable a manner. And this very occurrence may be conſidered as the cauſe both of the riſe of Mordecai, and the fall of Haman his enemy.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The copy of the letter was this, &c.] We have here the letter which Ahaſuerus, at the requeſt of Haman, ſent to the provinces to deſtroy the Jews. The ſubſtance of this letter is given in the canonical book of Eſther.

17 Deſtro

17 Hear my prayer, and be merciful unto thine inheritance: turn our ſorrow into joy, that we may live, O Lord, and praiſe thy name: and deſtroy not the mouths of them that praiſe thee, O Lord.

18 All Iſrael in like manner cried moſt earneſtly unto the Lord, becauſe their death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIV.

The prayer of queen Eſther for herſelf and her people.

QUEEN Eſther alſo being in fear of death, reſorted unto the Lord:

2 And laid away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of anguiſh and mourning: and inſtead of precious ointments, ſhe covered her head with aſhes and dung, and ſhe humbled her body greatly, and all the places of her joy ſhe filled with her torn hair.

3 And ſhe prayed unto the Lord God of Iſrael, ſaying, O my Lord, thou only art our King: help me deſolate woman, which have no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is in mine hand.

5 From my youth up, I have heard in the tribe of my family, that thou, O Lord, tookeſt Iſrael from among all people, and our fathers from all their predeceſſors, for a perpetual inheritance, and thou haſt performed whatſoever thou didſt promiſe them.

6 And now we have ſinned before thee: therefore haſt thou given us into the hands of our enemies,

7 Becauſe we worſhipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Nevertheleſs, it ſatisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captivity: but they have ſtricken hands with their idols,

9 That they will aboliſh the thing that thou with thy mouth haſt ordained, and deſtroy thine inheritance, and ſtop the mouth of them that praiſe thee, and quench the glory of thy houſe, and of thine altar,

10 And open the mouths of the heathen, to ſet forth the praiſes of the idols, and to magnify a fleſhly king for ever.

11 O Lord, give not thy ſceptre unto them that be nothing, and let them not laugh at our fall; but turn their device upon themſelves, and make him an example that hath begun this againſt us.

12 Remember, O Lord, make thyſelf known in time of our affliction, and give me boldneſs, O King of the nations, and Lord of all power.

13 Give me eloquent ſpeech in my mouth before the lion: turn his heart to hate him that fighteth againſt us, that there may be an end of him, and of all that are like-minded to him:

14 But deliver us with thine hand, and help me that am deſolate, and which have no other helper but thee.

15 Thou knoweſt all things, O Lord; thou knoweſt that I hate the glory of the unrighteous, and abhor the bed of the uncircumciſed, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knoweſt my neceſſity: for I abhor the ſign of my high eſtate, which is upon mine head, in the days wherein I ſhew myſelf, and that I abhor it as a menſtruous rag, and that I wear it not when I am private by myſelf;

17 And that thine handmaid hath not eaten at Aman's table, and that I have not greatly eſteemed the king's feaſt, nor drunk the wine of the drink-offerings.

18 Neither had thine handmaid any joy ſince the day that I was brought hither, to this preſent, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mighty God above all, hear the voice of the forlorn, and deliver us out of the hands of the miſchievous, and deliver me out of my fear.

17 Deſtroy not.] Margin, Shut, or ſtop not.

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Eſther being in fear of death, reſorted unto the Lord.] Mordecai having informed Eſther of the calamity that threatened them, ſhe was ſo terrified with the news, that ſhe fell into all the extremities of the moſt exceſſive grief; and in the ſorrow of her heart poured out a prayer to God, imploring his protection for the deſcendants of Jacob, recounting the wonderful works he had wrought for his people, lamenting their ſins, which was the cauſe of the preſent troubles, beſeeching the Almighty not to ſuffer the heathen to triumph over his inheritance, and begging ſhe might have ſpirit to attempt, and eloquence to avert the ſtroke, and move the heart of the king againſt their grand enemy, who had deviſed their deſtruction.

Notes

CHAP. XV.

6 Esther cometh into the king's presence: 7 She fainteth: 8 He taketh her up, and doth comfort her.

AND upon the third day, when she had ended her prayer, she laid away her mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparel.

2 And being gloriously adorned, after she had called upon God, who is the beholder and Saviour of all things, she took two maids with her,

3 And upon the one she leaned, as carrying herself daintily.

4 And the other followed, bearing up her train.

5 And she was ruddy through the perfection of her beauty, and her countenance was chearful, and very amiable: but her heart was in anguish for fear.

6 Then having passed through all the doors, she stood before the king, who sat upon his royal throne, and was clothed with all his robes of majesty, all glittering with gold and precious stones, and he was very dreadful.

7 Then lifting up his countenance that shone with majesty, he looked very fiercely upon her: and the queen fell down, and was pale, and fainted, and bowed herself upon the head of the maid that went before her.

8 Then God changed the spirit of the king into mildness, who in a fear leaped from his throne, and took her in his arms, till she came to herself again, and comforted her with loving words, and said unto her,

9 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good chear.

10 Thou shalt not die, though our commandment be general: come near.

11 And so he held up his golden sceptre, and laid it upon her neck,

12 And embraced her, and said, Speak unto me.

13 Then she said unto him, I saw thee, my lord, as an angel of God, and my heart was troubled for fear of thy majesty.

14 For wonderful art thou, lord, and thy countenance is full of grace.

15 And as she was speaking, she fell down for faintness.

16 Then the king was troubled, and all his servants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The letter of Artaxerxes, 10 wherein he taxeth Aman, 17 and revoketh the decree procured by him to destroy the Jews.

THE great king Artaxerxes, unto the princes and governors of an hundred and seven and twenty provinces from India unto Ethiopia, and unto all our faithful subjects, greeting.

2 Many, the more often they are honoured with the great bounty of their gracious princes, the more proud they are waxen;

3 And endeavour to hurt not our subjects only, but not being able to bear abundance, do take in hand to practise also against them that do them good:

4 And take not only thankfulness away from among men, but also lifted up with the glorious words of lewd persons that were never good, they think to escape the justice of God, that seeth all things, and hateth evil.

5 Oftentimes also fair speech of those that are put in trust to manage their friends affairs, hath caused many that are in authority to be partakers of innocent blood, and hath enwrapped them in remediless calamities;

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Upon the third day, &c.] Esther having finished her prayers, which she had continued to the third day, now began to prepare for the grand attempt, and try what interest she had with the king, to prevent the destruction of her people.

3 Daintily.] Margin, Delicately.

5 Ruddy.] Margin, Rose-coloured.

Very amiable.] Or, smiling.

15 She fell down for faintness.] Margin, She fell in a swoon.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The great king Artaxerxes, unto the princes, &c.] In order to avert the mischief which would have befallen the Jews from the detestable plot of Haman, it was absolutely necessary, that the same authority which gave the decree should reverse it. Accordingly the king, being prevailed upon by the intercession of Esther and Mordecai, published his royal letters to countermand those he had before sent to the governors of his numerous provinces.

Notes

6 Beguiling with the falſehood and deceit of their lewd diſpoſition, the innocency and goodneſs of princes.

7 Now ye may ſee this, as we have declared not ſo much by ancient hiſtories, as ye may, if ye ſearch what hath been wickedly done of late, through the peſtilent behaviour of them that are unworthily placed in authority.

8 And we muſt take care for the time to come, that our kingdom may be quiet and peaceable for all men;

9 Both by changing our purpoſes, and always judging things that are evident, with more equal proceeding.

10 For Aman a Macedonian, the ſon of Amadatha, being indeed a ſtranger from the Perſian blood, and far diſtant from our goodneſs, and as a ſtranger received of us,

11 Had ſo far forth obtained the favour that we ſhew toward every nation, as that he was called our father, and was continually honoured of all men, as the next perſon unto the king.

12 But he, not bearing his great dignity, went about to deprive us of our kingdom and life:

13 Having by manifold and cunning deceits, ſought of us the deſtruction as well of Mardocheus, who ſaved our life, and continually procured our good, as alſo of blameleſs Eſther, partaker of our kingdom, with their whole nation.

14 For by theſe means he thought, finding us deſtitute of friends, to have tranſlated the kingdom of the Perſians to the Macedonians.

15 But we find that the Jews, whom this wicked wretch hath delivered to utter deſtruction, are no evil-doers, but live by moſt juſt laws:

16 And that they be children of the moſt high and moſt mighty living God, who hath ordered the kingdom both unto us and to our progenitors in the moſt excellent manner.

17 Wherefore ye ſhall do well, not to put in execution the letters ſent unto you by Aman the ſon of Amadatha.

18 For he that was the worker of theſe things is hanged at the gates of Suſa with all his family: God who ruleth all things, ſpeedily rendering vengeance to him according to his deſerts.

19 Therefore ye ſhall publiſh the copy of this letter in all places, that the Jews may freely live after their own laws.

20 And ye ſhall aid them, that even the ſame day, being the thirteenth day of the twelfth month Adar, they may be avenged on them, who, in the time of their affliction, ſhall ſet upon them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to joy unto them the day, wherein the choſen people ſhould have periſhed.

22 You ſhall therefore among your ſolemn feaſts keep it an high day with all feaſting.

23 That both now and hereafter there may be ſafety to us, and the well affected Perſians; but to thoſe which do conſpire againſt us, a memorial of deſtruction.

24 Therefore every city and country whatſoever, which ſhall not do according to theſe things, ſhall be deſtroyed without mercy, with fire and ſword, and ſhall be made not only unpaſſable for men, but alſo moſt hateful to wild beaſts and fowls for ever.

THE WISDOM of SOLOMON.

THE ARGUMENT.

The principal intention of this book is the instruction of kings, and the information of the judges of the earth. The real author, or the precise time when it was wrote is uncertain: though it is generally agreed that it was not written by Solomon, though the title bears his name, nor originally in Hebrew; but by a Hellenist Jew of Alexandria. It seems evident that it was wrote long after Malachi, and the ceasing of prophecy; even a considerable time after the LXX Interpreters: It may most probably be placed after the times of the Maccabees, and consequently later than the book of Ecclesiasticus.

CHAP. I.

2 To whom God sheweth herself, 4 and wisdom herself. 6 An evil speaker cannot lie hid.

LOVE righteousness, ye that be judges of the earth: think of the Lord with a good (heart) and in simplicity of heart seek him.

2 For he will be found of them that tempt him not: and sheweth himself unto such as do not distrust him.

3 For froward thoughts separate from God: and his power, when it is tried, reproveth the unwise.

4 For into a malicious soul wisdom shall not enter: nor dwell in the body that is subject unto sin.

5 For the holy spirit of discipline will flee deceit, and remove from thoughts that are without understanding, and will not abide when unrighteousness cometh in.

6 For wisdom is a loving spirit: and will not acquit a blasphemer of his words: for God is witness of his reins, and a true beholder of his heart, and a hearer of his tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lord filleth the world: and that which containeth all things hath knowledge of the voice.

8 Therefore he that speaketh unrighteous things cannot be hid: neither shall vengeance, when it punisheth, pass by him.

9 For inquisition shall be made into the counsels of the ungodly; and the sound of his words shall come unto the Lord, for the manifestation of his wicked deeds.

10 For the ear of jealousy heareth all things: and the noise of murmurings is not hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which is unprofitable, and refrain your tongue from backbiting: for there is no word so secret that shall go for nought: and the mouth that belieth, slayeth the soul.

12 Seek not death in the error of your life: and pull not upon yourselves destruction with the works of your hands.

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 1 Love righteousness, &c.] The first part of this chapter seems to be dictated for the use of judges and magistrates, who have the charge of men's lives and properties. They are exhorted to love righteousness, and to seek the Lord in simplicity of heart; and, in order to be masters of that true wisdom which is necessary to a right discharge of their office, they are shewn how impossible it is to attain it, without divesting themselves of all froward and malicious dispositions; and that deceit and folly are inconsistent with an upright heart.

3 Reproveth.] Margin, Maketh manifest.

6 Wisdom is a loving spirit, &c.] The excellency of wisdom is shewn by its effects; first, in respect to man, whom it always regards in the spirit of love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, &c. secondly, in respect to God, whose honour it will vindicate, nor suffer the blasphemer to go unpunished.

Notes

13 For God made not death: neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the living.

14 For he created all things, that they might have their being: and the generations of the world were healthful: and there is no poison of destruction in them: nor the kingdom of death upon the earth.

15 For righteousness is immortal.

16 But ungodly men with their works and words called it to them: for when they thought to have it their friend, they consumed to nought, and made a covenant with it, because they are worthy to take part with it.

CHAP. II.

1 The wicked think this life short, 5 and of no other after this: 6 Therefore they will take their pleasure in this, 10 and conspire against the just.

FOR the ungodly said, reasoning with themselves, but not aright, Our life is short and tedious, and in the death of a man there is no remedy: neither was there any man known to have returned from the grave.

2 For we are born at all adventure: and we shall be hereafter as though we had never been: for the breath in our nostrils is as smoke, and a little spark in the moving of our heart.

3 Which being extinguished, our body shall be turned into ashes, and our spirit shall vanish as the soft air.

4 And our names shall be forgotten in time, and no man shall have our works in remembrance, and our life shall pass away as the trace of a cloud, and shall be dispersed as a mist that is driven away with the beams of the sun, and overcome with the heat thereof.

5 For our time is a very shadow that passeth away: and after our end, there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man cometh again.

6 Come on therefore, let us enjoy the good things that are present: and let us speedily use the creatures like as in youth.

7 Let us fill ourselves with costly wine and ointments: and let no flower of the spring pass by us.

8 Let us crown ourselves with rose-buds before they be withered.

9 Let none of us go without his part of our voluptuousness: let us leave tokens of our joyfulness in every place: for this is our portion, and our lot is this.

10 Let us oppress the poor righteous man, let us not spare the widow, nor reverence the ancient grey hairs of the aged.

11 Let our strength be the law of justice: for that which is feeble is found to be nothing worth.

12 Therefore let us lie in wait for the righteous: because he is not for our turn, and he is clean contrary to our doings: he upbraideth us with our offending the law, and objecteth to our infamy the transgressings of our education.

13 He professeth to have the knowledge of God: and he calleth himself the child of the Lord.

14 He was made to reprove our thoughts.

15 He is grievous unto us even to behold: for his life is not like other mens, his ways are of another fashion.

16 We are esteemed of him as counterfeits: he abstaineth from our ways as from filthiness: he pronounceth the end of the just to be blessed, and maketh his boast that God is his father.

17 Let us see if his words be true: and let us prove what shall happen in the end of him.

18 For if the just man be the son of God, he will help him, and deliver him from the hand of his enemies.

19 Let us examine him with despitefulness and torture, that we may know his meekness, and prove his patience.

20 Let us condemn him with a shameful death: for by his own saying he shall be respected.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 The ungodly said, &c.] In this chapter we have a picture of the life, principles, and practice of the voluptuous Epicurean, whose hopes, pleasures, and expectations being wholly confined to this life, his thoughts and study are employed to wanton in all the luxuries, that are in the power of art and nature to procure him. The righteous man is his avowed detestation, because his conversation and behaviour continually reprove his own abominable course of life; and therefore he takes all opportunities to oppress him.

16 Counterfeits.] Margin, False coin.

Notes

21 Such things they did imagine, and were deceived: for their own wickedness hath blinded them.

22 As for the mysteries of God, they knew them not: neither hoped they for the wages of righteousness: nor discerned a reward for blameless souls.

23 For God created man to be immortal, and made him to be an image of his own eternity.

24 Nevertheless, through envy of the devil came death into the world: and they that do hold of his side, do find it.

CHAP. III.

1 The godly are happy in their death, 5 and in their troubles: 10 The wicked are not, nor their children. 16 The adulterer and his seed shall perish.

BUT the souls of the righteous are in the hand of God, and there shall no torment touch them.

2 In the sight of the unwise they seemed to die: and their departure is taken for misery,

3 And their going from us to be utter destruction: but they are in peace.

4 For though they be punished in the sight of men: yet is their hope full of immortality.

5 And having been a little chastised, they shall be greatly rewarded: For God proved them, and found them worthy for himself.

6 As gold in the furnace hath he tried them, and received them as a burnt-offering.

7 And in the time of their visitation they shall shine, and run to and fro like sparks among the stubble.

8 They shall judge the nations, and have dominion over the people, and their Lord shall reign for ever.

9 They that put their trust in him shall understand the truth: and such as be faithful in love shall abide with him: for grace and mercy is to his saints, and he hath care for his elect.

10 But the ungodly shall be punished according to their own imaginations, which have neglected the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 For whoso despiseth wisdom and nurture, he is miserable, and their hope is vain, their labours unfruitful, and their works unprofitable.

12 Their wives are foolish, and their children wicked.

13 Their offspring is cursed: wherefore blessed is the barren that is undefiled, which hath not known the sinful bed: she shall have fruit in the visitation of souls.

14 And blessed is the eunuch, which with his hands hath wrought no iniquity, nor imagined wicked things against God: for unto him shall be given the special gift of faith, and an inheritance in the temple of the Lord more acceptable to his mind.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours: and the root of wisdom shall never fall away.

16 As for the children of adulterers, they shall not come to their perfection, and the seed of an unrighteous bed shall be rooted out.

17 For though they live long, yet shall they be nothing regarded: and their last age shall be without honour.

18 Or if they die quickly, they have no hope, neither comfort in the day of trial.

19 For horrible is the end of the unrighteous generation.

CHAP. IV.

1 The chaste man shall be crowned. 3 Bastard slips shall not thrive.

BETTER is it to have no children, and to have virtue: for the memorial thereof is immortal: because it is known with God, and with men.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 The souls of the righteous are in the hand of God, &c.] This chapter is a fine contrast to the foregoing. The righteous man may indeed be sorely afflicted with the troubles and calamities of this life, and his death attended with the most terrible circumstances, which in the erroneous judgment of the wicked may be deemed his punishment; yet having his confidence in God, and his hopes in enjoying him in the glorious regions of immortality, his soul is calm and serene amidst the torments of his body; and his death, which his enemies may intend as the greatest of evils, procure him joys that shall never pass away.

9 Such as be faithful in love shall abide with him.] Margin, Such as be faithful shall remain with him in love.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Better is it to have no children, &c.] Chastity, one branch of wisdom, is always highly honoured and esteemed; whereas

2 When it is preſent, men take example at it; and when it is gone, they deſire it: it weareth a crown, and triumpheth for ever, having gotten the victory, ſtriving for undefiled rewards.

3 But the multiplying brood of the ungodly ſhall not thrive, nor take deep rooting from baſtard ſlips, nor lay any faſt foundation.

4 For though they flouriſh in branches for a time: yet ſtanding not faſt, they ſhall be ſhaken with the wind, and through the force of winds they ſhall be rooted out.

5 The imperfect branches ſhall be broken off, their fruit unprofitable, not ripe to eat, yea, meet for nothing.

6 For children begotten of unlawful beds, are witneſſes of wickedneſs againſt their parents in their trial.

7 But though the righteous be prevented with death; yet ſhall he be in reſt.

8 For honourable age is not that which ſtandeth in length of time, nor that is meaſured by number of years:

9 But wiſdom is the grey hair unto men, and an unſpotted life is old age.

10 He pleaſed God, and was beloved of him: ſo that living amongſt ſinners, he was tranſlated.

11 Yea, ſpeedily was he taken away, leſt that wickedneſs ſhould alter his underſtanding, or deceit beguile his ſoul.

12 For the bewitching of naughtineſs doth obſcure things that are honeſt: and the wandering of concupiſcence doth undermine the ſimple mind.

13 He being made perfect in a ſhort time, fulfilled a long time.

14 For his ſoul pleaſed the Lord: therefore haſted he to take him away from among the wicked.

15 This the people ſaw, and underſtood it not, neither laid they up this in their minds, That his grace and mercy is with his ſaints, and that he hath reſpect unto his choſen.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, ſhall condemn the ungodly which are living; and youth that is ſoon perfected, the many years and old age of the unrighteous.

17 For they ſhall ſee the end of the wiſe, and ſhall not underſtand what God in his counſel hath decreed of him, and to what end the Lord hath ſet him in ſafety.

18 They ſhall ſee him, and deſpiſe him: but God ſhall laugh them to ſcorn, and they ſhall hereafter be a vile carcaſe, and a reproach among the dead for evermore.

19 For he ſhall rend them, and caſt them down headlong, that they ſhall be ſpeechleſs: and he ſhall ſhake them from the foundation: and they ſhall be utterly laid waſte, and be in ſorrow: and their memorial ſhall periſh.

20 And when they caſt up the accounts of their ſins, they ſhall come with fear: and their own iniquities ſhall convince them to their face.

CHAP. V.

1 The wicked ſhall wonder at the godly, 4 and confeſs their error, 5 and the vanity of their lives.

THEN ſhall the righteous man ſtand in great boldneſs, before the face of ſuch as have afflicted him, and made no account of his labours.

2 When they ſee it, they ſhall be troubled with terrible fear, and ſhall be amazed at the ſtrangeneſs of his ſalvation, ſo far beyond all that they looked for.

3 And they repenting and groaning for an-whereas its contrary vice generally meets with its deſerved puniſhment: and though the wicked may multiply children, which are accounted bleſſings, yet their poſterity is ſeldom of long duration.

16 The righteous that is dead, ſhall condemn the ungodly, &c.] The righteous in the laſt day ſhall riſe up in judgment againſt the ſinful inhabitants of the world.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then ſhall the righteous man ſtand in great boldneſs, &c.] The condition of the godly in this world, with reſpect to external circumſtances, is ſo apparently worſe than that of the wicked, that atheiſts in all ages have made it an argument for their diſbelief of a Supreme Being, or at leaſt of a Providence to guide the world, and direct the affairs of mortals. But when theſe fooliſh men have paſſed the valley of the ſhadow of death, they will ſee, but too late, their fatal miſtake; they will then behold the immortal manſions diſplayed to their view, and the oppreſſed good man ſatisfied with the fulneſs of happineſs, and triumphing over all his former misfortunes in the exalted ſtations of bliſs: while they themſelves are precipitated into the gulph of miſery, unſpeakable and eternal.

guish of spirit, shall say within themselves, This was he whom we had sometimes in derision, and a proverb of reproach.

4 We fools accounted his life madness, and his end to be without honour.

5 How is he numbered among the children of God, and his lot is among the saints!

6 Therefore have we erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousness hath not shined unto us, and the sun of righteousness rose not upon us.

7 We wearied ourselves in the way of wickedness and destruction: yea, we have gone through deserts, where there lay no way: but as for the way of the Lord, we have not known it.

8 What hath pride profited us? or what good hath riches with our vaunting brought us?

9 All those things are passed away like a shadow, and as a post that hasted by.

10 And as a ship that passeth over the waves of the water, which, when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the pathway of the keel in the waves;

11 Or as when a bird hath flown through the air, there is no token of her way to be found, but the light air being beaten with the stroke of her wings, and parted with the violent noise and motion of them, is passed through, and therein afterwards no sign where she went is to be found;

12 Or like as when an arrow is shot at a mark, it parteth the air, which immediately cometh together again, so that a man cannot know where it went through:

13 Even so we, in like manner, as soon as we were born, began to draw to our end, and had no sign of virtue to shew; but were consumed in our own wickedness.

14 For the hope of the ungodly is like dust that is blown away with the wind; like a thin froth that is driven away with the storm; like as the smoke which is dispersed here and there with a tempest, and passeth away as the remembrance of a guest that tarrieth but a day.

15 But the righteous live for evermore, their reward also is with the Lord, and the care of them is with the most High.

16 Therefore shall they receive a glorious kingdom, and a beautiful crown from the Lord's hand: for with his right hand shall he cover them, and with his arm shall he protect them.

17 He shall take to him his jealousy for complete armour, and make the creature his weapon for the revenge of his enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousness as a breastplate, and true judgement instead of an helmet.

19 He shall take holiness for an invincible shield.

20 His severe wrath shall he sharpen for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against the unwise.

21 Then shall the right-aiming thunderbolts go abroad, and from the clouds, as from a well-drawn bow, shall they fly to the mark.

22 And hailstones full of wrath shall be cast as out of a stone-bow, and the water of the sea shall rage against them, and the flood shall cruelly drown them.

23 Yea a mighty wind shall stand up against them, and like a storm shall blow them away: thus iniquity shall lay waste the whole earth, and ill-dealing shall overthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

1 Kings must give ear: 3 They have their power from God, 5 who will not spare them. 12 Wisdom is soon found: 21 Princes must seek for it.

HEAR therefore, O ye kings, and understand; learn, ye that be judges of the ends of the earth.

14 Like dust.] Greek, Like thistledown.

17 He shall take to him his jealousy, &c.] The following descriptions to the end of the chapter are full of the sublimest imagery: God is drawn in all that terrible glory with which the strongest imagination can paint him; his whole figure strikes us in the most amazing manner; he is represented as compleatly armed with terror: we see his helmet, his breast-plate, his invincible shield, his sharp sword, his thunderbolts; and, in fine, the whole artillery of heaven.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1. Hear therefore, O ye kings, &c.] The author here calls upon kings, judges, and men in high stations, to remember that all the power and authority they are invested with, are derived originally from God; and that to him they are accountable for the due administration of justice to the people committed to their care.

2 Give ear, you that rule the people, and glory in the multitude of nations.

3 For power is given you of the Lord, and sovereignty from the Highest, who shall try your works and search out your counsels.

4 Because, being ministers of his kingdom, you have not judged aright, nor kept the law, nor walked after the counsel of God.

5 Horribly and speedily shall he come upon you: for a sharp judgment shall be to them that be in high places.

6 For mercy will soon pardon the meanest: but mighty men shall be mightily tormented.

7 For he which is Lord over all, shall fear no man's person, neither shall he stand in awe of any man's greatness: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

8 But a sore trial shall come upon the mighty.

9 Unto you, therefore, O kings, do I speak, that ye may learn wisdom, and not fall away.

10 For they that keep holiness holily, shall be judged holy: and they that have learned such things, shall find what to answer.

11 Wherefore, set your affection upon my words; desire them, and ye shall be instructed.

12 Wisdom is glorious, and never fadeth away; yea, she is easily seen of them that love her, and found of such as seek her.

13 She preventeth them that desire her, in making herself first known unto them.

14 Whoso seeketh her early shall have no great travel: for he shall find her sitting at his doors.

15 To think therefore upon her, is perfection of wisdom: and whoso watcheth for her, shall quickly be without care.

16 For she goeth about seeking such as are worthy of her, sheweth herself favourably unto them in the ways, and meeteth them in every thought.

17 For the very true beginning of her is the desire of discipline; and the care of discipline is love;

18 And love is the keeping of her laws: and the giving heed unto her laws is the assurance of incorruption;

19 And incorruption maketh us near unto God;

20 Therefore the desire of wisdom bringeth to a kingdom.

21 If your delight be then in thrones and sceptres, O ye kings of the people, honour wisdom, that ye may reign for evermore.

22 As for wisdom, what she is, and how she came up, I will tell you, and will not hide mysteries from you: but will seek her out from the beginning of her nativity, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not pass over the truth.

23 Neither will I go with consuming envy; for such a man shall have no fellowship with wisdom.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the welfare of the world: and a wise king is the upholding of the people.

25 Receive therefore instruction through my words, and it shall do you good.

CHAP. VII.

1 All men have their beginning and end alike.
8 He preferred wisdom before all things else.

I Myself also am a mortal man like to all, and the offspring of him that was first made of the earth,

2 And in my mother's womb was fashioned to be flesh, in the time of ten months, being compacted in blood of the seed of man, and the pleasure that came with sleep.

3 And when I was born, I drew in the common air, and fell upon the earth, which is 21 If your delight be then in thrones and sceptres, &c.] That the great trust reposed in kings and governors, may redound to the glory of God, and the good of mankind, the author directs them to study the principles of wisdom and right judgment. And to encourage them in this pursuit, he tells them, that Wisdom is of easy access to those who desire her instruction; has such agreeable qualities, and is so bountiful towards her admirers, that a man must be blind to his own interest, who rejects her counsels, and stupidly foolish that can be insensible of her beauty and perfections.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 I myself also am a mortal man, &c.] All men, with respect to their birth, are undoubtedly upon an equal footing; as the wise man is born, so is the fool; as the king, so is the beggar. It is wisdom only that distinguishes one man above the rest of his fellow-creatures.

of like nature, and the first voice which I uttered, was crying, as all others do.

4 I was nursed in swaddling-clothes, and that with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 For all men have one entrance into life, and the like going out.

7 Wherefore I prayed, and understanding was given me: I called upon God, and the spirit of wisdom came to me.

8 I preferred her before sceptres and thrones, and esteemed riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither compared I unto her any precious stone, because all gold in respect of her is as a little sand, and silver shall be counted as clay before her.

10 I loved her above health and beauty, and chose to have her instead of light: for the light that cometh from her, never goeth out.

11 All good things together came to me with her, and innumerable riches in her hands.

12 And I rejoiced in them all, because wisdom goeth before them: and I knew not that she was the mother of them.

13 I learned diligently, and do communicate her liberally: I do not hide her riches.

14 For she is a treasure unto men, that never faileth: which they that use, become the friends of God, being commended for the gifts that come from learning.

15 God hath granted me to speak as I would, and to conceive as is meet, for the things that are given me: because it is he that leadeth unto wisdom, and directeth the wise.

16 For in his hand are both we and our words, all wisdom also and knowledge of workmanship.

17 For he hath given me certain knowledge of the things that are, namely, to know how the world was made, and the operation of the elements.

18 The beginning, ending, and midst of the times: the alterations of the turning of the sun, and the change of seasons:

19 The circuits of years, and the positions of stars:

20 The natures of living creatures, and the furies of wild beasts: the violence of winds, and the reasonings of men: The diversities of plants, and the virtues of roots:

21 And all such things as are either secret or manifest, them I know.

22 For wisdom, which is the worker of all things, taught me: for in her is an understanding spirit, holy, one only, manifold, subtil, lively, clear, undefiled, plain, not subject to hurt, loving the thing that is good, quick, which cannot be letted, ready to do good,

23 Kind to man, stedfast, sure, free from care, having all power, overseeing all things, and going through all understanding, pure and most subtil spirits.

24 For wisdom is more moving than any motion: she passeth and goeth through all things by reason of her pureness.

25 For she is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence flowing from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing fall into her.

26 For she is the brightness of the everlasting light, the unspotted mirror of the power of God, and the image of his goodness.

27 And being but one, she can do all things: and remaining in herself, she maketh all things new: and in all ages entering into holy souls, she maketh them friends of God, and prophets.

28 For God loveth none but him that dwelleth with wisdom.

29 For she is more beautiful than the sun, and above all the order of stars: being compared with the light, she is found before it.

30 For after this cometh night: but vice shall not prevail against wisdom.

---

22 Wisdom, which is the worker of all things, taught me, &c.] Wisdom is an inexhaustible treasure of good things, and establishes an indissoluble friendship between man and his Maker; it enlarges the understanding, and gives eloquence to the lips; it acquaints us with the hidden properties of nature, and the operations, qualities, and uses of the elements; the nature of the animal and vegetable world, and the rational principles of men. In a word, wisdom is one of the perfections of the Divine Being, and the express image of his person.

CHAP. VIII.

2 He is in love with wisdom; 4 for he that hath it, hath every good thing.

WISDOM reacheth from one end to another mightily; and sweetly doth she order all things.

2 I loved her, and sought her out from my youth, I desired to make her my spouse, and I was a lover of her beauty.

3 In that she is conversant with God, she magnifieth her nobility: yea, the Lord of all things himself loved her.

4 For she is privy to the mysteries of the knowlege of God, and a lover of his works.

5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life; what is richer than wisdom that worketh all things?

6 And if prudence work; who of all that are, is a more cunning workman than she?

7 And if a man love righteousness, her labours are virtues: for she teacheth temperance and prudence, justice and fortitude; which are such things as men can have nothing more profitable in their life.

8 If a man desire much experience, she knoweth things of old, and conjectureth aright what is to come; she knoweth the subtilties of speeches, and can expound dark sentences: she foreseeth signs and wonders, and the events of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her to me to live with me, knowing that she would be a counsellor of good things, and a comfort in cares and grief.

10 For her sake I shall have estimation among the multitude, and honour with the elders, though I be young.

11 I shall be found of a quick conceit in judgment, and shall be admired in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall bide my leisure; and when I speak, they shall give good ear unto me: if I talk much, they shall lay their hands upon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by the means of her I shall obtain immortality, and leave behind me an everlasting memorial to them that come after me.

14 I shall set the people in order, and the nations shall be subject unto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraid, when they do but hear of me; I shall be found good among the multitude, and valiant in war.

16 After I am come into mine house, I will repose myself with her: for her conversation hath no bitterness, and to live with her, hath no sorrow, but mirth and joy.

17 Now when I considered these things in myself, and pondered them in my heart, how that to be allied unto wisdom, is immortality,

18 And great pleasure it is to have her friendship, and in the works of her hands are infinite riches, and in the exercise of conference with her, prudence; and in talking with her, a good report: I went about seeking how to take her to me.

19 For I was a witty child, and had a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came into a body undefiled.

21 Nevertheless, when I perceived that I could not otherwise obtain her, except God gave her me, (and that was a point of wisdom also to know whose gift she was) I prayed unto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

1 A prayer unto God for his wisdom, 6 without which the best man is nothing worth, 13 neither can he tell how to please God.

O God of my fathers, and Lord of mercy, who hast made all things with thy word,

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Wisdom reacheth from one end to another, &c.] Having, in the preceding chapter, endeavoured to display the excellency and usefulness of wisdom in general, he proceeds in this to inform us in a more particular manner of her operations, and the benefits she procures to her friends and lovers. He justly observes that wisdom, when joined with piety, is the mother of all social virtues; that her counsels are excellent, and her comforts to those in trouble inestimable.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 O God of my fathers, and Lord of mercy, &c.] This whole chapter contains the author's prayer for the gift of wisdom; and, assuming the name of Solomon, takes occasion from his youth and inexperience, to beg for wisdom to understand

2 And ordained man through thy wisdom, that he should have dominion over the creatures which thou hast made,

3 And order the world according to equity and righteousness, and execute judgment with an upright heart:

4 Give me wisdom that sitteth by thy throne, and reject me not from among thy children:

5 For I thy servant, and son of thinehandmaid, am a feeble person, and of a short time, and too young for the understanding of judgment and laws.

6 For though a man be never so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdom be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded.

7 Thou hast chosen me to be a king of thy people, and a judge of thy sons and daughters.

8 Thou hast commanded me to build a temple upon thy holy mount, and an altar in the city wherein thou dwellest, a resemblance of the holy tabernacle which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

9 And wisdom was with thee: which knoweth thy works, and was present when thou madest the world, and knew what was acceptably in thy sight, and right in thy commandments.

10 O send her out of thy holy heavens, and from the throne of thy glory, that being present she may labour with me, that I may know what is pleasing unto thee.

11 For she knoweth and understandeth all things, and she shall lead me soberly in my doings, and preserve me in her power.

12 So shall my works be acceptable, and then shall I judge thy people righteously, and be worthy to sit in my father's seat.

13 For what man is he that can know the counsel of God? or who can think what the will of the Lord is?

14 For the thoughts of mortal men are miserable, and our devices are but uncertain.

15 For the corruptible body presseth down the soul, and the earthly tabernacle weigheth down the mind that museth upon many things.

16 And hardly do we guess aright at things that are upon earth, and with labour do we find the things that are before us; but the things that are in heaven, who hath searched out?

17 And thy counsel who hath known, except thou give wisdom, and send thy Holy Spirit from above?

18 For so the ways of them which lived on the earth were reformed, and men were taught the things that are pleasing unto thee, and were saved through wisdom.

CHAP. X.

1 What wisdom did for Adam, 4 Noe, 5 Abraham, 6 Lot, and against the five cities, 10 for Jacob, 13 Joseph, 16 Moses, 17 and the Israelites.

SHE preserved the first-formed father of the world, that was created alone, and brought him out of his fall,

2 And gave him power to rule all things.

3 But when the unrighteous went away from her in his anger, he perished also in the fury, wherewith he murdered his brother.

4 For whose cause the earth being drowned with the flood, wisdom again preserved it, and directed the course of the righteous in a piece of wood of small value.

5 Moreover, the nations in their wicked conspiracy being confounded, she found out the righteous, and preserved him blameless unto God, and kept him strong against his tender compassion toward his son.

6 When the ungodly perished, she delivered the righteous man, who fled from the fire which fell down upon the five cities.

7 Of whose wickedness, even to this day, the laws and will of the Most High; to instruct him in building the temple; and to judge the people with equity and judgment.

11 In her power.] Margin, By her power.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 She preserved the first-formed father of the world, &c.] Wisdom instructed Adam to govern the world. Cain, who forsook her in the instance of his brother's murther, incurred the curse of his Creator. Wisdom preserved Noah; found out Abraham, and preserved him blameless: she delivered Lot from the destruction of Sodom; preserved Jacob in his travels; she went with Joseph into Egypt; she brought Israel out of a hard bondage, and strengthened Moses to encounter all the fury of the tyrant Pharaoh.

Notes

the waſte land that ſmoketh is a teſtimony, and plants bearing fruit that never come to ripeneſs: and a ſtanding pillar of ſalt is a monument of an unbelieving ſoul.

8 For regarding not wiſdom, they gat not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good; but alſo left behind them to the world a memorial of their fooliſhneſs: ſo that in the things wherein they offended, they could not ſo much as be hid.

9 But wiſdom delivered from pain thoſe that attended upon her.

10 When the righteous fled from his brother's wrath, ſhe guided him in right paths, ſhewed him the kingdom of God, and gave him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his travels, and multiplied the fruit of his labours.

11 In the covetouſneſs of ſuch as oppreſſed him, ſhe ſtood by him, and made him rich.

12 She defended him from his enemies, and kept him ſafe from thoſe that lay in wait, and in a ſore conflict ſhe gave him the victory; that he might know that godlineſs is ſtronger than all.

13 When the righteous was ſold, ſhe forſook him not, but delivered him from ſin: ſhe went down with him into the pit,

14 And left him not in bonds, till ſhe brought him the ſceptre of the kingdom, and power againſt thoſe that oppreſſed him: as for them that had accuſed him, ſhe ſhewed them to be liars, and gave him perpetual glory.

15 She delivered the righteous people and blameleſs ſeed from the nation that oppreſſed them.

16 She entered into the ſoul of the ſervant of the Lord, and withſtood dreadful kings in wonders and ſigns,

17 Rendered to the righteous a reward of their labours, guided them in a marvellous way, and was unto them for a cover by day, and a light of ſtars in the night ſeaſon:

18 Brought them through the Red-ſea, and led them through much water.

19 But ſhe drowned their enemies, and caſt them up out of the bottom of the deep.

20 Therefore the righteous ſpoiled the ungodly, and praiſed thy holy name, O Lord, and magnified with one accord thine hand that fought for them.

21 For wiſdom opened the mouth of the dumb, and made the tongues of them that cannot ſpeak, eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

The Egyptians were puniſhed, and the Iſraelites reſerved in the ſame thing.

SHE proſpered their works in the hand of the holy prophet.

2 They went through the wilderneſs that was not inhabited, and pitched tents in places where there lay no way.

3 They ſtood againſt their enemies, and were avenged of their adverſaries.

4 When they were thirſty, they called upon thee, and water was given them out of the flinty rock, and their thirſt was quenched out of the hard ſtone.

5 For by what things their enemies were puniſhed, by the ſame they in their need were benefited.

6 For inſtead of a fountain of a perpetual running river troubled with foul blood,

7 For a manifeſt reproof of that commandment, whereby the infants were ſlain, thou gaveſt unto them abundance of water, by a means which they hoped not for:

8 Declaring by that thirſt then, how thou hadſt puniſhed their adverſaries.

9 For when they were tried, albeit but in mercy chaſtiſed, they knew how the ungodly were judged in wrath, and tormented, thirſting in another manner than the juſt.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 She proſpered their works in the hand of the holy prophet.] Moſes, by the aſſiſtance of wiſdom, led the people through innumerable dangers and difficulties in the wilderneſs; repulſed their enemies; gave them water out of a rock, and made uſe of the ſame means to relieve and cheriſh them, by which they were avenged of their adverſaries. And when they in their folly worſhipped ſerpents and wild beaſts, he puniſhed them by ſending multitudes of thoſe deſtructive creatures among them. This the Almighty did by the hand of his ſervant Moſes, to manifeſt his own glory, and ſhew that he can work by the moſt contemptible means, either for the deſtruction of his enemies, or the ſalvation of his own children.

Notes

10 For these thou didst admonish and try as a father: but the other as a severe king thou didst condemn and punish.

11 Whether they were absent or present, they were vexed alike.

12 For a double grief came upon them, and a groaning for the remembrance of things past.

13 For when they heard by their own punishments the other to be benefited, they had some feeling of the Lord.

14 For whom they rejected with scorn, when he was long before thrown out, at the casting forth of the infants, him in the end, when they saw what came to pass, they admired.

15 But for the foolish devices of their wickedness, wherewith being deceived they worshipped serpents void of reason, and wild beasts, thou didst send a multitude of unreasonable beasts upon them for vengeance:

16 That they might know that wherewithal a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

17 For thy Almighty hand that made the world of matter without form, wanted not means to send among them a multitude of bears or fierce lions.

18 Or unknown wild beasts full of rage, newly created, breathing out either a fiery vapour, or filthy scents of scattered smoke, or shooting horrible sparkles out of their eyes:

19 Whereof not only the harm might dispatch them at once, but also the terrible sight utterly destroy them.

20 Yea, and without these might they have fallen down with one blast, being persecuted of vengeance, and scattered abroad through the breath of thy power: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, and number, and weight.

21 For thou canst shew thy great strengh at all times, when thou wilt, and who may withstand the power of thine arm?

22 For the whole world before thee is as a little grain of the ballance, yea, as a drop of the morning dew that falleth down upon the earth.

23 But thou hast mercy upon all; for thou canst do all things, and winkest at the sins of men: because they should amend.

24 For thou lovest all the things that are, and abhorrest nothing which thou hast made: for never wouldest thou have made any thing, if thou hadst hated it.

25 And how could any thing have endured, if it had not been thy will? or been preserved, if not called by thee?

26 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, thou lover of souls.

CHAP. XII.

2 God did not destroy those of Chanaan all at once: 12 If he had done so, who could controul him?

FOR thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore chastenest thou them by little and little that offend, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance wherein they have offended, that leaving their wickedness, they may believe on thee, O Lord.

3 For it was thy will to destroy by the hands of our fathers, both those old inhabitants of thy holy land,

4 Whom thou hatedst for doing most odious works of witchcrafts, and wicked sacrifices;

5 And also those merciless murderers of children, and devourers of man's flesh, and the feasts of blood;

6 With their priests out of the midst of their idolatrous crew, and the parents that killed with their own hands, souls destitute of help:

7 That the land which thou esteemedst above all other, might receive a worthy colony of God's children.

8 Nevertheless, even those thou sparedst as men, and didst send wasps, forerunners of thine host, to destroy them by little and little.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things.] The author declares the gradual progress which God made in the reduction of Canaan before the Israelites, as well to give the wicked inhabitants time to repent, as to set before his people an example of mercy. And that as he so leisurely, and as it were unwillingly destroyed his most inveterate enemies, at the same time chastening his own children with the greatest moderation, they ought to be influenced by his goodness to forsake sin before he is provoked to inflict the utmost severities of his justice upon them.

Notes

9 Not that thou waſt unable to bring the ungodly under the hand of the righteous in battle, or to deſtroy them at once with cruel beaſts, or with one rough word:

10 But executing thy judgments upon them by little and little, thou gaveſt them place of repentance, not being ignorant that they were a naughty generation, and that their malice was bred in them, and that their cogitation would never be changed.

11 For it was a curſed ſeed from the beginning; neither didſt thou, for fear of any man, give them pardon for thoſe things wherein they ſinned.

12 For who ſhall ſay, What haſt thou done? or who ſhall withſtand thy judgment? or who ſhall accuſe thee for the nations that periſh, whom thou haſt made? or who ſhall come to ſtand againſt thee to be revenged from the unrighteous men?

13 For neither is there any God but thou, that careth for all, to whom thou mighteſt ſhew that thy judgment is not unright.

14 Neither ſhall king or tyrant be able to ſet his face againſt thee, for any whom thou haſt puniſhed.

15 Forſomuch then as thou art righteous thyſelf, thou ordereſt all things righteouſly: thinking it not agreeable with thy power to condemn him that hath not deſerved to be puniſhed.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteouſneſs, and becauſe thou art the Lord of all, it maketh thee to be gracious unto all.

17 For when men will not believe that thou art of a full power, thou ſheweſt thy ſtrength, and among them that know it, thou makeſt their boldneſs manifeſt.

18 But thou, maſtering thy power, judgeſt with equity, and ordereſt us with great favour: for thou mayeſt uſe power when thou wilt.

19 But by ſuch works haſt thou taught thy people, that the juſt man ſhould be merciful, and haſt made thy children to be of a good hope, that thou giveſt repentance for ſins.

20 For if thou didſt puniſh the enemies of thy children, and the condemned to death with ſuch deliberation, giving them time and place, whereby they might be delivered from their malice:

21 With how great circumſpection didſt thou judge thine own ſons, unto whoſe fathers thou haſt ſworn, and made covenants of good promiſes?

22 Therefore, whereas thou doſt chaſten us, thou ſcourgeſt our enemies a thouſand times more, to the intent, that when we judge, we ſhould carefully think of thy goodneſs, and when we ourſelves are judged, we ſhould look for mercy.

23 Wherefore, whereas men have lived diſſolutely and unrighteouſly, thou haſt tormented them with their own abominations.

24 For they went aſtray very far in the ways of error, and held them for gods, which even amongſt the beaſts of their enemies were deſpiſed, being deceived as children of no underſtanding.

25 Therefore unto them, as to children without the uſe of reaſon, thou didſt ſend a judgement to mock them.

26 But they that would not be reformed by that correction wherein he dallied with them, ſhall feel a judgment worthy of God.

27 For look for what things they grudged when they were puniſhed (that is) for them whom they thought to be gods; [now] being puniſhed in them, when they ſaw it, they acknowledged him to be the true God, whom before they denied to know, and therefore came extreme damnation upon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 They were not excuſed that worſhipped any of God's works. 10 But moſt wretched are they that worſhip the works of men's hands.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Surely vain are all men by nature, who are ignorant of God, &c.] It is the laſt degree of ſtupidity in man to pretend ignorance of a deity, when he conſiders the world about him; for an artiſt is known by his work. If then the works of creation neceſſarily lead us to the Creator, what folly is it to confine our adoration to any of his creatures, without once conſidering how ſuperlatively excellent and perfect that Being muſt be who created the univerſe, and placed every thing in it in ſuch admirable order for the benefit or delight of mankind? But ſurely thoſe of all men are the moſt miſerably infatuated, who fall down to ſtocks and ſtones, the works of their own hands, that cannot help themſelves, much leſs thoſe that made them.

SURELY vain are all men by nature, who are ignorant of God, and could not out of the good things that are seen, know him that is: neither by considering the works, did they acknowledge the work-master;

2 But deemed either fire, or wind, or the swift air, or the circle of the stars, or the violent water, or the lights of heaven, to be the gods which govern the world.

3 With whose beauty, if they being delighted, took them to be gods; let them know how much better the Lord of them is: for the first author of beauty hath created them.

4 But if they were astonished at their power and virtue, let them understand by them, how much mightier he is that made them.

5 For by the greatness and beauty of the creatures, proportionably the maker of them is seen.

6 But yet for this they are the less to be blamed: for they peradventure err, seeking God, and desirous to find him.

7 For being conversant in his works, they search him diligently, and believe their sight: because the things are beautiful that are seen.

8 Howbeit, neither are they to be pardoned.

9 For if they were able to know so much, that they could aim at the world; how did they not sooner find out the Lord thereof.

10 But miserable are they, and in dead things is their hope, who called them gods which are the works of men's hands, gold and silver to shew art in, and resemblances of beasts, or a stone good for nothing, the work of an ancient hand.

11 Now a carpenter that felleth timber, after he hath sawn down a tree meet for the purpose, and taken off all the bark skilfully round about, and hath wrought it handsomely, and made a vessel thereof fit for the service of man's life:

12 And after spending the refuse of his work to dress his meat, hath filled himself?

13 And taking the very refuse among those which served to no use (being a crooked piece of wood, and full of knots) hath carved it diligently, when he had nothing else to do, and formed it by the skill of his understanding, and fashioned it to the image of a man?

14 Or made it like some vile beast, laying it over with vermillion and with paint, colouring it red, and colouring every spot therein;

15 And when he had made a convenient room for it, set it in a wall, and made it fast with iron:

16 For he provided for it that it might not fall, knowing that it was unable to help itself (for it is an image, and hath need of help)

17 Then maketh he prayer for his goods, for his wife and children, and is not ashamed to speak to that which hath no life.

18 For health he calleth upon that which is weak: for life, prayeth to that which is dead: for aid humbly beseecheth that which hath least means to help: and for a good journey, he asketh of that which cannot set a foot forward:

19 And for gaining and getting, and for good success of his hands, asketh ability to do, of him that is most unable to do any thing.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Though men do not pray to their ships; 5 yet are they saved rather by them, than by their idols.

AGAIN, one preparing himself to sail, and about to pass through the raging waves, calleth upon a piece of wood, more rotten than the vessel that carrieth him.

2 For verily desire of gain devised that, and the workman built it by his skill.

3 But thy providence, O Father, governeth it: for thou hast made a way in the sea, and a safe path in the waves:

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 One preparing himself to sail, and about to pass through the raging waves, calleth, &c.] The folly of idolatry is further set forth in several instances: it was the original of many other abominable sins; and idols themselves took their beginning from the corruption and vanity of man's heart. A father who had lost a beloved child, in order to honour his memory, made an image of him, and ordered divine honours to be paid him. Statues, designed only as monuments of loyalty, and affection to an absent prince, were converted into objects of idolatrous worship. This opened the way to other abominable rites and ceremonies, introduced human sacrifices, and occasioned the vilest immoralities of every kind.

Notes

4 Shewing that thou canſt ſave from all dangers: yea, though a man went to ſea without art.

5 Nevertheleſs, thou wouldeſt not that the works of thy wiſdom ſhould be idle, and therefore do men commit their lives to a ſmall piece of wood, and paſſing the rough ſea in a weak veſſel, are ſaved.

6 For in the old time alſo, when the proud giants periſhed, the hope of the world governed by thy hand, eſcaped in a weak veſſel, and left to all ages a ſeed of generation.

7 For bleſſed is the wood whereby righteouſneſs cometh.

8 But that which is made with hands is curſed, as well it, as he that made it: he, becauſe he made it; and it, becauſe being corruptible, it was called god.

9 For the ungodly, and his ungodlineſs, are both alike hateful unto God.

10 For that which is made, ſhall be puniſhed together with him that made it.

11 Therefore even upon the idols of the Gentiles ſhall there be a viſitation: becauſe in the creature of God they are become an abomination, and ſtumbling-blocks to the ſouls of men, and a ſnare to the feet of the unwiſe.

12 For the deviſing of idols was the beginning of ſpiritual fornication, and the invention of them the corruption of life.

13 For neither were they from the beginning, neither ſhall they be for ever.

14 For by the vain-glory of men they entered into the world, and therefore ſhall they come ſhortly to an end.

15 For a father afflicted with untimely mourning, when he hath made an image of his child ſoon taken away, now honoured him as a god, which was then a dead man, and delivered to thoſe that were under him, ceremonies and ſacrifices.

16 Thus in proceſs of time an ungodly cuſtom grown ſtrong was kept as a law, and graven images were worſhipped by the commandments of kings.

17 Whom men could not honour in preſence, becauſe they dwelt far off, they took the counterfeit of his viſage from far, and made an expreſs image of a king whom they honoured, to the end, that by this their forwardneſs, they might flatter him that was abſent, as if he were preſent.

18 Alſo the ſingular diligence of the artificer did help to ſet forward the ignorant to more ſuperſtition.

19 For he, peradventure, willing to pleaſe one in authority, forced all his ſkill to make the reſemblance of the beſt faſhion.

20 And ſo the multitude, allured by the grace of the work, took him now for a god, which a little before was but honoured as a man.

21 And this was an occaſion to deceive the world; for men ſerving either calamity or tyranny, did aſcribe unto ſtones and ſtocks the incommunicable name.

22 Moreover, this was not enough for them, that they erred in the knowledge of God; but whereas they lived in the great war of ignorance, thoſe ſo great plagues called they peace.

23 For whilſt they ſlew their children in ſacrifices, or uſed ſecret ceremonies, or made revellings of ſtrange rites;

24 They kept neither lives nor marriages any longer undefiled: but either one ſlew another traiterouſly, or grieved him by adultery.

25 So that there reigned in all men, without exception, blood, manſlaughter, theft, and diſſimulation, corruptions, unfaithfulneſs, tumults, perjury,

26 Diſquieting of good men, forgetfulneſs of good turns, defiling of ſouls, changing of kind, diſorder in marriages, adultery, and ſhameleſs uncleanneſs.

27 For the worſhipping of idols not to be named is the beginning, the cauſe, and the end of all evil.

28 For either they are mad when they be merry, or propheſy lies, or live unjuſtly, or elſe lightly forſwear themſelves.

29 For inſomuch as their truſt is in idols, which have no life; though they ſwear falſely, yet they look not to be hurt.

30 Howbeit, for both cauſes ſhall they be juſtly puniſhed; both becauſe they thought not well of God, giving heed unto idols, and alſo unjuſtly ſwore in deceit, deſpiſing holineſs.

31 For

31 For it was not the power of them by whom they ſwear: but is the juſt vengeance of ſinners that puniſheth always the offence of the ungodly.

CHAP. XV.

1 We do acknowledge the true God. 7 The folly of idol-makers, 14 and of the enemies of God's people.

BUT thou, O God, art gracious and true: long-ſuffering, and in mercy ordering all things.

2 For if we ſin, we are thine, knowing thy power: but we will not ſin, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee is perfect righteouſneſs: yea, to know thy power is the root of immortality.

4 For neither did the miſchievous invention of men deceive us, nor an image ſpotted with divers colours, the painter's fruitleſs labour;

5 The ſight whereof enticeth fools to luſt after it, and ſo they deſire the form of a dead image that hath no breath.

6 Both they that make them, they that deſire them, and they that worſhip them, are lovers of evil things, and are worthy to have ſuch things to truſt upon.

7 For the potter, tempering ſoft earth, faſhioneth every veſſel with much labour for our ſervice: yea, of the ſame clay he maketh both the veſſels that ſerve for clean uſes, and likewiſe alſo all ſuch as ſerve to the contrary: but what is the uſe of either ſort, the potter himſelf is the judge.

8 And employing his labours lewdly, he maketh a vain god of the ſame clay; even he which a little before was made of earth himſelf, and within a little while after returneth to the ſame out of the which he was taken, when his life which was lent him ſhall be demanded.

9 Notwithſtanding his care is, not that he ſhall have much labour, nor that his life is ſhort: but ſtriveth to excel gold-ſmiths, and ſilver-ſmiths, and endeavoureth to do like the workers in braſs, and counteth it his glory to make counterfeit things.

10 His heart is aſhes, his hope is more vile than earth, and his life of leſs value than clay:

11 Foraſmuch as he knew not his Maker, and him that inſpired into him an active ſoul, and breathed in a living ſpirit.

12 But they counted out life a paſtime, and our time here a market for gain: for, ſay they, we muſt be getting every way, though it be by evil means.

13 For this man, that of earthly matter maketh brittle veſſels, and graven images, knoweth himſelf to offend above all others.

14 And all the enemies of thy people, that hold them in ſubjection, are moſt fooliſh, and are more miſerable than very babes.

15 For they counted all the idols of the heathen to be gods: which neither have the uſe of eyes te ſee, nor noſes to draw breath, nor ears to hear, nor fingers of hands to handle; and as for their feet, they are ſlow to go.

16 For man made them, and he that borrowed his own ſpirit faſhioned them: but no man can make a god like unto himſelf.

17 For being mortal, he worketh a dead thing with wicked hands: for he himſelf is better than the things which he worſhippeth: whereas he lived once, but they never.

18 Yea, they worſhipped thoſe beaſts alſo that are moſt hateful: for being compared together, ſome are worſe than others.

19 Neither are they beautiful, ſo much as to be deſired in reſpect of beaſts: but they went without the praiſe of God, and his bleſſing.

CHAP. XVI.

2 God gave ſtrange meat to his people, to ſtir up their appetite; and vile beaſts to their enemies, to take it from them: 5 He ſtung them with his ſerpents, &c.

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Thou, O God, art gracious and true: long-ſuffering, &c.] God orders all things in mercy to his children; and therefore are they the more cautious in offending him. They are not deceived by the inventions of men, nor allured to worſhip an idol, from the beauty of its painting, or the delicacy of its workmanſhip. Fooliſh, indeed, muſt that man be who puts his confidence in an image of clay, knowing himſelf to be of the ſame time a compound of the ſame fragile materials, and, rejoicing in his ignorance and ſuperſtition, oppreſſeth the righteous.

Notes

THerefore by the like were they punished worthily, and by the multitude of beasts tormented.

2 Instead of which punishment, dealing graciously with thine own people, thou preparedst for them meat of strange taste, even quails to stir up their appetite:

3 To the end that they desiring food might, for the ugly sight of the beast sent among them, lothe even that which they must needs desire: but these suffering penury for a short space, might be made partakers of a strange taste.

4 For it was requisite, that upon them exercising tyranny, should come penury, which they could not avoid: but to these it should only be shewed how their enemies were tormented.

5 For when the horrible fierceness of beasts came upon these, and they perished with the stings of crooked serpents, thy wrath endured not for ever.

6 But they were troubled for a small season, that they might be admonished, having a sign of salvation, to put them in remembrance of the commandment of thy law.

7 For he that turned himself towards it, was not saved by the thing that he saw: but by thee that art the saviour of all.

8 And in this thou madest thine enemies confess, that it is thou who delivereſt from all evil:

9 For them the bitings of grashoppers and flies killed, neither was there found any remedy for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

10 But thy sons not the very teeth of venomous dragons overcame: for thy mercy was ever by them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, that they should remember thy words, and were quickly saved, that not falling into deep forgetfulness, they might be continually mindful of thy goodness.

12 For it was neither herb, nor mollifying plaister that restored them to health: but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast power of life and death: thou leadest to the gates of hell, and bringest up again.

14 A man indeed killeth through his malice: and the spirit, when it is gone forth, returneth not; neither the soul received up, cometh again.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 For the ungodly that denied to know thee, were scourged by the strength of thine arm: with strange rains, hails, and showers were they persecuted, that they could not avoid, and through fire were they consumed.

17 For, which is most to be wondered at, the fire had more force in the water, that quencheth all things: for the world fighteth for the righteous.

18 For sometime the flame was mitigated, that it might not burn up the beasts that were sent against the ungodly: but themselves might see and perceive that they were persecuted with the judgment of God.

19 And at another time it burneth even in the midst of the water, above the power of fire, that it might destroy the fruits of an unjust land.

20 Instead whereof thou feddest thine own people with angels food, and didst send them from heaven bread prepared without their labour, able to content every man's delight, and agreeing to every taste.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetness unto thy children, and serving to the appetite of the eater, tempered itself to every man's liking.

22 But snow and ice endured the fire, and melted not, that they might know that fire burning in the hail, and sparkling in the rain, did destroy the fruits of the enemies.

23 But this again did even forget his own strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 By the like were they punished worthily, &c.] The love of God to his chosen people is demonstrated from the wonders he wrought for them in Egypt, and in the wilderness: when they were ready to perish with hunger, he shewed a miracle, and gave them quails to eat, and manna from heaven: when for their sins he punished them with fiery serpents, he gave them a token of love, a symbol of their salvation, by looking to which they received immediate relief.

24 For the creature that serveth thee, who art the Maker, increaseth his strength against the unrighteous for their punishment, and abateth his strength for the benefit of such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore even then was it altered into all fashions, and was obedient to thy grace that nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had need:

26 That thy children, O Lord, whom thou lovest, might know that it is not the growing of fruits that nourisheth man: but that it is thy word which preserveth them that put their trust in thee.

27 For that which was not destroyed of the fire, being warmed with a little sun-beam, soon melted away:

28 That it might be known that we must prevent the sun to give thee thanks, and at the day-spring pray unto thee.

29 For the hope of the unthankful shall melt away as the winter's hoar-frost, and shall run away as unprofitable water.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Why the Egyptians were punished with darkness. 11 The terrors of an ill conscience.

FOR great are thy judgments, and cannot be expressed: therefore unnurtured souls have erred.

2 For when unrighteous men thought to oppress the holy nation; they being shut up in their houses, the prisoners of darkness, and fettered with the bonds of a long night, lay [there] exiled from the eternal providence.

3 For while they supposed to lie hid in their secret sins, they were scattered under a dark vail of forgetfulness, being horribly astonished, and troubled with (strange) apparitions.

4 For neither might the corner that held them, keep them from fear: but noises (as of waters) falling down, sounded about them, and sad visions appeared unto them with heavy countenances.

5 No power of the fire might give them light: neither could the bright flames of the stars endure to lighten that horrible night.

6 Only there appeared unto them a fire kindled of itself, very dreadful: for being much terrified, they thought the things which they saw to be worse than the sight they saw not.

7 As for the illusions of art magick, they were put down, and their vaunting in wisdom was reproved with disgrace.

8 For they that promised to drive away terrors and troubles from a sick soul, were sick themselves of fear, worthy to be laughed at.

9 For though no terrible thing did fear them: yet being scared with beasts that passed by, and hissing of serpents,

10 They died for fear, denying that they saw the air, which could of no side be avoided.

11 For wickedness condemned by her own witness, is very timorous, and being pressed with conscience, always forecasteth grievous things.

12 For fear is nothing else, but a betraying of the succours which reason offereth.

13 And the expectation from within being less, counteth the ignorance more than the cause which bringeth the torment.

14 But they sleeping the same sleep that night, which was indeed intolerable, and which came upon them out of the bottoms of inevitable hell,

15 Were partly vexed with monstrous apparitions, and partly fainted, their heart failing them: for a sudden fear, and not looked for, came upon them.

16 So then, whosoever there fell down, was straitly kept, shut up in a prison without iron bars.

17 For whether he were husbandman, or shepherd, or a labourer in the field, he was overtaken, and endured that necessity, which could not be avoided: for they were all bound with one chain of darkness.

18 Whether it were a whistling wind, or a

Notes on the Seventeenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Great are thy judgments, and cannot be expressed, &c.] God's care for his children is farther exemplified in punishing the Egyptians for their sake, with a most horrible darkness; a darkness attended with the most frightful visions, which were either the creatures of their own terrified imagination, or the effects of a bad conscience.

Notes

melodious noiſe of birds among the ſpreading branches, or a pleaſing fall of water running violently,

19 Or a terrible ſound of ſtones caſt down, or a running that could not be ſeen of ſkipping beaſts, or a roaring voice of moſt ſavage wild beaſts, or a rebounding echo from the hollow mountains: theſe things made them to ſwoon for fear.

20 For the whole world ſhined with clear light, and none were hindred in their labour:

21 Over them only was ſpread an heavy night, an image of that darkneſs which ſhould afterward receive them; but yet were they unto themſelves more grievous than the darkneſs.

CHAP. XVIII.

4 Why Egypt was puniſhed with darkneſs, 5 and with the death of their children.

NEvertheleſs, thy ſaints had a very great light, whoſe voice they hearing, and not ſeeing their ſhape, becauſe they alſo had not ſuffered the ſame things, they counted them happy.

2 But for that they did not hurt them now, of whom they had been wronged before, they thanked them, and beſought them pardon, for that they had been enemies.

3 Inſtead whereof thou gaveſt them a burning pillar of fire, both to be a guide of the unknown journey, and an harmleſs ſun to entertain them honourably.

4 For they were worthy to be deprived of light, and impriſoned in darkneſs, who had kept thy ſons ſhut up, by whom the uncorrupt light of the law was to be given unto the world.

5 And when they had determined to ſlay the babes of the ſaints, one child being caſt forth, and ſaved, to reprove them, thou tookeſt away the multitude of their children, and deſtroyedſt them altogether in a mighty water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that aſſuredly knowing unto what oaths they had given credence, they might afterwards be of good cheer:

7 So of thy people was accepted both the ſalvation of the righteous, and deſtruction of the enemies.

8 For wherewith thou didſt puniſh our adverſaries, by the ſame thou didſt glorify us whom thou hadſt called.

9 For the righteous children of good men did ſacrifice ſecretly, and with one conſent made a holy law, that the ſaints ſhould be like partakers of the ſame good and evil, the fathers now ſinging out the ſongs of praiſe.

10 But on the other ſide there ſounded an ill-according cry of the enemies, and a lamentable noiſe was carried abroad for children that were bewailed.

11 The maſter and the ſervant were puniſhed after one manner; and like as the king, ſo ſuffered the common perſon.

12 So they altogether had innumerable dead with one kind of death; neither were the living ſufficient to bury them: for in one moment the nobleſt offſpring of them was deſtroyed.

13 For whereas they would not believe any thing, by reaſon of the inchantments, upon the deſtruction of the firſt-born, they acknowledged this people to be the ſons of God.

14 For while all things were in quiet ſilence, and that night was in the midſt of her ſwift courſe,

15 Thine Almighty word leapt down from heaven out of thy royal throne, as a fierce man of war into the midſt of a land of deſtruction,

16 And brought thine unfeigned commandment as a ſharp ſword, and ſtanding up filled all things with death; and it touched the heaven, but it ſtood upon the earth.

17 Then ſuddenly viſions of horrible dreams troubled them ſore, and terrors came upon them unlooked for.

18 And one thrown here, and another there half dead, ſhewed the cauſe of his death.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Thy ſaints had a very great light, &c.] In that horrible night of darkneſs in which God involved the Egyptians, he made a glorious diſtinction betwixt them and his own people, who all the while enjoyed light in all their dwellings. This their enemies were ſenſible of, and acknowledged the folly of their former enmity againſt them. God was pleaſed to give ſeveral other inſtances of his kind regard for his people, as the pillar of fire; Pharaoh reproved by the drowning of his hoſt in the ſea; the death of all their firſt-born in one night, and his ſevere corrections of his own people in the wilderneſs for their folly and diſobedience.

Notes

19 For the dreams that troubled them, did foreſhew this, leſt they ſhould periſh, and not know why they were afflicted.

20 Yea, the taſting of death touched the righteous alſo, and there was a deſtruction of the multitude in the wilderneſs: but the wrath endured not long.

21 For then the blameleſs man made haſte, and ſtood forth to defend them; and bringing the ſhield of his proper miniſtry, even prayer, and the propitiation of incenſe, ſet himſelf againſt the wrath, and ſo brought the calamity to an end, declaring that he was thy ſervant.

22 So he overcame the deſtroyer, not with ſtrength of body, nor force of arms, but with a word ſubdued he him that puniſhed, alledging the oaths and covenants made with the fathers.

23 For when the dead were now fallen down by heaps one upon another, ſtanding between, he ſtayed the wrath, and parted the way to the living.

24 For in the long garment was the whole world, and in the four rows of the ſtones was the glory of the fathers graven, and thy Majeſty upon the diadem of his head.

25 Unto theſe the deſtroyer gave place, and was afraid of them: for it was enough that they only taſted of the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Why God ſhewed no mercy to the Egyptians,
5 and how wonderfully he dealt with his people.

AS for the ungodly, wrath came upon them without mercy unto the end: for he knew before what they would do;

2 How that having given them leave to depart, and ſent them haſtily away, they would repent and purſue them.

3 For whilſt they were yet mourning, and making lamentation at the graves of the dead, they added another fooliſh device, and purſued them as fugitives, whom they had intreated to be gone.

4 For the deſtiny, whereof they were worthy, drew them unto this end, and made them forget the things that had already happened, that they might fulfil the puniſhment which was wanting to their torments:

5 And that thy people might paſs a wonderful way: but they might find a ſtrange death.

6 For the whole creature in his proper kind was faſhioned again anew, ſerving the peculiar commandments that were given unto them, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

7 As namely, a cloud ſhadowing the camp; and where water ſtood before, dry land appeared; and out of the Red ſea a way without impediment; and out of the violent ſtream, a green field:

8 Where through all the people went that were defended with thy hand, ſeeing thy marvellous ſtrange wonders.

9 For they went at large like horſes, and leaped like lambs, praiſing thee, O Lord, who hadſt delivered them.

10 For they were yet mindful of the things that were done, while they ſojourned in the ſtrange land, how the ground brought forth flies inſtead of cattle, and how the river caſt up a multitude of frogs inſtead of fiſhes.

11 But afterwards they ſaw a new generation of fowls, when being led with their appetite, they aſked delicate meats.

12 For quails came up unto them from the ſea, for their contentment.

13 And puniſhments came upon the ſinners, not without former ſigns by the force of thunders: for they ſuffered juſtly, according to their own wickedneſs, inſomuch as they uſed a more hard and hateful behaviour towards ſtrangers.

14 For the Sodomites did not receive thoſe whom they knew not when they came: but theſe brought friends into bondage, that had well deſerved of them.

15 And not only ſo, but peradventure, ſome reſpect ſhall be had of thoſe, becauſe they uſed ſtrangers not friendly.

16 But theſe very grievouſly afflicted them

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 As for the ungodly, wrath came upon them without mercy unto the end, &c] Though the Egyptians had been puniſhed in ſo exemplary a manner by a dreadful variety of God's judgments upon them, they madly purſued the fugitive Iſraelites. But what was the conſequence? Why, another manifeſtation of God's diſpleaſure at their implacable hatred againſt his people, and his ſuperlative kindneſs to his children in opening a paſſage through the depths of the ſea.

whom whom they had received with feastings, and were already made partakers of the same laws with them.

17 Therefore even with blindness were these stricken, as those were at the doors of the righteous man: when, being compassed about with horrible great darkness, every one sought the passage of his own doors.

18 For the elements were changed in themselves by a kind of harmony, like as in a psaltery notes change the name of the tune, and yet are always sounds, which may well be perceived by the sight of the things that have been done.

19 For earthly things were turned into watery, and the things that before swam in the water, now went upon the ground.

20 The fire had power in the water, forgetting his own virtue: and the water forgat his own quenching nature.

21 On the other side, the flames wasted not the flesh of the corruptible living things, though they walked therein, neither melted they the icy kind of heavenly meat, that was of nature apt to melt.

22 For in all things, O Lord, thou didst magnify thy people, and glorify them, neither didst thou lightly regard them: but didst assist them in every time and place.

THE WISDOM of JESUS The Son of SIRACH, or ECCLESIASTICUS.

THE ARGUMENT.

This book is not of infallible authority, but is read in the church as a book of piety and instruction. The first prologue to it informs us, that the author of it was a Jew, called Jesus, the son of Sirach, who wrote it in Hebrew; and that it was rendered into Greek by his grandson of the same name. Dr. Prideaux says it was written under the high-priesthood of Onias the Second, and translated in the reign of Ptolemy Euergetes. The ancients called it Πανάρετον, i. e. The treasure of all virtues, as supposing it to contain maxims leading to every virtue. The author has copied Solomon's method of teaching morality by sentences or maxims.

A Prologue made by an uncertain Author.

THIS Jesus was the son of Sirach, and grandchild to Jesus of the same name with him: this man therefore lived in the latter times, after the people had been led away captive, and called home again, and almost after all the prophets. Now his grandfather Jesus (as he himself witnesseth) was a man of great diligence and wisdom among the Hebrews, who did not only gather the grave and short sentences of wise men that had been before him, but himself also uttered some of his own, full of much understanding and wisdom. When as therefore the first Jesus died, leaving this book almost perfected, Sirach his son receiving it after him, left it to his own son Jesus, who having gotten it into his hands, compiled it all orderly into one volume, and called it Wisdom, intituling it both by his own name, his father's name, and his grandfather's; alluring the hearer, by the very name of Wisdom, to have a greater love to the study of this book. It containeth therefore wise sayings, dark sentences, and parables, and certain particular antient godly stories of men that pleased God; also his prayer and song; moreover, what benefits God had vouchsafed his people, and what plagues he had heaped upon their enemies. This Jesus did imitate Solomon, and was no less famous for wisdom and learning, both being indeed a man of great learning, and so reputed also.

The Prologue of the Wisdom of Jesus the Son of Sirach.

WHEREAS many and great things have been delivered unto us by the law and the prophets, and by others that have followed their steps, for the which things Israel ought to be commended for learning and wisdom; and whereof not only the readers must needs become skilful themselves, but also they that desire to learn, be able to profit them which are without, both by speaking and writing: my grandfather Jesus, when he had much given himself to the reading of the law, and the prophets, and other books of our fathers, and had gotten therein good judgement, was drawn on also himself to write something pertaining to learning and wisdom; to the intent that those which are desirous to learn, and are addicted to these things, might profit much more in living according to the law. Wherefore let me intreat you to read it with favour and attention, and to pardon us wherein we may seem to come short of some words which we have laboured to interpret. For the same things uttered in Hebrew, and translated into another tongue, have not the same force in them: and not only these things, but the law itself, and the prophets, and the rest of the books, have no small difference, when they are spoken in their own language. For in the eight and thirtieth year coming into Egypt, when Euergetes was king, and continuing there some time, I found a book of no small learning: therefore I thought it most necessary for me to bestow some diligence and travel to interpret it; using great watchfulness and skill in that space, to bring the book to an end, and set it forth for them also, which in a strange country are willing to learn, being prepared before in manners to live after the law.

CHAP. I.

1 All wisdom is from God: 10 He giveth it to them that love him. 12 The fear of God is full of many blessings.

ALL wisdom cometh from the Lord, and is with him for ever.

2 Who can number the sand of the sea, and the drops of rain, and the days of eternity?

3 Who can find out the height of heaven, and the breadth of earth, and the deep, and wisdom?

4 Wisdom hath been created before all things, and the understanding of prudence from everlasting.

5 The word of God most High is the fountain of wisdom; and her ways are everlasting commandments.

6 To whom hath the root of wisdom been revealed? or who hath known her wise counsels?

7 [Unto whom hath the knowledge of wisdom been made manifest? and who hath understood her great experience?]

8 There is one wise and greatly to be feared: the LORD sitting upon his throne.

9 He created her, and saw her, and numbered her, and poured her out upon all his works.

10 She is with all flesh according to his gift, and he hath given her to them that love him.

11 The fear of the Lord is honour, and glory, and gladness, and a crown of rejoicing.

12 The fear of the Lord maketh a merry heart, and giveth joy and gladness, and a long life.

13 Whoso feareth the Lord, it shall go well with him at the last, and he shall find favour in the day of his death.

14 To fear the Lord is the beginning of wisdom: and it was created with the faithful in the womb.

15 She hath built an everlasting foundation with men, and she shall continue with their seed.

16 To fear the Lord is fulness of wisdom, and filleth men with her fruits.

17 She filleth all their house with things desirable, and the garners with her increase.

18 The fear of the Lord is a crown of wisdom, making peace and perfect health to flourish: both which are the gifts of God: and it enlargeth their rejoicing that love him.

19 Wisdom raineth down skill and knowledge of understanding, and exalteth them to honour that hold her fast.

20 The root of wisdom is to fear the Lord, and the branches thereof are long life.

21 The fear of the Lord driveth away sins: and where it is present, it turneth away wrath.

22 A furious man cannot be justified, for the sway of his fury shall be his destruction.

23 A patient man will bear for a time, and afterward joy shall spring up unto him.

24 He will hide his words for a time, and the lips of many shall declare his wisdom.

25 The parables of knowledge are in the treasures of wisdom: but godliness is an abomination to a sinner.

26 If thou desire wisdom, keep the commandments, and the Lord shall give her unto thee.

27 For the fear of the Lord is wisdom and instruction: and faith and meekness are his delight.

28 Distrust not the fear of the Lord, when thou art poor: and come not unto him with a double heart.

29 Be not an hypocrite in the sight of men, and take good heed what thou speakest.

Notes on the First Chapter.

1 All wisdom cometh from the Lord, and is with him for ever.] God is undoubtedly the fountain of all wisdom: all our ideas of which must arise from those emanations of it, which he has been pleased to transfuse from himself into human nature, and are apparent also in the admirable works of his creation and providence.

5 Her ways are everlasting commandments.] This is much more clearly rendered in other versions, the entrance unto her are the everlasting commandments; i. e. the observation of the decalogue gives wisdom an entrance into the minds of men, or is that which will make them truly wise. Arnald.

13 He shall find favour.] Margin, He shall be blessed.

15 She hath built an everlasting foundation with men, &c.] The sense is, that among all the living beings which are visible, and we know of, the human nature hath powers most capable of wisdom, and has the largest portion of it.

22 Cannot be justified.] Or, escape punishment.

30 Exalt not thyself, leſt thou fall, and bring diſhonour upon thy ſoul, and ſo God diſcover thy ſecrets, and caſt thee down in the midſt of the congregation, becauſe thou cameſt not in truth to the fear of the Lord, but thy heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

God's ſervants muſt look for trouble, 7 and be patient, and truſt in him: 12 For woe to them that do not ſo.

MY ſon if thou come to ſerve the Lord, prepare thy ſoul for temptation.

2 Set thy heart aright, and conſtantly endure, and make not haſte in time of trouble.

3 Cleave unto him, and depart not away, that thou mayeſt be increaſed at thy laſt end.

4 Whatſoever is brought upon thee, take chearfully, and be patient when thou art changed to a low eſtate.

5 For gold is tried in the fire, and acceptable men in the furnace of adverſity.

6 Believe in him, and he will help thee: order thy way aright, and truſt in him.

7 Ye that fear the Lord, wait for his mercy, and go not aſide, leſt ye fall.

8 Ye that fear the Lord, believe him, and your reward ſhall not fail.

9 Ye that fear the Lord, hope for good, and for everlaſting joy and mercy.

10 Look at the generations of old, and ſee: did ever any truſt in the Lord, and was confounded? or did any abide in his fear, and was forſaken? or whom did he ever deſpiſe, that called upon him?

11 For the Lord is full of compaſſion, an mercy, long ſuffering, and very pitiful, and forgiveth ſins, and ſaveth in time of affliction.

12 Woe be to fearful hearts, and faint hands, and the ſinner that goeth two ways.

13 Woe unto him that is faint-hearted, for he believeth not, therefore ſhall he not be defended.

14 Woe unto you that have loſt patience: and what will ye do, when the Lord ſhall viſit you?

15 They that fear the Lord will not diſobey his word; and they that love him, will keep his ways.

16 They that fear the Lord will ſeek that which is well pleaſing unto him: and they that love him ſhall be filled with the law.

17 They that fear the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their ſouls in his ſight, 18 Saying, We will fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men: for as his majeſty is, ſo is his mercy.

CHAP. III.

2 Children muſt honour and help both their parents. 21 We may not deſire to know all things.

HEAR me, your father, O children, and do thereafter, that ye may be ſafe.

2 For the Lord hath given the father honour over the children, and hath confirmed the authority of the mother over the ſons.

3 Whoſo honoureth his father maketh an atonement for his ſins.

4 And he that honoureth his mother, is as one that layeth up treaſure.

5 Whoſo honoureth his father ſhall have joy of his own children, and when he maketh his prayer, he ſhall be heard.

6 He that honoureth his father ſhall have a long life; and he that is obedient unto the Lord ſhall be a comfort to his mother.

7 He that feareth the Lord will honour his father, and will do ſervice unto his parents, as to his maſters.

---

30 Leſt God diſcover thy ſecrets.] Leſt by pretending to have more virtue than other men, thou provoke God to bring to light thy ſecret crimes, and hypocriſy.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

1 My ſon if thou come to ſerve the Lord, prepare thy ſoul for temptation.] The occaſion of this advice was, ſome think, that at this time the Jews were grievouſly afflicted under Ptolemy Lagus, who took Jeruſalem, and uſed the Jews with great ſeverity, ſending many thouſands of them captive into Egypt; which change of ſtate might very probably incline many to forſake Judaiſm. Arnald.

7 Go not aſide, leſt ye fall.] Have not recourſe to any unlawful means for ſuccour, which men of little faith and great impatience are apt to fly to. Arnald.

12 Woe be to fearful hearts, &c.] i. e. Such as fall away in time of perſecution.

18 We will fall into the hands of the Lord, and not, &c.] They who have a right ſenſe of God upon their minds, will rather chuſe to receive his paternal corrections, which are deſigned to recal them to their duty, than be left to go on in ſin till their demerits require that they ſhould be delivered up into the hands of men.

Notes on the Third Chapter

3 Whoſo honoureth his father, maketh an atonement for his ſins.] Shall obtain remiſſion of his own ſins upon his repentance and prayer for forgiveneſs.

8 Honour thy father and mother, both in word and deed, that a bleſſing may come upon thee from them.

9 For the bleſſing of the father eſtabliſheth the houſes of children, but the curſe of the mother rooteth out foundations.

10 Glory not in the diſhonour of thy father, for thy father's diſhonour is no glory unto thee.

11 For the glory of a man is from the honour of his father; and a mother in diſhonour is a reproach unto the children.

12 My ſon, help thy father in his age, and grieve him not as long as he liveth.

13 And if his underſtanding fail, have patience with him, and deſpiſe him not when thou art in thy full ſtrength.

14 For the relieving of thy father ſhall not be forgotten: and inſtead of ſins, it ſhall be added to build thee up.

15 In the day of thine affliction it ſhall be remembered; thy ſins alſo ſhall melt away, as the ice in the fair warm weather.

16 He that forſaketh his father is as a blaſphemer, and he that angereth his mother is curſed of God.

17 My ſon, go on with thy buſineſs in meekneſs, ſo ſhalt thou be beloved of him that is approved.

18 The greater thou art, the more humble thyſelf, and thou ſhalt find favour before the Lord.

19 Many are in high place, and of renown: but myſteries are revealed unto the meek.

20 For the power of the Lord is great, and is honoured of the lowly.

21 Seek not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither ſearch the things that are above thy ſtrength.

22 But what is commanded thee, think thereupon with reverence: for it is not needful for thee to ſee with thine eyes the things that are in ſecret.

23 Be not curious in unneceſſary matters: for more things are ſhewed unto thee than men underſtand.

24 For many are deceived by their own vain opinion, and an evil ſuſpicion hath overthrown their judgment.

25 Without eyes thou ſhalt want light: profeſs not the knowledge therefore that thou haſt not.

26 A ſtubborn heart ſhall fare evil at the laſt: and he that loveth danger, ſhall periſh therein.

27 An obſtinate heart ſhall be laden with ſorrows, and the wicked man ſhall heap ſin upon ſin.

28 In the puniſhment of the proud there is no remedy: for the plant of wickedneſs hath taken root in him.

29 The heart of the prudent will underſtand a parable, and an attentive ear is the deſire of a wiſe man.

30 Water will quench a flaming fire, and alms maketh an atonement for ſins.

31 And he that requiteth good turns, is mindful of that which may come hereafter: and when he falleth, he ſhall find a ſtay.

CHAP. IV.

1 We may not deſpiſe the poor or fatherleſs, 11 but ſeek for wiſdom, 20 and not be aſhamed of ſome things.

MY ſon, defraud not the poor of his living, and make not the needy eyes to wait long.

2 Make not an hungry ſoul ſorrowful: neither provoke a man in his diſtreſs.

3 Add not more trouble to an heart that is vexed; and defer not to give to him that is in need.

---

13 If his underſtanding fail, have patience with him, &c.] This extends filial piety to the higheſt degree, inculcating that whatever difference there may be between a child and his parent, in health, ſtrength, underſtanding, riches, or honour, yet the parent is not to be deſpiſed, but to be honoured by the child, and taken care of by him.

17 So ſhalt thou be beloved of him that is approved.] i. e. By all worthy and good men, ſuch as themſelves are, for the like good qualites beloved both of God and man.

22 It is not needful for thee to ſee with thine eyes the things that are in ſecret.] Namely, things pertaining to the nature of God, into which to enquire too curiouſly is imprudence.

23 Profeſs not the knowledge therefore that thou haſt not.] Being by nature ignorant with regard to divine things, it is abſurd to pretend to know more of them than God has been pleaſed to reveal.

28 In the puniſhment of the proud, &c.] Margin, The proud man is not healed by his puniſhment.

31 He that requiteth good turns, is mindful, &c.] God, who is a certain recompenſer of all acts of beneficence or tenderneſs done to thoſe in diſtreſs, keeps an account of all ſuch charitable deeds to return them in due time with increaſe.

4 Reject not the ſupplication of the afflicted: neither turn away thy face from a poor man.

5 Turn not away thine eye from the needy, and give him none occaſion to curſe thee.

6 For if he curſe thee in the bitterneſs of his ſoul, his prayer ſhall be heard of him that made him.

7 Get thyſelf the love of the congregation, and bow thy head to a great man.

8 Let it not grieve thee to bow down thine ear to the poor, and give him a friendly anſwer with meekneſs.

9 Deliver him that ſuffereth wrong from the hand of the oppreſſor: and be not faint-hearted when thou ſitteſt in judgement.

10 Be as a father unto the fatherleſs, and inſtead of an huſband unto their mother: ſo ſhalt thou be as the ſon of the moſt High, and he ſhall love thee more than thy mother doth.

11 Wiſdom exalteth her children, and layeth hold of them that ſeek her.

12 He that loveth her, loveth life; and they that ſeek to her early, ſhall be filled with joy.

13 He that holdeth her faſt ſhall inherit glory; and whereſoever ſhe entereth, the Lord will bleſs.

14 They that ſerve her, ſhall miniſter to the Holy One: and them that love her, the Lord doth love.

15 Whoſo giveth ear unto her, ſhall judge the nations: and he that attendeth unto her, ſhall dwell ſecurely.

16 If a man commit himſelf unto her, he ſhall inherit her; and his generation ſhall hold her in poſſeſſion.

17 For at the firſt ſhe will walk with him by crooked ways, and bring fear and dread upon him, and torment him with her diſcipline, until ſhe may truſt his ſoul, and try him by her laws.

18 Then will ſhe return the ſtraight way unto him, and comfort him, and ſhew him her ſecrets.
